

LAROUSSE

ENGLISH DICTIONARY

- ★ LANGUAGE • CULTURE • USAGE
- ★ International coverage
- ★ Over 55,000 references

NEW

LAROUSSE

LAROUSSE
ENGLISH DICTIONARY

10
29

10/7

0081

LAROUSSE
ENGLISH DICTIONARY

© Larousse, 1996

© Larousse-Bordas, 1997

© All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, or stored in a retrieval system, without the prior written permission of Larousse S.A.

ISBN 2-03-406009-1 (hardcover edition)

ISBN 2-03-406013-X (paperback edition)

Larousse, Paris

Distributeur exclusif au Canada : Les Éditions Françaises Inc., Boucherville, Québec

ISBN 2-03-420290-2

Diffusion/Sales : Larousse Kingfisher Chambers Inc., New York

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number

96-076674

LAROUSSE

ENGLISH DICTIONARY

Produced by LAROUSSE

General Editor
FAYE CARNEY

Senior Editor
MICHAEL MAYOR

Editors

RUTH BLACKMORE

SHAY DOLAN

GAVIN WILLIAMS

KATHLEEN MICHAM

with

MARTYN BACK

SCOTT FORBES

CHRISTINE PARIS

STEPHANIE BILLECKE

MELBOURNE FRASER

ELAINE POLLARD

GEOFFREY BREMNER

DAVID HALLWORTH

CAMMY RICHELLI

CALLUM BRINES

RUTH HILLMORE

JANE ROGOYSKA

HELEN BRUCE

NICHOLAS JONES

MARTHA ROSS

MARGARET JULL COSTA

VICTORIA KELLER

ELIZABETH SALTER

HAZEL CURTIES

IRENE LAKHANI

ROBERT SHORE

STEVE CURTIS

COLIN MCINTOSH

TAMSIN SIMMILL

PAUL DUFFY

SARA MONTGOMERY

SUSAN STEINBERG

Phonetics

DR FREDERIKA HOLMES

ANNE SMITH

Copy Preparation

MARIE-PIERRE DEGOULET

Publishing Administration

SOPHIE JAQUET

Data Management

GABINO ALONSO

MARION PEPIN

SOPHIE JAQUET

ROSE ROCIOLA

PREFACE

The LAROUSSE ENGLISH DICTIONARY is an entirely new reference work, written for people around the world who are not just learning English but using it in their everyday lives. For our users, English is a communication tool to be used during work or leisure – for studying, talking or writing to business contacts, reading newspaper articles or fiction, or attending conferences.

This is the first dictionary to recognize that non-native speakers who deal with English in their daily lives need access to a sophisticated range of practical and up-to-date vocabulary, including terms from business, politics, science and technology, literature, and journalism.

Recognizing the importance of understanding the culture of a country, the word list also includes a wide range of cultural terms and encyclopedic entries for people and places. Key cultural and historical information is presented in easy-to-read boxed notes.

A special feature of the dictionary are the sense markers, which have two uses: they guide the user quickly to a particular meaning, and they give a summary of the typical contexts a word or sense is used in.

An international team of editors in the USA, Britain, and Australia has worked on the dictionary to ensure authentic coverage of World English. Thousands of example sentences have been included, collected from international sources and carefully selected to reflect the practical and linguistic needs of the non-native speaker.

Together these features offer the user of the LAROUSSE ENGLISH DICTIONARY the best of both worlds: access to a wide range of vocabulary, combined with the user-friendly presentation of a learner's dictionary.

USING THIS DICTIONARY

Netherlands ['neðə'fændz]: the Netherlands a country in western Europe, on the North Sea between Belgium and Germany. SIZE: 34,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 15,200,000 (Dutch). CAPITAL: Amsterdam. ADMINISTRATIVE CAPITAL: The Hague. LANGUAGE: Dutch. CURRENCY: guilder.

encyclopedic
information
on places

NOTE: The name the Netherlands is used only in official contexts; otherwise the country is called Holland.

information on usage

guide words show
typical usage of word and help to identify meanings

neutral ['nju:trəl] ◇ adj -1. [country, person, position] that does not support any person, political cause, country etc in an argument or war □ neutral territory/waters. □ Switzerland remained neutral throughout both World Wars. -2. [expression, voice, word] that does not show what somebody is feeling. -3. [clothing, shade] pale gray or pale brown. -4. ELECTRICITY [wire] that has no electrical charge. ◇ n AUTO the position of the gears of a car in which no power can pass from the engine to the wheels □ Leave the car in neutral.

news [nju:z] n -1. information about recent events

□ a piece OR bit of news □ Have you heard the news about Mary? □ I have some good/bad news for you. □ News is coming in of riots in LA.

■ that's news to me a phrase used to say one did not know something and is a little annoyed at not being told it sooner. ■ to break the news to sb to tell sb some bad news.

-2. RADIO & TV the news a program on the radio or television that reports recent important events

□ I heard about the earthquake on the news. □ His arrest made the 6 o'clock news. □ a news broadcast/report ■ to be in the news to be mentioned a lot in newspapers, on television etc.

example
sentences illustrate frequent usages

set phrases identified by a special symbol

Newton ['nju:tn], Sir Isaac (1642–1727) a British scientist, astronomer, and mathematician who discovered the law of gravity.

encyclopedic
information
on people

NEW YEAR

In the USA, Australia, and Britain people have parties on New Year's Eve (December 31) to "see in" the New Year. When the clocks strike midnight, everyone wishes each other "Happy New Year" and hugs or kisses each other. A traditional song, Auld Lang Syne, is often sung. The next day, New Year's Day (January 1), is a public holiday in the USA, Australia, and Britain.

International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA)

cultural information

NFL (abbr of National Football League) n the organization in charge of professional football in the USA.

NG n abbr of National Guard.

NGO (abbr of non-governmental organization) n an organization that is not financed by a government.

NH abbr of New Hampshire.

NHL (abbr of National Hockey League) n a league of US and Canadian professional hockey teams.

in-depth coverage of abbreviations parts of speech identified by a special symbol nibble [ˈnɪbl] ◇ vt to take small bites from  □ She was nibbling an apple. ◇ vi [animal, person]: The squirrel was nibbling at OR on a nut.

clear entry structure

◆ nibbles npl small things to eat with one's fingers at a party, e.g. nuts or potato chips.

Nielsen Ratings [ˈniːlsən-] npl the Nielsen Ratings in the USA, a set of statistics that show how many people watch the most popular television programs.

encyclopedic information balanced coverage of American and British English night depository [US -dɪˈpɒzətɔːrɪ, GB -ˈpɒzɪtəri] n a hole in the outside wall of a bank where customers can leave money and checks after the bank is closed.

night safe n GB = night depository.

coverage of business vocabulary

Nikkei [ˈnɪkeɪ] n the Nikkei (index OR average) the average of the current price of the shares of 225 Japanese companies sold on the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

different forms of headword shown nip [nɪp] (pt & pp nipped, cont nipping) ◇ n

-1. [by an animal] a small painful pinch or bite □ The dog gave me a playful nip on the leg.

-2. [of liquid] a small amount of alcoholic drink □ a nip of brandy. -3. phrase there's a nip in the air

it's slightly cold. ◇ vt -1. to catch <sthg> between two sharp points or edges □ I nipped my finger in the door. -2. to bite <sb/sthg> without doing much damage □ The dog nipped me on the ankle. ◇ vi GB to go somewhere quickly and for a short time (informal use) □ I'm just nipping into town/out to the post office.

example sentences help to identify meanings meanings clearly numbered clear register labels (informal, slang, literary, disapproving etc) word explained in its most frequent context nitty-gritty [ˌnɪtɪˈɡrɪti] n to get down to the nitty-gritty to start talking or thinking about the most basic and important aspects of a problem.

ABBREVIATIONS AND LABELS USED IN THIS DICTIONARY

- abbr* abbreviation □ She has an MBA. □ He works for NATO.
- adj* adjective □ You're a lucky man. □ Don't be afraid.
- adv* adverb □ He laughed loudly. □ It's really sad. □ Frankly, I hated it.
- AUS Australian English
- aux vb* auxiliary verb □ He didn't come. □ Do you mind?
- comp* a noun used in front of another noun □ He's a football coach.
□ She wore a cotton dress.
- compar* irregular comparative form □ It's cozier over here. □ Take this one, it's better.
- conj* conjunction □ I'll call when I get there. □ I'd like coffee and cake.
- cont* continuous form of a verb □ The sun is setting. □ I'm getting better.
- det* determiner □ That's my desk. □ Try this size.
- excl* exclamation □ Ouch, that hurt! □ Goodness, you've grown tall!
- fus* see vt fus below
- GB British English
- infin* infinitive form of a verb □ I want to help. □ It can wait.
- modal vb* modal verb □ I can't believe it. □ Must we go?
- n* noun □ There's something wrong with the computer.
- npl* noun that is always plural □ Where are my glasses?
- num* number □ It cost eight dollars. □ She's only five.
- phrase* a set phrase that has its own meaning □ There's a nip in the air.
- pl* irregular plural form □ They have three children.
- pp* irregular past participle of a verb □ I haven't spoken to him.
- predet* predeterminer □ It costs half the price.
- prefix* a word added to the beginning of a word □ a mid-air collision.
- prep* preposition □ Come for lunch. □ She's head of sales.
- pron* pronoun □ You must meet them. □ Those are mine.
- pt* irregular past tense of a verb □ I spoke to her recently.
- sb* somebody. This abbreviation can be replaced by any human noun in a sentence: to give sb a ride → I gave John a ride home.
- SCOT Scottish English
- sep* see vt sep below
- sthg* something. This abbreviation can be replaced by any non-human noun in a sentence: to take part in sthg → Twenty runners took part in the race.

- suffix* a word added to the end of a word □ sugar-free chewing gum.
- superl* irregular superlative form □ That's the funniest thing I've heard!
- US American English
- TM trademark. This symbol is shown at words considered to be trademarks. However if the symbol has been added or omitted in the dictionary, this should not be regarded as affecting the legal status of the trademark.
- vb* verb. This abbreviation is used in pronunciations where the stress of a word changes according to its part of speech.
- vi* intransitive verb □ She paused before answering. □ The plane took off.
- v impers* impersonal verb □ It's snowing. □ It appears that I was wrong.
- vt* transitive verb □ Eat your dinner. □ He handed me the note. □ The dog was run over by a truck.
- vt fus* a two- or three-part verb that is never split □ Jane took to him at once. □ I don't know how you put up with it.
- vt sep* a two- or three-part verb that can be split by its object □ Thanks for helping me out. □ He let me in on the secret.

SYMBOLS USED IN THIS DICTIONARY

- ◇ introduces a new part of speech in an entry, e.g. share ◇ n ... ◇ vt ...
- ◆ introduces a compound or plural form of the headword with its own meaning and part of speech, e.g. ◆ premises npl, ◆ on account of prep, ◆ in short adv, ◆ take off vi
- introduces an illustrative example showing how the headword is used in a real context, e.g. shot n -1. ... □ Several shots rang out.
- introduces a set phrase or idiom with its own meaning, e.g. shape n ...
■ to lick or knock sb into shape
- ∇ marks a word or meaning that belongs to very informal English
- ▼ marks a word or meaning that belongs to vulgar English or could give offense.

PHONETICS

Vowels

[ɪ]	pit, big, r id
[e]	pet, b end
[æ]	pat, b ag , m ad
[ʌ]	cut, r ubber
[ɒ]	co ffee , l og
[ʊ]	put, f ull
[ə]	suppose, the
[i:]	b ean , w eed
[ɑ:]	f ather , c alm
[ɔ:]	l awn , b all
[u:]	l oop , l oose
[ɜ:]	f urry

Diphthongs

[eɪ]	b ay , l ate , g reat
[aɪ]	b uy , l ight , a isle
[ɔɪ]	b oy , r oyal
[ou]	n o , r oad , b low
[aʊ]	n ow , sh out , t own
[ɪə]	h earing , s erious
[eə]	h airy , c arer
[ʊə]	t ourist , p urest , ins urance

Semi-vowels

[j]	y ou , sp an iel
[ɹ]	n ew , f ig ure
[w]	w et , t w in

Consonants

[p]	p op , p eo ple
[b]	b ott le, b ib
[t]	t rain , t ip
[d]	d og , d id
[k]	c ome , k itch en
[g]	r ag , g reat
[tʃ]	ch ain , wr etch ed
[dʒ]	j azz , br id ge
[f]	f ind , p h ysical, rou gh
[v]	v ine , l iv id
[θ]	th ink , f if th
[ð]	th is , w it h
[s]	s oon , p ea ce
[z]	z ip , h is , h ou ses
[ʃ]	sh ee p, m ach ine
[ʒ]	u s ual, m ea sure
[h]	h ow , p er h aps
[m]	m et al, c omb
[n]	n igh t, d inn er
[ŋ]	s un g, p ark ing
[l]	l itt le, h el p
[r]	r igh t, c arr y
[ɹ]	c ard , f ear
[x]	l och , B ach

The system of phonetic transcription used in this dictionary emphasizes the features that American and British English have in common. Separate phonetics for British and American pronunciation are only given where the differences between the two systems are not systematic or predictable, and are important enough to cause possible confusion.

The symbol [ɹ] is used for the [r] sound after a vowel in words such as car, tower, and purpose. It is usually pronounced by Americans but not by Southern British speakers.

The symbol [j] is used for the [j] sound in words such as duke, new, and pursue. It is pronounced by most British speakers but not by most Americans.

The symbol [ˈ] shows that the following syllable carries primary stress. The symbol [ˌ] shows that the syllable that follows carries secondary stress.

A phonetic transcription has been given, where appropriate, after every headword that is spelled as one word. For compound headwords that are spelled hyphenated or are made up of two or more separate words, phonetics are given for any element that does not appear elsewhere in the dictionary in its own right.

ENGLISH IRREGULAR VERBS

Infinitive	Past Tense	Past Participle
arise	arose	arisen
awake	awoke	awoken
be	was, were	been bear	bore	borne
beat	beat	beaten
befall	befell	befallen
begin	began	begun
behold	beheld	beheld
bend	bent	bent
beseech	besought /beseechd	besought /beseechd beset	beset	beset
bet	bet /betted	bet /betted bid	bid /bade	bid /bidden bind	bound	bound
bite	bit	bitten
bleed	bled	bled
blow	blew	blown
break	broke	broken
breed	bred	bred
bring	brought	brought build	built	built
burn	burned /burnt	burned /burnt burst	burst	burst
buy	bought	bought
can	could	—
cast	cast	cast
catch	caught	caught
choose	chose	chosen
cling	clung	clung
come	came	come
cost	cost	cost
creep	crept	crept
cut	cut	cut
deal	dealt	dealt
dig	dug	dug
dive	dived /US also dove	dived do	did	done
draw	drew	drawn
dream	dreamed /dreamt	dreamed /dreamt drink	drank	drunk
drive	drove	driven

Infinitive	Past Tense	Past Participle
 dwell	dwelt /dwelled	dwelt /dwelled eat	ate	eaten
 fall	fell	fallen
 feed	fed	fed
 feel	felt	felt
 fight	fought	fought
 find	found	found
 fit	fitted /US also fit	fit flee	fled	fled
 fling	flung	flung
 fly	flew	flown
 forget	forgot	forgotten forsake	forsook	forsaken freeze	froze	frozen
 get	got	US gotten/GB got give	gave	given
 go	went	gone
 grind	ground	ground
 grow	grew	grown
 hang	hung /hanged	hung /hanged have	had	had hear	heard	heard
 hide	hid	hidden
 hit	hit	hit
 hold	held	held
 hurt	hurt	hurt
 keep	kept	kept
 kneel	knelt /kneeled	knelt /kneeled know	knew	known
 lay	laid	laid
 lead	led	led
 lean	leaned /leant	leaned /leant leap	leapt /leaped	leapt /leaped learn	learned /learnt	learned /learnt leave	left	left
 lend	lent	lent
 let	let	let lie	lied /lay	lied /lain light	lit /lighted	lit /lighted lose	lost	lost
 make	made	made

Infinitive	Past Tense	Past Participle
may	might	—
mean	meant	meant
meet	met	met
mow	mowed	mowed /mown
pay	paid	paid
put	put	put
quit	quit /GB also quitted	quit /GB also quitted read	read	read
rend	rent	rent
rid	rid	rid
ride	rode	ridden
ring	rang	rung
rise	rose	risen
run	ran	run
saw	sawed	US sawed/GB sawn say	said	said
see	saw	seen
seek	sought	sought
sell	sold	sold
send	sent	sent
set	set	set
shake	shook	shaken shall	should	— shear	sheared	sheared /shorn shed	shed	shed
shine	shone	shone
shoot	shot	shot
show	showed	shown /showed shrink	shrank	shrunk
shut	shut	shut
sing	sang	sung
sink	sank	sunk
sit	sat	sat
slay	slew	slain
sleep	slept	slept
slide	slid	slid
sling	slung	slung
slit	slit	slit
smell	smelled /GB also smelt	smelled /GB also smelt sneek	sneaked /US also snuck	sneaked /US also snuck sow	sowed	sown /sowed
speak	spoke	spoken
speed	sped /speeded	sped /speeded

Infinitive	Past Tense	Past Participle
spell	US spelled /GB spelt	US spelled /GB spelt spend	spent	spent
spill	spilled /GB also spilt	spilled /GB also spilt spin	span/spun	span
spit	US spit /GB spat	US spit /GB spat split	split	split
spoil	spoiled /GB also spoilt	spoiled /GB also spoilt spread	spread	spread
spring	sprang	sprung stand	stood	stood
steal	stole	stolen
stick	stuck	stuck
sting	stung	stung
stink	stank /stunk	stunk stride	strode	stridden
strike	struck	struck
strive	strove	striven swear	swore	sworn sweep	swept	swept
swell	swelled	swollen /swelled swim	swam	swum
swing	swung	swung
take	took	taken
teach	taught	taught tear	tore	torn tell	told	told
think	thought	thought throw	threw	thrown thrust	thrust	thrust
tread	trod	trodden
wake	woke /waked	woken /waked wear	wore	worn
weave	wove /weaved	woven /weaved wed	wedded	wedded /wed
weep	wept	wept
will	would	— win	won	won
wind	wound	wound
wring	wrung	wrung
write	wrote	written

0... - 9...

- 000 [ˌtrɪpˈoʊ] n the telephone number used to call the emergency services in Australia □ a 000 call.
- 0055 number [ˌdʌblʊdʌblˈfaɪv-] n in Australia, a telephone number starting with the code 0055 that is used to call information and entertainment services.
- 0800 number [ˌoʊeɪtˈhʌndrəd-] n in Britain, a telephone number starting with the code 0800 that one can dial without paying. They are usually provided by businesses and government agencies to give information.
- 0898 number [ˌoʊeɪtˈnaɪnɪt-] n in Britain, a telephone number starting with the code 0898 that is used to call information and entertainment services.
- 1040 [ˌtenˈfɔːtɪ] n US the name of the tax return that most Americans fill out.
- 1066 [ˌtensɪkstɪˈsɪks] the year when Harold, King of England, was defeated by the Normans under William the Conqueror at the Battle of Hastings. It is a date that every English person is supposed to know.
- 12 [twelv] n in Britain, a classification that means that a movie or video can be seen only by children aged 12 or over.
- 15 [ˌfɪfˈtiːn] n in Britain, a classification that means that a movie or video can be seen only by people aged 15 or over.
- 1776 [ˌsevəntiːnsevəntɪˈsɪks] the year that the Declaration of Independence was signed in the USA. It is a date that every American is supposed to know.
- 1788 [ˌsevəntiːneɪtɪˈeɪt] the year that the first British convicts landed in Australia. It is a date that every Australian is supposed to know.
- 18 [ˌeɪˈtiːn] n in Britain, a classification that means that a movie or video can be seen only by people aged 18 or over.
- 18-wheeler [-ˈwiːlə] n US a very large truck with eighteen wheels.
- 1-800 number [ˌwʌneɪtˈhʌndrəd-] n in the USA and Australia, a telephone number starting with the code 1-800 that one can dial without paying. They are usually provided by businesses and government agencies to give information.
- 20/20 [ˌtwentɪˈtwentɪ] adj 20/20 vision the ability to see perfectly without the aid of glasses or contact lenses.
- 2.1 [ˌtuːˈwʌn] n in Britain and Australia, the upper level of the second-highest class of university degree.
- 2.2 [ˌtuːˈtuː] n in Britain and Australia, the lower level of the second-highest class of university degree.
- 2×4 [ˌtuːˈbaɪˈfɔːr] n a piece of wood, two inches thick and four inches wide, that is the standard size used by builders and carpenters in the USA □ Could you pass me that 2×4? □ a piece of 2×4.
- 3.2 beer [ˌθriːtuː-] n beer that contains 3.2 percent alcohol. In the USA it used to be sold to people who were too young to buy other alcoholic drinks.
- 35mm [ˌθɜːˈtɪfaɪvˈmɪləmiːtə] n the size of film most widely used in cameras, both for taking photographs and for making movies □ 35 mm film.
- 3-D [ˌθriːˈdiː] ◇ adj [picture, movie] see three-dimensional. ◇ n: If you put these glasses on you can see it in 3-D.
- 4×2 [ˌfɔːˈbaɪˈtuː] n a piece of wood, two inches thick and four inches wide, that is the standard size used by builders and carpenters in the UK □ a piece of 4×2.
- 4×4 [ˌfɔːˈbaɪˈfɔːr] n: see four-wheel drive.
- 45 [ˌfɔːˈtɪˈfaɪv] n a record that is played at 45 rpm and usually has only one song on each side.
- 45 [ˌfɔːˈtɪˈfaɪv] n a pistol that was widely used in the 19th century in the USA.
- 4-F [ˌfɔːˈrɛf] ◇ n a classification made by the US armed forces to show that a person is unfit for military service □ I got a 4-F. ◇ adj: He was declared 4-F.
- 4H [fɔːˈrɛɪtʃ] n a program set up by the US Department of Agriculture to teach young people in country areas useful skills in farming and running a home □ a 4H club.
- 4WD see four-wheel drive.
- 78 [ˌsevəntɪˈeɪt] n an old type of record that is played at 78 rpm.
- 800 number [eɪtˈhʌndrəd-] n US = 1-800 number.
- 900 number [ˌnaɪnˈhʌndrəd-] n in the USA, a telephone number starting with the code 900 that is used to call entertainment services.
- 911 [ˌnaɪnwʌnˈwʌn] the telephone number used to call the emergency services in the USA □ a 911 call.
- 999 [ˌnaɪnnaɪnˈnaɪn] the telephone number used to call the emergency services in Britain □ a 999 call.

A - Z

a¹ [eɪ] (pl a's), A [eɪ] (pl A's) n the first letter of the English alphabet. ■ from A to B from one place to another □ the fastest way from A to B. ■ from A to Z including every part of something □ He knows the job from A to Z.

◆ A n -1. EDUCATION the highest grade for a piece of work □ I got an A for my math. -2. MUSIC one of the notes in Western music.

a² [stressed eɪ, unstressed ə] (before vowel or silent "h" an) det -1. used when one mentions something for the first time □ My brother has started a new job. -2. used when one does not want to describe a particular person or thing □ An old man came up to me. □ I heard a noise. -3. used when making general comments □ A bicycle has two wheels. -4. used for jobs or hobbies □ He's a lawyer. □ She's a good tennis player. -5. used instead of the number "one" □ I saw them a month ago. □ A pint of milk, please. -6. used in fractions □ They got here (a) half an hour ago. -7. used in words for large numbers □ The firm made a million dollars last year. -8. used after number words to show prices, proportions etc □ 50 miles an hour □ He charges $12 an hour. □ The meal cost $25 a person. □ We visit them twice a month. -9. a Mr Mudd phoned somebody called Mr Mudd, who I do not know, phoned. -10. a Van Gogh a painting by Van Gogh. -11. I'd like a coffee I'd like a cup of coffee. ■ an excellent wine an excellent type of wine.

a. abbr of acre.

A-1 [eɪ'wʌn] adj excellent (informal use).

A4 [eɪ'fɔ:ɪ] n GB a standard paper size (210 x 297 mm) □ A4 paper.

AA n -1. (abbr of Alcoholics Anonymous) an organization for alcoholics who are trying to stop drinking. -2. (abbr of Automobile Association) the AA a British organization for car owners that helps its members when their cars break down. -3. (abbr of Associate in OR of Arts) a US college degree.

AAA [sense 1 ˌtrɪp'l'eɪ, sense 2 θrɪ:'eɪz] n -1. (abbr of American Automobile Association) a US organization for car owners that helps its members when their cars break down. -2. (abbr of Amateur Athletics Association) the AAA a British organization that organizes sports events for athletes.

a.a.e. abbr of according to age and experience □ Salary £14K-£20K, a.a.e.

AAUP (abbr of American Association of University Professors) n the AAUP a US labor union for university professors.

AB ◇ n US abbr of Bachelor of Arts. ◇ abbr of Alberta.

ABA (abbr of Australian Broadcasting Authority) n the ABA the organization that controls television companies in Australia.

aback [ə'bæk] adv to be taken aback to be surprised, especially by something unpleasant □ He was a little taken aback when I told him I was leaving.

abacus ['æbəkəs] (pl abacuses OR abaci [-saɪ]) n a frame with rows of sliding beads in it that are used for counting.

abandon [ə'bændən] ◇ vt -1. [building, car, child] to leave  with no intention of returning □ They abandoned the empty van at the side of the road. □ The dog had been abandoned by its owners. -2. [project, search, attempt] to stop <an activity, event> etc before it is finished □ The police abandoned their hunt for the murder weapon. □ The game had to be abandoned because of bad weather. -3. [plan, idea] to stop believing that <sthg> is worth doing, likely to happen etc □ They abandoned all hope of ever seeing him again. ◇ n with abandon in an uncontrolled way □ Sue danced around the room with wild abandon.

abandoned [ə'bændənd] adj [building, vehicle] that is no longer used or wanted □ They staged the performance in an old abandoned farmhouse.

abashed [ə'bæʃt] adj to be abashed [person] to be embarrassed and ashamed □ He looked genuinely abashed.

abate [ə'beɪt] vi [storm, noise, fear] to become less intense.

abattoir ['æbətwa:ɪ] n a building where animals are killed for food.

abbess [US 'æbəs, GB -es] n the nun in charge of a convent.

abbey ['æbi] n a large church with buildings attached to it where monks or nuns live □ Westminster Abbey.

abbot ['æbət] n the monk in charge of an abbey.

abbreviate [ə'bri:vɪeɪt] vt to shorten  □ Information technology is often abbreviated to IT.

abbreviation [ə,bri:vɪ'eɪʃn] n the shortened form of a word or phrase □ IMF is the abbreviation of OR for the International Monetary Fund.

ABC n -1. (abbr of American Broadcasting Company) one of the main TV companies in the USA. -2. (abbr of Australian Broadcasting Company) the Australian state-owned radio and television company. -3. GB = ABCs.

ABCs [ˌeɪbiːˈsiːz] US npl, ABC GB n -1. the alphabet □ The children are learning their ABCs. -2. the ABCs of sthg the most basic information about sthg □ the ABCs of banking.

abdicate [ˈæbdɪkeɪt] ◇ vi to give up the position of king or queen. ◇ vt [responsibility, duty] to no longer accept <sthg>.

abdication [ˌæbdɪˈkeɪʃn] n: see abdicate □ the abdication of Edward VIII □ That would be a complete abdication of our responsibilities.

abdomen [ˈæbdəmən] n the part at the front of one's body between one's chest and hips.

abdominal [ˌæbdəmənəl] adj [pain, muscles] see abdomen □ pain in the abdominal region.

abduct [əbˈdʌkt] vt to take <sb> away, using force or deceit □ The child was abducted on his way to school.

abduction [əbˈdʌkʃn] n [of a person] see abduct.

Abel [ˈeɪbl] → Cain.

aberration [ˌæbəˈreɪʃn] n a change from one's normal behavior or way of thinking □ The defense insisted that his violent behavior was due to a mental aberration.

abet [əˈbet] (pt & pp abetted, cont abetting) vt → aid.

abeyance [əˈbeɪəns] n to be in abeyance [law, regulation] not to be in use (formal use).

abhor [əbˈhɔːr] (pt & pp abhorred, cont abhorring) vt [cruelty, violence] to hate <sthg> very much (formal use).

abhorrent [əbˈhɒrənt] adj [behavior, attitude] that one finds very unpleasant and completely unacceptable (formal use) □ Such opinions are utterly abhorrent to me.

abide [əˈbaɪd] vt I can't abide her/it etc I dislike her/it etc very much.

◆ abide by vt fus to abide by sthg to accept and obey the law, a rule, decision etc whether one agrees with it or not □ They agreed to abide by the terms of the treaty.

abiding [əˈbaɪdɪŋ] adj [feeling, interest, memory] that lasts a long time and does not change □ my abiding passion for Greece.

ability [əˈbɪlətɪ] (pl abilities) n the power, knowledge, or skill that makes it possible for somebody to do something □ He has great musical ability. □ There is no doubt about her abilities as a team leader. ■ to have the ability to do sthg to be able to do sthg special or unusual □ Harry has an amazing ability to interrupt just at the wrong moment! ■ to do sthg to the best of one's ability to do sthg as well as one can □ I'll do it to the best of my ability, but I can't guarantee the result.

abject [ˈæbdʒekt] adj -1. abject poverty/misery very great poverty/misery □ I felt an abject failure. -2. [person, apology] without self-respect □ She left him, abject and begging for forgiveness.

ablaze [əˈbleɪz] adj -1. to be ablaze [building] to be burning strongly. -2. to be ablaze with sthg [building, sky] to be brightly lit by sthg □ The palace windows were ablaze with light.

able [ˈeɪbl] adj -1. to be able to do sthg to have the skill, power, time etc to do sthg □ If I sit at the back I won't be able to hear the speaker. □ Will you be able to come to the meeting? -2. [person] who is good at an activity, especially their job □ He's a very able politician.

able-bodied [ˈeɪbəlɪdɪd] adj [person] who is physically healthy □ All able-bodied men were required to join the army.

ablutions [əˈbluːʃnz] npl the act of washing oneself (formal or humorous use).

ably [ˈeɪbli] adv [assisted, supported] skillfully □ Mr Jones was ably assisted by a team of local volunteers.

ABM n abbr of antiballistic missile.

abnormal [æbˈnɔːrml] adj [person, behavior] that is different from what is normal, in a way that seems unpleasant, worrying, or strange □ The patient's breathing was abnormal. □ He had an abnormal interest in death.

abnormality [ˌæbnɔːrˈmælətɪ] (pl abnormalities) n something abnormal □ The test will detect any abnormalities in the blood cells.

abnormally [æbˈnɔːrˈməlɪ] adv abnormally low/high low/high to a degree that seems abnormal □ abnormally high levels of radiation.

aboard [əˈbɔːrd] ◇ adv onto a ship, plane, bus etc □ The last passenger came aboard. ■ all aboard! an expression used to tell passengers that it is time to get on a ship, train, bus etc. ◇ prep on or into  etc □ The terrorists aboard the 747 have released two hostages.

abode [əˈbɔːd] n the place where one lives (formal or humorous use) □ Welcome to my humble abode. ■ of no fixed abode [person] who has no permanent address (legal use).

abolish [əˈbɒlɪʃ] vt [law, activity, system] to end <sthg> officially □ The Government had to abolish the new tax because it was so unpopular.

abolition [ˌæbəlɪˈʃn] n [of a law, activity] see abolish □ the abolition of slavery.

abominable [əˈbɒmɪnəbl] adj [conditions, weather, behavior] very bad □ The service at that restaurant is abominable!

abominably [əˈbɒmɪnəblɪ] adv very badly □ The prisoners were treated abominably.

aboriginal [ˌæbərɪdʒɪnəl] ◇ n = aborigine. ◇ adj: aboriginal peoples/art.

Aboriginal Australian n = Aborigine.

aborigine [ˌæbərɪdʒəni] n a person who belongs to the race that was living in a country before anybody else arrived there.

◆ Aborigine n a person who belongs to the race that was living in Australia before Europeans arrived there.

🍷 ABORIGINES

There have been Aborigines in Australia for at least 60,000 years. Today there are about 260,000 of them (1.5% of the total population), living mainly in the Northern Territory, Western Australia, and Queensland. About two-thirds of Aborigines now live in towns and cities, and the rest live a more traditional way of life in the outback. Recently Aborigines have been able to claim back the land they were living on before European settlers arrived.

abort [ə'bo:t] ◇ vt -1. MEDICINE to remove  from its mother's womb before it is ready to be born, so that it dies □ The doctors decided to abort the pregnancy. -2. [launch, mission] to end <an activity> before it is finished because it is difficult or dangerous □ Takeoff was aborted due to rocket failure. -3. COMPUTING to stop  before it has finished running. ◇ vi [woman] to give birth to a baby too soon during the pregnancy so that it dies □ She aborted when she was four months pregnant.

abortion [ə'bo:tʃn] n a medical operation in which a fetus is removed from its mother's womb, so that it dies □ She went abroad to have an abortion.

abortive [ə'bo:tɪv] adj [attempt, effort, plan] that is not successful □ The money-making scheme proved abortive. □ our abortive attempts to win favor with the locals.

abound [ə'baund] vi -1. [rumors, jobs, examples] to be present in large numbers or amounts □ a city where opportunities abound. -2. to abound with OR in sthg to have plenty of sthg □ The area abounds in natural resources.

about [ə'baʊt] ◇ adv -1. about five years/$100 a little more or a little less than five years/$100 (used with numbers or amounts) □ I'll see you at about five o'clock. -2. to lie/sit about to lie/sit in no special place, usually not doing anything important □ The people stood about in groups chatting. ■ to run/jump about to run/jump in different directions, sometimes in an uncontrolled way □ The book fell on his foot, causing him to hop about in pain. -3. to be about to be somewhere near and possible to find, use, catch etc □ Are there any teachers about? □ There's a lot of flu about. -4. phrase to be about to do sthg to be going to do sthg very soon □ She's just about to leave.

◇ prep -1. a book about Paris a book that has Paris as its subject □ What was the movie about? □ He's always worrying about his health. -2. we must do something about it we must take action to make the situation better □ So what are you going to do about those people waiting outside? -3. to be about a place to be somewhere in a place □ "Where's Sue?" — "She's about the house somewhere." □ His clothes were lying scattered about the room. -4. phrases there is something strange about him there is something strange in his character or appearance □ There's something odd about this whole business. □ What I like about her is her frankness. ■ what OR how about sthg? a phrase used to introduce a topic or to make a suggestion □ OK, it's a nice car, but what about the cost? □ How about a drink?

about-face US, about-turn GB n -1. MILITARY a movement in which a soldier or group of soldiers turns to face the opposite direction. -2. a change to the opposite attitude or above [ə'baʊ] ◇ adv -1. the sky above the sky over one's head □ He lives in the apartment above. -2. the items above the items that have been mentioned before in a letter, report etc (formal use) □ See above for details of prices. -3. aged five and above aged five or more.

course of action □ The Administration has done another about-face on tax increases.

◇ prep -1. above the door directly over the door □ The apartment above mine is empty. -2. the person above me the person who is higher than me in rank or status □ She has a manager above her who supervises her work. -3. to be above suspicion/criticism to be considered too good or important to deserve any suspicion/criticism. ■ to be above cheating/stealing to be too good, honest, or proud to take part in cheating/stealing □ Are you arguing about money again? I thought you were above all that!

◆ above all adv a phrase used to introduce the most important thing of all □ Above all, I want to succeed. □ Be pleasant and friendly, but above all be polite.

aboveboard [ə'baʊnbɔ:d] adj to be aboveboard [business, agreement] to be honest and not involved in anything secret or illegal □ He assured us that the deal was all open and aboveboard.

abracadabra [æbrəkə'dæbrə] excl a word spoken by a magician performing a magic trick that is supposed to make the magic happen.

Abraham ['eɪbrəhæm] in the Bible, the ancestor of the Hebrews.

abrasion [ə'breɪʒn] n an injury caused by scraping one's skin accidentally (formal use).

abrasive [ə'breɪsɪv] adj -1. [substance, pad, cloth] that is used to make surfaces clean and smooth by rubbing or scratching them. -2. [person, manner] rude and unkind.

abreast [ə'breɪst] adv [walk, ride] beside each other □ The children were cycling three abreast.

◆ abreast of prep to keep abreast of sthg [of a situation, subject] to know the most recent facts about sthg because of what one reads, hears etc □ I like to keep abreast of the latest developments in software.

abridged [ə'brɪdʒd] adj [play, book, version] that has been made shorter by having some parts taken out □ The novel was abridged for radio by E. M. Nelson.

abroad [ə'brɔ:d] adv in or to another country □ He's gone abroad for the summer. □ She's lived abroad for several years now.

abrupt [ə'brʌpt] adj -1. [change, movement] that is sudden and unexpected □ The party came to an abrupt end. -2. [person, tone of voice] that is rude and unfriendly □ There was no need to be so abrupt with her!

abruptly [ə'brʌptli] adv [change, behave etc] see abrupt □ The play finished rather abruptly. □ "That's enough," she said abruptly.

ABS brake n a type of brake used on some cars that helps to prevent skidding by stopping the wheels from becoming fixed in a particular position.

abscess ['æbses] n a painful swelling on one's body that is full of pus.

abscond [æb'skɒnd] vi -1. to go away secretly from the place where one works, usually after stealing something □ He absconded with the takings. -2. to escape from a place where one is being kept for legal reasons □ Another prisoner has absconded.

abseil ['æbsɛɪl] vi GB to go down a cliff, steep slope etc by sliding down a rope and pushing against the slope with one's feet.

absence ['æbsəns] n [of a person, thing] see absent □ He returned after three months' absence. ■ in sb's absence while sb is absent □ I'm responsible for managing the office in Sara's absence. ■ in the absence of sthg [of information, evidence] because sthg is not available or does not exist □ In the absence of accurate statistics, we'll have to make a rough guess.

absent ['æbsənt] adj -1. [worker, student, parent] who is not at work, school, home etc when they are supposed to be there; [thing] that should be a part of something but is missing □ Any employee absent from work through illness must notify the office. □ What was absent from her voice was any feeling of warmth. ■ to be absent without leave MILITARY to be away from one's camp or regiment without permission. -2. [expression, person] that shows a lack of attention □ "Oh, it's you," she said, looking up from her book with an absent smile.

absentee [æbsən'ti:] n a person who is absent, especially from work.

absenteeism [æbsən'ti:zəm] n being away from work or school, especially regularly and without a good reason □ the problem of absenteeism at work.

absent-minded [-'maɪndəd] adj [person] who often loses or forgets things because they are thinking about something else □ Ken looked like the typical absent-minded professor.

absolute ['æbsəlu:t] adj -1. a word used to show that one feels very strongly about something □ That's absolute nonsense! -2. [dedication, secrecy, terror] very great □ The work demands absolute concentration. -3. [ruler, power] that is not limited in any way □ As a director, I require absolute control over the entire creative process.

absolutely ['æbsəlu:tli] adv -1. a word used to show that one feels very strongly about something □ I absolutely refuse to sell those shares. □ You're absolutely right! -2. to the greatest possible extent □ I trusted him absolutely. ◇ excl a word used to express complete agreement □ "Don't you agree?" — "Oh, absolutely!"

absolute majority n a result in an election in which one political party wins more than half of all the votes.

absolution [æbsə'lu:ʃn] n forgiveness of one's sins by a priest (formal use).

absolve [æb'zɒlv] vt to say officially that <sb> is not responsible for a crime, error etc □ The committee's findings completely absolved them of all blame.

absorb [æb'sɔ:'b] vt -1. [water, oil] to take in and hold  □ a material capable of absorbing many times its weight in water □ The drug is rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream.

-2. [impact, noise] to reduce the effect of sthg unpleasant. -3. [details, instructions] to understand and remember <information> □ It was too much to absorb all at once. -4. to be absorbed in sthg to give sthg all of one's attention or interest □ He was utterly absorbed in his reading.

absorbent [æb'sɔ:'bənt] adj [substance, cloth] that can absorb liquids □ The crystals are highly absorbent.

absorbing [æb'sɔ:'bɪŋ] adj [story, account] very interesting □ I found the play very absorbing.

absorption [æb'sɔ:'pʃn] n: see absorb.

abstain [æb'steɪn] vi -1. to deliberately avoid something pleasant because it is bad for one's health or morally wrong □ Patients should abstain from alcohol while taking antibiotics. -2. to deliberately not vote in an election, ballot etc □ Ten members voted for the proposal and three abstained.

abstemious [æb'sti:mjəs] adj [person] who does not eat or drink very much (formal use).

abstention [æb'stenʃn] n a vote that is deliberately not used by somebody in an election, ballot etc □ There were three abstentions.

abstinence ['æbstənəns] n [from alcohol, sex, smoking] see abstain □ a period of abstinence.

abstract [adj & n 'æbstrækt, vb æb'strækt] ◇ adj -1. [art, painting] that consists of shapes and colors that do not represent objects or people. -2. [thinking, argument] that is concerned with ideas rather than real examples of things □ This is all rather abstract, isn't it — have you any more definite plans? ◇ n [of an article, speech] a written summary.

abstracted [æb'stræktəd] adj [person] who does not notice what is happening because they are thinking of something else □ He seemed abstracted, and did not appear to hear me.

abstraction [æb'strækʃn] n -1. [of a person, somebody's manner] see abstracted. -2. [in one's thinking] an idea that is concerned with something general and not with a particular person, situation etc □ a tendency to think in abstractions.

abstruse [æb'stru:s] adj [comment, idea, theory] that is difficult to understand □ I found his arguments abstruse, to say the least.

absurd [æb'sɜ:'d] adj [idea, situation, decision] that is so strange and different from what is normal or expected that it is hard to believe or take seriously □ How absurd! □ I feel/look absurd in this outfit.

absurdity [æb'sɜ:'dətɪ] (pl absurdities) n an absurd idea or thing □ The legal system is full of such absurdities. □ You can imagine the absurdity of the situation.

absurdly [æb'sɜ:'dli] adv a word used to express how extreme and unreasonable something is □ absurdly high prices.

ABTA ['æbtə] (abbr of Association of British Travel Agents) n an organization that pays money to customers of travel agents if the travel agency goes bankrupt.

Abu Dhabi [US ,ɑ:bʊ'dɑ:bi, GB ,æbʊ-] the largest state and capital of the United Arab Emirates, in eastern Arabia. SIZE: 74,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 670,000.

abundance [ə'bʌndəns] n an amount of something that is more than one needs □ an abundance of raw materials.

◆ in abundance adv in large amounts □ There was food in abundance.

abundant [ə'bʌndənt] adj that is more than enough □ There is an abundant supply of food.

abundantly [ə'bʌndəntli] adv -1. abundantly clear/obvious very clear/obvious □ It was abundantly obvious that Jenny wasn't in the slightest bit interested. -2. [exist, grow] in large amounts □ Wild asparagus is found abundantly in this area.

abuse [n ə'bju:s, vb ə'bju:z] ◇ n -1. [in words] offensive words that somebody uses in order to insult another person □ They shouted abuse at the police. □ a term of abuse. -2. [of a child] cruel or harmful treatment, especially of somebody young or helpless □ victims of sexual abuse □ The abuse went on for years. -3. [of drugs, power] the excessive or unreasonable use of something □ Such positions are open to abuse. □ alcohol abuse.

◇ vt -1. [person in authority] to make insulting remarks to <sb> □ Murray was sent off for abusing the referee. -2. [child, wife] to treat <sb> badly, cruelly, or violently □ He was abused as a child. -3. [authority, privilege] to use <power> in an excessive or unreasonable way □ He has abused the system/our trust.

abuser [ə'bju:zə] n a person who abuses somebody or something □ a clinic for alcohol abusers.

abusive [ə'bju:siv] adj [person, behavior, language] that is offensive and insulting □ There's no need to be abusive!

abut [ə'bʌt] (pt & pp abutted, cont abutting) vi to abut onto sthg [onto a building, piece of land] to be next to one end of sthg (formal use).

abysmal [ə'bɪzml] adj [standard, performance, failure] very bad □ What abysmal weather!

abysmally [ə'bɪzmlɪ] adv -1. [perform, fail] very badly □ I tried to convince them but I failed abysmally. -2. abysmally low/small very low/small □ an abysmally slow growth rate.

abyss [ə'bɪs] n (literary use) -1. a very deep hole. -2. a very dangerous situation.

a/c -1. abbr of account. -2. abbr of air-conditioning.

AC n -1. abbr of athletics club. -2. abbr of alternating current.

NOTE: Compare DC.

academic [ˌækə'demɪk] ◇ adj -1. [job, qualification, life] that is connected with the field of education, especially at college or university □ Her academic results are excellent. -2. [pupil, student] who is good at studying, especially in subjects that involve thinking and writing rather than practical work □ The course stresses academic rather than practical skills. -3. [question, outcome] that has no importance in relation to a real situation □ From that moment on, the result was purely academic. ◇ n [at college, university] someone who teaches or does research □ Scott went on to become an academic.

academically [ˌækə'demɪkli] adv from an educational point of view □ He is very talented academically, but not good at sports.

academic year n the period of the year when classes take place at college or university.

academy [ə'kædəmi] (pl academies) n -1. a school or college, usually specializing in one subject □ a naval/military academy. -2. a society whose aim is to promote science or art □ the Royal Academy.

ACAS ['eɪkæs] (abbr of Advisory Conciliation and Arbitration Service) n a British organization that tries to solve disputes between management and unions.

accede [æk'si:ɪd] vi (formal use) -1. to accede to sthg [to a request, demand] to agree to sthg □ He finally acceded to their demands. -2. to accede to the throne to become king or queen.

accelerate [ək'seləreɪt] ◇ vi -1. AUTO [vehicle] to go faster; [driver] to make a vehicle go faster □ The truck accelerated away. -2. [change, growth, pace] to increase in speed □ The fall in sales has accelerated over the summer. ◇ vt [change, growth, pace] to make <sthg> happen faster than expected or than before □ The success of the advertising campaign has accelerated demand.

acceleration [ək'selə'reɪʃn] n -1. [of change, growth, pace] see accelerate. -2. AUTO [of a vehicle] the time it takes for a car, motorcycle etc to reach a high speed □ This model has good/poor acceleration.

accelerator [ək'seləreɪtə] n the pedal in a car, on a motorcycle etc that the driver presses to make the vehicle go faster.

accelerator card n an electronic device that can be added to a computer to make it work faster.

accelerator pedal n = accelerator.

accent ['æksent] n -1. [of speaker] a way of pronouncing words that may show which region, country, or social class somebody comes from □ He spoke with a foreign/a Southern accent. -2. [in writing] a mark, usually above a letter, that shows how it should be pronounced □ There's an accent on the "o" in "matón". -3. the accent is on sthg particular importance is given to sthg □ The accent here is on teamwork.

accentuate [æk'sentʃueɪt] vt [feature, aspect] to make <sthg> more obvious □ The thin dress only accentuated her frailness.

accept [ək'sept] vt -1. [gift, prize, invitation] to agree to take <sthg that is offered> □ I was unable to accept their offer of a free trip. ■ please accept our apologies/our thanks an expression used to apologize/to thank somebody (formal use). -2. [suggestion, proposal, piece of advice] to say that one agrees with <what somebody says>, and will do what they say □ The government accepted the recommendations of the committee. -3. [excuse, explanation, account] to say that one finds <sthg> reasonable □ I can't accept that argument. □ It is generally accepted that this chemical can cause cancer. -4. [situation, fact] to decide that one cannot change or improve <sthg> □ They refused to accept the appalling working conditions. -5. to accept responsibility/the blame for sthg □ The company must accept full responsibility for what has happened. -6. [candidate, new member] to say that <sb> can join an institution or organization □ She's been accepted by Harvard. -7. [newcomer, foreigner] to treat <sb> as if they belong to one's family, group etc □ It took a long time before she felt accepted by her team-mates. -8. [currency, cash] to take <sthg> as payment □ We accept all major credit cards. -9. [coin, diskette, data] to be able to work when <sthg> is put in it □ This machine only accepts quarters.

acceptable [ək'septəbl] adj -1. [behavior, dress, situation] that can be tolerated, especially because it is not believed to be morally wrong □ It is no longer socially acceptable to drink and drive. -2. [plan, piece of work, candidate] that is good enough □ As a temporary measure it's perfectly acceptable. □ We eventually found a solution that was acceptable to everyone.

acceptably [ək'septəblɪ] adv -1. [behave, dress] see acceptable □ It's possible to eat acceptably without spending a fortune. -2. acceptably high/low high/low enough.

acceptance [ək'septəns] n -1. [by an institution] an offer of membership, a place etc made by an institution or organization such as a club or university to an applicant or candidate □ a letter of acceptance. -2. [of a prize, proposal, situation] see accept □ an acceptance speech. -3. to gain or win acceptance [idea, method] to be believed or supported by an increasing number of people □ Vegetarianism has gradually gained acceptance among the middle classes.

accepted [ək'septəd] adj [idea, fact] that is believed by most people to be correct □ It's now accepted that too much sun ages the skin.

access ['ækses] ◇ n -1. [to a building] a way of getting into a place □ The kitchen gives access to the garage. ■ to gain access to a place to manage to enter a place □ Thieves had gained access to the house through an upstairs window. ■ 'disabled access' a sign indicating a special way into a place designed for people in wheelchairs. -2. [to information, a person] the opportunity to use something or contact somebody □ He has access to the children at weekends. □ Access to these files is restricted. ◇ vt COMPUTING [data, files] to get <information> from a computer's memory □ How do I access the master file?

accessibility [ək,sesə'biləti] n: see accessible.

accessible [ək'sesəbl] adj -1. [place] that is possible to reach □ The village is only accessible by boat. -2. [price, product] that many people can afford □ Computers are now accessible to everyone. -3. [book, report] that is easy to understand □ Modern music is becoming more accessible to the man in the street.

accession [æk'seʃn] n [of a king, queen] see accede.

accessory [ək'sesəri] (pl accessories) n -1. [for a machine] an extra part that is not essential □ car accessories. -2. LAW a person who helps a criminal before or after a crime, e.g. by helping to plan it, but is not present when the crime is committed □ an accessory to murder.

◆ accessories npl things, e.g. belts, handbags, or jewelry, that are worn or carried with particular clothes.

access road n CONSTRUCTION a road that leads to a building site, housing project etc.

access time n the time it takes to access a piece of information that is stored in a computer.

accident ['æksədənt] n -1. an unexpected event that often causes damage or injury □ Many accidents in the home involve electricity. □ He was killed in a road/riding accident. □ a minor/serious accident □ accident insurance. ■ to have an accident to damage something or injure oneself without meaning to; [in a car] to crash □ He had an accident at work. -2. it was an accident it was not done deliberately □ I didn't mean to break it, it was an accident!

◆ by accident adv [meet, discover] without being planned or expected in advance □ I found out the answer completely by accident.

accidental [ˌæksədəntl] adj -1. [death, injury] that happens as a result of an accident, e.g. a car accident. -2. [meeting, discovery] that happens by accident □ It was totally accidental that they were both wearing the same dress. □ accidental breakages.

accidentally [ˌæksədəntli] adv [happen, meet, discover] see accidental □ I accidentally knocked over the bottle.

accident-prone adj [person] who often has accidents □ He's very accident-prone.

acclaim [ə'kleɪm] ◇ n strong praise □ Her new book had received great critical acclaim. ◇ vt [writer, book, play] to praise <sb/sthg> very much □ a widely-acclaimed author.

acclamation [ˌæklə'meɪʃn] n loud approval of somebody or something.

acclimate [ə'klaɪmət] vt & vi US = acclimatize.

acclimatize [ə'klaɪmətaɪz] ◇ vt to acclimatize oneself, to become acclimatized to get used to a new climate, new surroundings, or new customs. ◇ vi: You'll soon acclimatize to the heat.

accolade [ˌækələɪd] n public praise and approval □ This award is the highest accolade the acting profession gives to its members.

accommodate [ə'kɒmədeɪt] vt -1. [apartment, car] to have enough room for <sb/sthg> □ The car will accommodate up to five people. -2. [institution] to provide a place to live for <sb> □ The council has a duty to accommodate homeless families. -3. [person] to help <sb> by giving them what they need or have asked for □ The management refused to accommodate the union's requests.

accommodating [ə'kɒmədeɪtɪŋ] adj [person] willing to help □ The staff at the hotel were very accommodating.

accommodation [ə,kɒmə'deɪʃn] n -1. [in a hotel] a place to live or sleep □ overnight/furnished/hotel accommodation. -2. BUSINESS a place to work □ office accommodation.

◆ accommodations npl US food, services, and seats or rooms provided for a guest in a hotel, or a passenger on a ship, plane, or train (formal use).

accompaniment [ə'kʌmpənɪmənt] n -1. music played on an instrument as a support while somebody sings or plays the main instrument □ a piano/guitar accompaniment. -2. an accompaniment to sthg something that goes with sthg and makes it look better or taste better □ The puree is an excellent accompaniment to roast lamb.

accompanist [ə'kʌmpənəst] n a person who plays a musical accompaniment.

accompany [ə'kʌmpəni] (vt & pp accompanied) vt -1. to go somewhere with <sb> □ I accompanied her to the station. -2. to be accompanied by sthg to happen at the same time or be in the same place as sthg □ The letter was accompanied by an invoice. -3. MUSIC to play an accompaniment for  □ He accompanied her on the guitar.

accomplice [ə'kʌmpləs] n a person who helps somebody else to do something illegal.

accomplish [ə'kʌmplɪʃ] vt [task, aim] to complete <sthg> successfully □ I haven't accomplished much this morning.

accomplished [ə'kʌmplɪʃt] adj [cook, sailor, musician] who is very good at doing a particular job or hobby.

accomplishment [ə'kʌmplɪʃmənt] n -1. [of a task, aim] see accomplish. -2. something that has been successfully done by somebody and that they can be proud of □ That's quite an accomplishment.

◆ accomplishments npl the special skills or talents that a person has □ one of her many accomplishments.

accord [ə'kɔ:d] n a formal agreement □ The two countries have reached an accord. □ a peace accord.

◆ in accord adj to be in accord with sb/sthg to agree with sb/sthg.

◆ of one's own accord adv [go, resign, say something] without being forced or persuaded □ She left the firm entirely of her own accord.

accordance [ə'kɔ:dns] ◆ in accordance with prep following what is stated by  etc □ Our staff were acting in accordance with standard procedure.

according [ə'kɔ:dɪŋ] ◆ according to prep -1. as stated by  etc □ According to witnesses, the plane caught fire before crashing. ■ to go according to plan [event, visit] to happen the way that has been planned □ Everything went according to plan, and the party was a success. -2. depending on <age, ability, preference> etc □ Prices vary according to how long the job will take. □ 'Salary according to age and experience.'

accordingly [ə'kɔ:dɪŋli] adv -1. [act, behave] in a way that is suitable, considering what has already been said or done □ I was a good worker and I expected to be paid accordingly. -2. accordingly,... as a result □ The rains failed to come. Accordingly, many crops died from lack of water.

accordion [ə'kɔ:dʒən] n a musical instrument shaped like a box with keys and buttons that is played by squeezing the sides together to make the air inside produce a note.

accordionist [ə'kɔ:dʒənəst] n a musician who plays the accordion.

accost [ə'kɒst] vt to approach <sb who one does not know> and speak to them, sometimes to threaten them (formal use) □ I was accosted in the street by a tramp.

account [ə'kaʊnt] n -1. [at a bank] an arrangement to keep money in a bank; the money kept by somebody at a bank □ a bank account □ I have an account with Eurocity Bank. □ It's time we opened a business account. □ an account name/number. -2. [at a store] an arrangement with a store or company for paying for something later □ Charge it to my account. □ I bought it on account. □ an account customer. -3. a customer who does a lot of business with a company □ Jonathan looks after the Skyways account. -4. [of an event] a report, description, or explanation □ She gave her account of the accident to the police. -5. phrases to call sb to account to make sb explain why they have done something wrong □ Despite his mistakes, he was never called to account. ■ to give a good account of oneself to do something well that makes people praise or respect one □ She gave a good account of herself in the interview. ■ to take account of sthg, to take sthg into account to think carefully about sthg before making a final decision or judgment □ We have to take into account the fact that he's been under a lot of pressure lately. ■ to be of no account not to be important □ He is a person of little account.

◆ accounts npl a record of money spent and received by a business; the department in a company that deals with this □ His elder brother keeps the company's accounts. □ the accounts department.

◆ by all accounts adv according to what everybody says or writes □ He was, by all accounts, a formidable man.

◆ on account of prep because of <sthg> □ The delivery was late on account of the airline strike. □ Don't stay at home just on my account.

◆ on no account adv a phrase used to emphasize that something must not happen □ On no account should you talk to anybody else about this.

◆ account for vt fus -1. to account for sthg [for one's behavior, a mistake] to explain <sthg that is wrong or unexpected> □ How do you account for this discrepancy in the figures? -2. to

- account for sthg [for a part of sthg] to be a particular amount or part of sthg □ Direct sales account for 40% of the company's profits.
- accountability [ə,kauntə'bɪlətɪ] n: see accountable □ There were calls for greater police accountability.
- accountable [ə'kauntəbl] adj -1. to be accountable for sthg to be responsible for sthg □ The company cannot be held accountable for damage to clients' property. -2. to be accountable to sb to have to be able to explain one's actions to sb □ Congress must be fully accountable to the public.
- accountancy [ə'kauntənsɪ] n = accounting.
- accountant [ə'kauntənt] n a person whose job is to keep or check accounts, or give financial advice.
- account executive n a person whose job is to handle the business done with the customers of their company.
- accounting [ə'kauntɪŋ] n the profession of an accountant □ an accounting firm/method.
- accounterments [ə'ku:trəmənts] US, accountrements [ə'ku:trəmənts] GB npl the equipment somebody has with them for travel, sport etc (formal or humorous use).
- accredited [ə'kredətəd] adj [authority, ambassador, representative] officially accepted □ Being an accredited journalist allows me to go almost anywhere I want.
- accrue [ə'kru:] vi [money, interest] to increase in amount gradually □ advantages accruing to property owners □ accrued interest/income.
- accumulate [ə'kju:mjəleɪt] ◇ vt [money, facts, possessions] to collect a large amount of <sthg> over a period of time □ Over the years he accumulated a collection of fine paintings. □ Children have a tendency to accumulate junk. ◇ vi [money, substance] to grow in amount over a period of time □ You have to clean the engine regularly to prevent dirt from accumulating.
- accumulation [ə'kju:mjəleɪʃn] n -1. [of dirt, knowledge, chemicals] a group or amount of things that has grown bigger over a period of time □ a large accumulation of capital. -2. [of money, facts, possessions] see accumulate □ Their gradual accumulation of smaller companies is viewed with suspicion.
- accuracy ['ækjərəsɪ] n: see accurate □ The accuracy of his spelling leaves a lot to be desired. □ The missile hits its target with 98% accuracy.
- accurate ['ækjərət] adj -1. [information, description, report] that is correct because the details are very close to the truth □ The costumes worn by the actors are historically accurate. □ These figures are as accurate as it is possible to be. -2. [piece of equipment, worker] that produces correct results □ an accurate typist.
- accurately ['ækjərətli] adv [report, describe, type] see accurate □ Please quote accurately from your sources.
- accusation [ækjə'zeɪʃn] n -1. a statement that accuses somebody of doing something bad or wrong □ The mayor resigned amid accusations of corruption. -2. LAW a formal charge that officially accuses somebody of a crime □ They brought an accusation of criminal negligence against the firm. -3. a feeling that somebody has done something bad or wrong □ There was a note of accusation in her voice.
- accuse [ə'kju:z] vt -1. to say that <sb> has done something bad □ Are you accusing me of lying? □ Several countries were accused of breaking the arms embargo. -2. LAW to state officially that <sb> has committed a crime □ Hicks was accused of murder.
- accused [ə'kju:zɪd] (pl accused) n the accused the person in a trial who has been charged with a crime □ The accused pleads guilty.
- accuser [ə'kju:zə] n one's accuser the person who accuses one of having done something.
- accusing [ə'kju:zɪŋ] adj [look, voice] that suggests that somebody has done something wrong □ He pointed an accusing finger at her.
- accusingly [ə'kju:zɪŋli] adv [look, speak] see accusing □ "I thought you were on a diet," she said accusingly.
- accustomed [ə'kʌstəmd] adj to be accustomed to sthg to be used to sthg □ I'm not accustomed to rich food. □ You'll soon get accustomed to driving on the left.
- ace [eis] ◇ n -1. CARDS the playing card with only one symbol on it that has either the lowest or the highest value □ the ace of spades. -2. SPORT a serve in tennis, handball etc that one's opponent cannot reach. -3. phrase to be OR come within an ace of sthg to come very close to sthg □ They came within an ace of bankruptcy/of being caught. ◇ adj [marksman, athlete] very good.
- acerbic [ə'sɜ:'bɪk] adj [person, remark, wit] unkind and critical.
- acetate ['æsəteɪt] n -1. a chemical made from acetic acid. -2. a smooth synthetic material used for making curtains, clothes etc.
- acetic acid [ə'si:tɪk-] n the acid in vinegar. FORMULA: CH₃ COOH.
- acetone ['æsətəʊn] n a clear liquid, used in solvents, nail polish remover etc, that catches fire very easily. FORMULA: CH₃.
- acetylene [ə'setəli:n] n a colorless gas that burns brightly and is used in lamps, welding equipment etc. FORMULA: C₂.
- ache [eɪk] ◇ n a continuous dull pain in a part of one's body □ aches and pains. ◇ vi -1. [head, back, tooth] to hurt in a dull continuous way □ My feet were aching after my long walk. -2. to be aching to do sthg to want to do sthg very much □ She was aching to tell them.
- achieve [ə'tʃi:v] vt [aim, goal, effect] to succeed in doing or getting <sthg useful or desirable> □ In the last two years we have achieved far greater profitability. □ I don't feel we've achieved much this morning.
- achievement [ə'tʃi:vmənt] n -1. something successful one has done that needs a lot of effort or skill □ Winning three championships in a row is a magnificent achievement. □ Finishing a book gives you a real sense of achievement. -2. [of a goal, ambition] see achieve.

Achilles' heel [ə,kɪli:z-] n a weakness in the character of a person.

Achilles' tendon n the tendon at the back of one's leg above one's heel.

acid ['æsɪd] ◇ adj -1. [liquid, soil] = acidic. -2. [fruit, drink] that tastes sour and sharp like lemons □ It tastes slightly acid. -3. [person, remark] that is unkind, unpleasant, and critical □ an acid tone of voice. ◇ n SCIENCE a chemical that can combine with other substances and can dissolve things that it touches. It makes litmus paper turn red. □ sulphuric acid □ The acid had leaked out of the batteries.

NOTE: Compare alkali.

acidic [ə'sɪdɪk] adj [liquid, soil] that contains an acid or has a pH value of less than 7.

NOTE: Compare alkaline.

acidity [ə'sɪdətɪ] n: see acid □ the acidity of her comments □ high acidity levels.

acid rain n rain containing acid from industrial pollution that can damage the environment.

acid test n the acid test the best way of proving whether something works or is true □ The acid test of the new policy will come at the next elections.

acknowledge [ək'nɒlɪdʒ] vt -1. to acknowledge (that)... to accept that a particular situation exists or is true □ While acknowledging (that) mistakes had been made, he continued to defend his policy. □ She still refuses to acknowledge her guilt. -2. [contribution, role, achievement] to say officially that somebody has done <sthg valuable or important>. ■ to be acknowledged as sthg to be thought by most people to be sthg good or admirable □ The new senator is acknowledged as one of the country's most talented politicians. -3. [message, letter] to confirm that one has received <sthg> □ Sign here to acknowledge receipt of this document. -4. [person] to show that one has seen or recognized <sb> □ She acknowledged him with a shy smile.

acknowledgement, acknowledgment [ək'nɒlɪdʒmənt] n -1. [of a fact, person, message] see acknowledge □ in acknowledgment of your letter of June 14 □ a letter of acknowledgment. -2. [of a letter] a confirmation, usually written, that something has been received □ Did we receive an acknowledgment for that package we sent?

◆ acknowledgments npl the short piece of writing, usually at the beginning of a book, that thanks people who have helped the author.

ACLU (abbr of American Civil Liberties Union) n the ACLU a US organization that protects people's rights.

acme ['ækmɪ] n [of perfection, one's career] the highest point of something (formal use).

acne ['æknɪ] n a skin condition, common among adolescents, that consists of pimples on the face and neck □ a young boy suffering from terrible acne.

acorn ['eɪkɔ:rn] n the nut of the oak tree, half enclosed in a wooden shell.

acoustic [ə'ku:stɪk] adj [effect, feature] that is concerned with sound, or the acoustics of a place.

◆ acoustics npl the way that the shape, size, and wall coverings of a room, theater etc affect how music and speech sound to the audience □ The acoustics are very good in here.

acoustic guitar n a guitar that is not electric.

acquaint [ə'kweɪnt] vt -1. (formal use) to acquaint sb with sthg [with information, rules] to tell sb sthg □ Let me acquaint you with the details of the case. ■ to be acquainted with sthg to know sthg or know about it □ Are you fully acquainted with the facts of this case? -2. to be acquainted with sb to know sb slightly but not well □ The party was a good opportunity for everyone to get better acquainted.

acquaintance [ə'kweɪntns] n -1. a person one knows slightly but not well □ An acquaintance of mine told me. -2. to make sb's acquaintance to meet sb for the first time (formal use) □ I'm pleased to make your acquaintance.

acquiesce [ækwi'es] vi to agree to somebody else's demands, terms etc, often unwillingly (formal use) □ The government will never acquiesce to the terrorists' demands.

acquire [ə'kwaɪə] vt -1. [property, company, information] to buy or get <sthg valuable> □ They have recently acquired shares in the company. -2. [habit, reputation, skill] to gradually begin to have or develop <sthg> □ The word has acquired a new meaning in recent years.

acquired taste [ə'kwaɪə'd-] n something one does not like at first, but may begin to like after trying it several times □ Oysters are an acquired taste.

acquisition [ˌækwə'zɪʃn] n -1. something, e.g. a piece of clothing or furniture, that one has acquired □ The museum's latest acquisition has caused a public outcry. -2. [of knowledge, property, a skill] see acquire □ The company has grown through the acquisition of smaller businesses.

acquisitive [ə'kwɪzətɪv] adj [person] who always wants to get more possessions (disapproving use).

acquit [ə'kwɪt] (pt & pp acquitted, cont acquitting) vt -1. LAW to state officially that <sb> is not guilty of a crime they have been accused of □ He was acquitted of the murder. -2. to acquit oneself well/badly to perform well/badly in a particular situation (formal use).

acquittal [ə'kwɪtɪl] n LAW [of a person] see acquit.

acre ['eɪkə] n a unit (4,047 square meters) for measuring land □ a ranch of 300 acres OR a 300-acre ranch.

acreage ['eɪkəɪdʒ] n the area of a piece of land, measured in acres.

acid ['ækrɪd] adj [smell, smoke] that makes one's eyes or nose sting; [taste] that is bitter and strong □ Firefighters were overcome by the acid fumes. □ The leaves had an acid taste.

acrimonious [ˌækɹə'mɒnjəs] adj [dispute, debate] see acrimony □ They had an acrimonious discussion about money.

acrimony [US 'ækrəməʊni, GB -rəməni] n anger and bitterness □ Their meetings always ended in acrimony.

acrobat [ˈækrəbæt] n a person who performs gymnastic acts, usually in a circus.

acrobatic [ˌækrəˈbætɪk] adj [movement, display] that involves difficult gymnastic acts, e.g. somersaults.

♦ acrobatics npl acrobatic movements □ an impressive display of acrobatics.

acronym [ˈækrənɪm] n a word made from the first letters of the words in a name, title etc, such as AIDS or NATO.

across [əˈkrɒs] ◇ adv -1. to walk across to walk from one side of a street, room etc to the other □ She ran across to speak to me. -2. to be OR measure 40 feet across to measure 40 feet from one side to the other □ The lake here is over a mile across. -3. 21 across the word in a crossword written from left to right and with the number 21.

◇ prep -1. to go across the sea to go from one side of the sea to the other □ The dog came running across the road toward me. ■ to lie across a bed to lie on a bed, usually sideways, partly covering it □ He leant across the table to me. -2. to live across the street to live on the other side of the street □ He stared at me from across the room.

♦ across from prep on the other side of the road, room etc from <sb/sthg> □ The bank is just across from the garage.

across-the-board adj [increase, reduction] that affects everything or everybody in an industry, company, sector etc □ an across-the-board rise in salaries.

♦ across the board adv: The salary cut will be applied across the board.

acrylic [əˈkrɪlɪk] n a synthetic material that looks like cotton or wool □ an acrylic sweater.

acrylic (paint) n a synthetic paint used by artists.

act [ækt] ◇ n -1. something that somebody has done □ an act of war/treason/violence. ■ to catch sb in the act to discover sb doing something bad, illegal etc. -2. LAW a law made by a government □ the Single European Act. -3. THEATER & MUSIC one of the main sections of a play, opera, or ballet □ a three-act play. -4. THEATER, TV, & RADIO a short performance by an entertainer; a person, group, or animal giving this performance □ There's a comedy act on after the singer. -5. it's all (just) an act a phrase used to say that somebody's behavior does not show their real feelings □ She seems very calm, but it's all just an act. ■ to put on an act to pretend to be, do, or feel something □ He's not really angry, he's just putting on an act. -6. phrases to get in on the act to join in or take advantage of something that other people are already doing □ Other companies are now trying to get in on the act. ■ to get one's act together to begin to behave in a more organized and effective way (informal use) □ It's time you got your act together and found a job.

◇ vi -1. [organization, government, police] to do something that has a particular purpose □

We have to act quickly to help these people.

-2. [person] to behave in a particular way □ You've been acting strangely toward me all evening. □ I'd been acting like a fool. □ She acts as if she's already got the job. -3. THEATER, CINEMA, & TV [actor, actress] to perform in a play or movie, or on television □ She's been acting professionally since she left school. -4. [person] to pretend to have a particular quality □ He acts dumb, but he's really a sharp businessman.

-5. [chemical, drug] to start to have an effect □ It acts faster than any other painkiller. -6. to act as sthg [as somebody's agent, guide, lawyer] to work as sthg for somebody; [as a device] to be used as sthg; [as a deterrent, barrier, incentive] to have the effect of being sthg □ I had to act as interpreter. □ The reduction in interest rates should act as a stimulus to the economy. ■ to act for OR on behalf of sb [agent, lawyer] to work for sb and deal with a particular matter for them □ lawyers acting for Mrs Turner.

◇ vt to play  in a play or movie. ■ to act the fool/innocent etc to pretend to be more foolish/innocent etc than one really is.

♦ act on vt fus -1. to act on sthg to obey or follow sthg □ Woods claimed he was acting on instructions from his superiors. -2. to act on sb/sthg to have an effect on sb/sthg □ The drug acts on the nervous system.

♦ act out vt sep -1. to act sthg out [fantasy, desire] to express one's feelings or ideas in one's behavior. -2. to act sthg out [event, story, scene] to show sthg that has happened by acting, sometimes without words.

♦ act up vi (informal use) [car, machine] not to work as it should; [child, dog] to behave badly □ The car's acting up again!

ACT abbr of Australian Capital Territory.

acting [ˈæktɪŋ] ◇ adj acting manager/head etc the person who is in the position of manager/head etc until a permanent replacement is found □ Richard has been appointed acting director while Sarah is away. ◇ n -1. [in plays, movies] the profession of performing in plays or movies □ I've decided to go into acting. -2. [of an actor] the quality of an actor's performance □ His acting is superb.

action [ˈæksjən] n -1. something that has to be done, usually to solve a problem or difficulty □ It's time for action. ■ to take action to do something to deal with a problem □ We must take immediate action if we want to avoid further losses. □ The police decided to take no further action and dropped the charge. ■ to put sthg into action [idea, plan] to begin to use sthg or let it work □ It'll be several months before we can put this plan into action. ■ in action [person, machine] working or performing □ They're an impressive team: you should see them in action. ■ out of action [person] unable to carry out one's normal activities, usually because of injury; [machine, car] not working because it is damaged □ I've been out of action for six weeks with a broken leg. □ The computer is out of action again. -2. one's actions what one has done on a particular occasion □ She defended her actions as being entirely justifiable. -3. MILITARY fighting □ He was killed in action.

-4. LAW a charge made against somebody in court □ He brought a libel action against the newspaper. -5. [in a play, book, movie] the events that happen in a book, play etc □ Most of the action takes place in the last half hour. -6. [of light, a chemical, drug] the effect that something has on something else □ The caves are formed by the action of water on the rock. -7. the action the most important and exciting events connected with an activity □ I want to be where the action is!

action group n a group of people formed to persuade politicians to accept or reject a particular proposal or policy.

action replay n GB TV a slow replay of part of a sports event.

activate ['æktɪveɪt] vt [alarm, missile] to make <an electric or electronic device> start working □ This button here activates the whole system.

active ['æktɪv] adj -1. [person] who is always doing things or moving about □ She's very active for her age. -2. to be active [animal] to be awake and doing things □ Bats are active at night. -3. [member, campaigner] who does something to support an organization or a cause □ The club has 200 active members. □ He was active in persuading countries to ban the tests. -4. [encouragement, support] that is done, given etc with energy and enthusiasm □ We will take active steps to recruit new members. -5. [volcano] that can still erupt; [bomb] that can still explode. -6. an active ingredient the substance in a medicine, cleaning product etc that produces a chemical effect.

actively ['æktɪvli] adv [encourage, support, consider] see active □ The entire workforce was actively involved in the discussions.

active service n military service in a war that involves fighting □ He was killed while on active service.

activist ['æktɪvɪst] n a person who is directly involved in political action, e.g. campaigning □ a political activist.

activity ['æktɪvətɪ] (pl activities) n -1. [in a place] a situation in which a lot of things are happening □ There has been very little activity on the stock market today. -2. [by a person] something that somebody does in their spare time for enjoyment □ He lists his leisure activities as chess and skiing. □ an activity leader.

◆ activities npl things that people do, usually of a political or illegal kind □ their involvement in terrorist activities.

act of God n a natural event, e.g. a flood, storm, or earthquake, that cannot be prevented or predicted.

actor ['æktə] n a person who acts in plays, movies, or on television.

actress ['æktɹəs] n a woman who acts in plays or movies, or on television.

ACTU (abbr of Australian Council of Trade Unions) n the ACTU the national association of Australian labor unions.

actual ['æktʃʊəl] adj -1. [size, time, price] that is real, rather than supposed, intended, claimed etc □ The actual cost was $1,000 more than we had estimated. □ I can't remember her actual words. -2. a word used to emphasize the most important part of what is being said □ The whole trip takes three hours, but the actual flight itself only lasts fifty minutes.

◆ in actual fact adv a phrase used to introduce information that says the opposite of what has just been said □ I thought I'd hate Madrid, but in actual fact I loved it.

actuality [ˌæktʃʊ'ælətɪ] ◆ in actuality adv = in fact.

actually ['æktʃʊəli] adv -1. a word used to say that something is true, that it has happened in real life, and is not a mistake □ Yes, but did you actually see him take the money? □ I didn't actually mean to hurt him. -2. actually,... a word used to draw attention to what one is saying, especially because it is a new idea or because one has just remembered it □ Actually, on second thought, I'll do it myself. □ Oh, actually, I'll be away next week. -3. actually,... a word used to make what one is saying sound more polite, e.g. when one is correcting somebody □ "I don't suppose you've ever been there." — "I have, actually."

actuary ['æktʃʊəri] (pl actuaries) n a person whose job is to calculate how much insurance companies should charge their clients.

actuate ['æktʃueɪt] vt to make  etc start working (technical use).

Act-Up ['æktʌp] n an organization that aims to protect the rights of people with AIDS.

acuity [ə'kju:ətɪ] n the ability to see, hear, or understand small details and differences (formal use).

acumen [US ə'kju:mən, GB 'ækjʊmən] n the ability to make good judgments □ business/political acumen.

acupuncture ['ækjʊpənktʃʊ] n a medical treatment, first used in China, that involves sticking needles into parts of a person's body.

acute [ə'kju:t] adj -1. [embarrassment, pain, danger] that is very great; [illness, situation] that becomes dangerous very quickly □ There's an acute shortage of housing. □ By this time the crisis had become acute. □ acute appendicitis.

-2. [person] who understands things quickly and well □ He has an acute understanding of the way the media works. -3. [sight, hearing, sense of smell] that can notice slight details and differences □ Audrey had exceptionally acute powers of observation. -4. LINGUISTICS e acute a letter e with an acute accent. -5. an acute angle MATH an angle that is less than 90°.

acute accent n a symbol (´) in the form of a short line going upward from left to right, placed above a letter.

acutely [ə'kju:tli] adv -1. to be acutely embarrassing/unhappy etc to be very embarrassing/unhappy etc □ I'm acutely conscious of the gaps in my knowledge. -2. [judge, observe; remark] see acute.

ad [æd] n = advertisement (informal use).

AD ◊ (abbr of Anno Domini) since the birth of Jesus Christ, according to the modern Western calendar (used with dates) \square in the year 121 AD. \diamond n abbr of Alzheimer's disease.

NOTE: Compare BC.

adage ['ædɪdʒ] n an old wise saying or proverb.

Adam ['ædəm] in the Bible, the first man created by God. He lived with Eve in the Garden of Eden.

Adam, Robert (1728–1792) a British architect and designer. A neoclassical style of architecture is named after him.

adamant ['ædəmənt] adj to be adamant to refuse to change one's mind or to be persuaded about something \square He's adamant about it/ adamant that you didn't tell him.

Adams ['ædəmz], John (1735–1826) US President from 1796 to 1800.

Adams, John Quincy (1767–1848) US President from 1825 to 1829. He helped to write the Monroe Doctrine, and campaigned against slavery.

Adam's apple n the lump at the front of a man's neck that moves up and down during swallowing.

adapt [ə'dæpt] \diamond vt -1. [method, device, system] to change <sthg> so that it is more suitable for a particular purpose \square The design of the office can be adapted to suit the needs of staff. -2. CINEMA & TV [book, play] to change  to make it suitable for the television or movies \square The play was adapted for television by Frank Nooness. \diamond vi to change one's attitude or behavior in order to deal with a new situation \square She found it hard to adapt to life in a big city.

adaptability [ə,dæptə'bɪlətɪ] n the ability to adapt \square The job requires a certain degree of adaptability.

adaptable [ə'dæptəbl] adj [person] who is able to change their way of thinking or doing something in order to deal with new situations or places \square You need to be very adaptable in this business.

adaptation [ˌædəp'teɪʃn] n -1. [of a book] a movie or play that has been adapted from a novel \square the film adaptation of "Gone with the Wind". -2. [of a method, device, system] see adapt.

adapter, adaptor [ə'dæptə] n ELECTRICITY -1. [for several appliances] a special plug that makes it possible to connect several electrical appliances to a single socket. -2. [for one appliance] a special plug that makes it possible to use an electrical appliance when its plug does not match the socket \square a travel adapter.

ADC n -1. abbr of aide-de-camp. -2. (abbr of Aid to Dependent Children) a state benefit paid to poor families with dependent children in the USA. -3. (abbr of analog-digital converter) a device that converts an analog electrical signal into a digital form so that it can be processed by a digital system.

add [æd] vt -1. to put <sthg> with something else in order to increase its size, amount, or effect \square Add a drop more wine. \square A 10% service charge will be added to the bill. \square The arched windows added a certain charm to the building. -2. MATH to put <numbers> together to make a total \square Add those two columns together to get the grand total. \square Add 4 and 9 or 4 to 9. -3. [when speaking] to say <sthg else> after another comment, remark etc \square I have nothing to add. \square "You could always take out a loan," she added.

\diamond add in vt sep to add sthg in to include sthg as part of a total \square Once you've added in the cost of materials, it works out quite expensive.

\diamond add on vt sep to add sthg on to attach sthg to something else in order to increase its size, amount, or effect \square We've just added on a new extension to the house.

\diamond add to vt fus to add to sthg to make sthg worse \square Buying a car would only add to our financial worries.

\diamond add up \diamond vt sep MATH = add \square He added up the column of figures. \diamond vi it doesn't add up it doesn't seem logical (informal use) \square She told the police she'd never met the man before, but it just didn't add up.

\diamond add up to vt fus to add up to sthg [set of events or circumstances] to mean sthg when considered together \square All this adds up to an economic crisis of major proportions.

added ['ædəd] adj an added advantage/bonus an extra advantage/bonus \square An added attraction of the property is its large parking lot.

addendum [ə'dendəm] (pl addenda [-'dendə]) n a section added at the end of a book or document.

adder ['ædər] n a small poisonous snake with a black zigzag pattern along its back that is found in Europe and Asia.

addict ['ædɪkt] n a person who is addicted to something, especially drugs \square a heroin/cocaine addict \square an exercise/a T.V. addict.

addicted [ə'dɪktəd] adj -1. to be addicted to sthg to be unable to stop taking sthg that is bad for one's health, especially drugs \square She was addicted to heroin. -2. to be addicted to sthg to have a strong need to do or have sthg because one likes it so much \square I could easily become addicted to these chocolates!

addiction [ə'dɪkʃn] n the state of being addicted to something, especially drugs \square He developed an addiction to morphine/gambling. \square the problem of alcohol addiction.

addictive [ə'dɪktɪv] adj [drug, activity, food] that is easy to become addicted to \square Heroin is a highly addictive substance. \square These chocolates are very addictive!

addition [ə'dɪʃn] n -1. MATH the process of adding numbers together \square The children are taught simple addition. -2. the act of adding or including something \square We are pleased to announce the addition of two new titles to our list. -3. a person or thing that is added to something \square Ford has a new addition to its range. \square She's been a welcome addition to the team. ■ a new addition to the family a new baby.

\diamond in addition adv a phrase used to add more information to something that has already been mentioned □ In addition, we'll give you a 10% discount.

◆ in addition to prep as well as <sb/sthg> □ In addition to discounts, they offer free travel to the airport.

additional [ə'dɪʃənəl] adj [information, cost, person] extra □ This service is provided at no additional charge.

additive [ə'dɪtɪv] n a substance that is added to food, drink etc in order to give it color or flavor.

addled [ˈædlɪd] adj to be addled [person, brain] to be confused.

add-on ◇ n COMPUTING a piece of equipment that is added to a computer to make it work better or faster. ◇ adj: an add-on hard disk/modem.

address [n US ˈædres, GB ə'dres, vb ə'dres] ◇ n -1. the number, name of the street, and name of the town that describe where a building is, often used to say where somebody can be contacted □ You can send it to my Paris address. □ a business/mailling address □ Write your name and address below. -2. a formal speech □ After the meal there was an address by the chairman.

◇ vt -1. to be addressed to sb [package, envelope, postcard] to have the name and address of sb written on it □ It's addressed to you. □ This letter's been wrongly addressed. -2. [meeting, conference] to give a formal speech to  □ She stood up and addressed the audience. -3. to address sb as sthg to use sthg as a name or title when speaking or writing to sb □ The ambassador should be addressed as "Your Excellency". -4. to address a comment/remark etc to sb to make a comment/remark etc to sb directly □ Please address your complaints to the manager. -5. to address a difficulty/problem etc to give one's attention to a difficulty/problem etc in order to solve it □ First, we must address the issue of rising unemployment. -6. to address oneself to sthg to give one's attention to sthg □ She addressed herself to the immediate problem of finding a place to live.

address book n a book in which one writes people's names, addresses, and phone numbers.

addressee [ˌædre'si:] n the person that a letter or package is addressed to.

Adelaide [ˈædəleɪd] the state capital of South Australia. POPULATION: 1,023,700.

adenoids [ˈædənɔɪdz] npl the soft tissue at the back of the nose that can become infected and swollen, especially in children.

adept [ə'dept] adj [person] who is very skillful □ She's an adept public performer. □ He's very adept at dealing with the press.

adequacy [ˈædɪkwəsi:] n: see adequate □ Critics questioned the adequacy of the existing measures.

adequate [ˈædɪkwət] adj -1. [amount, quantity] that is large enough □ We have adequate supplies of food and medicine. -2. [person, system, method] that is good enough for a particular purpose □ The accommodation was barely adequate. □ My salary should be adequate for our needs. □ He couldn't give an adequate explanation. □ I don't really need a new coat, this one's perfectly adequate.

adequately [ˈædɪkwətli] adv: see adequate □ I don't feel adequately prepared. □ The problem has not been adequately dealt with.

adhere [əd'hɪə] ◆ adhere to vt fus -1. to adhere to sthg [to a principle, belief, decision] to act in a way that shows one agrees with or accepts sthg □ The committee still adheres to the view that offenders should be severely punished. □ They have not adhered strictly to the terms of the treaty. -2. to adhere to sthg [to a surface, material] to stick to sthg □ The glue will not adhere to rough surfaces.

adherence [əd'hɪərəns] n [to a rule, decision, principle] see adhere □ Members pledge strict adherence to the code of professional conduct.

adhesive [əd'hɪzɪv] ◇ adj [label, bandage] that is able to stick to another surface □ This glue has remarkable adhesive properties. ◇ n a substance, e.g. glue, that is used to stick things together.

adhesive tape n tape that is sticky on one side and is used for sticking things together.

ad hoc [əd'hɒk] adj [committee, arrangement] that only exists when it is needed for a specific purpose and is not permanent □ The board meets on an ad hoc basis.

ad infinitum [ˌædɪnfɪ'naitəm] adv [continue, repeat] endlessly □ and so on ad infinitum.

Adirondacks [ˌædɪ'rɒndæks]: the Adirondacks an area of mountains in New York State, known for its scenery and sports facilities.

adjacent [ə'dʒeɪsnt] adj [room, building] that is next to something else □ The house is adjacent to the police station.

adjective [ˈædʒɪktɪv] n a word that describes a person, animal, place, or thing. In the sentences "He's a nice man." and "You'll get fat!" "nice" and "fat" are adjectives.

adjoin [ə'dʒɔɪn] vt [room, garden] to be next to and joined to <sthg> □ The kitchen adjoins the dining room.

adjoining [ə'dʒɔɪnɪŋ] ◇ adj [building, garden, desk] that is next to and joined to something else □ We had adjoining rooms. □ Their office is in the adjoining building. ◇ prep next to <sthg> □ in the room adjoining mine.

adjourn [ə'dʒɜːn] ◇ vt to stop  etc for a short time □ The conference was adjourned until 3 o'clock. ◇ vi -1. [committee, meeting] to stop for a short time □ The court adjourned for lunch. -2. to go somewhere, usually to relax after an activity (humorous use) □ Shall we adjourn to the bar?

adjournment [ə'dʒɜː'nmənt] n [of a meeting, trial] see adjourn □ The judge called for an adjournment.

Adjt abbr of adjutant.

adjudge [ə'dʒʌdʒ] vt to be adjudged to be sthg to be considered to be sthg (formal use) □ The campaign was adjudged a success.

adjudicate [ə'dʒuːdɪkeɪt] ◇ vt [match, contest,

- claim) to act as an official judge of <sthg>.
 ◇ vi: An industrial tribunal will adjudicate on the case. □ I was often asked to adjudicate at local flower shows.
- adjudication [əˈdʒuːdɪˈkeɪʃn] n: see adjudicate □ Adjudication will take place one week after the closing date for entries.
- adjunct [ˈædʒʌŋkt] n an adjunct to sthg a thing that is added to sthg more important and is not an essential part of it □ He considered his car a necessary adjunct to his life.
- adjust [əˈdʒʌst] ◇ vt [machine, brake] to make small changes to the position or setting of <sthg> in order to make it work better; [amount, plan] to make small changes to <sthg> in order to make it suitable for new conditions □ You'll get better reception if you adjust the antenna. □ 'Adjust your speed now' □ figures adjusted for inflation □ The government has adjusted prices upward. ◇ vi to get used to a new situation □ It took me a long time to adjust to the climate.
- adjustable [əˈdʒʌstəbəl] adj [machine, timer, chair] that can be adjusted □ Seats and headrests are fully adjustable.
- adjustable wrench US, adjustable spanner GB n a wrench that can be adjusted to fit nuts of different sizes.
- adjustment [əˈdʒʌstmənt] n -1. [to a plan, speed, machine] a slight change □ I've made a few minor adjustments to OR in the schedule. -2. [by a person] the process of changing one's attitude in order to deal with a new situation □ a period of adjustment □ those soldiers failing to make the adjustment from military to civilian life.
- adjutant [ˈædʒʊtənt] n an officer in the army who is an administrative assistant to a superior officer.
- ad-lib [ˌædˈlɪb] (pt & pp ad-libbed, cont ad-libbing) vi to invent part of a speech, play etc while one is saying it □ She forgot her lines and had to ad-lib.
- ◆ ad lib ◇ n a joke, remark etc that has not been prepared before one makes it. ◇ adv [speak, perform] without preparation.
- admin [ˈædmɪn] n GB the work involved in the organization and running of a business, institution etc, especially the paperwork (informal use) □ I've been doing admin all morning. □ an admin assistant.
- administer [ədˈmɪnɪstə] vt -1. BUSINESS to organize and run  etc □ a fund administered by trustees. -2. LAW to give <justice, a punishment> etc to somebody. -3. MEDICINE to give <medicine, a drug> etc to somebody (formal use).
- administration [ədˌmɪnɪˈstreɪʃn] n -1. [of a company, of justice] see administer □ the trustees responsible for the administration of the pension fund. -2. the group of people who organize and run a company, institution etc; the work involved in this □ We're currently having talks with the administration. □ office administration □ an administration and finance manager.
- ◆ Administration n the Administration the government of a particular US president □ under the Bush Administration.
- administrative [ədˈmɪnɪstrətɪv] adj [job, work, staff] that is connected with the administration of a company, institution etc □ an administrative secretary.
- administrator [ədˈmɪnɪstreɪtə] n a person whose job is to administer a business, institution etc □ public administrators.
- admirable [ˈædmərəbəl] adj [work, quality, effort] that deserves to be admired □ He showed an admirable lack of self-interest. □ Helen's concern is admirable.
- admirably [ˈædmərəbəlɪ] adv [behave, manage] see admirable □ I think you've handled it all admirably.
- admiral [ˈædmərəl] n an officer who holds the highest rank in the navy.
- Admiralty [ˈædmərəltɪ] n the Admiralty the government department in Britain that is responsible for the navy.
- admiration [ˌædmə'reɪʃn] n a feeling of respect and approval □ I'm full of admiration for the work you do. □ They watched, speechless with admiration.
- admire [ədˈmaɪə] vt -1. [person, skill, quality] to respect and approve of <sb/sthg> □ I admire his determination. □ I really admire her for not giving up. -2. [painting, house, car] to look at <sthg> with pleasure and approval □ I was just admiring the view/your new shoes. □ Stop admiring yourself in that mirror!
- admirer [ədˈmaɪərə] n -1. a person who is sexually attracted to somebody □ one of her many secret admirers. -2. a person who likes and approves of somebody or something □ I'm a great admirer of her work.
- admiring [ədˈmaɪərɪŋ] adj [look, glance] that expresses pleasure and approval □ He shot her an admiring glance.
- admiringly [ədˈmaɪərɪŋli] adv [look, glance] see admiring □ He gazed at her admiringly.
- admissible [ədˈmɪsəbəl] adj LAW admissible evidence evidence that is allowed to be considered during a trial.
- admission [ədˈmɪʃn] n -1. [to a place] permission to enter a place □ 'No admission to minors'. -2. [to an organization] permission to join an organization □ the admission of Turkey to the EU □ university admissions. -3. [as money] the cost of entrance to a park, exhibition etc □ How much is the admission charge? □ 'Admission free.' -4. [of a crime, mistake] see admit □ an admission of guilt. ■ by his/her etc own admission as he/she etc admits □ By his own admission, he's not an easy person to work with.
- admit [ədˈmɪt] (pt & pp admitted, cont admitting) vt -1. to admit (that)... to say or agree that something is true, usually unwillingly □ I admit (that) I was wrong to lose my temper. □ He admitted his mistake. □ It's not ideal, I must admit. -2. to be admitted to be allowed to enter a place □ Ticket-holders only are admitted to the gallery. ■ 'Admits one/two' a phrase used on tickets to say that one/two people can enter a club, museum etc with that ticket. ■

- to be admitted to the hospital US OR to hospital GB to be taken to a hospital and kept in for treatment □ She was admitted to the hospital with multiple head injuries. -3. to admit sb to sthg [to a group, organization, university] to allow sb to join sthg □ when Spain was admitted to the EU.
- ◆ admit to vt fus to admit to sthg to say or agree that one has done sthg wrong or embarrassing □ He admitted to the theft. □ Nobody would admit to leaking the story to the press.
- admittance [əd'mɪtəns] n permission to enter a place □ 'No admittance.' ■ to gain admittance to sthg [to a place, organization] to succeed in getting into sthg (formal use).
- admittedly [əd'mɪtɪdli] adv a word used to show that one accepts the truth of something, even if it makes one's argument weaker □ Admittedly, economics is not his strong point, but he's a good organizer.
- admixture [əd'mɪkstʃə] n something that is added to something else (formal use).
- admonish [əd'mɒnɪʃ] vt to tell <sb> firmly that they have done something wrong (formal use) □ They were admonished for not having acted more promptly.
- ad nauseam [ˌædnəʊzɪəm] adv [talk, discuss] for a long time and in a way that becomes annoying □ He went on ad nauseam about his vacation.
- ado [ə'du:] n without further OR more ado without any more delay □ Now, without further ado, let me welcome our guest speaker tonight.
- adolescence [ˌædə'lesns] n the period of somebody's life during which they develop from a child into an adult □ in early/late adolescence □ Adolescence can be a time of great confusion.
- adolescent [ˌædə'lesnt] ◇ adj -1. [person] who is developing from a child into an adult. -2. [behavior, remark] that is not what one expects from an adult person (disapproving use). ◇ n a young person who is no longer a child but not yet an adult.
- Adonis [ə'dɒnəs] n a handsome young man.
- adopt [ə'dɒpt] vt -1. [child] to become the legal parent of  □ They've adopted a little boy. -2. [method, stance] to decide to use <sthg> as a way of dealing with somebody or something □ They are adopting a tougher approach toward tax-evaders. -3. [suggestion, proposal] to accept and start acting in agreement with <sthg> □ The committee adopted the report's recommendations.
- adopted [ə'dɒptəd] adj [child] who has been adopted □ He's/She's adopted.
- adoption [ə'dɒpʃn] n: see adopt □ She had to give the child up for adoption. □ his country of adoption □ The number of adoptions is growing. □ Scott argued for the adoption of tougher laws.
- adoptive [ə'dɒptɪv] adj who is related to somebody by adoption □ They are my adoptive parents.
- adorable [ə'dɔ:əbl] adj [person, animal] a word used to describe somebody or something that one thinks is very attractive and lovable □ That little boy of yours is just adorable!
- adoration [ˌædə'reɪʃn] n a feeling of great love and admiration.
- adore [ə'dɔ:ɪ] vt -1. to love <sb> very much □ He adores his mother. -2. to like <sthg> very much □ I just adore chocolates, don't you?
- adoring [ə'dɔ:ɪŋ] adj [look, smile] that expresses strong feelings of love and admiration □ all his adoring fans.
- adorn [ə'dɔ:ɪn] vt [person, room, building] to make <sb/sthg> more attractive with jewelry, decorations etc □ The church was adorned with pine and holly branches.
- adornment [ə'dɔ:ɪnmənt] n an object that adorns a person, room, building etc □ the colorful adornments of baroque architecture.
- ADP (abbr of automatic data processing) n the processing of large quantities of data by computer.
- adrenalin [ə'drenəlɪn] n a hormone produced in a person's body when they are angry, afraid, or nervous that causes them to react more quickly than normal □ I could feel the adrenalin pumping through me.
- Adriatic [ˌeɪdrɪ'ætɪk]: the Adriatic (Sea) the northeastern part of the Mediterranean Sea, between Italy and the Balkan countries.
- adrift [ə'drɪft] ◇ adj to be adrift [boat] to be floating on the water and moved by the waves, current etc. ■ to go adrift [plan] to fail. ◇ adv: The dinghy had been cut adrift.
- adroit [ə'drɔɪt] adj [person, answer] that is skillful, especially with words □ It was an adroit move on her part. □ an adroit politician.
- ADT (abbr of Atlantic Daylight Time) n the local time used in summer in eastern Canada and parts of the West Indies.
- adulation [ˌædʒə'leɪʃn] n a large amount of praise that is given to somebody by a lot of people, often when there is no reason for it. □ The attitude of the fans bordered on adulation.
- adult [ə'dʌlt, 'ædʌlt] ◇ adj -1. [person, animal] that is physically mature □ adult birds □ the adult male. -2. [behavior, approach] that is what one expects from an adult person □ Luckily they've been very adult about the whole thing. -3. [movie, magazine] that is suitable for adults only, usually because of its sexual content □ adult entertainment □ an adult bookshop. ◇ n a physically mature person. □ Try to behave like an adult □ 'Adults only.'
- adult education n education for people who are no longer at school or college but who wish to continue studying, usually at evening classes.
- adulterate [ə'dʌltəreɪt] vt to make <food or drink> weaker or less pure by adding a substance of lower quality □ The wine had been adulterated with water.
- adulterer [ə'dʌltərə] n a person who commits adultery.
- adultery [ə'dʌltəri] n sex between a married person and somebody who is not their husband or wife □ He was accused of committing adultery on several occasions.

adulthood ['ædʌlthʊd] n the period of somebody's life during which they are an adult □ By the time they reach adulthood, the world will be a very different place.

advance [US əd'vɑːns, GB -'vɑːns] ◇ n -1. [of money] a sum of money lent or paid as part of a later payment □ The bank gave me an advance of $500. □ They gave me an advance on my salary. -2. [by an army] a movement forward □ The rebels are planning an advance on the capital. -3. [in a technique, subject] an improvement □ There have been significant advances in transplant surgery. -4. [at an auction] an increase in the price of an item being sold at an auction □ Any advance on $200?

◇ comp an advance payment/warning a payment/warning that happens before the usual or expected time □ Advance reservations are advisable.

◇ vt -1. to advance sb's cause/interests to help sb's cause/interests □ Such acts of terrorism will do little to advance their cause. -2. [date, event] to move <sthg> to an earlier time □ The time of the meeting has been advanced by half an hour. -3. to advance sb a sum of money to pay a sum of money to sb as part of a later payment □ The bank advanced her $500.

◇ vi -1. [enemy, troops] to move forward □ The rebel army advanced on the capital. -2. to make progress □ Laser technology is advancing rapidly.

◆ advances npl to make advances to sb to try to start a sexual or friendly relationship with sb □ I discovered he had been making advances to my wife.

◆ in advance adv before a particular event or time □ It's advisable to reserve in advance. □ Let us know well in advance if you need a hotel.

◆ in advance of prep -1. more modern and better than <sb/sthg else> □ The design of this computer is far in advance of any of its rivals. -2. before <an event or time> □ They started selling tickets well in advance of the concert.

advanced [US əd'vænst, GB -'vɑːnst] adj -1. [country, system] that has been developed and improved over a long period of time □ France is technologically very advanced. -2. [child, student, class] that has a high level of knowledge or ability □ Toby is very advanced for his age. -3. to be at an advanced stage to be nearly completed □ Discussions are already at an advanced stage.

advancement [US əd'vænsmənt, GB -'vɑːns-] n -1. [in somebody's career] promotion □ All he's interested in is his own personal advancement. -2. [of peace, a cause] progress □ the advancement of science.

advantage [US əd'væntɪdʒ, GB -'vɑːnt-] n -1. something that helps to put one in a better position □ Knowledge of French would be an advantage. □ Working for a large company is a definite advantage. -2. one of the good things about something □ The advantage of this model is that it is low on energy consumption. □ Being foreign has its advantages. ■ to be to sb's advantage to make sb more likely to succeed, be chosen etc □ Your experience of working overseas can only be to your advantage. ■ to take advantage of sthg [of a situation, opportunity] to use sthg because it is helpful and available □ I might take advantage of the cheap fares to go and visit my brother. ■ to take advantage of sb to treat sb unfairly in order to improve one's own position □ He's taking advantage of her good nature. □ I just felt I'd been taken advantage of. -3. TENNIS the point scored after deuce.

advantageous [ædvənt'eɪdʒəs] adj that helps to put one in a better position □ We're now in a very advantageous position. □ These rates are particularly advantageous to first-time buyers.

advent ['ædvənt] n the advent of sb/sthg the time when sb/sthg first appears or becomes important (formal use) □ the advent of war.

◆ Advent n in the Christian calendar, the period of four weeks before Christmas.

Advent calendar n a large card showing a Christmas scene with little doors on it. One door is opened on each day of Advent, showing a picture behind it.

adventure [əd'ventʃə] n an exciting, interesting, and possibly dangerous experience □ Tell us all about your adventures in China. □ He set off in search of adventure. □ What an adventure!

adventure holiday n GB an organized vacation during which one can take part in various sports activities.

adventure playground n GB a small area of land where children can play on wooden or metal structures and equipment, e.g. tires and ropes.

adventurer [əd'ventʃərə] n -1. a person who likes adventure □ She's quite an adventurer. -2. a person who tries to get money or power by dishonest methods.

adventurous [əd'ventʃərəs] adj -1. [person] who is willing to take risks or try new experiences □ They weren't very adventurous in their choice of music. -2. [life, trip] exciting and dangerous □ We had an adventurous few days.

adverb ['ædvɜːrb] n a word that adds information to a verb, an adjective, another adverb, or a sentence, e.g. the word "quickly" in the sentence "He ran quickly."

adversary ['ædvɜːsəri] (pl adversaries) n an opponent □ Batman's old adversary, the Joker.

adverse ['ædvɜːrs] adj -1. [comment, opinion, publicity] that is critical of somebody or something □ Adverse publicity has badly affected sales. -2. [circumstances, effects] that make it difficult to do something □ The game was canceled due to adverse weather conditions.

adversely ['ædvɜːrsli] adv to be adversely affected to be affected in a way that is harmful □ The stock market was adversely affected by the allegations.

adversity [əd'vɜːsətɪ] n a situation that is difficult to deal with □ They struggled on in the face of adversity.

advert ['ædvɜːtɪ] n GB = advertisement.

advertise ['ædvɜːtaɪz] ◇ vt [product, property, job] to tell the public about <sthg> in a newspaper, on TV, radio, posters etc in order to make them interested in it □ Where did you see the job advertised? ◇ vi -1. They advertised in all the local papers. -2. to advertise for sb/sthg to try to get sb/sthg that one needs by placing an advertisement in a newspaper, magazine etc □ They're advertising for a systems analyst.

advertisement [US ˌædvər'taɪzmənt, GB ˌædvɜːtɪzəmənt] n -1. a notice in a newspaper, a broadcast on TV etc that advertises something such as a product or service □ Over a hundred people replied to the advertisement. □ I put an advertisement in the local paper. -2. a person or thing that shows the advantages of something and is likely to persuade other people that it is a good thing □ She's a great advertisement for the benefits of regular exercise.

advertiser ['ædvər'taɪzə] n a person or company that pays for an advertisement to appear in a newspaper, on TV etc.

advertising ['ædvər'taɪzɪŋ] n the business of advertising products, services etc □ She works in advertising. □ television/radio advertising.

advertising agency n a business that plans, designs, and manages advertising for other companies.

advertising campaign n a number of advertisements, events etc that are organized over a period of time in order to advertise a product, service etc.

advice [əd'vaɪs] n something that one suggests to somebody as the best thing to do in a particular situation □ She came to me for advice. □ Let me give you a piece of advice. □ I took OR followed your advice and complained. □ My advice to you is this...

advice column n a section in a newspaper or magazine where readers are given advice about their emotional, financial, or health problems.

advice note n GB a note to a customer that gives information about goods that have been sent but not yet delivered.

advisability [əd'vaɪzə'bɪlətɪ] n: see advisable □ I question the advisability of making such a commitment.

advisable [əd'vaɪzəbəl] adj to be advisable to be a sensible thing to do □ It's always advisable to book in advance. □ I hardly think that's advisable under the circumstances.

advise [əd'vaɪz] ◇ vt -1. to advise sb to do sthg to tell sb what one thinks is the best way to act in a particular situation □ I advised her to say nothing. □ I'd advise you to stay where you are. ■ to advise sb against sthg to suggest to sb that sthg is not a good idea □ I'd advise you against another visit. □ He advised me against taking legal action. -2. to advise sb on sthg to give professional and expert advice to sb about sthg □ She advises the senator on all social policy matters. -3. to advise sb of sthg to tell sb about sthg (formal use) □ Please advise us of any amendments.

◇ vi -1. to advise against sthg to suggest that sthg is not a good idea □ I'd advise against going to meet him. □ I wanted to go but Helen advised against it. -2. to advise on sthg to give professional and expert advice about sthg □ She advises on social policy.

advisedly [əd'vaɪzədli] adv deliberately □ It's revolutionary — and I use the word advisedly.

advisor US, adviser GB [əd'vaɪzə] n a person whose job is to give advice on a particular subject □ a legal advisor.

advisory [əd'vaɪzəri] adj [committee, organization] that gives advice □ She was employed in an advisory capacity OR role.

advocacy ['ædvəkəsi] n [of an idea, course of action] see advocate □ her advocacy of reform.

advocate [n 'ædvəkət, vb 'ædvəkeɪt] ◇ n -1. a person who supports and argues strongly for an idea or course of action □ Green is a strong advocate of education reform. -2. LAW a lawyer who speaks in court to represent somebody. ◇ vt to support and argue strongly for <sthg> □ They advocate a complete overhaul of the system. □ The report advocates reducing defense spending.

adv. abbr of advertisement.

AEA n abbr of Atomic Energy Authority.

AEC n abbr of Atomic Energy Commission.

AEEU (abbr of Amalgamated Engineering and Electrical Union) n the AEEU a large British labor union.

Aegean [ɪ'dʒiːən]: the Aegean (Sea) the eastern part of the Mediterranean, between Greece and Turkey.

aegis ['iːdʒɪs] ◆ under the aegis of prep with the support or help of <sb/sthg> □ The conference was organized under the aegis of the university.

aeon ['iːən] n GB = eon.

aerial ['eəriəl] ◇ adj [combat, cable car] that happens or is situated in the air or above the ground; [photograph] that is taken from the air □ an aerial shot of the factory. ◇ n a device made of wire rods that is connected to a television or radio to help it receive signals □ The aerial broke off in a car wash. □ They're putting a new aerial on the roof.

aerobatics [ˌeərə'beɪtɪks] npl skillful and difficult movements performed by an airplane to entertain people □ an aerobatics display.

aerobics [eə'roubɪks] n a form of very active exercise that is usually done in a class and accompanied by music.

aerodrome ['eərədrʊm] n an area of land, usually smaller than an airport, where aircraft can take off and land.

aerodynamic [ˌeərəudaɪ'næmɪk] adj [car, train] that has been designed with a smooth shape to make it go faster or use less fuel □ It has a new aerodynamic design.

◆ aerodynamics ◇ n the study of how objects move through the air. ◇ npl [of a car, train] the aerodynamic qualities of a vehicle.

aerogramme ['eərəgræm] n an airmail letter written on a special sheet of paper which is folded and does not need an envelope or a stamp.

aeronautics [ˌeərə'nɔːtɪks] n the study of flight and the design and construction of aircraft.

aeroplane ['eərəpleɪn] n GB = airplane.

aerosol ['eərəsɒl] n a container, usually a can, in which a substance such as paint, polish, or deodorant is kept under pressure and is forced out in the form of a fine spray when a button is pressed □ an aerosol spray.

aerospace ['eərouspeɪs] n the aerospace industry the design and construction of rockets, space vehicles etc.

aesthete [US 'esθi:t, GB 'i:s-] n a person who appreciates beauty in art and considers it to be very important.

aesthetic [US es'θetɪk, GB i:s-] adj [sense, appeal] that is connected with appreciating beauty.

aesthetically [US es'θetɪkli, GB i:s-] adv aesthetically pleasing that is pleasing to look at.

aesthetics [US es'θetɪks, GB i:s-] n the study of beauty, especially in works of art.

afar [ə'fɑ:] adv from afar from a distance □ People came from afar to witness the spectacle.

AFB n US abbr of Air Force Base.

AFDC (abbr of Aid to Families with Dependent Children) n a US government program that pays money to poor families who have children under the age of 16.

affable [ə'fæbl] adj [person] who is friendly, relaxed, and easy to talk to □ He seemed fairly affable.

affair [ə'feə] n -1. an event or series of events that has already been mentioned, or that has a particular quality □ The whole affair was over in about ten minutes. □ The party was a riotous affair. -2. [in politics] an important public event □ the Contra affair. -3. one's own affair something that concerns only oneself □ How they spend the money is their own affair. -4. [between two people] a secret sexual relationship between two people who are not married to each other □ He's having an affair with his wife's best friend.

◆ affairs npl -1. personal or private matters, especially connected with finance □ I wish he wouldn't interfere in my affairs. □ She felt it was time to put her affairs in order. -2. all the information and activities connected with a particular subject □ She's an expert on African affairs. □ our religious affairs correspondent □ affairs of state.

affect [ə'fekt] vt -1. [person, place, thing] to cause <sb/sthg> to change □ How will these measures affect those already receiving welfare? □ the areas affected by the hurricane □ The disease affects the joints of the feet and hands. -2. [person] to make <sb> have strong feelings of pity, sadness etc □ They were deeply affected by what they saw. -3. [attitude, manner] to pretend to have  (formal use) □ He affected a southern accent. □ She affected indifference to the outcome.

affectation [ə'fek'teɪʃn] n an insincere and unnatural way of behaving □ His eccentric clothes are just an affectation.

affected [ə'fektəd] adj [person, behavior, accent] that is insincere and unnatural, and aimed at impressing other people □ His voice always sounds so affected.

affection [ə'fekʃn] n a feeling of great liking for somebody or something □ Dad never showed her much affection. □ a sign of affection.

affectionate [ə'fekʃnət] adj [person, manner, kiss] that shows affection □ They're not very affectionate towards each other, are they? □ affectionate terms such as "darling" or "dear".

affectionately [ə'fekʃnətli] adv [smile, kiss] see affectionate □ the Loch Ness monster, affectionately known as "Nessie". □ Yours affectionately.

affidavit [æ'fɪdəvɪt] n a written statement that one signs to say that it is true, and that may then be used as evidence in a court of law □ a sworn affidavit.

affiliate [vb ə'fɪliət, n ə'fɪliət] ◇ vt to be affiliated to OR with sthg [with a group, organization, company] to be attached to sthg larger □ They are affiliated with the electrical workers' labor union. ◇ n a person, organization, or company that is affiliated to a larger organization □ an affiliate member/organization.

affiliation [ə'fɪli'eɪʃn] n: see affiliate □ They have no particular affiliation with any political party.

◆ affiliations npl the things that one supports or has connections with □ What are his political affiliations?

affinity [ə'fɪnəti] (pl affinities) n -1. a feeling one has when one feels close to or able to understand somebody else because their ideas, qualities etc are similar to one's own □ I felt a close affinity for OR with them. □ There was a deep affinity between them. □ She felt a natural affinity with the work. -2. a close similarity or relationship □ His work has certain affinities with Rembrandt's early paintings.

affirm [ə'fɜ:m] vt -1. [innocence, truth] to state that <sthg> is definitely true □ The federal government affirmed that it would not cut welfare payments. -2. to say that one supports  etc □ The council affirmed the right of the refugees to seek asylum.

affirmation [æ'fɜ:'meɪʃn] n: see affirm □ Following his affirmation that taxes would remain at their present level... □ Turner's previous affirmations have turned out to be untrue.

affirmative [ə'fɜ:'mətɪv] ◇ n to answer in the affirmative to say "yes". ◇ adj: an affirmative answer/reply.

affirmative action n the practice of giving jobs, university places etc to a particular group of people because they have been treated unfairly before.

affix [ə'fɪks] vt [stamp, label] to stick or attach <sthg> to something else (formal use) □ 'Affix stamp here.'

afflict [ə'flɪkt] vt to cause <sb> great mental or physical suffering. ■ to be afflicted with sthg [with a disease, disability] to suffer from sthg.

affliction [ə'flɪkʃn] n something that causes mental or physical suffering, e.g. a disease (formal use) □ the various afflictions associated with old age.

affluence ['æfluəns] n: see affluent □ For many years, they lived in comparative affluence.

affluent [ˈæfluənt] adj [person] who has a lot of money and possessions □ the affluent society.

afford [əˈfɔːd] vt -1. I/you/we etc can afford sthg I/you/we etc have enough money to pay for or buy sthg □ We can't afford a new car at the moment. □ How can they afford to eat out so often? -2. I/we etc cannot afford to do it I/we etc must not do it because it will have harmful effects □ The company simply cannot afford any adverse publicity. □ Can we afford to lose him? ■ I/you/we etc can't afford the time I/you/we etc don't have enough time to do something □ I'd love to come but I can't afford the time. -3. to provide somebody with <protection, comfort> etc (formal use) □ The tower affords a panoramic view of the city.

affordable [əˈfɔːdəbl] adj [goods, prices] that one can easily afford □ Quality clothes at affordable prices.

afforestation [US əˈfɔːrəsteɪʃn, GB -ˈfɔːrɪ-] n the process of planting large numbers of trees in a particular area.

affront [əˈfrʌnt] ◇ n an action or remark that offends somebody □ It was an affront to her pride. ◇ vt to feel affronted to be offended □ He was deeply affronted by the remark.

Afghan [ˈæfɡən] adj & n: see Afghanistan.

Afghan hound n a tall thin dog with a long silky coat.

Afghani [æˈfɡæni] adj & n: see Afghanistan.

Afghanistan [US æfˈɡænestæn, GB -stɑːn] n a mountainous country in central Asia. SIZE: 650,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 16,600,000 (Afghans, Afghanis). CAPITAL: Kabul. LANGUAGE: Pashtu, Dari. CURRENCY: afghani.

afield [əˈfiːld] adv far afield far away □ Visitors came from as far afield as Japan.

AFL (abbr of Australian Football League) n the AFL the group of teams that play Australian Rules football.

AFL-CIO (abbr of American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations) n the AFL-CIO an association of US labor unions.

afloat [əˈflaʊt] adj -1. to be afloat [person] to be sailing in a boat or ship □ We were afloat for two weeks. -2. to stay OR keep afloat [person] to float on the surface of water; [business, company] to be able to continue to operate at a time of financial problems □ The company just about managed to remain afloat by closing down one of its factories.

afoot [əˈfʊt] adj to be afoot to be happening or being planned, especially in a secret way □ There are plans afoot to bring in a team of outside consultants.

forementioned [əˈfɔːrɪˈmenʃnd], foresaid [əˈfɔːrɪˈsed] adj that has been mentioned earlier (formal use) □ the aforementioned persons.

AFP (abbr of Australian Federal Police) n the AFP the national police force of Australia.

afraid [əˈfreɪd] adj -1. to be afraid to feel fear because one thinks that somebody or something is unpleasant, dangerous etc and might harm one □ Don't be afraid, it won't hurt you. □ I'm afraid of heights. □ She's afraid of walking home in the dark. □ He was afraid to tell anyone about it. -2. to be afraid that... to be worried that something unpleasant might happen, or might already have happened □ I was afraid (that) they'd got lost. □ He was afraid of offending her. □ Don't be afraid to ask if you need anything. -3. phrases I'm afraid... a polite phrase used when apologizing or disagreeing □ I'm afraid I can't help you. □ I'm afraid (that) there's been a slight change of plan. □ I don't see the point of it, I'm afraid. ■ I'm afraid so unfortunately yes □ "Is he badly hurt?" — "I'm afraid so." ■ I'm afraid not unfortunately no □ "Can I see her now?" — "I'm afraid not."

afresh [əˈfreʃ] adv to start afresh to start doing something again, e.g. a piece of work, with the intention of doing things differently □ Sometimes the best thing to do is just throw everything away and start afresh.

Africa [ˈæfrɪkə] the second-largest continent, situated between the Atlantic Ocean and the Indian Ocean.

African [ˈæfrɪkən] n & adj: see Africa.

African American n a black American.

African violet n a plant, originally from Africa, that has purple, white, or pink flowers and rough leaves.

Afrikaans [ˌæfrɪˈkɑːns] n a language, related to Dutch, that is spoken in South Africa.

Afrikaner [ˌæfrɪˈkɑːnə] n a white South African whose ancestors were Dutch.

Afro-Caribbean [ˌæfrɒkəˈrɪbiən] ◇ n a black person from the West Indies. ◇ adj: Afro-Caribbean music/fashion.

aft [US æft, GB ɑːft] adv at or toward the back of a ship, plane etc □ 'Lavatories aft.'

AFT (abbr of American Federation of Teachers) n the AFT a US labor union for teachers.

after [US ˈæftə, GB ɑːftə] ◇ prep -1. after lunch/dinner in the time following lunch/dinner □ She got a job in London after leaving school. ■ after two weeks at the end of two weeks. ■ twenty after two/twelve US twenty minutes past two/twelve o'clock. -2. Y comes after X Y follows X in position or order □ She smoked one cigarette after another. □ Type the letters, put them into envelopes, and after that leave them in my in-tray. -3. to call after sb to shout toward sb who is moving away □ "Come back!" she called after him. ■ to clean up after sb/sthg to clean up the dirt or damage created by sb/sthg □ I'm fed up with tidying up after you lot! ■ shut the door after you shut the door when you go out. ■ after you! used when one wants to be polite and allow somebody to do something first □ She held the door open and said, "After you!" -4. after what you said because of what you said □ After what he did, I'll never speak to him again! -5. after everything I've done for you in spite of everything that I have done for you □ After all my hard work we still didn't get the contract. -6. to be after sb/sthg to be looking for sb/sthg or trying to get sb/sthg □ "Can I help you, sir?" — "Yes, I'm after a blue shirt." □ He's only after her money. -7. to be named after sb/sthg to be called sthg because it is the name of sb/sth else □ They called their daughter Rose after her grandmother. -8. day after day used to indicate that something is repeated every day □ Night after night he lay awake, worrying. -9. ART a painting after Velázquez a painting in the style of Velázquez.

◇ adv = afterward □ He was badly hurt and died soon after.

◇ conj used to introduce the event that happens first □ After he left college he moved to Santa Fe. □ She waited until after the guests had gone home to tell us the news.

◆ after all adv -1. although this did not seem likely before □ I didn't believe her at first, but she was right after all. -2. used to try to persuade somebody that one's opinion is correct, or to point out a reason that one thinks they have ignored □ Don't get upset: after all, it's only a game.

afterbirth [US 'æftɪbɜːrθ, GB 'ɑːftəbɜːθ] n the term used to refer to the placenta and umbilical cord when they come out of a woman's womb just after her baby has been born.

aftercare [US 'æftɪkɛr, GB 'ɑːftəkɛə] n GB the care or help that is officially offered to somebody after they come out of an institution such as a prison or hospital.

aftereffects [US 'æftərɪfɛkts, GB 'ɑːftər-] npl the unpleasant effects that result from something such as an accident, disaster, or medical treatment □ She was still suffering from the aftereffects of her illness.

afterlife [US 'æftɪrlaɪf, GB 'ɑːftə-] (pl afterlives [-laɪvz]) n in some religions, the life that one is believed to have after one dies.

aftermath [US 'æftɪrmæθ, GB 'ɑːftə-] n the period or situation that follows an event such as a war, storm, or disaster □ In the immediate aftermath of the civil war many families were separated.

afternoon [US 'æftɪrnuːn, GB 'ɑːftə-] n the part of the day between noon and about six o'clock □ I often go for a walk in the afternoon. □ an afternoon flight.

◆ afternoons adv [work, sleep] during the afternoon.

after-sales service n the service, e.g. repairs or advice, offered by a company to a customer after they have bought a product such as a car, computer, or washing machine.

aftershave [US 'æftɪrʃeɪv, GB 'ɑːftə-] n a liquid with a pleasant smell that men put on their face after shaving.

aftershock [US 'æftɪrʃɒk, GB 'ɑːftə-] n any of a series of small earthquakes that happens after the main part of an earthquake.

aftersun lotion [US 'æftɪrsʌn-, GB 'ɑːftə-] n a cream used on one's skin to help prevent it from peeling and feeling hot after one has been in the sun.

aftertaste [US 'æftɪrteɪst, GB 'ɑːftə-] n the taste that remains in one's mouth after eating or drinking something □ It has a bitter aftertaste.

afterthought [US 'æftɪrθɔːt, GB 'ɑːftə-] n an idea that comes into one's mind after one has already said or done something and that was not part of one's original thoughts □ It had been added almost as an afterthought.

afterward [US 'æftɪrwɜːd, GB 'ɑːftəwɜːd], afterwards [US 'æftɪrwɜːdʒ, GB 'ɑːftəwɜːdʒ] adv a word used to say what happens after a particular event or time □ Afterward we all went home. □ Are you doing anything afterward?

again [ə'geɪn] adv -1. say/do that again say/do that one more time □ We enjoyed the play so much we decided to see it again. -2. to be back home again to be back at home in the same way as before □ He's been very ill, but now he's well again. -3. used to introduce another example or argument similar to the last one □ If we look at the next graph, again we see signs of falling sales. -4. used at the end of questions to ask for information to be repeated □ Where do you live again? -5. as much again the same amount that has already been mentioned.

◆ again and again adv many times □ I've told him again and again, but he doesn't listen.

against [ə'geɪnst] ◇ prep -1. to argue against sth to argue that it is not a good idea to do sth □ I'm not against the idea, in principle. ■ to advise sb against sth to advise sb not to do sth □ I warned him against buying it. -2. to fight/play against sb to try to beat sb in a fight/game. ■ the battle against rising crime the battle to stop crime from getting worse. -3. to lean against sth to lean so that one is touching or pressing on sth □ The heel of my shoe has been rubbing against my foot. -4. to do sth against sb's wishes/instructions not to follow sb's wishes/instructions □ She was held against her will. -5. to be against the rules/regulations not to be permitted by the rules/regulations □ That's against the law! -6. to be against sb's interests to be likely to harm sb's interests □ They were accused of plotting against the state. □ The evidence against the accused couple is very strong. -7. to go against the wind to go in the opposite direction to the wind □ I had to swim against the tide to get back to shore. -8. insurance against loss/damage insurance to protect oneself from loss/damage □ You will need to be vaccinated against malaria. -9. used to make a contrast or comparison. ■ a tree stood out against the sky a tree could be seen on a background of sky. ■ the pound fell against the dollar the value of the pound fell in comparison with the dollar.

◇ adv not in agreement with something □ There were 240 votes in favor and 23 against.

◆ as against prep used to compare or contrast two things □ The company made a profit of $1m last year, as against a loss of $2m the year before.

age [eɪdʒ] (cont aging OR ageing) ◇ n -1. the length of time that a person or animal has lived or a thing has existed □ She's twenty years of age. □ He's about my age. □ She started playing the violin at the age of four OR at age four. □ Whiskey improves with age. ■ act your age! stop behaving like a child! ■ to be of age to have reached an age when one is considered to be an adult, usually 18. ■ to be under age to be too young to be legally allowed to do something, e.g. buy alcohol or have sex. ■ to come of age to reach the age when one is considered to be an adult, usually 18. -2. the state of being old □ He was bent with age. □ The documents were yellow with age. -3. a particular period of one's life □ The retirement age is 65. □ He's at OR of an age now where he's quite capable of making his own decisions. -4. a period of time in history □ the Age of Reason □ the computer age. -5. an age a long time (informal use) □ It took her an absolute age to do the work.

◇ vt to make <sb> look older □ The strain of the job had aged him considerably.

◇ vi to look older □ It was sad to see how much he had aged.

◆ ages npl a long time (informal use) □ That was ages ago. □ I haven't seen her for ages. □ It took ages to get here.

AGE

The minimum age for voting in a US, British, or Australian election is 18. In most states of the USA the minimum age for drinking or buying alcohol is 21, while in Britain and Australia it is 18. The minimum age for driving a car in most states of the USA is 16, and in Britain and Australia it is 17. In the USA the retirement age is 65, while in Britain and Australia it is 65 for men and 60 for women.

aged [adj sense 1 eɪdʒd, adj sense 2 & npl 'eɪdʒɪd] ◇ adj -1. to be aged 10/20 etc to be 10/20 etc years old □ The children were aged between 8 and 15. -2. an aged parent a very old parent □ her aged father. ◇ npl the aged people who are very old.

age group n all the people of a similar age, or whose ages are between two particular points □ the 20 to 30 age group □ The game is suitable for all age groups.

ageing ['eɪdʒɪŋ] adj & n = aging.

ageless ['eɪdʒləs] adj (literary use) [person, beauty] that never seems to grow old; [building, work of art] that never looks old-fashioned □ Her writing has an ageless charm.

agency ['eɪdʒənsɪ] (pl agencies) n -1. a business that provides a particular service for a company or person □ I found my apartment through an agency. □ They run an employment agency. □ agency fees. -2. an administrative organization, often run by a government □ The operation is being coordinated by the various aid agencies.

agenda [ə'dʒendə] (pl agendas) n a list of things to be discussed at a meeting □ What's on the agenda today? □ The subject of possible takeovers is high on the agenda.

agent ['eɪdʒənt] n -1. BUSINESS a person whose job is to provide a particular service as a representative of an organization □ He's an agent for a large insurance company. -2. ARTS a person who is paid by an actor, musician, writer etc to find them work □ a theatrical/literary agent □ You'll have to speak to my agent. -3. CHEMISTRY a substance or chemical that has a particular effect on something else □ a bleaching agent. -4. = secret agent.

age-old adj [tradition, custom] that has existed for a very long time □ The conflict was rooted in age-old prejudices.

aggravate ['ægrəveɪt] vt -1. to make  etc worse □ The speech only served to aggravate tensions within the community. -2. to annoy <sb> very much □ Stop aggravating her!

aggravating ['ægrəveɪtɪŋ] adj [person, problem, behavior] that one thinks is very annoying □ You can be so aggravating sometimes!

aggregate ['ægrɪgət] ◇ adj [turnover, output, earnings] representing the total of several amounts added together □ They have an aggregate income of $50,000 a month. ◇ n -1. the total of several amounts added together □ an aggregate of 20 years. -2. the materials, e.g. sand and stone, that are added to cement to make concrete.

aggression [ə'ɡreɪʃn] n -1. aggressive feelings □ Signs of aggression in young adult males... -2. aggressive behavior against a person or country □ The invasion was condemned as an act of aggression.

aggressive [ə'ɡresɪv] adj -1. [person] who seems ready to attack or fight other people without any reason; [tone, manner] that is angry and threatening □ He becomes extremely aggressive when he's had too much to drink. -2. [salesperson, competitor] who is forceful and determined to succeed; [plan] that is forceful and intended to be successful □ an aggressive advertising campaign.

aggressively [ə'ɡresɪvli] adv [behave, speak, stare] see aggressive.

aggressor [ə'ɡresə] n a person or country that attacks another person or country first.

aggrieved [ə'ɡri:vɪd] adj to feel aggrieved to feel very upset and hurt because one thinks that one has been treated unfairly □ I was aggrieved to learn they had gone ahead without notifying me.

aghast [US ə'gæst, GB -'gɑ:st] adj to be aghast to be filled suddenly with shock and surprise when one is told something or discovers something □ She was aghast at the news.

agile [US 'ædʒl, GB 'ædʒaɪl] adj -1. [person, animal] that is able to move quickly and easily □ She's still very agile for her age. -2. an agile mind a mind that is quick and intelligent.

agility [ə'dʒɪlətɪ] n: see agile □ She climbed up onto the chair with remarkable agility.

aging ['eɪdʒɪŋ] ◇ adj [population, machinery] that is growing older and is therefore considered less effective □ a tired and aging leader. ◇ n [of a person, population] the process of growing old □ the aging process.

agitate ['ædʒɪteɪt] ◇ vt -1. to make <sb> feel agitated. -2. to shake or stir  etc. ◇ vi to agitate for/against sthg to argue for/against sthg, often by protesting in

- public, in order to change a particular situation.
- agitated ['ædʒɪteɪtəd] adj [person] who cannot keep still, relax, or concentrate because they are worried and nervous □ He got very agitated.
- agitation [ˌædʒɪ'teɪʃn] n a feeling of being agitated.
- agitator ['ædʒɪteɪtə] n a person who campaigns in public for or against a particular cause or change.
- AGM n GB abbr of annual general meeting.
- agnostic [æɡ'nɒstɪk] ◇ n a person who believes it is impossible to say whether or not there is definitely a God. ◇ adj: an agnostic upbringing.
- ago [ə'ɡəʊ] prep five minutes ago five minutes before now □ I started working here two years ago. □ He died a long time ago. □ Not long ago the operation would have been impossible.
- agog [ə'ɡɒɡ] adj to be agog to be very curious and excited about something □ I was all agog to see her new fiancé.
- agonize, -ise ['æɡənaɪz] vi to spend a long time thinking and worrying about something □ I agonized over or about the decision for days. □ Don't agonize, just DO it!
- agonized ['æɡənaɪzd] adj [face, scream] that shows that one is in agony □ an agonized expression.
- agonizing ['æɡənaɪzɪŋ] adj -1. [pain, wait] that causes agony. -2. [decision, choice] that is very difficult.
- agonizingly ['æɡənaɪzɪŋli] adv agonizingly slow extremely slow □ The wait was agonizingly long.
- agony ['æɡəni] (pl agonies) n very great physical or mental suffering □ She screamed out in agony. □ Later I experienced all the agonies of regret.
- agony aunt n a woman who gives advice about personal problems in newspapers or magazines or on the radio.
- agony column n a section in a newspaper or magazine where readers are given advice about their personal problems.
- agoraphobia [ˌægrə'fəʊbjə] n the fear of open spaces.
- agree [ə'ɡri:] ◇ vi -1. to have the same opinion as somebody else □ "I think we should accept the offer." — "I agree." □ I agree with you about the new assistant. She's terrific. ■ I couldn't agree more I agree completely. -2. to say yes to something □ The lawyer tried everything to get him to sign but he wouldn't agree. □ They've finally agreed to our proposal. -3. [figures, stories] to be the same □ We did the same calculation but our results didn't agree. -4. GRAMMAR to show a relationship with another word in a sentence by having a particular form, e.g. a feminine or plural ending □ In French the adjective and the noun must agree or the adjective must agree with the noun. ◇ vt -1. [price, date, course of action] to decide <sthg> with somebody else □ We still have to agree terms with our partners. □ The UN has agreed that sanctions must be imposed. -2. to agree to do sthg to say that one will do sthg □ Management has agreed to meet with the unions. -3. to agree (that)... to admit that something is true □ I agree that it's not an easy task.
- ◆ agree on vt fus to agree on sthg [on a price, date, course of action] to agree sthg □ They can't agree on how best to market the product.
- ◆ agree with vt fus -1. to agree with sthg [with a plan, opinion] to approve of sthg □ I don't agree with his decision/with what he said. -2. it doesn't agree with me it makes me feel unwell □ I ate something that didn't agree with me.
- agreeable [ə'ɡri:əbl] adj -1. [place, weather, experience] pleasant. -2. to be agreeable [person] to agree to an idea or suggestion □ If he's agreeable, I'll let you know. -3. to be agreeable to sb [suggestion, idea] to be acceptable to sb □ I trust these terms are agreeable to you.
- agreeably [ə'ɡri:əbli] adv: see agreeable □ I was agreeably surprised by the results of the survey.
- agreed [ə'ɡri:d] ◇ adj to be agreed to have the same opinion about something □ Are we all agreed on the next step to take? □ We're agreed then that we'll meet again next month. ◇ adv -1. a word used to show that one agrees with somebody or something □ "So, I'll tell them no." — "Agreed." -2. a word used before an argument or claim to weaken its force □ Agreed it's not the cheapest product, but it's very reliable.
- agreement [ə'ɡri:mənt] n -1. a situation in which everyone has the same opinion □ After two days of discussion, the delegates finally reached an agreement. □ There was complete agreement among the board about how to proceed. □ The talks produced no agreement on any of the main issues. ■ to be in agreement with sthg [with a decision, plan, idea] to think that sthg is a good idea. ■ to be in agreement with sb to have the same opinion as sb □ I'm entirely in agreement with you on that point. -2. the act of saying yes □ We have to get their agreement before we go ahead with the plan. -3. LAW & POLITICS a formal contract □ The two countries signed an agreement on nuclear arms. -4. GRAMMAR a form of a word that shows its grammatical relationship with another word in a sentence □ In English, there is no agreement between the adjective and the noun.
- agricultural [ˌægrɪ'kʌltʃrəl] adj [land, machinery] see agriculture □ Agricultural workers account for 20% of the workforce.
- agriculture [ˌægrɪkʌltʃə] n the practice of growing crops and raising animals for food □ The country's agriculture is suffering as a result. □ the Department of/Minister for Agriculture.
- aground [ə'graʊnd] adv to run aground [ship, boat] to become stuck in the shallow part of a sea, river, or lake □ The tanker ran aground and began to leak oil.
- ah [ɑ:] excl a sound that shows one is surprised, pleased, in pain etc □ Ah, here it is!
- aha [ɑ:'hɑ:] excl a sound made to show that one has understood something or has made a discovery □ Aha, so that's what you've been doing all this time!

ahead [ə'hed] adv -1. in front □ The road ahead was blocked by a van. ■ right OR straight ahead directly in front □ The bank is straight ahead. -2. forward □ The demonstrators charged ahead. ■ to go on ahead to set out for a place so that one gets there before somebody else □ I went on ahead to buy the tickets. □ You go on ahead. I'll catch up with you later. ■ to be sent on ahead to be sent somewhere before other people or things □ My luggage has been sent on ahead. -3. in a stronger position than somebody else in a competition, election etc □ The Republicans are ahead in the polls by 6%. -4. in a better position than expected □ We're well ahead on our sales figures for this month. -5. to lie ahead to lie in the future □ The recession means some difficult months ahead. □ I haven't thought that far ahead yet. □ She likes to plan ahead.

◆ ahead of prep -1. in front of <sb> □ There were three people ahead of him in the line. -2. in a better position than  etc □ The Democrats are currently ten points ahead of the Republicans. □ They're miles ahead of their closest rivals. -3. before <sb/sthg>; earlier than <sb/sthg> □ Negotiations began well ahead of the summit meeting. □ Paris is one hour ahead of London.

ahoy [ə'hɔɪ] excl a word used by sailors as a greeting. ■ ship ahoy! a phrase used to say that there is a ship approaching.

AI n -1. abbr of Amnesty International. -2. abbr of artificial intelligence. -3. abbr of artificial insemination.

aid [eɪd] ◇ n -1. with/without the aid of sb/sthg with/without the help of sb/sthg □ He succeeded with/without the aid of government grants. ■ to come/go to sb's aid to come/go to help sb who is in difficulty □ Rescue teams went to the aid of the injured climber. -2. [for a task] a device, piece of equipment etc that makes it easier to do something □ a teaching/learning aid □ an invaluable aid to understanding. -3. [to a country] money, food etc given to help another country □ The USA has pledged billions of dollars in economic aid. □ foreign aid □ an aid package/organization.

◇ vt -1. [person] to help <sb> to do something □ The police, aided by local volunteers, soon found the missing child. -2. [country] to provide money, food etc for <another country, organization> etc. -3. LAW to aid and abet sb to help sb to do something illegal.

◆ in aid of prep intended to raise money for  □ a concert in aid of famine relief.

AID n -1. (abbr of artificial insemination by donor) = DI. -2. (abbr of Agency for International Development) the AID a US government department that gives money to developing countries.

aide [eɪd] n a person whose job is to help somebody important, e.g. a general or member of a government.

aide-de-camp [ˌeɪdəˈkæmp] (pl aides-de-camp)

[ˌeɪd-] n an officer in the army or navy who helps an officer of higher rank.

AIDS, Aids [eɪdz] (abbr of acquired immune deficiency syndrome) n a serious, usually fatal, disease caused by a virus that destroys the body's immune system □ an AIDS patient □ the AIDS epidemic.

aid worker n a person who works for an organization that provides food, shelter, or medical aid, especially to the Third World.

AIH n abbr of artificial insemination by husband.

ailing ['eɪlɪŋ] adj -1. [person] who is ill and not getting better □ her ailing husband. -2. [economy, company] that is having problems and is not successful enough □ The news will be a boost for the ailing aircraft industry.

ailment ['eɪlmənt] n an illness that is not usually serious □ colds and other minor ailments.

aim [eɪm] ◇ n -1. a plan that a person, organization etc hopes to carry out □ Our aim is to expand next year. □ They had taken on extra staff with the aim of increasing output. -2. sb's aim sb's skill at pointing a weapon or object correctly at something and hitting it □ My aim isn't very good. ■ to take aim to prepare to use a weapon or throw an object by holding it in the correct position and checking the direction □ Joe took aim and fired.

◇ vt -1. to aim sthg at sb/sthg [gun, camera] to point sthg at sb/sthg □ The rifle was aimed at his head. -2. to be aimed at doing sthg [plan, action] to be designed to make sthg happen □ These measures are aimed at curbing inflation. -3. to be aimed at sb [criticism, campaign] to be intended to be noticed by sb □ These comments were aimed mainly at new recruits.

◇ vi -1. to point a gun, camera etc at somebody or something □ He aimed at the target, then fired. -2. to aim at OR for sthg [at success, improvement] to hope to get or achieve sthg □ You may not get to college, but it's something to aim for. ■ to aim to do sthg to intend to do sthg □ We're aiming to finish before the end of the week.

aimless ['eɪmləs] adj [person, life, activity] without a purpose.

aimlessly ['eɪmləslɪ] adv [wander, look] see aimless □ I wandered aimlessly through the store.

ain't [eɪnt] (informal use) = am not, are not, is not, have not, has not.

air [eə] ◇ n -1. the mixture of gases that surround the Earth and that people breathe □ I went out for a breath of fresh air. □ There was a nasty smell in the air. -2. the air the space between the ground and the sky □ The dog suddenly leapt into the air. □ The ball flew through the air. -3. by air [go, travel] by plane □ This time I went by air. -4. [of a person, place, thing] a general appearance or quality □ He has an air of mystery about him. -5. MUSIC a tune (literary use). -6. RADIO & TV to be on (the) air to be broadcasting □ We're on the air in ten minutes. ■ to go off (the) air to stop broadcasting □ They went off the air at midnight. -7. phrases to be in the air [feeling] to be present but not discussed. ■ to be up in the air [decision, project] to be uncertain and not yet decided □ Our plans for the summer are still up in the air. ■ to clear the air to end a misunderstanding by speaking honestly □ Tomorrow's meeting should help to clear the air.

◇ vt -1. [washing, sheets] to remove any dampness or smells from <clothes or bedding> by putting it in a warm or dry place, or on a washing line □ Make sure you air those shirts before you iron them. -2. [bedroom, living room] to let fresh air into  □ I opened the windows to air the office. -3. [thoughts, criticism] to express <one's opinions or feelings> about something □ Would you care to air your views on the subject? -4. [show, interview] to broadcast  on the radio or television □ The debate will be aired next week.

◇ vi [washing, sheets] to become dry or fresh. ◆ airs npl airs and graces unnatural behavior that is intended to make one seem more important than one really is. ■ to give oneself airs, to put on airs to behave as if one is more important than one really is.

airbag ['eə'bæg] n a safety device in cars consisting of a bag that inflates in front of the driver or a passenger immediately after an accident to prevent them from being hurt when they are thrown forward.

airbase ['eə'beɪs] n a military airfield where military personnel live.

airbed ['eə'bed] n GB = air mattress.

airborne ['eə'boʊn] adj -1. [troops, regiment] that is trained to fight on the ground after landing from the air in enemy territory; [attack] that comes from the air. -2. to be airborne [plane, helicopter] to be flying in the air □ We needed the whole runway to get airborne.

airbrake ['eə'breɪk] n a brake that works by using compressed air and is found in trains, buses, trucks etc.

airbus ['eə'bas] n an airplane used for carrying large numbers of passengers on short flights.

air-conditioned [-kən'dɪʃnd] adj [room, building, car] that is kept cool and dry by air-conditioning.

air-conditioning [-kən'dɪʃnɪŋ] n a system of keeping the air in buildings and vehicles cool and dry □ I'm lucky: my office has air-conditioning. □ an air-conditioning system.

aircraft [US 'eəkrɑːft, GB 'eəkrɑːft] (pl aircraft) n any vehicle that can fly, e.g. a helicopter, glider, or airplane □ 20 different types of aircraft □ an aircraft manufacturer.

aircraft carrier n a warship with a long flat deck that is used by aircraft for takeoff and landing.

air cushion n an inflatable cushion, usually made of plastic or rubber.

air fare n the cost of traveling to a place by plane.

airfield ['eə'fi:ld] n an area where planes take off, land, and are kept in special buildings.

air force n the part of the armed forces trained to defend and attack from the air □ the US Air Force □ an air force base.

Air Force One n the name of the aircraft used by the US president.

air freight n goods that are carried as cargo in an airplane.

air freshener [-freʃnəʃ] n a product that is used to make the air of a room, car etc smell pleasant.

airgun ['eə'gʌn] n a gun that uses compressed air to fire special bullets.

air hostess n GB a woman whose job is to take care of passengers on a plane.

airily ['eəɪli] adv [talk, promise] see airy □ "Oh, I'll think of something," she replied airily.

airing ['eəriŋ] n to give sth an airing [sheets, washing] to air sthg; [opinion, grievance, criticism] to discuss sthg with other people.

airing cupboard n GB a warm closet used for storing bedding, towels etc and for drying damp clothes.

airlane ['eə'leɪn] n a route through the air used by aircraft.

airless ['eə'les] adj [room, place] that does not have enough fresh air □ a hot, airless day.

airletter ['eə'letəʃ] n GB a sheet of thin paper that is already stamped for posting as a letter and that is folded and sent by airmail.

airlift ['eə'lift] ◇ n an operation in which people, troops, food etc are moved somewhere by air, especially when it is not possible to move them by land. ◇ vt to move <people, troops, food> etc in an airlift □ The civilians were airlifted to safety.

airline ['eə'laɪn] n a company that carries passengers and goods by air in airplanes □ America's biggest airline □ an airline company.

airliner ['eə'laɪnəʃ] n a large airplane used for carrying passengers.

airlock ['eə'lɒk] n -1. [in a tube, pipe] a bubble of air that prevents liquids from flowing through something. -2. [in a spacecraft, submarine] an airtight room or compartment situated between two places that have different air pressures.

airmail ['eə'meɪl] n the system of sending letters and parcels by air □ 'By airmail' □ an airmail letter.

NOTE: Compare surface mail.

airman ['eə'mæn] (pl airmen [-mən]) n -1. a man who serves in the air force. -2. a rank in the US Air Force.

air mattress n an inflatable mattress that is used as a bed or for lying on in the water.

Air MilesTM npl a system used by some British airlines, credit card organizations etc that gives vouchers to customers that can be exchanged for free flights.

airplane ['eə'pleɪn] n US a vehicle for traveling in the air that has wings and at least one engine.

airplay ['eə'pleɪ] n the number of times a record is played on the radio □ Their latest record has had a lot of airplay.

airpocket ['eə'pɒkət] n a current of air that flows downward, causing an aircraft to lose height suddenly.

airport ['eə'pɔ:t] n a place where aircraft take off and land, with buildings in which passengers wait for their flights □ airport security.

air quality n the amount of pollution that is in the air at a particular time.

air raid n an attack by aircraft in which bombs are dropped.

air-raid shelter n a building used to protect people from bombs during an air raid.

air rifle n a rifle that uses compressed air to fire special bullets.

airship ['eəʃɪp] n an aircraft without wings that consists of a large long balloon with a compartment below it to carry passengers.

airsick ['eə'sɪk] adj to be airsick to feel sick because of the movement of an aircraft.

airspace ['eə'speɪs] n the area of sky above a country that is considered to belong to that country □ The plane had unwittingly entered Russian airspace.

airspeed ['eə'spi:d] n the speed at which an aircraft travels through the air.

air steward n a man whose job is to take care of passengers on a plane.

air strike n a military attack with bombs from aircraft.

airstrip ['eə'strɪp] n a long area of land used by aircraft for takeoff and landing.

air terminal n a building at an airport where passengers check in and wait before a flight.

air ticket n a ticket for traveling by plane.

airtight ['eə'taɪt] adj -1. [container, compartment] that does not allow air in or out □ Store in an airtight container. -2. [theory, argument] that does not contain any errors.

airtime ['eə'taɪm] n the time given to a program, item of news etc on the radio or TV □ The trial got a lot of airtime.

air-to-air adj an air-to-air missile a missile that is used by one aircraft against another.

air-traffic control n the work involved in checking the movement of aircraft in the air and telling pilots which routes to take; the people who carry out this work □ Air-traffic control has notified us about possible delays.

air-traffic controller n a person who works in air-traffic control.

air travel n travel by airplane.

airwaves ['eə'weɪvz] npl -1. on OR over the airwaves broadcast on television or radio □ The news came over the airwaves. -2. radio waves used in broadcasting.

airy ['eəri] (compar airier, superl airiest) adj -1. [room, building] that gives a feeling of space and fresh air □ Our new offices are light and airy. -2. [attitude, smile] that shows one is not very serious about something □ He gave an airy wave to the crowd.

aisle [aɪl] n a passage between rows of seats in a church, airplane, theater etc or between rows of shelves in a store. ■ an aisle seat a seat next to the aisle in a bus, airplane etc.

ajar [ə'dʒɑ:] adj to be ajar [door] to be slightly open □ Leave the door ajar.

AK abbr of Alaska.

aka abbr of also known as □ Marian Morrison, aka John Wayne.

akin [ə'kɪn] adj akin to sthg similar to sthg □ Pulling out would be akin to admitting defeat.

AL abbr of Alabama.

Alabama [ˌælə'bæmə] a state in the southeastern USA where the civil rights movement began. ABBREVIATION: AL. SIZE: 131,333 sq kms. POPULATION: 4,040,587 (Alabamans). CAPITAL: Montgomery.

alabaster [US ˌælə'bæstr, GB '-bɑ:stə] n a white stone used for making ornaments □ an alabaster statue.

à la carte [US ˌɑ:lə'kɑ:rt, GB ˌælə'kɑ:t] ◇ adj an à la carte menu a menu that lists a separate price for each dish. ◇ adv [eat, dine] by choosing dishes from the à la carte menu.

NOTE: Compare table d'hôte.

alacrity [ə'lækrəti] n eagerness (formal use) □ He replied with alacrity.

Aladdin [ə'lædɪn] a character in an Arabian folk story who finds a magic lamp in a cave full of treasure. When he rubs the lamp a genie appears and offers to make his wishes come true.

Alamo ['æləməʊ]: the Alamo a fort in Texas that was attacked by a large Mexican force in 1836. The courage of Davy Crockett and his men, who died defending it, inspired other Texans to fight for independence from Mexico.

à la mode [US ˌɑ:lə'məʊd, GB ˌælə-] adj US [dessert] served with ice cream □ apple pie à la mode.

alarm [ə'lɑ:'rɪm] ◇ n -1. [feeling] a feeling of fear or worry □ They viewed the proposals with some alarm. -2. [object] a device, e.g. a bell or flashing light, that gives a warning of something or draws attention to something □ They set off the smoke/car alarm by mistake. ■ to raise OR sound the alarm to tell everybody that there is a particular danger □ The alarm was raised by a night watchman. -3. = alarm clock. ◇ vt to cause <sb> to feel alarm □ They were alarmed by his wild appearance.

alarm call n a telephone call made to a hotel guest in the morning to wake them up □ I'd like an alarm call for seven.

alarm clock n a clock that can be set to wake somebody up at a particular time.

alarmed [ə'lɑ:'rɪmd] adj -1. [person] who is feeling alarm □ I was alarmed at the lack of safety precautions. -2. [vehicle, safe] that is fitted with an alarm.

alarming [ə'lɑ:'rɪmɪŋ] adj [situation, problem, increase] that causes alarm □ The floodwaters are reported to be rising at an alarming rate.

alarmingly [ə'lɑ:'rɪmɪŋli] adv [increase, speak] see alarming □ Levels of pollution are alarmingly high/have risen alarmingly.

alarmist [ə'lɑ:'rɪməst] adj [person] who causes unnecessary alarm in other people □ There were alarmist reports of an escaped puma prowling the area.

alas [ə'læs] excl a word used to express one's regret (formal use) □ This is, alas, the end.

Alaska [ə'læskə] the largest state in the USA in the far northwest of North America. ABBREVIATION: AK. SIZE: 1,530,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 550,043 (Alaskans). CAPITAL: Juneau.

Albania [æl'beɪnjə] a country in southeastern Europe. It was a Communist state from 1946 to 1991. SIZE: 29,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,300,000 (Albanians). CAPITAL: Tirana. LANGUAGE: Albanian. CURRENCY: lek.

albatross [ˈælbətɹɒs] (pl albatross OR albatrosses) n a large white seabird that can fly long distances.

albeit [ɔ:l'bi:t] conj although; even though (formal use) □ He was, albeit briefly, a captain in the army.

Albert [ˈælbə:t], Prince (1819–1861) the husband of Queen Victoria. He became the Queen's chief adviser.

Alberta [æl'bɜ:tə] a province in western Canada. ABBREVIATION: AB. SIZE: 661,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,545,553 (Albertans). CAPITAL: Edmonton.

Albert Hall: the Albert Hall a large concert hall in London, named after Prince Albert.

albino [US æl'bainəʊ, GB -'bi:nəʊ] (pl albinos) n a person or animal that has a medical condition that gives them white skin, white hair, and pink eyes □ an albino rabbit.

album [ˈælbəm] n -1. [for stamps, photos] a book with blank pages used for keeping and displaying particular things □ a photo album. -2. MUSIC a collection of songs or pieces of music, usually recorded on two sides of a record or cassette, each side lasting about 25 minutes □ the band's latest album.

albumen [US æl'bjumən, GB 'ælbjumin] n the colorless part of a raw egg (technical use).

alchemy [ˈælkəmi] n a type of chemistry, practiced in the Middle Ages, that tried to find ways of turning all metals into gold.

alcohol [ˈælkəhɒl] n -1. the colorless liquid in beer, wine, and spirits that makes people drunk and is used as a solvent. -2. drinks containing alcohol □ I never touch alcohol. □ alcohol abuse.

alcoholic [ˌælkə'hɒlɪk] ◇ adj -1. that contains alcohol □ sales of alcoholic drink. -2. that is caused by alcohol □ an alcoholic stupor. ◇ n a person who is addicted to alcohol.

alcoholism [ˈælkəhɒlɪzəm] n the condition of being addicted to alcohol.

alcove [ˈælkəʊv] n the part of a room formed when one section of a wall is built further back than the rest.

alder [ˈɔ:ldə] n a tree that grows in Northern regions and has cones and leaves with pointed edges.

alderman [ˈɔ:ldə'mən] (pl aldermen [-mən]) n in the USA, Canada, and Australia, a person who is a local government official.

ale [eɪl] n a name given to several types of beer.

alert [ə'li:t] ◇ adj -1. [person] who is careful to notice things, especially possible dangers □ They are trained to be alert at all times. -2. [person] who can think and understand things clearly □ She may be old, but she's still very alert. -3. to be alert to sthg [to a danger, difficulty, problem] to be aware of sthg □ He was alert to the risks involved.

◇ n a warning of danger □ a security alert. ■ to be on the alert to pay full attention and be ready to act, usually after a warning of danger, attack etc □ Passengers have been told to be on the alert for pickpockets. □ Troops have been put on the alert.

◇ vt to warn <sb> about something □ The campaign is designed to alert schoolchildren to the dangers of drugs.

A level (abbr of Advanced level) n a school examination taken at the age of 18 in England and Wales. Students usually take three or four A levels in different subjects. They are necessary to get accepted for university.

Alexander technique [US ˌæɪg'zændr-, GB ˌæɪg'zɑ:ndə-] n the Alexander technique a technique for changing the way one sits, stands etc that aims to reduce stress and improve one's health.

Alexander the Great (356–323 BC) King of Macedonia from 336 to 323 BC. He created a large empire by conquering Greece, Egypt, and large areas of central and western Asia.

Alexandria [US ˌæɪg'zændriə, GB -'zɑ:ndriə] a city and the main port in Egypt, on the Mediterranean. It was an important cultural center of the ancient world. POPULATION: 2,719,000.

alfalfa [ˈælfæfə] n a plant that is grown for animal food and for its shoots that can be eaten as a vegetable.

alfresco [æl'freskəʊ] ◇ adj [meal] that is eaten outside in the open air. ◇ adv [eat] We picnicked alfresco in the garden.

algae [ˈældʒi:] npl plants with no stems or leaves that grow in or near water, e.g. seaweed.

Algarve [US ɑ:l'gɑ:rvə, GB æl'gɑ:v] the Algarve a region of southern Portugal that is a popular tourist area.

algebra [ˈældʒəbrə] n a type of math that uses letters and symbols to represent numbers.

Algeria [æl'dʒɪəriə] a country in northwest Africa, consisting mostly of desert. In the 1950s and 1960s a war of independence was fought against France. SIZE: 2,380,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 27,300,000 (Algerians). CAPITAL: Algiers. LANGUAGE: Arabic. CURRENCY: dinar.

Algonquin [æl'gɒŋkwɪn] (pl Algonquin) n a member of a Native American people who used to live in eastern Canada; the language of this people.

algorithm [ˈælgərɪðm] n a list of instructions, e.g. in a computer program, used to solve a problem, do calculations etc.

alias ['eɪlɪəs] (pl aliases) ◇ adv also called □ Stein and Janovich, alias Smith and Jones. ◇ n a false name, often used by somebody who is involved in illegal activities □ She assumed several aliases throughout her criminal career.

alibi ['ælibaɪ] n a person, fact, or piece of evidence that proves that somebody who has been accused of a crime was somewhere else when the crime was committed □ He's got the perfect alibi.

Alice Springs [ˌæɪlɪsˈsprɪŋz] a town in central Australia and a popular tourist resort. POPULATION: 23,600.

alien ['eɪljən] ◇ adj -1. [society, culture] that is foreign □ These people come from an alien culture. -2. [creature, being] that comes from outer space □ an alien life form. -3. [practice, behavior] that is unfamiliar □ Such beliefs are totally alien to our way of thinking. ◇ n -1. a creature from outer space □ aliens from Mars. -2. LAW a foreigner □ All aliens must register with the local authorities.

alienate ['eɪljəneɪt] vt -1. to make <sb> less sympathetic to one's point of view, opinion etc □ This policy will alienate voters. -2. to be alienated from sthg [from society, one's surroundings] to feel separate from sthg and not involved with it □ He felt alienated from the other children there.

alienation [ˌeɪljəˈneɪʃn] n: see alienate □ a growing feeling of alienation.

alight [ə'laɪt] (pt & pp alighted) ◇ adj to be alight [fuel, candle] to be burning □ Soon the whole building was alight. ■ to set sthg alight to make sthg start burning □ The car was set alight by vandals. ◇ vi (formal use) -1. [bird, insect] to land □ The butterfly alighted on a leaf. -2. [passenger] to get off a bus, train etc □ 'Passengers for Heathrow please alight here.'

align [ə'laɪn] vt -1. to put <two parts, edges> etc into the correct position in relation to each other, especially in a parallel position □ Align the columns with the top of the page. □ You'll have to have the wheels aligned. -2. to align oneself with sb to declare one's support for sb □ They have aligned themselves with the party rebels.

alignment [ə'laɪnmənt] n -1. the position of something in relation to something else. ■ in/out of alignment correctly/not correctly aligned. -2. the act of joining a group of people or countries that share the same political aim □ the alignment of Canada with the rest of the G7 countries □ a military alignment.

alike [ə'laɪk] ◇ adj to be alike [people, things] to be similar in appearance, behavior etc □ She and I are very alike. ◇ adv -1. in a similar way □ Everybody is treated alike. -2. young and old alike both young people and old people □ The pay cuts affect blue- and white-collar workers alike.

alimentary canal [ˌæɪlɪməntɪˈriː] n the passage leading from the mouth to the anus through which food passes.

alimony [US ˌæləˈmoʊni, GB -məni] n the money that a court orders a person to pay to their husband or wife after a divorce or legal separation.

A-line adj [skirt, dress] that is wider at the bottom than at the top.

alive [ə'laɪv] adj -1. to be alive [person, animal] to be living; [practice, tradition] to exist; [person] to be full of energy □ Is he still alive? □ They were buried alive in the rubble. □ It is important to keep the custom alive. □ She had never felt so alive. ■ to come alive [story, description] to become interesting and hold one's attention; [person, place] to become lively □ The main character never really comes alive. □ The resort comes alive in summer. -2. to be alive to sthg [to a problem, situation] to be aware of sthg □ They are alive to the threat posed by cheap imports. -3. to be alive with sthg [with people, animals] to be full of sthg □ The whole town was alive with rumor and speculation.

alkali ['ælkəlaɪ] (pl alkalis OR alkalies) n a substance, e.g. soda or ammonia, that neutralizes an acid.

NOTE: Compare acid.

alkaline ['ælkəlaɪn] adj [chemical, solution] that contains an alkali or has a pH value of more than 7.

NOTE: Compare acidic.

all [ɔ:l] ◇ det & predet -1. all the trains were late every one of the trains was late □ I've read all her books. □ All three men died in the crash. □ You have to consider all aspects of the problem. ■ for children of all ages for children of every possible age. -2. I've done all the work I've done the whole of the work □ He ate all his dinner. ■ she slept all night she slept for the whole of the night □ I've known them all my life.

◇ pron -1. they all smoke, all of them smoke every one of them smokes □ You can't all come! □ They all got home safely in the end. -2. I can't eat it all OR all of it I can't eat the whole amount of it. ■ take it all OR all of it take everything. ■ he gave his all he tried as hard as he possibly could. -3. all (that) I need is some sleep the only thing that I need is some sleep □ You're all I've got.

◇ adv -1. dressed all in black dressed completely in black. ■ all alone completely alone. ■ I forgot all about it I forgot it totally. -2. SPORT fifteen all each team or player has scored fifteen goals, points etc □ The match ended in a one-all draw. -3. all the better/quicker even better/quicker than before □ Her honesty made me respect her all the more.

◆ all but adv I all but gave up I almost gave up.

◆ all in all adv when everything is considered □ All in all, we've had a pretty good day.

◆ all of adv it's all of two meters tall it's two meters tall, which is surprisingly tall (used with numbers or amounts) □ There must have been all of 10,000 people there.

◆ all over prep & adv everywhere □ I've been looking all over for you.

◆ all that adv she's not all that pretty OR not as pretty as all that she is not especially pretty (used after negatives) □ To be perfectly honest, I never knew her all that well.

- ◆ all told adv in total, when everybody or everything has been counted □ There were two Americans, four Britons, and three Canadians — nine all told.
- Allah ['ælə] n the Muslim name for God.
- all-American adj [person] who has the qualities that are considered typical or admirable in Americans, such as fitness, wealth, and a strong sense of patriotism □ He's an all-American guy.
- all-around US, all-round GB adj -1. [athlete, worker] who has many different skills, abilities etc □ The job calls for someone with good all-around skills. -2. [education] general; [increase, improvement] in all areas.
- allay [ə'leɪ] vt [fear, anger, doubt] to cause  to be less strong (formal use) □ The statement failed to allay public fears of higher interest rates.
- all clear n -1. the all clear a signal that is given when a dangerous situation, e.g. an air raid, has ended. -2. to get the all clear to get permission to proceed with a plan, project etc □ We haven't been given the all clear from our head office yet.
- allegation [ˌælə'geɪʃn] n a statement made, without proof, that somebody has done something wrong or illegal □ A number of allegations have been made about the director.
- allege [ə'ledʒ] vt to allege that... to say officially that something is true or exists without proving it □ They allege that no money ever changed hands. □ Horner is alleged to have bribed a witness.
- alleged [ə'ledʒd] adj [fact, atrocity, misconduct] that is not certain because there is no proof of it □ The alleged crime took place last May.
- allegedly [ə'ledʒədli] adv a word used to show that one is reporting information that has not yet been proved to be true □ He was allegedly involved in an arms deal.
- allegiance [ə'li:dʒəns] n [to a country, king, religion] support for and loyalty to somebody or something □ All children had to pledge allegiance to the flag.
- allegorical [ˌælə'gɔːrɪkəl] adj [story, scene, work] that uses allegory.
- allegory [US 'æləgɔːrɪ, GB -gəri] (pl allegories) n a story, scene, picture etc in which the characters, events, or images are used to represent something else in order to give people a particular message; the style of writing, painting etc that uses this technique □ The painting can be seen as an allegory of love.
- alleluia [ˌæli'luːjə] excl = hallelujah.
- allergic [ə'liːdʒɪk] adj [reaction, rash] that is caused by an allergy. ■ to be allergic to sthg to have an allergy to sthg □ I'm allergic to dust/cats.
- allergy ['ælə'dʒɪ] (pl allergies) n a medical condition that causes somebody to become ill because they are sensitive to particular animals, foods etc □ a dust/food allergy □ I have an allergy to cats/milk.
- alleviate [ə'liːviːt] vt [pain, suffering, poverty] to make <an unpleasant feeling or situation> less serious and easier to deal with (formal use) □ This lotion should alleviate some of the swelling.
- alley(way) ['æli(weɪ)] n a narrow passage between two buildings.
- alliance [ə'laɪəns] n -1. an agreement between people, countries, political parties etc that share the same beliefs, aims etc; the people, countries etc that sign this agreement □ They have entered into an alliance with the Christian Democrats. □ the Western alliance. -2. the act of forming an alliance □ In alliance with other charities, we hope to raise one million dollars.
- allied ['ælaɪd] adj -1. [powers, troops] that are united by a political agreement □ Allied troops entered Germany. -2. [subjects, matters] that are related, usually because they are similar □ shipbuilding and other allied industries.
- alligator ['ælɪgətə] (pl alligator OR alligators) n a large reptile similar to a crocodile that lives in the USA and China. It is found on land and in rivers and lakes.
- all-important adj [decision, meeting, letter] very important.
- all-in adj GB [price, cost] including all charges.
- ◆ all in ◇ adv GB The deal will cost $350, all in.
◇ adj to feel all in to feel very tired.
- all-inclusive adj with everything included □ an all-inclusive package tour to Hawaii.
- all-in-one n a single piece of clothing that covers all of one's body, used especially for sports.
- all-in wrestling n a type of professional wrestling that has very few agreed rules.
- alliteration [ə,lɪtə'reɪʃn] n the deliberate repetition of the same sound or letter in a piece of speech or writing to produce a particular effect.
- all-night adj [party, vigil, session] that lasts all night; [store, cinema] that is open all night.
- allocate ['æləkeɪt] vt -1. to allocate sthg to sb/sthg [money, time, resources] to give sthg to sb/sthg for a particular purpose □ Ten percent of the budget is allocated to research. □ Each speaker has been allocated 30 minutes. -2. [task, responsibility] to give  to a particular person, department etc □ Which projects have you been allocated?
- allocation [ˌælə'keɪʃn] n -1. [for something or somebody] the amount of money, resources, tickets etc allocated for somebody or something □ We've only been given a small allocation of seats this year. -2. [of money, responsibility] see allocate □ Allocation of resources is always a difficult business.
- All-ordinaries npl the All-ordinaries index a guide to the changes in share prices, based on an average of top companies on the Australian Stock Exchange.
- allot [ə'lɒt] (vt & pp allotted, cont allotting) vt to give a share of <the available money, resources, time> etc to somebody or something for a particular purpose □ The funds allotted to the project are barely adequate. □ It is essential to complete the work in the allotted time. □ You are allotted one hour per question.

allotment [ə'lotmənt] n -1. the amount of money, resources, time etc allotted □ How big is your allotment of the budget? -2. GB a part of an area of land in a town or city that is rented by somebody for growing vegetables, flowers etc.

all-out adj [effort, war, strike] that is aggressive and determined and uses all available resources □ Rebels launched an all-out attack on government forces.

◆ all out adv to go all out to make the greatest possible effort □ We're going all out to get that contract.

allow [ə'laʊ] vt -1. to let <sth> happen without trying to stop it; to let  etc enter a particular place □ They don't allow smoking/talking. □ Children are not allowed in the bar area. ■ to allow sb to do sth to let sb do sth without trying to stop them □ We are not allowed to make personal phone calls from the office. □ Allow the wine to stand at room temperature. ■ allow me a phrase used when one offers to do something for somebody else □ Allow me to open the door for you. ■ allow me to introduce myself a formal phrase that one says before one introduces oneself. -2. [money, time] to make  available for a particular purpose □ Allow 28 days for delivery. □ I've allowed three weeks for this job. -3. to allow sb sth to let sb have sth □ We're allowed a ten-minute break every hour. -4. [application, claim] to accept <sth> as being legal, correct, or proper □ The referee refused to allow the goal. □ The legal procedure allows no appeal. -5. to allow (that)... to admit that something is true □ I'll allow that he's only partly to blame.

◆ allow for vt fus to allow for sth [for changes, delays, increases] to take sth that might happen into consideration when planning something □ We must allow for price increases. □ That's $25,000, allowing for inflation.

allowable [ə'laʊəbəl] adj [behavior, practice] acceptable.

allowance [ə'laʊəns] n -1. [for spending] money given to somebody to help them pay for something they need, e.g. clothes, travel etc □ a cost-of-living allowance □ His parents give him a monthly allowance of $100. -2. [for baggage] the amount of a particular thing that one is allowed to have □ Your duty-free allowance is 200 cigarettes. -3. GB FINANCE an amount of money one can earn without paying tax on it. -4. phrases to make allowances for sb to excuse sb's bad behavior because of their special circumstances, problems etc □ You'll have to make allowances for him — he's had a hard time. ■ to make allowances for sth to allow for sth □ You have to make allowances for inflation.

alloy ['ælɔɪ] n a metal made from two or more different metals.

all-powerful adj [leader, organization] that has complete control.

all right ◇ adv -1. [behave, work] in a way that is good enough □ The fax is working all right again now. □ We're doing all right at the moment.

□ The interview went all right. -2. yes (informal use) □ "Will you come to the meeting?" — "All right." -3. a word used to emphasize that something is true □ It's a challenge all right! -4. a word used to check that somebody has understood something □ So, you put the paper in here, all right? -5. a word used to attract somebody's attention □ All right, everyone, if we could get down to business.

◇ adj -1. [person, animal] that is not ill, upset, or in danger □ I hope she's all right. -2. [object, movie, person] that one thinks is good enough □ "How was the interview?" — "All right, I suppose." -3. that one thinks is acceptable □ Is it all right if I make a phone call? -4. phrase it's/that's all right a phrase used as a reply to thanks or an apology □ "Sorry I wasn't there to meet you." — "That's all right." □ "Thanks for everything." — "That's all right."

all-round adj GB = all-around.

all-rounder [-'raʊndə] n GB a person who has many different skills, abilities etc.

all-time adj an all-time low/best etc a level that is lower/better etc than ever before □ The stock market is at an all-time high. □ Gibson beat his all-time record.

allude [ə'lu:d] vi to allude to sb/sth to talk about sb/sth in an indirect way □ What exactly are you alluding to?

allure [ə'luə] n [of money, a person, place] an attractive or exciting quality □ the allure of the Greek islands.

alluring [ə'luəriŋ] adj [person, place] that is very attractive □ She has an alluring smile.

allusion [ə'lu:ʒn] n a reference to somebody or something that is made in an indirect way □ He made no allusion to the recent controversy over his appointment.

ally [n 'ælaɪ, vb ə'laɪ] (pl allies, pt & pp allied) ◇ n -1. MILITARY & POLITICS a country that has an agreement with another country to help and support it, e.g. during a war □ a military ally. -2. a person who helps and supports somebody else, especially when they face opposition □ Chalmers is relying on her allies on the board to back her up. ◇ vt to ally oneself with sb/sth [with a country, organization] to support sb/sth, especially when they face opposition □ They have allied themselves with the government.

◆ Allies npl the Allies the countries that fought on the same side as the USA and Britain during World War I and II.

almanac [ˈɑ:lmənæk] n a book that is published every year and gives information about the movements of the sun, moon, tides etc as well as important dates.

almighty [ɔ:l'maɪtɪ] adj an almighty bang/crash a very big or loud bang/crash (informal use) □ We had an almighty row!

◆ Almighty ◇ adj who has power over everything □ Almighty God. ◇ n the Almighty a name used to refer to God.

almond ['ɑ:mənd] n -1. a flat oval-shaped nut that is eaten raw or used in cooking □ roast/ ground almonds. -2. an almond (tree) a tree that produces almonds.

almond paste n a sweet paste made from crushed almonds, sugar, and eggs that is used to cover cakes or to make candies.

almost ['ɔ:lmo:st] adv almost ready nearly ready but not completely ready □ I've been ill, but I'm almost better now. □ Almost everyone agrees with me. □ We were late and almost missed the plane. □ "Have you finished?" — "Almost!" ■ almost nobody very few people.

alms [ɑ:mz] npl money, food, clothes etc that are given to poor people (old-fashioned use).

aloft [ə'lɒft] adv -1. [hold, raise] in the air and over one's head (formal use) □ He held the child aloft. -2. SAILING in the rigging of a ship.

alone [ə'loun] ◇ adj -1. to be alone to be without any other people present □ He wants to be alone. □ I don't want to be left alone with him. □ They need to spend some time alone together. -2. to be/feel alone to be without friends or people one knows □ I felt I was all alone in a strange country. -3. you/he etc alone only you/he etc □ You alone know what really happened. □ Fear alone prevented me from speaking. -4. used to say that something is only a small part of a much larger amount or number □ Last year alone he earned $200,000.

◇ adv -1. to do sth alone to do sth without the help of other people □ She had to run the business alone and unaided. ■ to go it alone to do something without the help or support of other people □ If that's how you feel, I'll just have to go it alone. -2. to leave sth alone to stop touching sth □ Leave it alone! ■ to leave sb alone to stop annoying sb □ Leave me alone!

along [ə'lɒŋ] ◇ adv -1. to walk along to walk forward, usually on a road or path, in an easy or unhurried way □ The dog trotted along behind us. □ I was driving along, listening to the car radio. ■ the work is coming along well the work is progressing well. -2. he will be along soon he will be here soon □ There'll be another bus along shortly. -3. I took sb along I took sb with me □ Liz asked if she could bring her sister along to the concert.

◇ prep -1. she walked along the road she walked on or beside the road in the direction that it was going. -2. the road runs along the coast the road goes beside the coast for its whole length □ There were policemen placed every twenty meters along the route. -3. the office is along the corridor the office is further down the corridor □ Could you move further along the row, please?

◆ all along adv she was right all along she was right all the time from the very beginning.

◆ along with prep along with several/many others in the same way as several/many others □ I wrote in and complained, along with hundreds of other viewers.

alongside [ə'lɒŋ'saɪd] ◇ prep -1. next to <sth> □ They moored alongside the pier. -2. together with <sb/sth> □ He works alongside his brother. □ We use this alongside more traditional methods. ◇ adv [stop, park] next to somebody or something □ The car drew up alongside.

aloof [ə'lʊ:f] adj -1. [person] who avoids talking to people and is unfriendly □ He was very aloof with the staff. -2. to remain OR stay aloof to avoid getting involved in something □ I prefer to remain aloof from such arguments.

aloud [ə'ləʊd] adv [speak, read] in a voice that can be heard □ I was just thinking aloud.

ALP (abbr of Australian Labor Party) n the ALP the main center-left party in Australia.

alpaca [æ'l'pækə] n a type of llama found in South America that has long wool used for making clothes; the wool of this animal.

alphabet ['ælfəbet] n a set of letters or symbols in a fixed order that are used for writing a language.

alphabetical [ælfə'betɪkl] adj [list] arranged according to the order of the alphabet □ The files are arranged in alphabetical order.

alphabetically [ælfə'betɪklɪ] adv [classify, order] see alphabetical □ The names are listed alphabetically.

alphabetize, -ise ['ælfəbetəɪz] vt to arrange <files, data> etc in alphabetical order.

alphanumeric [ælfənɪ'umerɪk] adj [data, display, keyboard] that contains both letters and numbers.

alpine ['ælpain] adj [climate, plant, resort] that is found in the Alps or other high mountains.

Alps [ælpz]: the Alps the biggest mountain range in Europe. It extends from the Mediterranean coast of France through northern Italy, Switzerland, and Austria to Slovenia. HIGHEST POINT: 4,807 m. already [ɔ:l'reɪdɪ] adv -1. I've already told you I've told you before now (used to emphasize that an action is completed) □ When we got there she'd already gone home. -2. we have too many guests already we have more guests now than we want □ You don't need the money; you're rich enough already. -3. they were already there they were there and this was earlier than was expected □ You're not leaving already, are you?

alright [ɔ:l'raɪt] adv & adj = all right.

Alsatian [æ'l'seɪʃn] n a large dog with a light-brown and black coat that is often used by the police and as a guard dog.

also ['ɔ:lsoʊ] adv -1. as well (used to introduce another fact about a person or thing) □ 'Also available on CD.' -2. too (used to say that two people or things are similar) □ He's a colleague, and also a good friend. □ Her second novel was also a success. -3. moreover (used at the beginning of sentences to introduce another fact or argument) □ I don't like her; also, I don't trust her.

also-ran n a person who is unsuccessful in a competition, election etc (informal use).

altar ['ɔ:l'tɑ:] n a table where the priest or minister stands in Christian services.

alter ['ɔ:l'tɜ:] ◇ vt -1. [dress, jacket] to change the style, shape, size etc of  □ You could always alter the sleeves.

-2. [plan, opinion, situation] to change <sthg> slightly by changing one part of it □ None of which alters the fact that he's a liar. ◇ vi [person, weather, place] to change □ His face had altered very little over the years. □ Yes, but that doesn't alter the fact that we've lost.

alteration [ˌɔ:l'tɜːreɪʃn] n -1. [of clothes, a plan, opinion] see alter □ The text needs some alteration before it can be published. -2. a slight change □ I've made a few alterations to today's schedule.

altercation [ˌɔ:l'tɜː'keɪʃn] n a short noisy argument (formal use) □ Hutchens was involved in an altercation with some reporters.

alter ego (pl alter egos) n -1. the side of one's personality that people do not normally see. -2. a close friend who one trusts.

alternate [adj US ˈɔ:l'tɜːnət, GB ɔ:l'tɜːnət, vb ˈɔ:l'tɜːnɪt] ◇ adj -1. following one after the other □ He does alternate night and day shifts. -2. one of every two □ We visit her on alternate weekends. -3. US = alternative.

◇ vt to make <two things, sets of people> etc follow each other in a repeated sequence □ They try to alternate the two teams of doctors. ■ to alternate sthg with sthg to make sthg follow sthg repeatedly □ The course alternates lectures with seminars.

◇ vi to alternate with sthg to follow sthg in a repeated sequence □ Hard work alternated with long rest periods. ■ to alternate between sthg and sthg to keep changing from sthg to sthg and back again □ He alternates between being very rude and extremely charming.

alternately [US ˈɔ:l'tɜːnətli, GB ɔ:l'tɜːnətli] adv a word used when there is a regular change from one state or action to another □ He's alternately happy and sad.

alternating current [ˌɔ:l'tɜːnɪŋ-] n an electric current that regularly changes direction as it flows.

NOTE: Compare direct current.

alternation [ˌɔ:l'tɜː'neɪʃn] n the regular changing from one thing or state to another, then back again □ the alternation of day and night.

alternative [ɔ:l'tɜː'nəʃɪv] ◇ adj -1. [plan, suggestion, route] that can be used instead of something else □ We'll have to use some alternative means of transport. -2. [theater, lifestyle] that is different from the traditional or established kind □ sources of alternative energy such as wind power. ◇ n something that can be done or chosen instead of something else □ We have two alternatives, either we sell now, or we wait. □ They're looking for an alternative to their current computer system. □ If you continue to be late for work, I'll have no alternative but to ask you to leave.

alternatively [ɔ:l'tɜː'nəʃɪvli] adv as an alternative course of action □ We could hold the meeting at ten or, alternatively, we could meet in the afternoon.

alternative medicine n a way of treating illness, e.g. using homeopathy, aromatherapy, or acupuncture, that is not part of standard Western medical practices.

alternator [ˈɔ:l'tɜːneɪtə] n a machine that produces an electric current which changes direction at regular periods.

although [ɔ:l'ðəʊ] conj -1. in spite of the fact that □ She's very knowledgeable, although she's never had any formal education. -2. but □ I don't think it will work, although it's worth a try.

altitude ['æltɪtjuːd] n the height of a place or thing, e.g. an aircraft, above sea level □ The plane was flying at an altitude of 1500 meters. □ Lack of oxygen makes breathing difficult at high altitudes.

alto ['æltəʊ] (pl altos) ◇ n -1. the highest male singing voice. -2. the lowest female singing voice. ◇ comp [saxophone, clarinet] that has the same range of notes as an alto.

altogether [ˌɔ:l'tə'geðə] adv -1. completely □ That's a different matter altogether. □ It was altogether different when I worked here. □ The engine stopped altogether. ■ not altogether used to make a negative statement less strong □ I wasn't altogether surprised to hear he'd left. -2. considering all things □ Altogether I'd say he's not such a bad guy. -3. in total □ Altogether that makes $10. □ You owe me $50 altogether.

altruism ['æltrɔɪzəm] n concern for other people rather than oneself.

altruistic [ˌæltrɔɪ'stɪk] adj [action, person] see altruism.

aluminum [ə'lɪnɪjəm] US, aluminium [ælə'mɪnjəm] GB n a light silver-gray metal that is easily shaped and is used e.g. for making cooking utensils, aircraft, and vehicles. SYMBOL: AL □ aluminum cans.

aluminum foil n US very thin metal in a sheet that can be used for covering food.

alumna [ə'lʌmnə] (pl alumnae [-ni:]) n a former female student of a school, college, or university.

alumnus [ə'lʌmnəs] (pl alumni [-naɪ]) n a former male student of a school, college, or university.

always ['ɔ:lweɪz] adv -1. he always arrives late he arrives late every time □ You should always wear a seatbelt. ■ I have always liked her I have liked her all the time I have known her □ Have you always worn contact lenses? -2. I will always love you I will never stop loving you □ There will always be a need for trained graduates. -3. he's always complaining he complains too often □ You always think you know best! -4. you can always go by train why don't you go by train (used to make suggestions) □ We could always borrow John's car.

Alzheimer's (disease) [US ˈɑ:l'tʃaɪmɜːz-, GB 'æltz-] n a disease that affects a person's brain, usually in old age, and causes them to feel confused and lose their memory.

am [æm] vb → be.

a.m. (abbr of ante meridiem) between midnight and midday □ The flight leaves at 8 a.m.
NOTE: Compare p.m.

AM (abbr of amplitude modulation) n a system of radio broadcasting that does not always produce a very clear sound □ ABC National, broadcasting on 576 AM.

NOTE: Compare FM.

AMA (abbr of American Medical Association) n the AMA an organization for doctors and medical researchers in the USA.

amalgam [ə'mælgəm] n -1. a mixture of two or more things (formal use). -2. a mixture of mercury with another metal, especially silver, often used as fillings for teeth.

amalgamate [ə'mælgəmeɪt] v to join together <two or more groups, businesses> etc to form a larger one □ Our office is to be amalgamated with the Chicago branch. ◇ vi [groups, businesses] to be amalgamated.

amalgamation [ə,mælgə'meɪʃn] n: see amalgamate.

amass [ə'mæs] v to collect a lot of <money, information> etc over a period of time □ He has amassed a considerable fortune.

amateur [US 'æmətʃɜr, GB 'æmətə] v -1. a person who does an activity for pleasure and is not paid for it □ a keen amateur □ The competition is open to both amateurs and professionals. -2. a person who is not very good at a particular activity □ They're just a bunch of amateurs. ◇ adj -1. [sport, sportsman, photographer] He plays amateur football. -2. [performance, attempt] = amateurish.

amateurish [US ,æmə'tʃɜrɪʃ, GB 'æmətəriʃ] adj [performance, attempt] not very good.

amaze [ə'meɪz] v to surprise <sb> very much □ Jim amazed us all with his cooking.

amazed [ə'meɪzd] adj to be amazed to be very surprised □ I'm amazed you never told anyone. □ I was amazed to discover she had been fired.

amazement [ə'meɪzmənt] n a feeling of great surprise □ I never thought she'd agree, but to my amazement she did. □ He looked at me in amazement.

amazing [ə'meɪzɪŋ] adj -1. [coincidence, story] very surprising □ It's amazing that nobody else thought of it. -2. [dress, car, offer] very good or impressive □ They have the most amazing house. □ The food was absolutely amazing.

amazingly [ə'meɪzɪŋli] adv amazingly quick/high etc so quick/high etc that it is surprising □ It was amazingly crowded for the time of year. □ Amazingly, no one was hurt.

Amazon [US 'æməzɑ:n, GB -zən]: the Amazon a river in South America that starts in the Andes in Peru and flows through northern Brazil to the Atlantic. It is the second-longest river in the world □ the Amazon basin.

Amazonian [,æmə'zɔ:njən] adj: see Amazon.

ambassador [æm'bæsədɔr] n a diplomat of the highest rank who looks after their country's interests in another country □ the US ambassador to Britain.

amber ['æmbə] v -1. a hard yellow resin used to make jewelry; the color of this □ an amber brooch/necklace. -2. GB the yellow light between the red and green lights of a traffic light □ The lights changed from red to amber. ◇ adj [eyes, light] that is the color of amber.

ambiance [US ,ɑ:mbrɪ'ɑ:ns, GB 'æmbjəns] n = ambience.

ambidextrous [,æmbrɪ'dekstrəs] adj [person] who can use both hands with equal skill.

ambience [US ,ɑ:mbrɪ'ɑ:ns, GB 'æmbjəns] n the atmosphere or character of a place □ The restaurant, I have to say, lacks ambience.

ambiguity [,æmbrɪ'gju:ətɪ] (pl ambiguities) n -1. the possibility of understanding a word, phrase, situation etc in more than one way □ To avoid any ambiguity I've added some notes in the margin. □ There's a certain ambiguity in their relationship. -2. a word or phrase that can be understood in more than one way □ The text was full of ambiguities.

ambiguous [æm'brɪgjuəs] adj [reply, statement] that can be understood in more than one way and so is not clear □ The wording of this clause is a little ambiguous.

ambiguously [æm'brɪgjuəsli] adv: see ambiguous □ It was ambiguously expressed in the text.

ambition [æm'bɪʃn] n -1. the desire to be successful, e.g. by having a good job, making money, or becoming famous □ When he was a young lawyer he was full of ambition. -2. something that one wants to do very much □ Her ambition is to climb Everest.

ambitious [æm'bɪʃəs] adj -1. [person] who wants very much to be successful □ an ambitious politician/lawyer/businessman. -2. [plan, project] that is difficult and will need great effort and skill □ It all sounded pretty ambitious to me.

ambivalence [æm'bɪvələns] n: see ambivalent.

ambivalent [æm'bɪvələnt] adj [person] who has two opposite feelings or views about somebody or something at the same time □ He feels very ambivalent about leaving his wife. □ I have rather ambivalent feelings about him.

amble ['æmbl] vi to walk in a relaxed way without hurrying □ We ambled across the park.

ambulance ['æmbjələns] n a vehicle with special equipment for taking sick or injured people to the hospital □ She was taken to the hospital by ambulance. □ Somebody call for an ambulance! □ the ambulance service.

ambush ['æmbʊʃ] v to attack <sb> by surprise after hiding and waiting for them □ The convoy was ambushed by rebel soldiers. ◇ n: The troops were caught in an ambush.

ameba US, amoeba GB [ə'mi:bə] (US pl amebas OR amebae [-bi:], GB pl amebas OR amoebae [-bi:]) n the smallest kind of living creature, consisting of only one cell.

ameliorate [ə'mi:ljəreɪt] v [working conditions] to improve  (formal use). ~ amen [,ɑ:'men, ,eɪ-] excl the word used at the end of a Christian prayer.

amenable [ə'mi:nəbl] adj [person] who is willing to do what somebody else suggests. ■ to be amenable to sthg [to a proposal, idea] to be willing to accept sthg □ I'm always amenable to suggestions.

amend [ə'mend] v to improve, correct, or make small changes to  etc □ The last paragraph should be amended to take account of recent developments.

♦ amends npl to make amends to show that one is sorry for harming or offending somebody by doing something pleasant or helpful for them □ Don was trying to make amends for having forgotten my birthday.

amendment [ə'mendmənt] n -1. a correction, improvement, or small change made to a text, statement, law etc □ A number of amendments were made to the bill before it became law. □ the Fifth Amendment. -2. [to a text, law] see amend □ The schedule needs some amendment.

amenities [ə'mi:nəti:z] npl places and services, e.g. stores or transportation, that are near one's home and make life more comfortable, convenient, or pleasant □ The apartment is close to local amenities.

Amerasian [,æmə'reiʒn] n a person who has both American and Asian ancestors.

America [ə'merikə] -1. = United States. -2. = Americas.

♦ Americas: the Americas North, Central, and South America.

American [ə'merikən] n & adj: see America.

NOTE: The term American usually refers to the USA rather than South America.

Americana [US ə,meri'kænə, GB '-kɑ:nə] n objects, books, documents etc that are connected with American history or culture.

American Civil War n the American Civil War the war (1861 to 1865) that took place between the Northern states of the USA (the Union), and the Southern states (the Confederacy).

🇺🇸 THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR

The American Civil War began in 1861, when eleven Southern states left the Union (the United States) to form a separate political grouping called the Confederacy, or the Confederate States of America. Fighting ended in 1865, when Robert E. Lee, the Confederate general, surrendered to Ulysses S. Grant, the leader of the Union troops. As a result of the war slavery was no longer allowed in the USA, and the states became less important than the central government.

American Dream n the American Dream the idea that everybody in the USA has the opportunity to become rich and successful.

American eagle n the bald eagle, especially when it is used as a symbol for the USA.

American football n GB a popular US sport played on a large field by two teams of eleven players who throw or carry an oval-shaped ball past each other in order to score points at the end of the field.

American Indian n = Native American (old-fashioned use).

Americanism [ə'merikənɪzəm] n a word or phrase, e.g. "elevator" or "sidewalk", that is used only in American English.

Americanize, -ise [ə'merikənaɪz] vt to make  etc American in style.

American League n the American League one of the two major US baseball leagues.

American Legion n the American Legion an association of people who have served in the US armed forces.

American Revolution, American Revolutionary War n the American Revolution OR Revolutionary War the war (1775 to 1783) between Great Britain and its colonies in North America. It was won by the Americans, and the USA became independent.

🇺🇸 THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The American Revolution began in 1775 when the thirteen British colonies in America rebelled against British rule because they no longer wanted to pay taxes without being able to participate in government. In 1776, several "Founding Fathers" sent a letter to the British king, George III, declaring that America was an independent nation. The British responded by sending an army to stop them. Although the Americans, who were led by George Washington, did not have a professional army, they finally won the war in 1781. As a result, America became recognized as the United States of America, an independent and democratic nation.

American Way n the American Way the attitude to life that is considered typical of Americans and that favors democracy, individualism, hard work etc.

America's Cup n the America's Cup an important international yacht race.

Amerindian [,æmə'rɪndʒən] n a member of any of the peoples originally living in North, Central, or South America or the West Indies.

amethyst ['æməθɪst] n a purple stone used for making jewelry; the color of this stone.

Amex ['æmeks] (abbr of American Stock Exchange) n the second-largest stock exchange in the USA.

amiable ['eɪmjəbl] adj [person] who is friendly and easy to like.

amicable ['æmɪkəbl] adj [relationship, agreement] friendly □ The divorce was amicable.

amicably ['æmɪkəblɪ] adv [decide, settle, divorce] see amicable □ We parted amicably enough.

amid(st) [ə'mɪd(st)] prep -1. amid(st) all the noise with the noise going on all around □ Share prices fell amid(st) rumors of a rise in interest rates. -2. amid(st) the trees surrounded by the trees.

amino acid [ə,mɪ:nou-] n any of a group of acids that form proteins □ essential/non-essential amino acids.

Amish ['ɑ:mɪʃ] ◇ npl the Amish a Christian group living mainly in Pennsylvania and Ohio, USA. They wear simple clothes, speak German, and live on farms. Their religion forbids them to use modern technology such as cars or electricity. ◇ adj: an Amish farm/family.

amiss [ə'mɪs] ◇ adj to be amiss to be wrong □ Is there anything amiss? ◇ adv to take sthg amiss to be upset or offended by sthg □ I hope you won't take it amiss if I leave early. ■ it would not go OR come amiss it would be very welcome □ A little politeness would not go amiss.

ammonia [ə'moʊnjə] n a colorless liquid or gas with a very strong smell, used in making explosives, fertilizers, and domestic cleaning products. FORMULA: NH₃.

ammunition [ˌæmjə'niʃn] n -1. bullets, bombs etc that are fired from a gun or other weapon. -2. information that can be used against somebody in an argument.

ammunition dump n a place where ammunition is stored.

amnesia [æm'ni:zə] n MEDICINE the condition of not being able to remember anything.

amnesty [ˌæmnəsti] (pl amnesties) n -1. a pardon given by the state to prisoners, especially those in prison for political crimes □ The government declared an amnesty for all political prisoners. -2. a period of time during which a particular law is not applied so that people can admit their crimes or give up weapons without being arrested.

Amnesty International n an international organization that aims to protect human rights and particularly to help people imprisoned for their beliefs.

amniocentesis [ˌæmniəsen'ti:səs] n a test carried out on a pregnant woman in which fluid is removed from her womb and examined in order to make sure that her unborn baby is healthy.

amoeba n GB = ameba.

amok [ə'mʌk] adv to run amok [person, animal] to behave in a dangerous or uncontrolled way □ The gunman ran amok, firing indiscriminately at passers-by.

among(st) [ə'mʌŋ(st)] prep -1. among(st) the crowd in or surrounded by the crowd □ He was hiding somewhere among(st) the trees. □ The letter was found among(st) her personal belongings. -2. it's popular among(st) teenagers it's popular with teenagers as a group □ They were talking among(st) themselves. □ There has been a lot of interest among(st) our customers. -3. among(st) those present one of the people present □ It's among(st) her most important plays. ■ among(st) other things in addition to other things □ She is, among(st) other things, an excellent cook. -4. to share sthg among(st) a group to share sthg so that each person in a group gets some (usually the same amount).

amoral [ˌeɪ'mɔrəl] adj [person] who has no moral principles.

amorous [ˌæməərəs] adj [person, affair] that shows or involves love and a desire for sex.

amorphous [ə'mɔ:ʃəs] adj [mass, body] that does not have a definite shape.

amortize [US ˌæmətaɪz, GB ə'mɔ:taɪz] vt [cost, mortgage] to repay  completely by making regular payments.

amount [ə'maʊnt] n -1. a word used to say how much of something there is, or how much of something one has, uses etc □ The amount he eats is amazing. □ They consume an enormous amount of energy. □ There's a certain amount of disagreement within the party. -2. a sum of money □ I paid the money I owed in regular amounts over a period of a year.

◆ amount to vt fus -1. to amount to sthg to come to a total of sthg □ The bill amounts to $650 exactly. -2. to amount to sthg to be the same as sthg in its effect □ It amounts to the same thing in the end. □ His answer amounted to a flat refusal. □ What it amounts to is this: we'll have to sell everything.

amp [æmp] n -1. abbr of ampere. -2. abbr of amplifier (informal use).

amperage [ˌæmpərɪdʒ] n the strength of an electric current measured in amps.

ampere [ˌæmpɛə] n a unit for measuring electric current.

ampersand [ˌæmpə'sænd] n a symbol (&) used to mean the word "and".

amphetamine [æm'fetəmi:n] n a drug that stimulates the nervous system, making one more energetic and excited than normal.

amphibian [æm'fɪbiən] n an animal, e.g. a frog or toad, that can live on land and in water.

amphibious [æm'fɪbiəs] adj -1. [animal] that can live on land and in water. -2. [vehicle] that can move on land and in water.

amphitheater US, amphitheatre GB [ˌæmfɪ-θiətə] n a round theater, common in ancient Rome and Greece, that has no roof and consists of a stage surrounded by rows of seats that rise one behind the other.

ample [ˌæmpl] adj -1. [food, time, supplies] more than enough □ You'll have ample opportunity to explain at the interview. □ There is ample room. -2. an ample figure/bosom a figure/bosom that is large in an attractive way.

amplification [ˌæmplɪfə'keɪʃn] n: see amplify □ sound amplification □ One or two points need amplification.

amplifier [ˌæmplɪfaɪə] n an electronic device used to amplify sound.

amplify [ˌæmplɪfaɪ] (pt & pp amplified) vt -1. to make  louder using electricity. -2. to explain <an idea, statement> etc better by giving more information.

◆ amplify on vt fus [idea, statement] = amplify.

amply [ˌæmpli] adv [rewarded, illustrated] see ample □ an amply proportioned room.

ampule US, ampoule GB [ˌæmpu:l] n a small container with no lid, usually made of glass, that contains medicine that is going to be used for an injection.

amputate [ˌæmpjəteɪt] ◇ vt to cut off all or part of <sb's arm, leg> etc in a medical operation. ◇ vi: Doctors had to amputate in order to avoid further infection.

amputation [ˌæmpjə'teɪʃn] n: see amputate.

Amsterdam [ˌæmstəˈdæm] n the capital of the Netherlands. It is known for its canals. POPULATION: 702,444.

amt abbr of amount.

AmtrakTM [ˈæmtræk] n the company that runs passenger train services in the USA.

amuck [əˈmʌk] adv = amok.

amulet [ˈæmjʊlət] n a small object that somebody wears or carries in the belief that it will protect them from harm.

amuse [əˈmju:z] vt -1. to make <sb> want to laugh or smile □ Does the idea amuse you? □ Larry amused us all with his stories. -2. to keep <sb> busy doing something enjoyable so that they do not feel bored □ Can you keep the children amused while I cook lunch? □ He amused himself by drawing doodles.

amused [əˈmju:zd] adj -1. to be amused to find something funny □ She was not amused at his silly jokes. -2. to keep oneself amused to do something that stops one from feeling bored.

amusement [əˈmju:zmənt] n the feeling one has when one finds somebody or something funny □ The adults looked on in amusement. □ Much to everyone's amusement, he fell over.

◆ amusements npl activities, especially at an amusement park, that are exciting and fun.

amusement arcade n a place where people can play games on machines by putting money into them.

amusement park n a large outdoor area with many stalls and special machines, e.g. rollercoasters and ferris wheels, that people can ride on.

amusing [əˈmju:zɪŋ] adj [story, event, person] that one finds funny □ I heard an amusing anecdote the other day.

an [stressed æn, unstressed ən] det: see a.

ANA (abbr of American Newspaper Association) n the ANA a US labor union for journalists.

anabolic steroid [ˌænəˈbɒlɪk] n any of a number of drugs that make muscles and bones grow more quickly and that are sometimes used illegally by athletes to improve their performance.

anachronism [əˈnækrənɪzəm] n -1. a person, thing, or attitude that seems old-fashioned to many people □ To some people the monarchy is simply an anachronism. -2. something that is placed in a period of history in which it did not exist □ Critics spotted several anachronisms in the movie.

anachronistic [əˌnækrəˈnɪstɪk] adj [event, opinion] see anachronism.

anaemia etc GB = anemia etc.

anaesthetic etc GB = anesthetic etc.

anagram [ˈænəgræm] n a word or phrase that is formed by rearranging the order of the letters in another word or phrase □ "Ear" is an anagram of "era".

anal [ˈeɪnl] adj [passage, sex] see anus.

analgesic [ˌænəlˈdʒɪzɪk] ◇ n a drug that makes pain less strong. ◇ adj: an analgesic drug.

analog [ˈænəlɒg] ◇ n US something that is similar to something else (formal use). ◇ adj [watch, clock] that has pointers moving around a dial to show the time.

NOTE: Compare digital.

analogous [əˈnæləgəs] adj similar □ The organization of the school is analogous to that of an army.

analogue [ˈænəlɒg] n & adj GB = analog.

analogy [əˈnælədʒɪ] (pl analogies) n a comparison that is made between two similar things in order to explain something □ An analogy can be drawn between the human eye and the camera. ■ by analogy with sthg by making a comparison with sthg □ He explained the workings of the memory by analogy with a computer system.

analyze vt GB = analyze.

analysis [əˈnæləsɪs] (pl analyses [-sɪz]) n -1. a detailed examination of something that is made in order to explain or understand it □ after a thorough analysis of the facts □ a biological analysis □ The sample has been sent away for analysis. -2. an explanation of something that results from a detailed examination of it □ My analysis of the situation is this... □ He drew up a detailed analysis of the company's accounts. -3. = psychoanalysis. -4. phrase in the final or last analysis a phrase used when stating what one thinks is the most basic fact about a situation □ In the final analysis, it's his responsibility, not ours.

analyst [ˈænələst] n -1. a person whose job is to analyze information □ a political/computer/financial analyst. -2. = psychoanalyst.

analytic(al) [ˌænəˈlɪtɪk(l)] adj [mind, approach, study] that uses logical and careful reasoning.

analyze US, analyse GB [ˈænəlaɪz] vt [problem, situation, data] to examine <sthg> in detail in order to understand or explain it □ Laboratory staff analyze the results of the tests.

anarchic [æˈnɑːˈkɪk] adj -1. [person, behavior] that does not respect authority or normal rules of behavior. -2. [style, scene, organization] that shows no signs of order.

anarchist [ˈænəˈkæst] n a person who rejects all systems of government and authority.

anarchy [ˈænəˈkɪ] n -1. a state of chaos and disorder □ The country is in a state of anarchy. -2. political disorder caused when there is no government.

anathema [əˈnæθəmə] n something that one dislikes very much □ Racism is absolute anathema to him.

anatomical [ˌænəˈtɒmɪkəl] adj [description, feature] see anatomy.

anatomy [əˈnætəmi] (pl anatomies) n -1. the scientific study of the structure of the human or animal body. -2. the structure of the human or animal body □ the human anatomy □ the anatomy of the horse. -3. the human body (humorous use) □ I got hit in a tender part of my anatomy.

ANC (abbr of African National Congress) n the ANC a South African political party that opposed apartheid and was banned from 1960 to 1990. It is now the largest party in South Africa.

ancestor ['ænsəstəʃ] n -1. a person who is related to oneself and who lived in the past. -2. a machine, vehicle etc that is a simpler and earlier version of a modern one.

ancestral home [æn,sestrl-] n a house, usually a very large one, where a person's ancestors lived.

ancestry ['ænsəstri] (pl ancestries) n one's ancestors or national background □ I'm trying to trace my ancestry.

anchor ['æŋkəʃ] ◇ n -1. SAILING a heavy piece of metal with a hook that is attached to a boat by a chain or rope and is dropped into the water to stop the boat from moving. ■ to drop/weigh anchor to drop the anchor into/to pull the anchor out of the water. -2. TV a person who is in charge of a television program such as the news and who acts as a link between different parts of the program. -3. US a small, hollow, plastic object that holds a screw tightly in a hole.

◇ vt -1. to fix <sthg> in position to prevent it from moving □ They anchored the garden table with a couple of heavy stones. -2. TV to do the job of an anchor for  □ John Thorman anchors the six o'clock news.

◇ vi -1. SAILING to lower the anchor of a boat in order to stop it from moving □ We anchored off the coast of Gibraltar. -2. TV to work as an anchor on a television program.

anchorage ['æŋkəridʒ] n SAILING a place where boats can anchor.

anchorman ['æŋkə'mæn] (pl anchormen [-men]) n TV a male anchor.

anchorwoman ['æŋkə'wʊmən] (pl anchorwomen) n TV a female anchor.

anchovy [US 'æntfʊvɪ, GB -əvɪ] (pl anchovy OR anchovies) n a very small fish that has a strong salty taste.

ancient ['eɪnfənt] adj -1. [monument, history, civilization] that belongs to the very distant past □ ancient Greece □ a tradition that goes back to ancient times. -2. [custom, tradition, belief] that has existed for a very long time. -3. [person, car, coat] that one thinks is very old (humorous use).

ancillary [æn'sɪləri] adj ancillary staff people whose job is to support all the other people who work in a building or industry, e.g. by cooking or cleaning.

and [stressed ænd, unstressed ən] conj -1. used to join words, phrases, and clauses □ Two and two make four. □ Put your shoes and socks on. □ I was tired and hungry. -2. used to show that two events follow one another almost immediately □ I got into bed and put out the light. -3. used in large numbers before the numbers "one" to "ninety-nine"; used between whole numbers and fractions □ one hundred and eighty □ six and three quarters. -4. he cried and cried he cried for a very long time (used for emphasis or to say that something continued for a long time) □ He was becoming more and more angry. -5. I fell downstairs and broke my leg I fell downstairs, then I broke my leg (used to join two clauses when the second event is a result of the first). -6. go and look for it go in order to find it (used after verbs like "come", "go", and "try" to show intention or reason) □ Try and be home on time. □ Let's wait and see.

◆ and all that adv and things like that (informal use) □ I'm just not ready for marriage and all that.

◆ and so on (and so forth) adv used at the end of a list to show that other things could be added to it □ My department deals with sales, marketing, promotion, and so on.

Andersen ['ændə'sæn], Hans Christian (1805–1875) a Danish writer whose fairy tales include The Ugly Duckling and The Snow Queen.

Andes ['ændi:z]: the Andes a major mountain range that extends down the west side of South America. HIGHEST POINT: 6,959 m. androgynous [æn'drɒdʒənəs] adj [person, appearance] that has both male and female characteristics.

android ['ændrɔɪd] n in science fiction stories, a robot that looks like a human being.

anecdote ['ænikdɔʊt] n a short, amusing, and usually personal account of something that has happened □ The book is full of anecdotes about his acting career.

anemia US, anaemia GB [ə'ni:mɪə] n a shortage of red blood cells that causes one to feel very tired and look pale.

anemic US, anaemic GB [ə'ni:mɪk] adj [person] who suffers from anemia; who looks very pale and weak.

anemone [ə'neməni] n a plant with red, blue, or purple flowers on long thin stems.

anesthesia [,ænəs'θi:zə] US, anaesthesia [,ænəs'θi:ziə] GB n a state in which the whole body or part of it does not feel pain, heat, cold etc.

anesthesiologist [,ænəsθi:zi'blədʒəst] n US a doctor who gives anesthetics to patients.

anesthetic US, anaesthetic GB [,ænəs'θetɪk] n a substance that stops a person from feeling pain □ The operation was performed under anesthetic. □ The anesthetic soon wore off.

anesthetist [ə'nesθətəst] US, anaesthetist [ə'ni:z-θətəst] GB n GB a doctor who gives patients anesthetics.

anesthetize [ə'nesθətəɪz] US, anaesthetize, -ise [ə'ni:zθətəɪz] GB vt to give <sb> an anesthetic.

anew [ə'nju:] adv again (literary use).

angel ['eɪndʒəl] n -1. RELIGION a messenger and servant of God, usually shown in human form with white wings. -2. a person who one thinks is very good or kind □ Be an angel and make me a cup of coffee, will you?

Angeleno [ændʒə'li:nou] n a person from Los Angeles.

Angel Falls a waterfall in Venezuela, in South America. It is the highest waterfall in the world (979 m). angelic [æŋ'dʒɛlɪk] adj [person, face, smile] that seems good, pure, and beautiful.

anger ['æŋgə] ◇ n a strong feeling of annoyance and unhappiness with somebody that makes one want to criticize, shout at them, or hurt them in some way □ She slammed the door in a fit of anger. □ Peter's family reacted with anger and disbelief at his decision. ◇ vt to make <sb> angry □ Shareholders were angered by the board's failure to act.

angina [æŋ'dʒaɪnə] n severe pain in the chest caused when too little blood is being carried to the heart muscle.

angle ['æŋɡl] ◇ n -1. MATH the space between two lines or surfaces at the point where they meet or cross each other, measured in degrees □ a 60° angle □ The ball hit the ground at a 45° angle. ■ at an angle not straight □ The picture had been hung at an angle. -2. a corner of a building, structure, piece of furniture, etc □ The room has a lot of awkward angles. -3. a point of view □ Let's try looking at it from another angle. □ They have an interesting angle on the subject. □ The photo was taken from an unusual angle.

◇ vt to present <information, a report> etc from a particular point of view □ The program was angled to suit younger viewers.

◇ vi -1. to fish with a fishing rod. -2. to angle for sthg [for invitation, compliment] to try to get sthg, especially in an indirect way □ I could see she was angling for a pay raise.

Anglepoise™ (lamp) ['æŋɡlɔɪz] n GB a lamp that can be adjusted to shine in any direction and that stands on a desk.

angler ['æŋɡlə] n a person who fishes with a fishing rod.

Anglican ['æŋɡlɪkən] ◇ adj [Church, bishop] that is connected with the Church of England. ◇ n a member of the Church of England.

Anglicism ['æŋɡlɪsɪzəm] n -1. a word or phrase that is used only in British English. -2. an English word or expression that is used in a foreign language.

angling ['æŋɡlɪŋ] n the art or sport of fishing using a fishing rod.

Anglo- ['æŋɡləʊ] prefix added to a word to mean English □ an Anglo-French treaty.

Anglo-American ◇ n an American who came from Britain, or whose family originally came from Britain. ◇ adj [trade, relations] that involves Britain and the USA.

Anglo-Indian n a person who has both British and Indian ancestors.

Anglo-Saxon ◇ n -1. a person whose language is English and whose culture is British or American. -2. a member of the Germanic people who settled in Britain in the 5th and 6th centuries. -3. the language spoken in Britain between the 5th and 12th centuries. ◇ adj [culture, attitude] that is British or American rather than European.

Angola [æŋ'ɡoʊlə] a country in southwest Africa. SIZE: 1,246,700 sq kms. POPULATION:

9,500,000 (Angolans). CAPITAL: Luanda. LANGUAGE: Portuguese. CURRENCY: kwanza.

angora [æŋ'ɡɔɪrə] n -1. a breed of goat, rabbit, or cat with very long soft hair. -2. wool, material, or clothing made from the hair of the angora goat or rabbit.

angrily ['æŋgrəli] adv [stare, answer] see angry □ The accusation was angrily disputed.

angry ['æŋɡri] (compar angrier, superl angriest) adj [person] who is feeling anger; [look, quarrel, face] that is showing anger □ He was very angry with me. □ I feel extremely angry about the whole business. □ There's no need to get so angry! □ an angry letter.

angst [æŋst] n a strong feeling of anxiety, caused especially by worrying about one's general situation.

anguish ['æŋɡwɪʃ] n very great mental pain and suffering □ He was in terrible anguish over the loss of his son. □ a look of anguish.

anguished ['æŋɡwɪʃt] adj [cry, look, expression] that is full of anguish.

angular ['æŋɡjələ] adj [face, jaw, body] that appears thin, with clearly visible bones.

animal ['æɪnɪml] ◇ n -1. any living creature, including human beings, that is not a plant; any mammal except human beings □ an animal lover □ the animal kingdom □ animal fat. -2. a rough and violent person (informal use). ◇ adj an animal instinct/desire an instinct/desire that is connected with the needs of the body, e.g. sex and food, rather than with the mind.

animate ['æɪnɪmət] adj that is living, as opposed to objects and machines, that are not.

animated ['æɪnɪmeɪtəd] adj [debate, person, face] full of life and energy □ The discussion suddenly became very animated.

animated cartoon n a cartoon film.

animation [ˌæɪnɪ'meɪʃn] n -1. liveliness □ She spoke with great animation. -2. the photographic process by which cartoon films are made.

animosity [ˌæɪnɪ'mɒsəti] (pl animosities) n a very strong feeling of dislike or hostility □ There was intense animosity between them.

aniseed ['æɪnsi:d] n the licorice-flavored seeds of the anise plant, used as a flavoring in cakes, drinks, and medicines.

ankle ['æŋkl] ◇ n the part of the body where the foot joins the leg. ◇ comp ankle boots/socks boots/socks that reach the ankle □ an ankle-length skirt.

annals ['æɪnlz] npl -1. a yearly record of events or activities such as the reports of the work of a society. -2. the records of the history of a country □ the worst scandal in the annals of American political history.

Annapolis [ə'næpəlɪs] the capital of Maryland, USA. The United States Naval Academy is based here and the name is often used to mean the academy itself. POPULATION: 33,187.

Anne, Queen (1665–1714) Queen of Great Britain and Ireland from 1702 to 1714. In her reign, England and Scotland were united.

- ed. A style of furniture and architecture that was popular at the time is named after her.
- annex ['æneks] ◇ n US a building that is joined or added to a main building such as a hospital or hotel. ◇ vt to take control of , especially by force, and add it to one's own territory.
- annexation [ˌænek'seɪʃn] n [of a region, country] see annex □ the annexation of Indian territory.
- annexe ['æneks] n & vt GB = annex.
- annihilate [ə'naɪəleɪt] vt to destroy  etc completely.
- annihilation [ə'naɪə'leɪʃn] n: see annihilate □ The species faces annihilation.
- anniversary [ˌæni'vɜːsəri] (pl anniversaries) n a day on which one celebrates an event that happened on the same date in a previous year □ It's my parents' 25th wedding anniversary next week. □ The anniversary celebrations have just begun.
- annotate [ˌænəteɪt] vt to add notes to  etc in order to explain it or comment on it □ the annotated version of the text.
- announce [ə'naʊns] vt -1. to say <sthg> publicly or officially □ The Secretary of State has announced his intention to resign. □ The company announced a 40 percent leap in half-year profits. -2. to state <sthg> in a loud voice □ She stood up and announced that she was going home.
- announcement [ə'naʊnsmənt] n -1. a public statement about an event that has happened or will happen □ The announcement appeared in Friday's paper. □ I have an important announcement to make. -2. the act of announcing something □ after the announcement of their marriage □ Yesterday's announcement of the company's poor figures caused a fall in the share price.
- announcer [ə'naʊnsə] n a person who reads the news or introduces programs on TV or radio □ a television/radio announcer.
- annoy [ə'noɪ] vt to make <sb> feel slightly angry □ That music is really annoying me.
- annoyance [ə'noɪəns] n a feeling of slight anger and impatience □ a look of annoyance □ I found it difficult to hide my annoyance.
- annoyed [ə'noɪd] adj to be annoyed to be slightly angry and impatient □ Ian felt very annoyed at the way he had been treated. □ I'm really annoyed with him for coming so late.
- annoying [ə'noɪɪŋ] adj (person, habit, behavior) that makes one feel annoyance.
- annual ['ænjʊəl] ◇ adj -1. [event, vacation] that happens every year □ We're holding our annual conference in Helsinki. -2. [income, increase] that is calculated over a year □ annual profits of $3 billion □ annual rainfall. ◇ n -1. a plant that lives for one year. -2. a book or magazine that is published once a year.
- annually ['ænjʊəli] adv [meet, happen] once a year.
- annual meeting US, annual general meeting GB n an annual meeting of all the important members of a company or society at which a report of the year's business is presented.
- annual report n the report of a company's financial position sent to all shareholders once a year.
- annuity [ə'njuːəti] (pl annuities) n a fixed sum of money paid to somebody each year over a period of time as part of an insurance or investment policy.
- annul [ə'nʌl] (pt & pp annulled, cont annulling) vt LAW to state that  etc no longer legally exists.
- annulment [ə'nʌlmənt] n: see annul □ The couple were granted an annulment by the Pope.
- annum ['ænəm] n per annum each year □ He's paid $22,000 per annum.
- Annunciation [ə,nʌnsi'eɪʃn] n the Annunciation in the Christian religion, the occasion described in the Bible when an angel called Gabriel appears to tell Mary that she will give birth to Jesus Christ.
- anode ['ænəʊd] n the positive part of an electric cell.
- anoint [ə'noɪnt] vt to put oil on  as part of a religious ceremony.
- anomalous [ə'nɒmələs] adj [result, position] that seems different from what is usual (formal use).
- anomaly [ə'nɒməli] (pl anomalies) n something or somebody that is anomalous (formal use) □ Several serious anomalies were found in the contract.
- anon. abbr of anonymous.
- anonymity [ˌænə'nɪmɪti] n: see anonymous □ We try to preserve the anonymity of the winners.
- anonymous [ə'nɒnɪməs] adj -1. [person] whose name is not known □ The author wishes to remain anonymous. -2. [donation, phone call] for which the name of the person responsible is not known □ We've received a number of anonymous letters. -3. [hotel room, city] that has no special or interesting features.
- anonymously [ə'nɒnɪməsli] adv [write, donate] see anonymous.
- anorak ['ænərək] n a short waterproof jacket, usually with a hood.
- anorexia [ˌænə'reksɪə] n anorexia (nervosa) a serious illness, usually affecting young women, in which a person has an obsessive fear of becoming fat and refuses to eat.
- anorexic [ˌænə'reksɪk] ◇ adj [person] who is suffering from anorexia nervosa. ◇ n a person suffering from anorexia nervosa.
- another [ə'nʌðə] det & pron -1. have another drink have one more drink of the same kind as before □ Tina's another relative of mine. □ There's another train due in ten minutes. ■ she smoked one cigarette after another she smoked a lot of cigarettes without stopping □ Her three sons left home, one after another. -2. I'm looking for another job I'm looking for a different or new job □ Let's try it another way. □ We can do that another time. -3. wait another ten minutes wait ten minutes more □ I'll give them another half hour, then I'm going.

AnsaphoneTM [US 'ænsəfoun, GB 'ɑ:nsə-] n = answering machine.

ANSI ['ænsi] (abbr of American National Standards Institute) n a US organization that sets the standards for the design and performance of technical equipment.

answer [US 'ænsr, GB 'ɑ:nsə] ◇ n -1. the words that one says or writes, or the actions that one does as a result of somebody asking a question, sending a letter, making a request etc □ He rang the bell but there was no answer. □ I've been waiting for an answer to my letter. □ She won't take "no" for an answer. □ In answer to your question, no, we do not approve of such tactics. -2. [to a problem] a solution or way of dealing with a problem □ The only answer is to recruit more staff. □ There's no easy answer to the problem. -3. [in an exam] the words that one says or writes as a result of being asked a question in an exam or test □ I got the wrong answer. □ What's the answer to number 15?

◇ vt -1. to give an answer to ; to write in answer to  □ He answered me with a smile. □ I answered her letter immediately. □ She got the job by answering an advertisement in the paper. -2. to answer the door to open the door when somebody knocks or rings □ Don't answer the door to anyone. ■ to answer the phone to pick up the phone when it rings □ Will you answer that? I'm busy.

◇ vi -1. to answer a question, letter, or advertisement □ He asked her again, but she didn't answer. □ I wrote, but they never answered. -2. to answer the door or telephone □ I tried phoning, but nobody answered.

◆ answer back ◇ vt sep to answer sb back to answer sb older or more senior in a rude way □ Don't answer me back when I tell you to do something! ◇ vi: Don't answer back, it's rude.

◆ answer for vt fus -1. to answer for sb to say that sb can be relied on to do something □ I can answer for her ability to do the job. -2. to answer for sthg to explain why sthg bad has happened and suffer for it if necessary □ He'll have to answer for his behavior to me. □ Tina's got a lot to answer for.

answerable [US 'ænsərəbl, GB 'ɑ:ns-] adj to be answerable to sb/sthg [to a superior, organization] to have to explain one's actions to sb/sthg □ Their organization is answerable to the Civil Aviation Authority. ■ to be answerable for sthg [for one's actions, behavior] to be responsible for sthg □ I am not answerable for the behavior of my employees.

answering machine [US 'ænsəriŋ-, GB 'ɑ:ns-] n a machine connected to one's telephone that records messages from people who telephone while one is out.

answerphone [US 'æ:nsəfoun, GB 'ɑ:nsə-] n GB = answering machine.

ant [ænt] n a small insect, often black or brown, that lives in large groups and is thought of as hard-working.

antacid [ænt'æsəd] n a substance used to reduce the amount of acid in one's stomach.

antagonism [æn'tægənɪzəm] n open and strong opposition or hostility □ There is considerable antagonism toward the new tax/between ethnic groups.

antagonist [æn'tægənəst] n a person who is against another person in a contest or fight.

antagonistic [æn'tægə'nɪstɪk] adj [person, behavior, speech] that shows antagonism □ He is extremely antagonistic toward his colleagues.

antagonize, -ise [æn'tægənəɪz] vt to make <sb> feel antagonism toward oneself □ You'll only antagonize them if you keep pestering them like that.

Antarctic [æn'tɑ:'ktɪk]: the Antarctic (Ocean) the sea between the Antarctic Circle and Antarctica.

Antarctica [ænt'ɑ:'ktɪkə] the continent around the South Pole. It is covered with ice and uninhabited except for scientific research stations.

Antarctic Circle: the Antarctic Circle an imaginary circle around the Antarctic region, parallel to the equator at latitude 66° 32' S.

ante ['æntɪ] n to up OR raise the ante to make the amount of money involved in a bet or deal higher (informal use).

anteater ['ænti:tə] n an animal with a long nose that eats ants.

antecedent [æntə'si:dnt] n an event that happens before another event and is similar to, or related to it (formal use).

antelope ['æntəloʊp] (pl antelope OR antelopes) n a graceful animal with long legs and horns that is able to run very fast and lives in Africa or Asia.

antenatal [æntɪ'neɪtl] adj [care, check-up, exercise] for women who are expecting a baby.

antenatal clinic n a clinic for women who are expecting a baby.

antenna [æn'tenə] (pl sense 1 antennae [-ni:], pl sense 2 antennas) n -1. one of the two long thin parts attached to the head of an insect, lobster etc that are used for feeling and touching. -2. US a metal rod for receiving television or radio signals, usually attached to a building, car, or TV set.

anteroom ['æntɪru:m] n a small room that leads to a larger room and is often used as a waiting room.

anthem ['ænthəm] n -1. a song sung by a choir as part of a church service. -2. a song that praises or celebrates something □ a national anthem.

anthill ['ænthɪl] n a mound of earth in which ants live.

anthology [æn'thɒlədʒɪ] (pl anthologies) n a collection of poems, short stories, plays etc by different writers.

Anthony ['æntəni], Susan B. (1820–1906) a US feminist who campaigned for the right of women to have the vote and equal pay.

anthrax ['ænthræks] n a serious infectious disease that affects cattle and sheep and sometimes humans, causing them to have a fever and a swollen throat.

anthropologist [ˌænrəˈpɒlədʒəst] n an expert in anthropology.

anthropology [ˌænrəˈpɒlədʒi] n the study of human society, its origins, beliefs, and culture.

anti- [ˈæntɪ] prefix -1. added to a word to mean opposed to □ anti-smoking. -2. added to a word to mean preventing □ anti-theft.

antiaircraft [US ˌæntiˈeəkræft, GB -ˈeəkrɑːft] adj an antiaircraft gun/missile a gun/missile that is designed to destroy enemy aircraft.

antiballistic missile [ˌæntɪbəlɪstɪk-] n a missile that is designed to destroy ballistic missiles.

antibiotic [ˌæntɪbaɪˈɒtɪk] n a substance such as penicillin that is used in medicine to kill or stop the growth of bacteria □ a course of antibiotics.

antibody [ˌæntɪbɒdi] (pl antibodies) n a substance produced in the blood of a human or animal body that fights disease.

anticipate [æntɪˈsɪpeɪt] vt -1. [event, problem] to expect and be prepared for <sthg> □ We anticipate a fall in share prices. □ She hadn't anticipated having to go abroad/that she would have to go abroad. □ We eagerly anticipate your reply. -2. [competitor, rival] to do something before <sb else> does it □ They anticipated the competition by launching their product first.

anticipation [æntɪˈsɪpeɪʃn] n -1. a feeling of excitement about something that is going to happen soon □ There was much anticipation surrounding the announcement. -2. phrases ■ thanking you in anticipation a formula used at the end of a letter to thank somebody for doing something before they have done it. ■ in anticipation of sthg because one expects sthg to happen □ They raised their prices in anticipation of an increase in inflation.

anticlimax [æntɪˈklaɪmæks] n something that is disappointing because it comes after something more interesting or exciting; something that is not as interesting or exciting as expected □ It was a terrible anticlimax coming home. □ The movie was something of an anticlimax.

anticlockwise [ˌæntɪˈklɒkwaɪz] GB ◇ adj [direction, movement] that is in the opposite direction to the movement of the hands of a clock. ◇ adv: Turn the wheel anticlockwise.
NOTE: Compare clockwise, counterclockwise.

antics [ˈæntɪks] npl behavior that is considered foolish, ridiculous, or funny □ Jerry found the clown's antics hilarious.

anticyclone [ˌæntɪˈsaɪkloun] n an area of high pressure that causes calm weather.

antidepressant [ˌæntɪdɪˈpresnt] n a type of drug used to help people suffering from depression.

antidote [ˌæntɪdɒt] n -1. a substance that stops or controls the effects of a poison □ There is no known antidote to this toxin. -2. something that helps to change or improve a difficult or unpleasant situation □ There is no immediate antidote to stress.

antifreeze [ˌæntɪfriːz] n a substance that is put in a car radiator to prevent the water from freezing in winter.

antihero [ˌæntɪhɪərəʊ] (pl antiheroes) n a main character in a book, movie etc who does not behave in the way a hero is usually expected to behave.

antihistamine [ˌæntɪˈhɪstəmiːn] n a drug used to treat allergies, insect bites, colds etc.

antinuclear [ˌæntɪˈnjuːklɪə] adj an antinuclear demonstration/policy a demonstration/policy that is against nuclear power or weapons.

antipathy [æntɪˈpəθi] n a strong dislike □ There is a growing sense of antipathy between them. □ His antipathy toward or to the peace movement is well-known.

antipersonnel [ˌæntɪpɜːsəˈnel] adj an antipersonnel bomb/mine a bomb/mine that is designed to injure people rather than destroy buildings or equipment.

antiperspirant [ˌæntɪˈpɜːspərənt] n a substance that is put on the skin, especially under the arms, to help stop sweating.

Antipodean [æntɪˈpəːdiːən] n & adj: see Antipodes.

Antipodes [æntɪˈpəːdiːz]: the Antipodes Australia and New Zealand (formal or humorous use).

antiquarian [ˌæntɪˈkwɛəriən] ◇ adj that deals in antiques or rare books □ an antiquarian bookshop. ◇ n a person who studies, collects, or deals in antiques.

antiquated [ˌæntɪˈkwetəd] adj [machine, law, method] that seems old-fashioned and out-of-date.

antique [æntɪˈkiːk] ◇ adj [furniture, object] that is very old, rare, and often valuable. ◇ n an antique object.

antique dealer n a person who buys and sells antiques.

antique shop n a shop that sells antiques.

antiquity [æntɪˈkwɛrɪti] (pl antiquities) n -1. the distant past, especially the time before the end of the Roman Empire □ one of the most famous rulers of antiquity. -2. an object, building etc that has survived from the distant past □ a museum of antiquities.

anti-Semitic [-səˈmɪtɪk] adj [person, attitude] that shows a strong and unreasonable dislike of Jewish people.

anti-Semitism [-ˈsemətɪzəm] n anti-Semitic beliefs or attitudes.

antiseptic [ˌæntɪˈseptɪk] ◇ n a substance that destroys harmful bacteria and is put on cuts, wounds etc to prevent disease or infection. ◇ adj: antiseptic cream/ointment.

antisocial [ˌæntɪˈsəʊʃl] adj -1. [habit, behavior] that annoys or upsets other people □ It's very antisocial to smoke during a meal. -2. [person] who does not like being with other people □ I'm not being antisocial, but I'd rather stay at home. -3. [job, working hours] that makes a normal social life difficult □ Staff are paid extra for working antisocial hours.

antistatic [ˌæntɪˈstætɪk] adj [device, substance, material] that is designed to prevent static electricity from gathering on a surface.

antitank [ˌæntɪ'tæŋk] adj an antitank weapon/missile a weapon/missile that is designed to destroy tanks.

antithesis [æntɪ'thɪsɪs] (pl antitheses [-əsɪz]) n the exact opposite □ He's the complete antithesis of the average stockbroker.

antitrust laws [ˌæntɪ'trʌst-] npl in the USA, a set of laws that aim to prevent large companies from controlling all of the market for their products or services.

antlers [ˈæntləʳz] npl the pair of horns on a male deer's head.

antonym [ˈæntənɪm] n a word or phrase that has the opposite meaning to another word or phrase □ "Hard" is the antonym of "soft".

NOTE: Compare synonym.

anus [ˈeɪnəs] n the opening in the lower part of the body through which waste leaves the bowels.

anvil [ˈænvəl] n a solid iron block on which metal is hammered into shape.

anxiety [æŋ'zaɪəti] (pl anxieties) n -1. a feeling of concern or worry, usually caused by the fear that something bad might happen □ It's a source of constant anxiety to him. □ an anxiety attack. -2. a cause or source of anxiety □ Her son is a great anxiety to her. -3. an eager desire to do something □ In her anxiety to please, she asked them to stay for dinner.

anxious [ˈæŋkʃəs] adj -1. [person, look, smile] that is filled with anxiety □ She's very anxious about losing her job. -2. [moment, time] that causes anxiety □ I had an anxious week waiting for the results. -3. to be anxious that... to want a particular thing to happen very much □ He was anxious that they should fully understand what was involved. ■ to be anxious to do sthg to want to do sthg very much □ She was too anxious to please.

anxiously [ˈæŋkʃəslɪ] adv [look, say] with anxiety.

any [ˈeni] ◇ det -1. I don't have any friends/money I have no friends/money (used in negative sentences) □ He never does any work. □ I changed the battery but it didn't do any good. -2. do you have any witnesses/proof? do you have some witnesses/proof? (used in questions, and clauses starting with "if" or "whether") □ Are there any sandwiches left? □ She asked me whether any letters/mail had arrived. □ If you had any sense, you'd say no. -3. you can choose any number you like it is not important which number you choose □ If you have any other books by her, please let me know. □ Call me any time.

◇ pron -1. I don't have any I have none (used in negative sentences) □ I didn't know any of the guests/poetry. □ She had lots of friends/money and I didn't have any. -2. do you have any? do you have some? (used in questions, and clauses beginning with "if" or "whether") □ Did any of them offer to help? □ If you find any, let me know. ■ if any and perhaps none □ Few foreign films, if any, are successful in America. ■ take any you like it is not important which you take □ Any of our staff will be able to tell you.

◇ adv -1. used for emphasis in negative sentences □ I can't stand it any longer. -2. used for emphasis in questions, and clauses starting with "if" or "whether" □ Do you want any more potatoes? □ Tell me if this looks any better.

anybody [ˈeni'bɒdi] pron -1. I didn't see anybody I saw no person (used in negative sentences) □ There wasn't anybody else there when I arrived. □ Don't tell anybody. -2. can anybody help me? can any person help me? (used in questions, and clauses starting with "if" or "whether") □ Would anybody else like a drink? □ If anybody asks for me, tell them I'm busy. -3. anybody can learn French most people can learn French.

anyhow [ˈenihaʊ] adv -1. in a careless or untidy way □ She threw her things down just anyhow. -2. = anyway.

anymore [ˌeni'mɔːr] adv US not...anymore no longer □ They are not clients of ours anymore. □ I've lent her money in the past. Not anymore!

anyone [ˈeniwʌn] pron = anybody.

anyplace [ˈeniplɛɪs] adv US = anywhere (informal use).

anything [ˈeniθɪŋ] pron -1. I don't want anything I want nothing (used in negative sentences) □ You can't believe anything he says. -2. do you have anything to say? is there something you want to say? (used in questions, and clauses starting with "if" or "whether") □ Is there anything to eat? □ If anything happens, call me immediately. -3. take anything you want take whatever you want □ I'll do anything you ask.

◆ anything but adv exactly the opposite □ He wasn't very friendly — anything but.

anyway [ˈeniwei] adv -1. used when explaining why a previous statement is not important □ I was very tired, but I went along anyway. □ Don't worry about losing that: it didn't work anyway. -2. used to limit a statement to what is definitely true □ It's all done now, well, most of it, anyway. -3. used to show that you want to change the subject of a conversation or to return to a previous subject □ Anyway, at least you're OK now. □ Anyway, there I was at the station... -4. used to show that you want to end a conversation □ Anyway, I have to go now.

anywhere [ˈeniweə] adv -1. I haven't seen it anywhere I haven't seen it in any place (used in negative sentences) □ We haven't been anywhere exciting for years. -2. have you seen my keys anywhere? have you seen my keys in any place? (used in questions, and clauses starting with "if" or "whether") □ Did you go anywhere yesterday? ■ sit anywhere you like sit in any place you like. -3. anywhere between one and ten OR from one to ten some number between one and ten.

Anzac [ˈænzæk] (abbr of Australia-New Zealand Army Corps) n a soldier from Australia or New Zealand during World War I.

Anzac Day n a public holiday in Australia and New Zealand on April 25 in memory of the Anzacs' landing in Gallipoli in 1915.

🍷 ANZAC DAY

April 25, 1915 was the date in World War I when the Anzacs landed at Gallipoli in Turkey. Although they failed to capture the area for the Allies, they fought bravely, and over 8,000 of them were killed. This was the first international event that gave Australians a sense of national identity, and the memory of it still makes Australians feel proud and patriotic.

AOB, a.o.b. (abbr of any other business) n GB anything that needs to be discussed at a meeting that is not written in the list of subjects to be discussed.

Apache [ə'pætʃɪ] n a member of a Native American people who live mainly in the southwestern USA; the language of this people.

apart [ə'pɑ:t] adv -1. to be apart to be some distance away from sb/sthg and separated from them □ The houses were only a few yards apart (from each other). □ She and her husband are now living apart. ■ a week apart with a week between □ The weddings took place a couple of months apart. -2. to come apart to break into several pieces □ The clock came apart in my hands. □ Our marriage is falling apart. ■ to take sthg apart to undo the parts of sthg carefully so that it is in pieces. -3. joking apart if we stop joking now and consider the matter seriously □ Joking apart, you must get a decent haircut.

◆ apart from prep -1. everyone agreed, apart from Bob Bob was the only person who did not agree □ Apart from that, everything's fine! -2. apart from sports, I like reading as well as sports, I like reading □ Quite apart from the fact that it's expensive, it's the wrong size.

apartheid [ə'pɑ:'teɪt] n until 1994, the official government policy in South Africa that kept people of different races separate in order to favor white people.

apartment [ə'pɑ:'tmənt] n -1. a place to live that consists of a set of rooms inside a larger building and includes a kitchen, a bathroom, and bedrooms □ an apartment block. -2. a large and usually grand room inside an important building □ the royal apartments.

apartment building n a large building that contains a lot of apartments.

apathetic [ˌæpə'θetɪk] adj [person, attitude] that shows little interest or enthusiasm.

apathy [ˌæpəθi] n lack of interest or enthusiasm □ The election result reflected voters' apathy. □ It was hard to shake him out of his apathy.

APB (abbr of all points bulletin) n US a police radio message that is broadcast to all the police in an area, and usually concerns a wanted person.

ape [eɪp] ◇ n a large animal similar to a monkey, such as a gorilla or chimpanzee. ◇ vt [person, behavior] to imitate <sb/sthg>, especially in an unsuccessful or ridiculous way □ Daniel is always aping his older brothers.

APEC ['eɪpek] (abbr of Asia-Pacific Economic Co- operation) n an organization whose members include the countries of East and Southeast Asia, the USA, and Canada. It was set up to encourage economic links in the Pacific region and aims to establish a free-trade area by 2020.

aperitif [ə'pɛrə'tɪf] n an alcoholic drink that is drunk before a meal.

aperture ['æpə'tʃə] n -1. a small narrow hole or opening (formal use). -2. PHOTOGRAPHY the opening in a camera or telescope through which light passes.

apex ['eɪpeks] (pl apexes OR apices) n -1. MATH the top point of a triangle, pyramid etc. -2. the most successful part of something, e.g. somebody's career.

APEX ['eɪpeks] (abbr of advance purchase excursion) n GB a reduced-price airline or rail fare that has to be bought a certain number of days before one travels □ I got an APEX (ticket) to New York for £100.

aphid ['eɪfəd] n a small insect that feeds off the juice of plants.

aphorism [ˌæfə'rɪzəm] n a short statement that expresses a generally accepted idea in an amusing way.

aphrodisiac [ˌæfrə'dɪzɪæk] n a food, drug etc that makes somebody sexually excited.

apices ['eɪpɪsɪz] plural of apex.

apiece [ə'pi:ɪs] adv each □ They cost $10 apiece.

aplomb [ə'plɒm] n to do sthg with aplomb to do sthg well in a relaxed and confident way, especially in difficult circumstances □ She delivered the talk with great aplomb.

APO n abbr of Army Post Office.

apocalypse [ə'pɒkə'lɪps] n an event of great violence or destruction; the end of the world.

apocalyptic [ə'pɒkə'lɪptɪk] adj [vision, warning] that is concerned with future violence or destruction.

apogee [ˌæpədʒi:] n [of somebody's career, success] the highest point (formal use).

apolitical [ˌeɪpə'lɪtɪkəl] adj [person] who is not interested in politics; [stance, attitude] that does not favor any political party.

apologetic [ə,pɒlə'dʒetɪk] adj [letter, tone] that expresses regret for something that has been done, said etc □ He was very apologetic about the noise.

apologetically [ə,pɒlə'dʒetɪkəlɪ] adv [smile, answer] see apologetic □ "I hope I'm not boring you," he said apologetically.

apologize, -ise [ə'pɒlədʒaɪz] vi to say that one is sorry for something that has been done, said etc □ He never apologized for his behavior. □ I must apologize to you for the other evening.

apology [ə'pɒlədʒɪ] (pl apologies) n a statement that expresses regret for something that has been done, said etc □ Please accept our apologies for any inconvenience caused. □ I owe you an apology. □ a letter of apology.

apoplectic [ˌæpə'plektɪk] adj [person] who is very angry (informal use) □ Matthew was apoplectic with rage when he found out.

apoplexy ['æpəpleksi] n a stroke (old-fashioned use).

apostle [ə'pɒsl] n one of the 12 followers of Christ chosen to spread his message.

apostrophe [ə'pɒstrəfi] n a symbol (') used to indicate that one or more letters or numbers is missing in a word or series of numbers; this symbol when used to form the possessive in English.

appal vt GB = appall.

Appalachian [ˌæpə'leɪtʃiən]: the Appalachians, the Appalachian Mountains a mountain range in eastern North America. HIGHEST POINT: 2,037 m. appall US, appal GB [ə'pɔ:l] (pt & pp appalled, cont appalling) vt to make <sb> very shocked and disgusted □ Their lack of sensitivity appalled me.

appalled [ə'pɔ:lɪd] adj [person, silence] that feels or shows shock and disgust □ Everybody was appalled at the way things were hushed up.

appalling [ə'pɔ:lɪŋ] adj -1. [cruelty, conditions, waste] that one finds shocking and wrong □ What an appalling thing to say! -2. [movie, joke, taste] that is very bad □ He's an appalling judge of character.

appallingly [ə'pɔ:lɪŋli] adv -1. appallingly slow/late etc very slow/late etc □ The service was appallingly slow. -2. [behave, perform, sing] very badly.

apparatus [US ˌæpə'rætəs, GB -'reɪtəs] (pl apparatus OR apparatuses) n -1. [for an activity] a set of equipment, instruments, tools etc used for a particular purpose □ breathing apparatus □ a piece of apparatus. -2. [of an organization] the complex structure of an organization □ the apparatus of government.

apparel [US ə'perl, GB ə'pærɪ] n clothing □ 'Ladies' apparel, 4th floor.'

apparent [US ə'perənt, GB -'pær-] adj -1. to be/become apparent to be/become obvious □ It soon became apparent that no further progress would be made. ■ for no apparent reason for a reason that is not obvious □ They left for no apparent reason. -2. [interest, success, improvement] that seems to exist □ He showed an apparent lack of concern for their feelings.

apparently [US ə'perəntli, GB -'pær-] adv -1. apparently,... a word used to introduce information that one has heard but is not certain about □ Apparently, Sandy and Clive have split up. □ I couldn't go to the meeting but apparently it was quite exciting. □ "Has he been invited?"— "Apparently not." -2. apparently well/happy etc seeming to be well/happy etc, but not necessarily so □ Although apparently in control, she was finding the pressure hard to deal with.

apparition [ˌæpə'rɪʃn] n a ghost (formal use).

appeal [ə'pi:l] ◇ vi -1. to appeal for sthg [for help, food, understanding] to make a serious or urgent request for sthg □ The police are appealing for witnesses. □ They appealed to the public for assistance. -2. LAW to ask a court to change a decision, sentence etc □ They're going to appeal against the verdict. -3. [idea, suggestion, person] to be attractive or interesting

□ This type of humor doesn't really appeal to me.
□ The band is hoping to appeal to a wider audience.

◇ vt US LAW to ask a court to change  □ I intend to appeal the sentence.

◇ n -1. [for help, money, support] a serious or urgent request □ She made OR launched an appeal on behalf of the victims. -2. LAW a formal request to a court asking for a decision, sentence etc to be changed □ Their appeal for a retrial was rejected. -3. [for somebody] the characteristic of an idea, suggestion, person etc that makes them attractive or interesting □ Traveling has lost its appeal for me.

◆ appeal to vt fus to appeal to sb to use reasons or arguments that are intended to make <sb's sense of honor, common sense> etc influence their behavior or thinking □ They appealed to his sense of decency.

Appeal Court n = Court of Appeal.

appealing [ə'pi:lɪŋ] adj [idea, person] attractive or interesting □ I don't find the thought of two weeks in a tent particularly appealing.

appear [ə'piə] vi -1. [person, animal, object] to become visible; to arrive, especially suddenly and unexpectedly □ He appeared in the doorway. -2. [book, article] to be published; [product] to become available □ The novel has just appeared in paperback. □ Their new range appeared last year. -3. to appear (to be) normal/finished etc to give the impression of being normal/finished etc □ She appeared (to be) quite happy with the results. □ There appears to have been a misunderstanding. □ These reports appear to contradict each other. ■ it appears (that)..., it would appear (that)... a phrase used to introduce information that one has heard but is not certain about □ It now appears that the operation may not be necessary after all. □ It would appear that our offer has been rejected. -4. THEATER & CINEMA [actor] to perform in a play, movie etc □ Her husband is currently appearing in a musical. -5. to appear before OR at sthg [before a court, hearing, enquiry] to go to sthg as a witness or as somebody who is accused of doing something wrong □ He will have to appear before a military tribunal. □ Weston is due to appear in court next Monday.

appearance [ə'piərəns] n -1. [of a person, of something new] see appear □ The appearance of our new range of products has caused a lot of excitement. □ Tenants were alarmed at the appearance of cracks in the outside wall. ■ to make an appearance to appear in public, usually at an organized event □ The President made a personal appearance. ■ to put in an appearance to go to a party, meeting etc but only stay for a short time. -2. [of a person, thing] the way a person, place, or thing looks to other people □ We need to improve the appearance of our upmarket range. □ Scott worries too much about his appearance. □ She certainly doesn't give the appearance of being stressed. ■ to keep up appearances to continue to live or behave in a way that other people expect in order to hide the fact that one's situation has become worse. -3. [of an actor] see appear □ This was his first appearance on Australian television.

◆ by all appearances, to all appearances adv a phrase used to introduce information that seems to be true, based on what can be seen or on what one knows □ By all appearances, they're pleased with the results.

appease [ə'pi:z] vt to make <sb> calm by giving them what they want □ It is unlikely that the Opposition will be appeased by what is essentially a compromise.

appeasement [ə'pi:zmənt] n -1. [of person] see appease. -2. POLITICS the act or policy of giving one's enemies what they want in order to avoid a dispute, war etc □ He was convinced appeasement would never work.

append [ə'pend] vt [note, signature, glossary] to add <sthg> to the end of a piece of writing (formal use) □ I have appended a short bibliography to the article.

appendage [ə'pendidʒ] n something that is added on or joined to something more important.

appendices [ə'pendisiz] plural of appendix.

appendicitis [ə'pendə'saitəs] n a medical condition in which the appendix becomes infected and usually has to be removed.

appendix [ə'pendiks] (pl appendixes OR appendices) n -1. MEDICINE a small part of the bowel that has little or no use. ■ to have one's appendix out OR removed to have one's appendix removed by an operation. -2. [of a book] additional information shown at the end of a book, after the main text □ All tables are contained in an appendix.

appertain [ˌæpə'teɪn] vi to appertain to sb/sthg to be connected with sb/sthg (formal use) □ matters appertaining to public health.

appetite [ˌæpə'taɪt] n -1. [for food] a desire for food □ I've lost my appetite. □ a healthy appetite □ That walk has really given me an appetite. -2. [for life, an activity] enthusiasm that somebody has for a particular subject, activity etc □ He's lost his appetite for politics.

appetizer, -iser [ˌæpə'taɪzə] n something that one eats or drinks before the main part of a meal.

appetizing, -ising [ˌæpə'taɪzɪŋ] adj [food, smell] that increases one's appetite □ That fish doesn't look very appetizing to me.

applaud [ə'plɔ:d] ◇ vt -1. [actor, play, speech] to show approval of <sb/sthg> by clapping one's hands □ The audience warmly applauded his performance. -2. [decision, action] to approve of <sthg> very much □ Their recommendations have been applauded by observers on both sides. ◇ vi: The audience applauded enthusiastically.

applause [ə'plɔ:z] n -1. THEATER [for a performer, performance] a sign of approval made by an audience clapping their hands □ The speaker was greeted with enthusiastic applause. -2. [for an idea, action] praise given to an idea, decision, action etc □ His suggestions received general applause from his colleagues.

apple [ˈæpl] n -1. a hard round fruit that has green, red, or yellow skin and a white juicy part inside that can be eaten raw or cooked □ apple juice. -2. phrase to be the apple of sb's eye to be the person that sb loves very much and is especially proud of.

apple pie n a sweet pie made with apples. ■ as American as apple pie typically American.

apple tree n a tree that produces apples.

appliance [ə'plaɪəns] n a machine or device that is usually used in the home and is powered by gas or electricity, e.g. a washing machine.

applicable [ə'plɪkəbl] adj [rule, question] that is of interest, importance etc to a particular person, situation etc □ 'Delete where not applicable.' □ This rule is only applicable to members.

applicant [ˌæplɪkənt] n a person who applies for membership, a job, a grant etc.

application [ˌæplɪ'keɪʃn] n -1. [for membership, a job, grant] a formal request for something, usually in writing, that is made to an organization, institution etc □ Her application was turned down. □ We have received over 2,000 applications for the job. -2. [of a device, machine] a practical use □ The machine has various applications. -3. [of a person] hard work and concentration □ The task requires a certain amount of application. -4. COMPUTING an application (package) a computer program that is written to carry out a specific task, e.g. word processing. -5. [of knowledge, skill, a lotion] see apply □ I'm not convinced this research will have any practical application. □ 'For external application only.'

application form n a form used for making an application for something such as a job.

applicator [ˌæplɪkeɪtə] n an object that is used for applying lotion, paint, glue etc.

applied [ə'plaɪd] adj [art, linguistics, science] that is used for a practical purpose.

appliqué [US ˌæplə'keɪ, GB ə'pli:keɪ] n a type of decorative needlework that consists of pieces of material sewn or stuck onto a larger piece □ designer jeans with appliqués on them.

apply [ə'plai] (vt & pp applied) ◇ vt -1. [knowledge, skill, rule] to use <sthg> in a particular situation □ Sadly, Tony never applied the principle to his own life. ■ to apply oneself OR one's mind to work hard □ Ben must learn to apply himself in class. -2. [lotion, paint, glue] to spread  on the surface of something □ Apply the ointment to the infected area. -3. AUTO to operate  □ 'Apply handbrake and leave car in gear.' -4. [pressure, force, heat] to use <sthg> to change something else.

◇ vi -1. [person] to make a formal request, usually in writing, for membership, a job, grant etc □ I didn't actually apply for this post. □ She applied to the Julliard School for a scholarship. -2. [rule, question] to be of interest, importance etc to a particular person or situation □ None of what I said applies to you. □ Do these conditions still apply?

appoint [ə'pɔɪnt] vt -1. [applicant] to choose <sb> for a job, position etc □ She was appointed to the post of director. □ He has been ap- pointed as head of finance. -2. to appoint a time/place to decide when/where something will happen (formal use) □ We met on the appointed day.

appointment [ə'pɔɪntmənt] n -1. [of an applicant] see appoint □ Crane's appointment to the post comes as a surprise to everybody. ■ 'by appointment to Her Majesty the Queen' a phrase used on labels, packaging etc by companies who supply products to the British Royal Family. -2. [in a company] a job or position; a person chosen for a particular job or position □ This top-level appointment carries a competitive salary. □ the appointments page in the newspaper. -3. [with one's doctor, client, lawyer] an arranged meeting □ a doctor's/dentist's appointment □ Do you have an appointment? □ I'd like to make an appointment with Mr White, please. □ He sees clients by appointment only.

Appomattox [ˌæpə'mætɒks] a town in Virginia, USA, where on April 9 1865, Robert E. Lee surrendered to Ulysses S. Grant, ending the American Civil War.

apportion [ə'pɔ:ʃn] vt [money, praise, blame] to divide <sthg> between a number of people in the way that one thinks is suitable □ The Committee will not seek to apportion blame.

opposite [ˈæpəzət] adj [comment, intervention] that comes at a suitable time (formal use).

appraisal [ə'preɪzl] n [of a person, situation] a statement, report, or interview in which somebody or something is appraised.

appraise [ə'preɪz] vt [person, performance, situation] to judge the quality, value, importance etc of <sb/sthg> (formal use).

appreciable [ə'pri:ʃəbl] adj [amount, difference, increase] large enough to be clearly noticed.

appreciably [ə'pri:ʃəblɪ] adv appreciably smaller/warmer smaller/warmer in a way that is easily noticed □ Sales have fallen appreciably.

appreciate [ə'pri:ʃeɪt] ◇ vt -1. [help, advice, cooperation] to be grateful for <sthg that is done or given by somebody else> □ I would appreciate a prompt reply. □ Thanks, I'd appreciate that. ■ I'd/we'd etc appreciate it if... a phrase used to introduce a request □ I'd appreciate it if you didn't repeat any of this. -2. [food, music, art] to understand and enjoy the qualities of <sthg> □ Richard appreciates good wine. -3. [problem, situation, difficulty] to understand the importance or nature of <sthg> □ Are you sure you appreciate the risks involved? □ I appreciate your concern, but unfortunately there's nothing we can do at this stage.

◇ vi [property, jewelry, currency] to increase in value over a period of time.

appreciation [ə,prɪ:'ʃi:ɪʃn] n -1. [of somebody's help, advice, cooperation] a feeling of gratitude for something that somebody else has done or given □ Please accept this gift as a token of my appreciation. -2. [of food, music, art] the enjoyment of something whose qualities one understands □ They showed their appreciation by giving her a standing ovation. -3. [of a problem, situation, difficulty] the ability to understand the importance or nature of something □ We were impressed by his appreciation of the key issues. -4. [of property, jewelry, a currency] an increase in value over a period of time □ an appreciation of 25%. -5. [of a novel, play] a discussion, often in writing, about the qualities of a novel, play, writer etc.

appreciative [ə'pri:ʃətɪv] adj [audience, remark, gesture] that shows approval or gratitude □ They are always very appreciative of his cooking.

apprehend [ˌæprɪ'hend] vt to arrest  (formal use).

apprehension [ˌæprɪ'hensɪn] n feelings of worry about a future event □ The prospect of a confrontation filled him with apprehension.

apprehensive [ˌæprɪ'hensɪv] adj [person, expression] that shows feelings of worry about a future event □ He was feeling rather apprehensive about the interview.

apprehensively [ˌæprɪ'hensɪvlɪ] adv [wait, enter, speak] see apprehensive □ "And what about me?" he asked apprehensively.

apprentice [ə'prentɪs] ◇ n a person who is learning a trade or craft by working with somebody who is skilled in that trade or craft □ an electrician's apprentice □ an apprentice draughtsman. ◇ vt to be apprenticed to sb to work as an apprentice for sb.

apprenticeship [ə'prentəsɪp] n the period of time spent working as an apprentice; the state of being an apprentice □ I served my apprenticeship as a carpenter.

approach [ə'prəʊtʃ] ◇ n -1. [to a place] a road or path that leads to a building, town etc □ All approaches to the city were flooded. -2. [in space] the act of moving nearer to an object or place □ Ladies and gentlemen, we are beginning our approach to Houston International Airport. -3. [in time] the process of becoming closer in time □ the approach of spring. -4. [to a problem] a way of doing something □ Let's try a different approach. -5. [to a person] a request, offer, or suggestion made for the first time □ He's had an approach from a rival company. ■ to make approaches OR an approach to speak to somebody in order to make a request, offer, suggestion etc for the first time □ We have made an approach to our suppliers.

◇ vt -1. [city, building, border] to move nearer to  □ We'll be approaching Paris from the south. -2. [date, event] to move nearer in time □ He's approaching retirement. -3. [manager, company] to speak to <sb> about a job, deal etc for the first time □ I've been approached about a transfer. □ They approached her about giving a talk. -4. [problem, subject, issue] to decide to deal with  in a particular way □ That's not the way to approach it. -5. [level, age, maturity] to almost reach  □ He must be approaching 50 by now. □ The work doesn't even begin to approach our standards.

◇ vi [person, vehicle, event] to move nearer.

approachable [ə'prəʊtʃəbl] adj [person] who is easy to talk to.

approaching [ə'prəʊtʃɪŋ] adj [person, vehicle, event] that is becoming closer in distance or time □ We looked for shelter from the approaching storm. □ the sound of an approaching train.

approbation [ˌæprəˈbeɪʃn] n praise or approval (formal use).

appropriate [ədˈprɔʊəriət, vb əˈprɔʊəriət] ◇ adj [clothing, word, moment] that is suitable or correct for a particular occasion □ They took the appropriate steps. □ the level of contribution appropriate for or to each country □ His remarks were hardly appropriate for the occasion.
 ◇ vt -1. LAW to take <money, funds> etc for one's own use, especially illegally. -2. BUSINESS to decide to use <money, funds> etc for a particular purpose □ $5 billion has been appropriated for the relief work.

appropriately [ədˈprɔʊəriətli] adv [dress, behave] in a suitable or correct way □ The restaurant is appropriately named "Foodies".

appropriation [əˌprɔʊəriˈeɪʃn] n: see appropriate.

approval [əˈpruːvəl] n -1. [of a person, decision, action] a favorable opinion about somebody or something □ a gesture of approval □ The Senator's approval rating has slumped. ■ to meet with sb's approval to be accepted by sb as correct, good, or suitable □ Does the report meet with your approval? -2. [of a plan, proposal, agreement] official acceptance □ We're still waiting for the chairman's approval. ■ to buy sthg on approval [product, goods] to buy sthg and be able to return it without paying if it is not satisfactory.

approve [əˈpruːv] ◇ vi to think that a person, decision, action etc is right, good, or suitable □ We're going ahead with the wedding even though my family doesn't approve. □ Her parents don't approve of her leaving college. ◇ vt [plan, proposal] to officially accept <sthg> □ We'll have to get it approved by head office. □ a strategy approved by the authorities.

approved [əˈpruːvd] adj [method, practice] that has become accepted by many people.

approved school n GB = community home.

approving [əˈpruːvɪŋ] adj [look, comment, gesture] that shows support or agreement □ Ma gave us an approving wink.

approx. abbr of approximately.

approximate [ədˈprɒksɪmət, vb əˈprɒksɪmeɪt] ◇ adj [number, time, distance] that is almost exact, but not completely □ Could you give me an approximate idea of when you'll be arriving?
 ◇ vi to approximate to sthg [to an amount, size] to be close to sthg, but not the same □ These figures approximate to our earlier estimates.

approximately [ədˈprɒksɪmətli] adv [calculate, draw, measure] in a way that is almost exact, but not completely □ We're approximately half-way through the project.

approximation [əˌprɒksɪˈmeɪʃn] n [of a number, time, distance] an approximate calculation.

Apr. abbr of April.

APR (abbr of annual percentage rate) n the APR the interest rate payable by somebody borrowing money or buying something on credit. It includes the interest that is calculated on the original sum, and on unpaid interest, fees, and charges.

après-ski [US ˌɑːpreɪ-, GB ˌæpreɪ-] n the entertainment at the end of a day of skiing in a resort □ après-ski entertainment.

apricot [ˈeɪprɪkət] n -1. a small round fruit with soft juicy flesh and a yellow or orange furry skin □ apricot tart. -2. the color of apricots □ white with a hint of apricot.

April [ˈeɪprəl] n the fourth month of the year in the Western calendar; see also February.

April Fools' Day n April 1, when it is traditional to play tricks on people, who are then called April Fools.

🍷 APRIL FOOLS' DAY

On April Fools' Day in Britain and Australia, it is traditional to play tricks on people to make them believe something that is not true, e.g. that the Prime Minister has just resigned. Even the most serious newspapers and radio and television programs give false news stories on April 1. In the USA people also play practical jokes, such as secretly attaching a sign to somebody's back that says "Kick me".

apron [ˈeɪprən] n -1. COOKING a piece of clothing that is tied around the waist and is worn over one's normal clothes while cooking in order to stop them from getting dirty. ■ to be tied to sb's apron strings to be under sb's control □ He's still very much tied to his mother's apron strings. -2. [at an airport] an area where airplanes are parked.

apropos [ˈæprəpəʊ] adj [comment, criticism] relevant.

◆ apropos of prep a phrase used to introduce a subject that is connected with the one being discussed (formal use) □ Apropos of what we were talking about earlier...

apt [æpt] adj -1. [description, remark] that is suitable □ Your comments were most apt. -2. to be apt to do sthg to be likely to do sthg, especially because of having a particular tendency □ He is apt to get flustered when under pressure. -3. an apt pupil/student a pupil/student who learns quickly.

apt. abbr of apartment.

aptitude [ˈæptɪtjuːd] n a natural ability to learn something quickly □ He has a real aptitude for languages.

aptitude test n a test to measure a person's ability to do a specific task.

aptly [ˈæptli] adv [describe, remark] see apt □ As you so aptly pointed out...

aqualung [US ˈɑːkwəlŋ, GB ˈæk-] n a container of air worn by divers on their backs for breathing underwater.

aquamarine [US ˌɑːkwəməˈriːn, GB ˈæk-] n a greenish-blue color.

aquaplane [US ˌɑːkwəpleɪn, GB ˈæk-] vi GB [car, truck] to slide out of control on a wet road surface.

aquarium [əˈkwɛəriəm] (pl aquariums OR aquaria [-riə]) n -1. a glass tank full of water in which fish or other animals that live in

- water are kept. -2. a building, usually part of a zoo, with several aquariums.
- Aquarius [ə'kwɛəriəs] n a sign of the zodiac, often represented by a man pouring water; a person born under this sign between January 21 and February 19.
- aquatic [US ə'kwɑ:tɪk, GB ə'kwætɪk] adj -1. [animal, plant] that lives in water. -2. [sport, environment] that is connected with water.
- aqueduct ['ækwədʌkt] n a bridge that carries water across a valley.
- Aquinas [ə'kwɪnəs], St. Thomas (1225–1274) an Italian philosopher who wrote about religion and was very important in the development of Catholicism.
- AR abbr of Arkansas.
- ARA (abbr of Associate of the Royal Academy) n GB a member of the Royal Academy.
- Arab ['ærəb] ◇ n -1. a person who comes from Arabia. -2. a person who comes from the Middle East or North Africa. ◇ adj: an Arab horse □ the Arab world.
- Arabia [ə'reɪbjə] a large peninsula between the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf that includes Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Oman, and the United Arab Emirates.
- Arabian Peninsula [ə'reɪbjən] = Arabia.
- Arabian Sea n the Arabian Sea the north-western part of the Indian Ocean, between Arabia and India.
- Arabic ['ærəbɪk] n a language spoken in Arabia, North Africa, and the Middle East.
- Arabic numeral n a sign used to represent a number, e.g. 1, 2, or 3 that is different than a Roman numeral, e.g. I, II, or III.
- arable ['ærəbl] adj [land, area, farming] that is used for, suitable for, or connected with growing crops □ Much of the land is given over to arable farming.
- Arab League n the Arab League an association of Arab countries established in 1945.
- arbiter ['ɑ:bɪtə] n a person who arbitrates in a dispute (formal use) □ an independent arbiter.
- arbitrage ['ɑ:bɪtrɑ:ʒ] n FINANCE the buying and selling of shares, currency etc in two different markets at almost the same time, in order to make a profit from differences in price.
- arbitrary [US 'ɑ:rbɪtrəri, GB 'ɑ:brɪəri] adj [attack, arrest, choice] that is made for no particular reason and is therefore often unfair □ Many art galleries have complained that withdrawal of funding has been completely arbitrary.
- arbitrate ['ɑ:bɪtreɪt] vi to act as a judge in order to settle a dispute without going to court □ France has offered to arbitrate in the dispute.
- arbitration [ɑ:'brɪtreɪʃn] n a way of settling a dispute that uses somebody official who is not involved to judge it, and whose decision both sides have agreed they will accept. ■ to go to arbitration to ask somebody to settle a dispute by arbitration.
- Arbor Day ['ɑ:bə'deɪ] n a special day each year in the USA, New Zealand, and parts of Canada and Australia when people plant trees.
- arc [ɑ:k] n a curved line, e.g. part of a circle □ Spread the seeds in a wide arc.
- ARC [ɑ:k] (abbr of AIDS-related complex) n a set of symptoms found in people who are HIV-positive, e.g. high temperature or weight loss.
- arcade [ɑ:'keɪd] n -1. [with shops] a covered passage, often between two streets, with shops on either side. -2. ARCHITECTURE a set of arches and pillars along the side of a building.
- arch [ɑ:tʃ] ◇ n -1. ARCHITECTURE a curved structure that forms an opening in a building or supports a bridge or roof. -2. ANATOMY the raised part of one's foot between one's toes and one's heel. ◇ vt [back, eyebrow] to move  into a curved shape. ◇ vi [back, eyebrow] to form a curved shape; [rocket, missile] to move in a curved line.
- arch- prefix added to a word to show it is the greatest and most important of its kind □ her arch-rival □ an arch-criminal.
- archaeology etc [ɑ:'ki:ələdʒɪ] = archeology etc.
- archaic [ɑ:'keɪk] adj [language, custom, practice] that is very old-fashioned and no longer used.
- archangel ['ɑ:'keɪndʒəl] n an angel of the highest rank.
- archbishop [ɑ:tʃ'bɪʃəp] n a bishop of the highest rank. ■ the Archbishop of Canterbury the person who governs the Church of England. ■ the Archbishop of Westminster the person who governs the Roman Catholic Church in Britain.
- archduchess [ɑ:tʃ'dʌtʃəs] n a duchess of the highest rank.
- archduke [ɑ:tʃ'dju:k] n a duke of the highest rank.
- arched [ɑ:tʃt] adj [roof, doorway, window] that has an arch; [back] that is curved.
- archenemy [ɑ:tʃ'enəmi] (pl archenemies) n the greatest enemy of a country, hero etc.
- archeological [ɑ:'ki:ələdʒɪkl] adj [excavation, research] see archeology.
- archeologist [ɑ:'ki:ələdʒəst] n a person who studies archeology.
- archeology [ɑ:'ki:ələdʒɪ] n the study of the remains of past societies, e.g. the buildings and the objects they made, by digging them out of the ground.
- archer ['ɑ:tʃə] n a person, especially a soldier, who is trained to use a bow and arrow.
- archery ['ɑ:tʃəri] n the sport, skill, or practice of shooting arrows from a bow.
- archetypal [ɑ:'kɪ'taɪpl] adj: see archetype □ the archetypal nervous bridegroom.
- archetype ['ɑ:kɪ'taɪp] n somebody or something that is a perfect example of a particular kind of person or thing.
- Archimedes [ɑ:'ki:mɪ'di:z] (287–212 BC) a Greek mathematician and inventor. According to a popular story, he leapt out of his bath and shouted "Eureka" (I have found it) after discovering the law of physics now known as Archimedes' principle.

archipelago [ˌɑːrˈkɪpələɡəʊ] (pl archipelagoes OR archipelagos) n a group of small islands; an area of sea where these islands are found □ the Tuscan Archipelago.

architect [ˈɑːrˈkɪtɛkt] n -1. a person whose job is to design buildings □ a firm of architects. -2. the person responsible for inventing a system, plan etc or planning an event □ He was the architect of the New Deal.

architectural [ˌɑːrˈkɪtɛktʃrəl] adj [style, history] see architecture □ an architectural firm/tour □ architectural studies.

architecture [ˈɑːrˈkɪtɛktʃə] n -1. the art of designing and constructing buildings □ a superb piece of architecture □ Her son is studying architecture. -2. [of a region, period] a particular style of building □ Roman/Gothic/modern architecture. -3. COMPUTING the overall design of the inside of a computer and the software that operates it.

archive file n the file in a computer used for storing data that is no longer being used.

archives [ˈɑːrˈkɪvz] npl historical records, e.g. documents, photographs, or maps.

archivist [ˈɑːrˈkɪvɪst] n a person whose job is to collect and keep archives.

archway [ˈɑːrˈtʃweɪ] n a passage or entrance in the shape of an arch.

Arctic [ˈɑːrˈktɪk] ◇ the Arctic the region around the North Pole, including the Arctic Ocean. ◇ adj -1. [wildlife, plant] that is from the Arctic. -2. [weather, conditions] very cold.

Arctic Circle: the Arctic Circle an imaginary circle around the Arctic region, parallel to the equator, at latitude 66° 32' N.

Arctic Ocean: the Arctic Ocean the sea around the North Pole.

ardent [ˈɑːrˈdɪnt] adj [supporter, feminist] who is very enthusiastic.

ardor US, ardour GB [ˈɑːrˈdɔː] n a strong feeling of love, enthusiasm etc □ He spoke with genuine ardor about Italy.

arduous [ˈɑːrˈdʒuəs] adj [task, journey] that is very difficult and tiring and takes a long time □ an arduous trip across the desert.

are [stressed ɑː, unstressed ə] vb → be.

area [ˈeəriə] n -1. [of a town, country] a particular part of a place □ in the Boston area □ a poor area of town □ The area of the crash was cordoned off. □ an area manager. ■ area of outstanding natural beauty in Britain, any part of the countryside that is protected by law from being built on. ■ in the area near to a particular place □ Come and visit when you're in the area. -2. [of a piece of land] the amount of ground that a piece of land covers □ The garden is 500m² in area. -3. [in a building, room, space] a place used for a particular purpose □ a parking/dining/smoking area. -4. [of knowledge, interest] a particular subject or activity □ She's an expert in the area of finance.

area code n a number that must be dialed before a telephone number if the call is being made from a different area.

arena [əˈri:nə] n -1. [for sports] a stadium for sports, concerts etc. -2. [of an activity] a particular area of activity, usually of conflict □ the political/economic arena.

aren't [ɑːrnt] = are not.

Argentina [ˌɑːrˈdʒənˈti:nə] a country in southern South America, between the Andes and the Atlantic Ocean. SIZE: 2,780,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 33,500,000 (Argentines, Argentinians). CAPITAL: Buenos Aires. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: peso.

Argentine [ˌɑːrˈdʒəntaɪn] ◇ the Argentine = Argentina. ◇ n & adj: see Argentina.

Argentinian [ˌɑːrˈdʒənˈti:niən] n & adj: see Argentina.

arguable [ˈɑːrˈɡjuəbl] adj [point, idea, statement] that is not necessarily true and can be disagreed with □ It's arguable whether the plan is actually worthwhile.

arguably [ˈɑːrˈɡjuəblɪ] adj a word used to say that an opinion is probably true, although not everybody would agree with it □ She's arguably the best manager in the company.

argue [ˈɑːrˈɡjuː] ◇ vi -1. [with a person] to speak angrily to somebody because one disagrees with them □ He argued with her about his contract. □ They're always arguing. □ We usually end up arguing over who should pay. -2. [for or against something] to give reasons for or against something □ She argued for or in favor of raising taxes. □ He argued against going. ◇ vt to argue (that)... to say that something is true, and explain why it is true □ He argued that further investment was needed. □ She argued her case/point convincingly.

argument [ˈɑːrˈɡjəmənt] n -1. [between people] a conversation in which people argue □ Richard had an argument with his boss about overtime. -2. [for or against something] a reason for or against doing something or allowing something to happen □ There are good arguments against smoking/for HIV tests. -3. [from a person] the way somebody explains why something is true □ I didn't follow his line of argument.

argumentative [ˌɑːrˈɡjəˈmentətɪv] adj [person] who likes to disagree and start arguments with other people.

aria [ˈɑːriə] n a song sung by one person in an opera.

arid [ˈærid] adj -1. [land, desert] that is very dry. -2. [subject, writing] that is very boring.

Aries [ˈeəriːz] n a sign of the zodiac, represented by a male sheep; a person born under this sign between March 21 and April 20.

arise [əˈraɪz] (pt arose, pp arisen [əˈrɪzn]) vi [problem, situation] to begin to exist and be noticed □ if the need/opportunity arises. ■ to arise from sthg to be created or caused by sthg □ Several points arose from the discussion.

aristocracy [ˌæriˈstɒkrəsi] (pl aristocracies) n the highest social class consisting of families who are usually rich and who often have titles as part of their names.

aristocrat [US ə'ristəkræt, GB 'æristəkræt] n a member of the aristocracy.

aristocratic [US ə'ristə'krætɪk, GB 'æristə'krætɪk] adj [person, family] see aristocracy.

Aristotle ['æristɒtl] (384–322 BC) a Greek philosopher. His works on logic, ethics, politics, literature, and biology strongly influenced Christian and Muslim ideas.

arithmetic [ə'riθmətɪk] n the area of mathematics concerned with addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division □ an arithmetic test/problem.

Arizona [,æri'zəʊnə] a state in the southwestern USA, with many mountainous and desert areas. ABBREVIATION: AZ. SIZE: 295,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,665,228 (Arizonans). CAPITAL: Phoenix.

ark [ɑ:'k] n in the Bible, the ship that Noah built to save his family and selected animals from a great flood.

Arkansas ['ɑ:'kænsɔ:] a state in the southern USA. ABBREVIATION: AR. SIZE: 138,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,350,725 (Arkansans). CAPITAL: Little Rock.

Arlington National Cemetery [,ɑ:'lɪŋtən-] a cemetery in Virginia, USA, where many US soldiers and politicians are buried.

arm [ɑ:'m] ◇ n -1. [of a person] one of the two parts of the body attached to the shoulders □ She threw her arms around me. ■ to keep sb at arm's length to avoid becoming too involved with sb. ■ to twist sb's arm to persuade sb to do something by insisting (informal use) □ He refused at first, but I managed to twist his arm. -2. [of a coat, sweater, shirt] the part of a piece of clothing where a person's arm goes. -3. [of a chair, sofa] one of the two raised parts at the side of a chair or couch where people rest their arms when sitting. -4. [of an organization] a section that does a particular job □ the political arm of the IRA □ the Canadian arm of the electronics giant Herst. ◇ vt [troops, population] to supply <sb> with weapons □ I armed myself with a shotgun and set off.

◆ arms npl weapons □ an arms dealer/manufacturer □ arms limitation. ■ to be up in arms to protest angrily □ People are up in arms about or over the new bypass.

◆ arm in arm adv [walk, go] next to each other, with each person bending their arm around the other person's arm □ He was walking arm in arm with her.

armada [ɑ:'mɑ:də] n a group of ships, especially warships.

armadillo [,ɑ:'mɑ'dɪləʊ] (pl armadillos) n a small animal, found in North and South America, that has a hard shell divided into sections that allows it to roll into a ball when it is attacked.

Armageddon [,ɑ:'mæ'ɡedn] n a terrible battle that, according to Christian belief, will cause the end of the world.

armaments ['ɑ:'mæmənts] npl a collective term for weapons and other military equipment □ the build-up of armaments.

arm band n a band of material that is worn around the top part of the arm as a symbol of something, e.g. to show respect for somebody who has died.

armchair ['ɑ:'mtʃeə] n a comfortable chair with arms.

armed [ɑ:'md] adj -1. [policeman, thief, vehicle] that is carrying a weapon, especially a gun □ He was armed with a gun/stick. □ The public has been warned that he is armed and dangerous.

-2. to be armed with sthg [with information, skills, a map] to have sthg that is useful in a particular situation □ We arrived at the meeting armed with statistics to support our argument.

armed forces npl the army, navy, and air force of a country □ a member of the armed forces.

armed robbery n a robbery in which the criminals carry guns.

Armenia [ɑ:'mi:njə] a mountainous country in western Asia, in the Caucasus northeast of Turkey. SIZE: 29,800 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,600,000 (Armenians). CAPITAL: Yerevan. LANGUAGE: Armenian. CURRENCY: dram.

armful ['ɑ:'mfɪl] n an armful of sthg the amount of sthg that can be held in one arm or both arms □ an armful of flowers.

armhole ['ɑ:'mhəʊl] n [of a coat, shirt, sweater] one of the two holes that the arms are put through in a piece of clothing.

armistice ['ɑ:'mɪstɪs] n an agreement between countries to stop fighting for a limited period to discuss peace.

Armistice Day n November 11, the anniversary of the end of World War I.

armor US, armour GB ['ɑ:'mɔ:] n -1. [for a soldier] protective clothes made of metal that were worn by medieval soldiers in battle □ a suit of armor. -2. [for a military vehicle] a protective metal covering for a ship, truck etc.

armored US, armoured GB ['ɑ:'mɔ:d] adj [vehicle, personnel carrier] that is protected by armor.

armored car n a light military vehicle that is armed and armored.

armor-plated [-'pleɪtəd] adj = armored.

armory US, armoury GB ['ɑ:'mɔ:ri] (pl US armories, GB armouries) n a place where weapons are stored.

armour etc n GB = armor etc.

armpit ['ɑ:'mpɪt] n the part of one's body under one's arm where it joins the body and where hair grows.

armrest ['ɑ:'mrest] n the part of a seat in a car or plane that supports one's arm and that can often be folded back to leave more space.

Armstrong ['ɑ:'mstrɒŋ], Louis (1900–1971) a US jazz trumpeter and singer who had a big influence on the development of jazz.

Armstrong, Neil (1930–) a US astronaut who was the first person to land on the Moon in 1969.

army ['ɑ:'mi] (pl armies) n -1. MILITARY a large organized group of soldiers trained to fight on land □ an army officer/truck □ He's in the army. -2. [of people] a large group of people □ an army of tourists.

Arnold ['ɑːrnlɪd], Benedict (1741–1801) a US soldier who betrayed his country to the British during the American Revolution.

A road n GB a main road between towns.

aroma [ə'roumə] n a strong pleasant smell, especially of food or drink □ a wonderful aroma of fresh coffee.

aromatherapy [ə,roumə'θerəpi] n a type of alternative medicine in which oils with a pleasant smell are massaged into the skin.

aromatic [,ærə'mætɪk] adj [substance, herb] that has a strong aroma.

arose [ə'rouz] past tense of arise.

around [ə'raʊnd] ◇ adv -1. to walk/travel around to walk/travel in different directions □ I wandered around for a couple of hours, trying to decide what to do. □ Clothes were lying around all over the floor. -2. the stadium measures a mile around the length of the outside of the stadium is a mile □ The garden was well hidden, with a high wall all around. -3. the book is around somewhere the book is somewhere near here and can be found or used □ There was nobody around. -4. to be around to exist and be noticeable □ That song has been around for years. -5. phrase he's/she's been around he/she has seen many places and things and so has knowledge and experience (informal use).

◇ prep -1. to walk around a place to walk to many different parts of a place, usually with no special purpose □ In the evening, we strolled around the town. -2. they sat around the table they sat in a circle on all sides of the table □ The Earth moves around the Sun. □ He wore a scarf around his neck. -3. it's around the corner it's on the other side of the corner □ The door was somewhere around the back of the house. -4. it's around here it's near here □ Is there a bank anywhere around here? -5. at around 100 mph at approximately 100 mph □ There were around 2,000 people there.

arousal [ə'raʊzl] n: see arouse.

arouse [ə'raʊz] vt -1. [curiosity, interest, fear] to make somebody have  □ Her sudden departure aroused their suspicions. □ The idea failed to arouse much interest. -2. [person] to make <sb> feel sexually excited □ sexually aroused.

arr. abbr of arrives.

arrange [ə'reɪndʒ] ◇ vt -1. [flowers, books, furniture] to put <sthg> in a particular position to be neat, attractive etc □ Four chairs were arranged around a table. -2. [meeting, trip] to plan and organize <sthg> usually by getting somebody's agreement or permission □ We have arranged a training course on the new software. □ Let's arrange a time to meet. □ I've arranged to meet them at the airport. □ She was able to arrange a loan for us. -3. MUSIC to adapt  for different instruments or voices.

◇ vi to plan something together with somebody else □ We have arranged for the delegates to stay at the Central Hotel. □ I've arranged with her to meet outside the restaurant.

arranged marriage [ə'reɪndʒd-] n a marriage where the partners are chosen by their parents or relatives.

arrangement [ə'reɪndʒmənt] n -1. [between people] an agreement to do something □ I'm sure we can come to an or some arrangement with the bank. □ He sold the stock by arrangement with the company. -2. [of furniture, books] a group of things that has been arranged in a particular way □ a flower arrangement. -3. MUSIC a piece of music that has been arranged in a particular way.

◆ arrangements npl plans and preparations for doing something □ Sophie has made all the necessary arrangements for the trip. □ I'll leave the arrangements to you, then.

array [ə'reɪ] n -1. an impressive group of objects, people, or ornaments □ There's a vast array of styles to choose from. -2. COMPUTING an arrangement of data in rows and columns.

arrears [ə'reɪəz] npl money that has still not been paid and is late □ The company collapsed, leaving arrears of $360,000. ■ to be in arrears to owe arrears □ We're six months in arrears on the loan repayments. ■ to be paid in arrears to be paid for one's work after the work has been done.

arrest [ə'rest] ◇ vt -1. [criminal, suspect] to catch <sb> and not let them go free because they are suspected of committing a crime □ They were arrested for fraud/on suspicion of fraud. -2. to arrest sb's attention to attract and keep sb's attention (formal use) □ There was something about her manner that arrested my attention. -3. [development, progress] to stop <sthg> from happening or getting bigger, going further etc (formal use) □ in an effort to arrest unemployment/inflation. ◇ n the act of arresting somebody □ The police made 50 arrests at the demonstration. ■ to be under arrest to be held by the police after an arrest □ He was put under arrest.

arresting [ə'restɪŋ] adj [beauty, image] that arrests one's attention.

arrival [ə'reɪvɪl] n -1. [at a place] the act of arriving at a place □ On or Upon our arrival we were met by the conference organizers. □ We apologize for the late arrival of flight AA 251. -2. [of something new] the act of coming into existence or use □ the arrival of the microchip. -3. a new arrival a person who has recently moved to a new company, prison, school etc; a baby who has recently been born.

◆ arrivals npl [at an airport, station] the planes, trains etc that have just arrived after a trip □ the arrivals board/lounge.

arrive [ə'reɪv] vi -1. [person, train, taxi] to reach a place during a trip or at the end of a trip □ They arrived yesterday. □ When you arrive at the airport... □ I arrived in this country in 1976. -2. [letter, news] to be brought or delivered to somebody □ The mail usually arrives at 8 o'clock. -3. [product, invention] to start to exist or be used □ The drug finally arrived on the mar- ket in the 1970s. -4. [baby] to be born □ The baby arrived three weeks early. -5. [moment, day, event] to happen □ The time has arrived for us to take action.

♦ arrive at vt fus to arrive at a decision to succeed in making a decision after a lot of thought or discussion □ We finally arrived at the conclusion that... □ How did you arrive at that figure?

arrogance [US 'erəgəns, GB 'ær-] n: see arrogant □ That doesn't excuse his arrogance.

arrogant [US 'erəgənt, GB 'ær-] adj [person] who is rude and unpleasant because they think they are better, more important etc than other people □ Her arrogant behavior made her generally unpopular.

arrow [US 'erəʊ, GB 'ær-] n -1. a thin stick with a point at one end and feathers at the other end, that is shot from a bow and used in archery or as a weapon. -2. a sign (→) that is shaped like an arrow and points to something on a page, sign, computer screen etc.

arrowroot [US 'erəʊrʊ:t, GB 'ær-] n a natural substance, made from a West Indian plant, that is used in cooking to thicken sauces.

arsenal ['ɑ:ˈsneɪl] n a place for storing weapons; a large number of weapons that are stored in this place.

arsenic ['ɑ:ˈsneɪk] n a very strong poison used for killing rats, insects etc. SYMBOL: As.

arson ['ɑ:ˈsn] n the crime of setting fire to a building in order to cause damage □ He was convicted of arson.

arsonist ['ɑ:ˈsneɪst] n a person who commits arson.

art [ɑ:ˈt] n -1. the act or process of creating paintings, sculptures, music etc □ Shakespeare's art □ She is studying art. □ a great work of art. -2. [in a museum] works of art, especially ones that can be seen, e.g. paintings or sculptures □ modern/Asian/16th-century art □ an art collection/exhibition. -3. something that requires skill □ the art of survival □ Giving dinner parties is quite an art.

♦ arts npl -1. EDUCATION subjects that are not scientific or technical, e.g. history, languages, or music □ an arts degree/graduate/subject. -2. the arts all the different types of art, e.g. painting, music, drama, literature, cinema etc, considered as a group.

art deco [US -deɪ'kəʊ, GB -'dekəʊ] n a style of art and design, common in the 1920s and 1930s, that is based on geometrical shapes with rounded angles □ art deco furniture.

artefact ['ɑ:ˈtəfækt] n = artifact.

arterial [ɑ:ˈtɪəriəl] adj [blood, disease, road] see artery.

arteriosclerosis [ɑ:ˈtɪəriəʊskləˈrəʊsɪs] n a disease that hardens the arteries and reduces the flow of blood around the body.

artery ['ɑ:ˈtɪəri] (pl arteries) n -1. ANATOMY one of the tubes that carry blood from the heart around the body. -2. TRANSPORT a main road or railroad.

artful ['ɑ:ˈtfl] adj [person] who is clever, usually at doing something dishonest.

art gallery n -1. a building where paintings and sculptures are publicly displayed. -2. a place where paintings and sculptures are sold.

arthritic [ɑ:ˈθɪtɪk] adj [person, joint] that is affected by arthritis.

arthritis [ɑ:ˈθɪrɪtɪs] n a disease that causes painful swelling in the joints.

Arthur ['ɑ:θə] a legendary British king who lived in Camelot and led a group of knights.

artichoke ['ɑ:ˈtɪtʃəʊk] n a round green vegetable with thick pointed leaves and a soft center. When cooked, the bottom of the leaves and the center can be eaten □ artichoke hearts.

article ['ɑ:ˈtɪkl] n -1. [of clothing, furniture] an object, especially an object of a particular type □ articles of jewelry/of value. -2. [in a newspaper, magazine] a piece of writing; [on television, the radio] a piece of news □ an article on or about the trade deficit. -3. [in an agreement, contract, constitution] a section or paragraph. -4. GRAMMAR the definite article the word "the". ■ the indefinite article the words "a" and "an".

articled clerk [ɑ:ˈtɪklɪd-] n GB a person who is training to be a solicitor.

articles of association npl the laws that control the way in which a registered company is run; the document containing these laws.

Articles of Confederation npl the Articles of Confederation the first constitution of the USA. It was replaced by the present constitution in 1788.

articulate [adj ɑ:ˈtɪkjələt, vb ɑ:ˈtɪkjələɪt] ◇ adj [person] who is good at expressing their thoughts and ideas clearly □ a highly articulate writer/piece of writing. ◇ vt [thought, idea, sound] to say or express <sthg> clearly.

articulated lorry [ɑ:ˈtɪkjələɪtəd-] n GB a large truck consisting of a separate part for the driver and a trailer joined by a metal bar.

artifact ['ɑ:ˈtəfækt] n a tool, weapon, ornament etc that was made a long time ago and is of historical interest.

artificial [ɑ:ˈtɪʃɪəl] adj -1. [flavoring, material] that is not made of natural materials or substances; [leg, hip, wood] that looks like or works like something real or natural □ I don't like working in artificial light. -2. [person] who pretends to have feelings and attitudes that are not real (disapproving use) □ artificial behavior/tears.

artificial insemination n a way of making a woman or female animal pregnant by transferring sperm with an instrument rather than through sex.

artificial intelligence n the part of computer science concerned with making computers do what humans can do, e.g. talk or move.

artificially [ɑ:ˈtɪʃɪəli] adv [flavor, behave, smile] see artificial □ Prices are being kept artificially high.

artificial respiration n a way of helping somebody to start breathing again when they are unconscious, usually by blowing air into their mouth.

artillery [ɑ:'tɪləri] n big guns on wheels, used by an army □ artillery fire.

artisan [ˌɑ:'tɪzən] n a person whose job is to make and do things, especially traditional crafts, with their hands.

artist [ɑ:'tɪst] n -1. ART a person who creates works of art, especially paintings □ a successful/commercial artist. -2. [in an activity] a skillful and creative person in a particular field or activity □ She's a real artist in the kitchen.

artiste [ɑ:'tɪst] n a person whose job is to perform in public, e.g. a singer or dancer.

artistic [ɑ:'tɪstɪk] adj -1. [person] who is good at creating or appreciating art □ James is the artistic member of the family. -2. [freedom, style] that is connected with art or artists □ Futurism was an influential artistic movement in the early part of the century. -3. [design, work, arrangement] that is creative and attractive □ Her Christmas decorations were very artistic.

artistically [ɑ:'tɪstɪklɪ] adv [talented, designed] see artistic □ an artistically arranged bunch of flowers.

artistry [ɑ:'tɪstri] n the creative skill of an artist □ It was all done with great artistry.

artless [ɑ:'tləs] adj [person] who is simple, honest, and does not deceive other people.

art nouveau [ˌɑ:'nu:'vɒu] n a style of art and design, common in the 1890s, that is based on flowing lines and floral shapes.

Arts Council n the Arts Council one of four organizations in the UK, supported by the British government, that gives grants to arts projects.

arugula [ə'ru:gələ] n US a plant with small dark-green leaves that have a peppery taste and are eaten raw in salads.

ARV (abbr of American Revised Version) n the ARV an American translation of the Bible.

as [stressed æz, unstressed əz] ◇ conj -1. used to link two events that are happening at the same time □ Kim called (just) as I was leaving. □ As he grew older, he became more bad-tempered. -2. used to describe the way that something should happen □ Why can't things be as they were before? □ Do as I say. -3. used to introduce comparisons □ The "h" is silent, as in "hour". -4. used to introduce statements giving extra information □ As you know, I lived in Africa for several years. -5. because □ As you weren't in, I left a message. -6. tired as I was... although I was tired...

◇ prep -1. he was dressed as a policeman he was dressed so that he looked like a policeman (used to describe somebody's appearance). -2. he works as a taxi driver he has a job driving taxis (used to describe somebody's job, role, function etc) □ my duties as a manager □ I lived in France as a boy. -3. to treat sth as a joke to consider sth like a joke.

◇ adv used in comparisons □ It cost twice as much as my first apartment. □ He's not as intelligent/handsome as his brother.

◆ as for prep used to introduce a new topic □ As for Arthur, he can come with me.

◆ as from prep = as of.

◆ as if conj as if I was OR were mad in a way that might make people think that I am mad □ It looks as if it's going to rain.

◆ as it is adv already □ You have enough work as it is, don't take on any more!

◆ as it were adv used to show that a word is not being used precisely □ He was, as it were, my teacher and guide.

◆ as of prep as of Monday on Monday and for the time after that □ I'll be in Madrid as of next week.

◆ as though conj = as if.

◆ as to prep -1. = as for. -2. about □ I am uncertain as to the best way to proceed.

◆ as well adv also □ Can I come as well?

◆ as yet adv used to describe an event that has not happened but is expected soon □ I wrote on Monday but haven't received their reply as yet.

AS (abbr of Associate in Science) n a US college degree.

a.s.a.p., asap adv abbr of as soon as possible.

asbestos [æs'bestəs] n a gray material that does not burn. It is sometimes used in buildings, clothing etc to protect against heat and fire, but can be dangerous to people's health □ asbestos fibers/clothing.

asbestosis [ˌæsbɛ'stəʊsɪs] n a disease of the lungs that is caused by breathing in asbestos dust.

ascend [ə'send] (formal use) ◇ vt [hill, stairs, slope] to go up <sthg>. ■ to ascend the throne to become king or queen. ◇ vi [person, smoke, staircase] to go upward.

ascendancy [ə'sendənsɪ] n a position of power over somebody.

ascendant [ə'sendənt] n to be in the ascendant to be in a powerful or dominant position.

ascending [ə'sendɪŋ] adj [person, smoke, staircase] that goes up. ■ in ascending order arranged in a list, row etc so that each one is bigger, higher, or more important than the one before it.

ascension [ə'senʃn] n [to the throne] see ascend.

◆ Ascension n a Christian festival celebrating Christ's ascent into heaven.

ascent [ə'sent] n -1. [of a hill, mountain, staircase] a climb □ the ascent of Everest □ Please remain seated during our ascent. -2. a slope or path that goes upward □ a steep ascent. -3. [in rank, status] the process by which somebody becomes more important, successful etc □ He made a rapid ascent up the executive ladder.

ascertain [ˌæseɪ'teɪn] vt to find out <sthg>, usually by making an effort (formal use) □ The police never managed to ascertain her true identity. □ It is too soon to ascertain what effect this will have on the environment.

ascetic [ə'setɪk] ◇ adj [person] who lives a simple life without luxuries or physical pleasures, usually for religious reasons (formal use) □ an ascetic life/existence. ◇ n a person who lives an ascetic life.

ASCII ['æskɪ] (abbr of American Standard Code for Information Interchange) n a computer code containing letters and numbers that is used for transferring information between computers □ an ASCII file.

ascorbic acid [ə,skɔ:'bɪk-] n vitamin C (technical use). FORMULA: C₆ H₈ O₆.

Ascot ['æskət] n a race course in southern England. It is well-known for an annual race meeting called Royal Ascot, which fashionable society and the Royal Family go to.

ascribe [ə'skraɪb] vt -1. to ascribe sthg to sthg [problem, symptom, event] to think or say that sthg is responsible for sthg □ Heart attacks are often ascribed to stress. -2. to ascribe sthg to sb [quality, virtue, characteristic] to think or say that sb has sthg; [work of art, piece of music, book] to think or say that sb painted, composed, or wrote sthg □ The statue is ascribed magical powers. □ The poem has been ascribed to various authors.

ASEAN ['æsi:ən] (abbr of Association of South-east Asian Nations) n an organization consisting of Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Brunei that encourages economic and political cooperation between its members.

asexual [ˌeɪ'sekʃuəl] adj [reproduction] that takes place without sex; [animal, organism] that is neither male nor female; [person] who is not interested in sex.

ash [æʃ] n -1. [from a cigarette, fire] the soft gray powder that is left after something has been burned □ wood/cigarette ash. -2. BOTANY a tree that grows in Europe and Asia that has gray bark and seeds that are shaped like wings; the wood of this tree □ an ash tree.

◆ ashes npl the ash that is left after somebody has been cremated.

ASH [æʃ] (abbr of Action on Smoking and Health) n a British organization that tries to stop people from smoking.

ashamed [ə'seɪmd] adj to be ashamed [person] to feel guilty or embarrassed because of something one has done □ There's nothing to be ashamed of. □ You ought to be ashamed of yourself! □ I'm ashamed to say that I ate all of it.

ash can n US a container for trash.

ashen-faced ['æʃnfeɪst] adj [person] who is very pale, usually because they have had a shock.

ashore [ə'ʃɔ:ʃ] adv [go, swim] to the shore from the ocean or a lake □ We jumped out of the dinghy and waded ashore.

ashtray ['æʃtreɪ] n a small dish where people put the ash from their cigarettes or cigars while smoking.

Ash Wednesday n the first day of Lent in the Christian calendar.

Asia [US 'eɪzə, GB 'eɪʃə] the largest and most highly populated continent, including the eastern part of the old USSR, the Middle East, and the Far East.

Asian [US 'eɪzɪn, GB 'eɪʃn] n & adj: see Asia.

NOTE: In the USA and Australia the term Asian usually refers to a person whose family comes from China, Japan, Vietnam, or Korea. In Britain Asian usually refers to a person whose family comes from India, Pakistan, or Bangladesh.

Asian American n an American whose family originally came from Asia.

Asia-Pacific: the Asia-Pacific (region) the countries of East Asia that border on the Pacific Ocean, e.g. Korea, Japan, and Taiwan.

aside [ə'saɪd] ◇ adv -1. [move, step, throw] to one side □ Can you move aside, I want to get past. ■ to take sb aside to take sb away from a group of people in order to talk in private. ■ to brush OR sweep sthg aside [idea, feeling, suggestion] to reject sthg that one considers unimportant □ He simply brushed my question aside and went on talking. -2. work/money aside,... a word used to show that somebody is finishing the subject of work/money and starting another subject, or that one does not want to discuss it □ Financial concerns aside, we should start thinking about a new marketing strategy.

◇ n -1. [in a play, movie] words spoken by a character that the other characters do not hear. -2. [in a conversation, discussion] a remark not directly connected with what one is talking about □ He mentioned the bribe almost as an aside.

◆ aside from prep apart from <sb/sthg> □ There were no injuries, aside from a few bruises.

ask [US æsk, GB ɑ:sk] ◇ vt -1. to say  to somebody; to say this question to <sb> □ I don't know, you'll have to ask Steve about that. □ May I ask you something? □ He asked her where she was from. □ She asked me if I could come. ■ to ask sb sthg to speak to sb to get sthg, usually information □ I asked her the time. ■ if you ask me in my opinion □ If you ask me, they should have closed this place years ago. -2. to speak to somebody to get <permission, advice, forgiveness> etc □ He asked my opinion of the new system. ■ to ask sb to do sthg to speak to sb because one wants them to do sthg □ Please ask them to wait in the lobby. ■ to ask sb for sthg to speak to sb because one wants them to give one sthg □ I've asked the boss for a raise. □ She asked for more money/a glass of water. -3. to invite <sb> to go somewhere with one □ They asked her to join them. □ Why don't you ask him to dinner/the party? -4. to demand  for something □ They're asking $90 per unit but I think they'll accept $85.

◇ vi -1. to request information □ I don't know, I didn't ask. □ Ask about the job. -2. to speak to somebody because one wants something from them □ I'll help you if you ask nicely. □ He asked if I could pass him the wine.

◆ ask after vt fus to ask after sb to ask for information about sb, sb's health etc □ There was a young man here asking after you.

◆ ask for vt fus to ask for sb to ask if one can see or speak to sb □ They asked for the manager.

◆ ask out vt sep to ask sb out to invite sb to go out with one to a meal, party etc.

askance [ə'skæns] adv to look askance at sb/sthg to look at sb/sthg with doubt or mistrust.

askew [ə'skju:] adj [hat, necktie] not straight or level □ The picture was hanging askew.

asking price [US æskɪŋ-, GB 'ɑ:skɪŋ-] n the amount of money that a person is hoping to get for an item that they are selling.

asleep [ə'sli:p] adj to be asleep to be sleeping. ■ to fall asleep to start sleeping □ It took me a long time to fall asleep. ■ to be fast OR sound asleep to be completely asleep □ She was fast asleep on the sofa.

ASLEF, Aslef ['æzlef] (abbr of Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen) n a British labor union for railroad workers.

A/S Level n a school examination taken in a particular subject in England and Wales. An A/S level involves half the coursework of an A Level, and gives half as many points for university entrance.

asparagus [ə'spærəgəs] n a vegetable with long green shoots that are cooked until they are tender, and then eaten □ asparagus soup □ asparagus tips.

ASPCA (abbr of American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) n the ASPCA a US charity that tries to prevent cruel treatment of animals.

aspect ['æspekt] n -1. [of a situation, problem] one part of something that has many parts □ It will affect all aspects of daily life. □ We'll be looking at various aspects of American foreign policy. -2. [of an idea, plan] a particular way of considering something □ Meeting people is the most enjoyable aspect of my job. □ There's also the financial aspect to think about. -3. [of a building] the direction in which a building faces □ a house with a westerly aspect.

aspen ['æspən] n a kind of poplar tree with leaves that rustle in the wind.

aspersions [ə'spɜ:ʃnz] npl to cast aspersions on sb/sthg to express doubts about or criticize sb/sthg (formal or humorous use) □ I'm not casting aspersions on your ability to manage the situation.

asphalt [US 'æsfə:lt, GB -fælt] n a black substance used for making the surfaces of roads.

asphyxiate [əs'fiksieit] vt to kill <sb> by preventing them from breathing in oxygen □ He was asphyxiated by fumes from the fire.

aspic ['æspɪk] n a clear jelly made from the juice of meat or fish and used in making cold dishes.

aspidistra [ˌæspə'dɪstrə] n a houseplant with long, hard, pointed, green leaves.

aspirate ['æspərət] adj [letter] pronounced by blowing out air so that the sound of the letter "h" is heard □ an aspirate h.

aspiration [ˌæspə'reɪʃn] n a strong desire and ambition to do or be something better □ The international community now has to take their aspirations to independence seriously. □ the hopes and aspirations of the young.

aspire [ə'spaɪə] vi to aspire to sthg/to do sthg to have a strong desire and ambition to have sthg/to do sthg better □ young actors who aspire to wealth and fame.

aspirin ['æsprɪn] n a common drug, usually in the form of a white pill, that is taken to reduce pain, fever, or inflammation □ Do you want an OR some aspirin?

aspiring [ə'spaɪərɪŋ] adj an aspiring actor/politician an actor/politician who is trying to be successful in their profession □ She was always getting letters from aspiring filmmakers.

Asquith ['æskwɪθ], H. H. (1852–1928) British Prime Minister from 1908 to 1916. His government was responsible for the introduction of welfare benefits for old people.

ass [æs] n -1. an animal related to the horse, but smaller and with longer ears. -2. a foolish person (informal use) □ You silly ass! -3. ▽ a person's buttocks (very informal use) □ Move your ass!

assail [ə'seɪl] vt -1. to attack <sb> violently (formal use). -2. to make <sb> very worried □ He was assailed by doubts/fears.

assailant [ə'seɪlənt] n a person who attacks somebody physically □ He provided a detailed description of his assailant.

assassin [ə'sæsn̩] n a person who assassinates somebody.

assassinate [ə'sæsn̩eɪt] vt to murder .

assassination [ə'sæsn̩neɪʃn] n: see assassinate □ an assassination attempt.

assault [ə'sɔ:lt] ◇ n -1. MILITARY [on a building, area] an attack by a large number of soldiers on a place held by enemy forces □ an unsuccessful assault on the parliament building. -2. [on a person] a physical attack on somebody □ The number of assaults on prison officers has increased. -3. LAW the crime of attacking somebody physically. ◇ vt -1. to attack <sb> physically □ He was arrested for assaulting a police officer. -2. to rape or try to rape <sb> □ The victim had been sexually assaulted.

assault course n GB an area of land on which soldiers train to get fit by climbing over walls, jumping over ditches etc.

assemble [ə'sembl] ◇ vt -1. [troops, collection, information] to gather <people or things> together □ The company has assembled a very efficient team. -2. [car, radio, shelves] to put the parts of  together □ You have to assemble all the furniture yourself. ◇ vi [people] to come together for a particular purpose □ In the event of fire, hotel guests should assemble in the foyer.

assembly [ə'sembli] (pl assemblies) n -1. EDUCATION a meeting that is held each morning at a school for all the pupils and teachers □ The pupils go to assembly every morning. □ a school assembly. -2. POLITICS a group of people who come together to make laws or to discuss political problems □ the UN General Assembly. -3. the act of gathering together. ■ the right of assembly the right to meet as a group without fear of being arrested or sent to prison. -4. [of shelves, a car, radio] see as- semble □ The kit comes with easy-to-follow assembly instructions.

assembly language n COMPUTING a programming language used to code instructions for a computer.

assembly line n a production system where the product is assembled gradually by being passed from one worker to another, usually along a conveyor belt.

assent [ə'sent] ◇ n agreement to a plan, suggestion etc □ The bill eventually obtained the assent of Parliament. ◇ vi to agree to a plan, suggestion etc □ The committee finally assented to most of their proposals.

assert [ə'sɜːt] vt -1. to assert (that)... to state firmly that something is true □ He continues to assert the truth of the claim. □ She asserted that she had no involvement in the affair. -2. [right, claim] to speak or act in a way that makes other people understand that one has <sthg> □ No longer a child, Susan had to assert her independence. □ You must assert your authority right from the start. ■ to assert oneself to behave or speak confidently and in a way that gains people's attention and respect □ I'm learning how to assert myself more.

assertion [ə'sɜːʃn] n: see assert □ I dispute their assertion that these tests are safe.

assertive [ə'sɜːtɪv] adj [person] who states their opinions, wishes etc firmly □ She has a confident and assertive manner.

assess [ə'ses] vt -1. [somebody's ability, performance] to decide the quality of <sthg> by looking at it closely □ Staff are assessed each year on their work. -2. [situation, development] to give one's opinion about <sthg> by thinking carefully about it □ How would you assess the mood on the shop floor? -3. [property, tax] to calculate the value or cost of <sthg> □ Damages were assessed at $50,000.

assessment [ə'sesmənt] n: see assess □ student assessment □ What is your assessment of the current economic climate?

assessor [ə'sesəʃ] n FINANCE a person whose job is to assess property, damages, or tax.

asset ['æset] n -1. a skill or quality that is valuable and useful □ Julie's knowledge of Japanese is a real asset. -2. a person whose skills or qualities are very useful to an organization □ He's a great asset to the company.

◆ assets npl BUSINESS the things of value that belong to a person or company and that can be sold to pay debts □ The company has assets of over $3 million.

asset-stripping [-stripiŋ] n the practice of buying a company at a low price and then selling its assets to make a profit.

assiduous [ə'sɪdʒʊəs] adj [worker] who is careful and gives a lot of attention to detail.

assiduously [ə'sɪdʒʊəsli] adv: see assiduous □ Sam has worked assiduously throughout the year.

assign [ə'saɪn] vt -1. to assign sthg to sb/sthg [resources, money, time] to give sthg to sb/sthg for a particular purpose □ Most of the budget for this year has already been assigned to specific projects. ■ to assign sthg to sb, to as- sign sb sthg [work, job] to give sb sthg to do □ I was assigned the task of writing the report. -2. to assign sb to sthg [to a job, department] to choose sb for sthg □ Two FBI men were assigned to the case. □ Paul Johnson has been assigned to look into their accounts.

assignation [ˌæsgɪ'neɪʃn] n a secret meeting with somebody, especially a lover (formal or humorous use).

assignment [ə'saɪnmənt] n -1. a particular task given to somebody, especially as part of their work □ My first assignment was to cover the New York Marathon. -2. see assign □ Her assignment to the post met with widespread approval.

assimilate [ə'sɪməleɪt] ◇ vt -1. [facts, idea] to understand completely and be able to use <new information> □ Some students find it difficult to assimilate new vocabulary. -2. [immigrant, member, staff] to accept <sb> as part of one's group or country □ They were gradually assimilated into the local community. ◇ vi [immigrant, member, staff] Some ethnic groups find it harder to assimilate than others.

assimilation [ə,sɪmə'leɪʃn] n: see assimilate.

assist [ə'sɪst] vt to help <sb> to do a particular thing □ They were sent in to assist the aid workers with the relief effort. □ There are a number of grants available to assist you with the initial expenses. □ Our staff will be happy to assist you.

assistance [ə'sɪstəns] n help in doing a particular thing □ He cannot walk without assistance. □ 'Ring for assistance.' □ The industry is receiving financial assistance from the government. ■ to be of assistance to help somebody □ Can I be of any assistance?

assistant [ə'sɪstənt] n -1. [in a company, organization] a person whose job is to help somebody and who works for them □ a sales and promotions assistant □ an assistant producer/manager. -2. GB [in a store] a person who works in a store, selling things to customers.

associate [adj & n ə'səʊʃɪət, vb ə'səʊʃɪet] ◇ adj -1. an associate member a member who has only some of the rights and privileges held by a normal member of an organization. -2. an associate director/partner a director/partner who has equal or slightly lower status.

◇ n a person that one has contact with, especially at work □ He's a business associate of mine.

◇ vt -1. to associate sb/sthg with sb/sthg to connect sb/sthg with sb/sthg in one's mind □ People associate California with sunshine and healthy living. -2. to be associated with sthg to be connected with sthg □ the problems associated with nuclear power □ the diseases that are associated with heavy smoking. -3. to be associated with sb/sthg to be involved with sb/sthg as a partner, participant etc □ She refused to be associated with the venture.

◇ vi to associate with sb to spend a lot of time with sb □ He is believed to have associated with the Mafia.

association [ə,səʊsɪ'eɪʃn] n -1. a group of people or companies with a shared interest □ a tenants' association □ the American Automobile Association. -2. [with a person, company] the process of being involved with somebody or something as a partner, participant etc □ They denied any association with the terrorist group. □ The program was made in association with German television. -3. [of an idea, place] a connection one has in one's mind with a particular memory, idea, feeling etc □ The place has unpleasant associations for me.

assorted [ə'sɔ:təd] adj including different types of the same thing □ cold cuts with assorted seasonings.

assortment [ə'sɔ:t'mənt] n a collection of similar things that have different shapes, colors, sizes etc □ He arrived at the station with an assortment of boxes and packages.

asst. abbr of assistant.

assuage [ə'sweɪdʒ] vt (formal use) -1. [grief, guilt] to make  less strong □ Laurence tried in vain to assuage the woman's fears. -2. [thirst, hunger] to satisfy  □ a thirst for revenge that could never be assuaged.

assume [ə'sju:m] vt -1. to assume (that)... to believe that something is true without having any proof □ We can't assume (that) these figures are accurate. □ Let's assume interest rates will come down soon. □ The information is assumed to be correct. -2. [post, duty] to accept or take  □ He's assumed control of the firm. □ General Bancroft assumed command of the army. -3. [tone, expression, manner] to start using  in order to give a particular impression □ She assumed an air of indifference.

assumed name [ə'sju:md-] n a name used by somebody that is not their real name.

assuming [ə'sju:mɪŋ] conj a word used to introduce something that one believes to be true or very likely and that is a condition for something else □ Assuming (that) there's no delay, we should arrive at ten thirty.

assumption [ə'sʌmpʃn] n -1. something that one believes is true without having any proof □ Try not to make too many assumptions about what actually happened. □ We are working on the assumption that our bid will be successful. -2. [of a post, duty] see assume.

◆ Assumption n the Assumption the occasion when the Virgin Mary was taken into heaven; the day when this is celebrated by Roman Catholics.

assurance [ə'ʃʊərəns] n -1. a statement in which one says that something is definitely true or promises something □ He gave us his written assurance that it would not happen again. □ Despite repeated assurances, they failed to deliver the goods on time. -2. calm confidence □ She spoke with assurance. -3. GB & CAN FINANCE life insurance □ an assurance company/policy.

assure [ə'ʃʊə] vt -1. to assure sb that... to tell sb something firmly in order to make them less worried or doubtful □ He assured us that the building was safe. □ It certainly wasn't our mistake, I can assure you. □ They assured us of their good intentions. -2. to be assured of sth [of success, victory] to be certain of getting sth □ The Danes are assured of a gold medal.

assured [ə'ʃʊəd] adj [voice, manner, person] that seems calm and confident □ a smartly-dressed and assured young man.

AST (abbr of Atlantic Standard Time) n the local time used in winter in eastern Canada and parts of the West Indies.

asterisk ['æstərɪsk] n a symbol shaped like a star (*) that is often used to refer the reader to a note at the bottom of the page.

Asterix ['æstərɪks] a character from a French cartoon strip set in a time when France was part of the Roman Empire. Asterix and his friend Obelix fight the Romans, and often defeat them in battles.

astern [ə'stɜ:n] adv [stand, move] at or toward the stern.

asteroid ['æstərɔɪd] n a large lump of rock that moves around the Sun.

asthma [US 'æzmə, GB 'æs-] n a disease that causes difficulty in breathing.

asthmatic [US æz'mætɪk, GB æs-] ◇ adj [person, attack] see asthma. ◇ n a person who suffers from asthma.

astigmatism [ə'stɪgmətɪzəm] n imperfect vision that is caused by a problem with the lens in the eye.

astonish [ə'stɒnɪʃ] vt to surprise <sb> very much □ The success of the book astonished everyone.

astonished [ə'stɒnɪʃt] adj [person, look] very surprised □ I'm astonished to hear (that) she's leaving. □ We were astonished at the result.

astounding [ə'stɒnɪʃɪŋ] adj [news, success, result] very surprising.

astonishment [ə'stɒnɪʃmənt] n a feeling of great surprise □ To my astonishment he actually agreed. □ She looked at me in astonishment.

astound [ə'staʊnd] vt to make <sb> feel very surprised and a little shocked □ What really astounded me was his complete lack of interest in his patients.

astounded [ə'staʊndəd] adj [person] who is very surprised at something that is hard to believe □ I was astounded at his rudeness.

astounding [ə'staʊndɪŋ] adj [behavior, result] so surprising or good that it is hard to believe □ She's an astounding performer.

astrakhan [æstrə'kæn] n gray or black curly fur made from the wool of lambs and often used to make coats and hats.

astray [ə'streɪ] adv to go astray [letter, package] to get lost □ My pen seems to have gone astray. ■ to lead sb astray to encourage or cause sb to behave in a bad or immoral way that is not usual for them.

astride [ə'straɪd] prep with one leg on either side of  etc □ He was sitting astride a powerful-looking motorbike.

astringent [ə'strɪndʒənt] ◇ adj -1. [lotion] that is able to tighten the skin; [drug] that is put on a wound to stop it from bleeding.

-2. [remark, criticism] severe. ◇ n an astringent drug or lotion.

astrologer [ə'strɒlədʒə] n a person who uses astrology and predicts what will happen in the future.

astrological [ˌæstrə'lɒdʒɪkl] adj [sign, prediction, chart] see astrology.

astrologist [ə'strɒlədʒəst] n = astrologer.

astrology [ə'strɒlədʒɪ] n the study of the positions and movements of the Sun, Moon, stars, and planets in the belief that they influence a person's character and behavior.

astronaut [ˈæstrənəʊt] n a person who is trained to travel in a spacecraft.

astronomer [ə'strɒnəmə] n a scientist who studies astronomy.

astronomical [ˌæstrə'nɒmɪkl] adj -1. [instrument, research] see astronomy. -2. [amount, size, price] very large □ She's a good lawyer, but her fees are astronomical.

astronomy [ə'strɒnəmɪ] n the scientific study of the Sun, Moon, stars, planets etc.

astrophysics [ˌæstrɒu'fɪzɪks] n the scientific study of the physical and chemical properties of the Sun, Moon, stars, planets etc.

AstroturfTM [ˈæstrɒʊtɜ:f] n a green plastic material that looks like grass and is used as a playing surface for sports.

astute [ə'stju:t] adj [person] that shows intelligence and an ability to understand people and situations □ an astute negotiator □ That was an astute move/investment.

asunder [ə'sʌndə] adv to tear sthg asunder to tear sthg apart or into pieces (literary use).

ASV (abbr of American Standard Version) n the ASV an American translation of the Bible.

asylum [ə'saɪləm] n -1. protection given by a government to somebody who has left a foreign country for political reasons □ She sought political asylum. -2. a mental hospital.

asymmetrical [ˌeɪsɪ'metrɪkl] adj that has two sides or parts which are different in size or shape.

at [stressed æt, unstressed ət] prep -1. used with places, especially places where an activity is taking place □ They arrived at the airport. □ We met at the hotel/campsite. □ She studied at Harvard. □ I live at 23, Eton Square. ■ at my father's at my father's house □ We had dinner at Jane's last night. -2. used to describe the exact position of something □ The car stopped at the traffic lights. □ There was a door at the end of the corridor. □ Turn left at the post office. -3. used with events that somebody is attending □ I'll see you at the conference/party. -4. at home/school/work in one's home/school/work (used with places where somebody lives, studies, works etc) □ I'm not at the office/factory today. □ Their daughter is at college in the States. -5. used to describe direction. ■ to look at sb/sthg to look in the direction of sb/sthg □ The children stood gazing at the animals. □ She stared/shouted at him. ■ to shoot at sb to shoot toward sb with the intention of hitting them □ He threw a stone at the window. -6. used to describe an exact time. ■ at elev- en o'clock/midnight when it is eleven o'clock/midnight □ The bus arrives at 11:45 am. □ We set out at noon/daybreak. □ We arranged to meet at a later date. ■ at Christmas during the period of Christmas □ What are you doing at Easter? -7. used to describe an exact age, speed, price etc. ■ she retired at (the age of) 60 she retired when she was 60 years old. ■ we sell jeans at £15 a pair jeans cost £15 a pair to our customers. ■ we are flying at (a height of) 30,000 feet the plane is 30,000 feet above the ground. -8. used after certain adjectives describing feelings, abilities etc. ■ amused at sthg amused because of sthg □ I was appalled/delighted at the news. ■ good/bad at sthg able/not able to do sthg well □ I'm useless at languages. -9. to be at work/play etc to be working/playing etc □ The country is at peace/war. □ She's out at lunch right now. -10. phrase to be at one's best to be in one's best condition □ I wasn't at my best on Monday night. □ This is French cooking at its finest.

◆ at all adv used for emphasis in negative sentences and in questions □ She's not at all happy about the decision. □ You can have anything at all. □ Do you know her at all? ■ not at all used as a polite reply when somebody has said thank you; used as a polite way of answering a request □ "It was kind of you to help." — "Not at all." □ "Do you mind if I sit here?" — "Not at all."

◆ at that adv used to give extra information about something □ All I got for my birthday was a bottle of wine, and a cheap one at that!

ate [eɪ] past tense of eat.

atheism [ˈeɪθɪzəm] n the belief that there is no God.

atheist [ˈeɪθɪst] n a person who does not believe that God exists.

Athens [ˈæθənz] the capital of Greece and the largest city in both ancient and modern Greece. POPULATION: 748,110.

athlete [ˈæθli:t] n a person who takes part in sports that involve physical strength or speed, e.g. running or jumping.

athlete's foot n a disease of the foot that affects the skin between the toes and on the sole so that it becomes sore and cracked.

athletic [æθ'letɪk] adj -1. [person] who is physically fit and good at sports □ a strong athletic body. -2. [competition, excellence] that is connected with athletics.

◆ athletics npl sports that involve strength or speed, e.g. running, throwing, or jumping.

Atlanta [æt'læntə] the state capital of Georgia, USA. POPULATION: 394,017.

Atlantic [ət'læntɪk]: the Atlantic (Ocean) the large ocean that separates the Americas from Europe and Africa □ the Atlantic coast/climate/crossing.

Atlantis [ət'læntɪs] an island that is supposed to have sunk into the Atlantic Ocean in ancient times.

atlas ['ætɫəs] n a book of maps.

Atlas: the Atlas Mountains a group of mountain ranges in northwestern Africa. HIGHEST POINT: 4,165 m.

ATM (abbr of automatic teller machine) n a machine outside a bank that gives out cash in the form of bills to customers who key in a special code.

atmosphere [ˈætməsfɪə] n -1. [around a planet] the gases that surround the Earth, planets, stars etc □ the Earth's atmosphere. -2. [in a room] the air in a particular place □ a hot, sticky atmosphere. -3. [of a town, house] the character or mood of a place, especially because of the people there □ The office has a relaxed and friendly atmosphere.

atmospheric [ˌætməs'ferɪk] adj -1. [pressure, pollution] that is connected with the Earth's atmosphere. -2. [movie, music, scene] that has a special mood, often a mysterious or exciting one.

ATO (abbr of Australian Taxation Office) n the ATO the Australian government department responsible for collecting taxes.

atoll [ˈætɒl] n a circular coral reef or group of coral islands around a lagoon.

atom [ˈætəm] n -1. PHYSICS the smallest amount of a substance that can combine and react with other substances. -2. an atom of sthg a very small amount of sthg □ There's not an atom of truth in it.

atom bomb n a bomb which explodes because of the energy that is released when atoms are split.

atomic [ə'tɒmɪk] adj -1. [power station, submarine, weapon] that uses or is produced by atomic energy □ atomic power □ an atomic reactor. -2. [structure, weight] that is connected with the atom.

atomic bomb n = atom bomb.

atomic energy n the energy that is released as a result of splitting or combining atoms.

Atomic Energy Authority n the Atomic Energy Authority the British government agency that controls research and development in atomic energy.

Atomic Energy Commission n the Atomic Energy Commission the US government agency that controls research and development in atomic energy.

atomic number n the number given to elements in the periodic table that indicates the number of protons in the nucleus of an atom.

atomizer, -iser [ˈætəmaɪzə] n a device used to spray a liquid, e.g. a perfume or medicine, by forcing it through a small opening.

atone [ə'təʊn] vi to atone for sthg [for one's sins, crime, bad behavior] to show that one is sorry for sthg bad that one has done by doing something good □ He was anxious to atone for his past misdeeds.

atonement [ə'təʊnmənt] n: see atone □ It was a gesture of atonement for wrongs committed during the war.

A to Z n GB a street plan of a town, with an alphabetical list of street names.

ATP n abbr of Association of Tennis Professionals.

atrocious [ə'truːʃəs] adj -1. [treatment, crime] that is very cruel and violent in a way that shocks people □ an atrocious act of cruelty. -2. [handwriting, conditions] that one thinks is very bad □ The weather/His behavior was atrocious.

atrocious [ə'truːʃəs] (pl atrocious) n a very cruel and violent act that shocks people □ The army was accused of committing atrocious against innocent civilians.

attach [ə'tætʃ] vt -1. to join or fix <sthg> to something else with a pin, clip etc □ Please attach a recent photograph to your application. -2. to attach significance/importance etc to sthg [to a fact, event, remark] to consider sthg to be significant/important etc □ The university attaches a great deal of importance to individual tuition.

attaché [US ˌætə'ʃeɪ, GB ə'tæ:ʃeɪ] n a member of staff of an embassy who has expert knowledge of a particular subject □ a commercial attaché.

attaché case n a thin briefcase that is used for carrying documents and papers.

attached [ə'tætʃt] adj -1. [object] that is joined or fixed to something else □ Please refer to the attached leaflet for further details. □ a baby buggy with a sunshade attached. -2. to be attached to sthg [to a group, organization] to be working with sthg, usually for a short period of time □ He was attached to the WHO for a few months. -3. to be attached to sb/sthg to be fond of sb/sthg □ I've grown very attached to this old sweater.

attachment [ə'tætʃmənt] n -1. [for a device, piece of equipment] an extra part that can be attached to a machine to do a particular job □ a food mixer with a grinder attachment. -2. [to a person, object] a feeling of fondness for somebody or something □ She forms attachments easily.

attack [ə'tæk] ◇ n -1. [by fighting, hitting] an act of physical violence against somebody □ The attack was racially motivated. □ The recent spate of attacks on tourists is causing concern. -2. MILITARY an attempt by an army to capture or destroy a place belonging to the enemy □ The Serbs had launched an attack on Mostar. -3. [in words, writing] a speech, statement, or piece of writing that contains strong criticism □ He launched a scathing attack on the press. -4. [of an illness] a sudden and severe period of a particular kind of pain or illness □ an attack of asthma/indigestion. -5. an attack of nerves/shyness etc a sudden feeling of nervousness/shyness etc that one cannot control □ He had a panic/an anxiety attack.

◇ vt -1. [person] to use violence to hurt <sb> physically □ He was attacked on his way home. -2. MILITARY to try to capture or destroy . -3. [person, idea, proposal] to criticize <sb/sthg> strongly □ She wrote an article attacking government economic policies. -4. [body, plant, tree] to have a damaging effect on <sthg> □ The disease at- tacks the immune system. -5. [work, question] to start to deal with  with energy and determination □ Let's go and attack those dirty dishes!

◇ vi -1. [person, animal] to try to hurt another person or animal physically. -2. MILITARY to start using weapons against an enemy in order to defeat them or destroy a place. -3. SPORT to try to score goals or points in soccer, hockey etc by moving forward against the other team.

attacker [ə'tækə] n -1. a person who physically attacks somebody □ She described her attacker as tall, with long black hair. -2. SPORT one of the players in a team whose main role is to score goals or points.

attain [ə'teɪn] vt [goal, success, knowledge] to get or achieve <sthg that one wants>, usually with some effort or after a period of waiting □ She strives to attain perfection in everything she does.

attainable [ə'teɪnəbl] adj [target, goal] that can be achieved □ Set yourself attainable goals.

attainment [ə'teɪnmənt] n -1. one's attainments skills that one usually acquires with some effort or over a period of time □ literary attainments □ educational attainments. -2. see attain □ one of the many ways of measuring attainment in the classroom.

attempt [ə'tempt] ◇ n the act of trying to do something □ He made no attempt to help. □ They raised my salary in an attempt to persuade me to stay. □ Stephen made a faint attempt at a smile. ■ an attempt on sb's life an attempt to kill sb. ◇ vt to try to do <sthg difficult, dangerous, or unusual> at a particular time □ They're attempting a takeover of the MCT corporation. □ an attempted suicide/murder □ They're attempting to extradite the terrorists.

attend [ə'tend] ◇ vt -1. [meeting, conference] to be present at <an event> □ The service was attended by the President and his wife. -2. [school, church] to go regularly to . ◇ vi to be present at a meeting, conference etc □ Unfortunately I was unable to attend.

◆ attend to vt fus -1. to attend to sthg [to a problem, matter, one's work] to deal with sthg □ Is there any more business to attend to? -2. to attend to sb [to a customer, child] to take care of sb □ Dr. Harris was attending to a patient when I arrived.

attendance [ə'tendəns] n -1. the number of people who are present at an event or who go to a school, church etc □ Attendance has fallen off recently. □ The school has a poor attendance record. -2. see attend □ We do insist on regular attendance.

attendant [ə'tendənt] ◇ n a person whose job is to help the public in a particular place □ a museum/cloakroom attendant. ◇ adj [difficulties, problems] that are linked to what has just been mentioned (formal use) □ high-speed travel and its attendant dangers.

attention [ə'tenʃn] ◇ n -1. the state in which one is looking at and thinking about somebody or something at the same time, usually as a sign that one is interested □ Can I have your attention please! □ World attention is focused on the plight of the hostages. □ She likes to be the center of attention. □ This job requires a lot of attention to detail. ■ to bring sthg to sb's attention, to draw sb's attention to sthg to make sb notice sthg such as a problem □ She drew his attention to an error in the text. ■ to attract OR catch sb's attention to make sb notice one □ She tried to attract his attention by honking her horn. ■ to pay attention to sb/sthg to listen to and watch sb/sthg very carefully □ Pay no attention to him, he's in a bad mood this morning. □ Pay particular attention to spelling. ■ 'for the attention of...' a phrase used on a memo, fax, letter etc to say who it is for. -2. the act of taking care of or dealing with somebody or something □ This matter requires your immediate attention. □ She needs medical attention. -3. MILITARY to stand to attention to stand straight and not move. ◇ excl a word used to tell soldiers to stand to attention.

attentive [ə'tentɪv] adj -1. [audience, pupil] who pays attention □ Sarah was a bright, attentive student. -2. [staff] who is helpful and caring □ We try to be attentive to the needs of our guests. □ a most attentive host.

attentively [ə'tentɪvli] adv: see attentive □ They listened attentively to what I had to say.

attenuate [ə'tenjuəɪt] vt to reduce <the size, strength, value> etc of something (formal use).

attest [ə'test] ◇ vt to attest that... to say, show, or prove that something is true. ◇ vi: His diaries attest to the fact that his family was very important to him.

attic ['ætɪk] n a room or space just beneath the roof of a house, used to store things.

attire [ə'taɪə] n the clothes that somebody is wearing (formal use) □ The men were in formal attire.

attitude ['ætətɪtju:d] n -1. the way that one thinks and feels about something or somebody □ They take a relaxed attitude to OR toward latecomers. -2. the way that one behaves toward somebody □ I don't like his attitude. -3. a confident and slightly aggressive manner (informal use) □ That boy has attitude!

Attlee ['ætlɪ], Clement (1883–1967) British Prime Minister from 1945 to 1951. His government introduced the National Health Service, nationalized many industries, and gave independence to India and Burma.

attn abbr of for the attention of.

attorney [ə'tɜ:ni] n US a person whose job is to give people legal advice and to represent them in court.

attorney general (pl attorneys general) n an important government official in charge of legal affairs.

attract [ə'trækt] vt -1. [tourists, customers] to cause <sb> to come by offering something they want □ The book fair attracts publishers from all over the world. □ The Chamber of Commerce is trying to attract business to the area.

-2. to be attracted to sb to find sb attractive □ I've always been attracted to older men.
 -3. [criticism, interest] to be the cause of  □ The proposals attracted widespread support. -4. [dust, dirt] to cause <sthg> to move near or settle □ Magnets attract metal objects. □ Honey attracts wasps.

attraction [ə'trækʃn] n -1. the feeling one has for somebody when one is attracted to them □ They felt an instant attraction to each other. -2. [of a place, idea] the quality that something has of being interesting or pleasant □ My wife loves golf but I don't see the attraction myself. -3. [for tourists, visitors] an event or place that attracts people to it □ a tourist attraction.

attractive [ə'træktɪv] adj -1. [person, body, face] that has a pleasant appearance, especially in a way that people find sexually interesting; [object, place] that has a pleasant appearance □ I've always found her attractive. □ The house is situated in a very attractive spot. -2. [offer, salary, investment] that makes people want it because they are likely to benefit from it □ We offer attractive terms for borrowers.

attractively [ə'træktɪvli] adv -1. attractively arranged/designed etc arranged/designed etc in a way that is pleasant to look at □ an attractively illustrated brochure. -2. attractively priced [goods, house] not expensive.

attributable [ə'trɪbjʊtəbl] adj to be attributable to sthg to be likely to be caused by sthg □ The drop in revenue is directly attributable to our declining market share.

attribute [vɪ ə'trɪbjʊt, n 'ætrɪbjʊt] ◇ vt -1. to attribute sthg to sthg [success, failure, win] to believe sthg to be the result of sthg □ The collapse of the peace talks is being attributed to extremists. □ What do you attribute his immense popularity to? -2. to attribute sthg to sb [painting, poem, remark] to say that sthg was said, written, painted etc by sb □ The drawing has been attributed to Mantegna. ◇ n a particular quality or feature of somebody or something □ physical/mental attributes □ One can count honesty and fairness amongst her many attributes.

attribution [ˌætrɪ'bju:ʃn] n: see attribute.

attrition [ə'trɪʃn] n -1. a war of attrition a fight, war, or dispute in which one side is weakened by repeated attacks. -2. US BUSINESS a reduction in the number of employees in a company because some resign, retire, or die.

attuned [ə'tju:nd] adj to be attuned to sthg to understand and appreciate sthg □ I gradually became attuned to their way of thinking.

Atty. Gen. abbr of Attorney General.

ATV (abbr of all terrain vehicle) n a strongly built motor vehicle with three or four wheels, for use on rough ground.

atypical [eɪ'tɪpɪkl] adj not typical.

aubergine ['ɔʊbəʒi:n] n GB a vegetable with shiny purple skin and soft white flesh.

auburn ['ɔ:bəʁn] adj [hair] reddish-brown.

Auckland ['ɔ:klənd] the largest city and main port of New Zealand, in the northern part of North Island. POPULATION: 840,000.

auction ['ɔ:kʃn] ◇ n a sale where items are sold to the person who offers the most money □ The house is to be sold at OR by auction. ■ to put sthg up for auction to offer sthg for sale at an auction. ◇ vt [car, house, property] to sell <sthg> at an auction.

◆ auction off vt sep to auction sthg off to auction sthg.

auctioneer [ˌɔ:kʃə'nɪə] n a person whose job is to call out the prices that people bid at an auction and to accept the highest bid.

AUD abbr of Australian dollar.

audacious [ɔ:'deɪʃəs] adj [person, plan, remark] that is daring and takes risks.

audacity [ɔ:'dæsəti] n: see audacious □ He had the audacity to say it wasn't good enough.

Auden ['ɔ:dn], W. H. (1907–1973) a British poet whose modern style of writing influenced many other writers in the 1930s and 1940s. He became a US citizen in 1946.

audible ['ɔ:dəbl] adj [sound, voice] that can be heard □ His words were barely audible. □ The background noise was audible on the recording.

audience ['ɔ:djəns] n -1. the people listening to or watching a concert, play, TV program etc; the people who read the books of a particular author □ She invited a member of the audience up on stage. □ Her novels deserve to have a wider audience. -2. a formal meeting with an important person □ He was granted an audience with the Pope.

audio ['ɔ:diəʊ] adj audio equipment/tape equipment/tape that records or reproduces sound □ an audio recording.

audiotypist ['ɔ:diəʊtaɪpəst] n GB a person whose job is to type letters, memos etc that have been recorded on a tape recorder.

audiovisual [ˌɔ:diəʊ'vɪʒuəl] adj [equipment, material] that involves the use of pictures and recorded sounds.

audit ['ɔ:dət] ◇ n an official examination, usually once a year, of the accounts of a company, an organization, or a person □ a routine audit of the company's records. ◇ vt -1. [company, organization, person] to carry out the audit of <sb/sthg>. -2. [class] to go to  at college or university without taking exams.

audition [ɔ:'dɪʃn] ◇ n a short performance by a performer, e.g. an actor or musician, for a possible employer. ◇ vi to perform in an audition □ Laura's auditioning for a part in the new musical.

auditor ['ɔ:ditə] n a person whose job is to audit accounts.

auditorium [ˌɔ:di'tɔ:riəm] (pl auditoriums OR auditoria [-riə]) n -1. the part of a theater or concert hall where the audience sits. -2. a building for public meetings.

Audubon ['ɔ:ɪdəʊn], John James (1785–1851) a US artist and naturalist, well-known for his paintings of birds.

au fait [əu'feɪ] adj to be au fait with sthg GB

[with a system, procedure] to know sthg □ He didn't seem very au fait with the regulations.

Aug. abbr of August.

augment [ɔ:'gʌmənt] vt [amount, number, income] to make <sthg> bigger or larger by adding something to it (formal use) □ a revised and augmented edition of the dictionary.

augur ['ɔ:gʊə] vi to augur well/badly to be a sign that things will go well/badly in the future □ These disagreements augur badly for next week's meeting.

augment [ɔ:'gʌst] adj [gathering, person] that seems dignified and impressive (literary use).

August ['ɔ:gʌst] n the eighth month of the year in the Western calendar; see also February.

Auld Lang Syne [ɔ:ldlæŋ'zain] n a Scottish song that is sung at midnight on December 31 to celebrate the New Year.

aunt [US ænt, GB a:nt] n the sister of one's mother or father; the wife of one's uncle.

auntie, aunty [US 'ænti, GB 'a:nti] (pl aunties) n = aunt (informal use).

au pair [oʊ'peə] n a young woman, usually a foreigner, who lives with a family in order to learn the language, and helps with the housework or taking care of the family's children.

aura ['ɔ:rə] n [of mystery, confidence] a particular feeling or quality that seems to surround a person or place □ The town still has an aura of fading grandeur about it.

aural ['ɔ:rəl] adj [skill, ability, comprehension] that is connected with hearing.

aurally ['ɔ:rəli] adv aurally handicapped deaf.

auspices ['ɔ:spɪsɪz] npl under the auspices of sb/sthg with the support and approval of sb/sthg.

auspicious [ɔ:'spɪʃəs] adj [start, occasion, day] that makes one think that something will be successful in the future □ It was hardly an auspicious beginning to the vacation.

Aussie ['ɒzi] (informal use) ◇ adj Australian. ◇ n an Australian.

Austen ['ɒstən], Jane (1775–1817) a British novelist whose books, including Emma and Pride and Prejudice, describe middle-class English life.

austere [ɔ:'stiəri] adj -1. [way of life, home] that is simple and has very little comfort or pleasure; [person, manner] very serious □ the simple and austere dress of a nun. -2. [room, building] that is plain and has no decoration □ The design of the house is austere and elegant, using simple geometric shapes.

austerity [ɔ:'sterəti] n -1. see austere. -2. difficult economic conditions in which the amount of money people spend, e.g. on luxuries, has to be limited □ an austerity budget/program.

Australasia [ɔ:stɹə'leɪzə] Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, and their neighboring islands.

Australia [ɔ:'streɪljə] a country that is an island lying between the Indian Ocean and the Pacific Ocean. It consists mainly of desert, with tropical forest in the north and most major cities in the south and east. SIZE: 7,700,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 17,800,000 (Australians). CAPITAL: Canberra. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: Australian dollar.

Australia Day n a public holiday in Australia, on the first Monday after January 26.

🇦🇺 AUSTRALIA DAY

Australia Day commemorates the landing of the first British convict ships in Australia in 1788. It is a relaxed, informal public holiday, when most people have a picnic or a barbecue with their family or friends. Some people hang flags outside their houses, and some cities have parades, street parties, and firework displays.

Australian [ɒ'streɪljən] n & adj: see Australia.

Australian Capital Territory a district in southeastern Australia that does not belong to any state. It contains Canberra, the capital. POPULATION: 263,085.

Australian Labor Party n → ALP.

Australian Rules football n an Australian game like rugby that is played on an oval pitch. Points are scored by kicking the ball between one of the two sets of posts at each end. Players are allowed to run with the ball, but they must bounce it every ten yards.

Austria ['ɒstriə] a mountainous country in central Europe. It used to be the center of a large empire, and is now a republic. SIZE: 84,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 7,900,000 (Austrians). CAPITAL: Vienna. LANGUAGE: German. CURRENCY: schilling.

Austrian ['ɒstriən] n & adj: see Austria.

AUT (abbr of Association of University Teachers) n the AUT a British labor union for teachers and researchers in higher education.

authentic [ɔ:'θentɪk] adj -1. [document, painting, food] that is real rather than an imitation □ Try Café Fidel for the authentic taste of Cuban cooking. -2. [account, testimony] that is accurate and can be believed □ an authentic account of life in the prison camps.

authenticate [ɔ:'θentɪkeɪt] vt [painting, document] to prove that <sthg> is authentic.

authenticity [ɔ:'θen'tɪsətɪ] n: see authentic □ Experts have confirmed the authenticity of the sculpture.

author ['ɔ:θə] n a writer of novels, articles, poems etc; the writer of a particular novel, article, poem etc □ the German author, Heinrich Mann □ The author of the book teaches at Yale.

authoritarian [ɔ:,θɔ:rə'teərɪən] adj [regime, parent, leader] who tells people what to do and does not let them make their own decisions (disapproving use).

authoritative [US ə'θɔ:rətɪv, GB -tətɪv] adj -1. [person, voice] that has authority and the power to make people obey □ My father was a tall, authoritative figure. -2. [study, account] that is complete and accurate and can be trusted □ an authoritative account of events leading up to the war.

authority [ˌɔːθərɪti] (pl authorities) n -1. an official group, e.g. a government department or an organization, that controls a particular activity for the public □ the local education authority. -2. [of a person, organization] the power or right to control and give orders to people □ They have little respect for authority. □ They claim the UN has no authority to intervene. □ Each officer has authority over 500 men. □ It's for the people in authority to decide. -3. [to do something] official permission □ Who gave you the authority to enter the area? -4. [on a subject] an expert □ She's an authority on China. -5. to have it on good authority to believe something because one heard it from somebody who can be trusted □ I have it on good authority that Simpson is intending to resign.

◆ authorities npl the authorities the people who are in a position of authority, e.g. the government □ The authorities have got to do something about the state of the roads.

authorization [ˌɔːθəraɪ'zeɪʃn] n: see authorize □ These expenses need your authorization.

authorize, -ise ['ɔːθəraɪz] vt [payment, loan] to give official permission for <sthg>, especially by signing a document □ She is authorized to sign checks for the company.

Authorized Version [ˌɔːθəraɪzɪd-] n the Authorized Version the English translation of the Bible published in 1611.

authorship ['ɔːθə'ʃɪp] n [of a play, novel, poem] the fact of being the author of something □ No one has yet claimed authorship of the article.

autistic [ɔː'tɪstɪk] adj [person] who suffers from a form of mental illness that makes communication with other people very difficult.

auto ['ɔːtəʊ] (pl autos) n US a car □ the auto industry □ an auto accident.

autobiographical [ˌɔːtəbaɪə'græfɪkəl] adj [novel, account, story] that describes events that took place in the life of the author.

autobiography [ˌɔːtəbaɪ'ɒgrəfi] (pl autobiographies) n the story of a person's own life that is written by that person.

autocrat ['ɔːtəkræt] n a person who rules a state or company with complete power without asking the opinions of other people.

autocratic [ˌɔːtə'krætɪk] adj [person, rule, attitude] see autocrat □ As a father he was stern and autocratic.

autocross ['ɔːtəʊkrɒs] n GB the sport of racing cars over rough grass.

AutocueTM ['ɔːtəʊkjʊ:] n GB a device which shows people the words they have to say on television so that they can talk while looking directly at the camera.

autofocus ['ɔːtəʊfəʊkəs] n a device in a camera that focuses the lens automatically.

autograph [US 'ɔːtəgræf, GB -græf] ◇ n a famous person's signature. ◇ vt [photo, book] to sign <sthg> with one's autograph.

AutomatTM ['ɔːtəmət] n US a type of restaurant where food can be bought from vending machines.

automata [ɔː'tɒmətə] plural of automaton.

automate ['ɔːtəmeɪt] vt [process, factory] to change <sthg> so that the work is done by machines instead of people.

automatic [ˌɔːtə'mætɪk] ◇ adj -1. [machine, weapon] that can perform particular functions with little human control □ an automatic barrier/gearbox. -2. [gesture, response] that is done without thinking □ My automatic reaction was to deny it. -3. [penalty, right, increase] that always happens or follows as a result of something and cannot be avoided □ Ticket inspectors can impose an automatic fine of £10. □ Customers have no automatic entitlement to a refund.

◇ n -1. AUTO a car in which the gears change automatically as the speed increases and decreases □ I learned to drive in an automatic. -2. MILITARY a gun that keeps reloading and firing automatically when the trigger is pressed. -3. a washing machine that washes, rinses, spins etc automatically.

automatically [ˌɔːtə'mætɪkəlɪ] adv [work, smile, increase] see automatic □ All members automatically receive free legal advice. □ The kettle switches off automatically.

automatic pilot n -1. a device on an aircraft or ship that keeps it on course automatically. -2. to be on automatic pilot [person] to be doing something without thinking about it, e.g. because one is tired or has done it many times before.

automation [ˌɔːtə'meɪʃn] n [of a process, factory] the use of machines to do jobs previously done by people □ Automation means that far fewer miners are now needed to work underground.

automaton [ɔː'tɒmətən] (pl automatons OR automata) n -1. a robot. -2. a person who does things without thought or emotion (disapproving use).

automobile ['ɔːtəməbi:l] n a car.

automotive [ˌɔːtə'məʊtɪv] adj [technology, industry] that is concerned with cars.

autonomous [ɔː'tɒnəməs] adj [region, organization] that governs itself.

autonomy [ɔː'tɒnəmi] n [of a region, organization] the freedom to govern itself □ They're fighting to regain their autonomy.

autopilot ['ɔːtəʊpaɪlət] n = automatic pilot.

autopsy ['ɔːtəpsɪ] (pl autopsies) n a medical examination of a dead body in order to find out why the person died.

autoteller ['ɔːtəʊtelə] n US & AUS a machine outside a bank that gives out cash in the form of bills to customers who key in a special code.

autumn ['ɔːtəm] n the season between summer and winter when leaves change color and start to fall □ I'm going there in the OR in autumn. □ autumn colors/leaves/weather.

autumnal [ɔː'tʌmənəl] adj [colors, equinox, weather] see autumn.

auxiliary [ɔːgɪ'zɪjəri] (pl auxiliaries) ◇ adj -1. [staff, nurse, soldier] whose job is to provide assistance to more highly qualified people.

ple. -2. [equipment, generator] that is used when necessary in addition to the main equipment. ◇ n -1. a person who helps more highly qualified people, especially nurses or soldiers □ nursing auxiliaries. -2. = auxiliary verb.

auxiliary verb n a verb, e.g. be, do, or have, that is used with the main verb to show differences in tense, person, and voice.

Av. abbr of avenue.

AV ◇ n abbr of Authorized Version. ◇ abbr of audiovisual.

avail [ə'veɪl] ◇ n to no avail without success □ We tried, but it was to little avail. ◇ vt to avail oneself of sthg [of a facility, opportunity] to accept or use sthg □ I availed myself of his services.

availability [ə'veɪlə'bɪlətɪ] n: see available □ The industry relies heavily upon the availability of raw materials.

available [ə'veɪləbl] adj -1. [product, service] that can be used, bought, or obtained □ We've tried all available sources. □ There are several options available to us. □ 'Cars available for rent.' -2. [person] who is not busy and can be met, spoken to, chosen for a job etc □ The senator was not available for comment. □ I can make myself available to see him next week.

avalanche [US 'ævələʃ, GB -lɑ:nʃ] n -1. [of snow, rocks] a large amount of snow or rocks that falls down the side of a mountain □ Greg was killed in an avalanche. -2. [of complaints, calls] a large amount of things that arrive somewhere at the same time □ They received an avalanche of letters after the appeal.

avant-garde [US ɑ:vɑ:n'gɑ:rd, GB ʌvɒŋ'gɑ:rd] adj [theater, artist] modern and experimental.

avarice ['ævərɪs] n greed, especially for money (formal use).

avaricious [,ævə'riʃəs] adj [person] who shows avarice (formal use).

avdp. (abbr of avoirdupois) a system for measuring weight that uses ounces, pounds, hundredweights etc.

Ave. abbr of avenue.

avenge [ə'vendʒ] vt [death, crime, wrong] to hurt or punish the person responsible for <sthg> □ Chet swore to avenge his sister's murder.

avenue ['ævənju:] n -1. a wide street, often with trees or tall buildings on each side □ Fifth Avenue. -2. a possible way of achieving something □ We need to explore every avenue that is open to us.

average ['ævərɪdʒ] ◇ n -1. a result calculated by adding together a number of figures and dividing the total by that number □ They produce an average of ten new models a year. □ The game has increased his average by 24 points. -2. the normal amount or standard □ Class sizes here are above the national average. ■ on average a phrase used to describe a number that is the average of several different numbers □ On average 100 people die every day from smoking-related diseases.

◇ adj -1. [age, amount, salary] that represents an average □ Average earnings are around $100 a week. -2. [person, product] that is typical □ The average American takes two weeks' vacation a year. -3. [work, performance] that is neither good nor bad □ The food was just average. □ This year's results were above average.

◇ vt to do, make, get etc  on average □ The factory averages ten machines per day.

◆ average out ◇ vt sep to average sthg out [figures, amounts] to calculate the average of two or more numbers. ◇ vi to average out at sthg to represent an average of sthg when calculated over a period of time □ The bills average out at $50 a month.

averse [ə'vɜ:ʃs] adj not to be averse to sthg to like sthg □ I'm not averse to a glass of Scotch now and then.

aversion [ə'vɜ:ʃn] n an aversion to sb/sthg a strong dislike for sb/sthg □ That cruise did nothing to cure my aversion to boats. □ Sport is one of my pet aversions.

avert [ə'vɜ:ʃt] vt -1. [danger, accident] to stop <sthg bad> from happening □ Disaster was averted just in time. -2. to turn away <one's eyes, gaze> etc in order not to see something □ He politely averted his eyes as I opened the safe.

aviary ['eɪvjəri] (pl aviaries) n a large cage or building where birds are kept.

aviation [eɪvɪ'eɪʃn] n the science or business of designing, building, and flying aircraft.

avid ['ævɪd] adj an avid reader/supporter etc a very enthusiastic and eager reader/supporter etc □ avid viewers of this popular TV show.

avidly ['ævɪdli] adv [read, listen] see avid.

avocado [ˌævə'kɑ:dou] (pl avocados OR avocadoes) n an avocado (pear) a pear-shaped tropical fruit with thin, hard, dark-green skin, pale-green flesh, and a large hard seed in the middle.

avoid [ə'vɔɪd] vt -1. to prevent  etc from happening □ They are keen to avoid any kind of confrontation. ■ to avoid doing sthg to deliberately not do sthg, e.g. because it may be dangerous or cause problems □ Try to avoid giving them too much information. -2. to keep away from ; to keep the conversation away from  □ I left early to avoid the rush hour. □ Stop trying to avoid the issue.

avoidable [ə'vɔɪdəbl] adj [accident, result, disease] that can be avoided □ avoidable losses.

avoidance [ə'vɔɪdəns] n → tax avoidance.

avowed [ə'vaʊd] adj -1. an avowed supporter/opponent etc a person who has told everybody that they are a supporter/opponent etc of something □ He is an avowed atheist. -2. an avowed belief/intention a very strong belief/intention □ It's my avowed belief that nuclear weapons are wrong.

AWACS ['eɪwæks] (abbr of airborne warning and control system) n a US military aircraft used for watching the movements of enemy armies, planes etc.

await [ə'weɪt] vt -1. [person, event, reply] to wait for <sb/sthg> □ He is currently awaiting trial for drugs smuggling. -2. to be going to happen to <sb> in the future □ Who knows what discoveries await us in the next century?

awake [ə'weɪk] (pt awoke, pp awoken) ◇ adj to be awake [person, animal] not to be sleeping □ Hey! Are you awake? □ Lewis was already awake by the time I arrived. ■ to be wide awake to be completely awake. ◇ vt -1. (literary use) to wake  up □ I was awoken by a noise in the night. -2. [curiosity, interest] to cause somebody to have  □ His suspicions were awoken by the man's strange accent. ◇ vi [person, animal] to wake up.

awaken [ə'weɪkən] vi & vt = awake.

awakening [ə'weɪkənɪŋ] n the start of a particular feeling □ the awakening of sexual desire. ■ to have a rude awakening to suddenly realize something that is difficult to accept.

award [ə'wɔ:d] ◇ n -1. a prize or reward given to somebody, usually for doing something well □ the annual movie and television awards □ an award ceremony. -2. LAW a sum of money that a judge decides should be given to somebody □ a compensation award. ◇ vt to award sb sthg. to award sthg to sb to give sb sthg as an award □ The court awarded her $1,000 in damages. □ The business prize was awarded to Splendid Productions.

award wage n in Australia, the minimum wage that can legally be paid for a particular type of work.

aware [ə'weə] adj -1. to be aware of sthg [of a fact, situation, sb's existence] to know about sthg, especially sthg one understands □ Are you aware of the problems/risks involved? □ I'm well aware that this is not the perfect solution. -2. to be aware of sthg/sb to realize that sthg/sb is present because one can hear, smell, or see them □ I gradually became aware that they couldn't understand a word of what I was saying. -3. [person] who understands a lot about a particular subject because they think it is important □ She's very politically aware.

awareness [ə'weə'nəs] n: see aware □ We need to increase public awareness of the health risks.

awash [ə'wɒʃ] adj -1. to be awash [floor] to be covered with water □ After the floods, the whole town was awash. -2. to be awash with sthg [with people, litter] to have a lot or too much of sthg □ The room was suddenly awash with cameras and lights.

away [ə'weɪ] ◇ adv -1. to walk/move/drive away to walk/move/drive so that one is no longer in a place □ Go away and leave me alone! ■ to look or turn away to turn one's head so that one is no longer looking at something. -2. he stood ten feet away he stood at a distance of ten feet from me □ I don't live far away — it's only ten minutes' walk. □ We live four miles away from the city center. -3. two days/a month away two days/a month in the future □ The exams are only a week away now. -4. to be away (from work/school) not to be at work/school at a time when one would usually be there □ My boss was away on Tuesday because he had a cold. -5. to put sthg away to put sthg into a safe place where it cannot be seen □ She filed the papers away in a box on the shelf. -6. used to describe something that has disappeared. ■ the noise faded away the noise faded so that it could no longer be heard □ The lock on the gate had rusted away. ■ to give sthg away to give sthg to somebody so that one no longer has it □ She gave all her money away to charity. ■ to take sthg away to move sthg so that it is no longer there □ The police towed the car away. -7. to talk away to keep talking □ He was happily singing away to himself. ◇ adj SPORT [team, game] at the other team's ground or stadium.

awe [ɔ:] n a feeling of wonder and amazement mixed with fear □ She gazed in awe at the ancient ruins above her. □ He was filled with awe. ■ to be in awe of sb to feel great respect and admiration for sb, so that one is a little frightened of them □ I've always been slightly in awe of Prof. Jacob.

awesome ['ɔ:səm] adj [task, responsibility, power] that causes feelings of awe, especially because it is extremely difficult, large, powerful etc □ The building was an awesome achievement and we were very proud.

awestruck ['ɔ:stɹʌk] adj [person] who is full of awe.

awful ['ɔ:fl] adj -1. [pain, weather] that one thinks is very bad □ We had a really awful time there. □ You look awful! □ How awful for you! -2. an awful lot a large amount; very much (informal use) □ There's an awful lot of work to do. □ There's not an awful lot I can do about it.

awfully ['ɔ:flɪ] adv awfully sorry/good/difficult etc very sorry/good/difficult etc (informal use) □ The weather is awfully hot.

awhile [ə'waɪl] adv [stay, wait] for a short time.

awkward ['ɔ:kwɔ:d] adj -1. [person, movement] that shows no skill or grace □ He took a few awkward steps and then fell over. -2. [person, feeling] that is uncomfortable or embarrassed □ I felt awkward about accepting their invitation. -3. [person] who refuses to do what somebody wants (disapproving use) □ He's just being awkward. -4. [job, machine] that is difficult to do, use, carry etc; [shape, size, design] that makes something difficult to use, carry etc □ It's an awkward place to find. □ The table was an awkward shape. -5. [situation, question, silence] that is embarrassing and difficult to deal with □ You've come at an awkward moment. □ I don't want to put you in an awkward position.

awkwardly ['ɔ:kwɔ:dli] adv [move, behave, speak] see awkward □ She was perched awkwardly on a bar stool.

awkwardness ['ɔ:kwɔ:d'nəs] n: see awkward □ I sensed a certain awkwardness in his manner.

awl [ɔ:l] n a pointed tool for making holes in wood or leather.

awning ['ɔ:nɪŋ] n a piece of canvas or plastic attached to the front of a building or vehicle to provide shelter from the sun or rain.

awoke [ə'wʊk] past tense of awake.

awoken [ə'wʊkən] past participle of awake.

AWOL [ˈeɪwɒl] abbr of absent without leave □ The new recruits have gone AWOL.

awry [ə'raɪ] adj -1. to be awry [picture, necktie] to be at an angle or twisted to one side instead of in the correct position. -2. to go awry [plan, test] to go wrong □ Things started to go awry just after you left the company.

AWU (abbr of Australian Workers' Union) n one of the largest labor unions in Australia.

ax US, axe GB [æks] ◇ n a tool with a sharp metal blade attached to a handle, used for chopping wood. ■ to have an ax to grind to have a selfish reason for being involved in a particular situation □ I have no particular ax to grind in this matter. ◇ vt to end  etc very suddenly, especially because there is not enough money to continue it □ Management has axed 300 jobs at the Detroit plant.

axes [ˈæksɪz] plural of axis.

axiom [ˈæksɪəm] n a statement or principle that is generally accepted to be true.

axiomatic [ˌæksɪə'mætɪk] adj that is accepted as true by most people (formal use).

axis [ˈæksɪs] (pl axes) n -1. [of a planet] an imaginary straight line that passes through the center of an object such as a planet, and that the object moves around □ The Earth rotates on its axis. -2. [of a shape] a real or imaginary line that divides a regular shape into two equal parts. -3. [on a graph] one of the two lines along the edge of a graph, one horizontal and the other vertical. The horizontal line is usually called the X axis and the vertical line the Y axis.

◆ Axis n the Axis (Powers) a term used to refer to Germany, Italy, and Japan, who fought the Allies in World War II.

axle [ˈæksl] n a rod on which a wheel turns or which connects a pair of wheels in a car, truck, bus etc.

ayatollah [ˌaɪə'tɒlə] n a religious leader of the Iranian Shiite Muslims.

aye [aɪ] adv GB yes (regional use).

◆ eyes npl the eyes the votes in favor of something at a meeting; the people who vote this way. ■ the eyes have it the majority of people have said yes.

Ayers Rock [ˈeɪəz-] a large rock (867 m) in central Australia that is an important tourist attraction. It is a sacred place for Australian Aborigines, and their name for it is Uluru.

AYH (abbr of American Youth Hostels) n the AYH the organization that runs youth hostels in the USA.

AZ abbr of Arizona.

azalea [ə'zeɪljə] n a small evergreen bush with pink or purple flowers.

Azores [US ˈeɪzɔːrɪz, GB ə'zɔːrɪz]: the Azores a group of volcanic islands in the Atlantic, belonging to Portugal. SIZE: 2,247 sq kms. POPULATION: 241,794. CAPITAL: Ponta Delgada.

AZT (abbr of azidothymidine) n a drug that is used in the treatment of AIDS.

Aztec [ˈæztek] ◇ n a member of an Indian people who ruled central Mexico until the Spanish defeated them in 1519. ◇ adj: Aztec gold.

azure [ˈæzɔː] adj [sky, sea] bright blue (literary use).

B

b [bi:] (pl b's OR bs), B [bi:] (pl B's OR Bs) n the second letter of the English alphabet.

◆ B n -1. MUSIC one of the notes in Western music. -2. EDUCATION a grade for a piece of work that is above average but not of the highest quality.

b. abbr of born.

BA n -1. (abbr of Bachelor of Arts) a first degree from a university in an arts or social science subject; a person who has this degree □ I have a BA in history. □ J. Scott BA □ She's a BA. -2. abbr of British Academy.

babble [ˈbæbl] ◇ n the sound of several people talking at once □ I could hear the babble of excited voices in the hall. ◇ vi to talk quickly so that one's words are not clear □ She was babbling on about some great friend of hers.

babe [beɪb] n -1. US a word that some people use when they are speaking to somebody they are fond of □ Hi, babe. -2. a baby (literary use) □ a babe in arms. -3. an attractive young woman □ Hollywood babes.

baboon [bə'buːn] n a large monkey with a long face and long tail that is found in Africa and Asia.

baby [ˈbeɪbi] (pl babies) n -1. a very young child, especially one who has not started to talk or walk; a very young animal □ a baby boy/girl □ my baby brother □ a baby lion/chimpanzee. -2. baby carrots/cauliflowers etc carrots/cauliflowers etc that are grown and picked to be eaten while they are still small. -3. a person who behaves in a childish way (disapproving use) □ Don't be such a baby! -4. a word used when speaking to somebody one is fond of (informal use) □ Don't worry, baby.

baby boomer [-buːməʃ] n a person born during a period when a lot of babies were born, especially just after World War II.

baby buggy n -1. US = baby carriage. -2. GB a light folding chair with small wheels and a handle that a young child can sit in to be pushed along.

baby carriage n US a small vehicle with four wheels and a folding cover that is pushed and in which babies are taken around.

baby food n food for babies, usually in the form of a thick smooth sauce, that is sold in packets or jars.

Baby-groTM [-grou] n GB an item of clothing for babies that covers the whole body from the feet to the neck.

babyish ['beɪbɪʃ] adj [person] who behaves in a childish way; [behavior, book, voice] that is not suitable for somebody who is not a baby (disapproving use) □ Stop being so silly and babyish! □ These toys seem a little babyish for an 11-year-old.

baby-sit vi to go to another family's home and look after the children while the parents go out □ I used to baby-sit for my neighbor.

baby-sitter [-sɪtə] n a person who baby-sits.

Bach [bɑ:k], Johann Sebastian (1685–1750) a German composer, considered one of the greatest in history. His works include the Brandenburg Concertos, the St Matthew Passion, and The Art of Fugue.

bachelor ['bætʃələ] n a man who is not married.

NOTE: Compare spinster.

Bachelor of Arts n → BA.

Bachelor of Science n → BSc.

bachelor's degree ['bætʃələz-] n a first degree from a university in any subject.

back [bæk] ◇ adv -1. to move/step back to move/step in the direction that is behind one, without turning around □ I moved my chair back from the fire. ■ she looked back over her shoulder she looked behind her over her shoulder. ■ stand back! stand farther away. ■ to sit/lie back to sit/lie in a more comfortable position, leaning backward. ■ she tied back her hair she tied her hair behind her head away from her face. -2. to be/go back to be in/go to the same place one started out from □ Call me as soon as you get back. □ We'll be back home soon. -3. to send sthg back to send sthg to the place or person that it has come from □ Put the book back where you found it. ■ to give sthg back to give sthg to the person who had it before □ I want my money back! -4. to go back to sleep to fall asleep again after being awake for a time □ When will he be back at work? □ Things are getting back to normal after the holidays. -5. to write back to write a reply to somebody □ He's not in his office right now; I'll get him to call you back. -6. back in January in January, in the past □ Please think back and see what you can remember. □ Our records reach back to 1965. -7. to be back (in fashion) [clothes, style] to be in fashion again □ The miniskirt is back.

◇ adj -1. a back door/wheel etc a door/wheel etc that is at the back, not the front, of a building or vehicle □ She drove and he sat in the back seat. -2. back rent rent that should have been paid before □ They owe $3000 in back rent. -3. a back road a road that is small and has few people and little traffic □ We'll take one of the back roads if the traffic's bad.

◇ n -1. the part of a person's body that goes from their neck to their bottom; the same part of an animal's body □ She broke her back in an accident. ■ to break the back of sthg [of a task, job] to complete the most difficult part of sthg □ I've finally managed to break the back of these accounts. ■ to do sthg behind sb's back to do sthg without sb knowing about it □ Simon has been talking about me behind my back. ■ to put sb's back up to annoy sb (informal use). ■ to stab sb in the back to harm the position, reputation etc of sb who is a friend or colleague. ■ to turn one's back on sb/sthg to ignore sb/sthg that needs one's help □ You can't just turn your back on me like this! -2. [of a door, hand, envelope] the side of something that is not usually seen or used □ I could only see the back of his head. □ He wrote his address on the back of the invitation. ■ to know a place like the back of one's hand to know a place very well. -3. [of a house, car, room] the part of a building, object etc that is furthest away from its front □ Turn to the back of the book. □ We sat at the back of the class. ■ in back of sthg US, at the back of sthg GB behind sthg □ I was in back of him in line. ■ the back of beyond GB a place that is a long way from any town or city (informal use) □ They live somewhere out in the back of beyond. -4. [of a seat] the part of a chair that supports one's back when one is sitting on it □ I hung my jacket over the back of a chair. -5. SPORT [in hockey, soccer] a player whose main job is to defend their team's goal.

◇ vi -1. [car, truck] to drive  somewhere backward □ She backed the car into the driveway. -2. [company, proposal, politician] to support <sb/sthg> by giving one's money, approval, vote etc □ Mr Denny is backing my proposal. -3. [horse, competitor, team] to place a bet on <sb/sthg> to win a race or competition □ I'm backing the Red Sox to win tonight. -4. [curtain, cover] to put a lining on .

◇ vi [car, truck, driver] He backed out of/into the parking space.

◆ back to back adv [sit, stand] with the backs facing or touching each other □ She placed the chairs back to back.

◆ back to front adv GB she was wearing her sweater back to front she was wearing her sweater with the back at the front and the front at the back.

◆ back away vi [person, animal] to move away from something while still facing it, usually because of fear.

◆ back down vi [person] to admit that one has been defeated or that one was wrong □ The government has finally backed down and withdrawn the new tax. □ She had to back down on OR over the penalty clauses.

◆ back off vi to move away from somebody while still facing them □ Back off, Donohue! This gun's loaded and I'm ready to use it.

◆ back onto vi to back onto sthg [onto a building, piece of land] to face sthg at the back □ Our house backs onto a park.

◆ back out vi to change one's mind about something that one had previously agreed to do □ Unfortunately, the Argentinian firm backed out of the deal at the last minute.

◆ back up ◇ vt sep -1. to back sb/sthg up [person, story, claim] to provide evidence in support of sb/sthg □ If they don't believe you I'll back you up. □ She backed up the story with a lot of photographic evidence. -2. to back a vehicle up to drive a vehicle backward. -3. COMPUTING to back up a file to make a copy of a file. ◇ vi -1. [vehicle, driver] Back up some more so you're not in the way. -2. COMPUTING You should always back up before you switch off the network.

backache ['bækeɪk] n pain in one's back □ I get terrible backache.

backbencher [ˌbæk'bentʃə] n a member of the British Parliament who does not hold an official post in either the Government or the Opposition.

backbenches [ˌbæk'bentʃɪz] npl the backbenches the rows of seats in the British House of Commons where backbenchers sit.

backbiting ['bækbɑːtɪŋ] n unkind or unpleasant things that are said about somebody who is not present □ I hate all the backbiting that goes on at the office.

backboard ['bækbɔːrd] n in basketball, the board behind the basket.

backbone ['bækbəʊn] n -1. [of a person, animal] the column of small bones that is in the center of a person's or animal's back. -2. [of an organization] the person or thing that does most of the work in an organization □ He's the backbone of this company. □ Industry has always been the backbone of our economy. -3. [in a person] strength of character □ He lacks the backbone to stand up to his boss.

backbreaking ['bækbreɪkɪŋ] adj [work, job] very hard and tiring □ Cleaning those stairs is back-breaking work.

back burner n to put sthg on the back burner [plan, project] to stop working on sthg for a time and intend to go back to it later □ She's put her career on the back burner while she has a family.

backchat n GB = backtalk.

backcloth ['bækkldθ] n GB THEATER = backdrop.

backcomb ['bækkəʊm] vt GB to comb <one's hair> from the ends to the roots to make it look thicker.

back copy n = back number.

back country n the back country US & AUS a country area away from any towns or cities.

backdate [ˌbæk'deɪt] vt [pay raise, check] to make  valid from a date that is earlier than the date on which it is signed, agreed etc □ They've backdated the increase to May.

back door n a door at the back of a building. ■ to get in through OR by the back door to get a job, position etc in a secret or unfair way.

backdrop ['bækdɒp] n -1. THEATER a painted cloth that is hung at the back of a theater stage. -2. the general situation that exists while a particular event is taking place □ Negotiations took place against a backdrop of continuing violence.

backer ['bækə] n a person who gives money or support to a business, project, proposal etc □ They had no difficulty finding financial backers for the new venture.

backfire [ˌbæk'faɪə] vi -1. [car, truck] to make loud noises like small explosions because the engine is not working properly. -2. [plan, idea, joke] to have the opposite result to the one that was intended □ The plan totally backfired on him.

backgammon ['bækgæmən] n a game for two people in which they throw dice and move small disks around a board marked with long triangles.

background ['bækgraʊnd] ◇ n -1. the part of a picture or view that is behind the things that are or seem to be close to one □ He painted her standing against a background of trees. ■ to be in the background [scenery, building, figure] to be behind the main thing that one is looking at; [music, sound] to be heard at the same time as the main thing that one is listening to, but not as clearly □ In the background was a tall building. □ I could hear music playing in the background. ■ to remain OR stay in the background to try not to attract people's attention □ He prefers to remain in the background. -2. [to an event, situation] the historical, social, or political situation that explains a particular event or situation □ the background to the war in former Yugoslavia. -3. [of a person] one's family, education, or experience □ He comes from a very poor background. □ She has a background in management training.

◇ comp -1. background music/noise music/noise that is heard in the background. -2. background reading/information etc reading/information etc that adds to one's knowledge of the main subject.

backhand ['bækhænd] n [in tennis, squash] a shot made by hitting the ball with one's arm across one's body so that the back of one's hand is facing the direction of the shot □ a backhand volley.

NOTE: Compare forehand.

backhanded ['bækhændəd] adj a backhanded compliment a remark that seems to be a compliment but could also be an insult.

backing ['bækɪŋ] n -1. [for a person, project] support, usually financial or official □ The idea has received government backing. □ The project has the full backing of the company chairman. -2. [of an object] something that is attached to the back of an object to make it stronger or to give it a particular quality □ The rug has a special nonslip backing. -3. MUSIC the musical accompaniment to a song or singer, especially in pop music □ backing vocals/track □ a backing singer/group.

back issue n = back number.

backlash ['bæklæʃ] n a strong or violent reaction against an idea, belief etc, especially one that has become dominant in society □ a feminist/conservative backlash □ Tax increases provoked a backlash against the government in last year's local elections.

backless ['bækləs] adj [dress, top, swimsuit] that does not cover the back.

backlog ['bæklɒg] n [of work, papers, letters] a large amount of things that are still waiting to be dealt with □ There's a huge backlog of correspondence to get through.

back number n an old issue of a newspaper, magazine etc.

backpack ['bækpæk] n a bag that one carries on one's back, especially for walking, mountaineering etc.

backpacker ['bækpækə] n a person who goes backpacking.

backpacking ['bækpækiŋ] n to go backpacking to travel with a backpack.

back pay n money owed to an employee that should have been paid earlier □ I'm owed six months' back pay.

backpedal ['bækpɛdɪ] (US pt & pp backpedaled, cont backpedaling, GB pt & pp backpedalled, cont backpedalling) vi to say or do something different from what one said, promised, or did before □ Management has been accused of backpedaling on promised pay increases.

back seat n the seat in the back of a car. ■ to take a back seat to take a less important part than before in an activity or group □ Your social life is just going to have to take a back seat until the exams are over.

back-seat driver n a passenger in a car who gives unwanted advice to the driver on how to drive (humorous use).

backside ['bæksaɪd] n one's bottom (informal use) □ He sits on his backside all day long doing nothing.

backslapping ['bækslæpiŋ] n behavior in which people praise each other too much for something successful they have done □ There was a lot of mutual backslapping and not much serious discussion.

backslash ['bækslæʃ] n the symbol (/) found on a keyboard and used to separate words, numbers, or letters.

backslide ['bækslaɪd] (pt & pp backslid) vi to start doing something bad again after having stopped doing it □ Critics accused the government of backsliding on the issue of welfare.

backspace ['bækspeɪs] ◇ n the key on the keyboard of a word processor or typewriter that moves the cursor or carriage back toward the beginning of the line. ◇ vi to use the backspace key.

backstage [,bæk'steɪdʒ] adv behind the stage in a theater, where the actors' dressing rooms are □ We were invited backstage after the performance.

back street n a small street in a town or city away from the busy areas.

back-street abortion n an illegal abortion, often carried out by somebody who is not properly trained to do it.

backstroke ['bækstroʊk] n a way of swimming in which one lies on one's back, moves one's arms backward, and kicks one's feet.

backtalk ['bæktɔ:k] US, backchat ['bæktʃæt] GB n rude remarks made in reply to somebody, especially somebody in authority (informal use) □ That's enough of your backtalk!

backtrack ['bækræk] vi = backpedal.

backup ['bækʌp] n -1. help or advice that is available if there is a problem □ The company provides technical backup. □ a backup plan/team/supply. -2. COMPUTING a copy of a file or disk, made in case the first one gets accidentally deleted or lost □ a backup file/disk.

back-up light n US a white light on the back of a vehicle that shines when the vehicle is being reversed.

backward ['bækwərd] ◇ adj -1. a backward look/step etc a look/step etc in the direction behind one □ She threw us a bitter backward glance as she left. -2. [child] slow in learning and development compared to other children of the same age; [country, society] that does not have modern industries, technology etc. ◇ adv US = backwards.

backward-looking [-lʊkiŋ] adj [idea, view, action] old-fashioned (disapproving use).

backwards ['bækwərdz] adv -1. to walk/step backwards to walk/step with one's back facing in the direction that one is moving □ He fell backwards down the stairs. -2. to do sthg backwards to do sthg in the opposite way from normal, e.g. by starting at the end and going back to the beginning □ He played the recording backwards.

◆ backwards and forwards adv in one direction then the other, repeatedly □ Colin paced backwards and forwards impatiently.

backwash ['bækwɒʃ] n the wave of water that is created by the movement of a boat.

backwater ['bækwɔ:tə] n a place that is isolated and not affected by what is happening in the world outside (disapproving use) □ The town is a cultural backwater.

backwoods ['bækwʊdz] npl an area in the countryside that is very isolated and far from any towns or cities □ They live out in the backwoods somewhere.

backyard [,bæk'jɑ:d] n -1. US an area at the back of a house, usually covered with grass. -2. GB an area at the back of a house, usually covered with a hard surface.

bacon ['beɪkən] n meat from the back or sides of a pig that is salted or smoked and often cut into thin slices □ bacon and eggs.

Bacon ['beɪkən], Francis (1909–1992) a British artist, born in Ireland, who often painted deformed human or animal shapes.

bacteria [bæk'tɪəriə] npl tiny organisms that are found in animals, plants, air, soil, and water, some of which can cause disease.

bacteriology [bæk,tɪərɪ'ɒlədʒɪ] n the study of bacteria.

bad [bæd] (compar worse, superl worst) adj -1. [weather, smell, taste] that is unpleasant; [result, school report, grade] that is not of the right standard or quality; [decision, teacher] that is not effective □ She's in a bad mood. □ I've had some bad news. □ He sets a very bad example to the junior staff. □ The job is interest- ing but the pay is bad. □ I blame it on bad management/government. ■ not bad a phrase used when the speaker is surprised that something is actually good □ "How are you feeling?" — "Not bad." □ This book is not bad at all. ■ to go from bad to worse [situation, health, weather] to become even worse than before □ Things went from bad to worse as the day went on. ■ it's too bad a phrase used to show disappointment or regret □ It's too bad (that) he couldn't come. ■ too bad a phrase used to show that the speaker does not think it is worth doing anything to change the situation □ "We can't go yet, Dave isn't here." — "Too bad, he'll just have to walk." -2. to be bad at sthg [at sports, math, languages] to be unable to do sthg well □ I'm really bad at remembering people's names. -3. [influence, effect, situation] that can have harmful effects □ Things are looking bad for the Republicans. □ It's been a bad day on the Stock Exchange. □ Smoking is bad for your health. -4. [heart, leg, circulation] that is injured or diseased or does not work properly □ She's got a bad back. -5. [accident, injury, cold] that is severe □ a bad case of the flu □ It's been a bad winter. -6. to feel bad about sthg to feel guilty about sthg □ I felt bad about letting her down. -7. [person, behavior] that is rude or disobedient □ You've been a very bad boy. -8. [egg, meat, fish] that is beginning to go rotten □ Those sausages must have been bad. □ Food goes bad very quickly in this heat.

bad blood n feelings of hate and anger between people □ There's a lot of bad blood between them.

bad check n a check that a bank cannot accept because the person who wrote it does not have enough money in their account.

bad debt n money that is owed but that is unlikely to be paid back.

baddy ['bædi] (pl baddies) n a character in a movie, book etc who is bad and acts against the hero (informal use).

bade [bæd, beɪd] past tense of bid.

bad feeling n feelings of dislike between people □ There's a lot of bad feeling between them.

badge [bædʒ] n -1. a small piece of metal or cloth that people wear to show their official rank or position □ a policeman's badge □ a badge of office. -2. GB a small piece of plastic, metal, or paper with a picture or writing on it that shows that one supports a particular cause or belongs to a particular group □ a Save the Whale badge.

badger ['bædʒə] ◇ n an animal with thick gray fur and black-and-white stripes on its face that lives underground and comes out at night. ◇ vt to ask or tell <sb> repeatedly to do something □ She badgered me into going. □ The kids have been badgering me all day to take them swimming.

badlands ['bædlændz] npl areas of empty dry land, especially in the central USA and in western Canada, that have been worn into strange shapes by the weather.

bad language n swear words □ Those videos just encourage kids to use bad language.

badly ['bædli] (compar worse, superl worst) adv -1. [play, sing, dress] in a way that is not good, pleasing, or satisfactory □ badly managed/made. ■ to do badly to be unsuccessful □ I did badly in the exam. □ Things are going badly at the moment. ■ to take sthg badly to be upset by sthg, e.g. a piece of news □ "How did she take the news?" — "Badly." ■ to think badly of sb to have a bad opinion of sb □ I hope you don't think badly of me for telling him. -2. [cut, damage, injure] seriously □ She fell badly and broke her arm. □ badly burned/wounded/affected. -3. [behave, treat] in a way that is not acceptable because somebody or something suffers □ Their children are so badly behaved. □ He treated all his staff very badly. -4. [want, need] very much □ We're badly in need of a new filing system. □ I miss you badly.

badly-off adj -1. to be badly-off [person, family] to be poor □ We're not so badly-off. -2. to be badly-off for sthg not to have enough of sthg □ I'm not too badly-off for clothes at the moment.

badminton ['bædmɪntən] n an indoor sport in which players use a racket to hit a shuttlecock over a net.

bad-mouth vt to criticize <sb> (informal use) □ Don't you go bad-mouthing me to your mother!

bad-tempered [-'tempəd] adj [person] angry and unfriendly □ He's always bad-tempered in the morning.

baffle ['bæfl] vt to be baffled by sthg to be unable to understand or explain sthg □ Their behavior completely baffles me. □ The police are baffled by the incident.

baffling ['bæflɪŋ] adj [question, problem, crime] that is hard to understand or explain □ We don't know why he disappeared — the whole thing is completely baffling.

bag [bæg] (pl & pp bagged, cont bagging) ◇ n -1. a container made of cloth, plastic, paper, leather etc, often with handles or straps, that is used for carrying things such as shopping or personal belongings. ■ to be in the bag [contract, game] to be certain of being won or successfully completed (informal use) □ Once the deal is in the bag, we're off on vacation. ■ to pack one's bags to leave. -2. [of a woman] a small bag used by women to carry small personal things and money □ Her bag was stolen. -3. [of potatoes, candy] the amount of something that can be held in a bag □ I ate a whole bag of cherries. □ a five-pound bag of potatoes □ Will one bag be enough between three of us?

◇ vt to put <money, food> etc into bags.

◆ bags npl -1. loose folds of skin under one's eyes, usually caused by lack of sleep □ You've got bags under your eyes. -2. bags of sthg [of energy, time, money] a lot of sthg (informal use) □ There's bags of space.

bagel ['beɪgl] n a hard round bread roll with a hole in the middle that is often served with a filling such as cream cheese.

baggage ['bæɡɪdʒ] n all the bags and cases that one travels with □ Do you have any baggage?

baggage car n US the part of a train in which only baggage is carried.

baggage handler n a person whose job is to move baggage at an airport.

baggage reclaim n the place at an airport where passengers go to collect their baggage after a flight.

baggage room n US a place in a train station where baggage can be left for a period of time.

baggy ['bæɡɪ] (compar baggier, superl baggiest) adj [sweater, shirt, pants] that fits loosely on the body because it is big or too big □ He wore an old pair of baggy corduroy pants.

Baghdad [US 'bæɡdæd, GB bæɡ'dæd] the capital of Iraq and its largest city. POPULATION: 3,205,000.

bag lady n a woman who lives on the streets and carries her belongings around with her in bags (informal use).

bag lunch n US a lunch, especially consisting of sandwiches, that is wrapped up or put in a box to be eaten when one is away from home or outdoors.

bagpipes ['bæɡpaɪps] npl a musical instrument, traditional in Scotland, that is played by blowing into a bag and then squeezing the air out through pipes.

bagsnatcher ['bæɡsnætʃə] n a person who steals somebody's bag while they are carrying it and then runs away.

baguette [bæ'ɡet] n a long thin loaf of bread.

Bahamas [bə'hɑ:mæz]: the Bahamas a country consisting of a group of islands in the Caribbean. It is an important center for tourism and banking. SIZE: 13,900 sq kms. POPULATION: 300,000 (Bahamians). CAPITAL: Nassau. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: Bahamian dollar.

Bahrain [ˌbɑ:'reɪn] a country consisting of a group of islands in the Persian Gulf. SIZE: 660 sq kms. POPULATION: 500,000 (Bahrainis). CAPITAL: Manama. LANGUAGE: Arabic. CURRENCY: Bahraini dinar.

Bahraini [ˌbɑ:'reɪni] adj & n: see Bahrain.

Bahrein [ˌbɑ:'reɪn] = Bahrain.

bail [beɪl] n LAW money that is paid to a court to release somebody who has been arrested as a guarantee that they will return to court for their trial. ■ to be released on bail to be let out of prison after bail has been paid □ He was out on bail within a couple of days of the attack. ■ to grant sb bail to allow sb to leave prison after bail is paid □ The court refused to grant them bail.

◆ bail out ◇ vt sep -1. LAW to bail sb out to pay bail for sb. -2. to bail a person/company etc out to help a person/company etc that is having problems, by giving them money □ They bailed their son's business out with a large loan. -3. to bail water out to remove water from a boat. ◇ vi [pilot] to jump out of a plane with a parachute because the plane is going to crash □ She bailed out just in time.

bailiff ['beɪlɪf] n -1. US an official in a court who looks after prisoners and keeps order. -2. GB an official employed by a court to go to the house, office etc of somebody who has not paid a debt and take their property instead of money.

Baird [beə'd], John Logie (1888–1946) a British engineer who invented a system of television broadcasting.

bait [beɪt] ◇ n food that is used to attract animals, fish etc in order to catch them. ■ to rise to OR take the bait to react to something somebody says or does in the way they had hoped □ I asked Jon about their date but he didn't rise to the bait. ◇ vt -1. [hook, trap] to put bait on or in <sthg> to catch a fish or animal. -2. [person] to try to make <sb> angry by deliberately upsetting them □ He's known for baiting his opponents.

baize [beɪz] n thick green material that is used for covering billiard tables or card tables.

bake [beɪk] ◇ vt -1. [bread, cake] to cook <food> in an oven without adding fat or oil □ Bake the mixture for 60 minutes in a warm oven. -2. [clay, earth] to make <sthg> hard by heating it □ The sun had baked the mud dry. ◇ vi [bread, cake] It will take two hours to bake.

baked Alaska [ˌbeɪkt-] n a dessert made from cake and ice cream covered with meringue and cooked in an oven.

baked beans npl a dish made from navy beans cooked in tomato sauce sometimes with bacon and molasses.

baked potato n a potato that has been cooked whole in the oven with its skin on.

baker ['beɪkə] n a person who bakes bread, cakes etc to be sold in a store. ■ a baker's (shop) GB a store where bread, cakes etc are sold.

bakery ['beɪkəri] (pl bakeries) n a place where bread is baked and where bread, cakes etc are usually sold.

baking ['beɪkɪŋ] ◇ adj to be baking [person, place] to be very hot (informal use) □ You must be baking in that sweater! ◇ adv baking hot very hot (informal use) □ It's baking hot in here. ◇ n the activity of baking bread, cakes etc □ home baking.

baking powder n a powder used to make cakes rise when they are being cooked.

baking sheet n a tray that food is placed on for cooking in an oven.

baking soda n = bicarbonate of soda.

baking tin n a tin used for baking cakes, bread etc.

baking tray n GB = baking sheet.

balalaava [ˌbælə'klɑ:və] n GB a woolen hat that covers the whole head except the face.

balance ['bæləns] ◇ n -1. the ability to stay steady and upright and not fall over □ a good sense of balance □ I tripped, but just managed to keep my balance. □ He lost his balance and fell off his bike. -2. [between different elements] a situation in which all the different elements have the same importance or influence □ We've got to get the balance right between car- ing for patients and cutting medical costs. -3. the balance of evidence/opinion etc the larger or more important part of all the evidence/opinions etc being considered □ The balance of opinion is against her. -4. [for weighing] an instrument for weighing things. -5. FINANCE an amount of money that remains after some has been spent □ That leaves a balance of $30.00. -6. phrase to be or hang in the balance [life, fate, future] to be uncertain □ The future of the government was hanging in the balance.

◇ vt -1. to keep <sthg> in a steady position so that it does not fall □ He balanced the plate on his knee. -2. to balance sthg against sthg to consider the importance of sthg in relation to sthg else □ We have to balance the need for new staff against our financial position. -3. to balance sthg with sthg to give sthg the same importance as one gives sthg else □ It's not easy trying to balance a career with the demands of a young family. -4. to balance the books to make sure that the amount of money spent is the same as the amount of money received. ■ to balance a budget to make sure that the amount of money that one plans to spend is the same as the amount of money available.

◇ vi -1. [person, object] to keep steady □ She balanced on one leg. -2. [books, budget] to show that the amount of money spent is not more than the amount of money received □ The figures don't balance.

◆ on balance adv after considering all the relevant information □ On balance, I think the first candidate was the best.

◆ balance out vt sep to balance sthg out to have the same weight, value, importance etc as sthg □ The time you save by flying balances out the extra cost.

balanced ['bælənst] adj -1. [judgment, report, view] that considers all the aspects of something and so is fair. -2. [person] who is reliable and not likely to behave unreasonably.

balanced diet n a diet that contains the right amount and variety of food for good health.

balance of payments n the difference between the amount of money that a country receives and the amount it spends.

balance of power n a situation in which the military or political forces opposing each other have the same amount of power □ The end of Communism upset the balance of power in Europe.

balance of trade n the difference in value between the exports and imports of a country.

balance sheet n a statement that shows the assets, credits, and debts of a business.

balancing act ['bælənsɪŋ] n an attempt to please two or more people or groups who have opposing views □ Ivan has to perform a delicate balancing act to keep both publisher and agent happy.

balcony ['bælkəni] (pl balconies) n -1. a platform attached to the outside of a building above ground level that has a wall or railings in front of it and is reached through a door from one of the rooms □ The President and his wife came out onto the balcony. -2. a seating area, e.g. in a theater, that is raised above ground level □ the upper/lower balcony.

bald [bɔ:ld] adj -1. [person] who has little or no hair on their head □ He's completely bald. □ a bald spot. ■ to go bald to lose one's hair □ He started going bald in his twenties. -2. [tire] that has become very smooth and is therefore not safe to use. -3. [statement, account] that is very direct and has no words added to it that might soften its effect □ He described his role in a few bald, unemotional sentences.

bald eagle n a large eagle with a white head that lives in North America and is used as the symbol of the USA.

balding ['bɔ:ldɪŋ] adj [head, person] that is going bald □ a tall man, balding.

baldness ['bɔ:ldnəs] n [of a person] see bald □ a cure for baldness.

Baldwin ['bɔ:ldwɪn], James (1924–1987) a US writer who was active in the civil rights movement. His works include Go Tell It On The Mountain and Another Country.

bale [beɪl] n [of cloth, hay, paper] a large amount of something that is tied tightly together □ Bales of hay stood in the middle of the field.

◆ bale out GB ◇ vt sep to bale water out to remove water from a boat. ◇ vi to jump out of a plane with a parachute because the plane is going to crash.

Balearic Islands [ˌbæliˈærɪk-]: the Balearic Islands a group of islands in the western Mediterranean that includes Majorca, Minorca, and Ibiza, and forms a province of Spain. SIZE: 5,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 739,501. CAPITAL: Palma de Mallorca.

Balearics [ˌbæliˈærɪks] = Balearic Islands.

baleful ['beɪfl] adj a baleful look a look that is threatening or full of blame (literary use).

Bali ['bɑ:lɪ] an island in Indonesia, east of Java. SIZE: 5,561 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,470,000 (Balinese). CAPITAL: Denpasar.

balk [bɔ:k] vi to hesitate before doing something or allowing it to happen because one considers it to be wrong, unpleasant, or difficult □ I suggested we sleep out in the open, but he balked at the idea.

Balkans ['bɔ:lkənz]: the Balkans the countries in southeastern Europe, between the Adriatic and the Aegean Seas, including Albania, Bosnia, Bulgaria, Croatia, Greece, Macedonia, the European part of Turkey, and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia.

Balkan States [ˌbɔ:lkən-] = Balkans.

ball [bɔ:l] n -1. SPORT & GAMES a round object that can be thrown, hit, or kicked, and is used in various sports and games □ a golf/tennis ball. ■ to be on the ball to be able to react or understand quickly because one is concentrating or knows a lot about a subject □ You really have to be on the ball if you're doing a live interview. ■ to play ball to do something that somebody wants one to do □ If you play ball with us, there may be something in it for you. ■ to start/keep the ball rolling to begin/continue a discussion, meeting, project etc □

Now that we've got the ball rolling, who would like to ask Professor James a question? -2. [of wool, string] a mass of something that is in the shape of a ball □ The hedgehog rolled itself up into a ball. □ melon balls □ The car was engulfed in a ball of flames. -3. the ball of one's foot the rounded part underneath one's foot where it joins the big toe. -4. [event] a formal party at which people dance □ a graduation ball. -5. phrase to have a ball to have a wonderful time (informal use) □ We had an absolute ball at the Levinsons' party.

◆ balls▼ (vulgar use) ◇ n -1. nonsense. -2. courage. ◇ npl testicles. ◇ excl a word used to show that one is annoyed about something.

ballad ['bæləd] n -1. a poem or song that tells a story. -2. a slow romantic song.

ball-and-socket joint n a joint in the body that consists of a rounded bone which fits into a rounded socket.

ballast ['bæləst] n heavy material such as sand that is used to keep a ship stable or is carried in a hot-air balloon and thrown out to make the balloon rise.

ball bearing n one of a group of small metal balls that are placed between the moving parts of a machine to help them to move more easily.

ball boy n a boy who picks up balls that have been hit into the net or off the court during a game of tennis.

ballcock ['bɔ:kɒk] n a device in a water tank, e.g. in a toilet, that consists of a floating ball that is connected to a plug. When water goes out of the tank and the ball drops, the plug opens and allows more water in to refill the tank.

ballerina [,bælə'ri:nə] n a female ballet dancer.

ballet [US bæ'leɪ, GB 'bæleɪ] n -1. a form of classical Western dance that uses movement and gestures, accompanied by music, to tell a story; a professional group of dancers who perform this type of dance □ classical ballet □ the Kirov Ballet. -2. a work written for ballet dancers to perform; a performance of this type of dance □ He wrote several ballets. □ We're going to the ballet this evening.

ballet dancer n a dancer who is professionally trained in ballet.

ball game n -1. US a baseball game □ Are you going to the ball game? -2. phrase it's a whole new ball game it's a completely different or new situation (informal use) □ It's a whole new ball game now the company's been taken over.

ball girl n a girl who picks up balls that have been hit into the net or off the court during a game of tennis.

ballistic missile [bɔ:lɪstɪk-] n a missile that is guided until it is near its target and then falls freely.

ballistics [bɔ:lɪstɪks] n the study of the movement of objects, e.g. bullets, rockets, or missiles, that are shot or thrown into the air.

balloon [bə'lju:n] ◇ n -1. [for children] a small bag made of thin rubber that is filled with air and used as a children's toy or for decoration at parties □ The room was decorated with brightly-colored balloons. -2. [for flying] a large bag made of lightweight material that floats above the ground when it is filled with hot air or gas and can carry passengers in a basket attached underneath □ a hot-air balloon. -3. [in cartoons] in cartoon drawings, a circular shape containing the words that a character is saying or thinking.

◇ vi [costs, debts, weight] to become bigger in amount very quickly □ His weight had ballooned to 190 pounds.

ballooning [bə'lju:nɪŋ] n the activity or sport of traveling in a balloon.

ballot ['bælət] ◇ n -1. a system of voting, usually secret, in which people mark a piece of paper to indicate their choice of candidate or their opinion on a particular issue □ Members of the committee are elected by ballot. □ The union held a strike ballot. □ a secret ballot. -2. = ballot paper. ◇ vt to find out the opinion or choice of  by asking them to vote in a ballot □ All members will be balloted on the question of funding.

ballot box n -1. the box which ballot papers are put in during a vote □ She put the slip of paper in the ballot box. -2. the system of choosing a government by voting □ We believe in achieving political change through the ballot box.

ballot paper n the piece of paper that is marked by somebody who takes part in a ballot.

ball park n US a stadium where baseball is played.

ball-park figure n an approximate number or amount of money (informal use) □ I don't know exactly what it would cost, but I can give you a ball-park figure.

ballpoint ['bɔ:lɪpɔɪnt] n a ballpoint (pen) a pen with a small ball at the tip that rolls ink onto the paper □ Please write clearly in ballpoint.

ballroom ['bɔ:lru:m] n a large room, usually with bright lighting and decoration, where formal dances are held.

ballroom dancing n the activity of taking part in formal dances such as the tango or foxtrot.

balm [bɑ:m] n -1. an oil with a strong sweet smell that comes from tropical trees and is used to reduce pain or to treat wounds. -2. something that makes one feel calmer and happier □ The news was balm to his troubled mind.

balmy ['bɑ:mɪ] (compar balmier, superl balmiest) adj [evening, breeze] that feels warm and pleasant.

baloney [bə'lounɪ] n -1. nonsense (informal use) □ What a load of baloney! -2. US a large smoked sausage.

balsa ['bɔ:lsə] n = balsawood.

balsam ['bɔ:lsəm] n an oil with a sweet smell that comes from tropical trees and is used in medicines or perfumes.

balsawood ['bɔːlsəwʊd] n a type of very light wood that is easy to cut and is used for making models, e.g. of airplanes.

Baltic ['bɔːltɪk]: the Baltic (Sea) a sea in northern Europe, between Scandinavia and the Baltic States.

Baltic States: the Baltic States the countries on the Baltic Sea, i.e. Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, that were part of the USSR until 1991.

balustrade [US 'bæləstreɪd, GB 'bæləs'treɪd] n a wall or railing that is fixed to the outer edge of a staircase or balcony to prevent people from falling off it.

bamboo [bæm'buː] n a tall tropical plant that has thick hollow stems and shoots that can be eaten. Its stems are often used for making furniture □ bamboo furniture/shoots.

bamboozle [bæm'buːzəl] vt to trick <sb> by confusing them (informal use) □ They tried to bamboozle us into buying several more tickets.

ban [bæn] (pt & pp banned, cont banning) ◇ n an official order saying that something is forbidden or preventing somebody from doing something □ The government has imposed a ban on smoking in public places. □ He faces a lifetime ban from the sport. ◇ vt [trade, drinking, smoking] to give an official order that forbids <an activity>; [person] to give an official order that prevents <sb> from doing something or going to a particular place □ Strikes have been banned. □ banned goods/books □ He's been banned from driving for a year.

banal [bə'nɑːl] adj [idea, remark, story] that one finds very ordinary and not interesting □ The play was banal and totally lacking in originality. □ He made banal comments about the weather.

banana [US bə'nænə, GB bə'nɑːnə] n a long, curved, tropical fruit that has yellow skin and soft, sweet, white flesh inside □ a bunch of bananas. ■ to go bananas to become very angry or excited (informal use).

banana republic n a small country, especially in Central or South America, that is poor and politically unstable (offensive use).

banana split n a banana cut in half and served as a dessert with ice cream, whipped cream, nuts etc.

band [bænd] n -1. MUSIC a group of musicians who play popular music together, or who play on brass instruments □ The band struck up a military march. □ a rock band □ a band leader. -2. [of people] a group of people who share the same aim □ a band of thieves/rebels. -3. [of cloth, steel] a long, thin, flat strip of fabric or metal that is used for fastening things together or for decorating or strengthening them □ She'd tied a band of red ribbon in her hair. -4. [of color, light] a long thin line, e.g. of color or light, that is different from the color or light around it □ a wide band of green. -5. an income/age etc band a range that people's incomes/ages etc can be divided into □ What tax band are you in?

◆ band together vi to join together in order to achieve a shared aim □ Residents are banding together to form protest groups.

bandage ['bændɪdʒ] ◇ n a long strip of fabric that is tied around a wound or injury in order to protect it while it heals. ◇ vt to wrap a bandage around  □ Let me bandage that for you. □ He had a bandaged knee.

Band-AidTM n a small piece of adhesive material used to protect a cut on one's body while it heals.

bandan(n)a [bæn'dænə] n a large brightly-colored handkerchief that is worn around the neck or head.

b and b, B and B (abbr of bed and breakfast) n accommodation at a house or small hotel where one can sleep and have breakfast; a place where this type of accommodation is provided □ We stayed at a b and b.

bandeau ['bændəʊ] (pl bandeaux ['bændəʊz]) n a thin band of material worn around the head by a woman to keep the hair in place.

bandit ['bændət] n an armed robber, especially one who attacks travelers in wild isolated places.

bandmaster [US 'bændmæstr, GB -mə:stə] n the leader or conductor of a band of musicians, especially a military band or brass band.

band saw n an electric saw whose blade is a flexible metal band that runs over two wheels.

bandsman ['bændzɪmən] (pl bandsmen [-mən]) n a musician who plays in a brass band or military band.

bandstand ['bændstænd] n a raised platform with a roof, often in a park, where a brass band or military band plays.

bandwagon ['bændwægən] n to jump on the bandwagon to start doing something because it has become very popular, especially because one believes one will benefit from it □ It's only a matter of time before other designers start jumping on the bandwagon.

bandwidth ['bændwɪðθ] n COMPUTING the amount of information that can be sent through a cable, e.g. from a modem, measured in bits per second.

bandy ['bændɪ] (compar bandier, superl bandiest, pt & pp bandied) adj bandy legs legs that curve outward at the knees.

◆ bandy about, bandy around vt sep to bandy sth about OR around [name, amount, word] to mention sth frequently in a careless way, often with the intention of impressing people □ A figure of several million was being bandied about.

bandy-legged [-'legd] adj to be bandy-legged to have bandy legs.

bane [beɪn] n the bane of sb's life a person or thing that constantly makes sb's life difficult □ That photocopier is the bane of my life!

bang [bæŋ] ◇ adv -1. exactly (informal use) □ The train was bang on time. □ Our predictions were bang on target. □ The car broke down bang in the middle of town. -2. bang goes OR go... a phrase used when it becomes clear that a future event is not going to take place or succeed □ Bang goes our vacation! □ Bang goes my chance of making some money!

◇ n -1. to get a bang to get hit by something □ She got a nasty bang on the head. -2. a sudden, sharp, loud noise □ The firework went off with a loud bang. ■ to go with a bang to be a success (informal use) □ The show went (off) with a bang.

◇ vt -1. to hit  accidentally on an object □ I banged my knee on the desk. -2. to hit or move <an object> violently causing a loud noise □ They marched by, shouting and banging drums. □ She banged the door shut. □ He banged the books down on the table.

◇ vi -1. to bang into sthg [into a table, chair] to hit sthg accidentally □ The room was dark, and I kept banging into things. -2. to bang on sthg [on a table, door] to hit sthg, causing a loud noise □ There was someone banging on the front door. -3. to make a loud noise □ There's someone banging around upstairs.

◇ excl a word used to represent a loud noise such as an explosion or gunshot.

◆ bangs npl US a section of hair that is cut to hang over the forehead.

banger ['bæŋəʃ] n GB a type of firework that makes a loud noise.

Bangkok [ˌbæŋˈkɒk] the capital of Thailand and its largest city. POPULATION: 5,154,000.

Bangladesh [ˌbæŋɡləˈdeɪʃ] a country in southern Asia, near the eastern edge of India. SIZE: 143,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 116,600,000 (Bangladeshis). CAPITAL: Dacca. LANGUAGE: Bengali. CURRENCY: taka.

Bangladeshi [ˌbæŋɡləˈdeɪʃɪ] n & adj: see Bangladesh.

bangle ['bæŋɡl] n a thin band of metal, plastic etc that is worn on the wrist, arm, or ankle as jewelry.

banish ['bæniʃ] vt -1. [person] to order <sb> to leave a place, e.g. their country, as a punishment □ The king banished him from the court. □ The children were banished upstairs. -2. [thought, worries] to stop oneself from thinking about <sthg> □ He tried to banish the memory of her face from his mind.

banister ['bænistəʃ] n, banisters ['bænistəʃz] npl a rail supported by a set of posts that is fixed along the outer edge of a staircase to stop people falling.

banjo ['bændʒou] (pl banjos OR banjos) n a musical instrument like a small round guitar with a long neck.

bank [bæŋk] ◇ n -1. FINANCE an organization that looks after its customers' money and offers them financial services such as loans, mortgages, foreign exchange etc; a branch or office of an organization of this kind □ I'm just going to the bank to change some money. □ My bank is just around the corner from here. -2. a blood/sperm etc bank a place where blood/sperm etc is stored until it is needed. -3. [of a river] the raised ground at the edge of a river □ A man was fishing on the river bank. □ on the banks of the Amazon. -4. [of earth] a pile of earth, mud, snow etc that forms a slope □ He climbed up the grassy bank.

-5. a bank of cloud/fog a mass of cloud/fog.

◇ vt FINANCE to put <money or a check> in a bank account □ I banked your check yesterday.

◇ vi -1. FINANCE to have a bank account □ Where do you bank? □ She banks with Lloyds.

-2. [airplane] to move so that one wing is raised higher than the other □ The plane suddenly banked sharply.

◆ bank on vt fus to bank on sb/sthg to depend on sb/sthg □ I wouldn't bank on her coming tonight. □ "You will support my case, won't you?" — "I wouldn't bank on it."

bank account n an arrangement with a bank which allows a customer to keep money in the bank and take it out when it is needed □ I've opened a bank account.

bank balance n the amount of money somebody has in their bank account □ I'd like to buy it, but I dread to think what it would do to my bank balance.

bankbook ['bæŋkbʊk] n a book in which one keeps a record of all the money paid into and taken out of one's bank account.

bank card n a card given by a bank to a customer that can be used to take money out of their account or to pay for things.

bank charges npl money that a customer must pay a bank for services such as loans or transfers of money.

bank draft n a document from one bank authorizing another bank, usually in a foreign country, to pay money to an individual or organization.

banker ['bæŋkəʃ] n a person who owns or has an important position in a bank.

banker's card n GB a small plastic card that a bank gives to owners of checking accounts, promising that it will pay out the money for checks up to the amount that is stated on the card.

banker's draft n = bank draft.

banker's order n GB an instruction from a customer to a bank to pay a particular sum to a particular person or organization at regular intervals.

bank holiday n GB an official public holiday, when banks and many other businesses are closed by law. Bank holidays are usually on Mondays □ a bank holiday weekend.

banking ['bæŋkɪŋ] n the business activities of a bank or banker □ a career in banking □ banking hours.

bank loan n a loan given to an individual or an organization by a bank.

bank manager n a person who is in charge of a branch of a bank.

bank note n a piece of paper issued by the national bank of a country that is worth a particular amount of money.

Bank of England n the Bank of England the central bank in Britain.

bank rate n the rate of interest at which a country's central bank lends money.

bankrupt ['bæŋkrʌpt] ◇ adj [person, company, organization] who is unable to pay their debts. ■ to go bankrupt [person, company, or organization] to be unable to pay one's debts and as a result be forced to stop doing business □ They almost went bankrupt last year. ◇ n a person who is bankrupt. ◇ vt to make  go bankrupt □ That court case nearly bankrupted us.

bankruptcy ['bæŋkrʌptsi] (pl bankruptcies) n [of a person, company, organization] see bankrupt □ We face bankruptcy. □ an increasing number of bankruptcies.

bank statement n a regular statement that a bank sends to a customer about their account, and that lists all withdrawals and deposits of money over a period of time.

banner ['bænə] n a long strip of cloth on which a message, slogan etc is written and which is often carried by demonstrators on a march or hung across a street.

bannister ['bænstə] n, bannisters ['bænstəz] npl = banister.

Bannister ['bænstə], Sir Roger (1929–) a British athlete who in 1954 became the first person to run a mile in less than four minutes.

banns [bænz] npl to publish OR read the banns to make an announcement in church that two people are going to get married.

banquet ['bæŋkwət] n a large formal dinner, often given for a special occasion and followed by speeches □ a wedding banquet.

bantam ['bæntəm] n a type of small chicken.

bantamweight ['bæntəmweɪt] n a boxer who belongs to the second-lightest of the weight categories.

banter ['bæntə] n friendly conversation and jokes, especially between people who are pretending to make fun of each other □ There was a lot of good-natured banter about weddings and mother-in-laws.

bap [bæp] n GB a soft white bread roll.

baptism ['bæptɪzəm] n in the Christian religion, a ceremony in which a person has water sprinkled on their head or is covered in water as a sign of their formal acceptance into the Church. ■ a baptism of fire an introduction to a new activity or experience that takes place in very difficult or unpleasant conditions □ Having to get up and speak in front of all my new colleagues was a real baptism of fire.

Baptist ['bæptɪst] n a member of a Christian group that believes that people should not be baptized until they are old enough to understand their religion.

baptize, -ise [US 'bæptəɪz, GB bəp'taɪz] vt to perform the ceremony of baptism on <sb> □ Have you been baptized?

bar [bɑː] (pt & pp barred, cont barring) ◇ n -1. [of soap, chocolate, gold] a solid rectangular piece of something □ a chocolate/candy bar □ a bar of soap. -2. [of metal] a long narrow piece of metal used to strengthen or protect a window, building etc □ an iron bar. ■ to be behind bars to be in prison □ Now that the kill- er is safely behind bars... -3. a bar to sth something that makes it difficult or impossible for somebody to do sth □ Language is no bar to understanding. -4. a bar on sth an official order saying that sth is forbidden □ There's a bar on foreign imports. -5. [for drinks] a place where alcoholic drinks are served □ a cocktail bar. -6. a sandwich/snack etc bar a small restaurant that serves sandwiches/snacks etc. -7. [in a restaurant] the counter in a bar or restaurant where drinks are served □ You order drinks separately at the bar. -8. MUSIC one of the units that a piece of music is divided into, containing a particular number of beats □ There are four beats to the bar.

◇ vt -1. to put an iron bar or piece of wood across  so that people cannot get in or out □ The door was barred. -2. to block or obstruct <an area, path, road> etc □ A fallen tree barred the street. ■ to bar sb's way to prevent sb from going somewhere by standing in front of them □ The way was barred by a group of demonstrators. ■ to bar sb from a place to say that sb is not allowed to enter a place □ She's been barred from the club.

◇ prep except for <sth> □ I'd finished all my work, bar a few letters. ■ bar none with no exceptions □ He's the best boxer in the USA, bar none.

◆ Bar n the Bar US the profession of a lawyer; GB the profession of a barrister. ■ to be called to the Bar to begin one's career as a barrister.

Barbados [US bɑː'beɪdəs, GB -'beɪdəs] a country in the Caribbean. SIZE: 431 sq kms. POPULATION: 300,000 (Barbadians). CAPITAL: Bridgetown. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: Barbados dollar.

barbarian [bɑː'beəriən] n -1. HISTORY a person belonging to a primitive tribe and considered to be rough and wild □ barbarian hordes. -2. a person who has very bad manners and knows nothing about art or culture (disapproving use) □ It's no use inviting Ray, he's such a barbarian when it comes to opera.

barbaric [bɑː'beərɪk] adj [act, behavior] very cruel □ the barbaric treatment of prisoners of war □ Some of my friends think eating veal is barbaric.

barbarous ['bɑː'bərəs] adj -1. [tribe, people] rough and wild. -2. [act, behavior] very cruel.

barbecue ['bɑː'bɪkjuː] ◇ n -1. an outdoor grill on which meat, fish etc is cooked over an open fire. -2. an outdoor party at which people eat food that has been cooked on a barbecue □ We're invited to a barbecue. ◇ vt [meat, fish] to cook <food> on a barbecue.

🍖 BARBECUES

Although barbecues have become more common in the UK, they are still not as popular as in the USA and Australia, where they are an important part of social life. Barbecues can take place on any occasion, not just informal family meals, and they are a traditional way of celebrating national holidays like the Fourth of July and Australia Day. Many people have a barbecue in their backyard, and in the USA and Australia parks and campsites often have special barbecue areas. If you are invited to a barbecue, or “barbie”, in Australia, you may be asked to “bring a plate” — a plateful of food — as a contribution to the meal.

barbed [bɑ:ˈbd] adj -1. [hook, arrow, spear] that has one or more sharp curved points. -2. [comment, remark] sharp and unkind □ He kept making barbed jokes about his ex-wife.

barbed wire n wire with sharp points on it that is used in a fence, on top of a wall etc to prevent people or animals from entering or leaving a place □ a barbed-wire fence.

barber [ˈbɑ:ˈbɜː] n a man whose job is to cut men’s hair. ■ a barber’s (shop) the place where a barber works.

Barbican [ˈbɑ:ˈbɪkən]: the Barbican (Arts Centre) a cultural center in London that includes a concert hall, movie theater, two theaters, a library, and an art gallery.

barbie [ˈbɑ:ˈbi] n AUS & GB = barbecue (informal use).

barbiturate [bɑ:ˈbɪtjʊrət] n a type of drug that makes people calm and helps them to sleep.

Barcelona [ˌbɑ:ˈsəˈlounə] a city in eastern Spain, on the Mediterranean. It is the capital of Catalonia, and Spain’s most important port. POPULATION: 1,643,542.

bar chart n GB = bar graph.

bar code n a code made up of numbers and lines that is printed on a product and gives information about its price, identity etc which can be read by a computer at a store checkout.

bare [beə] ◇ adj -1. [foot, leg, arm] not covered with clothes; [tree, branch] not covered with leaves; [ground, hill] not covered with plants □ Don’t go out in your bare feet. □ The trees were bare and there was snow on the ground. -2. the bare facts the most basic and simple facts □ I just told him the bare facts of the situation. -3. the bare minimum the smallest possible amount □ They pay them the absolute bare minimum. □ I took the bare minimum of clothing/cash. ■ the bare necessities OR essentials only the things that are completely necessary. -4. [room, cupboard, floorboards] not filled, covered, or decorated □ The walls look rather bare. ◇ vt -1. to remove clothing from <one’s head, legs> etc so that one’s skin can be seen □ I wouldn’t dare bare my body in public. -2. the dog bared its teeth the dog showed its teeth as a sign of aggression.

bareback [ˈbeəˈbæk] ◇ adj a bareback rider a person who rides a horse without a saddle. ■ bareback riding the activity of riding a horse without a saddle. ◇ adv to ride bareback to ride a horse without a saddle.

barefaced [ˌbeəˈfeɪst] adj a barefaced lie a lie told by somebody who does not care if other people know they are lying.

barefoot [ˈbeəˈfʊt], barefooted [ˌbeəˈfʊtəd]

◇ adj [person] who is not wearing shoes or socks. ◇ adv: She walked barefoot over the pebbles.

bareheaded [ˌbeəˈhedəd] ◇ adj [person] who is not wearing a hat. ◇ adv: Several refugees sat bareheaded in the hot sun.

barelegged [ˌbeəˈlegd] ◇ adj [person] who is not wearing anything on their legs. ◇ adv: They ran barelegged down to the stream.

barely [ˈbeəˈli] adv -1. I could barely keep awake I kept awake, but it was very difficult □ There’s barely enough to feed four of us. -2. she had barely arrived she had arrived only a very short time before □ But we’ve barely met!

bargain [ˈbɑ:ˈgæn] ◇ n -1. an agreement between two people or two groups of people that each of them will do something in return for something else □ I’ve kept my side of the bargain. ■ to make OR strike a bargain to decide the terms of a bargain. -2. something that is on sale for a price that is cheaper than normal or than expected □ There are some real bargains in the sale. □ I got a good bargain at that hardware store. □ What a bargain! ◇ vi to discuss the terms of an agreement or sale and try to persuade the other person or people involved to accept the conditions that one wants □ They are currently bargaining with the unions for a peaceful settlement. □ He’s still bargaining over the price.

◆ into the bargain adv a phrase used to emphasize an extra advantage that somebody or something provides □ She’s a great organizer and a gifted linguist into the bargain.

◆ bargain for, bargain on vt fus I/he/she etc hadn’t bargained for sthg I/he/she etc hadn’t expected sthg □ They hadn’t bargained on so many people turning up. □ He got more than he bargained for when he asked Matt to stay.

bargain basement comp bargain basement prices prices that are much lower than usual.

bargaining power [ˈbɑ:ˈgæɪnɪŋ-] n the amount of power a person or group has when negotiating an agreement about prices, pay, terms etc.

barge [bɑ:ˈdʒ] ◇ n a type of long boat with a flat bottom that is used to carry heavy loads on canals or rivers. ◇ vi to rush in a forceful, clumsy, or rude way □ I tried to stop him, but he barged straight past me.

◆ barge in vi to enter in a forceful, clumsy, or rude way □ She just barged in demanding to see the manager. ■ to barge in on sb/sthg to interrupt sb/sthg rudely □ He barged in on us/our conversation without a word of apology.

◆ barge into vt fus -1. to barge into sb to bump into sb heavily or clumsily. -2. to barge into a room to enter a room in a forceful, clumsy, or rude way.

bar graph US, bar chart GB n a graph in which rectangles of different lengths represent particular amounts.

baritone [ˈbærətoun] n a male singing voice that is lower than a tenor but higher than a bass □ a rich baritone voice.

barium meal [ˌbæəriəm-] n a chemical mixture that is drunk by a patient before an X-ray in order to allow the internal organs to be seen more clearly.

bark [bɑːk] ◇ n -1. the loud harsh noise made by a dog □ The dog gave a loud bark. ■ his bark is worse than his bite he appears much more unfriendly and frightening than he really is (informal use). -2. the hard, rough, outer covering of the trunk and branches of a tree □ a piece of tree bark. ◇ vt [order, instructions, command] to shout <sthg> in a sudden unfriendly way □ The sergeant-major was barking out orders to his men. ◇ vi [dog] to make a loud harsh noise □ The dog was barking at me.

barking [ˈbɑːkɪŋ] n the sound of a dog that is barking □ I'll go mad if that barking doesn't stop soon.

barley [ˈbɑːli] n a plant similar to tall grass that has long straight hairs growing from the head of each stalk; the grain of this plant grown for food and used for making beer and whiskey.

barley sugar n GB a type of hard candy made from boiled sugar.

barley water n GB a type of non-alcoholic drink made from barley that usually has a lemon or orange flavor.

barmaid [ˈbɑːmeɪd] n GB a woman who serves drinks in a bar or pub.

barman [ˈbɑːmən] (pl barmen [-mən]) n GB a man who serves drinks in a bar or pub.

bar mitzvah [ˌbɑːˈmɪtsvə] n a religious ceremony that takes place when a Jewish boy becomes 13 years old. It means he is old enough to carry out religious duties.

barn [bɑːn] n a large farm building used for storing crops or for keeping animals in.

barnacle [ˈbɑːnəkl] n a small shellfish that attaches itself to rocks, the bottom of boats etc and is very difficult to remove.

Barnardo's [bɑːˈnɑːˈdɒz] a British charity that provides homes and schools for orphans and poor children.

barn dance n a party at which people do country dancing; a type of dance done at such an event.

barn owl n a type of owl that has brown and white feathers and a heart-shaped face.

barometer [bəˈrɒmətə] n -1. an instrument for measuring air pressure that is used to predict changes in the weather. -2. something that gives a sign of changes or of what people think □ These polls are always a useful barometer of public opinion.

baron [US ˈberən, GB ˈbær-] n -1. a man who is a member of a low rank of the nobility and whose title can be given to his son when he dies. -2. an oil/a press etc baron an extremely powerful businessman who makes their money from oil/newspapers etc.

baroness [US ˈberənes, GB ˈbær-] n a woman who has the same rank as a baron; the wife of a baron.

baronet [US ˈberənət, GB ˈbær-] n a nobleman who is lower in rank than a baron, and whose title can be given to his son when he dies.

baroque [US bəˈroʊk, GB ˈrɒk] adj -1. [art, architecture] typical of a detailed and dramatic style used in Europe between the sixteenth and eighteenth centuries. -2. [music] typical of a style of seventeenth and eighteenth century European composers, e.g. Bach and Vivaldi. -3. [writing, style] that contains very descriptive language and is too complicated.

barrack [US ˈberək, GB ˈbær-] ◇ vt GB to interrupt  by shouting loudly. ◇ vi to barrack for sb/sthg AUS [for players, a team] to shout words of encouragement to sb/sthg that one supports.

◆ barracks npl a building or group of buildings where soldiers live □ army barracks.

barracking [US ˈberəkɪŋ, GB ˈbær-] n GB the act of interrupting a speaker by shouting loudly.

barracuda [US ˌberəˈkuːdə, GB ˌbærəˈkjuːdə] n a large tropical fish that eats the flesh of other fish and other animals.

barrage [senses 1 & 2 US bəˈrɑːʒ, GB ˈbærɑːʒ, sense 3 US ˈbɑːrɪdʒ, GB ˈbærɑːʒ] n -1. the firing of a lot of guns, often before the start of an attack □ a barrage of heavy artillery fire. -2. a barrage of complaints/criticism etc a large number of complaints/criticisms etc that come one after the other □ She was met with a barrage of questions. -3. GB a structure that is built across a river to control the depth of the water, e.g. to help with irrigation or prevent flooding.

barred [bɑːd] adj a barred window a window that has bars across it to prevent people from getting through.

barrel [US ˈberəl, GB ˈbær-] n -1. a large round container that is wider in the middle than at the top or bottom, and is usually made of wood □ a beer barrel. -2. [of oil] a unit (159 liters) for measuring an amount of oil □ They have a production capacity of two million barrels a day. -3. [of a gun] the tube of a gun that the bullet travels down when it is fired.

barrel organ n a large musical instrument on wheels that plays a tune when the handle is turned and was often used in the past to entertain people in the street.

barren [US ˈberən, GB ˈbær-] adj (literary use) -1. [field, land] that cannot produce crops. -2. [discussion, time] that does not produce any useful results. -3. [woman] who is not able to have children.

barrette [bəˈret] n US a clip used to hold a woman's hair in place.

barricade [ˌbærəˈkeɪd] ◇ n a temporary barrier across a road, passage, or entrance. ◇ vt to block  etc by building a barricade. ■ to barricade oneself in to put barricades across all the entrances to the building that one is in, preventing anybody else from entering.

barrier [US ˈberɪr, GB ˈbærɪə] n -1. something that prevents people or things from moving from one place to another, e.g. a fence or gate □ You have to show your passport at the barrier -2. something that makes contact, agreement etc between people difficult or impossible □ a language/trade barrier □ This change in the law removes the last barrier to a settlement.

barrier cream n a cream used to protect one's skin against dirt or infection.

barrier method n a form of contraception that uses a physical object, e.g. a condom or diaphragm, rather than a drug.

barring ['bɑ:ɪŋ] prep -1. except for <sb/sth> □ All the projects, barring one, are now complete. -2. a word used to say that something will happen unless something else prevents it □ Barring further complications, we start tomorrow.

barrio [US 'bɑ:riou, GB 'bær-] n US a part of a US town or city where many Spanish-speaking people live.

barrister [US 'beristr, GB 'bærɪstə] n in England, Wales, and Australia, a lawyer who speaks in the higher courts of law to represent a client.

barroom ['bɑ:'ru:m] n US a room or building with a bar where alcohol is served.

barrow [US 'berou, GB 'bær-] n -1. a small cart, usually used for selling fruit and vegetables at markets. -2. = wheelbarrow.

bar stool n a high stool for people to sit on at a bar or counter.

Bart. abbr of baronet.

bartender ['bɑ:'tendə] n US a person whose job is to serve drinks at a bar.

barter ['bɑ:'tə] ◇ vt to exchange <goods> for other goods, without using money □ They barter farm produce for clothes. ◇ vi: They come to the market to barter. ◇ n: a barter economy.

base [beɪs] ◇ n -1. [of a tree, one's spine, a triangle] the bottom or lowest part of something □ The bud grows at the base of the branch. -2. [for a mixture, paint] the main part of something to which other things are added □ The stock forms the base of your sauce. □ Cream is a good base color. -3. SPORT in baseball, one of the four points on the field that players have to run around in order to score points. -4. MILITARY the place in a particular area where an army, navy etc keeps its staff and equipment and from where activities in that area are organized □ Report back to base when you have accomplished your mission. -5. BUSINESS the main office of a company or organization in a particular country, city etc □ We have a base in London. -6. [for a salesman, tourist, climber] a place where one has one's home, office etc and from which one travels to other places in the same country, region, or area □ From her base in Hong Kong, she covers the whole of the Far East. □ They used our apartment as a base and took the subway into town each day.

◇ vt -1. to be based in a place [company, employee] to have a place as a base or main location □ Where are you based? □ The company's main activities are based in Paris. -2. to base sthg on OR upon sthg to use sthg as the point from which to develop sthg □ The plot of the novel is based on a true story.

◇ adj [person, behavior] that one thinks is bad and does not deserve respect (literary use).

baseball ['beɪsbɔ:l] n a game, played mainly in the USA, between two teams of nine players. A player from one team hits a ball with a bat and scores points by running around four points in the field, known as bases. The other team tries to prevent this by throwing the ball to a base before the batter has reached it.

baseball cap n a hat that fits tightly over the top of one's head and has a curved part that sticks out in front.

baseboard ['beɪsbɔ:d] n US the strip of wood that covers the bottom of a wall in a room or corridor.

base camp n the main camp used, especially by mountaineers, as a base for expeditions.

-based [beɪst] suffix added to a word to show where a person, organization etc has their base or to show what the most important part of something is □ a Tokyo-based firm □ The mixture is water-based.

baseless ['beɪsləs] adj [fears, doubts, gossip] not based on facts.

baseline ['beɪslain] n the line that marks each end of the playing area in tennis, badminton etc.

basement ['beɪsmənt] n a story of a building that is below ground level.

base metal n a metal that is not very valuable, e.g. iron or lead (old-fashioned use).

base rate n the interest rate that banks use as a basis when calculating other rates.

bases ['beɪsi:z] plural of basis.

bash [bæʃ] (informal use) ◇ n -1. [on the head, knee] a hard blow. -2. [for a celebration] a party. ◇ vt [person, vehicle, head] to hit <sb/sthg> hard.

bashful ['bæʃfl] adj [person, smile] shy.

basic ['beɪsɪk] adj -1. [need, problem, aim] that is the most important part of something and that depends on or is connected with everything else □ Her basic argument is that saving energy means saving money. □ These things are basic to our corporate strategy. -2. [skill, vocabulary, food] that is simple but is necessary and can be developed or added to; [salary, model] that has nothing extra added □ These are the basic ingredients. -3. to be basic [room, accommodation] to be simple and have nothing more than is necessary □ Their apartment is quite basic.

◆ basics npl -1. the simplest, but often the most important parts of something □ the basics of computing/French. -2. the items of something, e.g. food or equipment, that are most important for a particular situation or activity □ They learned to survive with just the basics.

BASIC ['beɪsɪk] (abbr of Beginner's All-purpose Symbolic Instruction Code) n a form of language used for programming a computer.

basically ['beɪsɪklɪ] adv a word used when emphasizing the most important aspect of something or when giving a simple description of something complicated □ They amount to basically the same thing. □ He is basically a kind person. □ Basically, we're just very different.

basic rate n GB the standard or lowest rate of taxation or interest.

basic wage n a wage with no extra payments, e.g. for overtime or commission.

basil [US 'beɪzɪl, GB 'bæzɪl] n an herb with thin wide leaves that have a strong pleasant smell.

basin ['beɪsɪn] n -1. [in a bathroom] a small sink for washing one's hands and face in. -2. GEOGRAPHY an area where several rivers flow into a large river, a lake, or the sea □ the Amazon Basin. -3. GB [for food, liquid] a large bowl used for mixing food in; a large bowl used for washing dishes in.

basis ['beɪsɪs] (pl bases) n -1. the part of a plan, idea, organization etc that everything else develops from □ the basis of his argument □ The text can be used as a basis for discussion. -2. on the basis of sthg a phrase used to show the reason for a particular action or decision □ We made the decision on the basis of what we had been told. □ He did it on the basis that he had nothing to lose. ■ to do sthg on a regular/daily/weekly basis to do sthg regularly/every day/every week.

bask [US bæsk, GB bɑːsk] vi -1. to bask in the sun to sit or lie somewhere and enjoy the heat from the sun □ The others were out basking in the sun. -2. to bask in sthg [in somebody's approval, praise] to enjoy sthg □ He's basking in the glory of his recent Broadway success.

basket [US 'bæskət, GB 'bɑːsk-] n -1. a container made of woven strips of straw, wood, plastic, wire etc and used for carrying or storing things □ a shopping basket. -2. FINANCE a basket of currencies the average value of several different currencies. -3. BASKETBALL a small round net that is open at the bottom and is fixed high above the ground at each end of a basketball court. Points are scored by throwing the ball through this net.

basketball [US 'bæskətbɔːl, GB 'bɑːsk-] n a game between two teams of five players, played on a court with a basket at each end. Points are scored by throwing a large ball through the other team's basket; the ball used in this game.

basketwork [US 'bæskətɜːrk, GB 'bɑːskətɜːk] n the craft of weaving baskets and other objects from strips of wood or cane.

basking shark [US 'bæskɪŋ-, GB 'bɑːsk-] n a large shark that eats plankton and often swims near the surface of the sea.

Basque [bæsk] ◇ n a member of a people living in the Basque Country, the region between southwestern France and north-eastern Spain; the language of this people. ◇ adj: Basque literature/traditions.

Basque Provinces: the Basque Provinces a self-governing region of northern Spain. SIZE: 7,250 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,099,978 (Basques). CAPITAL: Vitoria. MAIN CITY: Bilbao.

bass¹ [beɪs] ◇ adj [note, voice] low in sound. ◇ n -1. a man who sings the lowest range of musical notes. -2. = double bass. -3. = bass guitar.

bass² [bæs] (pl bass OR basses) n a fish that lives in rivers or the sea and is eaten.

bass clef [ˌbeɪs-] n a symbol (♭) at the beginning of a line of music that shows that the notes are in the lower range.

bass drum [ˌbeɪs-] n a large drum that produces a low sound.

basset ['bæsət] n a basset (hound) a dog that has short legs, a long body, and long ears.

bass guitar [ˌbeɪs-] n an electric guitar with four strings that is used to play bass notes.

basoon [bə'suːn] n a large woodwind instrument that produces a low sound.

Bass Strait [ˌbæs-]: the Bass Strait the channel of water between Tasmania and Australia.

bastard [US 'bæstərd, GB 'bɑːstəd] n -1. ▽ a word used to describe somebody, usually a man, in a way that seems insulting but is meant as a joke (very informal use) □ You lucky/silly/clever bastard! -2. ▽ a word used to describe a man that one dislikes and finds very unpleasant (offensive use). -3. a person whose parents are not married to each other (old-fashioned use).

baste [beɪst] vt to cover <meat> with hot fat and its own juices while it is cooking to keep it moist.

bastion [US 'bæstjən, GB 'bæstɪən] n something that allows a principle or way of life to continue at a time when it is threatened or seems likely to disappear □ the last bastion of monetarism.

BASW (abbr of British Association of Social Workers) n the BASW a British labor union for social workers.

bat [bæt] (pt & pp batted, cont batting) ◇ n -1. a small flying animal that looks like a mouse with wings and hunts for its food at night. -2. SPORT a piece of wood with a particular shape and a handle at one end, that is used for hitting a ball, e.g. in baseball, cricket, or table tennis. -3. phrases (informal use) right off the bat US immediately □ Right off the bat, I knew something was wrong. ■ to do sthg off one's own bat GB to do sthg without being told to do it □ She did all the research off her own bat.

◇ vt to hit  with a bat.

◇ vi [baseball player, cricketer, team] to try to score runs by hitting the ball with a bat.

batch [bætʃ] n [of papers, products] a group of things that are similar and are produced or dealt with at the same time; [of recruits, trainees] a number of people who are dealt with by an organization as a group □ The first batch of applications/applicants was being processed by the personnel department.

batch file n a computer file that contains a series of commands and is used to avoid having to type in each command separately.

batch processing n the processing by a computer of a batch of information that has

- been collected together over a period of time.
- bated ['beɪtəd] adj with bated breath not knowing what will happen and so very excited or nervous □ We watched/waited with bated breath for news of the verdict.
- bath [US bæθ, GB bɑ:θ] ◇ n -1. a large container, usually fitted against a wall, that one sits or lies in to wash one's body □ He forgot to clean the bath. -2. to have or take a bath to sit or lie in a bath that is filled with water and wash oneself □ I had a bath when I got home. ◇ vt GB [baby, old person] to wash <sb> in a bath.
- ◆ baths npl GB an indoor public swimming pool.
- bath chair n a type of old-fashioned wheelchair, usually with a cover over the top.
- bath cube n a cube of bath salts that dissolves in water.
- bathe [beɪð] ◇ vt -1. to wash  etc in water or another liquid □ I bathed my foot in antiseptic. -2. to be bathed in light to be filled or covered with light (literary use) □ The garden was bathed in sunshine. ◇ vi -1. US to have a bath. -2. GB to swim for pleasure in a lake, river etc.
- bather ['beɪðə] n GB a person who is swimming or playing in a lake, river etc.
- ◆ bathers npl AUS a swimsuit.
- bathing ['beɪðɪŋ] n GB the activity of swimming for pleasure □ 'No bathing.'
- bathing cap n a cap that is worn to keep one's hair dry when one is swimming.
- bathing suit n a piece of clothing made to be worn while swimming.
- bathing trunks npl shorts worn by men when swimming (old-fashioned use).
- bath mat n a mat placed next to a bath so that one can stand on it when drying oneself.
- bath oil n oil that is added to bathwater to give it a pleasant smell.
- bathrobe [US 'bæθrəʊb, GB 'bɑ:θ-] n -1. a long loose piece of clothing, usually made of toweling, that is worn after having a bath or a swim. -2. US a loose piece of clothing worn over nightwear or underwear, especially after just getting out of bed.
- bathroom [US 'bæθru:m, GB 'bɑ:θ-] n -1. a room that contains a bath or shower and usually a sink and toilet. -2. US a room in which there is a toilet.
- bath salts npl crystals that are added to a bath to soften the water and give it a pleasant smell.
- bath towel n a large towel.
- bath tub [US 'bæθtʌb, GB 'bɑ:θ-] n a large container that one sits in or lies in to wash one's body.
- bathwater [US 'bæθwɔ:tr, GB 'bɑ:θwɔ:tə] n the water that one takes a bath in □ Add a few drops to your bathwater.
- batik [bə'ti:k] n a process of printing designs on cloth by putting wax on the areas that are not to be dyed; a piece of cloth with a design printed on it in this way □ a batik shirt/dress/scarf.
- Batman ['bætəmən] a US cartoon character who wears a black cloak and mask. He fights crime with his partner Robin.
- baton [US bə'tɔ:n, GB 'bætən] n -1. MUSIC a short thin stick used by a conductor to conduct an orchestra. -2. SPORT a short stick that is passed from one runner to the next in a relay race. -3. GB [used by the police] a heavy stick used as a weapon by the police.
- batsman ['bætsmən] (pl batsmen [-mən]) n a player in cricket who is batting, or who specializes in batting.
- battalion [bə'tæljən] n a large unit of soldiers made up of three or four companies.
- batten ['bætən] n a long flat strip of wood used for strengthening things or for fixing them in place.
- ◆ batten down vt fus to batten down the hatches to prepare oneself for a difficult period in the near future.
- batter ['bætə] ◇ vt to hit <sb/sthg> hard many times with one's fists or something heavy □ He had been battered to death. ◇ vi to batter something □ He was battering at the door. ◇ n -1. SPORT in baseball, the player who hits the ball. -2. COOKING a mixture of flour, eggs, and milk, used e.g. for making pancakes or covering food before frying it □ Dip the fish in batter.
- ◆ batter down vt sep to batter sthg down [door, barrier] to batter sthg until it falls down.
- battered ['bætəd] adj -1. a battered baby/wife a baby/wife who has been a victim of violence from somebody in their family □ a refuge for battered wives. -2. [car, briefcase] that looks old and in bad condition □ Prof. Burns turned up on a battered old bicycle.
- battering ['bætərɪŋ] n to take a battering [city, building, object] to suffer damage as a result of being hit, attacked etc many times; [team, political party] to suffer a bad defeat □ The Old Town took a real battering in the war. □ The Democrats took a battering in the poll.
- battering ram n a long heavy piece of wood used by armies in the past for breaking down doors, walls, or gates.
- battery ['bætəri] (pl batteries) n -1. ELECTRICITY a device that produces electricity, e.g. for a radio or car □ The car battery is flat again. -2. MILITARY a group of big guns fixed in one place. -3. a battery of tests/measures etc a large number of tests/measures etc that come together □ She met with a battery of insults.
- battery charger n a device for putting electricity into batteries.
- battery hen n a hen that is kept with a lot of other hens in small cages to lay eggs.
- battle ['bætl] ◇ n -1. a fight between large groups of people □ the Battle of Waterloo/Midway □ a battle between police and demonstrators □ He was killed in battle. -2. a situation in which somebody tries very hard to get or achieve something, especially when they are opposed by somebody or something else □ the battle for freedom/power □ the battle against poverty/inflation □ a battle with the authorities □ It's a real battle to get her to do her homework. ■

■ a battle of wits a struggle or contest between people using intelligence and not violence. ■ to be half the battle to be a very important step toward achieving something □ Getting to see him is half the battle, now all you have to do is to convince him. ■ to be fighting a losing battle to be trying to do something when it is obvious that one cannot succeed.

◇ vi to try very hard to get or achieve something, especially in difficult or unpleasant circumstances □ She battled to save his life. □ He's battling against cancer/for power.

◇ vt US to battle against <sb/sthg> □ Evans had been battling the disease for 10 years.

battledress ['bætlɪdres] n GB a soldier's uniform for fighting □ troops in battledress.

battlefield ['bætlfi:ld], battleground ['bætlgraʊnd] n -1. a place where a battle takes place. -2. a subject that people argue about strongly □ The health system will be the political battlefield for the next election.

battlements ['bætlmɛnts] npl a wall around the top of a castle that has spaces through which guns or arrows can be fired.

battleship ['bætlʃɪp] n the largest kind of warship.

bauble ['bɔ:bl] n a piece of cheap jewelry; a cheap ornament.

baud [bɔ:d] n a unit for measuring the speed at which information is passed between computers.

baud rate n the speed at which information is passed between computers.

baulk [bɔ:k] vi = balk.

Bavaria [bə'veəriə] a state in south Germany. SIZE: 70,550 sq kms. POPULATION: 11,220,735 (Bavarians). CAPITAL: Munich.

bawdy ['bɔ:di] (compar bawdier, superl bawdiest) adj [joke, story, song] that refers to sex in a humorous and vulgar way.

bawl [bɔ:l] ◇ vi -1. to shout loudly and harshly □ I could hear the two of them bawling at each other. -2. [baby, child] to cry loudly. ◇ vt [command, insult] to shout <sthg> loudly and harshly □ "Get out!" he bawled.

bay [beɪ] ◇ n -1. GEOGRAPHY a part of the coast where the land curves in and surrounds the water on three sides □ a hotel overlooking the bay. -2. [of a building] an area in or outside a building that is marked in a particular way and used for a particular purpose □ a parking/loading bay. -3. [horse] a reddish-brown horse. -4. phrase to keep sb/sthg at bay to stop sb/sthg from approaching, attacking, or affecting one □ We're desperately trying to keep our creditors at bay while we figure out our finances. ◇ vi [dog, wolf] to howl.

bay leaf n a leaf of the bay tree, used in cooking as a flavoring.

Bay of Biscay [-'bɪskɪ:]: the Bay of Biscay a large bay in the Atlantic between western France and northern Spain. The sea there is often rough.

Bay of Pigs: the Bay of Pigs a bay in Cuba where an invading force of Cuban exiles and US troops was defeated by Cuban troops in 1961.

bayonet ['beɪənət] n a knife attached to the end of a gun.

bay tree n a Mediterranean laurel tree that has shiny dark-green leaves.

bay window n a window that is rounded or has three sides and sticks out from the main wall of a building.

bazaar [bə'zɑ:ʔ] n -1. a marketplace, especially in North Africa or the Middle East. -2. a sale of goods held in order to collect money for a particular charity or organization □ a church bazaar.

bazooka [bə'zu:kə] n a long antitank gun shaped like a tube that is held on the shoulder when it is fired.

BB n abbr of Boys' Brigade.

B & B n abbr of bed and breakfast.

BBB (abbr of Better Business Bureau) n the BBB an organization that aims to defend the standards of service provided by businesses, e.g. hotels or insurance companies.

BBC (abbr of British Broadcasting Corporation) n the BBC the British state-owned radio and television company.

BBQ, bbq abbr of barbecue.

BC -1. (abbr of before Christ) before the birth of Jesus Christ, according to the modern Western calendar □ He died in 48 BC. -2. abbr of British Columbia.

NOTE: Compare AD.

BCG (abbr of Bacillus Calmette-Guérin) n a vaccine against tuberculosis.

BD (abbr of Bachelor of Divinity) n a degree in the study of religion; a person who has this degree.

B/D abbr of bank draft.

BDS (abbr of Bachelor of Dental Science) n a degree in dentistry; a person who has this degree.

be [stressed bi:, unstressed bɪ] (pt was OR were, pp been) ◇ aux vb -1. used with the -ing form of the verb to make continuous tenses □ She was cooking dinner when I arrived. □ They've been waiting for ages. □ She's starting work on Monday. -2. used with the past participle to make passive tenses □ The bottle had already been opened. -3. used in various types of sentence to represent whole clauses where the main verb is "be" □ It was fun, wasn't it? □ I'm sure she'll be better than he was. □ "Aren't you Linda's brother?" — "Yes, I am." -4. used with "to" and the infinitive for events that will or should happen in the near future. ■ we are to meet at 8 pm it is planned that we will meet at 8 pm. ■ you are not to open it you must not open it. ■ I was to find this out later I found this out later (used of events that are seen as important). -5. used to show what might happen □ If I were you, I'd go.

◇ vi (+ complement) -1. used before adjectives, nouns, adverbs etc to describe the subject of a sentence □ I'm Scottish/from Scotland. □ The children are being difficult. □ She's a doctor/a fine violinist. □ Aren't you Doreen West?
 ■ how are you? used to say "hello" or to ask whether somebody is well □ "Hello, how are you?" — "I'm fine thanks." -2. used to show age, time, place, price etc □ I was 16 (years old) when I left school. □ The concert is this evening. □ The café is at the end of this road, on the left. □ He's been at home all day. □ The meal was $10 a head. □ The shirt is pure silk. -3. used with "it" to show times, dates, distances, and weather □ It's February 7 today. □ It's exactly 3 o'clock. □ It was too hot to go out. -4. used to put emphasis on the most important item □ What I need is a drink! □ It was Peter who first mentioned it. -5. used with "there" to show that something exists, or where it is □ Have there been any messages for me? □ There's a hole in my sock.

◆ be that as it may adv that is perhaps true, but it is not relevant and I want to change the subject □ Be that as it may, we still have to confront the problem of corruption.

B/E abbr of bill of exchange.

beach [bi:tʃ] ◇ n an area of sand or pebbles at the edge of a sea or lake □ Let's go to the beach. □ We spent the day at the beach. □ Children were playing on the beach. □ The area is known for its unspoilt beaches. ◇ vt to force or pull  onto the beach.

beach ball n a large light ball for playing with at the beach.

beach buggy n a car with very wide wheels that is used for traveling on sandy beaches.

beachcomber ['bi:tʃkʌmɔː] n a person who looks for valuable things left by the tide on a beach.

beachhead ['bi:tʃhed] n a part of a beach that has been captured from the enemy, and where an army can land its soldiers and equipment □ An advance party of marines established or secured a beachhead.

beachwear ['bi:tʃweə] n clothing that is designed to be worn on the beach □ Beachwear should not be worn in the restaurant.

beacon ['bi:kən] n -1. [on land] a fire, usually on a hill or a tower, that has been lit as a signal or warning. -2. SHIPPING an object with a light on it, e.g. a lighthouse, that shows boats they are near land or in dangerous waters. -3. RADIO a transmitter that sends out radio signals so that ships and aircraft can check their position.

Beacon Hill an expensive area of Boston.

bead [bi:d] n -1. a small round piece of colored glass, wood, or plastic with a hole through the middle, used in jewelry □ a string of beads □ a bead necklace. -2. a small drop of liquid □ By now his forehead was covered with beads of sweat.

beaded ['bi:dəd] adj [dress, bag] decorated with beads.

beading ['bi:dɪŋ] n a narrow strip of wood for decorating furniture or doors.

beady ['bi:di] (compar beadier, superl beadiest) adj beady eyes small, round, bright eyes that are not attractive.

beagle ['bi:gl] n a dog with short legs and large ears, kept as a pet or for hunting.

beak [bi:k] n the hard pointed part of a bird's mouth.

beaker ['bi:kə] n a large cup or glass, usually without a handle.

be-all n the be-all and end-all the main purpose or most important part of something □ Money isn't the be-all and end-all, you know.

beam [bi:m] ◇ n -1. [of wood] a long thick piece of wood, usually used for supporting the roof of a building □ an old house with big, thick wooden beams. -2. [of light] a line of light, e.g. from a flashlight or car headlight □ Lasers produce a very narrow beam of light. -3. US AUTO high/low beams car lights that point straight ahead/toward the ground.

◇ vt to send <radio or television signals> somewhere by using electronic equipment □ Pictures of the opening ceremony were beamed all round the world.

◇ vi -1. [person] to smile happily □ They were beaming with joy. □ She beamed at me in delight. -2. [sun, light] to shine brightly □ The spotlight was beaming down on her.

beaming ['bi:mɪŋ] adj [face, person] that is smiling happily □ She turned and gave me a beaming smile.

bean [bi:n] n -1. a seed that comes from a climbing plant and that is dried and eaten as a vegetable; a long thin pod containing such seeds that is eaten fresh □ green beans □ kidney beans. -2. a seed that comes from a plant and is used to make certain food and drinks □ coffee/cocoa beans. -3. phrases to be full of beans [person] to be very lively (informal use) □ You're full of beans today! ■ to spill the beans to tell a secret at the wrong time or to the wrong person (informal use).

beanbag ['bi:nbæg] n a very large and loosely filled cushion, used as a seat.

beanshoot ['bi:nʃu:t], beansprout ['bi:nspraʊt] n a small shoot that has grown from a mung bean, used especially in Chinese cooking.

bear [beə] (pt bore, pp borne) ◇ n -1. a large wild animal with a big head, thick fur, and strong claws □ a brown bear. -2. FINANCE a person who sells shares in order to buy them back when the prices have fallen.

◇ vt -1. to bear the weight of sb/sthg to support the weight of sb/sthg □ Metal girders bear the weight of the roof. -2. [blame, responsibility, burden] to have to accept or deal with <sthg> □ The cost of the new rail link will be borne by taxpayers. -3. [mark, signs, resemblance] to have <sthg> in a way that can be seen or noticed by other people □ He still bears the scars from his accident. □ The published article bears absolutely no resemblance to what I originally wrote. -4. I/he/she can't bear it I/he/she cannot accept it because it is unpleasant □ I can't bear that man/to see you go. -5. [goods, gifts] to carry or transport <sb/sthg> somewhere (literary use) □ A convoy of trucks bore the refugees away. -6. to bear fruit/flowers [tree, plant] to produce fruit/flowers □ The tree bears fruit in the autumn. ■ to bear fruit [plan, investment] to finally be successful □ All my efforts have finally borne fruit. -7. [child] to give birth to  □ She bore him a son. -8. to bear sb no ill will OR malice not to feel angry with sb □ She bears him no ill will.

◇ vi -1. to bear left/right to turn slightly to the left/right and continue □ Bear left at the traffic lights. -2. to bring pressure/influence to bear on sb to use pressure/influence to persuade sb to do something.

◆ bear down vi to bear down on sb/sthg to move toward sb/sthg quickly and in a threatening way □ Martin turned to see a huge truck bearing down on him.

◆ bear out vt sep to bear sthg out [claim, story, alibi] to support the truth of sthg □ The allegations of malpractice are borne out by the report's findings.

◆ bear up vi to stay cheerful, despite one's difficulties □ He's bearing up under the strain. □ Bear up! I'm sure things will get better soon.

◆ bear with vt fus bear with me a polite phrase used when one wants somebody to be patient □ If you'll just bear with me a moment, I'll explain the whole process.

bearable ['beərəbl] adj to be bearable to be acceptable, even though it is unpleasant □ This heat is just about bearable.

beard [biəd] n hair that grows on a man's chin and cheeks □ He decided to grow a beard. □ He had a long, thin beard.

bearded ['biədəd] adj [man, face] that has a beard.

bearer ['beərə] n -1. [of a coffin, stretcher] a person who helps to carry something □ the official flag bearer. -2. [of news, a letter] a person who brings something to somebody else □ I hate to be the bearer of bad news. -3. FINANCE a person who has a banknote or check which can be exchanged for money.

bear hug n to give sb a bear hug to put one's arms around sb very tightly, usually to show affection.

bearing ['beəriŋ] n -1. to have a bearing on sthg to have a connection with or some effect on sthg □ The evidence has some/no bearing on the present case. -2. [of a person] the way somebody stands or moves and what that shows about their character □ her noble/modest bearing. -3. [in a machine] a part of a machine that supports the weight of a moving part. -4. [with a compass] the direction that one is traveling in or needs to travel in to reach somewhere, found by using a compass. ■ to get/lose one's bearings to know/not to know where one is □ I lost my bearings in the maze of corridors.

bear market n FINANCE a situation in which many people are selling stock market shares because they expect the prices to fall.

bearskin ['beə'skɪn] n -1. the skin and fur of a bear, sometimes used as a rug. -2. a tall black fur hat that is worn by some British soldiers on ceremonial occasions.

beast [bi:st] n -1. an animal (literary use). -2. a person who one thinks is cruel or unpleasant (informal use).

beastly ['bi:stli] (compar beastlier, superl beastliest) adj [person, weather, smell] that one thinks is very unpleasant (old-fashioned use).

beat [bi:t] (pt beat, pp beaten) ◇ vt -1. [child, dog, metal] to hit  hard many times □ He beat the donkey with a stick. -2. to beat a drum to hit a drum to make a sound. -3. [opponent, team] to defeat <sb> in a race, competition etc; [inflation, crime] to deal with  successfully over a period of time with a lot of effort □ She beat him at poker/chess. □ Regular exercise can help you beat depression. ■ it beats me I don't understand (informal use) □ It beats me how she does it. ■ to beat sb to it to arrive somewhere or do something before sb else does □ I planned to get there first but she beat me to it. -4. [score, record] to achieve something that is better than <sthg> □ The sprinter beat her previous best time by a quarter of a second. ■ it beats walking/working etc it is better than walking/working etc □ You can't beat a good night out at the theater. -5. COOKING to stir <eggs, cream> etc thoroughly with a fork or whisk □ Beat the eggs into the mixture. -6. [bird] to flap <its wings>. -7. to beat time [person] to show the speed and rhythm of a piece of music by moving one's hand or foot up and down regularly. -8. phrase beat it! go away! (informal use).

◇ vi -1. [rain, wind] to keep hitting the surface of something hard □ The waves beat against the side of the boat. -2. [heart, pulse] to make a regular rhythmic movement □ Her heart had stopped beating.

◇ n -1. [of a drum, wing] a regular blow or movement; the sound of this □ I could hear the beat of his heart. -2. MUSIC the main regular rhythm in a piece of music □ I like dance music with a strong beat. -3. [of a police officer] the area that a police officer patrols or is responsible for.

◇ adj to be beat [person] to be very tired (informal use) □ I'm beat. Let's go to bed.

◆ beat down ◇ vi -1. [sun] to shine strongly □ The sun was beating down on my back. -2. [rain] to fall heavily □ The rain beat down on the car roof. ◇ vt sep to beat sb down to persuade sb to accept a lower price for something □ I beat him down to $20.

◆ beat off vt sep to beat sb/sthg off to be successful in resisting sb/sthg and making them go away □ She was somehow able to beat off her attackers. □ They beat off some stiff competition from their nearest rivals.

◆ beat up vt sep to beat sb up to hit or kick sb until they are seriously hurt □ My brother was badly beaten up last night.

beaten ['bi:tɪn] adj [gold, copper] that has been shaped by being hit with a hammer.

beater ['bi:tə] n -1. a tool or machine for beating cooking ingredients, e.g. eggs or cream. -2. a long stick with a wide flat end for beating carpets.

Beat Generation n the Beat Generation a group of US writers in the 1950s who opposed the values of Western society by using drugs, practicing Buddhism and meditation, not working etc. It included writers such as Jack Kerouac.

beating ['bi:tɪŋ] n -1. to give sb a beating to hit sb repeatedly, often as a punishment. -2. to get or take a beating [player, team] to be easily defeated □ Detroit took a beating against Cleveland.

beat-up adj [car, guitar] in very bad condition (informal use).

beaut [bjʊ:t] (informal use) ◇ n a beaut a very good example of something □ Good shot! What a beaut! ◇ adj US & AUS very good □ That was a beaut shot!

beautician [bjʊ:'tʃɪn] n a person whose job is to give beauty treatments for the face, nails, skin etc.

beautiful ['bjʊ:təfl] adj -1. [woman] who is very pleasing to look at □ He has a very beautiful wife. -2. [scenery, music, dress] that one finds very pleasing to look at, listen to etc □ What a beautiful house you have! □ We had a beautiful meal. □ It's a beautiful day, isn't it? -3. [shot, pass, stroke] that one thinks is very good or skillful (informal use).

beautifully ['bjʊ:təflɪ] adv [dress, sing, play] very well □ The house was beautifully decorated. □ You handled the situation beautifully.

beauty ['bjʊ:tɪ] (pl beauties) ◇ n -1. [of a person, place] the quality of being beautiful □ He had not been prepared for the sheer beauty of the scenery. -2. [person] a beautiful person, usually a woman □ She is a famous beauty. -3. the beauty of sthg the aspect of sthg that makes it so good □ The beauty of the treatment is that it has no side effects. -4. to be a beauty to be an excellent example of something (informal use) □ That boat's a real beauty! ◇ comp [product, treatment] that is intended to make women look more attractive.

beauty contest n a contest between a group of people, usually women, to judge who is the most beautiful.

beauty parlor n a place where beauty treatments, e.g. manicures, massage, or make-up, are carried out.

beauty queen n the winner of a beauty contest.

beauty salon n = beauty parlor.

beauty spot n -1. a place in the countryside that people think is very beautiful □ It's a famous beauty spot. -2. a small dark spot on a person's skin.

Beauvoir [US buv'wɑ:ɪ, GB 'bɒvwa:ɪ], Simone de (1908–1986) a French existentialist writer and feminist who was closely associated with the writer Jean-Paul Sartre.

beaver ['bi:və] n an animal with brown fur, large teeth, and a large, round, flat tail that builds dams on rivers to live in.

becalmed [bi'kɑ:md] adj to be becalmed [ship, boat] to be unable to move because there is no wind (literary use).

became [bi'keɪm] past tense of become.

because [bi'kɒz] conj I came because he asked me he asked me and so I came (used to show the reason for something) □ I'm glad you're coming, because there's something I want to talk to you about.

◆ because of prep we stayed indoors because of the rain the reason why we stayed indoors was the rain.

béchamel sauce [,beɪʃəmel-] n a thick white sauce made from milk, flour, and butter.

beck [bek] n to be at sb's beck and call to be ready to do whatever sb asks (disapproving use) □ If she thinks I'm going to be at her beck and call all day, she's wrong!

Beckett ['bekɪt], Samuel (1906–1989) an Irish writer who lived in France and wrote plays, novels, and poetry in French and English. His best-known work is Waiting for Godot.

beckon ['bekən] ◇ vt -1. to signal to <sb> with one's finger or hand in order to get them to come closer □ She beckoned the waiter over. -2. to attract or seem likely to involve <sb> □ A new life beckoned him. ◇ vi to beckon to sb to signal to sb with one's finger or hand in order to get them to come closer.

become [bi'kʌm] (pt became, pp become) vi (+ complement) he became rich he started to be rich (used before adjectives and nouns) □ The noise became louder and louder. □ Clinton became President in 1993. □ It's becoming a real problem. ■ what has become of Jim? what has happened to Jim and where is he now?

becoming [bi'kʌmɪŋ] adj [dress, color, hairstyle] that makes somebody look attractive (literary use) □ That outfit is very becoming on you.

BECTU ['bektu:] (abbr of Broadcasting, Entertainment, Cinematograph and Theatre Union) n a British labor union for film, television, and theater technicians.

bed [bed] (pt & pp bedded, cont bedding) n -1. [for a person] a piece of furniture that is used to sleep on □ I was lying in bed reading. □ He got out of bed and went to the window. □ a single/double bed. ■ to go to bed to lie down on a bed in order to sleep, usually at night □ What time do you go to bed? ■ to make the bed to arrange all the sheets, blankets etc neatly on a bed so that it is ready to sleep in □ Have you made your bed yet? ■ to go to bed with sb to have sex with sb (polite use). -2. [for plants, flowers] an area of soil where flowers, vegetables etc are planted. ■ it's not a bed of roses it is not pleasant, comfortable, or easy (informal use) □ My life isn't exactly a bed of roses, you know. -3. [of a river, the sea] the bottom of a river, sea, pond etc.

◆ bed down vi to go to bed □ She had to bed down on the couch.

BEd [bi:'ed] (abbr of Bachelor of Education) n a degree in education; a person who has this degree.

bed and breakfast n a type of accommodation in which a guest pays for a room for the night and breakfast the next morning; a hotel or private house that offers this type of accommodation.

BED AND BREAKFAST

Most bed and breakfasts are private houses, and they usually have a friendly atmosphere. Some provide an evening meal as well as a home-cooked breakfast. Many are in seaside resorts, but they are also found in big cities and in isolated parts of the country. In Britain and Australia they are cheaper than hotels; in the USA they tend to be more fashionable and more expensive.

bed bath n a way of washing somebody who is in bed because they are old, ill etc.

bedbug ['bedbʌg] n a small insect that lives in beds and feeds on human blood.

bedclothes ['bedkloʊz] npl = bedding.

bedcover ['bedkʌvə] n = bedspread.

bedding ['bedɪŋ] n the sheets and blankets that cover a bed.

bedding plant n a plant that is suitable for growing in a flowerbed.

bedeck [br'dek] vt to be bedecked with sthg [with flowers, flags] to be decorated with sthg (literary use).

bedevil [br'devɪl] (US pt & pp bedeviled, cont bedeviling, GB pt & pp bedevilled, cont bedeviling) vt to be bedeviled by OR with sthg [with difficulties, controversy] to be continually affected by sthg unpleasant □ The production has been bedeviled by bad luck from the start.

bedfellow ['bedfelou] n strange OR uneasy bedfellows two people or things that are connected in a way that is surprising or unlikely to continue because they are so different □ The campaign groups make strange bedfellows.

Bedfordshire ['bedfɔːrdʃə] a county in southern England. SIZE: 1,235 sq kms. POPULATION: 525,900. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Bedford.

bedlam ['bedlæm] n a word used to describe a noisy and uncontrolled place or situation □ It was sheer bedlam in there.

bed linen n the sheets and pillowcases that go on a bed.

Bedouin ['beduɪn] ◇ n a member of one of the nomadic peoples living in the deserts of Arabia, Jordan, Syria, and the Sahara. ◇ adj: a Bedouin camp/costume.

bedpan ['bedpæn] n a shallow bowl that can be used as a toilet by a person who cannot get out of bed.

bedraggled [br'dræglɪd] adj [person, hair] that looks messy after getting wet or dirty.

bedridden ['bedrɪdn] adj [person] who is too ill or old to get out of bed.

bedrock ['bedrɒk] n -1. GEOLOGY the solid rock that is underneath the loose layers of soil on the ground. -2. the principles or facts that a belief, idea, activity etc is based on □ This is where the bedrock of Republican support lies.

bedroom ['bedru:m] n a room that one sleeps in □ It's a three-bedroom house.

Beds abbr of Bedfordshire.

bedside ['bedsaɪd] n the space by the side of a bed □ He was at her bedside all through her illness. □ a bedside lamp/table.

bedside manner n the way in which a doctor talks to a sick person and makes them feel less worried □ I don't think much of his bedside manner.

bed-sit(ter) [ˌbed'sɪt(ə)] n GB a rented room in a house that one eats and sleeps in.

bedsore ['bedsɔːr] n a sore area on somebody's skin that they get when they are unable to move from their bed for a long time.

bedspread ['bedspred] n a decorative cover that is placed on a bed.

bedtime ['bedtaɪm] n the time at which somebody normally goes to bed □ a bedtime story □ It's past my bedtime.

Beduin ['beduɪn] n & adj = Bedouin.

bed-wetting [-wetɪŋ] n the habit of urinating accidentally in bed at night.

bee [bi:] n a flying insect with black and yellow stripes that makes honey. ■ to have a bee in one's bonnet about sthg to talk or think a lot about sthg because one is worried or enthusiastic about it.

beech [bi:tʃ] n a large tree with a smooth gray trunk and dark-green leaves; the wood of this tree.

beef [bi:f] n the meat of a cow, bull, or ox.

◆ beef up vt sep to beef sthg up [report, story, flavor] to improve or strengthen sthg by adding things to it (informal use).

beefburger ['bi:fbɜːgə] n a round flat piece of ground beef.

Beefeater ['bi:fi:tə] n one of the ceremonial guards of the Tower of London.

beefsteak ['bi:fsteɪk] n good-quality lean beef that can be grilled or fried.

beehive ['bi:haɪv] n -1. a kind of box where bees are kept to make honey. -2. a woman's hairstyle, popular in the 1960s, in which the hair is piled very high on the head.

beekeeper ['bi:ki:pə] n a person who keeps bees and collects their honey.

beeline ['bi:lɪn] n to make a beeline for sb/sthg to move directly and quickly toward sb/sthg (informal use) □ As soon as we got there, he made a beeline for the bar.

been [bi:n] past participle of be.

beep [bi:p] ◇ n a short high-pitched noise that is made by a car horn or an electronic device such as an alarm clock. ◇ vi [car horn, alarm clock] to make a beep.

beeper ['bi:pə] a small, portable, electronic device that makes a noise to tell one to telephone somebody.

beer [biə] n an alcoholic drink made from hops; a glass, bottle, or can of this □ a sip/bottle of beer □ Would you like a beer?

BEER

In the USA and Australia the most common type of beer is lager (a light gassy beer that is served cold), and people asking for beer will always be given lager. The type of beer that is traditionally sold in British pubs is called bitter. It is not very gassy, and has a slightly bitter taste. It is usually served in pint glasses, at room temperature. When asking for beer in Britain, you have to say if you want beer, lager, or stout (a type of very dark beer).

beer garden n GB an area outside a pub with seats and tables where customers can sit and drink.

beer mug n a large glass with a handle, usually used for drinking beer.

beeswax ['bi:z-wæks] n wax that is made by bees and is used for making furniture polish and candles.

beet [bi:t] n -1. a root vegetable used to make sugar. -2. US a dark-red root vegetable that is cooked and often eaten cold in salads.

Beethoven [US 'beitoʊvən, GB 'beɪthoʊvən], Ludwig van (1770–1827) a German composer. Many of his greatest works, including the Fifth Symphony, the Ninth Symphony, and the Violin Concerto, were written after he had gone deaf.

beetle ['bi:təl] n an insect with wings that fold under a hard shiny covering on its back.

Beeton ['bi:tən], Mrs (1836–1865) a British writer on cookery, whose best-known book is Household Management.

beetroot ['bi:tru:t] n GB [in a salad] = beet.

befall [br'fɔ:l] (vt befell [-'fel], pp befallen [-'fɔ:l-ən]) vt [harm, bad luck] to happen to <sb> (literary use).

befit [br'fi:t] (vt & pp befitted, cont befitting) vt to be suitable for <sb/sthg> (formal use) □ as befits a woman of her standing.

before [br'fɔ:ə] ◇ prep -1. they arrived before us they arrived first and we arrived second □ They bought lots of souvenirs before leaving the country. □ At 6 o'clock we have the news, but before that here is some music. -2. before the war in the period leading up to the war □ I saw him the day before yesterday. -3. she appeared before the judge she appeared in the presence of the judge □ They played before a crowd of 20,000 people.

◇ conj -1. have a drink before you go you are going, but have a drink first □ He took off his shoes before entering the mosque. □ I had to pay a fine before the police would return my car. -2. we had to wait an hour before the bus arrived we had to wait an hour until the bus arrived □ People weren't really motivated before she took over.

◇ adv I had seen the play before I had already seen the play □ Have we met before somewhere? ■ the day/week etc before the previous day/week etc □ We went to Broadway last night and Chinatown the night before.

beforehand [br'fɔ:'hænd] adv if you're coming, let us know beforehand if you're coming, let us know before you do.

befriend [br'frend] vt to make friends with <sb who is lonely or needs help> □ He was befriended by a colleague in the same department.

befuddled [br'fʌdlɪd] adj [person, thoughts] confused □ He was obviously befuddled with drink when he said that.

beg [beg] (vt & pp begged, cont begging) ◇ vt to ask for  etc in a very humble or anxious way □ He begged her to let him stay. ◇ vi -1. to ask for money or food from people in a public place □ The station was full of people begging for money. -2. to beg somebody for something or to do something □ She begged for a second chance/to be allowed to go.

began [br'gæən] past tense of begin.

beggar ['begəʃ] n a person who begs for food or money in the street.

begin [br'gɪn] (vt began, pp begun, cont beginning) ◇ vt -1. to do the first part of <sthg> □ Police have begun their search for the body. □ He began his speech with a joke. ■ to begin doing OR to do sthg to do sthg that one was not doing before □ He began running OR to run. □ It began to get dark. -2. to be responsible for starting <sthg> □ You began the argument, now it's up to you to settle it.

◇ vi -1. to do or be the first part of something □ Who's going to begin? □ We began by approving the minutes of the previous meeting. ■ to begin with a phrase used to talk about the first stage of something or to introduce the first thing one wants to say □ To begin with, things went well. □ To begin with, let me thank you all for coming here today. -2. [event, activity] to take place from a particular time or date and continue after that □ The talk begins at 10:00 am. □ Our troubles had only just begun.

beginner [br'gɪnə] n a person who is beginning to learn how to do something □ I'm a real beginner at chess. □ They've put me in the beginners' class. □ That's not bad for a beginner.

beginning [br'gɪnɪŋ] n [of a book, movie, year] the first part of something □ The book has a good beginning. □ I pay my rent at the beginning of the month. ■ in the beginning a phrase used to refer to the first stage of something, especially when it changes later □ In the beginning I was doubtful, but I eventually changed my mind.

◆ beginnings npl the early or first part of something, which it develops from later □ The movement has its beginnings in the 1920s.

begonia [br'gəʊnjə] n a plant with shiny dark-green leaves and pink, red, or white flowers.

begrudge [br'grʌdʒ] vt -1. to begrudge sb sthg to feel angry about sb having or doing sthg □ I don't begrudge him his success. -2. to begrudge doing sthg to do sthg unwillingly □ I didn't begrudge giving up my time for them.

beguile [br'gəɪl] vt to charm <sb>, especially in order to deceive them.

beguiling [br'gəɪlɪŋ] adj [manner, smile, person] that is charming and attractive.

begun [bɪ'ɡʌn] past participle of begin.

behalf [US bɪ'hæf, GB -'hɑ:f] ◆ in behalf of US, on behalf of prep -1. as the representative of <sb> □ I'm phoning on behalf of the chairman. □ On behalf of the whole company, I'd like to wish you good luck in the future. -2. for <sb> □ They went to a lot of trouble on my behalf.

behave [bɪ'heɪv] ◇ vt to behave oneself to act in a way that is considered correct or acceptable □ Behave yourselves, children! ◇ vi -1. to act in a particular way □ Stop behaving like a child! -2. to act in a way that is considered correct or acceptable □ Will you behave!

behavior US, behaviour GB [bɪ'heɪvjə] n the way in which somebody or something behaves □ I thought his behavior was rather strange. □ animal/human behavior. ■ to be on one's best behavior to behave as politely and sensibly as one can □ Rourke was on his best behavior for the TV cameras.

behaviorism US, behaviourism GB [bɪ'heɪvjərɪzəm] n a theory that the study of a person's psychology should be based on their behavior rather than on their thoughts and emotions.

behead [bɪ'hed] vt to cut off the head of <sb>.

beheld [bɪ'held] past tense & past participle of behold.

behind [bɪ'haɪnd] ◇ prep -1. to hide behind sthg to hide at the back of sthg, so that one cannot be seen. ■ to stand behind sb/sthg to stand facing the back of sb/sthg □ She sits behind me in class. ■ shut the door behind you shut the door when you go out. -2. our problems are now behind us our problems are now in the past and finished. -3. the Socialists are 2% behind the Conservatives the Socialists are 2% less successful than the Conservatives. -4. the man behind our success the man who caused or was responsible for our success □ Do you know the reason behind her outburst? -5. we are behind our leader we support our leader □ Don't worry, I'm behind you all the way.

◇ adv -1. to sit/walk behind to sit/walk facing the back of the person or thing in front of one □ They were attacked from behind. ■ stay behind after the meeting stay after all the other people in the meeting have gone □ Hurry up, or you'll get left behind! -2. to leave sthg behind to leave sthg in the place one was before □ I left my purse behind at Kate's apartment. -3. to be behind with sthg to be late with sthg □ I'm behind with my work at the moment. -4. to be a point/goal etc behind to have one point/goal etc less than one's opponent □ New York time is five hours behind London time.

◇ n the part of the body that one sits on (informal use).

behold [bɪ'hoʊld] (pt & pp beheld) vt to see <sb/sthg> (literary use).

beige [beɪʒ] ◇ adj [trousers, wall, shirt] pale brown. ◇ n a pale brown color.

Beijing [beɪ'dʒɪŋ] the capital of China, and its second-largest city. POPULATION: 9,830,000.

being ['bi:ɪŋ] n -1. something that is alive, especially a person □ beings from another planet. -2. to come into being to begin to exist □ The new law comes into being in September.

Beirut [beɪ'ru:t] the capital of Lebanon. It was badly damaged by wars in the 1970s and 1980s. POPULATION: 1,100,000.

Belarus [bə'lɜ:ru:s] a country in eastern Europe, between Russia and Poland. SIZE: 208,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 10,200,000 (B(y)elorussians). CAPITAL: Minsk. LANGUAGE: Belorussian. CURRENCY: rouble.

belated [bɪ'leɪtəd] adj [arrival, apology] that should have happened sooner □ I'll send her a belated birthday card.

belch [beltʃ] ◇ vt to give out <smoke, fire, fumes> etc in large quantities. ◇ vi -1. [person] to make a noise by letting air from one's stomach out through one's mouth. -2. [smoke, fire] to come out in large quantities. ◇ n the act or sound of belching □ He gave a loud belch.

beleaguered [bɪ'li:ɡəʊəd] adj -1. [city, army] that is surrounded and being attacked from all sides. -2. [person, management, government] that is continuously affected by problems, criticism, or worries.

Belfast [US 'belfæst, GB -fə:st] the capital of Northern Ireland. It is a major port. POPULATION: 325,000.

belfry ['belfrɪ] (pl belfries) n the part of a church tower where the bells hang.

Belgian ['beldʒən] n & adj: see Belgium.

Belgium ['beldʒəm] a country in northwestern Europe, on the North Sea, between France, the Netherlands, and Germany. SIZE: 30,500 sq kms. POPULATION: 9,980,000 (Belgians). CAPITAL: Brussels. LANGUAGE: Flemish, French. CURRENCY: Belgian franc.

Belgrade [bel'ɡreɪd] the capital of Serbia and the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia. POPULATION: 1,445,000.

Belgravia [bel'ɡreɪvjə] a fashionable residential part of central London where there are many embassies.

belie [bɪ'laɪ] (pt & pp belied, cont belying) vt -1. [claim, statement, expectation] to show <sthg> to be wrong □ Our own calculations belie the figures shown in the estimates. -2. to hide the real nature of <sthg> □ His polite smile belied his real intentions.

belief [bɪ'li:f] n -1. a feeling that something definitely exists, is true, or is good □ a belief in God/the principles of Socialism □ My cynicism could never shake his belief in basic human kindness. ■ beyond belief so extreme, strange etc that it is difficult to believe □ The way they behaved is simply beyond belief. -2. a principle or idea that one thinks is right, good, or true □ political beliefs □ She has strong religious beliefs. □ He holds the belief that all unemployed people are lazy. ■ it is my/her etc belief that... my/her etc opinion is that... □ It is my belief that the prisoner is guilty. ■ in the belief that... thinking that... □ They locked the door in the belief that everyone had left.

believable [bi'li:vəbl] adj [story, account, explanation] that can be believed □ Did you find her explanation believable?

believe [bi'li:v] vt -1. to believe (that)... to think that something is true □ I believe the entrance is at the rear. □ "Has the meeting started yet?" — "I believe so." □ We honestly believe (that) this is the best solution. ■ to believe sb to be sthg to think that sb is sthg □ She's believed to be uninjured/a millionaire/living abroad. -2. [statement, story] to accept <sthg> as true □ I don't believe a word he says. □ If we are to believe what the papers say, the economic recovery has already started. ■ believe it or not a phrase used to introduce information that is surprising □ Believe it or not, she actually arrived on time. -3. [person] to accept what is said by <sb> as true □ I don't believe you. ■ I couldn't believe my ears/eyes I was very surprised by what I heard/saw □ She could hardly believe her eyes when Don walked in.

◆ believe in vt fus -1. to believe in sthg [in God, ghosts] to be convinced that sthg exists □ Do you believe in reincarnation? -2. to believe in sthg [in a principle, idea, approach] to be convinced of the importance and value of sthg □ I have always believed in freedom of speech. □ He believes in letting people know what he thinks. -3. to believe in sb [in a friend, leader] to have trust and confidence in sb □ You've never believed in me.

believer [bi'li:və] n -1. a person who believes in God. -2. a person who believes in the value and importance of an idea, principle etc □ I'm a great believer in discussion as a means of resolving problems.

Belisha beacon [bə'li:ʃə-] n GB a round orange light on the top of a pole that marks a pedestrian crossing.

belittle [bi'litl] vt [person, achievement, success] to treat <sb/sthg> as being unimportant.

Belize [bə'li:z] a country in Central America, on the Caribbean Sea. SIZE: 23,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 200,000 (Belizeans). CAPITAL: Belmopan. MAIN CITY: Belize City. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: Belizean dollar.

bell [bel] n -1. [in a church] a round, hollow, metal object that makes a ringing sound when the rod that hangs inside hits its side □ a church/hand bell. -2. [in a house] an electric device that makes a ringing sound when a button is pressed □ Did somebody ring the bell? -3. [on a bicycle] a small metal device fitted on a bicycle that makes a ringing sound when the rider pushes a small lever. ■ to ring a bell to sound familiar □ I'm not sure, but the name rings a bell.

Bell [bel], Alexander Graham (1847–1922) a British inventor who moved to the USA in 1871, where he invented the telephone.

bell-bottoms npl pants with legs that are very wide at the bottom.

bellhop ['belhɒp] n US a man or boy in a hotel whose job is to carry luggage and take messages.

belligerent [bə'lidʒərənt] adj -1. [person, attitude, tone] that seems unfriendly and aggress-sive. -2. a belligerent country a country that is at war.

bellow ['belou] ◇ vt [command, instruction] to shout <sthg> in a very loud deep voice. ◇ vi -1. [person] He bellowed with pain/laughter. -2. [bull] to make a deep loud sound.

bellows ['belouz] npl a device consisting of a bag with two handles that are opened and closed to blow air onto a fire to make it burn better.

bell push n GB a button, usually next to the front door of a building, that one presses to make the bell ring.

bell-ringer n a person who rings church bells.

belly ['beli] (pl bellies) n -1. one's stomach (informal use) □ He crawled along on his belly. -2. [of a horse, dog] the lower part of an animal's body that contains the stomach □ the silver belly of a fish.

bellyache ['beliæk] (informal use) ◇ n stomach ache. ◇ vi to complain □ He's always bellyaching about something.

belly button n one's navel (informal use).

belly dancer n a woman who dances a Middle Eastern dance that involves movements of the stomach and hips.

belong [br'lɒŋ] vi to be in the right place or situation □ That file doesn't belong here. □ He doesn't really belong in marketing.

◆ belong to vt fus -1. to belong to sb to be the property of sb □ Does this belong to anybody? -2. to belong to sthg [to a group, club, organization] to be a member of sthg □ He belongs to a labor union.

belongings [br'lɒŋɪŋz] npl the things that one owns that can be carried easily □ Make sure you take all your belongings with you when you leave the train.

Belorussia [ˌbelou'ʌʃjə] = Belarus.

beloved [bi'lʌvəd] ◇ adj that is loved very much □ my beloved father. ◇ n my/your etc beloved the person that I/you etc love very much (literary use).

below [bi'lou] ◇ adv -1. the room below the room directly underneath □ She lives in the apartment below. □ The picture shows the airplane seen from below. -2. the items below the items that are mentioned later in a letter, report etc □ See below for further details. -3. aged five or below aged five or less (used with numbers, amounts etc). -4. downstairs and inside on a ship (used by sailors) □ He went below to his cabin.

◇ prep -1. below the horizon lower than the horizon □ He had a cut below his eye. ■ below ground under the surface of the ground. -2. the person below me the person who is lower than me in rank, status, or position. -3. below the age of 15 less than the age of 15 □ The temperature fell to below zero.

belt [belt] ◇ n -1. CLOTHING a long narrow piece of leather, fabric, or plastic that is worn around the waist. ■ to be below the belt [comment, remark] to be unfair. ■ to have sthg under one's belt to have already obtained sthg □ She's got a lot of experience un- der her belt. ■ to tighten one's belt to be more careful about the amount of money one spends □ We're going to have to tighten our belt in this department this year. -2. [in a machine] a circular piece of rubber, plastic etc that is used to drive machines or to move objects along. -3. [of land, sea] a large area of land, air, space etc, especially one that has a particular characteristic □ the commuter/farming belt.

◇ vt to hit <sb/sthg> very hard (informal use).

◆ belt out vt sep to belt sthg out [song, tune] to sing or play sthg very loudly and enthusiastically (informal use).

beltway ['beltwei] n US a road that goes around a town and makes it possible for traffic to avoid the center.

bemoan [bi'moun] vt to complain about or show one is disappointed by <sthg> □ Organizers bemoaned the lack of public interest in the event.

bemused [bi'mju:zd] adj [person, look, voice] that seems confused and slightly surprised □ She seemed bemused when I told her.

bench [bentʃ] n -1. [for people] a long seat for more than one person that is usually made of wood and often used outdoors □ a park bench. -2. [for working on] a long table in a laboratory or workshop that one can work on. -3. GB POLITICS a row of seats in the Houses of Parliament. Members of Parliament sit on different benches depending on which party they belong to and how important they are □ the government benches.

benchmark ['bentʃmɑ:k] n something that is used as a standard for judging or measuring the quality, performance, value etc of other similar things □ This decision will serve as a benchmark for other such cases in the future.

bend [bend] (pt & pp bent) ◇ n a curved part of something, e.g. a road, river, or tube □ As we came round the bend I saw the house in the distance. ◇ vt -1. [arm, leg] to move  so that it is not straight □ Can you touch your toes without bending your knees? -2. [wire, pipe, fork] to force <an object> into a curved shape □ He took the metal bar and bent it in two. ◇ vi to have or make a curved shape □ The road bends here. □ The tree bent in the wind.

◆ bends npl the bends muscle pains and difficulty in breathing suffered by divers when they come to the surface too quickly.

◆ bend down vi [person] to move the top of one's body nearer to the ground by bending it at the waist or knees □ I bent down to look under the table.

◆ bend over vi [person] to bend one's body forward at the waist. ■ to bend over backwards to do sthg to try everything possible to do sthg, even if this causes one difficulties □ They'll bend over backwards to help you.

beneath [bi'ni:θ] ◇ prep -1. the ground beneath one's feet the ground below, and covered by, one's feet □ The book was buried beneath a pile of papers. □ The ship sank beneath the waves. -2. he married beneath him he married somebody of lower rank or status. -3. it is beneath him/her etc he/she etc is too good or important to do it □ He seems to think it's beneath him to make the coffee. ◇ adv the valley beneath the valley below (formal use).

benediction [ˌbenə'dɪkʃn] n a prayer that gives a blessing.

benefactor ['benəfæktə] n a person who helps somebody else or an organization, usually by giving them money.

beneficial [ˌbenə'fɪʃl] adj [effect, measure, treatment] that helps to improve something □ The air is very beneficial to her health.

beneficiary [ˌbenə'fɪʃəri] (pl beneficiaries) n -1. LAW a person who receives money or property from somebody in a will. -2. a person who is helped by something such as a change in the law □ The main beneficiaries of the new system will be people under 25.

benefit ['benəfɪt] ◇ n -1. something that helps somebody or brings them an advantage □ What are the benefits of working from home? □ He's had the benefit of a university education. □ There might be some benefit in delaying the meeting. □ For the benefit of those who were not here yesterday, I will repeat what I said then. □ It can only be to your benefit to learn a new skill. □ This could be of great benefit to the business. -2. [from the state] money that is given by the government of a country to help specific groups of people, e.g. the unemployed, sick people, or children □ He's on unemployment benefit. □ You are entitled to claim a number of benefits. -3. phrase to give sb the benefit of the doubt not to question sb's honesty in a particular situation, even if one does not completely trust or believe them.

◇ comp [concert, match] that is organized in order to make money for a charity.

◇ vt to help or give an advantage to <sb/sthg> □ These measures could benefit small businesses.

◇ vi to benefit from sthg to be helped or given an advantage by sthg □ Who stands to benefit most from these changes?

Benefits Agency n the Benefits Agency the British government agency responsible for paying unemployment and incapacity benefit, and retirement pensions.

Benelux ['benɪlʌks]: the Benelux countries Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

benevolent [bə'nevələnt] adj [person] who is kind and generous.

BEng [bi:'eɪ] (abbr of Bachelor of Engineering) n a degree in engineering; a person who has this degree.

Bengal [ben'gɔ:l] an area covering north-eastern India and Bangladesh.

Benidorm [ˌbenɪdɔ:'m] a popular tourist resort in southeastern Spain, on the Mediterranean. POPULATION: 42,442.

benign [bə'nain] adj -1. [person, smile] that seems friendly and gentle. -2. [tumor, growth] that does not cause serious illness or death.

Ben Nevis [ˌbenˈneɪvɪs] the highest mountain in Britain, in northwestern Scotland. HEIGHT: 1,343 m.

bent [bent] ◇ past tense & past participle of bend. ◇ adj -1. [wire, metal, tree] curved □ The metal pin was bent out of shape. -2. [person, part of body] not straight □ When you do this exercise, always keep your knees slightly bent. -3. GB [official, policeman] dishonest (informal use). -4. to be bent on doing sthg to be determined to do sthg □ She seems to be bent on self-destruction. ◇ n to have a bent for sthg to be naturally good at sthg □ She has a bent for this type of work. □ George has a natural artistic bent.

bequeath [bɪˈkwiːð] vt (formal use) -1. [money, property] to leave <sthg> in one's will □ He bequeathed his fortune to his wife. -2. [idea, system] to pass <sthg> on to somebody who comes after.

bequest [bɪˈkwest] n money, property etc that is bequeathed to somebody.

berate [bɪˈreɪt] vt to scold <sb> severely (formal use).

Berber [ˈbɜːbər] ◇ n -1. a member of a Muslim people living in North Africa, mainly in Algeria and Morocco. -2. the language of the Berbers. ◇ adj: a Berber dialect/village.

bereaved [bɪˈriːvd] (pl bereaved) ◇ adj [person] whose relative or close friend has recently died □ Our thoughts are with the bereaved family. ◇ npl the bereaved the family and close friends of a person who has recently died.

bereavement [bɪˈriːvmənt] n the death of a relative or close friend.

bereft [bɪˈreft] adj to be bereft of sthg [of hope, support] to be without sthg (formal use) □ He felt completely bereft without her.

beret [US bəˈreɪ, GB ˈberɪ] n a flat round cap with no peak, made of soft material.

Bering Sea [US ˌbɪrɪŋ-, GB ˌbeər-]: the Bering Sea the northern part of the Pacific Ocean, between Siberia and Alaska.

Bering Strait: the Bering Strait a strait between Siberia and Alaska that joins the Bering Sea to the Arctic Ocean.

Berks abbr of Berkshire.

Berkshire [ˈbɜːkʃɪr] a county in southern England. SIZE: 1259 sq kms. POPULATION: 740,600. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Reading.

Berlin [bɜːˈlɪn] the capital of Germany, and its largest city. It was divided into East Berlin and West Berlin by the Berlin Wall between 1945 and 1990, when it became the capital of the reunified Germany. POPULATION: 3,409,737.

Berlin, Irving (1888–1989) a US songwriter, born in Russia, who wrote songs for many Broadway and Hollywood musicals.

Berliner [bɜːˈlɪnər] n a person who comes from Berlin or who lives in Berlin.

berm [bɜːˈm] n US a narrow path at the edge of a slope or road.

Bermuda [bɜːˈmjuːdə] a group of islands in the western Atlantic. It is a self-governing British colony. SIZE: 53.5 sq kms. POPULATION: 70,000 (Bermudans, Bermudians). CAPITAL: Hamilton. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: Bermuda dollar.

Bermuda shorts npl short trousers, usually made of thin material, that end just above the knee.

Bern [bɜːˈn] the capital of Switzerland. POPULATION: 136,338.

berry [ˈberɪ] (pl berries) n a small, round, soft fruit that grows on some plants, bushes, and trees.

berserk [bɜːˈzɜːk] adj to go berserk to become very angry and sometimes violent (informal use) □ The crowd went berserk when the result was announced.

berth [bɜːθ] ◇ n -1. [in a harbor] a space for a ship in a harbor. -2. [in a boat, train, camper] a bed in a vehicle. -3. to give sb/sthg a wide berth to avoid sb/sthg □ She's in a foul mood, so we've all been giving her a wide berth. ◇ vt to bring  into a berth. ◇ vi [ship] to come into a berth.

beseech [bɪˈsiːtʃ] (pt & pp besought OR beseeked) vt to beg <sb> (literary use).

beset [bɪˈset] (pt & pp beset, cont besetting) ◇ adj to be beset with OR by sthg [difficulties, doubts, fears] to be continually troubled by sthg □ The project has been beset by problems from the start. ◇ vt to trouble <sb/sthg> continually □ the crisis currently besetting the car industry.

beside [bɪˈsaɪd] prep -1. I was standing beside her I was standing next to her □ It's on the table beside the bookcase. -2. to be beside oneself to be unable to control oneself because of a strong feeling □ He was beside himself with rage/joy.

besides [bɪˈsaɪdz] ◇ adv -1. used to give a new and more important reason or argument □ It's too far to travel. And besides, we can't afford it. -2. in addition □ The car is economical, and a lot more besides. ◇ prep there were two other people besides myself there were two other people as well as me □ Besides being old, he's extremely deaf.

besiege [bɪˈsiːdʒ] vt -1. [building, office] to crowd into or around  □ Fans besieged the hotel where the group was staying. -2. [person, organization] to send a lot of questions, demands etc to <sb> □ Since announcing the sale, they've been besieged with offers. -3. MILITARY [castle, town] to surround  in order to capture it □ The Bosnian village was later besieged by Serb troops.

besotted [bɪˈsɒtəd] adj to be besotted to be so fond of somebody or something that one appears foolish □ He's completely besotted with her!

besought [bɪˈsɔːt] past tense & past participle of beseech.

bespectacled [bɪˈspektəklɪd] adj [person] who is wearing glasses (literary use).

bespoke [bɪˈspəʊk] adj GB [clothes, suit] specially made to fit a particular person.

best [best] ◇ adj used as the superlative form of "good" □ They are the best team in Europe.

 □ I want the best possible education for my son.
 □ I'm only doing what is best for you. ■ she's my best friend she's my closest friend.

◇ adv used as the superlative form of "well"
 □ Which of them did you like best, Liz or her sister?
 □ The prize goes to the person who does best in the exam. ■ as best you can as well as you can □ I repaired the car as best I could.

◇ n -1. to do one's best to make the greatest possible effort one can □ I'll do OR try my best to be there on time. -2. the best the person or thing of the highest quality or standard □ Even the best of us make mistakes. □ Only the best will do for him. ■ all the best! a phrase used when saying goodbye to somebody. ■ it's for the best it's the best thing to do in the circumstances. ■ to make the best of sthg to accept sthg cheerfully, even though it is not exactly what one wants □ It wasn't a particularly nice hotel, but we just had to make the best of it. -3. used in compound adjectives □ He's the best-dressed man in the whole office. □ New York's best-kept secret.

◆ at best adv if it is described in the most favorable way □ The policy was at best a compromise.

bestial [US 'bestjəl, GB 'bestjəl] adj [cruelty, crime] very shocking and showing a lack of human feelings (literary use).

best man n the man who accompanies the bridegroom at a wedding.

♥ BEST MAN

In the USA, Britain, and Australia, it is traditional for a man who is getting married to choose a male friend or relative as his best man. This person looks after the wedding rings until they are exchanged during the wedding ceremony. In Britain and Australia, there is also a tradition that the best man makes a humorous speech about the bridegroom at the wedding reception. In the USA the best man is also the leader of the ushers, the men who walk in the wedding procession with the bridesmaids.

bestow [br'stəu] vt to bestow sthg on sb to give sthg to sb (literary use) □ She had the highest honors in the land bestowed on her.

best-seller n a book that is sold in very large numbers □ Number one on the best-seller list.

best-selling adj [book] sold in very large numbers; [author] who has written one or more best-sellers.

bet [bet] (pt & pp bet OR betted, cont betting) ◇ n -1. an agreement made between two people to pay money to whichever one correctly predicts a future event, e.g. the result of a horse race; the money that somebody uses to make this agreement □ I had/made a bet with Fred on which of us would get promoted first. □ I put a bet on Paradise Boy to win the race. ■ to hedge one's bets to protect oneself from possible loss, e.g. by supporting more than one person or point of view. -2. a prediction □ My bet is OR It's my bet that the book will be a best-seller. ■ a good/bad bet a person, thing, course of action etc that is likely/unlikely to be successful □ That savings plan sounds like a good bet. ■ a safe OR sure bet something that is almost certain to happen □ It's a pretty safe bet he'll be elected. ■ one's best bet the person, thing, course of action etc that is most likely to be successful □ If you want financial advice, Kate's your best bet. □ Your best bet would be to fly via Houston.

◇ vt -1. to risk <money> in a bet □ I bet ten dollars on the last race. □ She bet me a week's pay that I couldn't do it. -2. to state that <sthg> is very likely to happen or to have already happened □ I bet you it rains tomorrow. □ I bet he forgot to tell her.

◇ vi to risk money in a bet □ I never bet on the favorite. ■ I wouldn't bet on it I think it's unlikely. ■ you bet! (informal use) a phrase used to show that one agrees very strongly with what has been said; US a phrase used to say thank you □ "Would you like to come along?" — "You bet!"

beta-blocker ['bi:təblɒkə] n a drug that makes the heart beat more slowly.

Bethlehem ['beθlihem] a town on the west bank of the Jordan River, near Jerusalem. According to the Bible, it was the birthplace of Jesus Christ.

betray [br'treɪ] vt -1. [friend, country, voter] to harm or disappoint <sb who deserves one's loyalty>, especially by helping their enemies or opponents □ By spying for the enemy he knew he was betraying his country. □ She felt betrayed by her friends. ■ to betray sb's trust to disappoint or harm sb by breaking a promise or telling other people a secret. -2. [principles, ideals] to stop behaving according to <the ideas one believed in>. -3. [person, fact] to give information about <sb/sthg> to an enemy □ She betrayed him/his secret to the police. -4. [fear, desire] to show <an emotion> without intending to □ She tried to sound calm, but her voice betrayed her excitement.

betrayal [br'treɪəl] n [of someone's trust, a secret] see betray □ I couldn't help feeling a sense of betrayal when he left.

betrotted [br'trəʊdɪd] adj to be betrotted to sb to be engaged to be married to sb (old-fashioned use).

better ['betə] ◇ adj -1. used as the comparative form of "good" □ Your camera takes much better photos than mine. □ You look better without glasses. □ She's gotten a lot better at standing up for herself. ■ that's better! used to give praise or encouragement. -2. not so ill as before □ Are you feeling any better now? □ My cold is much better. ■ to get better to recover □ I hope you get better soon.

◇ adv -1. used as the comparative form of "well" □ You'll like her once you get to know her better. -2. used in compound adjectives □ I'm looking for a better paid job. -3. more □ I liked her second novel better than her first. -4. I'd better leave I ought to leave, otherwise there will be a problem □ You'd better call your parents as soon as you get home.

◇ n phrases a change for the better an improvement. ■ to get the better of sb to be too strong for sb to hide or control □ I know I shouldn't have read it, but my curiosity got the better of me.

◇ vt [offer, conditions, plan] to improve on or do better than <sthg> □ We aim to better last year's production figures. ■ to better oneself to improve one's skills, position etc.

better half n sb's better half sb's wife or husband (informal or humorous use).

better off adj -1. in a better financial position □ We're much better off now that my wife's working. -2. in a better situation than before □ We'd be much better off without him. □ They'd be better off leaving the job to an expert.

◆ better-off npl the better-off people who are rich compared to most people.

betting ['betɪŋ] n -1. the practice of making bets. -2. the odds offered on a particular race □ The betting opened at 10-1.

betting shop n GB a place where people can bet on sporting events such as horse races.

between [brɪ'twi:n] prep -1. I sat between Paul and Anne I sat with Paul on one side and Anne on the other side □ The farm lies halfway between Charlotte and Raleigh. □ Leave plenty of space between each word. -2. the road between Palo Alto and San Francisco the road from Palo Alto to San Francisco □ There is a shuttle service between the airport and the city center. -3. we left between 6 and 7 o'clock we left after 6 o'clock and before 7 o'clock □ Don't eat between meals. □ There are three years between my sister and me. -4. it costs between $4 and $5 it costs more than $4 and less than $5 (used with numbers, quantities etc) □ Temperatures today will be between 20°C and 25°C. □ I'd guess she's somewhere between 30 and 35 years old. -5. used in phrases involving two or more people or things to show connections, relations, comparison, or choice □ the link between smoking and lung cancer □ trade between Britain and the rest of Europe □ talks between staff and management □ Can you see the difference between the pictures? □ It's impossible to choose between them. □ We divided the money between the six of us.

◆ in between adv between two people, things, times, amounts etc □ We have appointments at two and six o'clock, but nothing in between. □ Read the first and last chapters, but you can leave out all the stuff in between.

Bevan ['bevɪn], Aneurin (1897–1960) a British politician, born in Wales, who began work as a coalminer. As Minister of Health, he introduced the National Health Service in 1948.

beveled US, bevelled GB ['bevɪld] adj [edge, surface] that slopes rather than forming a right angle; [mirror] that has this kind of edge.

beverage ['bevərɪdʒ] n a drink (formal use).

Beveridge ['bevərɪdʒ], William (1879–1963) a British economist and social reformer. His Beveridge Report, published in 1942, helped to create the welfare state in Britain.

Beverly Hills [ˌbevə'ɪlɪ-] a wealthy area of Los Angeles. POPULATION: 32,367.

bevy ['bevi] (pl beviess) n a bevy of women/admirers etc a group of women/admirers etc (humorous use).

beware [brɪ'weəʃ] vi a word used to tell somebody to be careful □ 'Beware of the dog' □ Tell him to beware of doing anything to annoy her.

bewildered [brɪ'wɪldəd] adj [person] who is confused, e.g. because they do not understand why something is happening □ She had a bewildered look on her face.

bewildering [brɪ'wɪldərɪŋ] adj [situation, experience] confusing □ There's a bewildering range to choose from.

bewitched [brɪ'wɪtʃtɪ] adj to be bewitched to be under a magic or evil spell; to be so fascinated by something that one is unable to concentrate on anything else □ I was totally bewitched by their performance.

bewitching [brɪ'wɪtʃɪŋ] adj [charm, smile] very attractive.

beyond [brɪ'jɒnd] ◇ prep -1. beyond the hill on the far side of the hill □ We'll stop once we get beyond Paris. -2. beyond the age of five later than the age of five. -3. phrases it's beyond belief it is impossible to believe □ due to circumstances beyond our control. ■ it's beyond me I cannot understand it □ Why they ever got married in the first place is beyond me. ◇ adv -1. the hills beyond the hills on the far side of a particular place or point. -2. 1998 and beyond 1998 and the period following that.

b/f [in bookkeeping] abbr of brought forward.

bhp abbr of brake horsepower.

Bhutan [bu:'tɑ:n] a country in the Himalayas, between China and India. SIZE: 47,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,400,000 (Bhutanese). CAPITAL: Thimbu. LANGUAGE: Tibetan, Nepali. CURRENCY: ngultrum.

bi- [baɪ] prefix -1. used to form words that involve two people or things □ bilateral. -2. used to indicate that something happens twice in every week, month etc or once in every two weeks, months etc □ bi-weekly.

BIA (abbr of Bureau of Indian Affairs) n the BIA a US government organization that deals with the education, health etc of Native Americans.

biannual [baɪ'ænjʊəl] adj [event] that happens twice a year.

bias ['bi:əs] n -1. [against a person, group] a tendency to unfairly prefer one person or group over another □ a bias in favor of/against women. -2. [toward an area, idea] a concern with one thing more than other things □ The course has a scientific bias.

biased ['bi:əst] adj -1. [person, decision] that unfairly prefers one person or group over another □ The judges were heavily biased in favor of/against the local candidate. -2. [system, procedure] that gives an advantage or disadvantage to a particular person or group □

The exam was biased toward people with practical skills. □ Their recruitment policy is obviously biased against older applicants.

bib [bɪb] n a piece of cloth or plastic which is tied under a baby's chin to keep its clothes clean when it is eating.

Bible ['baɪbl] n the Bible the holy book of the Christian religion.

♦ bible n -1. a copy of the Bible. -2. any book considered to have the best information on a particular subject □ the economists' bible.

Bible Belt: the Bible Belt an area in the south-eastern USA where there are many Christians who follow the teachings of the Bible very strictly.

biblical ['bɪblɪkəl] adj [language, character, story] that is found in the Bible.

bibliography [ˌbɪblɪ'ɒɡrəfi] (pl bibliographies) n -1. [of books] a list of books or articles on a certain subject. -2. [in a book] the part of a book where all the books and articles the author consulted are listed.

bicarbonate of soda [baɪ'kɑːr'bənət-] n a white powder used in baking to make cakes rise, or taken with water to help indigestion. FORMULA: NaHCO₃.

bicentennial [ˌbaɪsɛn'tɛnjəl] US, bicentenary [-'tɪːnɛəri] GB (pl bicentenaries) n a 200th anniversary of an event.

biceps ['baɪsɛps] (pl biceps) n the large muscle on the front of the upper arm.

bicker ['bɪkəʃ] vi to quarrel over small and unimportant things □ They bickered constantly.

bickering ['bɪkərɪŋ] n: see bicker □ I'm tired of all this endless bickering!

bicycle ['baɪsɪkl] ◇ n a two-wheeled vehicle that one rides by sitting on it and pushing two pedals round with one's feet □ a bicycle wheel. ◇ vi to ride on a bicycle.

bicycle path n a path for cyclists.

bicycle pump n a pump used to fill bicycle tires with air.

bid [bɪd] (pt & pp vi all senses and vt sense 1 bid, pt vt sense 2 bid OR bade, pp vt sense 2 bid OR bidden ['bɪdn], cont vt and vi all senses bidding) ◇ n -1. an attempt or effort to achieve something □ She failed in her bid to become the first woman to row across the Atlantic. □ Their bid for stardom began at a local radio station. -2. [at an auction] an offer to buy something at a particular price □ I made a bid of $500. -3. BUSINESS an offer to do some work at a particular price □ The firm put in a bid for the contract.

◇ vt -1. to offer to pay  for something, especially at an auction □ I ended up bidding more than I could afford. □ What am I bid for this handsome Ming vase? -2. to bid sb good morning/farewell etc to say good morning/farewell etc to sb (formal use).

◇ vi -1. to offer to buy something at a particular price. -2. BUSINESS to make a formal offer to do work or provide something for a particular price □ Several firms are currently bidding for the multi-million-dollar contract.

bidder ['bɪdəʃ] n a person who makes a bid at an auction, sale etc □ The paintings were sold to the highest bidder.

bidding ['bɪdɪŋ] n the act of making bids at an auction □ Who'll open the bidding at $100?

bide [baɪd] vt to bide one's time to wait patiently for the right moment to do something.

bidet [US bɪ'deɪ, GB 'bi:deɪ] n a low sink which one sits over to wash one's genitals and bottom.

Bielarus [bɪələ'rʊːs] = Belarus.

biennial [baɪ'enjəl] ◇ adj [event] that takes place once every two years. ◇ n a plant that lives for two years.

bier [bɪəʃ] n a movable stand on which a coffin is placed at a funeral.

bifocals [baɪ'fəʊkəlz] npl glasses with lenses made in two halves, the upper half for seeing things at a distance, the lower half for seeing things that are nearby.

BIFU ['bɪfʊː] (abbr of Banking, Insurance and Finance Union) n a British labor union for people working in financial institutions, e.g. banks.

big [bɪɡ] (compar bigger, superl biggest) ◇ adj -1. [building, increase] large in size or amount □ There'll be a big crowd at the game. □ The actual chip is no bigger than a postage stamp. -2. [person] tall □ She's big for her age. -3. [difference, change, problem] important □ There have been several meetings recently, but this is the really big one. ■ in a big way a phrase used when somebody does something on a large scale or with a lot of enthusiasm □ Our company is moving into Eastern Europe in a big way. □ She's into aerobics in a big way. ■ to have big ideas to have aims or plans that are too ambitious. ■ the/one's big day the day on which an important event, e.g. a wedding or an exam, takes place □ When's the big day then? -4. one's big brother/sister one's older brother/sister. -5. a big investor/spender etc a person who invests/spends etc on a large scale □ We can't afford to offend them, they're our biggest customer. -6. to be big to be successful and popular □ She's very big in Japan.

◇ adv phrases to make it big to be very successful. ■ to think big to have ambitious ideas.

bigamist ['bɪɡəməst] n a person who commits bigamy.

bigamy ['bɪɡəmə] n the crime of marrying somebody when one is already married.

Big Apple: the Big Apple a name for New York.

Big Ben [-'ben] the bell in the clock tower of the Houses of Parliament in London; the tower itself.

Big Brother a character in the novel Nineteen Eighty-Four, by George Orwell. He is a dictator who is never seen but who spies on all his citizens and makes them fear him.

big business n -1. large companies and commercial operations, considered as a group.

- 2. to be big business to be an important business activity □ Language teaching is now big business.
- big cat n a member of one of the larger species in the cat family, e.g. the lion or tiger.
- big deal (informal use) ◇ n it's no big deal it's not important □ It's no big deal if they can't make it, but it would be nice to see them. ■ to make a big deal of sthg to treat sthg as if it is important when it is not □ Don't make such a big deal of it. ◇ excl a phrase used to show that one is not impressed by something that has been said or done □ What if they do sack me? Big deal!
- Big Dipper [-'dɪpəʃ] ◇ US ASTRONOMY the Big Dipper a group of seven bright stars in the Northern Hemisphere. ◇ n GB a raised railroad with steep slopes and sharp curves that people ride on for entertainment, usually at fairs.
- big end n the part of a connecting rod in a car engine that is attached to the crankshaft.
- big fish n an important or powerful person (informal use). ■ to be a big fish in a small pond to have influence and importance among a small group of people.
- Bigfoot ['bɪgfʊt] a mythical animal that is supposed to look like a very large hairy human and live in the mountains of northwestern North America.
- big game n large wild animals, e.g. lions, leopards, and elephants, that are hunted for sport □ a big-game hunter.
- bighead ['bɪghed] n a person who is big-headed (informal use).
- bigheaded [,bɪg'hedəd] adj [person] who thinks they are more important or clever than they really are (informal use).
- big-hearted [-'hɑ:təd] adj [person] who seems kind, generous, and friendly.
- Bight [baɪt] = Great Australian Bight.
- Big Issue: the Big Issue a weekly magazine sold in many British cities by homeless people, who can keep most of the money paid for it.
- big leagues npl US = major leagues.
- ◆ big-league adj [banker, manager] who is at the highest level in their field of activity.
- big money n a large amount of money (informal use).
- big mouth n to be OR have a big mouth to reveal things that should have been kept secret (informal use) □ Whoops! Me and my big mouth.
- big name n a famous or important person (informal use) □ Several big names have been invited to the conference. □ some of the biggest names in advertising.
- bigot ['bɪgət] n a bigoted person.
- bigoted ['bɪgətəd] adj [person] who thinks that their own opinions, especially about race, politics, or religion, are correct and that other people are always wrong.
- bigotry ['bɪgətɹɪ] n an unwillingness to accept any attitudes and opinions that are different from one's own.
- big shot n a very powerful and important person (informal use).
- Big Ten n the Big Ten a group of ten universities in the US Midwest that are considered to be the most important for college sports.
- big time n to hit OR make the big time to become well-known and successful, especially in the entertainment industry (informal use).
- big toe n the largest toe on one's foot.
- big top n -1. a circus. -2. a large tent that a circus gives performances in.
- big wheel n -1. a very powerful and important person (informal use). -2. GB a very large vertical wheel on which people ride at fairsgrounds.
- bigwig ['bɪgwɪg] n an important person (informal use).
- bike [baɪk] n (informal use) -1. a bicycle. -2. a motorcycle.
- bikeway ['bɪkweɪ] n US a path for cyclists.
- bikini [bɪ'ki:nɪ] n a woman's two-piece bathing suit.
- Biko ['bɪ:kou], Steve (1946–1977) a South African black activist and student leader who died in police custody.
- bilateral [baɪ'lætərəl] adj [agreement, talks] involving two groups, nations etc □ a bilateral peace treaty.
- bilberry [US 'bɪlberi, GB -bəri] (pl bilberries) n a small blue or blue-black berry; the bush on which these berries grow.
- bile [baɪl] n -1. [in one's body] a greenish liquid that is produced by the liver and helps to digest fats in food. -2. [of a person] strong anger that is shown toward somebody or something (literary use).
- bilingual [baɪ'lɪŋgwəl] adj -1. [person] who can speak two languages very well. -2. [text, dictionary] that is written in two languages.
- billious ['bɪlɪəs] adj -1. [person] who feels sick. -2. [color, green] that is very unpleasant to look at.
- bill [bɪl] ◇ n -1. a written statement of how much somebody will have to pay for something □ Can I have the bill, please? □ the electricity/gas/telephone bill □ She sent us a bill for the damage we caused. -2. POLITICS a formal written proposal for a new law, which is presented to a legislative body such as Parliament or Congress □ The bill became law last year. -3. [of a show, concert] a list of the performers or the kinds of entertainment in a show □ He was top of the bill at Radio City Music Hall. -4. US [of money] a banknote □ a dollar bill. -5. 'post OR stick no bills' a notice on a wall in a public place warning people not to put up any posters. -6. [of a bird] a bird's beak. -7. phrase to be given a clean bill of health to be told by a doctor that one's health is good.
- ◇ vt to send a bill to  etc □ Bill me for your travel expenses.
- billboard ['bɪlbɔ:rd] n a large board, often placed near a major road, which advertisements are displayed on.

billet ['bɪlət] n a place, usually a private home, where soldiers stay for a short time. vt to provide  with a billet.

billfold ['bɪlfəʊld] n US a flat folding case, usually made of leather, that is used for keeping banknotes, credit cards etc in.

billiards ['bɪlɪə'dz] n a game played on a large flat table in which two players, using long sticks, score points by knocking balls into small nets placed at certain points around the edge of the table.

billion ['bɪljən] num a thousand million □ billions of francs □ a billion-dollar deal.

billionaire [,bɪljə'neə] n -1. a person who owns money or property worth at least a billion dollars, pounds, francs etc. -2. a very rich person.

bill of exchange (pl bills of exchange) n a document which tells a bank to pay a person a particular sum of money.

bill of lading [-'leɪdɪŋ] (pl bills of lading) n a list of goods to be sent by ship that is given by the transporter to the sender to show that the goods have been loaded.

Bill of Rights n the Bill of Rights the first ten amendments to the US Constitution, which guarantee certain rights to citizens such as the right to criticize the government, follow the religion they want, or have weapons.

bill of sale (pl bills of sale) n an official document which states that something has been sold by one person to another.

billow ['bɪləʊ] n a large cloud of smoke, steam etc that is moving upward. vi -1. [smoke, steam] to move in a large cloud □ Smoke was billowing from the upstairs windows. -2. [skirt, sail] to be blown into a large round shape by the wind.

billposter ['bɪlpəʊstə] n a person who puts advertising notices on street walls, often illegally.

billy(can) ['bɪlɪ(kæn)] n GB & AUS a metal pot used by campers for boiling water.

billy goat ['bɪlɪ-] n a male goat.

Billy the Kid [,bɪlɪðə'kɪd] (1859–1881) a US outlaw, famous for the many murders and robberies he committed.

bimbo ['bɪmbəʊ] (pl bimbos OR bimboes) n a young woman who one thinks is attractive but stupid (informal and offensive use).

bi-monthly [baɪ'mʌnθli] adj -1. that takes place, appears etc every two months. -2. that takes place, appears etc twice a month. adv -1. every two months. -2. twice a month.

bin [bɪn] (pt & pp binned, cont binning) n -1. [for grain, coal] a large container for storing grain, coal etc □ a coal bin. -2. GB [for bread] a household container, usually with a lid, for storing bread, flour etc □ a bread bin. -3. GB [for garbage] a container for putting garbage in. vt GB to put <sthg> into a bin □ "What shall I do with this file now?" — "Oh, just bin it."

binary ['baɪnəri] adj MATH & COMPUTING [system, code] that is based on the digits 0 and 1.

bind [baɪnd] (pt & pp bound) vt -1. [person, hands, documents] to tie rope, string etc tightly around <sb/sthg> □ The notes were bound in bundles of fifty. -2. [countries, groups] to create strong feelings of friendship, love, respect etc between <different people> □ the cultural ties that bind Great Britain and the United States. -3. [leg, head] to wrap a bandage around . -4. [copy, report] to fasten the pages of  together and put on a cover □ The book is bound in leather. -5. [person] to oblige <sb> to do something □ We are bound by contract to make four more movies for this company.

□ n -1. to be in a bind to be in a difficult situation. -2. GB an annoying and boring thing (informal use) □ It's such a bind having to do all this paperwork.

♦ bind over vt sep to bind sb over GB LAW to order sb to do something and threaten punishment if they do not obey the order □ He was bound over to keep the peace.

binder ['baɪndə] n -1. a machine that binds books, hay etc. -2. a person whose job is to bind books □ a book binder. -3. a hard cover in which loose sheets of paper can be kept together.

binding ['baɪndɪŋ] adj [agreement, contract] that must be obeyed □ The terms of the agreement are legally binding. □ n -1. [for a book] the cover of a book. -2. [for cloth] a strip of material used to strengthen or decorate the edge of a piece of cloth.

binge [bɪndʒ] (informal use) □ n a period of eating a very large amount of food or drinking a very large amount of alcohol □ She went on a binge which lasted the whole weekend. □ vi to have a binge □ We binged on strawberries.

bingo ['bɪŋɡəʊ] n a game, played for money or prizes, in which each player has a card with numbers on it. Numbers are called out at random, and the winner is the first player who has all their numbers called and who shouts "Bingo!" or "House!" □ excl -1. a word called out by somebody to show that they have won a game of bingo. -2. a word used to show that one is pleased when something successful and unexpected happens □ I just pressed a button and bingo, it started to print out.

bin-liner n GB a plastic bag placed inside a trash can and used to collect rubbish.

binoculars [bɪ'nɒkjələʊz] npl an instrument that consists of two small telescopes joined together and that makes distant objects seem nearer □ a pair of binoculars.

biochemistry [ˌbaɪəʊ'kemɪstri] n the science that is connected with the study of chemical processes that take place in living things.

biodegradable [ˌbaɪəʊdɪ'ɡreɪdəbəl] adj [waste, detergent] that decays naturally and so does not cause pollution.

biodiversity [ˌbaɪəʊdaɪ'vɜːsətɪ] n a measure of the different types of animal and plant life that exist in a particular area.

biographer [baɪˈɒgrəfə] n a person who writes a biography.

biographic(al) [ˌbaɪəˈgræfɪk(l)] adj [information, writing] that is connected with the story of a person's life.

biography [baɪˈɒgrəfi] (pl biographies) n -1. an account of a person's life, written by somebody else. -2. a type of literature that is concerned with biographical writing.

biological [ˌbaɪəˈlɒdʒɪkəl] adj -1. [process, function, system] that is connected with natural processes in living things. -2. one's biological mother/father one's natural mother/father. -3. [laundry detergent] that contains natural enzymes.

biological weapon n a weapon that uses bacteria to harm people or crops.

biologist [baɪˈɒlədʒəst] n a person who studies biology.

biology [baɪˈɒlədʒi] n the science that is connected with the study of living things.

biopic [ˈbaɪəpɪk] n a movie based on the story of the life of a famous person.

biopsy [ˈbaɪəpsɪ] (pl biopsies) n the removal of a small quantity of cells, liquids etc from the body of a sick person to discover what illness they have.

biotechnology [ˌbaɪəutekˈnɒlədʒi] n the use of living organisms, e.g. bacteria and cells, to make products such as drugs or to help to recycle waste.

bipartite [baɪˈpɑːtɪt] adj [treaty, agreement] that involves two groups, nations etc.

biplane [ˈbaɪpleɪn] n a plane with two sets of wings, one above the other.

birch [bɜːtʃ] n -1. a tall tree, common in northern countries, with thin branches and silver-white bark that often peels off in long strips. -2. the birch a stick or a bundle of twigs from the birch tree, used in the past to beat people as a punishment.

bird [bɜːd] n an animal that has feathers, wings, and two legs and can usually fly. ■ to kill two birds with one stone to achieve two things at the same time by doing only one thing.

birdcage [ˈbɜːdkeɪdʒ] n a cage for a bird.

birdie [ˈbɜːdi] n -1. a bird (used by or to children). -2. SPORT in golf, a score of one under par for a hole.

bird of paradise n a bird with brightly colored feathers that is found in New Guinea.

bird of prey n a bird that kills and eats other birds and small animals.

birdseed [ˈbɜːdsɪd] n a mixture of seeds given as food to birds.

bird's-eye view n a view of a place or event seen from high above.

bird-watcher [ˌbɜːdwɒtʃə] n a person whose hobby is studying birds in their natural surroundings.

Birmingham [US ˈbɜːmɪŋhæm, GB -əm] -1. the largest city in Alabama, USA. POPULATION: 265,968. -2. an industrial city in the West Midlands of England. It is the second-largest city in Britain. POPULATION: 934,900.

BiroTM [ˈbaɪroʊ] n GB a ballpoint pen.

birth [bɜːθ] n -1. [of a person, baby] the process of being born; the event of somebody being born □ It was a difficult birth. □ At birth he only weighed three pounds. □ He had been blind from birth. ■ to give birth to have a baby □ Two years later she gave birth to a son. -2. [of a science, movement, country] the creation or beginning of something □ the conference which gave birth to the United Nations.

birth certificate n a document that officially records the details, e.g. the date and place, of a person's birth.

birth control n the practice of limiting and planning the number of children born, especially by using contraception.

birthday [ˈbɜːθdeɪ] n the date on which a person was born that is celebrated each year □ My birthday is on August 16th. □ a birthday card/present/party. ■ happy birthday! a phrase used to express one's good wishes to somebody who is celebrating their birthday.

🎂 BIRTHDAYS

Birthdays are very important in many English-speaking countries, especially for children. Traditionally, the person whose birthday it is has a party where they receive birthday presents and birthday cards, and a birthday cake with a number of candles equal to their age. They have to blow out all the candles and make a wish.

birthmark [ˈbɜːθmɑːk] n a mark on somebody's skin, usually a red or brown patch, that they were born with.

birthplace [ˈbɜːθpleɪs] n -1. [of a person] the place where somebody, usually a famous person, was born. -2. [of a movement, idea] the place where something began or was created □ These valleys were the birthplace of the Industrial Revolution.

birthrate [ˈbɜːθreɪt] n the number of babies born for every thousand people in a particular area within a particular period.

birthright [ˈbɜːθraɪt] n a right that a person is considered to have from birth.

Biscay [ˈbɪskeɪ] → Bay of Biscay.

biscuit [ˈbɪskɪt] n -1. US a kind of bread baked in small round pieces and usually eaten with a meal □ sausages with biscuits and gravy. -2. GB a small, flat, crisp cake, usually sweetened and flavored □ a chocolate/ginger biscuit □ a biscuit box/tin □ a packet of biscuits.

bisect [baɪˈsekt] vt -1. MATH [line, angle] to divide <sth> into two equal parts by drawing a line through it. -2. [town, area] to divide  into two parts by going through the middle of it □ The city is bisected by the river.

bisexual [baɪˈseksjuəl] ◇ adj [person] who is sexually attracted to both men and women. ◇ n a bisexual person.

bishop [ˈbɪʃəp] n -1. RELIGION a senior priest who is in charge of the churches, priests etc in a particular area □ the Bishop of Johannesburg. -2. CHESS one of the two identical pieces in chess that can only move diagonally.

bison ['baɪsn] (pl bison OR bisons) n a large wild ox with thick hair around its neck and short horns on its head. It was originally found in Europe and North America but is now less common.

bistro ['bi:strou] (pl bistros) n a small restaurant or bar in a French style.

bit [bit] n -1. a bit of cake a small piece of cake, broken, torn, or cut from the whole cake (used to make uncountable nouns countable) □ a bit of wood/land/string □ There are bits of broken glass on the floor. ■ a bit of a book a (small) part of a book □ Which bits of the play/job did you like best? -2. a bit of equipment a single piece, amount, or example of equipment □ a bit of hardware/furniture/news □ I have a bit of shopping to do. ■ a bit of a problem a problem, but not a very serious one □ It's a bit of a mess/an improvement. □ The news came as a bit of a shock to us. ■ bits and pieces GB small things of different sorts; (small) things that belong to somebody □ I've put all your bits and pieces in that box. ■ to do one's bit GB to do one's share of work to help one's country, an organization etc □ I've done my bit for charity. ■ she's every bit as good as you she is just as good as you in every way (used for emphasis). ■ to fall to bits to break into little pieces. ■ thrilled to bits very thrilled (informal use). -3. a bit of food some food, but not very much □ We've had a bit of excitement here today. -4. [for a 'drill] a piece of hard metal at the end of a drill, for making holes in stone, wood etc □ a drill bit. -5. [for a horse] a metal bar that goes in a horse's mouth, is fixed to the reins, and is used for guiding the horse. -6. COMPUTING [of information] the smallest unit of information that a computer can use or store □ 8 bits make up a byte. □ 32-bit technology.

◆ a bit adv -1. for a bit for a short time (informal use) □ He's just gone out for a bit. -2. slightly □ "Does he help you much?" — "A bit, now and then." ■ a bit tired rather tired □ It's a bit difficult to explain. ■ not a bit not at all. □ "Do you mind helping?" — "Not a bit!" ■ quite a bit quite often □ I've seen them quite a bit recently. ■ it's a bit much it is not fair or reasonable □ I think it's a bit much being expected to work Sundays.

◆ bit by bit adv slowly and one part at a time □ The palace is being restored bit by bit.

bitch [bitʃ] ◇ n -1. a female dog. -2. ▽ a word used to refer to a woman who makes unpleasant and nasty remarks (very informal and disapproving use). ◇ vi to complain about somebody in an unfair and nasty way (informal use) □ They're always bitching about somebody.

bitchy ['bitʃi] (compar bitchier, superl bitchiest) adj [person, comment, remark] that one thinks is critical and nasty about somebody else in an unfair way (informal use).

bite [baɪt] (pt bit, pp bitten) ◇ vt -1. [person, animal] to cut or hold <sb/sthg> tightly with the teeth □ Your dog just bit me! □ He bites his nails. -2. [insect, snake] to make a hole in the skin of , often removing blood or injecting poison □ I've been bitten by a mosquito.

◇ vi -1. [animal, person, insect] to bite somebody or something □ Does your dog bite? □ She bit into a peach. □ This species does not bite. -2. [tires, clutch] to grip a surface firmly. -3. [law, policy, sanctions] to have a noticeable effect □ The recession is starting to bite.

◇ n -1. the act of biting something; a piece removed from something by biting □ She took a large bite from OR out of the pear. -2. to have a bite to eat to have a snack or a small meal (informal use) □ I haven't had a bite to eat all morning. □ Come over and have a bite to eat at our place. -3. [from a person, animal, insect] a wound made by the teeth of a person or animal, or by an insect □ a mosquito bite. -4. [of food, a drink] a sharp strong flavor □ This beer's got a real bite to it.

◆ bite off vt sep to bite sthg off to remove sthg by biting. ■ to bite off more than one can chew to try to have or do more than is possible or reasonable.

biting ['baɪtɪŋ] adj -1. [wind, frost] very cold. -2. [wit, sarcasm, comment] clever, direct, and often cruel.

bit-map vt COMPUTING to define <the data> in a computer using a grid of bits, so that each bit has a particular function, image etc.

bit part n a small unimportant role for an actor or actress.

bitten ['bɪtn] past participle of bite.

bitter ['bɪtə] ◇ adj -1. [taste, flavor] that is sharp rather than sweet □ This coffee's too bitter for my liking. -2. [wind, weather] very cold □ I had to walk home in the bitter cold. -3. [disappointment, blow] that is upsetting and difficult to accept □ I've learned from bitter experience that there's no point in arguing with him. □ the bitter truth. ■ to the bitter end [fight, struggle] until all hope of success has gone; [stay, watch] until something is completely finished. -4. [argument, disagreement, opposition] that is angry and intense □ her bitter hatred of injustice □ The two men are bitter enemies. -5. [person] who is unable to accept or forget the suffering, injustice etc they have experienced □ He still feels terribly bitter about being laid off/the divorce.

◇ n GB a traditional dark beer that has a bitter taste and is usually drunk at room temperature □ a pint of bitter.

bitter lemon n GB a fizzy drink that contains lemon juice and is sometimes mixed with other drinks.

bitterly ['bɪtəli] adv -1. bitterly upset/disappointed/angry etc very upset/disappointed/angry etc □ It was a bitterly cold day. □ Turkey is bitterly opposed to lifting sanctions. -2. [criticize, cry] in a way that shows one finds something upsetting and difficult to accept □ I bitterly regret not going to college now.

bitterness ['bɪtə'nəs] n: see bitter □ He spoke with great bitterness.

bittersweet ['bɪtə'swi:t] adj [taste, flavor] that is bitter and sweet at the same time; [memory] that is pleasant but also painful.

bitumen [US bə'tu:mən, GB 'bɪtjʊmɪn] n a black sticky substance used to cover roads.

bivouac ['bɪvʊæk] (pt & pp bivouacked, cont bivouacking) ◇ n a temporary shelter or camp made by mountaineers, soldiers etc. ◇ vi to stay in a bivouac.

biweekly [baɪ'wi:kli] ◇ adj -1. that takes place every two weeks. -2. that takes place twice a week. ◇ adv -1. every two weeks. -2. twice a week.

bizarre [bɪ'zɑ:ɪ] adj [behavior, remark, shape] that is strange and different from what is usual or expected □ He suddenly made a bizarre attack on the media. □ She turned up wearing the most bizarre outfit.

bk -1. abbr of bank. -2. abbr of book.

bl, B/L abbr of bill of lading.

BL n GB -1. (abbr of Bachelor of Law(s)) a degree in law; a person who has this degree. -2. (abbr of Bachelor of Letters) a degree in literature; a person who has this degree. -3. (abbr of Bachelor of Literature) a degree in literature; a person who has this degree.

blab [blæb] (pt & pp blabbed, cont blabbing) vi to talk about something, especially when it is a secret, in a careless way (informal use) □ Someone must have blabbed to the police.

black [blæk] ◇ adj -1. [hair, dress, sky] that is the color of coal □ a cloud of black smoke □ a black limousine. ■ to be black and blue to be covered in bruises □ They beat him black and blue. -2. [person] who belongs to a race that has dark skin, especially one of African origin; [culture, music] that is connected with black people □ the country's first black judge □ a member of the black community. -3. [tea, coffee] made without milk or cream. -4. [day, outlook] very depressing or worrying; [mood, thoughts] very depressed or worried □ He painted a very black picture of our financial situation. □ The future looks black. □ His mind was full of black thoughts. ■ black humor jokes about sad or unpleasant things. -5. a black look a very angry or hostile look.

◇ n -1. the color of coal □ She was dressed in black. ■ to be in the black [account, person, company] to be in credit and without debts. -2. a black person □ Blacks represent 20% of the party's voters.

◇ vt GB [goods, workers] to refuse to be involved with <particular people or things> in protest against something.

◆ black out ◇ vt sep -1. to black a place out [room, building, city] to make a place dark by covering or putting out the lights, or by cutting the electricity supply □ Large parts of the city were blacked out by the storm. -2. to black sthg out [news] to prevent information from being published or broadcast. ◇ vi [person] to faint for a short time □ He blacked out after the crash, so intense was the pain.

black and white ◇ adj -1. [photograph, television] that shows the colors black, white, and gray only □ I love watching old black and white movies. -2. [view, attitude] that treats an issue, especially a moral one, in terms of simple opposites □ Things aren't that black and white. ◇ n to be in black and white [agreement, contract] to be written on a piece of paper □ I won't believe it until I've seen it in black and white.

blackball ['blækbo:l] vt to vote against allowing <sb> to become a member of a club, committee etc.

black belt n a black belt worn by a person who is an expert in judo or karate; a person who has the right to wear this belt.

blackberry [US 'blækberɪ, GB -bəri] (pl blackberries) n a small, soft, black fruit that grows in woods and hedges; the bush that this fruit grows on.

blackbird ['blækbrɜ:ɪd] n a common American or European bird that has black feathers if it is a male.

blackboard ['blækbo:ɪd] n a large sheet of smooth black or dark-green material, usually found in a classroom, that a teacher writes on in chalk.

black box n AVIATION a device on an aircraft that records information while it is in flight and can be examined after a crash to help find the cause of the accident.

black comedy n comedy that uses black humor.

Black Country: the Black Country the industrial part of the West Midlands of England.

blackcurrant [US ,blæk'kɜ:rənt, GB -kɑ:-] n a small, black, round fruit that is grown in gardens □ blackcurrant jelly.

black economy n GB the business activities in a country that take place illegally, especially to avoid paying tax.

blacken ['blækən] ◇ vt -1. [wall, skin] to make the surface of <sthg> black or dark □ an old wall blackened with soot/smoke □ They blackened their faces. -2. to blacken sb's name OR reputation to give people a bad opinion of sb by accusing them of criminal or immoral behavior, often falsely. -3. US COOKING to cook <meat> over a high heat so that it goes black on the outside □ blackened chicken. ◇ vi [sky] to become dark, especially before a storm.

black eye n a bruise that forms around somebody's eye after they have been hit there □ He gave me a black eye.

Blackfoot ['blækfʊt] (pl Blackfeet OR Blackfoot) n a member of a Native American people living on the northwestern plains of the USA and Canada; the language of this people.

blackhead ['blækhed] n a small spot on one's skin that has a black center.

black hole n ASTRONOMY an area in outer space where gravity is so strong that everything near it is pulled into it and not even light can escape from it.

black ice n GB a layer of thin ice on a road surface that is very difficult to see.

blackjack ['blækdzæk] n -1. a card game, usually played for money, in which players try to collect cards with a total value of 21. -2. US a metal stick covered in leather that is used as a weapon.

blacklist ['blæklist] \diamond n a list of people, organizations, places etc that an organization or government disapproves of, does not trust, and stops using or helping. \diamond vt to place  etc on a blacklist \square The company was blacklisted for using non-union workers.

black magic n magic that is believed to use the power of the devil to do evil.

blackmail ['blækmeɪl] \diamond n -1. the act of getting money or favors from somebody by threatening to tell other people about something dishonest, immoral etc that they have done and want to keep secret. -2. the act of using a person's feelings of love, loyalty etc to make them do what one wants \square emotional blackmail. \diamond vt -1. to use blackmail to make <sb> give one money or favors \square They blackmailed him into giving them the money. -2. to threaten <sb> with emotional blackmail \square If you're trying to blackmail me into staying, it won't work.

blackmailer ['blækmeɪlə] n a person who uses blackmail to get money or favors.

black mark n a black mark against sb something that sb has done that gives people a bad opinion of them \square If we miss this deadline, it'll be a black mark against the department.

black market n a system of buying and selling goods, foreign money, or services illegally \square These luxuries were freely available on the black market. \square black-market goods.

Black Muslim n a member of a black Islamic movement in the USA called the Nation of Islam. It was formed in 1929, and demanded a separate state for black people.

blackout ['blækaut] n -1. [during a war] a period during wartime when a city, area etc is made completely dark for safety reasons. -2. [of electricity] a power cut \square an electricity blackout. -3. [of a person] a loss of consciousness for a short time \square I've started getting blackouts.

Black Panthers: the Black Panthers the members of a black political party in the USA, the Black Panther Party, founded in 1966. They wanted a separate state for black people.

Black Power n a political movement in the USA and Australia whose aim was to get more political and economic power for black people. It was an important part of the civil rights movement in the USA in the sixties.

black pudding n GB a large sausage made of pig's blood, fat, and grain.

Black Sea: the Black Sea an inland sea between southeastern Europe and Asia.

black sheep n the black sheep of the family the member of a family who is considered to be a disgrace or failure by the rest of the family.

blacksmith ['blæksmɪθ] n a person whose job is to make or repair things made of iron, especially horseshoes.

blackspot ['blækspɒt] n GB -1. a place where many road accidents have taken place. -2. a place where a particular problem is especially serious \square an unemployment blackspot.

black-tie adj [dinner, dance] where very formal dress is worn.

blacktop ['blæktɒp] n US a black sticky substance used to cover roads.

bladder ['blædə] n ANATOMY a bag in the body in which urine collects \square a bladder infection.

blade [bleɪd] n -1. [of a knife, saw] the thin part of something that cuts when it is sharp. -2. [of a fan, propeller, oar] the flat wide part of something that moves through the air or water. -3. a blade of grass a long thin piece of grass.

Blake [bleɪk], William (1757–1827) a British poet and artist, one of the earliest Romantics. His works include Songs of Innocence and Songs of Experience.

blame [bleɪm] \diamond vt -1. to think or say that <sb/sthg> is responsible for an accident, failure etc \square Don't blame me if you get into trouble. \square Investigators blame pilot error for the crash.

■ to blame sthg on sb/sthg to put the responsibility for sthg on sb/sthg \square They tried to blame the crash on me. ■ to be to blame to be responsible for something bad that has happened \square I'm not to blame for the mess we're in. -2. I don't blame you I think what you are doing is understandable \square "I'm staying at home today." — "I don't blame you, you don't look very well at all!"

\diamond n the responsibility for something bad that has happened \square It's not fair that you should get the blame. \square Don't try to put the blame on me! ■ to take the blame to be given responsibility for something bad that has happened \square My colleagues left me to take the blame for the department's mistakes.

blameless ['bleɪmləs] adj [person] who is not to blame; [life] that is entirely good and respectable.

blanch [US blæntʃ, GB blɑːntʃ] \diamond vt COOKING [vegetables, fruit, nuts] to put <food> into boiling water for a short time. \diamond vi [person] to become pale \square He blanched when he heard the news.

blancmange [blɑː'mɒndʒ] n a cold dessert made of sweetened and flavored milk thickened with cornstarch.

bland [blænd] adj -1. [person, style, music] that has no interesting or unusual qualities. -2. [food, drink] that has no strong flavor.

blank [blæŋk] \diamond adj -1. [page, screen] that has nothing written, marked, or shown on it \square The computer screen suddenly went blank. \square 'Leave this space blank.' -2. [cassette, tape, film] that has nothing recorded on it. -3. [look, stare] that shows no understanding, emotion, or interest. ■ her mind went blank she found herself unable to think or remember. ◇ n -1. an empty space □ Answer the question by filling in the blanks. ■ to draw a blank to be unsuccessful in one's search for somebody or something □ The police have drawn a blank in their search for the bombers. -2. MILITARY a cartridge with no bullet in it.

blank check n -1. a signed check that does not have the amount to be paid written on it. -2. complete freedom to make the decisions one wants, especially to spend money □ Just giving an architect a blank check is a recipe for disaster.

blanket [US 'blæŋkət, GB -it] ◇ adj a blanket decision/instruction etc a decision/instruction etc that includes every part of something □ The event received blanket coverage in the media. ◇ n -1. [for a bed] a warm, usually woolen, covering used on a bed. -2. a blanket of fog/snow etc a layer of fog/snow etc that covers an area completely.

blanket bath n GB a complete wash given to somebody who cannot get out of bed.

blankly ['blæŋklɪ] adv [look, stare] see blank.

blank verse n poetry that has a regular rhythm but does not rhyme.

blare [bleəʃ] vi [siren, radio, horn] to make a loud harsh sound □ They drove by with their car stereo blaring.

◆ blare out vi = blare.

blasé [US 'blɑ:ˈzeɪ, GB 'blɑ:zeɪ] adj [person, attitude] that shows no interest or concern, especially about things that excite or worry other people □ She was very blasé about it all.

blasphemous ['blæsfəməs] adj [person, words] showing complete disrespect for God or religion.

blasphemy ['blæsfəmi] (pl blasphemies) n an expression or act of disrespect for God or religion.

blast [US blæst, GB blɑ:st] ◇ n -1. an explosion, especially one caused by a bomb □ Six people were killed in the blast. -2. a sudden strong rush of air □ a blast of wind. ◇ vt to create  etc using explosives □ The bomb blasted a huge hole in the front wall of the building. ◇ excl GB a word used to express anger or frustration (informal use) □ Blast! I've left her number at home.

◆ (at) full blast adv -1. as loudly as possible □ He had the radio on (at) full blast. -2. with maximum speed and energy □ The machine was going (at) full blast.

◆ blast off vi [spacecraft, rocket] to leave the ground.

blasted [US 'blæstəd, GB 'blɑ:stəd] adj a word used to show one's irritation with somebody or something (informal use) □ That blasted dog's barking again.

blast furnace n a tall structure in which blasts of heated air are used to melt a substance to get metal from it.

blast-off n the launching of a rocket or spacecraft.

blatant ['bleɪnt] adj [dishonesty, discrimination, liar] that is obvious and shows no shame □ a blatant disregard for human rights.

blatantly ['bleɪntli] adv [lie, discriminate, cheat] see blatant. ■ to be blatantly obvious to be very obvious □ It's blatantly obvious what's been going on.

blaze [bleɪz] ◇ n -1. a large destructive fire □ The blaze spread to other houses in the street. -2. a blaze of publicity/glorious etc an impressive display of publicity/glorious etc □ The movie was released in a blaze of publicity. □ The garden was a blaze of color. ◇ vi -1. [fire] to burn brightly or strongly □ The fire has been blazing for three hours. -2. [sun, light] to be very bright □ The garden blazed with color. -3. [eyes] to show strong emotion, especially anger □ Eyes blazing, he got up and stormed out of the room. □ She turned to face him, her eyes blazing.

blazer ['bleɪzəʃ] n a jacket that is often dark blue and sometimes has a special badge on the breast pocket.

blazing ['bleɪzɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. blazing sunshine/heat etc sunshine/heat etc that is very hot. -2. a blazing argument/fight etc an argument/a fight etc that is very loud and angry. ◇ adv blazing hot very hot □ blazing hot weather.

bleach ['bli:tʃ] ◇ n a strong chemical which makes things white and is used for cleaning and removing germs. ◇ vt [clothing, hair] to cause <sth> to become white or lighter in color by the use of chemicals or through the effects of strong sunlight □ Their bones were bleached white in the sun. □ sun-bleached hair.

bleached [bli:tʃt] adj [hair, cotton] lighter in color or white, because of the use of chemicals or the effects of strong sunlight.

bleachers ['bli:tʃəz] npl US the cheap uncovered seats at a sports stadium, especially a baseball park.

bleak [bli:k] adj -1. [future, prospect, outlook] that gives no cause for hope or optimism □ These are bleak times for many shareholders. -2. [place, landscape, building] that causes one to feel unhappy because it has no pleasant or interesting qualities □ The city is bleak and deserted. -3. [weather] cold, dull, and unpleasant □ a bleak winter's day. -4. [face, person] without any hope or enthusiasm.

bleary ['bliəri] (compar blearier, superl bleariest) adj [eyes] that are red and not able to see well because of tiredness, crying etc.

bleary-eyed [-'aɪd] adj [person] who has bleary eyes.

bleat [bli:t] ◇ n the sound made by a sheep or goat. ◇ vi -1. [sheep, goat] to make a bleat. -2. [person] to complain, especially in a weak high voice.

bleed [bli:d] (pt & pp bled) [bled] ◇ vi to have blood flowing from a wound, injury etc □ My leg is bleeding. □ She was bleeding from a cut on her hand. ◇ vt to remove air from ; to remove the liquid from .

bleeding ['bli:dɪŋ] n [from a cut] see bleed □ Ap- ply pressure to the wound to stop the bleeding. □ internal bleeding.

bleep [bli:p] ◇ n a single, short, high-pitched sound made by an electronic device. ◇ vt to call <sb> by using a bleeper. ◇ vi [alarm, pager] to make a bleep.

bleeper ['bli:pə] n GB an electronic device that beeps to tell the person carrying it that they should phone someone.

blemish ['blemɪʃ] ◇ n -1. [on skin, fruit, china] a mark that spoils the appearance of something. -2. [on somebody's reputation, character] something that damages somebody's reputation. ◇ vt to damage <sb's reputation>.

blend [blend] ◇ n -1. [of coffee, whiskey] a product made by putting different types of the same thing together in a particular way □ a blend of three different kinds of tea. -2. [of ideas, qualities, styles] a combination, especially one that is pleasing or new □ His speech had just the right blend of seriousness and humor.

◇ vt -1. [ingredients] to mix <substances> together to produce a smooth whole □ Blend the flour into the eggs. -2. [coffee, tea, tobacco] to mix <different types of drink or tobacco> to produce a particular flavor □ a blended whisky. -3. [ideas, styles] to combine <different qualities>, especially in a pleasing or unusual way □ The story blends fact with fiction.

◇ vi [sounds, colors] to go together in a pleasing way to produce something whole □ Their voices blended with the sound of the orchestra.

◆ blend in vi to combine with one's surroundings so as not to be noticeable □ The new building blends in well with the rest of the square. □ He tried to blend in with the crowd.

◆ blend into vt fus to blend into sthg [into the landscape, one's surroundings] not to be very different from sthg.

blender ['blendə] n an electrical appliance used to mix food or change it into liquid form.

bles [bles] (pt & pp blessed OR blest) vt -1. RELIGION [congregation, house] to ask God to take care of <sb/sthg>; [bread, wine, water] to make <sthg> holy in a religious ceremony. -2. to be blessed with sthg [with talent, good health] to be lucky enough to have sthg. -3. phrase bless you! a phrase that one says to somebody who has just sneezed.

blessed ['blesɪd] adj -1. RELIGION very holy □ the Blessed Virgin. -2. [relief, silence] that one feels grateful for. -3. a word used to express one's irritation with somebody or something (informal use).

blessing ['blesɪŋ] n -1. RELIGION an act of blessing somebody. ■ a blessing in disguise something that at first appears to be harmful or unpleasant, but is later good or helpful □ Losing that job may prove to be a blessing in disguise. -2. approval and support □ The project has the blessing of the committee.

blest [blest] past tense & past participle of bless.

blew [blu:] past tense of blow.

blight [blaɪt] ◇ n -1. [in plants] a disease that makes plants or crops die slowly □ potato blight. -2. [in buildings, towns] a state of slow decay □ urban blight. -3. [on somebody's hopes, chances] something that spoils something or prevents it happening or developing fully □ Homelessness is a blight on the lives of many young people. ◇ vt to spoil <sb's career, life> etc □ The peace process has been blighted by repeated terrorist attacks.

blind [blaɪnd] ◇ adj -1. [person, animal] unable to see □ He went blind in his seventies. -2. to be blind [person] not to notice or understand sthg when one should □ People were blind to the danger of infection. -3. blind rage/panic etc uncontrollable rage/panic etc. ■ blind faith/obedience etc faith/obedience etc that shows no doubt or uncertainty. -4. GB a word used for emphasis □ It doesn't make a blind bit of difference to me.

◇ adv to be blind drunk to be very drunk.

◇ n a covering of cloth, plastic etc that is pulled down over a window to keep light out of a room.

◇ npl the blind blind people.

◇ vt -1. to make <sb> unable to see □ She was blinded by a firework. □ The camera flash momentarily blinded me. -2. to stop <sb> from knowing or noticing something □ His ambition blinded him to the needs of his family.

blind alley n -1. a small street that is closed at one end. -2. something which will not in the end produce any good results.

blind corner n a corner at which a driver cannot see the road ahead.

blind date n a date with somebody one has never met before; the person one has this kind of date with.

blinders ['blaɪndəz] npl US two leather patches placed beside a horse's eyes so that it can only see straight ahead.

blindfold ['blaɪndfəʊld] ◇ adv with one's eyes covered. ◇ n a strip of cloth used to cover somebody's eyes so that they cannot see. ◇ vt to stop <sb> from seeing by tying a blindfold over their eyes.

blinding ['blaɪndɪŋ] adj [light, glare, flash] so bright that one is unable to see properly because of it.

blindingly ['blaɪndɪŋli] adv blindingly obvious very obvious.

blindly ['blaɪndli] adv -1. [grope, stumble] without being able to see. -2. [guess, speculate] without the necessary knowledge or information; [follow, accept, obey] without asking questions or showing doubt.

blindness ['blaɪndnəs] n [of a person] see blind □ her blindness to everything except her own selfish aims.

blind spot n -1. AUTO an area of the road that a driver cannot easily see, especially the area that is slightly behind and to the side of the car. -2. something that somebody is always unable or unwilling to understand □ Dealing with other people's problems has always been a blind spot for him.

blink [blɪŋk] ◇ vt -1. to open and close <one's eyes> rapidly. -2. US AUTO to blink one's

- lights to flash one's lights on and off. ◇ vi -1. [person] to open and close one's eyes quickly □ He stood there blinking in the sunlight. -2. [light] to come on and off rapidly or shine in an unsteady way □ We could see the light-house blinking in the distance. ◇ n -1. [of eyes, light] an act of blinking. -2. to be on the blink [machine] not to be working □ The washing machine's on the blink again.
- blinkered ['blɪŋkəd] adj -1. [horse] that is wearing blinkers. -2. [person, attitude] who cannot understand ideas, opinions etc that are different from theirs.
- blinkers ['blɪŋkəz] npl GB = blinders.
- blip [blɪp] n -1. a short high-pitched sound made by electronic devices such as a radar or life-support system; a spot of light on a screen that flashes on and off and often makes this sound. -2. a temporary problem □ The spokesperson said that the rise in interest rates was just a blip.
- bliss [blɪs] n very great happiness.
- blissful ['blɪsfl] adj [day, experience] that is happy and enjoyable.
- blissfully ['blɪsflɪ] adv to be blissfully happy to be extremely happy. ■ to be blissfully unaware/ignorant to be unaware/ignorant of something unpleasant □ He was blissfully unaware of the dangers he faced.
- blister ['blɪstə] ◇ n -1. [on one's skin] a small raised area of skin containing clear liquid that can be painful and is caused by rubbing or burning □ My feet/hands were covered in blisters. -2. [on paint, a tire] a small area like a blister caused by a small amount of air under the surface. ◇ vi [skin, paint] to form blisters.
- blistering ['blɪstərɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. [heat, sun] very hot. -2. [attack, criticism] very strong and angry □ They had a blistering row. ◇ adv blistering hot very hot □ a blistering hot day.
- blister pack n a type of packaging consisting of a piece of raised clear plastic attached to a firm piece of cardboard.
- blithe [blaɪð] adj -1. [indifference, remark] that shows that one has not thought seriously or carefully about something important.
- blithely ['blaɪðli] adv [say, talk, ignore] see blithe □ Despite their huge overdraft they went on blithely signing checks.
- BLitt [ˌbiː'lɪt] (abbr of Bachelor of Letters) n GB a degree in literature; a person who has this degree.
- blitz [blɪts] n -1. MILITARY a sudden attack in which a lot of bombs are dropped from planes on a town or city. -2. a period when somebody tries hard to deal with a problem or job that must be finished quickly □ an advertising blitz □ Let's have a blitz on the paper-work.
- blizzard ['blɪzəd] n a heavy snowstorm with strong winds.
- BLM (abbr of Bureau of Land Management) n the US government department responsible for planning and controlling the building of roads, cities, transport systems etc.
- bloated ['bləʊtəd] adj -1. [body, face] that looks very swollen. -2. [person] who feels uncomfortably full after eating too much.
- blob [blɒb] n -1. a large drop of thick liquid □ a blob of paint. -2. a shape that is unclear or is hard to describe □ a blob on the horizon.
- bloc [blɒk] n a group of people or countries that work together for political or economic reasons □ countries of the former Communist bloc.
- block [blɒk] ◇ n -1. [in a city, town] a building or group of buildings between two streets □ The bank is three blocks away. □ We walked round the block. -2. [of stone, wood, ice] a large piece of something solid that usually has straight sides. -3. [of apartments] a large building divided into several offices, apartments etc □ an office block □ a block of flats. -4. [in a pipe, tube, road] something that prevents things from moving along something. -5. a block and tackle a system of pulleys and ropes used for lifting heavy objects. ◇ vt -1. [road, pipe] to stop things from moving along or through <sthg> □ The highway was completely blocked by traffic. □ She stood in front of me, blocking the doorway. -2. [light, view] to be in the way of <sthg> □ You're blocking my view. -3. [law, deal, promotion] to prevent <sthg> from happening, succeeding etc □ The treaty was blocked by the Spanish. □ The courts have blocked moves to make such mergers illegal.
- ◆ block off vt sep to block sth off [road, pipe] to block sth completely for a particular reason □ The police blocked off the entrance to the street.
- ◆ block out vt sep -1. to block sth out [idea, memory] to prevent oneself from thinking about sth □ He tried to block out all thoughts of the accident. -2. to block out the light/sun etc to prevent light/sunlight etc from passing through □ Those trees block the sun out.
- ◆ block up ◇ vt sep to be blocked up [pipe, sink] to be completely blocked by something □ My nose is blocked up. □ The drains were all blocked up with dead leaves. ◇ vi [pipe, sink] The toilet keeps blocking up.
- blockade [blɒ'keɪd] ◇ n an action taken to stop goods from entering or leaving a port or country, usually by surrounding it with ships □ a blockade on arms OR an arms blockade. ◇ vt to close  etc with a blockade.
- blockage ['blɒkɪdʒ] n something that prevents things from moving through a pipe, tube etc.
- block booking n a single reservation for a large number of tickets or seats.
- blockbuster ['blɒkbʌstə] n a very successful book or movie.
- block capitals npl capital letters □ Please write in block capitals.
- block letters npl = block capitals.
- block release n GB a system that allows industrial employees to study at a college for a short period □ I'm on block release.

block vote n GB a single vote made by a representative of a group such as a labor union.

Bloc Québécois [-keibe'kwɑ:] n a Canadian political party that believes that Quebec should become an independent state.

bloke [blo:k] n GB a man (informal use).

blond [blɒnd] adj [hair] light yellow; [man] who has blond hair.

blonde [blɒnd] \diamond adj [hair] light yellow; [woman] who has blond hair. \diamond n a woman who has blond hair.

blood [blʌd] n the red liquid that flows through one's body \square He/His face was covered in blood. \square a blood disease \square a blood sample. \blacksquare to kill sb in cold blood to kill sb in a planned way, without emotion \square He was shot in cold blood. \blacksquare to be in sb's blood to be an easy or natural thing for sb to do, sometimes because their family has done it before \square Acting is in her blood. \blacksquare to make sb's blood boil to make sb very angry \square It really makes my blood boil to hear politicians talking about morality. \blacksquare to make sb's blood run cold to make sb very frightened. \blacksquare new OR fresh blood new members of an organization who can bring new ideas with them.

blood bank n a place where blood is stored until it is needed by doctors during operations.

bloodbath [US 'blʌdbæθ, pl -bæðz, GB -bɑ:tθ, pl -bɑ:tðz] n the violent killing of a lot of people at the same time \square The battle turned into a bloodbath.

blood brother n a man who has promised to be loyal to one or more other men, usually in a ceremony where they mix some of their blood.

blood cell n one of the red or white cells that are found in blood \square a red/white blood cell.

blood count n a medical test to check that somebody has the right amounts of red and white blood cells.

bloodcurdling ['blʌdkɜ:ɪdlɪŋ] adj [cry, noise, story] very frightening.

blood donor n a person who gives blood from their own body to be used in hospitals.

blood group n one of the groups into which human blood is classified.

bloodhound ['blʌdhaʊnd] n a large dog with a good sense of smell, used for hunting or for searching for people.

bloodless ['blʌdləs] adj -1. [face, cheeks] very pale. -2. [coup, victory] in which nobody is killed.

bloodletting ['blʌdletɪŋ] n violence and killing, usually between rival groups.

blood money n money that is paid to a person for murdering or helping to murder somebody.

blood orange n an orange with red flesh and red juice.

blood poisoning n a serious illness caused by an infection in one's blood.

blood pressure n a measure of the force with which blood moves through one's body \square He has high/low blood pressure.

blood relation, blood relative n a person who is related to somebody by birth rather than by marriage.

bloodshed ['blʌdʃed] n violence and killing \square It's time to put an end to all the bloodshed.

bloodshot ['blʌdʃɒt] adj [eye] that has red lines in the part that is normally white.

blood sports npl sports, especially hunting, in which animals are killed.

bloodstained ['blʌdsteɪnd] adj [clothing, floor] that is stained with blood.

bloodstream ['blʌdstri:m] n the blood flowing inside one's body \square There were traces of the drug in his bloodstream.

blood test n a test carried out on a sample of blood to check for diseases or the presence of drugs.

bloodthirsty ['blʌdθɜ:ɪstɪ] adj [person] who enjoys doing, watching, or reading about acts of violence; [movie, story] very violent.

blood transfusion n a medical operation in which a patient is given blood from another person.

blood type n = blood group.

blood vessel n any of the tubes that blood flows through in one's body.

bloody ['blʌdɪ] (compar bloodier, superl bloodiest) \diamond adj -1. [war, conflict] in which there is a lot of violence and killing \square the bloody massacre of 1,200 men. -2. [face, hand] that is covered with blood. -3. ∇ GB a word used to show how strongly one feels about something (very informal use) \square The bloody train's late again. \square He's got a bloody nerve. \diamond adv ∇ GB very (very informal use) \square It's a bloody good film.

bloody mary n a drink made from vodka and tomato juice.

bloom [blu:m] \diamond n a flower. \blacksquare to be in bloom [flower, tree] to have flowers that are open; [place, garden] to be full of flowers. \diamond vi [plant, tree] to produce flowers \square These roses will bloom twice a year.

blooming ['blu:mɪŋ] \diamond adj [person] who looks attractive and healthy \square She's positively blooming with health.

Bloomsbury Group ['blu:mzɜ:ri:] n the Bloomsbury Group a group of artists and writers with very modern ideas, including Virginia Woolf and E.M. Forster, who lived in Bloomsbury, in London, in the 1920s.

blossom ['blɒsəm] \diamond n the flowers of a tree that appear before the fruit \square cherry/apple blossom. \blacksquare to be in blossom [tree] to be covered with flowers. \diamond vi -1. [tree] to produce blossom \square The apple trees blossomed very late this year. -2. [person, business, industry] to become more successful or attractive \square She blossomed into an exceptional artist.

blot [blɒt] (pt & pp blotted, cont blotting) \diamond n -1. [of ink, paint] a drop of liquid that somebody has spilt on something \square an ink blot. -2. something unpleasant that spoils a view,

- somebody's reputation etc □ The tower is considered to be a blot on the landscape. ◇ vt -1. to make a blot or blots on . -2. to dry <ink, writing> etc by pressing a piece of blotting paper against it.
- ◆ blot out vt sep to blot sth out [light, idea, memories] to block sth out □ You just have to blot out any thought of failure.
- blotch [ˈblɒtʃ] n a small mark on skin, material etc that does not have a definite shape □ His arms were covered in red blotches.
- blotchy [ˈblɒtʃɪ] (compar blotchier, superl blotchiest) adj [complexion, skin, face] that is covered with blotches.
- blotter [ˈblɒtə] n a piece of blotting paper, often with a hard backing.
- blotting paper [ˈblɒtɪŋ-] n thick soft paper used for blotting ink, writing etc.
- blouse [US ˈblaʊs, GB ˈblaʊz] n a type of shirt worn by women or girls.
- blouson [US ˈblaʊsən, GB ˈbluːzən] n a short jacket, usually close-fitting at the waist.
- blow [bləʊ] (pt blew, pp blown) ◇ vi -1. [wind, draft] to make air move □ The wind is blowing from the north. -2. [leaves, hat] to be moved by the wind, a draft etc □ The papers blew off the desk. □ Her hair was blowing in the wind. -3. [person] to send air out of one's mouth □ She blew on her coffee. -4. [fuse] to stop working suddenly because too much current has passed through it.
◇ vt -1. [leaves, papers] to move <sth> by a current of air, breath, or wind □ The wind blew the door open. □ He blew the dust off the desk. -2. to make <bubbles or smoke rings> by forcing one's breath through water, smoke etc. -3. [trumpet, whistle] to make a sound by blowing into . -4. to blow one's nose to clear one's nose by forcing air through it. -5. [wages, savings] to spend  irresponsibly or extravagantly (informal use) □ She blew it all on a new car.
◇ n -1. the act of hitting somebody or something with one's hand or a weapon □ He received several blows to the head. ■ to come to blows to start fighting by hitting each other □ The two men came to blows. ■ to strike a blow for sth [for freedom, peace] to do something important in support of sth. -2. an unpleasant and unexpected shock □ His resignation came as a bit of a blow. ■ to soften the blow to make unpleasant news easier to accept.
- ◆ blow away vi [leaves, hat] to be moved away by the wind, a draft etc.
- ◆ blow out ◇ vt sep to blow sth out [candle, match] to stop sth burning by blowing on it. ◇ vi -1. [candle, match] to stop burning because the wind or a draft has blown it out. -2. [tire] to burst while moving along a road.
- ◆ blow over vi -1. [storm] to end gradually. -2. [argument, scandal] to end gradually and be forgotten □ It'll soon blow over.
- ◆ blow up ◇ vt sep -1. to blow sth up [balloon, tire] to fill sth with air. -2. to blow sb/sth up [building, vehicle, person] to destroy sb/sth with explosives □ The bridge was blown up during the war. -3. to blow sth up [photo, document, image] to make a bigger copy of sth □ This is a blown-up section of part of the map. ◇ vi [building, vehicle] The whole ship blew up.
- blow-by-blow adj a blow-by-blow account/description an account/a description that is very detailed and mentions everything in the exact order that it happened in.
- blow-dry ◇ n a way of drying somebody's hair using a hairdryer so that it has a particular shape □ a cut and blow-dry. ◇ vt to give <sb's hair> a blow-dry.
- blowfly [ˈblɒʊflaɪ] (pl blowflies) n a fly that lays its eggs on meat or open wounds.
- blowgun [ˈbləʊɡʌn] n US a long tube through which arrows or darts are blown that is used for hunting or as a weapon.
- blowlamp [ˈbləʊlæmp] n GB = blowtorch.
- blown [bləʊn] past participle of blow.
- blowout [ˈbləʊaʊt] n -1. [of a tire] an accident in which a tire bursts □ We had a blowout on the highway. -2. a very big meal (informal use).
- blowpipe [ˈbləʊpaɪp] n GB = blowgun.
- blowtorch [ˈbləʊtɔːtʃ] n a device, held in one's hand, that gives out a very hot flame and is used for removing old paint.
- BLS (abbr of Bureau of Labor Statistics) n the US government department responsible for producing statistics on employment.
- BLT n abbr of bacon, lettuce, and tomato (sandwich).
- blubber [ˈblʌbə] ◇ n the fat of particular sea animals, e.g. whales and seals. ◇ vi to cry noisily (disapproving use) □ Stop blubbering!
- bludgeon [ˈblʌdʒən] vt to hit <sb> several times with a heavy object □ He was bludgeoned to death.
- blue [bluː] ◇ adj -1. [eyes, clothes, sea] that is the color of the sky on a clear day □ The walls were painted bright blue. □ Her hands were blue with the cold. -2. [person] to feel blue to feel sad (old-fashioned use). -3. [movie, joke] that refers to sex in a way that could offend some people. ◇ n the color that is blue □ She was dressed in blue. ■ to appear/arrive etc out of the blue to appear/arrive etc suddenly, when one is not expecting it □ The takeover bid came right out of the blue.
- ◆ blues npl -1. MUSIC a type of music that started in the USA and is slow and sad □ a blues guitarist. -2. the blues a feeling of sadness (informal use) □ She's got the blues again.

♥ BLUE

In British politics, the color blue traditionally represents the Conservative Party. At the universities of Oxford and Cambridge, a "blue" also means a special award given to a person who has played for one of the university sports teams, and who is therefore very good at sports. Oxford players traditionally wear dark blue, and Cambridge players wear light blue.

blue baby n a baby born with slightly blue skin because of a problem with its heart or lungs.

Bluebeard ['blu:bɪəd] a male character in European folk stories who marries and kills several women one after the other.

bluebell ['blu:bel] n a small European wild plant with blue flowers that are shaped like bells.

blueberry [US 'blu:beri, GB -bəri] (pl blueberries) n a small, dark-blue, North American fruit that can be cooked and eaten; the bush that this fruit grows on □ blueberry jam/pie.

bluebird ['blu:bɜ:rd] n a small, blue, North American bird.

blue-black adj very dark blue.

blue-blooded [-'blʌdəd] adj [person] who belongs to a royal or aristocratic family.

bluebottle ['blu:bɒtl] n a large fly with a dark-blue body.

blue channel n the blue channel a special way through customs at an airport or port in the EU, used by passengers who are traveling from one EU country to another.

blue cheese n a type of cheese with blue lines of mold in it.

blue chip n a share in a company that is considered to be very reliable and profitable □ a blue-chip company/investment.

blue-collar adj [worker, union, job] that is connected with people who do manual, usually industrial, work.

NOTE: Compare white-collar.

blue exit n = blue channel.

blue-eyed boy [-aɪd-] n GB a man or boy who is somebody's favorite child, student, or employee (informal use) □ Philip was always Daddy's blue-eyed boy.

bluegrass [US 'blu:græs, GB -grɑ:s] n -1. a type of bluish-green grass that grows in North America. -2. a type of country music from the southern USA that is played on stringed instruments.

blue jeans npl US = jeans.

blue law n US a law that tries to stop activities such as drinking alcohol or doing business on Sundays that some people think are immoral.

blueprint ['blu:prɪnt] n -1. CONSTRUCTION the photographic print of a plan for a building, machine etc. -2. a blueprint for sthg an explanation of how a particular plan or idea is expected to work □ a blueprint for success.

blue ribbon n US a piece of blue ribbon, given as the first prize in a competition.

bluestocking ['blu:stɒkɪŋ] n a woman who is thought to be too highly educated (old-fashioned and disapproving use).

blue tit n GB a small European bird with a blue head and yellow chest.

blue whale n a bluish-gray whale that is the largest living animal.

bluff [blʌf] ◇ vi [person] to try to deceive somebody by pretending that one is going to do something, or that one is somebody else □ He keeps threatening to resign, but I think he's bluffing. ◇ vt to bluff one's way into/out of a situation to get into/out of a situation by deceiving somebody □ He bluffed his way into the job. ◇ n -1. the act of bluffing. ■ to call sb's bluff to try to make sb do what they are threatening to do because one is sure that they are bluffing. -2. a steep bank or cliff by a river or the ocean. ◇ adj [person, manner] cheerful and direct, often in a way that some people find rude.

blunder ['blʌndə] ◇ n a big mistake that shows one is careless or stupid. ◇ vi -1. to make a blunder. -2. to move clumsily and carelessly □ He blundered into the trap.

blunt [blʌnt] ◇ adj -1. [knife, pencil] that is not sharp; [object] that has rounded edges □ These scissors are too blunt. □ a blunt edge □ He had been struck by a blunt instrument. -2. [person] who says what they really think, without trying to be polite □ a blunt question/answer. ◇ vt -1. [knife, pencil, blade] to make <sthg> blunt. -2. [feeling, sense, effect] to weaken <sthg>.

bluntly ['blʌntli] adv [say, reply] see blunt □ Put bluntly, he's saying it's a total waste of time.

blur [blɜ:ɹ] (pt & pp blurred, cont blurring) ◇ n something that cannot be seen or remembered clearly □ It was all a blur. ◇ vt -1. [outline, photo] to make <sthg> less clear to see. -2. [distinction, memory, vision] to make <sthg> less clear to understand or remember □ They're deliberately trying to blur the issue.

blurb [blɜ:'b] n a short description of a book that is written on its cover (informal use).

blurred [blɜ:'d] adj [photograph, distinction] that is difficult to see, understand, or remember □ She still suffers from blurred vision.

blurt [blɜ:'t] ◆ blurt out vt sep to blurt sthg out to say sthg secret or embarrassing suddenly, without thinking first □ I just blurted out the whole story.

blush [blʌʃ] ◇ vi to become red in the face, usually from shame or embarrassment. ◇ n -1. the red color on one's face that comes when one blushes □ His jokes caused a few blushes in the audience. -2. a wine that is a very pale pink color.

blusher ['blʌʃə] n a cosmetic for coloring one's cheeks.

bluster ['blʌstə] ◇ vi to speak loudly and aggressively, usually because one is angry or confused. ◇ n the things one says when one blusters.

blustery ['blʌstəri] adj [weather, day] windy □ blustery winds/showers.

Bld abbr of boulevard.

BM n -1. (abbr of Bachelor of Medicine) a degree in medicine; a person who has this degree. -2. abbr of British Museum.

BMA (abbr of British Medical Association) n the BMA an organization that aims to protect the rights of British doctors.

BMus (abbr of Bachelor of Music) n a degree in music; a person who has this degree.

BMX (abbr of bicycle motorcross) n a type of bicycle with a strong frame and small wheels that can be used on rough ground.

BO n abbr of body odor.

boa constrictor ['boʊəkənstriktəʃ] n a large South American snake that kills animals or people by crushing them.

Boadicea [,boʊədɪ'si:ə] = Boudicca.

boar [bɔːr] n -1. a male pig kept on a farm. -2. a wild pig that has tusks and a thick coat.

board [bɔːrd] n -1. CONSTRUCTION a long flat piece of hard material, usually wood, that is used to make floors, stages etc □ The floor was made of wooden boards. -2. [on a wall] a flat rectangular piece of hard material used for displaying messages, announcements etc □ a notice board. -3. [for games] a flat piece of wood, cardboard, or plastic that has been marked specially so that a particular game can be played on it □ a chess board. -4. [in a school, classroom] = blackboard. -5. [of a company, school] a group of people who control an organization or a particular activity □ the board of inquiry □ a meeting of the board □ The proposal was put before the board. ■ the board of directors the committee of directors that controls a company. -6. [at a hotel, guest-house] room and board US, board and lodging meals and accommodation. ■ full/half board accommodation and all meals/breakfast and one other meal per day. -7. phrases to go by the board [plan, arrangement] to be abandoned because it is no longer possible □ Any hopes we had of meeting the minister just went by the board. ■ to sweep the board [in an election, competition] to win everything □ The Cubans swept the board at this week's athletics meeting.

◇ vt [ship, plane, bus] to get on a <vehicle> □ I boarded the plane at Houston. ◇ vi [plane] to take passengers on board □ Flight BA 851 to Amsterdam is now boarding at Gate 12.

◆ on board ◇ adj on a ship, plane, train etc □ The bus crashed with 76 passengers on board. ◇ adv: I got OR went on board. ■ to take sth on board GB [fact, advice] to accept sth and take it into account □ I don't think she's quite taken on board the fact that we're in the middle of a crisis here.

◆ board up vt sep to board sth up [window, door] to cover sth with boards.

boarder ['bɔːdəʃ] n -1. [in a house] somebody who pays for meals and a room in another person's house. -2. EDUCATION a pupil who lives at school during the school terms.

board game n a game played on a board, e.g. chess or backgammon.

boarding card ['bɔːrdɪŋ-] n GB = boarding pass.

boarding house n a private house that offers meals and rooms for money.

boarding pass n US a card that is given to passengers when they check in and that must be shown when they board their plane, ship etc.

boarding school n a school where pupils live during the school terms.

board meeting n a meeting of the members of a board, e.g. the directors of a company or the governors of a school.

boardroom ['bɔːrdru:m] n the room where the board of directors of a company holds its meetings; the board of directors who meet in this room □ a boardroom takeover/row □ boardroom talks.

boardwalk ['bɔːrdwɔ:k] n US a footpath made of wooden boards along a beach, harbor etc.

boast [boʊst] ◇ vi to talk with too much pride about the things one has, can do etc in order to make other people admire or envy one □ He's always boasting about some new gadget he's bought. □ I don't mean to boast, but it was my idea in the first place. ◇ vt to have <sthg that one is proud of> □ The town boasts an excellent conference center. ◇ n something one says when boasting □ It's our proud boast that we have never lost a client.

boastful ['boʊstfl] adj [person] who often boasts; who is boasting □ boastful words.

boat [boʊt] n a vehicle with a sail, an engine, or oars that is used for traveling across water; a ship □ The goods were sent by boat. ■ to rock the boat to cause problems by trying to change things at a time when everything is calm and pleasant because everybody agrees on something. ■ to be in the same boat to be in the same unpleasant or difficult situation as somebody else □ We're all in the same boat.

boater ['boʊtəʃ] n a hard straw hat with a flat top □ a straw boater.

boating ['boʊtɪŋ] n sailing in small boats for pleasure □ a boating trip/holiday.

boat people npl refugees, especially from Vietnam, who try to escape from their country by boat.

boatswain ['boʊsn] n an officer on a ship whose job is to keep the ship and its equipment in good condition.

boat train n a train that travels to or from a ship in a port.

bob [bɒb] (pt & pp bobbed, cont bobbing) ◇ n a woman's hairstyle in which the hair is cut to the same length at the back and sides at about the same level as her chin □ She wears her hair in a bob. ◇ vi [boat, ship] to move up and down gently on the water.

bobbin ['bɒbɪn] n a small tube which thread is wound around for sewing.

bobble [bɒbl] n a small ball of material, used as a decoration on cushions, clothes, hats etc.

bobby ['bɒbi] (pl bobbies) n GB a policeman (informal and old-fashioned use).

bobby pin n US a pin used to hold hair in position.

bobby socks, bobby sox [-sɒks] npl US socks that reach just above the ankle and are worn by girls.

bobsled ['bɒbsled], bobsleigh ['bɒbsleɪ] n a sled for racing downhill on ice.

Boccaccio [US bɒʊ'kɑ:tʃioʊ, GB bɒ-], Giovanni (1313–1375) an Italian writer whose major work is the Decameron, a collection of stories that influenced Chaucer and Shakespeare.

bode [ˈbɒd] vi to bode well to be a sign that something good is going to happen □ This doesn't bode well for us.

bodice [ˈbɒdɪs] n the part of a dress above the waist, without the sleeves.

bodily [ˈbɒdli] ◇ adj [need, harm] that is connected with one's body. ■ bodily functions the act of passing urine or excrement from one's body (polite use). ◇ adv [lift, carry, move] by taking hold of somebody's whole body □ He was so drunk we had to carry him bodily to his room.

body [ˈbɒdi] (pl bodies) n -1. [of a person, animal] the whole of a person or animal, including all its parts; the main or central part of a person or animal, but not the head, arms, or legs □ I believe in taking care of my body. □ She's got a fantastic body! ■ to keep body and soul together to earn enough money to buy the things one needs to live. -2. [of a man, woman] a dead person □ the body of a young boy □ There were dead bodies lying in the street. ■ over my dead body! an expression used to show that one very strongly opposes something that somebody has said or asked □ "I want to marry your daughter." — "Over my dead body!" -3. [of people] a group of people who work together and are usually in charge of something □ a legislative/governing body. -4. [of a car, plane, ship] the main part of a vehicle, excluding the engine, wheels, wings etc. -5. [of a wine] a strong rich taste. -6. to have body [hair] to be thick and healthy and keep its shape □ My hair's lost all its body. -7. GB = body suit.

body bag n a bag that is used for carrying a dead person away from a place.

body building n the activity of doing special exercises to make one's muscles bigger.

bodyguard [ˈbɒdɪɡɑːd] n a person or group of people whose job is to protect an important person, especially in public.

body language n ways of sitting, standing, or moving that tell other people how one is feeling □ I could tell from his body language that Tony was feeling defensive.

body odor n the unpleasant smell of sweat that comes from a person's body.

body search n a search of a person's body and clothes made by police, customs, or security guards to check for hidden weapons, drugs etc.

body shop n -1. AUTO a place where the bodywork of cars is repaired.

body stocking n a close-fitting piece of clothing, often worn by dancers, that covers a person's whole body including their arms and legs.

body suit n US a close-fitting piece of clothing for women that covers the body from the shoulders to the top of the legs.

bodywork [ˈbɒdiwɜːk] n the outside part of a car, bus etc without the wheels □ The bodywork is still in very good condition.

bog [bɒg] n an area of soft wet ground.

bogey [ˈbɒgeɪ] n in golf, a score for a hole of one stroke more than the standard score.

bogeyman [ˈbɒgeɪmæn] n an imaginary person often used by parents to frighten children.

bogged down [ˌbɒgd-] adj to be/get bogged down [person] to be/become unable to make any progress with a problem, piece of work etc; [car, vehicle] to be/become unable to move because its wheels have sunk into the ground □ We got completely bogged down in paperwork. □ The trucks were bogged down in the mud.

boggle [ˈbɒgl] vi it boggles my mind! US, the mind boggles! GB a phrase used when one finds something very strange and difficult to understand or imagine.

boggy [ˈbɒgi] (compar boggier, superl boggiest) adj [ground] soft and wet □ boggy ground.

bogus [ˈbɒɡəs] adj [identity, claim, charm] false.

bohemian [ˌbɒʰiːmiən] ◇ adj [family, lifestyle] unconventional in a way that is associated with artists. ◇ n a person with a bohemian lifestyle.

boil [bɔɪl] ◇ vi -1. [liquid] to form bubbles and change into vapor by being heated. □ The water's boiling. -2. [kettle, pan] to contain liquid that is boiling □ The kettle's boiling! ◇ vt -1. [water, milk] to heat  until it boils. -2. [pan, kettle] to heat  until the contents boil. ◇ n -1. MEDICINE a painful infected swelling under one's skin. -2. COOKING to bring sthg to the boil [milk, water] to heat sthg until it boils. ■ to come to the boil [milk, water] to start to boil.

◆ boil away vi [liquid] to be reduced to nothing by boiling □ The sauce had nearly boiled away.

◆ boil down to vt fus it boils down to this it is really about this; it really means this □ In the end it all boils down to money. □ What it boils down to is this: either he goes, or I do.

◆ boil over vi -1. COOKING [soup, milk] to boil and flow over the sides of a pan, dish etc. -2. [situation, anger, tension] to get out of control, especially in a violent way □ The quarrel boiled over into a full-scale brawl.

boiled [ˈbɔɪld] adj [rice, potato, fish] that has been cooked in boiling water. ■ a boiled egg an egg that is cooked in its shell in boiling water until the white part is solid.

boiler [ˈbɔɪlə] n a container in which water is heated, e.g. to supply a central heating system.

boiler suit n GB a piece of clothing that consists of trousers and top in one piece and is worn over ordinary clothes to keep them clean when one is doing dirty work.

boiling [ˈbɔɪlɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. [water, oil] that is making bubbles because it has been heated to boiling point. -2. [person, weather, room] very hot □ It's boiling in here. -3. to be boiling to be very angry □ She was boiling with rage.

- ◇ adv boiling hot very hot □ It's boiling hot today.
- boiling point n the temperature at which a liquid boils.
- boisterous ['bɔɪstərəs] adj [child, puppy] that is noisy and full of energy, especially in an annoying way.
- bold [bəʊld] adj -1. [person, plan, action] that is brave and confident □ It was a bold move on her part. -2. [line, pattern, color] that is clear and easy to see □ a dress with a bold floral motif. -3. bold type OR print letters that are printed in thick dark ink.
- boldly ['bəʊldli] adv -1. [decide, act] bravely and confidently □ They boldly went ahead despite the danger. -2. [stand out] clearly and distinctly □ a boldly-patterned dress.
- Boleyn [bə'li:n], Anne (1504–1536) Queen of England from 1533 to 1536. The second wife of Henry VIII, she was accused of adultery and executed.
- Bolivia [bə'li:vɪə] a country in western South America, that consists of the Andes in the west and the Amazon forest in the east. SIZE: 1,100,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 8,000,000 (Bolivians). CAPITAL: Sucre. ADMINISTRATIVE CAPITAL: La Paz. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: boliviano.
- bollard [US 'bɒldr, GB -ɑ:d] n GB a short thick post made of concrete or metal that is used to stop vehicles entering a particular area.
- bollocks ▽ ['bɒləks] GB (very informal use) ◇ npl testicles. ◇ excl a word used by somebody to show they do not agree with something.
- Bolshevik [US 'bɒljəvɪk, GB 'bɒlj-] n -1. a member or supporter of the party led by Lenin which founded and ruled the USSR after the Russian Revolution of 1917 □ the Bolshevik revolution. -2. a Communist.
- bolster ['bəʊlstə] ◇ vt = bolster up. ◇ n a long firm pillow in the shape of a tube that is usually placed underneath other pillows.
- ◆ bolster up vt sep to bolster sthg up [case, somebody's position, confidence] to support or increase sthg in order to improve it or make it stronger □ We're recruiting some experienced people to bolster up our sales force.
- bolt [bəʊlt] ◇ n -1. [on a door, window] a metal bar or rod that slides into a socket attached to the frame in order to lock it. -2. a metal rod similar to a screw, but with flat ends, that is used with a nut to fasten things together.
- ◇ adv bolt upright completely vertical, stiff, and straight □ She was sitting bolt upright in her chair.
- ◇ vt -1. to fasten <an object> to something else with a bolt □ The chairs were bolted to the floor. -2. [door, window] to lock <sthg> with a bolt □ All the doors were bolted. -3. = bolt down.
- ◇ vi -1. [person] to run somewhere very fast, often in order to escape from somebody or something □ He bolted along the corridor/up the stairs. -2. [horse] to start moving fast suddenly, in a way that is difficult to control.
- ◆ bolt down vt sep to bolt down food to eat food very quickly □ I bolted down my lunch.
- bomb [bɒm] ◇ n a container filled with explosives that is used as a weapon □ a car bomb □ a bomb attack/scare. ◇ vt [building, city] to attack  with a bomb or bombs □ The town had been heavily bombed. ◇ vi [play, idea] to be unsuccessful.
- bombard [bɒm'bɑ:d] vt -1. MILITARY [city, position] to attack  with gunfire or bombs. -2. to bombard sb with sthg [with mail, criticism] to give or send a lot of sthg to sb, often in a hostile way □ I was bombarded with questions.
- bombardment [bɒm'bɑ:dmənt] n: see bombard □ an aerial bombardment.
- bombastic [bɒm'bæstɪk] adj [person, speech] that uses long complicated words in order to sound important.
- Bombay [bɒm'beɪ] a port on the west coast of India. It is India's largest city. POPULATION: 12,571,720.
- bomb disposal n GB the act of making an unexploded bomb safe □ a bomb-disposal squad/expert.
- bomber ['bɒmə] n -1. MILITARY an aircraft that drops bombs. -2. a person who puts a bomb in a place in order to cause injury, damage etc.
- bomber jacket n a short jacket, often made of leather, that fits tightly at the waist.
- bombing ['bɒmɪŋ] n the act of attacking a place with a bomb or bombs □ The city has been the target of a wave of bombings. □ a bombing raid.
- bombproof ['bɒmpru:f] adj [building, shelter] that is strong enough not to be destroyed by a bomb attack.
- bombshell ['bɒmfel] n a piece of shocking unexpected news □ His resignation came as a complete bombshell.
- bombsite ['bɒmsaɪt] n an empty space in a town where the buildings have been destroyed by a bomb.
- bona fide [ˌbɒnə'faɪdi] adj [offer, contract, customer] that is genuine and can be taken seriously.
- bonanza [bə'nænzə] n a time or situation in which very high profits are made or people suddenly become very rich □ It's the usual pre-Christmas bonanza for the big stores.
- bond [bɒnd] ◇ n -1. [between people] a relationship, feeling, or shared interest that brings people or groups closely together □ the bond of friendship/trust. -2. FINANCE a certificate from a government, municipality, company etc that promises to repay borrowed money at a fixed rate of interest. -3. AUS [for rent] an amount of money paid as a deposit, especially for rented accommodation. ◇ vt to join together <two things> with glue □ The wood is bonded to the metal with a special glue. ◇ vi -1. [materials, surfaces] to stick together very firmly □ These two materials do not bond (together) well. -2. [people] to form a close relationship □ The child has difficulty bonding with others.

Bond [bɒnd], James a character in a series of novels by Ian Fleming, later made into movies. He is a British secret agent who has many adventures in exotic places.

bondage ['bɒndɪdʒ] n the state of being kept as a slave (literary use) □ The prisoners were released from bondage.

bonded warehouse ['bɒndəd-] n an official storage place where goods are kept until customs duty has been paid on them.

Bondi Beach ['bɒndə-] a beach in Sydney, Australia that is very popular for surfing and sunbathing.

bone [bəʊn] ◇ n -1. ANATOMY one of the pieces of hard white material that form the skeleton of a human or an animal □ I broke a bone in my hand. □ a fish bone. -2. [for making tools, ornaments] the substance from which the skeleton of a human or animal is made □ a handle made out of bone □ a bone carving. -3. phrases a bone of contention something that is the cause of an argument. ■ to feel sthg in one's bones to be sure about sthg without being able to explain or show why □ Something's not right, I can feel it in my bones. ■ to make no bones about sthg to show no hesitation or doubt when one says sthg □ I don't approve of their policies, and I make no bones about it. ◇ vt to remove the bone or bones from <fish or meat>.

bone china n thin china made of clay mixed with powdered bones.

bone-dry adj completely dry.

boneless ['bɒnləs] adj [fish, chicken] that has had the bones removed.

bone marrow n the soft substance in the center of a bone.

bonfire ['bɒnfɑːr] n a large fire outdoors that is built to burn trash on or as part of a celebration.

Bonfire Night n November 5, the anniversary of Guy Fawkes' attempt to blow up the British Parliament in 1605. In Britain, people traditionally have firework displays and bonfires with a guy on top.

🔥 BONFIRE NIGHT

November 5 is the anniversary of Guy Fawkes' failed attempt to blow up the British Parliament in 1605. It is not an official holiday in Britain, but the evening is celebrated all over the country. Large towns have public firework displays, and many people have their own bonfires and firework parties. A model of a man representing Guy Fawkes, called a "guy", is burned on bonfires. Groups of children make their own guys in early November and display them on the street, asking passers-by for "a penny for the guy."

bongo ['bɒŋɡəʊ] (pl bongos OR bongoes) n a bongo (drum) one of two small connected drums that one hits with one's hands.

Bonn [bɒn] a city in western Germany that was the capital of West Germany from 1949 to 1990. POPULATION: 287,117.

bonnet ['bɒnət] n -1. CLOTHING a hat that is worn by a woman or a baby and is tied under the chin. -2. GB AUTO a metal lid at the front of a car that usually covers the engine.

Bonnie and Clyde [ˌbɒniəndˈklaɪd] the nicknames of Bonnie Parker (1911–1934) and Clyde Barrow (1909–1934), two US criminals who committed many robberies and murders.

Bonnie Prince Charlie [ˌbɒnɪprɪnsˈtʃɑːli] (1720–1788) a Scottish prince, Charles Edward Stuart, who claimed he had a right to be the British king. He led a rebellion in Scotland, but was defeated by English forces and escaped to France.

bonsai [US ˌbɒnˈsaɪ, GB ˈbɒnsaɪ] (pl bonsai) n a tree or shrub that is grown in a small pot and prevented from growing to its normal size.

bonus ['bɒnəs] (pl bonuses) n -1. an extra amount of money received in addition to one's normal pay □ We got a bonus for finishing ahead of schedule. -2. an additional pleasure or advantage □ It was a real bonus that you were able to come with me.

bonus issue n GB FINANCE a free issue of extra shares to people who already own some.

bony ['bɒni] (compar bonier, superl boniest) adj -1. [person, hand, face] that is so thin that the bones can be seen. -2. [fish, meat] that is full of bones.

boo [buː] (pl boos) ◇ excl a sudden loud sound made to surprise or frighten somebody. ◇ n a long shout used to express disapproval, usually of a speaker or performer □ The announcement was greeted with boos from the audience. ◇ vt [speaker, performance, decision] to express one's disapproval of <sb/sthg> by shouting the word "boo". ◇ vi [audience] Whenever he came on stage, everyone booed.

boobs [buːbz] npl a woman's breasts (informal use).

boob tube n US the boob tube the television (informal and humorous use).

booby prize ['buːbiː] n a prize that is given as a joke to the person who comes last in a race or competition.

booby trap n -1. a hidden bomb. -2. a harmless trap for somebody that is intended as a practical joke.

◆ booby-trap vt [building, car] to place a hidden bomb inside <sthg>.

book [bʊk] ◇ n -1. [for reading] a number of pages fastened together at one end and fixed inside a cover of stronger paper, cardboard, or plastic, to be used for writing in or reading □ a book about OR on space travel □ a history/science/gardening book □ a book of essays/short stories. ■ to do sthg by the book to do sthg according to the rules. ■ to throw the book at sb to use every possible rule, law etc in order to charge or punish sb as severely as possible. -2. [of checks, tickets,

- matches] a number of things fastened together at one end and fixed inside a cover.
- ◇ vt -1. [ticket, room, seat] to arrange in advance to have <sthg> available for oneself or somebody else on a particular occasion □ I'd like to book a table for seven (people). □ I've booked you on an early flight. ■ to be fully booked [restaurant, hotel] to have no tables, rooms etc available because they have all been reserved. -2. [performer, speaker] to arrange in advance for <sb> to appear on a particular occasion □ We've booked a band for the evening. -3. [driver] to take the name, address etc of <sb who has committed an offense> in order to charge them □ I was booked for dangerous driving. -4. GB SOCCER to take the name of , e.g. because of a serious foul, so that there is a record of it. ◇ vi to book a ticket, room, seat etc □ Book early to avoid disappointment.
- ◆ books npl BUSINESS the accounts or financial records of a company or organization. ■ to do the books to keep or check the accounts. ■ to be in sb's good/bad books to be liked/disliked by sb because of something one has done.
- ◆ book in GB ◇ vt sep to book sb in [guest] to reserve a room for sb at a hotel. ◇ vi [guest] to report one's arrival at a hotel □ Mrs White booked in this morning.
- ◆ book up vt sep to be booked up [restaurant, theater, hotel] to have no tables, seats, rooms etc available because they have all been reserved □ We are booked up until the end of August.
- book bag n US = booksack.
- bookbinding ['bukbaɪndɪŋ] n the work or art of fastening the pages of books together and putting covers on them.
- bookcase ['bukkeɪs] n a piece of furniture with shelves for keeping books on.
- book club n a club that sells books to its members at reduced prices, usually by mail order.
- bookends ['bukendz] npl a pair of supports placed at either end of a row of books to hold them upright.
- Booker Prize ['bukəʊr] n the Booker Prize an important British literary prize, given every year for the best novel by a writer from Britain or the British Commonwealth.
- bookie ['bukɪ] n a bookmaker.
- booking ['bukɪŋ] n GB -1. [for a seat, room] an arrangement for something to be available to use at a particular time, e.g. a hotel room or theater seat □ I'd like to make a booking in the name of Stevens. -2. SPORT in soccer, the act of taking a player's name and keeping a record of it because they have broken a rule of the game □ One more booking and he'll be sent off.
- booking clerk n GB a person who works in a booking office.
- booking office n GB an office, especially at a train or bus station or a theater, where tickets are sold and reservations can be made.
- bookish ['bukɪʃ] adj [person] who likes reading and studying; whose knowledge comes from books rather than from life.
- bookkeeper ['bukki:pəʊ] n a person whose job is to keep a record of the money spent and received by a business.
- bookkeeping ['bukki:pɪŋ] n the work of a bookkeeper.
- booklet ['buklət] n a small book, usually in a soft cover, that gives information about something.
- bookmaker ['bukmeɪkə] n a person whose job is to accept bets on a race, competition etc and to pay money to winners.
- bookmark ['bukmɑ:k] n a piece of leather, card, or plastic that is put between the pages of a book so that the reader can find the page again easily.
- booksack ['bʊksæk] n US a bag used by schoolchildren for carrying their books, pens etc.
- bookseller ['bukselə] n a person whose job is to sell books.
- bookshelf ['bukʃelf] (pl bookshelves) n a shelf for keeping books on.
- bookshop ['bukʃɒp] n = bookstore.
- bookstall ['bukstɔ:l] n GB a stand or kiosk that sells books, newspapers, magazines etc.
- bookstore ['bukstɔ:ʔ] n US a shop that sells books.
- book token n GB a card that contains a voucher which is bought as a present or prize and can be used to buy a book.
- bookworm ['bukwɜ:m] n a person who spends a lot of time reading (humorous use).
- boom [bu:m] ◇ n -1. [of thunder, guns] a loud deep sound, like that of thunder, that lasts for a few seconds □ the distant boom of artillery fire. -2. [in sales, a market, the economy] a fast growth or increase in something such as the economy or population □ There's been a boom in tourism and leisure. □ the boom which followed the recession □ an economic boom □ a population boom □ The video craze was enjoying a boom period. -3. SAILING [of a boat] a long pole which the bottom of a sail is attached to. -4. [for a microphone, camera] a long pole which a microphone or camera is attached to. ◇ vi -1. to boom (out) [gun, thunder] to make a boom □ The teacher's voice boomed out. -2. to be booming [business, economy] to be very successful □ Sales are booming.
- boomerang ['bu:məʊræŋ] n a curved stick that was first used by Australian Aborigines for hunting and that returns to the person who throws it.
- boon [bu:n] n something that is very helpful or useful □ My new dishwasher is a real boon.
- Boone [bu:n], Daniel (1735–1820) a US pioneer who explored Kentucky and became a national hero.
- boor [buə] n a boorish person.
- boorish ['buəriʃ] adj [person, behavior] that seems rude, unpleasant, and insensitive.
- boost [bu:st] ◇ n -1. [to profits, production, popularity) a sudden large increase in something □ Productivity needs a boost if we want to achieve our target for the year. -2. [to spirits, morale] an improvement in something that comes from encouragement □ Winning the competition gave my confidence a much-needed boost. ◇ vt -1. [profits, production, speed] to increase <sthg> by a sudden large amount or degree. -2. [confidence, morale, spirits] to improve <sthg> by giving encouragement.

booster ['bu:stəʃ] n MEDICINE an extra injection of a vaccine that is given some time after the first one in order to make sure that it remains effective □ a booster jab.

booster seat n a padded support fitted onto a car seat to enable a child to travel more safely and comfortably.

boot [bu:t] ◇ n -1. CLOTHING a heavy shoe that reaches above one's ankle and is worn to protect one's feet, e.g. from bad weather or rough ground; a lighter shoe of similar shape and length that is worn as a fashion item □ a pair of boots. -2. GB SPORT a special strong shoe that is worn when playing some sports □ football/rugby boots. -3. GB AUTO [of a car] an enclosed space at the back of a car for carrying luggage. ◇ vt -1. to kick <sthg> (informal use). -2. COMPUTING to start .

◆ to boot adv as well (old-fashioned or humorous use) □ She's a first-class manager and a gifted linguist to boot.

◆ boot out vt sep to boot sb out to force sb to leave a job, organization, event etc (informal use) □ He was booted out of the club for violent behavior.

◆ boot up vi [computer] to start working by loading the operating instructions.

boot camp n a training camp for people who have just joined the US armed forces.

booth [bu:ð] n -1. [at a fair] a tent or stall where things are sold or entertainment is offered. -2. [in a restaurant] a small enclosed or partly enclosed space that is reserved for a particular activity □ a voting booth □ 'Please go to the next booth.'

Booth [bu:ð], John Wilkes (1839–1865) a US actor and Confederate supporter who killed President Lincoln.

bootleg ['bu:tleg] adj bootleg whiskey/a bootleg recording etc whiskey/a recording etc that is made and sold illegally.

bootlegger ['bu:tlegəʃ] n a person who makes and sells something illegally, especially alcohol or recordings.

booty ['bu:tɪ] n valuable objects taken from a defeated enemy or stolen by pirates, robbers etc.

booze [bu:z] (informal use) ◇ n alcohol. ◇ vi to drink alcohol, especially a large amount.

border ['bɔ:rdəʃ] ◇ n -1. [of a country] a line separating the territory of two different countries □ They crossed the border into India. □ the Swiss-Italian border □ the Belgian/German border □ a border guard/post/town □ a border dispute. -2. [of a dress, plate] a strip, band, pattern etc along or around the edge of something □ white with a red border. -3. [of a lake, field] the edge of something. -4. [of a garden, path] a narrow flowerbed along the edge of a garden or path. ◇ vt -1. to have the same border as  □ Gambia is bordered on three sides by Senegal. -2. [plate, lake, garden] to form the edge of <sthg> □ a field bordered by trees.

◆ Borders: the Borders a part of southern Scotland close to the border with England, known for its attractive scenery.

◆ border on vt fus to border on sthg to be almost the same as sthg □ Their support bordered on fanaticism.

Border collie n a dog with a black-and-white coat that is used as a sheepdog.

borderline ['bɔ:rdə'laɪn] ◇ adj that is close to the dividing line between two states or categories and so could be in one or the other □ a borderline pass/failure □ He's very much a borderline case. ◇ n -1. the dividing line between two different states or categories □ It's on the borderline between good taste and bad taste. -2. a border between two countries.

bore [bɔ:ɪ] ◇ past tense of bear. ◇ n -1. a person, task etc that one finds boring □ Office parties can be such a bore. -2. [of a hole, tube] the diameter of the inside of something, especially of the barrel of a gun □ a twelve-bore shotgun. ◇ vt -1. to make <sb> feel bored □ Am I boring you? ■ to bore sb stiff OR to tears OR to death to make sb feel very bored □ They bored us all to death with their holiday photos. -2. to drill  in something.

bored [bɔ:ɪd] adj [person] who is tired, impatient, or irritable because they have lost interest or because they have nothing to do □ I'm bored with my work/colleagues.

boredom ['bɔ:ɪdəm] n the state of being bored □ He got involved in crime out of sheer boredom.

boring ['bɔ:ɪŋ] adj [person, job] that is dull and uninteresting □ It gets kind of boring when you hear the same story over and over again.

born [bɔ:ɪn] adj -1. to be born [baby] to come out of one's mother's body □ I was born in 1965. □ She was born blind. ■ born and bred as a result of where one was born, or the kind of family one belongs to □ He's a Californian/a Baptist born and bred. -2. a born cook/leader etc a very good cook/leader etc.

born-again adj a born-again Christian a person who has joined a Christian church which believes that everything in the Bible is completely true.

borne [bɔ:ɪn] past participle of bear.

Borneo ['bɔ:ɪniəʊ] a large island in the western Pacific, divided between Malaysia and Brunei in the north, and Indonesia in the south.

borough [US 'bɔ:riəʊ, GB 'bʌrə] n a town or a district of a large city that has certain powers of local government.

borough council n the organization responsible for local government in a borough.

borrow ['bɒrəʊ] vt to take or use <sthg> that

- belongs to somebody else> for a period of time with their permission □ I had to borrow $100 from my sister to pay the bill.
- borrower ['bɒrəʊə] n a person who borrows money.
- borrowing ['bɒrɔɪŋ] n the amount of money that an organization borrows □ government borrowing from banks.
- borstal ['bɔ:stl] n GB a place where young offenders are sent when they are too young to go to prison (old-fashioned use).
- Bosnia ['bɒznɪə] = Bosnia-Herzegovina.
- Bosnia-Herzegovina [US -,hertsəgə'vi:nə, GB -,hɜ:ts-] a country in southeastern Europe, between Croatia, Serbia, and Montenegro. After a civil war, which ended in 1995, it was divided into two parts, the Federation of Bosnia-Herzegovina and the Republika Srpska.
- Bosnian ['bɒznɪən] adj & n: see Bosnia-Herzegovina.
- bosom ['buzəm] n -1. [of a woman] a woman's breasts (old-fashioned use). -2. to be in the bosom of sthg [of a family, community, organization] to be with the other members of sthg so that one feels safe and accepted □ She's back in the bosom of the family now. ■ a bosom friend a very close friend.
- Bosporus ['bɒspərəs], Bosphorus ['bɒsfərəs]: the Bosporus the channel of water between European and Asian Turkey.
- boss [bɒs] ◇ n [of a company, department, family] the person who is in charge in a business, group of people etc □ All right, you're the boss, we'll do it your way. □ media bosses. ■ to be one's own boss to be self-employed; to be free to make one's own decisions, do as one likes etc. ◇ vt = boss about.
- ◆ boss about, boss around vt sep to boss sb about OR around to give orders to sb in a way that suggests one is in a position of authority (disapproving use) □ Don't let the senior members boss you around.
- bossy ['bɒsi] (compar bossier, superl bossiest) adj [person] who likes taking control and giving orders (disapproving use).
- Boston ['bɒstən] a city and port in the north-eastern USA. POPULATION: 574,283.
- Boston Tea Party n the Boston Tea Party a protest in 1773 by colonists in Boston, Massachusetts, which led to the American Revolution. The colonists threw a cargo of tea into the harbor because they felt it was unfair that they had to pay tax to the British on tea.
- bosun ['bɒsn] n = boatswain.
- botanic(al) [bə'tænɪk(l)] adj [drawing, science, book] that is connected with plants.
- botanical garden n a garden in which plants that are rare, exotic, or interesting to scientists are grown and displayed.
- botanist ['bɒtənəst] n a person who studies plants.
- botany ['bɒtəni] n the part of biology concerned with the scientific study of plants.
- botch [bɒtʃ] (informal use) vt to do <sthg> badly.
- ◆ botch up vt sep to botch sthg up to botch sthg.
- Botany Bay a bay in New South Wales, Australia, where the British captain, James Cook, first landed.
- both [bəʊθ] ◇ det & predet both (the) houses the two houses that are being discussed □ Both her parents are French. □ Answer both (the) questions. ◇ pron I like both (of them) I like the two people, things etc being considered □ We both OR Both of us left. □ They were both unhappy.
- ◆ both...and... conj as well as □ Both my brother and I will be there. □ She is both smart and hard-working.
- bother ['bɒðə] ◇ vt -1. to upset <sb> slightly □ Does it bother you that I've been married before? ■ I/she etc can't be bothered to do it GB I/she etc won't do it, because it would take too much time and effort □ I wish I hadn't bothered to come. -2. to cause <sb> to feel pain □ My back is still bothering me. -3. to annoy <sb> □ It really bothers me that they haven't replied to our letters. -4. to disturb <sb> □ Does the noise bother you? □ I'm sorry to bother you, but could you help me? □ He keeps bothering me with technical questions. ◇ vi to take time and effort to do something □ "Shall I give you a receipt?" — "No, don't bother." □ He didn't bother to lock up. □ Don't bother asking for more money, you won't get any. □ He never bothers about what other people think. ◇ n -1. trouble □ It's no bother. □ I don't want to put you to OR cause you any bother. -2. an annoying person or thing □ I don't want to be a bother.
- bothered ['bɒðə'd] adj to be bothered to be worried □ I'm more bothered about how she must be feeling.
- Botswana [bɒt'swɑ:nə] a country in southern Africa. SIZE: 570,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,300,000 (Botswanans). CAPITAL: Gaborone. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: pula.
- Botticelli [bɒtət'selɪ], Sandro (1444–1510) an Italian artist who was one of the earliest Renaissance painters. His works include The Birth of Venus and Primavera.
- bottle ['bɒtl] ◇ n -1. a container for liquids, usually with a narrow part at the top and no handle, that is made of glass or plastic □ a wine/beer bottle. -2. [of water, wine] the amount contained in a bottle □ We drank three bottles of wine. -3. [for feeding babies] a small container used for feeding milk or other liquids to a baby. ◇ vt -1. to put drink into bottles. -2. to put <fruit> into sealed glass jars to preserve it.
- ◆ bottle up vt sep [anger, grief] to keep <one's feelings> inside one's mind and hidden from other people □ His problem is that he bottles everything up.
- bottle bank n GB a large container for collecting glass to be recycled.
- bottled ['bɒtlɪd] adj bottled water/beer etc water/beer etc that is kept or sold in bottles.

■ bottled gas gas that is kept in metal containers that can be moved easily.

bottle-feed vt to feed  milk from a bottle rather than from its mother's breast.

bottleneck ['bɒtlnek] n -1. AUTO a narrow or obstructed section of a road that causes the flow of traffic to stop or become slow. -2. a part of a process, system, production line etc that is less efficient than other parts and causes delays □ Lack of staff can create bottlenecks in processing paperwork.

bottle-opener n a small tool for removing the caps from bottles.

bottle shop n AUS a liquor store.

bottom ['bɒtəm] ◇ adj -1. the bottom floor/shelf/step etc the lowest floor/shelf/step etc □ The towels are in the bottom drawer. -2. to be bottom [student] to get the lowest marks □ I was always bottom in physics.

◇ n -1. the bottom the lowest part of something □ Could you sign it at the bottom? □ She was waiting at the bottom of the stairs. -2. the bottom [of a garden, street, field] the part of something that is at the farthest end □ We walked to the bottom of the road. -3. the bottom [of a range, class, organization] the least successful or least important part of something □ She started at the bottom and worked her way up. -4. [of a person] the part of one's body on which one sits. -5. to be at the bottom of sthg to be the cause of sthg □ Who's at the bottom of all this? ■ to get to the bottom of sthg to discover the cause of or the truth about sthg □ We haven't yet been able to get to the bottom of how the fire started.

◆ bottom out vi [prices, recession] to reach the lowest point after a period of continuous decline.

bottomless ['bɒtəmləs] adj -1. [pit, well] that seems very deep. -2. [supply, fund] that seems to have no limit.

bottom line n the bottom line the most important factor, question, result etc □ The bottom line is, will the product sell?

botulism ['bɒtjʊlɪzəm] n a serious type of food poisoning caused by eating canned or chilled food that has gone bad.

Boudicca [US bu:'dikə, GB 'bu:dɪkə] (died 61 AD) Queen of an ancient British people, who led a large army and defeated the Romans in several battles.

bough [bau] n a main branch of a tree.

bought [bɔ:t] past tense & past participle of buy.

bouillon cube ['bu:ʃjɒn] n US a small piece of dried meat and vegetable juices that is added to hot water to make a stock for cooking.

boulder ['bouldə] n a big rock.

boulevard [US 'buləvɑ:d, GB 'bu:ləvɑ:d] n a wide street, often lined with trees, in a town.

bounce [baʊns] ◇ vi -1. [ball, object] to spring away again after hitting a surface □ The ball bounced off a tree. -2. [light, sound waves] to be reflected back from a surface □ The radio sig- nals bounce off the satellite. -3. to bounce on sthg [on a bed, sofa, trampoline] to jump up and down on sthg □ The children were bouncing up and down on the bed. -4. [person] to move energetically and in a lively happy way □ She came bouncing into the room. -5. [check] to be refused as payment by a bank, because there is not enough money in the account of the person who wrote it.

◇ vt -1. to make  etc spring back off a surface □ He bounced the ball off the wall. ■ to bounce ideas off sb to tell sb one's ideas in order to get their opinion.

◇ n -1. [of a ball] the quality of bouncing well □ The ball has lost its bounce. -2. [of a person] liveliness □ She's full of bounce.

◆ bounce back vi to return quickly and successfully to one's former activities after an illness or setback □ I'm amazed at the way Rose managed to bounce back after her illness.

bouncer ['baʊnsə] n a man employed by a nightclub, dance hall etc to prevent unwelcome people from entering.

bouncy ['baʊnsɪ] (compar bouncier, superl bounciest) adj -1. [person] who is lively and enthusiastic □ She came in, all bouncy and ready to go. -2. [ball] that bounces well □ This ball's not very bouncy.

bound [baʊnd] ◇ past tense & past participle of bind.

◇ adj -1. to be bound to do sthg [person, situation] to be certain to do sthg, especially because it is usual or expected □ Interest rates are bound to go up again. □ Spending such long periods apart is bound to put a strain on a relationship. □ You're bound to feel anxious about the results. -2. to be bound to do sthg [person] to have to do sthg for e.g. legal or moral reasons □ They are bound by the treaty to take action. □ I feel bound to warn you of the possible pitfalls. □ I'm bound to say, I disagree. -3. to be bound for a place [person, train, plane] to be traveling toward a place □ on a plane bound for Tokyo.

◇ n an energetic jump □ With a single bound he was beside her.

◇ vt to be bounded by sthg [by a river, wall] to have sthg as its boundary □ a country bounded on two sides by the sea.

◇ vi to run with energetic jumps □ The dog bounded up to her.

◆ bounds npl limits □ It's not beyond/outside the bounds of possibility. □ We're trying to keep spending within bounds. ■ to be out of bounds [area, building] to be a place that people are not allowed to enter □ The castle gardens are out of bounds to visitors.

◆ bound up with prep closely connected with <sb/sthg> □ His feelings of insecurity are bound up with his fear of rejection.

-bound suffix added to a word to mean traveling in a particular direction □ northbound traffic.

boundary ['baʊndrɪ] (pl boundaries) n -1. the line that divides one area of land from another □ The river forms the boundary between the two farms. -2. the limit of something, e.g. a science or area of knowledge □ pushing back the boundaries of physics.

boundless ['baʊndləs] adj [energy, wealth] that has no limits □ Such boundless optimism!

bountiful ['baʊntɪfl] adj [supply, harvest] large (literary use).

bounty ['baʊntɪ] n generosity (literary use).

bouquet [bu'keɪ] n -1. a bunch of flowers, specially arranged to be presented as a gift or held by a bride □ She was presented with a bouquet of flowers. -2. the pleasant smell of a wine or liqueur.

bouquet garni [-gɑ:'fɪni:] n a bunch of mixed herbs tied together and used in cooking.

bourbon ['bɜ:'bɒn] n a type of American whiskey.

bourgeois ['bʊəʒ'wɔ:] adj [person] who belongs to the bourgeoisie (disapproving use) □ He's become so bourgeois since he got married. □ bourgeois attitudes.

bourgeoisie [,bʊəʒ'wɔ:'zi:] n the bourgeoisie the middle class, especially when considered to be politically conservative and too concerned with money and possessions (disapproving use).

bout [baʊt] n -1. [of illness] a short period of illness □ a bout of the flu. -2. [of activity] a short period of a particular activity □ a bout of drinking/writing. -3. SPORT a boxing or wrestling match.

boutique [bu:'ti:k] n a small store, especially one that sells fashionable clothes.

boutonniere [US ,bʊ:tnɪ'r, GB bu,tɒnɪ'eə] n US a flower worn on the lapel of a jacket.

bow¹ [baʊ] ◇ vt to bend <one's head> forward □ They bowed their heads in shame/prayer. ◇ vi -1. to bend one's head and upper body forward, usually to show respect or gratitude □ He bowed to her when the dance was over. -2. to bow to sthg [to pressure, somebody's judgment, one's fate] to agree to accept sthg or to act according to sthg □ I bow to your superior knowledge. ◇ n -1. the act of bowing □ The actors took several bows following the performance. -2. the front part of a ship or boat.

◆ bow down vi to bow very low, usually as a sign of respect.

◆ bow out vi to leave a position or stop taking part in something □ The company president is bowing out next year.

bow² [baʊ] n -1. [for arrows] a weapon for shooting arrows that consists of a long, curved, flexible piece of wood with a string joining the two ends □ a bow and arrow. -2. MUSIC a long thin piece of wood with horsehair stretched along it, used for playing the violin, cello etc. -3. [in a ribbon] a knot with two loops, used for tying shoelaces, hair ribbons etc, and as decoration on packages □ She tied the laces in a neat bow.

bowels ['baʊəlz] npl -1. the tubes below the stomach that carry waste food out of the body. -2. the deep, often mysterious, interior of e.g. a big building or machine □ a cavern deep in the bowels of the earth.

Bowery ['baʊəri]: the Bowery an area in New York City known for its cheap hotels and bars.

bowl [baʊl] ◇ n -1. a deep round dish or container that curves upward at the sides and is open at the top □ sugar/soup bowl. -2. the amount of food or liquid contained in a bowl □ a bowl of rice/soup. -3. the part of a toilet or sink, or of a smoker's pipe, that is shaped like a bowl. ◇ vi CRICKET to throw <the ball> toward the batsman. ◇ vi CRICKET He's bowling well today.

◆ bowls n a game in which players roll big wooden balls across smooth grass toward a smaller ball. The aim is to get the large ball as close as possible to the small one □ a game of bowls.

◆ bowl over vt sep -1. to bowl sb over to knock sb down, usually by running into them. -2. to be bowled over to be very surprised, impressed, or pleased □ I was completely bowled over by the news.

bow-legged [US 'bəʊlegəd, GB ,bəʊ'legəd] adj [person] who has legs that curve outwards at the knees.

bowler ['bəʊlə] n -1. CRICKET a player who bowls. -2. a bowler (hat) a man's hat made of stiff black material with a rounded top and small brim.

bowling ['bəʊlɪŋ] n an indoor game in which players roll a big heavy ball down a long strip, with the aim of knocking down as many skittles as possible at the other end.

bowling alley n -1. a building where the game of bowling is played. -2. the long narrow strip along which the ball is rolled in bowling.

bowling green n a smooth area of short grass for playing bowls.

bow tie [,bəʊ-] n a tie that is tied in the shape of a bow and is worn by men, e.g. on formal occasions.

bow window [,bəʊ-] n a curved window that sticks out from a straight wall.

box [bɒks] ◇ n -1. a container that has straight sides and often has a lid □ a wooden/cardboard box □ a tool box. -2. the amount that a box contains □ We ate a whole box of chocolates. -3. THEATER a small enclosed area with a few seats that is separated from the rest of the audience. -4. [on a form] a square or rectangular space on a form in which one has to write something □ Put a cross in the appropriate box. -5. the box the television (informal use) □ What's on the box tonight? -6. [plant] an evergreen tree with small dark leaves, often used to make hedges.

◇ vi to fight using one's fists, usually in a boxing match.

◆ box in vt sep -1. to box a person/vehicle in to surround a person/vehicle so that they cannot move any further or faster □ The car was boxed in between two vans. -2. to box sthg in [pipe, cable, machinery] to cover sthg by building a box around it.

boxed [bɒkst] adj that is sold in a box □ a boxed set of Louis Armstrong records.

boxer ['bɒksəʃ] n -1. somebody who boxes as a sport or profession. -2. a large short-haired dog with a flat nose.

boxer shorts npl loose shorts worn as underwear by men.

boxing ['bɒksɪŋ] n a sport in which two men fight each other using their fists.

Boxing Day n December 26, a public holiday in Britain.

boxing gloves npl big padded gloves worn by boxers.

boxing ring n a square area with ropes around the sides, used for boxing matches.

box junction n GB an area at an intersection, marked with crossed yellow lines, that cars may not enter until their exit is clear.

box lunch n US a lunch that one prepares at home and takes to school, work etc in a lunchbox.

box number n a number used as a postal address □ reply to Box no. 218.

box office n the part of a theater or movie theater where tickets are sold.

boxroom ['bɒksru:m] n GB a small room in a house, usually used for storage.

boy [bɔɪ] ◇ n -1. a male child □ when I was a boy. -2. a young man □ She met a really nice boy at the party. -3. a son □ We have two boys.

-4. the boys one's male friends (informal use) □ He's out drinking with the boys. ◇ excl (oh) boy! a phrase used to show excitement or admiration (informal use).

boycott ['bɔɪkɒt] ◇ n an act of protest in which people refuse to do something, e.g. to buy goods made by a particular manufacturer or country, or to visit a particular place □ The boycott of South African goods ended with the election. ◇ vt to refuse to do <sthg>, e.g. buy goods or go to an event, as a form of protest □ We decided to boycott the meeting.

boyfriend ['bɔɪfrend] n -1. a man or boy who is somebody's friend. -2. a man who somebody has a romantic or sexual relationship with □ Have you met her new boyfriend?

boyish ['bɔɪʃ] adj -1. [man] who looks or acts like a boy □ a boyish charm. -2. [woman] who looks like a boy □ her boyish figure.

Boys' Brigade n the Boys' Brigade a British Christian organization for boys that aims to encourage discipline and self-respect.

Boy Scout n a boy who belongs to an organization for boys between the ages of 11 and 16 that teaches them outdoor skills and how to be a good citizen.

Bp abbr of bishop.

bps (abbr of bits per second) a way of measuring the speed that information is sent using a modem.

Br RELIGION abbr of brother.

bra [brɑ:] n a piece of underwear that women wear to support their breasts.

brace [breɪs] (pl sense 3 brace) ◇ n -1. [for teeth] a piece of wire worn over the teeth to straighten them □ She wears a brace. -2. [for a leg] a metal frame attached to a weak leg to give extra support. -3. [of birds] two things, especially game birds, of the same kind □ a brace of pheasants. ◇ vt -1. to brace oneself to steady oneself, e.g. in order to avoid falling □ Brace yourselves, we're going to make an emergency landing. -2. to brace oneself to prepare oneself for something unpleasant □ Brace yourself for some bad news.

◆ braces npl -1. US [for teeth] = brace. -2. GB two straps that are attached to the front and back of a pair of trousers and worn over the shoulders to hold the trousers up.

bracelet ['breɪslət] n a piece of jewelry worn around the wrist.

bracing ['breɪsɪŋ] adj [air, climate] that is refreshing, usually because it is cool and windy □ a bracing sea breeze.

bracken ['brækən] n a type of fern that grows on hills and in forests.

bracket ['brækət] ◇ n -1. an L-shaped support attached to a wall to hold up a shelf. -2. a group of people considered as a set, e.g. because they are the same age or earn the same amount of money □ the 20–25 age bracket □ the high/low income bracket. ◇ vt -1. to put brackets around <words, figures> etc. -2. to bracket sb/sthg with sb/sthg to include sb/sthg in the same group or category as sb/sthg else □ Why bracket together two such different companies?

◆ brackets npl a pair of symbols, usually curved, used in writing to show that the information between them is not part of the main text. In the sentence "Jim (my brother) and I", "my brother" is in brackets □ He added a few comments in brackets. □ The phonetics are in square brackets.

brackish ['brækɪʃ] adj [water] that is not fresh and is slightly salty.

brag [bræg] (pt & pp bragged, cont bragging) vi to boast □ He's always bragging about how much he earns.

Brahms [bra:mz], Johannes (1833–1897) a German composer whose works include four symphonies and a violin concerto.

braid [breɪd] ◇ n -1. narrow pieces of cloth or thread used to decorate curtains or uniforms. -2. a length of hair that has been divided into three sections, twisted together, and tied at the end. ◇ vt to make a braid from <three sections of hair>.

braille [breɪl] n a system of printing that uses raised dots to represent letters so that blind people can read by touching them □ written in braille □ Do you read braille?

brain [breɪn] n -1. the organ in one's head that controls thought and the actions of the rest of the body □ brain damage □ a brain surgeon. -2. intelligence □ She's got a good brain. ■ to have sthg on the brain to think about sthg very often (informal use) □ He's got sex on the brain. -3. an intelligent person (informal use).

◆ brains npl intelligence □ If you had any brains, you'd realize it was a waste of time. ■ to pick sb's brains to ask sb for special advice or information (informal use) □ Can I pick your brains about something? ■ to cudgel US OR rack one's

- brains to think very hard □ I've been cudgeling my brains, but I can't think of anyone who could help you.
- brainchild ['breɪntʃaɪld] n somebody's invention, idea, or plan (informal use).
- brain death n a condition in which the brain has stopped functioning while the body is kept alive by medical equipment.
- brain drain n the brain drain the movement of skilled professional people to other countries where they are offered better salaries or conditions.
- brainless ['breɪnləs] adj [person, idea, behavior] stupid.
- brainstorm ['breɪnstɔːrɪm] n US = brainwave.
- brainstorming ['breɪnstɔːrɪmɪŋ] n an activity in which a group of people meet to solve a problem or develop a project by thinking of new ideas and discussing them □ a brainstorming session.
- brainteaser ['breɪntiːzə] n a difficult mental puzzle.
- brainwash ['breɪnwɒʃ] vt to make <sb> believe something, e.g. by using force or stopping them from thinking about anything else □ Advertisements can brainwash people into buying virtually anything.
- brainwave ['breɪnweɪv] n a sudden brilliant idea.
- brainy ['breɪni] (compar brainier, superl brainiest) adj [person] who one thinks is intelligent (informal use).
- braise [breɪz] vt [meat, vegetable] to cook <food> by frying it, then covering it and cooking it slowly in a little liquid.
- brake [breɪk] ◇ n -1. a device on a vehicle or bicycle used to slow or stop it □ Release the brake slowly. -2. something that slows down or limits something □ High interest rates acted as a brake on mortgage lending. ◇ vi [driver] to use the brakes in order to slow down or stop a vehicle □ I had to brake quickly to avoid the dog.
- brake horsepower n the power of an engine measured by its resistance to a brake.
- brake light n one of the red lights at the back of a motor vehicle that indicate that the driver is braking.
- brake pedal n the pedal in a motor vehicle that one presses to make the brakes work.
- brake shoe n a curved metal plate that presses against the wheel of a motor vehicle when the brake is used.
- brambles ['bræmblz] npl wild prickly bushes that produce blackberries.
- bran [bræn] n the outer coverings of grains of wheat, oats etc that are left behind when flour is made and are often used as added fiber in breakfast cereals, bread etc.
- branch [US bræntʃ, GB brɑːntʃ] ◇ n -1. [of a tree] a part of a tree that grows out from the trunk and often has leaves, flowers, or other smaller branches growing from it □ Kit climbed up and sat on one of the branches. -2. [of a river] a small part of a river or railroad that leads off from the main part. -3. [of a company] a local office of a large company or organization □ The traveler's checks will be ready for collection at your local branch. □ a branch manager. -4. [within an organization] a part of a government or large organization that is responsible for a particular area of work □ the research branch of the company. -5. [of a subject] a particular part of a science or an academic subject □ a new branch of medical science.
- ◇ vi [road, river] to divide into two parts that go in different directions □ The road branches after about a mile.
- ◆ branch off vi [person, road, path] to go in a different direction from the main road or track □ I branched off from the main road and cut through the forest.
- ◆ branch out vi to add something different to one's normal business, interests, or activities □ The savings banks are branching out into small business loans.
- brand [brænd] ◇ n -1. BUSINESS a variety of a product that is made by a particular manufacturer □ What brand of butter/coffee/detergent do you buy? □ brand image/loyalty. -2. a brand of humor/politics etc a particular type or style of humor/politics etc □ I don't like his brand of journalism. -3. [on an animal] a mark made on an animal, usually by burning part of its skin, to show who the owner is. ◇ vt -1. to mark <an animal>, usually by burning part of its skin, in order to show who the owner is. -2. to give <sb> a bad reputation □ He was branded a traitor/coward. □ They tend to brand all young people as hooligans.
- brandish ['brændɪʃ] vt [stick, sword] to hold or wave <sth>, especially in a threatening way □ He came in brandishing a gun.
- brand name n the name of a particular brand of product.
- brand-new adj [car, house, coat] completely new and not used □ Try not to spill wine on my brand-new carpet.
- brandy ['brændɪ] (pl brandies) n a strong alcoholic drink, usually made from wine □ A large brandy, please.
- brash [bræʃ] adj [person] who is very self-confident and speaks loudly (disapproving use) □ He still has the brash confidence of youth.
- brass [US bræs, GB brɑːs] n -1. a bright yellow metal made by mixing copper and zinc and used for making ornaments and musical instruments □ a brass doorknob/button. -2. MUSIC the brass a section of an orchestra consisting of all the players of instruments made of brass, e.g. the trumpets and horns.
- brass band n MUSIC a band consisting of brass instruments.
- brasserie [US bræsə'riː, GB 'bræsəri] n a café that serves snacks, light meals, and alcoholic drinks.
- brassiere [US brə'zɪr, GB 'bræzɪə] n = bra (formal use).
- brass knuckles npl US a piece of metal with holes in it that fits over the knuckles and is used as a weapon.

brass rubbing n the process of making a picture by placing paper over an engraved piece of brass and rubbing the paper with a crayon so that the engraving is copied onto it; a picture that is made in this way.

brass tacks npl to get down to brass tacks to start talking about or dealing with the really important facts or business (informal use).

brat [bræt] n an unpleasant or badly-behaved child (informal use) □ What a nasty little brat!

bravado [brə'vɑ:dou] n a show of courage or confidence that is often false and designed to impress other people □ Buying all those shares was just an act of bravado.

brave [breiv] ◇ adj [person] who is not afraid to face danger, discomfort, or difficulty □ a brave decision. □ It was very brave of you to come here alone. ◇ n a Native American warrior. ◇ vt to risk or face <sthg difficult or dangerous> □ He braved his family's displeasure by branching out into novel-writing.

bravely ['breivli] adv [fight, continue] see brave □ She bravely spoke out against her attackers.

bravery ['breivəri] n brave actions □ a medal/an award for bravery.

bravo ['brɑ:vou] excl a word that people shout to show their admiration and approval of somebody's performance □ There were cries of "bravo!" from the audience.

brawl [brɔ:l] n a noisy fight, often involving more than two people.

brawn [brɔ:n] n physical strength □ He's all brawn and no brain.

brawny ['brɔ:ni] (compar brawnier, superl brawn-iest) adj [person, arm] that is strong and muscular.

bray [brei] vi [donkey] to make a loud harsh cry.

brazen ['breizn] adj [person] who shows no shame and is not afraid of what other people think of them □ a brazen lie.

◆ brazen out vt sep to brazen it out to face criticism, blame etc without shame or embarrassment.

brazier [US 'breizɹ, GB -zjə] n a container for burning coal or charcoal, used especially outdoors to keep people warm.

Brazil [brə'zil] the largest country in South America, in the east, containing most of the Amazon rainforest. SIZE: 8,512,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 153,300,000 (Brazilians). CAPITAL: Brasília. MAIN CITIES: Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo. LANGUAGE: Portuguese. CURRENCY: cruzeiro.

Brazilian [brə'ziljən] n & adj: see Brazil.

brasil nut n a large three-sided nut with a hard woody shell.

breach [bri:tʃ] ◇ n -1. [of a law, agreement] the act of breaking a law, agreement, or promise □ They sued him for breach of contract. □ a breach of confidence. ■ to be in breach of sthg [of regulations, contract] not to be obeying or fulfilling sthg □ You are in breach of Section 2 of the Public Order Act. -2. [in a wall] an opening in e.g. a wall or fence, usually made by attackers. ■ to step into the breach to do somebody's job while they are unable to do it □ Fortunately, Merrow was there to step into the breach. -3. [between people] a period of unfriendly relations between people, countries etc □ The dispute over fishing rights led to a breach between the two countries.

◇ vt -1. to break  etc. -2. to make a hole or gap in  etc.

breach of the peace n LAW noisy behavior and fighting in a public place.

bread [bred] n a common food made from baked flour, water, and yeast □ a loaf/slice of bread □ rye bread □ a bread roll.

bread and butter n -1. a slice of bread spread with butter. -2. one's main source of income □ Making saucepans is this company's bread and butter.

bread bin n GB = bread box.

breadboard ['bredbɔ:d] n a board for cutting bread on.

bread box n US a container for keeping bread in.

breadcrumbs ['bredkrʌmz] npl very small pieces of bread, used in cooking.

breaded ['bredəd] adj [fish, veal] that is cooked covered in breadcrumbs.

bread knife n a long knife with sharp points along it, used for cutting bread.

breadline ['bredlain] n to be on the breadline to be very poor.

breadth [bredθ] n -1. [of an object] the distance from one side to the other of a solid object □ It's seven meters in breadth. -2. [of interest, support, vision] the quality of including many different things, ideas, or people □ I was impressed by the breadth of his knowledge.

breadwinner ['bredwɪnə] n the person who earns the money for their family to live on.

break [breik] (pt broke, pp broken) ◇ n -1. [in a conversation, one's career] a short time when activity stops before starting again □ a coffee/lunch break □ a break in transmission. ■ to have a break from sthg to stop doing sthg for a short time □ Let's have a break from decorating today. ■ without a break without stopping □ We worked for four hours without a break.

-2. EDUCATION a short pause between classes at school □ You can finish it during break.

-3. [away from home] a short vacation □ a spring/weekend break. -4. [in clouds, a hedge] a hole or split in something large. ■ a break in the weather a short period of sunshine or fine weather. -5. [in wood, china, a bone] the place where something has broken into two or more parts □ The doctors say it's a nasty break. -6. a chance to do something one wants to do, especially in one's career □ a lucky break □ This is my big break! -7. phrase at break of day at dawn (literary use).

◇ vt -1. [branch, egg, window] to cause <sthg> to separate into pieces by using force or hitting or dropping it □ Be careful with that vase or you'll break it! □ He broke the cookie in half and gave them each a piece. -2. [leg, ankle, neck] to crack or split  □ He fell and broke his arm. -3. [machine, device] to cause <sthg> to stop working by damaging it □ I lent him my camera and he broke it. -4. [skin, barrier, surface] to force a way through <sthg> □ The river has broken its banks. ■ to break sb's hold to cause sb to stop holding something, using force. -5. [silence, train of thought] to interrupt <sthg> □ The silence was suddenly broken by a knock at the door. ■ to break sb's fall to reduce the force with which sb hits the ground after a fall □ A pile of leaves broke her fall. ■ to break one's journey to stop at a place for a short time when one is on the way to another place. -6. [strike, deadlock, stalemate] to cause <sthg> to end, especially sthg that has been going on for some time □ It's not easy to break the habit of a lifetime. -7. [rule, law] to fail to obey <sthg> □ It's a movie that breaks all the conventions. ■ to break one's promise OR word to fail to do what one has said one will definitely do. -8. to break a record to beat an existing record □ He just missed breaking the world record. -9. to break the news to tell somebody a piece of bad or exciting news □ Mike offered to break the news to her. -10. SPORT to break sb's serve to win a game in which one's opponent is serving.

◇ vi -1. [branch, egg, window] to separate into pieces as a result of being hit, dropped etc □ Be careful with it, it might break! □ The vase fell and broke into pieces. -2. [machinery, device] to stop working □ The boiler has broken. -3. [for a meal, rest] to stop work for a short time □ We'll break for lunch at three. -4. when day or dawn broke when it began to be daylight (literary use). -5. [weather] to change for the worse; [storm] to begin suddenly □ Let's hope the fine weather doesn't break before the wedding. -6. [wave] to curl over and fall down □ We watched the waves breaking against the rocks. -7. to break loose OR free [person, animal] to get away from somebody or something by using force □ The child struggled, trying to break free from her grasp. -8. [voice] to sound unsteady because of sadness or some other strong emotion; [voice of teenage boy] to change so that it becomes permanently deeper □ Her voice broke and tears ran down her cheeks. □ He gave up singing in the choir when his voice broke. -9. [news, scandal] to become publicly known □ The story broke in the national press. -10. to break even [company, business] to earn just enough income to avoid making a loss □ More jobs will be lost if the firm fails to break even this year.

◆ break away vi [person, animal] to move away from a group, suddenly and sometimes using force □ Her attacker broke away from the crowd and ran off down the street.

◆ break down ◇ vt sep -1. to break sthg down [door, barrier] to remove sthg that is in one's way by knocking it to the ground □ Police had to break down the door of the apartment. -2. to break sthg down [figures, data, problem] to separate sthg into several parts so that it is easier to understand or do. -3. to break sthg down [food, fat] to change sthg into its separate parts by means of a chemical process □ Bacteria in the soil break down the dead leaves.

◇ vi -1. [car, machine] to stop working □ Our bus broke down on the highway. -2. [talks, relationship, resolution] to fail □ The marriage had broken down irretrievably by then. -3. [person] to start crying, especially in public, because one can no longer control one's feelings □ In the middle of his speech he broke down (in tears). -4. [substance] to separate into different parts as a result of a chemical process □ Fat breaks down to provide the body with energy.

◆ break in ◇ vi -1. [person] to enter a building illegally by force, usually to steal something □ The thieves broke in through an open window. -2. [person] to interrupt a conversation between other people □ Sorry to break in, but you're wanted on the phone. ◇ vt sep -1. to break sb in to get sb accustomed to a new job or situation, especially gradually □ There's a lot to learn but we'll break you in gently! -2. to break sthg in to wear sthg, e.g. new shoes, until they are comfortable.

◆ break into vt fus -1. to break into a place to enter a place, e.g. a building, by force, especially in order to steal □ Someone broke into my car and stole the radio. -2. to break into sthg [into song, laughter, applause] to begin doing sthg suddenly □ He broke into a run when the bus appeared. □ June amazed me by breaking into fluent Spanish. □ The horse broke into a gallop. -3. [into politics, show business, a market] to start taking part in <sthg> □ The company is planning to break into Southeast Asia.

◆ break off ◇ vt sep -1. to break sthg off [branch, fingernail] to separate a piece of sthg from the main part by breaking it □ Break me off a bit of chocolate. -2. to break off sthg [talks, relationship] to end sthg □ They've broken off their engagement. ◇ vi -1. [person] to stop talking suddenly □ They broke off as I came in. -2. [person] to stop an activity suddenly □ He broke off for a moment to answer the phone.

◆ break out vi -1. [fire, panic, fighting] to begin suddenly □ Cholera has broken out in some of the refugee camps. -2. to break out in pimples/a rash to become covered in spots/a rash □ I broke out in a cold sweat. -3. to escape from prison or a similar place □ The two men broke out of Brixton jail earlier this month.

◆ break through vt fus to break through sthg to force a way through sthg □ The sun broke through the clouds. □ Protesters broke through the police cordon.

◆ break up ◇ vt sep -1. to break sthg up to separate sthg into smaller pieces □ Use a fork to break up the lumps. -2. to break sthg up [marriage, fight, relationship] to end sthg, especially in a forceful way □ Rosy's parents came home and broke up the party.

◇ vi -1. to separate into smaller pieces □ The cake broke up when I took it out of the tin. -2. [marriage, relationship] to end. ■ to break up with sb [with one's partner, girlfriend] to end a sexual relationship with sb. -3. [crowd, group, demonstration] to come to an end as people begin leaving □ The party began to break up around midnight. -4. GB [school, pupil] to begin a vacation □ When do you break up for Easter?

♦ break with vt fus to break with sthg [with tradition, habit, an old friend] to end a connection with sb/sthg □ It is time to break with the past and try a new approach.

breakable ['breɪkəbl̩] adj [object, ornament] that breaks easily □ Is this package breakable?

breakage ['breɪkɪdʒ] n something that has been broken □ The insurance pays for all breakages.

breakaway ['breɪkəweɪ] adj a breakaway faction OR group a group that has broken away from the main group, usually through disagreement.

breakdown ['breɪkdaʊn] n -1. [of a vehicle, machine] a sudden failure to work □ We had a breakdown on Highway 7. -2. [of talks, negotiations] a failure or ending of a process □ a breakdown in communications/in law and order. -3. = nervous breakdown. -4. [of figures, data] a division of something into smaller parts so that it is easier to understand □ Could you give me a breakdown of the costs?

breaker ['breɪkə] n a big sea wave that rolls onto the beach.

breakeven [ˌbreɪk'ɪ:v̩n] n the point at which a business makes neither a profit nor a loss □ We aim to reach breakeven point in two years.

breakfast ['breɪkfəst] ◇ n the first meal of the day □ What time is breakfast? ◇ vi to eat breakfast □ We breakfasted at the hotel.

breakfast cereal n a breakfast food made from a cereal, e.g. corn or wheat, and eaten with milk.

breakfast television n television programs that are broadcast early in the morning.

break-in n the act of breaking into a building, usually in order to steal things □ There's been a break-in at work.

breaking ['breɪkɪŋ] n LAW breaking and entering the crime of breaking into a building.

breaking point n to be at OR reach breaking point to reach a point where one is no longer able to deal with a difficult and stressful situation.

breakneck ['breɪknek] adj at breakneck speed very fast □ They drove down the street at breakneck speed.

breakthrough ['breɪkθru:] n something that allows further progress to be made, e.g. a new invention, a scientific discovery, or a new idea □ Foreign ministers have made a major breakthrough in negotiations.

breakup ['breɪkʌp] n -1. the ending of a relationship or marriage □ after the breakup of his marriage. -2. the separation of a group, organization etc, e.g. as a result of a disagreement between the people involved □ Internal conflict led to the breakup of the coalition.

breakup value n BUSINESS the value of a company if it is split into its different parts and each part is sold separately.

breakwater ['breɪkwɔ:tə] n a long fence or wall that is built at right angles to a beach to protect it from the waves.

bream [bri:m] (pl bream OR breams) n a silver-colored freshwater fish that can be eaten.

breast [brest] n -1. [of a woman] one of the two rounded fleshy parts on the front part of a woman's body that can produce milk □ She put the baby to her breast. □ breast cancer. -2. [of a person] the chest (literary use) □ He beat his breast in sorrow. -3. [of a bird] the meat that comes from the front part of a bird's body □ a chicken breast. -4. phrase to make a clean breast of it to tell the whole truth about something bad that one has done.

breastbone ['brestbaʊn] n the bone down the front of one's chest that joins the ribs together.

breast-feed ◇ vt to feed  by letting it suck milk directly from its mother's breast. ◇ vi [mother, woman] 'Not to be taken by breast-feeding mothers.'

breast pocket n a pocket at the front of a shirt or jacket, at chest level.

breaststroke ['breststroʊk] n a way of swimming on one's stomach that involves pushing both hands forward then sweeping them down to the sides and at the same time moving the knees up to the sides and then kicking backward □ Can you do (the) breaststroke?

breath [breθ] n -1. the air that is taken into the lungs when one breathes □ Take a deep breath. ■ to have bad breath to have breath that smells unpleasant. ■ to get one's breath back to start breathing normally again after doing something tiring, e.g. running □ Let me get my breath back first. ■ to hold one's breath to hold air in one's lungs by not breathing out; to wait anxiously for news, a decision etc □ How long can you hold your breath? □ He held his breath as the results were announced. ■ to save one's breath not to waste time saying something to somebody because they will not listen to one's advice, argument etc □ I'd save my breath if I were you — he's not listening. ■ to say sth under one's breath to say sth in a very quiet voice □ Cheryl muttered something angrily under her breath. ■ to take sb's breath away [sight, news] to surprise sb very much □ The beauty of the valley took my breath away. ■ to waste one's breath to waste time saying something to somebody because they do not want to listen □ You're wasting your breath: my mind is already made up. ■ to be out of breath to have problems breathing comfortably, usually after doing something tiring □ He ran until he was out of breath. -2. to go out for a breath of fresh air to go outside for a short time, usually because it is hot or smoky inside.

breathalyze US, breathalyse GB ['breθəlaɪz] vt to test <sb> with a Breathalyzer (informal use).

BreathalyzerTM US, BreathalyserTM GB ['breθəlaɪzə] n a device that the police sometimes

- ask drivers to blow into to find out how much alcohol they have drunk.
- breathe [bri:ð] ◇ vi to take air into one's lungs and then let it out □ Breathe deeply. ■ to breathe more easily to feel more relaxed after a difficult or dangerous situation □ Investors breathed more easily after the Fed's announcement. ◇ vt -1. to take <air, smoke> etc into one's lungs □ It's good to breathe fresh country air. -2. to say <sthg> very quietly □ "Shh! Come in quietly," he breathed.
- ◆ breathe in ◇ vi to take air into one's lungs. ◇ vt sep to breathe sthg in to take sthg into one's lungs, e.g. air or smoke.
- ◆ breathe out vi to let air out of one's lungs □ Breathe in, and then breathe out.
- breather ['bri:ðə] n a short rest (informal use) □ Let's stop for a quick breather.
- breathing ['bri:ðɪŋ] n the way in which somebody breathes □ His breathing was heavy.
- breathing space n a short period when one can relax between doing other things.
- breathless ['breθləs] adj -1. [person] who is unable to breathe comfortably, especially after doing something tiring □ The walk uphill left her panting and breathless. ■ to be breathless with sthg [with excitement, fear] to be so strongly affected by sthg that one has difficulty in breathing. -2. [silence, excitement] so intense that it makes one hold one's breath □ There was a breathless hush in the room.
- breathtaking ['breθteɪkɪŋ] adj [view, performance] that one admires and finds very beautiful or exciting □ There were breathtaking views across the valley.
- breath test n a test carried out using a Breathalyzer.
- Brecht [brekt], Bertolt (1898–1956) a German poet and playwright whose experimental plays were intended to make the audience think for themselves. His works include The Threepenny Opera and Mother Courage.
- breed [bri:d] (pt & pp bred [bred]) ◇ n -1. a type of animal or plant, usually developed by humans □ a breed of cattle. -2. a particular type of person or thing □ a new breed of manager/computer/TV program. ◇ vt -1. to keep <animals or plants> in order to produce young animals and plants or develop new types □ She breeds labradors. -2. to cause  to spread among many people □ Violence breeds violence. ◇ vi [animals] to produce young animals.
- breeder ['bri:də] n a person whose job is breeding animals or plants.
- breeder reactor n a type of nuclear reactor that produces more plutonium than it uses in its production of electricity.
- breeding ['bri:dɪŋ] n -1. the activity of breeding animals or plants □ Successful breeding in captivity ensured the survival of the bird. -2. good manners that somebody is taught by their family □ a sign of good breeding.
- breeding-ground n -1. a place where a particular type of animal goes to breed □ Oil companies have devastated the breeding-grounds
- of the gray seal.* -2. a place or situation that encourages something, usually something bad, to develop □ a breeding-ground for terrorists/crime.
- breeze [bri:z] ◇ n a light wind □ A gentle breeze was blowing. ◇ vi to breeze in/out to go in/out quickly and in a confident way □ He breezed in just as we were about to start.
- breezblock ['bri:zblɒk] n GB a large light brick made of cement and ash and used for building houses, walls etc.
- breezy ['bri:zi] (compar breezier, superl breeziest) adj -1. [weather, day] that is a little windy. -2. [person, personality, manner] that is cheerful, lively, and confident □ You're very bright and breezy today.
- Breton ['breɪn] ◇ n a person who comes from or lives in Brittany. ◇ adj; see Brittany.
- brevity ['brevəti] n [of life, a visit] the short amount of time that something lasts □ I was surprised by the brevity of his answer.
- brew [bru:] ◇ vi -1. [tea, coffee] to be in the process of being brewed □ I'll leave the tea to brew for a few minutes. -2. [trouble, storm, crisis] to be developing or likely to happen soon □ There's trouble brewing. ◇ vt -1. to make <beer>. -2. to prepare <tea, coffee> etc by mixing it with hot water.
- brewer ['bru:ə] n a person whose job is making beer.
- brewery ['bru:əri] (pl breweries) n -1. the buildings where beer is made. -2. a company that makes beer.
- briar ['braɪə] n a wild bush with thorns.
- bribe [braɪb] ◇ n something, usually money, that is offered to somebody to persuade them to do something dishonest □ Senior policemen were accused of taking bribes. ◇ vt to give <sb> a bribe so that they will do something □ We bribed the guard to let us in.
- bribery ['braɪbəri] n the act of offering somebody a bribe □ The former prime minister was found guilty of bribery.
- bric-a-brac ['brɪkəbræk] n small ornaments that are usually not worth very much.
- brick [brɪk] n a hard rectangular block of baked clay used for building houses, bridges etc □ a brick wall/building.
- ◆ brick up vt sep to brick sthg up [window, door] to fill in sthg with bricks □ They bricked up the chimney.
- bricklayer ['brɪkleɪə] n a person whose job is to build walls or buildings using bricks.
- brickwork ['brɪkwɜ:k] n the parts of a wall or building that are made of bricks □ The brickwork had been cleaned.
- bridal ['braɪdl] adj [gown, procession] that is connected with a bride or a wedding □ a shop that sells bridal wear.
- bride [braɪd] n a woman just before, during, or after her wedding.
- bridegroom ['braɪdgru:m] n a man just before, during, or after his wedding.
- bridesmaid ['braɪdmeɪd] n a woman or girl who accompanies the bride to her wedding.

bridge [brɪdʒ] ◇ n -1. a structure built to carry a road or railroad across a valley, river, railroad track etc □ the Golden Gate bridge □ a railroad bridge. ■ I'll cross that bridge when I come to it I'll deal with that problem when it happens and not before. -2. [between people] a means of communication between two people or groups of people □ a bridge between East and West. -3. SHIPPING the raised area of a ship from which it is steered and controlled. -4. [of one's nose] the top part of one's nose, between the eyes □ His glasses were perched on the bridge of his nose. -5. CARDS a card game for two teams of two players similar to whist.

◇ vt to bridge the gap to reduce the differences and improve communication between people □ We run projects which try to bridge the gap between young and old.

bridging loan ['brɪdʒɪŋ-] n GB money lent by a bank for a short time, usually to help somebody buy a new house before they have sold their old house.

bridle ['brɪdl] ◇ n the set of straps around a horse's head that the rider uses to control the horse. ◇ vt to put a bridle on  etc. ◇ vi to express one's anger by moving the head stiffly upward □ He bridled at the accusation.

bridle path n a path for horses and riders.

brief [brɪf] ◇ adj -1. [visit, description, glance] that lasts for a short time □ Write giving us a brief summary of your achievements to date. - [skirt, shorts] short □ She was wearing a very brief pair of shorts. -3. to be brief to use very few words to say something □ To be brief, there is little we can do to remedy the situation. □ I'll be brief, since you're in a hurry.

◇ n -1. LAW a document stating all the facts of a case that is given by one lawyer to another lawyer who will argue the case in court. -2. the instructions given to somebody about what their job or duty is □ His brief is to improve industrial relations.

◇ vt to give <sb> the information, instructions etc they need to understand a situation, do a job etc □ The US envoy has been fully briefed on the situation.

◆ briefs npl a piece of underwear that covers the body between the waist and the tops of the legs and goes between the legs □ a pair of briefs.

◆ in brief adv a phrase used to indicate that one is only giving a few details about something □ In brief, I don't think it will work. □ Here is the news in brief.

briefcase ['brɪːfkeɪs] n a flat case that is usually made of leather, has one handle, and is used for carrying papers.

briefing ['brɪːfɪŋ] n a meeting where somebody is given information or instructions to prepare them for a political debate, battle, special mission etc □ They were given a briefing before the flight.

briefly ['brɪːflɪ] adv -1. [pause, look, wait] for a short time □ We met briefly at the conference.

-2. [answer, explain] using only a few words □ Could you tell me briefly what the job entails?

Brig. abbr of brigadier.

brigade [brɪˈgeɪd] n -1. MILITARY one of the main groups into which an army is divided.

-2. an organization that has particular duties □ the St. John ambulance brigade.

brigadier [ˌbrɪɡəˈdɪə] n MILITARY the officer in charge of a brigade.

bright [braɪt] ◇ adj -1. [light, sun] that shines strongly; [day, weather] with sunshine and few clouds; [room, office] where there is a lot of light □ We're enjoying the bright sunshine. □ We had a bright morning but then it began to rain. □ The lamp was so bright it hurt my eyes. -2. [color] that is strong, light, and easy to see □ bright blue eyes. -3. [smile, expression] that seems lively and cheerful □ You look much brighter this morning. -4. [person] who is intelligent and quick at learning □ She's a bright child. ■ a bright idea an idea that is original and shows intelligence □ Does anyone have any bright ideas on how we might get around this problem? -5. [prospects, outlook] that seems likely to bring success □ The future's looking bright for young men like you.

◇ adv bright and early very early in the morning.

◆ brights npl US car headlights that point straight ahead rather than toward the ground (informal use).

brighten ['braɪtn] vi -1. [day, weather] to become brighter □ The weather brightened toward the end of the afternoon. -2. [face, expression, mood] to become more cheerful □ She brightened visibly at the news.

◆ brighten up ◇ vt sep -1. to brighten sth up [room, house, dress] to make sth look more colorful and attractive, e.g. by painting or decorating it □ It just needs a lick of paint to brighten it up. -2. to brighten sth up [situation, conversation] to make sth more lively or cheerful □ Her visit really brightened up our day. ◇ vi [weather, person, face] = brighten.

brightly ['braɪtli] adv [shine, smile] see bright □ a brightly colored scarf □ The room was brightly lit. □ "Would you like some coffee?" she said brightly.

brightness ['braɪtnəs] n [of a light, color] see bright □ How do you adjust the brightness on this TV?

brilliance ['brɪljəns] n see brilliant □ His brilliance as a mathematician was soon apparent.

brilliant ['brɪljənt] adj -1. [person, mind] that is very intelligent [idea, solution, piece of work] that shows great intelligence or skill and is very impressive □ She's a brilliant physicist. □ He gave a brilliant performance as Hamlet. -2. [color, light] that is very bright □ We went out into the brilliant sunshine. -3. [career, future] that is very successful □ She has a brilliant career in politics ahead of her. -4. GB that one thinks is very good (informal use) □ That's brilliant news — well done!

brilliantly ['brɪljəntli] adv [perform, shine] see brilliant □ brilliantly colored □ It was a brilliantly planned and executed maneuver.

Brillo padTM ['brilou-] n a pad, made of wire and filled with soap, that is used for cleaning pots and pans.

brim [brim] (pt & pp brimmed, cont brimming) ◇ n -1. the top edge of a container for liquid, e.g. a bowl or glass □ full to the brim.
 -2. the bottom part of a hat that sticks out to protect the wearer from the sun or rain.
 ◇ vi to brim with sthg [with emotion, enthusiasm] to be full of sthg □ His eyes brimmed with tears.

◆ brim over vi -1. [cup, glass] to be so full that the contents spill over the edge. -2. to brim over with sthg [with pride, happiness] to be full of sthg.

brine [brain] n water that contains salt and is used for preserving food.

bring [brɪŋ] (pt & pp brought) vt -1. [person, object] to take <sb/sthg> to the place one is living in, going to, talking about etc □ Bill's bringing his boss home for dinner. □ Can you bring a bottle of wine (with you)? -2. [object] to carry <sthg> to somebody □ I've brought her some chocolates OR some chocolates for her. □ 'Bringing you the latest in computer technology.' -3. [happiness, sorrow, satisfaction] to cause  □ That boy brings us nothing but trouble. □ Tourism has brought prosperity to the region. ■ to bring sthg to an end/a halt to cause sthg to end/stop □ The chairman brought the meeting to a close. □ The accident brought his sporting career to an abrupt end. ■ to bring sthg to sb's attention to tell sb sthg, usually in a polite way □ The matter was brought to my attention by one of my colleagues. -4. [person, business tourist] to cause <sb/sthg> to come to a place □ The festival brings crowds of visitors every year. □ The new sales manager has brought us a lot of new customers. -5. LAW to bring charges against sb to say officially that sb is believed to have broken the law. ■ to be brought to trial [person] to be judged in court because one is believed to have broken the law. -6. I couldn't bring myself to do it I was unable to do it because it was unpleasant □ In the end I just couldn't bring myself to tell them the truth.

◆ bring about vt sep to bring sthg about [change, decision, separation] to cause sthg to happen □ All attempts to bring about a peaceful solution to the crisis have failed.

◆ bring along vt sep to bring sb/sthg along [person, object] to bring sb/sthg with one when one goes to a place or event □ Bring your wife along too. □ I've brought along one of our brochures.

◆ bring around vt sep US = bring to.

◆ bring back vt sep -1. to bring sthg/sb back [object, souvenir, gift] to come back to a place with sthg; [person] to take sb back to the place where one is living, or that one is talking about □ Look what Kate brought me back from Egypt. □ I'll lend you my copy if you promise to bring it back. □ Who brought you back here last night? -2. to bring back sthg [feeling, mood, event] to make one remember sthg □ That song always brings back my last year at college. -3. to bring sthg back [fashion, custom] to cause sthg to return after a period of time □ Carver thinks they should bring back hanging.

◆ bring down vt sep -1. to bring sthg down [bird, aircraft, tree] to cause sthg to fall to the ground □ The storm brought down the telephone wires. -2. to bring down sb/sthg [government, dictator, regime] to cause sb/sthg to lose political power □ This scandal could bring down the ruling party. -3. to bring sthg down [price, age limit, interest rates] to cause sthg to become less, especially because people want this or expect this □ They have succeeded in bringing inflation down to 3%.

◆ bring forward vt sep -1. to bring sthg forward [meeting, interview, election] to change the time or date of an event to an earlier time or date □ The inspection was due to happen in June, but it's been brought forward two months to April. -2. to bring an amount forward [in bookkeeping] to move the total amount of a list of figures to the top of a new list of figures.

◆ bring in vt sep -1. to bring sthg in [rule, legislation, policy] to make sthg part of the existing set of laws □ The government is bringing in new safety regulations for buses. -2. to bring in money to earn an amount of money □ Her job can't bring in more than $15,000 a year. -3. to bring sb in [person] to ask sb from outside one's work, organization etc to take part in it, especially to give help or advice □ We've had to bring in an outside firm of consultants to solve the problem.

◆ bring off vt sep to bring sthg off [plan, deal] to complete sthg difficult successfully □ If anybody can bring it off, you can.

◆ bring on vt sep to bring sthg on [crisis, fever, attack] to cause sthg to start □ Hot weather always brings on my hay fever. ■ to bring sthg on oneself to act in a way that causes sthg unpleasant to happen to one □ There's no use complaining, you brought it on yourself.

◆ bring out vt sep -1. to bring sthg out [record, book] to make sthg available for the public to buy □ They've just brought out a new range of their successful kitchenware. -2. to bring out the best/worst in sb to cause sb to behave as well/as badly as they can □ Simon always brings out the worst in Martin — they're like two schoolboys together.

◆ bring round vt sep GB = bring to.

◆ bring to vt sep to bring sb to to make sb conscious again, e.g. after they have fainted □ I used smelling salts to bring her to.

◆ bring up vt sep -1. to bring up a child to look after a child until it is adult and teach it particular beliefs, ways of behaving etc □ She was left to bring up the kids on her own. □ He was brought up (as) a Catholic. -2. to bring sthg up [subject, the past] to start to talk about sthg □ Let's hope she doesn't bring politics up again! -3. to bring up food/drink to be sick, especially soon after eating or drinking □ I managed to eat some fruit, but brought it all up again afterwards.

bring and buy (sale) n GB a charity sale where people bring things to be sold and buy things that other people have brought.

brink [brɪŋk] n on the brink of sthg [of bankruptcy, war, extinction] close to sthg dangerous; [of a discovery, breakthrough] close to sthg exciting □ I was on the brink of telling him to get out of the house.

Brisbane ['brɪzbn̩] a port in Queensland, Australia. POPULATION: 1,240,300.

brisk [brɪsk] adj -1. [walk, swim, pace] quick, lively, and energetic □ We walked at a brisk pace towards the station. -2. [business, trading] busy and successful □ Business has been reasonably brisk recently. -3. [manner, tone, person] efficient and confident □ Her manner was brisk and businesslike. -4. [wind, weather] cold and refreshing □ There was a brisk sea breeze.

brisket ['brɪskət] n the meat from the chest of a cow.

briskly ['brɪskli] adv [walk, trade, speak] see brisk.

bristle ['brɪsl] vi -1. [an animal's hair, fur] to stand up from the body, usually because of anger or fear. -2. [person] to react angrily □ She bristled at the suggestion.

◆ bristles npl -1. [on a person] the short stiff hairs that grow on the skin after shaving. -2. [on an animal] thick stiff hair that grows on some animals. -3. the thick stiff hair or similar material at the end of paintbrushes, shaving brushes etc.

◆ bristle with vt fus to bristle with people/things to be full of people/things □ The whole subject bristles with difficulties. □ The town was bristling with police.

bristly ['brɪʃli] (compar bristlier, superl bristliest) adj [chin, face] that is covered with short stiff hairs.

Brit [brɪt] (abbr of Britain) n a British person (informal use).

Britain ['brɪtɪn] -1. = Great Britain. -2. = United Kingdom.

Britannia [brɪ'tænjə] a figure of a female soldier, wearing a helmet and carrying a shield and trident, used as a symbol of Britain.

British ['brɪtɪʃ] ◇ adj [passport, subject] that belongs to Britain or the British Commonwealth. ◇ npl the British people living in Britain.

British Academy n the British Academy a British organization that funds and encourages the study of history, philosophy, and language.

British Broadcasting Corporation n → BBC.

British Columbia [-kə'lʌmbɪə] a mountainous province of western Canada on the Pacific Coast. ABBREVIATION: BC. SIZE: 950,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,282,061 (British Columbians). CAPITAL: Victoria.

British Council n the British Council an organization that promotes Britain abroad. It runs many libraries, language courses, and cultural centers in foreign countries.

British Isles: the British Isles Great Britain, Ireland, and the islands around their coasts.

British Museum: the British Museum the national museum of Britain, in London.

British Standards Institution n → BSI.

British Summer Time n the system of time used in Britain from March to October that is one hour ahead of the time used during the rest of the year.

Briton ['brɪtɪn] n a British person (formal use).

Brittany ['brɪtəni] a region of northwestern France, between the English Channel and the Bay of Biscay.

Britten ['brɪtɪn], Benjamin (1913–1976) a British composer whose works include the operas Peter Grimes and Billy Budd.

brittle ['brɪtl] adj [bones, twig, glass] that is hard but easy to break.

Bro RELIGION abbr of brother.

broach [brəʊtʃ] vt to begin to talk about  carefully because it is difficult or unpleasant □ I haven't broached the subject of salaries yet.

broad [brɔ:d] ◇ adj -1. [river, shoulders, grin] wide □ a broad tree-lined avenue □ He gave me a broad smile. -2. a broad range/variety etc a range/variety etc that includes a lot of different things or people □ The college has a broad and wide-ranging syllabus. □ The program has a very broad appeal. -3. a broad introduction/description etc a general introduction/description etc rather than a detailed one □ It's art in the broadest sense of the word. □ I think there is broad agreement about what needs to be done. -4. a broad hint a strong and clear hint □ Bob kept dropping broad hints about birthday presents. -5. a broad accent a strong accent □ She spoke with a broad Texas accent. -6. phrase in broad daylight during the daytime, when what happens can be clearly seen □ He was shot in broad daylight.
◇ n ▽ US a woman (very informal and offensive use).

B road n GB a road that is smaller and less important than a main road.

broad bean n a large, flat, green bean.

broadcast [US 'brɔ:dkæst, GB -kɑ:st] (pt & pp broadcast) RADIO & TV ◇ n something such as a speech or musical performance that is sent by radio or television □ a live/recorded broadcast. ◇ vt to send out  □ The game will be broadcast live on Channel 5.

broadcaster [US 'brɔ:dkæstər, GB -kɑ:stə] n a person who regularly takes part in radio or television programs.

broadcasting [US 'brɔ:dkæstɪŋ, GB -kɑ:st-] n the activity of making and sending out radio or television programs.

broaden ['brɔ:dn] ◇ vt -1. to make  etc wider. -2. to make <the scope, appeal> etc of something more general □ She broadened the base of her writing after retirement. ■ to broaden one's mind to make one more aware of other ways of life, ideas etc □ A little more traveling could broaden your mind. ◇ vi [river, road] to become wider.

◆ broaden out vi -1. [river, road] to become wider. -2. [interests, awareness] to become

- more general by including more people or things.
- broadly ['brɔ:dlɪ] adv -1. generally □ I broadly agree with what Leroy has just said. ■ broadly speaking generally and without going into details □ This is, broadly speaking, what we expected. -2. to smile broadly to have a wide smile on one's face.
- broadly-based [-beɪst] adj [party, movement, course] that includes a wide range of elements, people, or points of view.
- broadminded [ˌbrɔ:d'maɪndəd] adj [person, attitude] that is tolerant and open to new ideas.
- broadsheet ['brɔ:dʃi:t] n a newspaper printed on large sheets of paper.
NOTE: Compare tabloid.
- Broadway ['brɔ:dweɪ] a street in New York City famous for its theaters and shows, which usually feature stars in well-known plays □ a Broadway hit/musical.
- brocade [brɔ:'keɪd] n a thick decorative piece of silk with a raised pattern.
- broccoli ['brɒkəlɪ] n a vegetable with thick green stems and green or purple heads □ Serve with broccoli and sauté potatoes.
- brochure [US brɔ:'ʃʊr, GB 'brɔ:ʃə] n a booklet with pictures that contains information or advertisements □ travel/sales brochures.
- brogues [brɔʊgz] npl thick leather shoes with a pattern of small holes in the leather.
- broil [brɔɪl] vt US [meat, chicken, fish] to cook <food> on a grill with heat directly above or below it.
- broiler ['brɔɪlə] n -1. a young chicken suitable for roasting or broiling. -2. US a tray consisting of metal bars on which food is placed for broiling.
- broke [brɔʊk] ◇ past tense of break. ◇ adj to be broke [person, company] to have no money □ I can't go out tonight — I'm absolutely broke. ■ to go broke [company] to go bankrupt. ■ to go for broke to risk everything in order to try and achieve a success.
- broken ['brɔʊkən] ◇ past participle of break. ◇ adj -1. [window, machine, promise] that has been broken □ The floor was covered in broken glass. -2. a broken marriage a marriage that has ended in separation. ■ a broken home a home where the family no longer lives together because the parents have separated □ She comes from a broken home. -3. to speak broken English/Chinese etc to speak English/Chinese etc slowly and with many mistakes.
- broken-down adj a broken-down car/machine a car/machine that does not work well, or that has stopped working completely □ He drives a broken-down old Mercedes.
- broker ['brɔʊkə] ◇ n a person whose job is to buy and sell things for other people □ a commodity broker. ◇ vt to arrange  etc so that all the people involved agree to the details □ a peace accord brokered by the UN.
- brokerage ['brɔʊkərɪdʒ] n -1. the business of being a broker □ a brokerage firm. -2. the amount of money charged by a broker.
- bronchitis [brɒŋ'kaɪtɪs] n an illness caused by infection of the tubes that bring air to the lungs, resulting in coughing and breathing difficulties.
- Bronte ['brɒntɪ], Charlotte (1816–1855) a British novelist whose best-known work is Jane Eyre. Her sisters, Anne and Emily, were also writers.
- Bronte, Emily (1818–1848) a British poet and novelist whose best-known work is Wuthering Heights. Her sisters, Anne and Charlotte, were also writers.
- Bronx [brɒŋks]: the Bronx a borough of New York City across the Harlem River from Manhattan. POPULATION: 1,169,000.
- bronze [brɒnz] ◇ n -1. a yellow-brown metal made of copper and tin □ a bronze statue. -2. a sculpture made of bronze □ a bronze by Donatello. -3. = bronze medal. ◇ adj [hair, skin] that is the color of bronze.
- bronzed [brɒnzd] adj [person, body] suntanned.
- bronze medal n a medal made of bronze that is given to the person who comes third in a competition, especially in sports.
- brooch [brʊtʃ] n a piece of jewelry with a pin at the back that is usually worn on a woman's jacket or blouse.
- brood [bru:d] ◇ n -1. a family of young animals, usually birds, that were born together. -2. the children in a family (humorous use). ◇ vi to spend a long time thinking about something that makes one worried, upset, or angry □ It's no use brooding over the past.
- broody ['bru:di] (compar broodier, superl broodiest) adj -1. [person] who seems silent and sad. -2. [bird] that wants to lay or sit on eggs.
- brook [brʊk] ◇ n a small stream. ◇ vt to allow or tolerate <sthg> (formal use) □ They will brook no opposition.
- Brooklyn ['brʊklən] a borough of New York City on Long Island. It is linked to Manhattan by the Brooklyn Bridge. POPULATION: 2,231,000.
- broom [bru:m] n -1. a brush with a long handle that is used for sweeping the floor. -2. a shrub with yellow flowers that often grows on wasteland.
- broomstick ['bru:mstɪk] n the long handle of a broom.
- Bros, bros BUSINESS abbr of brothers.
- broth [brʊθ] n a soup that usually contains rice, vegetables, and meat or fish.
- brothel ['brʊθl] n a house where men pay to have sex with prostitutes.
- brother ['brʌðə] ◇ n -1. [in a family] a male relative of somebody who has the same parents □ They are brothers. □ Have you met my brother? □ This is my elder brother, Pete. □ She's looking after her baby brother. -2. [at work] a word used to talk to a man who belongs to the same race, profession, labor union etc as oneself □ Brothers, unite! -3. RELIGION a member of a religious group, especially a Christian monk □ Brother Peter. ◇ excl US a word used to express surprise or slight annoyance (informal use) □ Brother, was she mad!

brotherhood ['brʌðəʃʊd] n -1. the friendship and loyalty between people with the same interests or ideas. -2. an organization of men who share the same beliefs or aims, especially religious ones.

brother-in-law (pl brothers-in-law) n the brother of one's husband or wife; the husband of one's sister.

brotherly ['brʌðəʃli] adj that is typical of a brother □ brotherly advice.

brought [brɔ:t] past tense & past participle of bring.

brow [braʊ] n -1. the forehead. -2. an eyebrow (literary use). ■ to knit one's brows to frown because one is worried or thinking carefully. -3. the top part of a hill or slope.

browbeat ['braʊbi:t] (pt browbeat, pp brow-beaten) vt to try to make <sb> do something by being aggressive toward them □ Don't let them browbeat you into going!

browbeaten ['braʊbi:tn] adj [child, employee] who seems quiet and timid because of being regularly forced to do things by somebody strict or forceful.

brown [braʊn] ◇ adj -1. [hair, eyes, trousers] of the color of wood or chocolate. ■ brown bread bread made from whole-wheat flour. -2. [skin, leg, person] tanned □ You're looking very brown! ◇ n the color of wood or chocolate □ She never wears brown. ◇ vt to cook <meat> until it becomes brown on the outside.

Brown [braʊn], Capability (1715–1783) a British landscape gardener who designed gardens to look natural, when the fashionable style was formal.

Brown, Charlie a US cartoon character, a boy with a large round head and very little hair. He usually feels sorry for himself and has bad luck.

Brown, John (1800–1859) a US campaigner against slavery. A song about him, John Brown's Body, was popular during the American Civil War.

brown-bag vi US to take one's lunch to school, work etc in a brown paper bag.

brownie ['braʊni] n a flat square piece of rich chocolate cake.

◆ Brownie n a junior member of the Guides or Girl Scouts.

Brownie point n an amount of approval that one thinks somebody will get for doing something to help or please somebody else (informal and humorous use) □ He's just trying to get or score Brownie points with the boss.

brown paper n strong brown paper that is normally used for wrapping packages.

brown rice n rice that has not had its outer covering removed.

brownstone ['braʊnstəʊn] n a type of house built of red-brown stone, common in New York City.

brown sugar n sugar that has a dark color because it has not been refined or because it has only partly been refined.

Brown v. the Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas [-tə'pi:kə-] n a famous court case in the USA in 1954. The decision meant that black people could go to the same schools as white people.

browse [braʊz] vi -1. [customer] to look at the things for sale in a relaxed way without looking for anything in particular □ "Can I help you, sir?" — "No thanks, I'm just browsing." -2. [person] to look through a magazine, book, computer file etc quickly, reading only parts of it □ He browsed through the newspapers. -3. [cow, deer, goat] to eat plants, leaves etc in a slow relaxed way.

bruise [bru:z] ◇ n -1. [on one's face, arm] a brownish or blue mark on the skin that is the result of an injury, especially one caused by being hit by somebody or something □ She had a dark bruise beneath her eye. -2. [on fruit] an area on the skin of a piece of fruit that is darker and softer than the rest, e.g. because it has been dropped or squashed. ◇ vt -1. [knee, fruit] to make one or more bruises on <sthg>. -2. to hurt <sb's feelings, ego> etc □ You've just bruised his ego, that's all. ◇ vi [person, fruit] Soft fruit bruises easily.

bruised [bru:zd] adj -1. [face, arm, apple] that has a bruise or bruises on it. -2. [ego, feelings] hurt by a particular event or situation.

brunch [brʌntʃ] n a meal eaten in the late morning instead of breakfast and lunch.

Brunei ['bru:nei] a country in northern Borneo. SIZE: 5,765 sq kms. POPULATION: 300,000 (Bruneians). CAPITAL: Bandar Seri Begawan. LANGUAGE: Malay. CURRENCY: Brunei dollar.

Brunel [bru:'nel] Isambard Kingdom (1806–1859) a British engineer and inventor who designed some of the world's largest bridges and ships.

brunette [bru:'net] n a girl or woman with brown hair.

brunt [brʌnt] n to bear OR take the brunt of sth [of an attack, somebody's anger] to be affected by the worst or main part of sth □ The front of the building bore the full brunt of the explosion.

brush [brʌʃ] ◇ n -1. an object made of hairs, fibers, or bristles attached to a handle that is used for cleaning or tidying something, or for spreading a substance, e.g. paint, on a surface □ a dustpan and brush. -2. to have a brush with death/the law to experience a situation in which one is almost killed/arrested.

◇ vt -1. [one's hair, an animal's coat] to tidy <sthg> with a brush; [one's teeth, shoes] to clean <sthg> with a brush. -2. to brush sth away/back etc to move sth away/back etc by touching it quickly and lightly with one's hands or fingers □ He brushed the mosquito away. □ She brushed the crumbs off her sweater. -3. [face, wall] to touch <sb/sthg> very lightly without meaning to □ His hand brushed her cheek.

◆ brush aside vt sep to brush sth aside [complaint, accusation, worry] to treat sth as if it is not important □ She brushed aside doubts over her fitness with a fine win.

◆ brush off vt sep to brush sb off to ignore or be rude to sb □ I tried to speak to him, but he just brushed me off.

◆ brush up vt sep to brush sth up [one's English, math, typing] to improve one's knowledge or standard of sth □ You really should brush up your French before we go.

◆ brush up on vt fus to brush up on sth to brush up sth.

brushed [brʌʃt] adj [nylon, cotton] that has been specially treated to make it softer.

brush-off n to give sb the brush-off to reject sb very rudely (informal use) □ I tried to speak to James, but he just gave me the brush-off.

brushwood [ˈbrʌʃwʊd] n -1. small bushes and trees that grow all over an area of land. -2. dead branches and twigs that have broken off trees.

brushwork [ˈbrʌʃwɜːrk] n the way in which a particular artist uses a brush to paint pictures.

brusque [US brʌsk, GB brusks] adj [person] who speaks in short quick sentences and so seems impolite □ Don't be put off by his brusque manner.

Brussels [ˈbrʌslz] the capital of Belgium and the headquarters of the European Commission, the European Council of Ministers, and NATO. POPULATION: 136,424.

brussels sprout n a green vegetable that looks like a very small cabbage and grows on the side of a tall stem.

brutal [ˈbruːtl] adj -1. [person, treatment] that is cruel and violent □ the brutal murder of this young boy. -2. [truth, honesty] that one cannot ignore but finds hard to accept □ The brutal fact is, nobody will lend us any more money.

brutality [bruːtæləti] (pl brutalities) n [of a person, a killing] see brutal □ an act of brutality □ the brutalities he was subjected to at the hands of the enemy.

brutalize, -ise [ˈbruːtəlaɪz] vt -1. to make <sb> become cruel or uncaring □ a society brutalized by the atrocities of war. -2. to treat <sb> in a brutal way.

brutally [ˈbruːtli] adv: see brutal □ He had been brutally murdered. □ To be brutally frank, I hated every minute of it.

brute [bruːt] ◇ adj brute strength/force great strength/force that somebody uses without needing to use skill or thought. ◇ n -1. a large animal □ The poor brute can hardly move. -2. a man who is rough and violent □ He looks like a real brute.

bs abbr of bill of sale.

BS (abbr of Bachelor of Science) n US a science degree; a person who has this degree.

BSA (abbr of Boy Scouts of America) n the BSA the association for scouts in the USA.

BSc (abbr of Bachelor of Science) n a science degree; a person who has this degree.

BSE (abbr of bovine spongiform encephalopathy) n = mad cow disease (technical use).

BSI (abbr of British Standards Institution) n the BSI in Britain, the organization that sets standards for units of measurement and controls the quality of manufactured goods.

B-side n [of a single] the side of a record or cassette that contains a less well-known or important song.

BSkyB [ˈbɪːskɑːbɪː] (abbr of British Sky Broadcasting) a British satellite television company.

BST abbr of British Summer Time.

Bt. abbr of baronet.

btu (abbr of British thermal unit) n a unit (1055.06 joules) used for measuring heat.

bubble [ˈbʌbl] ◇ n a ball of air or gas inside a thin wall of liquid □ He was blowing bubbles through his straw. □ soap bubbles. ◇ vi

-1. [water, soup] to produce bubbles; to make the sound of bubbles being produced in a boiling liquid □ The percolator bubbled on the stove. -2. to bubble with sth [with enthusiasm, confidence, excitement] to have a lot of sth □ She was bubbling with excitement.

bubble bath n a liquid or powder added to a bath to produce foam and a pleasant smell.

bubble gum n a kind of chewing gum that one can blow bubbles with.

bubblejet printer [ˈbʌblɪdʒet-] n a printer that sprays ink to produce letters on the paper.

bubbly [ˈbʌbli] (compar bubblier, superl bubbliest) ◇ adj -1. [water, wine] that is full of bubbles. -2. [person] who is lively and cheerful □ She has a very bubbly personality. ◇ n champagne (informal use).

Bucharest [ˈbʊːkəˈrest] the capital of Romania and its largest city. POPULATION: 2,064,474.

buck [bʌk] (pl sense 1 buck OR bucks) ◇ n

-1. ZOOLOGY the male of certain animals, e.g. a rabbit, deer, or goat. -2. a dollar □ It cost me fifty bucks. ■ to make a fast OR quick buck to make money quickly and easily, especially by doing something dishonest (informal use). -3. phrases the buck stops here a phrase used to say that one is responsible for something and will not pass the responsibility on to somebody else. ■ to pass the buck to avoid taking responsibility for something by saying that somebody else is responsible for it.

◇ vi [horse] to jump in the air with all four feet off the ground.

◇ vt -1. [horse] to throw off  by bucking. -2. to buck a trend to do something that is different from a trend □ True, some markets have fallen sharply, but others have bucked the trend. ■ to buck the system to do something that a system tries to stop people doing.

◆ buck up ◇ vt sep (informal use) -1. to buck sb up to help sb to feel more cheerful □ That's good news — it's really bucked me up! -2. to buck one's ideas up to make an effort to improve one's behavior, performance etc □ You need to buck your ideas up, young man! ◇ vi (informal use) -1. to hurry up □ Buck up! We're late! -2. to start being more cheerful □ Buck up! Don't look so sad!

bucket [ˈbʌkət] n an open container with a handle that is usually made of metal or plastic and is used for holding and carrying water, sand etc; the contents of this container □ The bucket was full. □ a bucket of water.

◆ buckets npl buckets of sthg a lot of sthg (informal use) □ They've got buckets of money/time.

Buckingham Palace ['bʌkɪŋəm-] the official home of the British royal family in central London.

Buckinghamshire ['bʌkɪŋəmʃə] a county in southern England. SIZE: 1,883 sq kms. POPULATION: 627,300. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Aylesbury.

buckle ['bʌkl] ◇ n a metal fastener at one end of a belt or strap with a spike that fits into a hole in the other end. ◇ vt [belt, shoe] to fasten <sthg> with a buckle. ◇ vi -1. [wheel, metal] to make sthg bend out of shape □ The girders buckled in the heat. -2. [legs, knees] to bend because one is extremely weak or tired □ Her legs buckled (under her) and she collapsed.

◆ buckle down vi to start working seriously at something □ It's about time you buckled down to those reports.

◆ buckle up vi US to fasten one's safety belt.

Bucks abbr of Buckinghamshire.

buck's fizz n GB a drink made from champagne and orange juice.

buckshot ['bʌkʃɒt] n balls of lead that are shot from a gun, used especially for hunting animals and birds.

buckskin ['bʌkskɪn] n soft, strong, yellow-gray leather made from the skin of a deer □ a pair of buckskin gloves.

buckteeth [bʌk'ti:θ] npl front teeth that stick out.

buckthorn ['bʌkθɔ:rn] n a small tree or shrub found in the Northern hemisphere that has thorns, small green flowers, and blue-black berries.

buckwheat ['bʌkwɪ:t] n cereal with a small black grain used for making flour and feeding animals.

bud [bʌd] (pt & pp budded, cont budding) ◇ n a small pointed growth on the stem of a plant that opens up to become a flower or leaf □ a flower bud. ■ to nip sthg in the bud to stop sthg at an early stage before it becomes fully developed □ It's best to nip this sort of behavior in the bud. ◇ vi [tree, plant] to grow buds.

Budapest [ˌbju:əp'est] the capital of Hungary and its largest city, on the Danube. POPULATION: 2,016,774.

Buddha ['bʊdə] (563–483 BC) a name given to Gautama Siddhartha, an Indian religious teacher who founded Buddhism.

Buddhism ['bʊdɪzəm] n an Eastern religion based on the teachings of Buddha.

Buddhist ['bʊdɪst] ◇ n a follower of Buddhism. ◇ adj: a Buddhist monk/temple.

budding ['bʊdɪŋ] adj a budding poet/artist etc a person who is trying to make a career of being a poet/an artist etc and looks as if they will become successful.

buddy ['bʌdi] (pl buddies) n a friend (informal use).

budge [bʌdʒ] ◇ vt to make <sb/sthg> move □ The drawer's stuck and I can't budge it. ◇ vi -1. to move slightly □ The car won't budge. □ He hasn't budged from his chair all day. -2. to change one's opinion about something □ She refuses to budge on the issue. □ It's no good, his mind's made up and he won't budge.

budgerigar ['bʌdʒəɪgɑ:ɪ] n a small green, yellow, or blue bird that is often kept in a cage as a pet and can copy people's voices.

budget ['bʌdʒət] ◇ n -1. a plan that shows how much money a person or organization has available and how it will be spent □ I have drawn up a budget for the project. -2. the amount of money available for a particular purpose or to a particular person or group □ Our budget won't stretch that far.

◇ vt [money, time] to plan how to spend <sthg> □ These are our budgeted requirements for next year.

◇ vi to make a plan of how one is going to spend the money that one has available □ We'll have to budget carefully to make the money last.

◇ adj [travel, vacation, price] cheap □ budget accommodation.

◆ Budget n POLITICS a statement made by a government that gives details about the money they will collect from taxes and how they plan to spend it.

◆ budget for ◇ vt fus to budget for sthg to include the cost of sthg in one's budget □ I hadn't budgeted for two more members of staff.

budget account n -1. an account at a department store that allows customers to make monthly payments for the things they have bought. -2. an account with a bank that customers can make regular payments into for household bills.

budgetary [US 'bʌdʒətəri, GB -ɪtri] adj [policy, planning] that is connected with the money a person or organization has and how they spend it □ budgetary constraints.

budgie ['bʌdʒɪ] n = budgerigar (informal use).

Buenos Aires [ˌbweɪnəs'aɪrɪz] the capital of Argentina and its largest city. POPULATION: 2,960,976.

buff [bʌf] ◇ adj [envelope, file] pale brown. ◇ n a person who knows a lot about a particular subject and is enthusiastic about it (informal use) □ a movie buff.

buffalo ['bʌfələʊ] (pl buffalo OR buffaloes OR buffalos) n -1. a large animal like a cow that has curved horns and lives mainly in Africa. -2. an animal like a cow with a large head and a humped back that used to be common in North America.

Buffalo Bill [ˌbʌfələʊ'bil] (1846–1917) a US army scout who later became an entertainer, touring the USA and Europe with his Wild West Show. His real name was William Cody.

buffer ['bʌfə] n -1. a person or thing that protects somebody or something from harm □

The welfare state acts as a buffer against extreme poverty. -2. COMPUTING a part of a computer's memory where data can be stored temporarily. -3. GB RAIL = bumper.

buffer state n a small, usually neutral, country that is situated between two larger rival countries and reduces the chances of conflict between them.

buffet¹ [US 'bʌfɪt, GB 'bʊfɪt] n -1. a meal, usually at a party or organized event, where people serve themselves prepared food from a table and often eat it standing up □ a buffet lunch/meal. -2. a place in a train or bus station where one can buy food or drink and sit down to have it □ the station buffet. -3. = buffet car.

buffet² [ˈbʌfət] vt to keep pushing against <sb/sthg> violently □ We were buffeted by the wind.

buffet car [US 'bʌfɪr, GB 'bʊfɪr] n a part of a train where drinks, sandwiches etc are sold.

buffoon [ˈbʊːn] n a person who behaves in a way one thinks is ridiculous and foolish (old-fashioned use).

bug [bʌg] (pt & pp bugged, cont bugging) ◇ n -1. any small insect. -2. MEDICINE a minor illness, e.g. a cold or a stomach infection, that is easily caught from another person □ There's a bug going around at the moment. □ a stomach bug. -3. TECHNOLOGY a small device that is hidden in somebody's home, telephone etc in order to listen secretly to their conversations. -4. COMPUTING a small fault in a computer program. -5. the travel/gardening etc bug a very strong and often sudden enthusiasm for travel/gardening etc (informal use) □ He's been bitten by the music bug.

◇ vt -1. to put a bug in <sb's room, telephone> etc. -2. to annoy <sb> (informal use) □ Quit bugging me!

bugbear [ˈbʌgbɛə] n something that one generally finds very annoying or worrying □ Junk mail is a real bugbear of mine.

bugger[∇] [ˈbʌgə] GB (very informal use) ◇ n -1. a word used to talk to or about an unpleasant person in a way that shows one is annoyed by them □ He's a selfish bugger. -2. a word used to pretend to be rude about somebody one likes as a joke □ You silly bugger! -3. a word used to describe a difficult task or job or something that causes a problem □ Having to get up at five each morning is a real bugger. ◇ excl a word used to show that one is annoyed.

◆ bugger off[∇] vi bugger off! go away! (very informal use).

buggy [ˈbʌɡɪ] (pl buggies) n -1. a small carriage that is pulled by one horse. -2. a vehicle for a baby or young child that is pushed.

bugle [ˈbjuːɡl] n a small brass musical instrument, similar to a trumpet but smaller and simpler, that is used especially in the army.

build [bɪld] (pt & pp built) ◇ vt -1. [house, bridge, aircraft] to make <sthg> by joining separate parts together □ They're building a new supermarket on the edge of town. ■ to be built of sthg [of bricks, wood] to be built using sthg as the main material □ Most of these office buildings are built of reinforced concrete. -2. [relationship, society] to develop or create <sthg> gradually and carefully □ They are trying to build a better world. -3. to build sthg into a wall/room etc to build sthg so that it is part of a wall/room etc and not just fixed to it □ The lighting is built into the ceiling. -4. to build sthg into a system/contract etc to make sthg part of a system/contract etc □ A monthly allowance is built into the agreement.

◇ n the shape or size of a person's body □ a man of medium/large build.

◆ build on ◇ vt sep to build sthg on sthg to use sthg as the basis of sthg else □ This company is built on democratic principles. ◇ vi fus to build on sthg [on success, a relationship, result] to develop sthg further □ We must build on the progress we have made this year.

◆ build up ◇ vt sep -1. to build sthg up [speed, business, reputation] to gradually increase the size or amount of sthg □ Over the years we've built up a lot of international contacts. -2. to build sthg up [trust, confidence, hatred] to develop sthg so that one feels it more strongly □ It takes a while to build up trust between doctor and patient. ◇ vi [clouds, traffic, tension] to increase or develop gradually □ The anger was building up inside her, waiting to explode.

◆ build upon vt sep & vi fus = build on.

builder [ˈbɪldə] n a person whose job is to build or repair houses and other buildings.

building [ˈbɪldɪŋ] n -1. a structure, e.g. a house or factory, that has walls and a roof □ an office building. -2. the work of building houses, bridges etc □ building materials □ the building industry/trade □ Building work began last month.

building and loan association n US an organization that keeps money for people who want to save it and uses it to give loans to people who want to buy a home.

building block n -1. one of a set of wooden or plastic blocks used as a toy for a child to build things with. -2. one of the basic parts that go together to make something.

building contractor n a person whose job is to organize the building of houses, offices etc.

building site n a place where a building is being built.

building society n GB an organization that keeps money for people who want to save it and uses it to lend money to people who want to buy a home □ a building society account.

buildup [ˈbɪldʌp] n [of traffic, weapons, troops] a gradual increase in the number or amount of people or things at a particular time □ There are fears of a military buildup in the region. □ There will be a big publicity buildup to the launch. □ 'Prevents the buildup of limescale in kettles and irons.'

built [bɪlt] ◇ past tense & past participle of build. ◇ adj to be built for sthg/to do sthg to be specially designed for sthg/to do sthg □ This vehicle is not built for speed/to carry heavy loads. □ Our shoes are built to last.

built-in adj [closet, clause, safety device] that has been built into something.

built-up adj a built-up area an area where there are a lot of buildings.

bulb [bʌlb] n -1. ELECTRICITY the rounded glass part of an electric lamp that produces light □ a 100-watt bulb □ a naked bulb. -2. [of a flower, plant] the rounded root of some plants, e.g. a daffodil, onion, or tulip, that the plant grows from □ a tulip bulb. -3. [of an object] a rounded part on an object such as a thermometer.

bulbous ['bʌlbʊəs] adj [nose, shape] that looks large, round, and unattractive.

Bulgaria [bʌl'ɡeəriə] a country in southeastern Europe, on the Black Sea, between Romania and Greece. It was a Communist state from 1947 to 1989. SIZE: 111,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 9,000,000 (Bulgarians). CAPITAL: Sofia. LANGUAGE: Bulgarian. CURRENCY: lev.

bulge [bʌldʒ] ◇ n -1. [on a surface] a rounded mass that forms on a normally flat surface □ There was a strange bulge on the wall. -2. [in the population, birthrate] a sudden, but temporary, increase. ◇ vi to stick out and form a rounded mass, especially because there is not enough space □ His stomach bulged out over his belt. ■ to be bulging with sthg [bag, case, folder] to be so full of sthg that it bulges □ The file was bulging with papers.

bulging ['bʌldʒɪŋ] adj [pocket, bag, file] that is so full that it bulges; [stomach, muscle] that is so large that it bulges; [eyes, veins] that seem to stick out, especially because of emotion or physical effort.

bulimia [bjʊ'limiə], bulimia nervosa [bjʊ'lim-iənə:'vɔʊsə] n a medical condition in which people, especially young women, eat large amounts of food, usually secretly, and then make themselves sick.

bulimic [bjʊ'limɪk] ◇ adj who is suffering from bulimia. ◇ n a bulimic person.

bulk [bʌlk] ◇ n -1. [of an object] the large size of something □ The package was a problem because of its sheer bulk. -2. [of a person, animal] a body that is large and heavy □ He lowered his bulk onto the sofa. -3. in bulk [buy, sell] in large quantities □ We find it's cheaper to buy in bulk. -4. the bulk of sthg most of sthg □ The bulk of complaints came from older viewers. ◇ adj [order, sale, purchase] that involves something that is bought or sold in bulk □ We offer special bulk rates for orders of over 100 units.

bulk buying [-'baɪɪŋ] n the act of buying goods in bulk.

bulkhead ['bʌlkhed] n a wall inside a ship or plane that divides it into separate parts.

bulky ['bʌlkɪ] (compar bulkier, superl bulkiest) adj [package, equipment] large, heavy, and awkward to move or carry; [pullover, jacket] thick and large.

bull [bʊl] n -1. FARMING a male cow. -2. ZOOLOGY the male of some animals, e.g. an elephant or seal □ a bull elephant. -3. FINANCE a person who buys shares when they think share prices are going to rise in order to sell them at a higher price later. -4.▽ a word used to show that one thinks something is completely untrue (very informal use) □ That's a load of bull!

bulldog ['bʊldɒg] n a small strong dog with short legs, a short neck, and a large broad head.

bulldog clip n GB a large metal clip with a spring, used for holding papers together.

bulldoze ['bʊldoʊz] vt -1. [earth, stones, trees] to move or remove <sthg> with a bulldozer in order to make a level surface □ Whole villages have been bulldozed flat. -2. [building] to destroy <sthg> with a bulldozer. -3. to bulldoze sb into sthg to force sb into sthg □ He was bulldozed into selling. ■ to bulldoze one's way into/through sthg to force one's way into/through sthg □ She bulldozed her way to the top of the business.

bulldozer ['bʊldoʊzə] n a powerful vehicle with a metal blade at the front that is used to knock down buildings, move earth etc.

bullet ['bʊlɪt] n -1. [for a gun] a small metal object with a pointed end that is fired from a gun. -2. PRINTING a large dot used in texts to show the start of an important section.

bulletin ['bʊlətɪn] n -1. a short news report or an official public statement about a matter of public interest that is broadcast on TV or on the radio □ We will be bringing you news bulletins throughout the night. -2. a regular publication or report produced by an organization, association etc.

bulletin board n -1. a board on a wall on which notices are displayed. -2. COMPUTING a system that allows computer users to send each other messages and information.

bullet-proof adj [vest, glass, car] that is designed to stop bullets passing through.

bullfight ['bʊlfait] n a traditional form of entertainment in Spain and other countries in which a man fights and usually kills a bull.

bullfighter ['bʊlfaitə] n a man who fights bulls in bullfights.

bullfighting ['bʊlfaitɪŋ] n the act or sport of fighting bulls.

bullion ['bʊljən] n gold or silver in the form of bars □ gold bullion.

bullish ['bʊlɪʃ] adj FINANCE [market, trend] that shows a rise in prices; [person] who expects a rise in prices.

bull market n a situation in which people buy shares because it appears that the price of shares is going to rise.

bullock ['bʊlək] n a young bull that cannot breed.

bullring ['bʊlɪŋ] n a round area of ground surrounded by seats where bullfights take place.

bull's-eye n the small circle at the center of a target in shooting, darts, or archery; a shot or throw with which one hits this circle.

bullshit▽ ['bʊlʃɪt] (pt & pp bullshitted, cont bullshitting) (vulgar use) ◇ n a word used to show that one thinks something is untrue or a lie. ◇ vi to talk nonsense.

bul terrier n a strong dog with short, often white, hair and a long flat nose.

bully ['bʊli] (pl bullies, pt & pp bullied) ◇ n a person who acts in an aggressive and unpleasant way to somebody who is weaker, e.g. to frighten them or to make them do something □ Don't be such a bully! ◇ vt [student, staff] to behave in an aggressive and unpleasant way toward <sb who is weaker> □ She was bullied at school. ■ to bully sb into doing sthg to persuade sb to do sthg by being aggressive and forceful □ Don't let him bully you into going.

bullying ['bʊliŋ] n aggressive and unpleasant behavior toward somebody who is weaker □ There is concern over increased bullying in schools.

bulrush ['bʊlɹʌʃ] n a tall plant that grows near water and has a thick stem with a soft brown part at the top.

bum [bʌm] (pt & pp bummed, cont bumbling) (informal use) n -1. a tramp. -2. a person who one thinks does not do any work and is very lazy □ You lazy bum! -3. GB one's bottom.

◆ bum around vi -1. to spend time being lazy and doing nothing worthwhile or useful □ He bums around at home all day watching TV. -2. to travel from one place to another for pleasure, with very little money.

bum bag n GB a small leather or plastic bag for valuables, worn on a belt outside one's clothes.

bumblebee ['bʌmblbi:] n a large furry bee.

bumbling ['bʌmblɪŋ] adj [person] who seems clumsy, confused, and inefficient.

bumf [bʌmf] n GB written material containing information about an organization, service etc that is usually given out in large quantities and often considered boring (informal use).

bump [bʌmp] ◇ n -1. [on one's knee, head] a small round swelling on one's body, often caused by hitting some object; [on the ground, a slope] an uneven raised part of a flat surface □ He's got a big bump on his head. □ There was a bump in the road. -2. [in an accident] a knock that a vehicle gets in an accident that is not very serious □ The car got a bump during the storm but nobody was hurt. -3. the dull heavy sound of something falling onto or hitting something else □ There was a loud bump from upstairs.

◇ vt [one's head, knee, car] to hit <sthg> accidentally by knocking it against something else □ I bumped my elbow on/against the door.

◇ vi to bump along [car, truck] to move over an uneven surface.

◆ bump into vt fus -1. to bump into sb/sthg [into a table, door, child] to hit sb/sthg accidentally with a part of one's body □ She kept bumping into things in the dark. -2. to bump into sb [friend, colleague] to meet sb by chance □ I bumped into him on my way home.

◆ bump off vt sep to bump sb off to kill sb (informal use).

◆ bump up vt sep to bump sthg up [sales, production, price] to increase sthg (informal use).

bumper ['bʌmpə] ◇ adj [harvest, crop, pack] larger than usual. ◇ n -1. AUTO a bar fixed at the front and back of a car that protects it if it bumps into something. -2. US RAIL one of a pair of metal disks fixed to springs at both ends of a car or at the end of a railroad track to reduce the shock when cars bump against each other or when a train hits the end of the track.

bumper-to-bumper adj [cars, traffic] driving slowly with each vehicle very close to the next one.

bumpy ['bʌmpɪ] (compar bumpier, superl bumpiest) adj -1. [surface, road, ground] that has many bumps. -2. [ride, trip] that is uncomfortable because the road or surface has many bumps.

bun [bʌn] n -1. US a small round loaf of bread for one person □ a hamburger bun. -2. a small sweet roll that often contains currants or spices □ a fruit bun. -3. a hairstyle consisting of long hair gathered in a round shape at the top or back of the head □ She wore her hair in a bun.

bunch [bʌntʃ] ◇ n -1. [of people] a group of people who are similar in some way □ They're a bunch of crooks. □ Her family are a strange bunch. -2. a bunch of flowers a number of cut flowers that are tied or held together □ a bunch of roses. -3. a bunch of grapes/bananas etc a number of grapes/bananas etc that have grown together on the same stem. -4. a bunch of keys a number of keys that are held together with a keyring, piece of string etc. ◇ vt to group or gather <several things> together to form a bunch □ We all sat bunched together in the back of the van. ◇ vi [people] to form a small group with everybody very close to each other.

◆ bunches npl GB a hairstyle for women and girls consisting of long hair gathered and tied in two sections, one on either side of the head □ She wore her hair in bunches.

bundle ['bʌndl] ◇ n [of papers, clothes, wood] a number of things or pieces that are gathered, piled, or tied together □ He carried a large bundle of papers. ◇ vt to push or put <sb/sthg> somewhere quickly and without being careful □ They were bundled into a waiting taxi. □ She bundled some clothes into a suitcase. □ We were bundled off to school in a big car.

◆ bundle up vt sep -1. to bundle sthg up [papers, wood] to put sthg into bundles. -2. to bundle sb up to dress <sb> in warm clothes □ She bundled the baby up in a blanket.

bundled software ['bʌndld-] n the programs that are included in the price when one buys computer hardware and software together.

bung [bʌŋ] ◇ n a round piece of rubber, wood, plastic etc used to close the hole in a - container. ◇ vt GB to throw or put <sthg> somewhere in a careless way (informal use).

- bungalow ['bʌŋɡələʊ] n a house with only one story.
- bunged up [bʌŋd-] adj to be bunged up [nose, drain] to be blocked (informal use).
- bungee-jumping ['bʌndʒi:dʒʌmpɪŋ] n the sport of jumping from a bridge, building etc with an elastic cord attached to one's body to prevent one from hitting the ground.
- bungle ['bʌŋɡl] vt [job, robbery, operation] to do <sthg> badly with the result that it fails.
- union ['bʌnjən] n a painful swelling on the first joint of one's big toe.
- bunk [bʌŋk] n -1. [on a ship, train] a narrow bed attached to a wall. -2. = bunk bed. -3. a word used to describe something that one thinks is stupid and untrue (informal use) □ What a load of bunk!
- bunk bed n one of two beds fixed one above the other.
- bunker ['bʌŋkə] n -1. MILITARY a building, often built underground, that is used to protect people from bombs and gunfire □ a concrete bunker. -2. [for coal] a container or place for storing coal □ a coal bunker. -3. GOLF a large hole on a golf course that is filled with sand □ a sand bunker.
- Bunker Hill the place outside Boston where the first important battle of the American Revolution was fought, on June 17, 1775.
- bunkhouse ['bʌŋkhaʊs, pl -haʊzɪz] n a building where the workers on a ranch sleep.
- bunny ['bʌni] (pl bunnies) n a word used by children to refer to a rabbit.
- bunny hill n US a ski slope for beginners.
- bunny rabbit n = bunny.
- Bunsen burner [ˌbʌnsn-] n a device used in laboratories for heating chemicals that produces a strong flame using gas.
- bunting ['bʌntɪŋ] n small colored flags on a long string that are hung up in streets on special occasions □ The streets were decorated with bunting.
- buoy [US 'buɪ, GB bɔɪ] n a floating object that is attached to the bottom of a river or the sea by a rope or chain and marks the areas where boats can and cannot sail.
- ◆ buoy up vt sep to buoy sb up to make sb feel more cheerful or confident.
- buoyancy [US 'buɪjənsɪ, GB 'bɔɪənsɪ] n: see buoyant □ a feeling of buoyancy.
- buoyant [US 'buɪjənt, GB 'bɔɪənt] adj -1. [object] that can float in a liquid. -2. [person] who is optimistic and cheerful □ He was in a buoyant mood.
- burden ['bɜːrɪdn] ◇ n -1. a heavy object or load that a person or animal has to carry. -2. a person or thing that causes a lot of worry, work etc for the person who feels responsible for them □ She has become a burden on her family. □ Our long-term aim is to decrease the tax burden on the public. ◇ vt to burden sb with sthg [with a problem, a responsibility, tax] to force sb to have to deal with sthg in addition to what they already have □ I don't want to burden you with my problems/extra work.
- bureau ['bjʊərəʊ] (pl bureaux OR bureaus) n -1. POLITICS in the USA, a government department. -2. BUSINESS an office or agency that collects and provides information. -3. US [for clothes] a chest of drawers. -4. GB = writing bureau.
- bureaucracy [bjʊə'ɒkrəsi] (pl bureaucracies) n -1. a system of administration that employs a large number of officials; the officials who work in this system □ an overworked and inefficient bureaucracy. -2. administrative rules and procedures that are complicated and confusing □ He hates bureaucracy.
- bureaucrat ['bjʊərəkræt] n an official who works in a bureaucracy (disapproving use) □ I'm tired of dealing with government bureaucrats.
- bureaucratic [ˌbjʊərə'krætɪk] adj [system, procedure] that involves following the complicated rules of a particular organization and can be slow and frustrating □ The whole experience was a bureaucratic nightmare.
- bureau de change [-dʒɑːndʒ] (pl bureaux de change) n GB a place, e.g. a counter in a bank or travel agent's, where customers can change money into another currency.
- bureaux ['bjʊərəʊz] plural of bureau.
- burger ['bɜːgə] n a hamburger.
- burglar ['bɜːglə] n a person who enters buildings illegally and steals things.
- burglar alarm n an electronic device that makes a loud ringing noise when somebody tries to enter a building secretly and illegally.
- burglarize ['bɜːgləraɪz] vt US [house, office] to enter  illegally to steal things.
- burglary ['bɜːgləri] (pl burglaries) n the crime of burglarizing a building □ We reported the burglary to the police.
- burgle ['bɜːgl] vt GB = burglarize.
- burial ['berɪəl] n the act or ceremony of burying a dead person □ Chris wasn't at the burial.
- burial ground n a place where people are buried □ an ancient burial ground.
- Burke and Wills [ˌbɜː'kænd'wɪlz] Robert Burke (1821–1861) and William Wills (1834–1861), the first European explorers to cross Australia from the north to the south, in 1860.
- Burke's Peerage [ˌbɜː'ks-] n a book that lists the names and titles of all the British aristocratic families.
- burly ['bɜːli] (compar burlier, superl burliest) adj [man] who is big, strong, and heavy.
- Burma ['bɜːmə] = Myanmar.
- Burmese [ˌbɜː'miːz] (pl Burmese) n & adj: see Myanmar.
- burn [bɜːn] (pt & pp burned OR burnt) ◇ vi -1. [paper, car, building] to produce flames and great heat and be damaged or destroyed □ She could smell something burning upstairs. -2. [fuel, coal] to be able to start and continue to burn □ I can't get this wood to burn. -3. [candle, fire] to give heat or light after being lit □ The lamps burned brightly. -4. [food] to be spoiled by being cooked for too long or in heat that is too great □ The toast's burning! -5. [acid, alcohol, lotion] to cause a hot painful feeling when it is drunk or put on one's skin. -6. [face, cheek] to feel very hot because one is ill or embarrassed. -7. [person, skin] to become sunburned □ I burn easily. -8. to burn with sthg [with anger, desire] to feel sthg very strongly □ He was burning with rage.

◇ vt -1. [object, document, building] to destroy <sthg> by fire □ They were burning trash in the back yard. □ The house was burned to the ground. -2. [meat, toast, cake] to spoil <food> by cooking it for too long or in heat that is too great □ I've left the stove on and burned the vegetables! -3. [coal, wood, oil] to use <sthg that burns> as a fuel □ a wood/coal-burning stove. -4. [person, skin, hand] to damage the skin of <sb or part of sb's body> by heat, fire, or chemicals □ I burned myself on the oven. □ I got badly burned in the sun.

◇ n -1. [on a person] a wound caused by burning □ I got a nasty burn from the iron. □ a burn mark. -2. [on an object, fabric] a mark or hole caused by burning □ a cigarette/acid burn.

◆ burn down ◇ vt sep to burn sthg down [town, building] to destroy sthg by fire □ Fire/An arsonist burned down the factory. ◇ vi -1. [town, building] His house burned down in the fire. -2. [fire, candle] to burn less brightly.

◆ burn out ◇ vt sep to burn oneself out to make oneself ill or very tired by working or exercising too hard over a period of time (informal use). ◇ vi [fire] to stop burning because there is no wood, coal etc left to burn.

◆ burn up ◇ vt sep to burn sthg up [fuel, energy] to use a lot of <sthg> □ Swimming is a good way of burning up excess calories. ◇ vi [rocket, satellite] to be destroyed by fire, especially when re-entering the Earth's atmosphere.

burner ['bɜːnə] n one of the parts of a stove that produces flames or heat.

burning ['bɜːnɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. [desert, heat, sun] very hot □ I could feel the burning heat of the flames. -2. [face, cheek] that feels hot because one is ill or embarrassed. -3. a burning interest/desire etc a very strong interest/desire etc □ It was her burning ambition to fly a plane. ■ a burning question OR issue a subject that people are thinking about and feel strongly about at a particular time. -4. [car, wreckage] that is on fire □ They pulled his body out of the burning ruins of the house. ◇ adv burning hot very hot □ a burning hot day.

burnish ['bɜːnɪʃ] vt [metal, surface] to polish <sthg> so that it shines.

burnout ['bɜːnaʊt] n -1. [of a machine] a breakdown caused by overheating. -2. [of a person] illness or extreme tiredness that is caused by working too hard over a period of time.

Burns ['bɜːnz], Robert (1759–1796) a Scottish poet who wrote many poems about love and everyday country life. He is considered the national poet of Scotland.

Burns Night n January 25, the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. Scottish people celebrate it by eating traditional Scottish food, reading Burns' poetry, and singing his songs.

burnt [bɜːnt] past tense & past participle of burn.

burnt-out adj -1. [building, car] that has been completely destroyed by fire □ the burnt-out shell of a house. -2. [person] who is ill or very tired because they have done too much work or exercise over a period of time □ If you're not careful, you'll be burnt-out by the time you're forty.

burp [bɜːp] ◇ vi [person] to make a noise by letting gas from the stomach out through the mouth (informal use). ◇ vt to make  bring up air from its stomach after eating by rubbing or gently hitting its back. ◇ n an act of burping (informal use) □ He gave a loud burp.

burrow [US 'bɜːrou, GB 'bʌr-] ◇ n a hole in the ground that an animal, e.g. a rabbit or mole, digs and uses as a place to live. ◇ vi -1. [rabbit, mole, worm] to dig a hole in the ground. -2. [person] to search with one's hands for something that is among other things or in a container □ She burrowed around in her pockets for a coin.

bursar ['bɜːsə] n a person whose job is to control the money and spending of an institution □ the school/college bursar.

bursary ['bɜːsəri] (pl bursaries) n GB an amount of money given to somebody by an institution or organization so that they can study.

burst [bɜːst] (pl & pp burst) ◇ vi -1. [tire, pipe, dam] to break or split open, usually in one place, so that everything that is inside suddenly comes out □ The balloon burst in my face. -2. to burst open [door, lid] to open suddenly and violently □ Suddenly the door burst open and Dave rushed in. -3. to burst into/out of a place to enter/leave a place suddenly and noisily □ He burst into/out of the room. ■ to burst in on sb to suddenly and noisily enter a place where sb is, often interrupting something they are doing □ Sorry to burst in on you like this.

◇ vt [tire, pipe, dam] Don't blow up the balloon too much, you'll burst it!

◇ n [of gunfire, activity] a sudden period of something □ There was a burst of applause.

◆ burst into vt fus -1. to burst into tears/laughter/flames to suddenly start crying/laughing/burning. -2. to burst into flower OR bloom to produce a lot of flowers suddenly □ Every summer the roses burst into flower.

◆ burst out vt fus -1. to burst out sthg to say sthg suddenly □ "What's going to happen to me?" she burst out. -2. to burst out laughing/crying to start laughing/crying suddenly.

bursting ['bɜːstɪŋ] adj -1. to be bursting [bag, room, town] to be so full that there is no room for anything else; [person] to feel that one has eaten so much that one cannot eat anything more □ The room was bursting with people. □ I can't eat any more, I'm bursting. -2. to be bursting with sthg [with excitement, pride, energy) to be very full of sthg □ She was bursting with enthusiasm/health. -3. to be bursting to do sthg to be very eager to do sthg □ They were bursting to tell us the news.

bury ['beri] (pt & pp buried) vt -1. [person] to put <sb who is dead> into a grave □ He was buried in his home town. -2. [object] to hide <sthg> by putting it in a hole in the ground and covering it with earth □ buried treasure. -3. to bury one's face/head in sthg to press one's face/head against sthg □ She buried her face in her hands/the pillow. -4. to bury oneself in sthg [in work, a book] to give all one's time or attention to sthg.

bus [bas] (pl buses OR busses, pt & pp bused OR bussed, cont using OR bussing) ◇ n -1. a large motor vehicle that carries passengers who pay for trips along a fixed route □ We got on/off the bus. □ I travel to work by bus. □ a bus route/service. □ How much is the bus fare? -2. COMPUTING an electronic channel through which data is transferred between parts of a computer. ◇ vt -1. to take <students> by bus to a school in a different area. -2. to bus tables US to work as a busboy in a restaurant.

busboy ['basbɔɪ] n US a young man whose job is to take away dirty dishes from tables in a restaurant.

bus conductor n GB a person whose job is to collect fares from passengers on a bus.

bus driver n a person whose job is to drive buses.

bush [bʊʃ] n -1. BOTANY a large plant with many branches that is smaller than a tree. -2. the bush the wild area of a hot country, e.g. in Africa or Australia, where few people live. -3. to beat around US OR about GB the bush to avoid saying something directly, usually because it is unpleasant or embarrassing □ There's no need to beat around the bush, just tell me what the problem is.

bushel ['bʊʃl] n a unit (US 35.24 liters, GB 36.4 liters) for measuring amounts of cereals or vegetables.

bushfire ['bʊʃfaɪə] n a fire that has gotten out of control in a wild area of a hot country.

bushy ['bʊʃɪ] (compar bushier, superl bushiest) adj [hair, beard, tail] that is very thick; [plant, tree] that has many branches and leaves growing close together.

busily ['bɪzɪli] adv: see busy □ John was busily preparing dinner when I arrived.

business ['bɪznəs] n -1. [of a company] the activity of buying and selling goods or services to make money □ I'm in the travel/fashion business. □ The firm has been in business for 25 years. □ She's decided to go into business on her own. □ He does a lot of business with German companies. □ How's business? □ We've lost business to foreign competitors. □ business interests/hours □ the business community □ a business trip/partner. ■ to be/go on business [person] to be/go somewhere because of work and not for pleasure □ I'm here on business. □ Are you traveling on business? ■ to go out of business [person, company] to stop trading, usually because one is not making enough money □ Meadgate Leisure went out of business three years ago. -2. an organization that buys and sells goods or provides a service □ He runs the family business. □ I'd like to set up a business of my own one day. -3. one's business something that is one's responsibility, problem etc and does not concern other people □ "Can Dan afford it?" — "That's his business." □ It's none of your business how I spend my time. ■ to have no business doing OR to do sthg to have no right to do sthg □ He had no business telling you what to do. ■ mind your own business! stop taking an interest in things that do not concern you (informal use). -4. a word used to describe an event, activity, situation etc that one finds unusual or disapproves of □ It's a strange/dirty business. □ This strike business has gone on for long enough. -5. phrase to mean business to be serious about what one is doing or threatening to do (informal use) □ When Carson says he'll take you to court, he means business.

business address n the address of the company where one works.

business card n a card that somebody in business gives to their customers and to people they meet, and that shows their name, job, business address etc.

business class n the standard of service and seating on a plane that is cheaper than first class and more expensive than tourist class □ I always fly business class.

business hours npl the hours when stores and offices are open.

businesslike ['bɪznəslaɪk] adj [person] who is efficient and does not waste time on unnecessary things □ in a businesslike manner.

businessman ['bɪznəsmæn] (pl businessmen [-men]) n a man who is in business, especially a manager of a company.

business park n an area, usually outside a town, planned as a place where businesses and offices can be built.

business plan n a document that explains a project that a company wants to carry out, and the costs and profits involved in it.

business reply mail n the system in which a company pays the cost of postage for the letters it receives.

business school n a school or college that specializes in subjects connected with business, e.g. management and commerce.

business suit n US a man's suit that is worn at work rather than at a formal occasion.

businesswoman ['bɪznəsʍumən] (pl businesswomen) n a woman who is in business, especially a manager of a company.

busker ['bʌskə] n GB a person who sings or plays music in a public place such as a street or subway station in order to get money.

bus lane n a lane on a wide street where only buses are allowed to drive.

bus shelter n a structure at a bus stop that has a roof and three sides to protect people waiting there from the weather.

bus station n a place where buses begin and end their trips.

bus stop n a place, usually marked by a pole or shelter, where buses stop to let people get on or off.

bust [bʌst] (pt & pp bust OR busted) \diamond n -1. [of a woman] a woman's breasts; the measurement around a woman's body at the level of her breasts \square Take the measurement just below the bust. \square What bust size are you? -2. [by an artist] a sculpture of a person's head and shoulders \square a marble bust. -3. [by the police] a situation in which the police go into a place quickly and unexpectedly and arrest people there for an illegal activity (informal use) \square a drugs bust.

\diamond vt (informal use) -1. [watch, machine, leg] to break <sthg> \square She bust my calculator. -2. [person] to arrest <sb> \square Stein was busted by the state police for possession of heroin. -3. [house, party] to go into  quickly and unexpectedly to arrest people there for an illegal activity \square The party was busted by the police.

\diamond vi [watch, machine, leg] (informal use) \square The bag has bust.

\diamond adj (informal use) -1. [watch, machine] broken \square The radio's bust. -2. to go bust [person, company] to go bankrupt \square The firm went bust.

bustle ['bʌsl] \diamond n energetic and noisy activity \square I miss the bustle of the city streets. \diamond vi to move somewhere quickly in a determined and energetic way \square She was bustling around in the kitchen.

bustling ['bʌslɪŋ] adj [city, market] that is full of bustle \square the bustling city streets.

bust-up n (informal use) -1. a fight caused by an argument \square There was a bust-up at the bar last night. -2. [of a marriage, relationship] a quarrel that ends a relationship \square They've had a bust-up.

busy ['bɪzi] (compar busier, superl busiest) \diamond adj -1. [person] who has a lot to do and so is active and does not have much free time \square She likes to keep busy. \square Can I call you back? I'm busy at the moment. \square He's busy drafting the new contracts. -2. [week, town, office] that is full of activity \square August is our busiest time of the year. -3. to be busy [phone, line] to be already in use, so that one hears the busy signal \square I tried to call you, but the line was busy. \diamond vt to busy oneself to keep oneself busy \square She busied herself looking for a new job.

busybody ['bɪzɪbɒdɪ] (pl busybodies) n a person who likes to become involved in matters that concern other people and not themselves (disapproving use).

busy lizzie [-'lɪzi] n a pot plant that has pink, red, or white flowers.

busy signal n US the sound that one hears on the telephone when the number that one has dialed is already being used.

but [stressed bʌt, unstressed bət] \diamond conj -1. used before something that contrasts with what has just been said \square Things are looking bad, but we'll pull through. \square I'd love to meet them, but not today. -2. used to add something to what one has just said \square She's like me, but taller. \square

"Have you met him?" — "No, but I've heard a lot about him." -3. used after "I'm sorry", "excuse me" etc \square I'm sorry, but I still think that my idea is best. \square Excuse me, but I couldn't help hearing what you were saying. -4. used to show that one is surprised, shocked, pleased, angry etc \square "He says it's your fault." — "But I wasn't even there!" -5. used when changing the subject \square That's very interesting, but let me tell you something that'll surprise you.

\diamond prep everyone but Joe everyone except Joe \square We've had nothing but rain and wind. \square You have no one to blame but yourself. ■ the last but one GB the one before the last one \square Quality control is the next item but one on the agenda.

\diamond adv only (old-fashioned use) \square We can but try.

◆ but for prep but for her if she had not been there \square But for her I would have died.

◆ but then adv used to explain why something is not surprising \square I get on pretty well with him, but then I've known him for some time.

butane ['bjuːteɪn] n a natural gas used for cooking and heating. FORMULA: C₄H₁₀.

butch [bʊtʃ] adj [woman] who seems more like a man than a woman (informal use).

butcher ['bʊtʃə] \diamond n -1. a person whose job is to sell meat. ■ a butcher's a store where meat is sold. -2. a person who kills somebody in a cruel and violent way. \diamond vt -1. to kill <an animal> for meat. -2. to kill <sb> in a cruel and violent way.

butchery ['bʊtʃəri] n the cruel and violent killing of a lot of people.

butler ['bʊtlə] n a man who is the head servant in a household.

butt [bʌt] \diamond n -1. [of a cigarette] the end of a cigarette that is left when somebody has finished smoking it \square an ashtray full of cigarette butts. -2. [of a gun] the thick end of the handle of a rifle or pistol \square a rifle butt. -3. to be the butt of a joke/criticism to be the person who other people make fun of/criticize \square He became the butt of everybody's cruelty. -4. US one's bottom (informal use) \square Move your butt! \diamond vt to hit <sb> with one's head.

◆ butt in vi to interrupt a conversation or join in an activity without being invited \square Excuse me for butting in. \square She's always butting in on other people's conversations.

butter ['bʌtə] \diamond n a yellow fat made from milk that is used in cooking or spread on bread \square Do you want butter on your sandwich? ■ butter wouldn't melt in his/her mouth a phrase used to describe somebody who behaves as if they could never possibly do anything wrong or unpleasant. \diamond vt [bread, toast] to spread butter on <sthg>.

◆ butter up vt sep to butter sb up to be very nice to sb because one wants them to do something.

butter bean n a large, flat, pale-yellow bean that is cooked and eaten as a vegetable.

buttercup ['bʌtəkʌp] n a small wild plant with bright yellow flowers, common in Europe and North America.

butter dish n a dish for keeping butter in.

buttered ['bʌtəd] adj [toast, bread, potato] that has butter on it.

butterfingers ['bʌtə'fɪŋgəʊz] (pl butterfingers) n a person who often drops things or is not good at catching things (informal use).

butterfly ['bʌtə'flaɪ] (pl butterflies) n -1. ZOOLOGY a flying insect with a thin body and large colorful wings. -2. SPORT (the) butterfly a way of swimming on one's front that involves bringing both arms over one's head and down into the water, while moving one's legs up and down together. -3. phrase to have butterflies (in one's stomach) to be very nervous, usually before an important event (informal use).

buttermilk ['bʌtə'mɪlk] n the liquid that is left after butter has been made from milk.

butterscotch ['bʌtə'skɒtʃ] n a type of hard candy made of butter and brown sugar □ ice cream with butterscotch sauce.

buttocks ['bʌtəks] npl the two soft rounded parts of the body between the lower part of one's back and the top of one's legs that one sits on.

button ['bʌtn] ◇ n -1. CLOTHING a small object, usually round and flat and made of plastic or metal, that is attached to a piece of clothing and is passed through a hole in another part in order to fasten it □ Can you do this button up for me? □ a skirt with buttons up the front. -2. [on a machine] a small round or square object that one presses to switch a machine on or off □ Press the red button. -3. US [on one's lapel] a small piece of metal, plastic, or cloth with a picture or writing on it. ◇ vt = button up.

◆ button up vt sep to button sth up [shirt, coat] to fasten sthg by using buttons □ He buttoned his shirt up hurriedly.

button-down ◇ adj a button-down collar a shirt collar that has a button at each end for fastening it to the front of the shirt.

buttonhole ['bʌtnhəʊl] ◇ n -1. a hole that a button is passed through in order to fasten a piece of clothing. -2. GB a flower that is worn in a buttonhole on the lapel of a jacket. ◇ vt to stop <sb> and make them listen to one □ She buttonholed me on my way to the coffee machine.

button mushroom n a small white mushroom that can be eaten.

butress ['bʌtrəs] ◇ n a stone or brick structure built against a wall or building to make it stronger. ◇ vt [wall, building] to support <sthg> with a butress.

buxom ['bʌksəm] adj [woman, girl] who looks healthy, rounded, and attractive and has large breasts.

buy [baɪ] (pt & pp bought) ◇ vt -1. [food, house, car] to get <sthg> by paying money for it □ I bought it from an antiques dealer. ■ to buy sb sthg, to buy sthg for sb to pay for sthg and give it to sb, usually as a present □ What did you buy her for her birthday? □ Can I buy you a drink? □ I bought myself a new shirt. -2. [judge, politician] to bribe <sb> by giving them money □ He can't be bought. ◇ n something that one has bought or is thinking of buying □ It's a good buy at $50.

◆ buy in vt sep to buy sthg in GB [food, supply] to buy a large amount of sthg, usually to prepare for a future event or shortage.

◆ buy into vt fus to buy into sthg [company, industry] to buy a part of sthg, usually to get more control over it.

◆ buy off vt sep to buy sb off to give money to sb in order to stop them doing something that will harm one □ They bought off the key witness.

◆ buy out vt sep to buy sb out FINANCE to buy the part of a business, property etc owned by sb so that one becomes the only owner of it □ They've offered to buy me out.

◆ buy up vt sep to buy sthg up [property, goods, shares] to buy large amounts of or all of sthg □ They have bought up all the land in the area.

buyer ['baɪə] n -1. a person who buys something □ I think we may have found a buyer for that property. -2. a person whose job is to buy goods or new materials for a company □ She's a buyer for Freebodies.

buyer's market n a situation in which goods are cheap because there are more goods for sale than people who want to buy them.

buyout ['baɪaʊt] n the act of buying enough shares to gain control of a company □ a union/management buyout.

buzz [bʌz] ◇ vi -1. [insect, machine] to make a noise like a bee flying □ There was a fly buzzing around my head. -2. [town, street, office] to be full of activity, excitement, or noise □ The stock exchange was buzzing with excitement. -3. [head, brain] to be full of ideas, thoughts etc □ My mind was still buzzing with curiosity.

◇ vt to call <sb> using a buzzer □ Buzz me on the intercom and I'll let you in.

◇ n -1. [of a bee, machine] the sound made by a bee or machine that buzzes □ the buzz of a mosquito. -2. [of people talking] the sound made by a lot of people talking, usually when they are excited □ There was a sudden buzz of excitement among the crowd. -3. to give sb a buzz to call sb on the telephone (informal use) □ I'll give you a buzz tonight.

◆ buzz off vi buzz off! go away! (informal use).

buzzard ['bʌzəd] n -1. US a large black bird that eats animals that are already dead. -2. GB a large bird of prey belonging to the hawk family.

buzzer ['bʌzə] n a device, e.g. on a clock or intercom, that makes a buzzing sound to attract somebody's attention □ Just press the buzzer if you want to get back into the building.

buzzing ['bʌzɪŋ] n [of a bee, plane, machine] the sound made by something that buzzes □ What's that buzzing noise?

buzzword ['bʌzwɜːd] n a fashionable word or phrase (informal use).

by [baɪ] ◇ prep -1. he was killed by a soldier a soldier killed him (used in passive sentences) □ I was shocked by his reaction. -2. a book by Joyce a book written by Joyce. ■ a speech by the President a speech made by the President. -3. used to show the method or means □ I paid by credit card. □ You turn on the machine by pressing this button. -4. used to show the manner or circumstances □ He took me by the hand. □ We dined by candlelight. -5. to travel by bus/plane used to show the means of transportation used □ Did you come by car? -6. by the window/sea beside or near the window/sea □ He sat by her bed. -7. to pass by sb/sthg to go past sb/sthg □ He rushed by me and shut the door. -8. to come in by the back door to come in through the back door □ We returned from France by Dover this year. -9. I'll be home by 8 o'clock I'll be home at or before 8 o'clock □ By 1918 it was all over. □ They should have been here by now. -10. by day during the daytime □ a postcard of Paris by night. -11. day by day gradually, as each day passes (used to show the speed at which something happens) □ The guests entered the hall one by one. -12. MATH 15 divided by 3 is 5 used in calculations. ■ the room measures 15 feet by 12 the room is 15 feet long and 12 feet wide. -13. paid by the hour paid at a fixed rate for each hour □ Most fabrics are bought/sold by the meter. -14. prices have gone up/down by 10% prices are 10% more/less than before. -15. what did you understand by his comments? what did you think his comments meant? □ What do you mean by "funny"? -16. I'm a plumber by trade my trade is being a plumber. -17. by law according to the law □ You're not allowed to park here by law. -18. phrases I did it by myself I did it without any help □ She painted the entire house all by herself. ■ I'm all by myself I'm all alone □ What are you doing here all by yourself?

 ◇ adv to walk/drive etc by to walk/drive etc past without stopping □ He watched as the horses galloped by.

◆ by and large adv mostly, in most cases □ Your work is fine, by and large. □ By and large, business has been pretty good this year.

bye(-bye) [US 'baɪ(baɪ), GB ,baɪ('baɪ)] excl = good-bye (informal use).

bye-election n = by-election.

byelaw ['baɪlə:] n = bylaw.

by-election n in Britain and Australia, a local election to choose a new Member of Parliament after the last one has retired or died.
 NOTE: Compare general election.

Byelorussia [bɪ,elou'ɾʌʃə] = Belarus.

bygone ['baɪɡɒn] adj [age, day] that existed or happened a long time ago □ music from a bygone era.

◆ bygoness npl to let bygoness be bygoness to forget one's past quarrels with somebody.

bylaw ['baɪlə:] n -1. a local government law that only affects people in that particular area. -2. a rule that affects members of a particular organization.

by-line n a line above a newspaper or magazine article giving the writer's name.

BYO (abbr of bring your own) used to show that people can bring alcoholic drinks into a restaurant □ a BYO restaurant.

☞ BYO

In Australia most cafes and restaurants (except the most expensive ones) are BYO eating places. These places will let you drink alcohol that you have bought somewhere else, but they sometimes make a small extra charge, called corkage, for opening and serving the drink.

bypass [US 'baɪpæs, GB -pɑ:s] ◇ n -1. a road that goes round the edge of a town to join the main road on the other side. -2. MEDICINE a bypass (operation) an operation in which the way that blood flows through the heart is changed so that it avoids a part that is damaged □ a heart bypass operation. ◇ vt -1. [town, city] to avoid  by traveling round it. -2. [manager, procedure, law] to try to get something done more quickly by avoiding having to deal with or obey <sb/sthg> □ I bypassed the personnel officer and went straight to the top.

by-product n -1. INDUSTRY something that is produced as an indirect result of the manufacture of another product □ one of the by-products of the distilling process. -2. [of an event] an indirect or unexpected result of something □ The trade deal was a useful by-product of the peace talks.

Byron ['baɪrən], Lord (1788–1824) a British Romantic poet, known for his wild and unconventional life, who died while fighting for Greek independence.

bystander ['baɪstændə] n a person who is present when something, e.g. a fight or accident, takes place, but does not take part in it □ You were just an innocent bystander.

byte [baɪt] n a unit (6 or 8 bits) of computer data.

byword ['baɪwɜ:d] n to be a byword for sthg to be well-known for sthg and therefore very closely connected with it in people's minds □ That company is a byword for inefficiency.

C

c¹ [si:] (pl c's OR cs), C [si:] (pl C's OR Cs) n the third letter of the English alphabet.

◆ C n -1. MUSIC one of the notes in Western music. -2. EDUCATION an average grade for a piece of work. -3. abbr of Celsius, Centigrade.

c² abbr of century, cent(s), circa.

C4 n abbr of Channel 4.

ca. abbr of circa.

c/a GB -1. abbr of credit account. -2. abbr of current account.

CA ◇ n abbr of chartered accountant. ◇ -1. abbr of California. -2. abbr of Central America.

CAA (abbr of Civil Aviation Authority) n the CAA the organization responsible for aircraft companies and air routes in Britain and Australia.

cab [kæb] n -1. a taxi □ I took a cab to get here. □ They went by cab. □ a cab driver. -2. [of a truck, bus, train] the part of a vehicle where the driver sits.

CAB n abbr of Citizens' Advice Bureau.

cabaret ['kæbəreɪ] n a type of entertainment, e.g. singing, dancing, or comedy, that is provided in a nightclub, restaurant etc □ a cabaret artist/show.

cabbage ['kæbɪdʒ] n a large round vegetable consisting of layers of dark-green, white, or purple leaves.

cabbie, cabby ['kæbi] (pl cabbies) n a taxi driver (informal use).

cabin ['kæbɪn] n -1. [on a ship] a room on a ship for sleeping in □ Can you show me to my cabin? -2. [in a plane] the area in a plane where the pilot sits; the area in a plane where the passengers sit. -3. [in a forest, on a mountain] a small house usually made of wood, with only one main room.

cabin class n the standard of service and accommodation on a ship that is cheaper than first class and more expensive than tourist class.

cabin crew n the people whose job is to look after passengers on a plane.

cabin cruiser n a motorboat with one or more cabins.

cabinet ['kæbɪnət] n a piece of furniture with shelves and doors, used for storing or displaying things □ a display/drink cabinet.

◆ Cabinet n the Cabinet POLITICS the most important members of a government who meet to decide policies □ a member of the Cabinet □ a Cabinet minister.

cabinetmaker ['kæbɪnətmeɪkə] n a person whose job is to make high-quality furniture.

cable ['keɪbl] ◇ n -1. [of metal] a strong thick rope, usually made of metal, and used to support or pull something heavy □ a steel cable. -2. TECHNOLOGY a telegram, -3. ELECTRICITY a wire or group of wires for carrying electricity or information □ Pictures can now be sent via cable. □ a telephone/printer cable. -4. TV = cable television. ◇ vt -1. [money, information] to send <sthg> to somebody by cable. -2. [person] to send <sb> a telegram.

cable car n -1. a vehicle that hangs from a moving cable and is used for taking people up mountains. -2. a car on a cable railway.

cablegram ['keɪblgræm] n a telegram.

cable railway n a railway on which the cars are pulled, usually up steep hills, by a cable under the roadway.

cable television, cable TV n a system of broadcasting television programs through cables □ cable TV channels.

caboodle [kə'bu:dl] n the whole (kit and) caboodle everything (informal use).

cache [kæʃ] ◇ n -1. [of objects] a group of things that have been hidden; a place where things are hidden □ an arms cache. -2. COMPUTING a high-speed area of a computer's memory that stores data temporarily to make it quicker to find □ cache memory. ◇ vt COMPUTING to store <data> in a cache.

cachet [US kæ'ʃeɪ, GB 'kæʃeɪ] n a quality that somebody or something has that other people admire (formal use) □ Owning a Porsche obviously has a certain cachet.

cackle ['kækl] ◇ n -1. [of a hen] the noise made by a hen, usually after laying an egg. -2. [of a person] a loud harsh noise made when somebody laughs or talks □ She let out a cackle of laughter. ◇ vi -1. [hen] to make a cackle. -2. [person] to give a cackle □ The old witch cackled with glee.

cacophony [kə'kɒfəni] n a loud unpleasant mixture of noises.

cactus ['kæktəs] (pl cactuses OR cacti [-tai]) n a desert plant that is covered in spikes and has no leaves.

CAD [kæd, 'si:ei'di:] (abbr of computer-aided design) n the use of computers to design products, equipment, buildings etc.

caddie ['kædi] ◇ n a person whose job is to carry the clubs for somebody who is playing golf. ◇ vi to caddie for sb to be sb's caddie.

caddy ['kædi] (pl caddies) n a small container for tea.

cadence ['keɪdn̩s] n the way a person's voice gets higher and lower as they speak.

cadet [kæ'det] n a young person who is being trained in the police force or the armed forces □ a police cadet.

cadge [kædʒ] (informal use) ◇ vt to cadge sthg off OR from sb GB [money, cigarette, drink] to get sthg from sb for free by asking them for it □ Can I cadge a fiver off you? ◇ vi: She's always cadging off OR from her friends.

cadmium ['kædmɪəm] n a soft metal used in batteries and nuclear reactors. SYMBOL: Cd.

Caesar ['si:zə], Julius (100–44 BC) a Roman general, politician, and historian. He became a dictator, and was killed by a group of Republicans.

caesarean (section) [si:zəreɪən-] n GB = cesarean (section).

Caesar salad n a salad made from lettuce, eggs, and cheese with a special dressing.

CAF (abbr of cost and freight) a term in international trade that means the seller pays for the transport of goods but the buyer pays for the insurance.

cafe, café [US kæ'feɪ, GB 'kæfeɪ] n a place in which drinks and light meals are sold and eaten.

☛ CAFÉ

Cafés in Britain and Australia and coffee shops in the USA are usually open all day, but closed in the evenings. They serve mainly tea, coffee, soft drinks, cakes, and snacks, and some of them also serve hot food. Cafés in the USA, and cafés in some big cities in Britain and Australia, are often more fashionable and expensive places, selling special types of tea, coffee, and cakes.

cafeteria [ˌkæfə'tiəriə] n a self-service restaurant.

caffeine [US kə'fi:n, GB 'kæfi:n] n the drug in coffee, tea, and cocoa that makes people more active.

cage [keɪdʒ] n a structure, usually made of metal bars, in which birds or animals are kept.

caged [keɪdʒd] adj [bird, animal] that is kept in a cage.

cagey ['keɪdʒɪ] (compar cagier, superl cagiest) adj [answer, person] that seems to be trying to avoid giving away too much information (informal use) □ He was very cagey about where they were going this weekend.

cagoule [kə'gu:l] n GB a thin waterproof jacket with a hood.

cahoots [kə'hu:ts] n to be in cahoots to be working in partnership, usually for a dishonest purpose □ The security guard was in cahoots with the gang.

CAI (abbr of computer-aided instruction) n the use of computers in education and training.

Cain [keɪn] in the Bible, the eldest son of Adam and Eve. He was jealous of his brother Abel, and killed him.

cairn [keə'n] n a pile of stones used as a monument or to show a boundary or route, often on top of a mountain.

Cairns [keə'nz] a city in Queensland, Australia, that is a popular tourist center. POPULATION: 97,640.

Cairo ['kaɪrou] the capital of Egypt and the largest city in Africa. POPULATION: 9,750,000.

cajole [kə'dʒoʊl] vt to persuade <sb> to do something by being very friendly to them, making them laugh etc □ She cajoled them into helping her.

Cajun ['keɪdʒən] ◇ n a member of a people living in Louisiana, USA. They speak a dialect of French, and are known for their lively music and spicy food. ◇ adj: Cajun music/cooking.

cake [keɪk] n -1. a type of sweet food made from flour, sugar, eggs, and fat, sometimes with fruit, nuts etc, that is baked in the oven and eaten cold, often as a snack or on a special occasion □ a birthday cake/fruit cake □ a piece of cake. ■ to be a piece of cake to be very easy (informal use). ■ to sell like hot cakes to sell very fast (informal use). ■ you can't have your cake and eat it you can't have two things when one of them means the other thing is not possible, or when it is unfair because other people do not have the choice. -2. a fish/potato etc cake mashed fish/potato etc that has been made into a flat round shape and then cooked. -3. a cake of soap a small block of soap.

caked [keɪkt] adj caked with sthg [with mud, dirt] covered with a thick hard layer of sthg.

cake pan n US a metal container used for baking cakes.

cake tin n GB -1. a metal container with a lid, used for storing cakes. -2. = cake pan.

cal [kæl] n abbr of calorie.

Calais ['kæleɪ] a port in northeastern France, used especially by ferries to and from Dover, England. POPULATION: 75,836.

calamine lotion [ˌkæləmaɪn-] n a pink lotion used for soothing irritated or burnt skin.

calamitous [kə'læmətəs] adj [event, result] disastrous (formal use).

calamity [kə'læmətɪ] (pl calamities) n a sudden terrible event that causes a lot of damage and destruction (formal use) □ They suffered a series of calamities.

calcium ['kælsɪəm] n a silver-white element that is found in bones, teeth, chalk, and limestone. SYMBOL: Ca.

calculate ['kælkjəleɪt] vt -1. [number, figure, result] to work out <an amount> by adding, dividing etc numbers □ I've calculated that if our sales continue to rise, we will start making a profit in three years. □ He calculated the cost of employing another engineer. -2. [effect, consequences] to find out the size, importance etc of <sthg in the future> by using information that one has □ Have you calculated what the effect of such a plan would be? -3. to be calculated to do sthg to be intended to do sthg □ Her words were calculated to cause controversy.

◆ calculate on vt to calculate on sthg to depend on sthg that one expects to happen □ You can't calculate on them saying yes.

calculated ['kælkjəleɪtəd] adj [attack, insult] that has been deliberately planned □ It was a calculated challenge to Rosero's authority. ■ a calculated risk a risk that has been carefully thought about before it is taken.

calculating ['kælkjəleɪtɪŋ] adj [person] who carefully plans to get what they want without caring about how much other people suffer □ a cool, calculating murderer.

calculation [ˌkælkjə'leɪʃn] n MATH the act of calculating a number or amount; a number or amount that has been calculated □ He made a rough calculation. □ According to our calculations, we've only got three years left.

calculator ['kælkjəleɪtə] n an electronic device used for making mathematical calculations.

calculus ['kælkjələs] n a branch of mathematics that deals with quantities that are continually changing.

Calcutta [kæl'kʌtə] a port in eastern India, and India's largest city. POPULATION: 10,916,672.

calendar ['kæləndə] n -1. a chart that lists all the days, weeks, and months of a particular year □ a wall calendar. -2. a system for dividing the year into units of months, weeks, and days □ the Gregorian/Julian calendar. -3. US a book with spaces for each day where one can note down the times of meetings and other events. -4. a list of events that a particular group or organization is involved in during a particular year □ the political/arts calendar □ We have a number of important conferences on our calendar this year.

calendar month n the period of time from a particular date in one month to the same date in the next month □ Rent is $800 per calendar month.

calendar year n a whole year, beginning on January 1 and ending on December 31.

calf [US kæf, GB kɑ:f] (pl calves) n -1. a young cow; leather that is made from the skin of this animal □ The book is bound in calf. -2. the young of some animals □ a whale/an elephant calf. -3. ANATOMY the rounded muscular part at the back of the leg, between the knee and ankle.

calfskin [US 'kæfskɪn, GB 'kɑ:f-] n leather that is made from the skin of a calf □ calfskin leather/boots.

caliber US, calibre GB ['kælɪbə] n -1. [of somebody's work] the quality of something; [of a person] the ability or excellence of somebody □ This report is of a very high caliber. □ We need more staff of his caliber. -2. [of a tube, gun] the width of the inside of a tube or a gun barrel; [of a bullet] the width of a bullet.

calibrate ['kæləbreɪt] vt -1. [instrument, scale, container] to mark <sthg> so that it can be used to measure something exactly □ a calibrated syringe.

calibre n GB = caliber.

calico ['kælkəʊ] ◇ n -1. US a light cotton fabric with a pattern. -2. GB a white cotton fabric with no pattern or design. ◇ adj a calico cat US a cat with black, brown, and white fur.

California [kælɪ'fɔ:ʃnjə] a state in the western USA. It is a major producer of fruit and wine, with important electronics and movie industries. ABBREVIATION: CA. SIZE: 411,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 29,760,021 (Californians). CAPITAL: Sacramento. OTHER MAJOR CITIES: Los Angeles, San Francisco.

Caligula [kə'ɪlgjələ] (12–41 AD) a Roman emperor who ruled from 37 to 41 AD and is known for his cruel and unjust behavior.

calipers US, callipers GB ['kælpɪəz] npl -1. an instrument for measuring the width of things that consists of two long, thin, curved pieces of metal joined at the top □ a pair of calipers. -2. a device consisting of metal rods and straps that supports a person's leg and helps them to walk.

call [kɔ:l] ◇ vt -1. [person, object, animal] to give a particular name to <sb/sthg> □ Have you decided what to call the baby? □ Everyone calls him Dave for short. ■ to be called sthg to have sthg as one's name □ I'm called Sara. □ What's her latest novel called? -2. to call sb/sthg sthg [person, animal, object] to describe sb/sthg as sthg □ $80,000? That's what I call an expensive car! □ Are you calling me a liar? -3. to try and attract the attention of  by shouting □ Someone called my name. □ She kept calling the dog but it took no notice.

-4. [person] to telephone <sb> □ He called me from Chicago last night. -5. [doctor, police, plumber] to ask  to come to the place where one is, usually by phoning them □ Do you think we should call an ambulance? -6. [flight, meeting, strike] to announce officially that <sthg> is going to happen □ The President called an emergency cabinet meeting. □ A press conference has been called for this afternoon.

◇ vi -1. [person] to shout or speak in a loud clear voice □ He was calling for help. -2. [animal, bird] to make its typical sound □ I could hear a pair of owls calling to one another. -3. [person] to telephone □ May I ask who's calling? □ People have been calling for you all morning. -4. [person] to make a visit □ Jane said she'd call at the office on her way home.

◇ n -1. [of a person] a cry or shout for attracting attention; [of an animal, bird] the typical cry or noise made by a particular bird or animal □ the call of the owl. -2. [by a doctor, sales representative] a short professional visit ■ to pay a call on sb to visit sb for a particular reason □ The police will be paying a call on Mr Hill very shortly. -3. a call for sthg a demand for sthg □ There have been calls for her resignation. ■ there's not much call for it not many people ask for it, or want to buy it □ There isn't much call for records any more, it's all CDs. ■ there's no call to be rude! it was not necessary for you to be rude. -4. to be on call [doctor, engineer] to be available for work whenever necessary, e.g. during the night □ I'm on call this week. -5. [on the phone] a telephone call □ There's a call for you on line one. ■ to give sb a call to telephone sb □ I'll just make a quick call to my parents. ■ to return sb's call to call sb back on the telephone.

◆ call back ◇ vt sep -1. to call sb back to make a telephone call to sb who has already phoned one □ Tell him to call me back in an hour. -2. to call sb back to ask sb to come back to the place they have just left, e.g. their home or office □ My mother called me back as I was leaving. □ She was called back from abroad to deal with the crisis. ◇ vi -1. [on the phone] He said he'd call back later. -2. [at a place] to come back to a place one has been to earlier, especially somebody's home □ I'll call back tomorrow to see how you're feeling.

◆ call by vi GB [person] = call in □ I'll call by and pick it up on my way home tonight.

◆ call for vt fus -1. to call for sb/sthg [person, package, goods] to go to a place in order to collect sb/sthg and take them somewhere else □ I'll call for you at seven. -2. to call for sthg [reform, justice, inquiry] to make a strong public demand for sthg □ Local officials are calling for an investigation. -3. to call for sthg to deserve or need sthg □ This calls for a drink/a celebration! □ It was a situation that called for quick thinking.

◆ call in ◇ vt sep -1. to call sb in [doctor, expert, police] to send for sb professional or official □ The Drugs Squad has been called in. -2. BUSINESS to call sthg in to make a public request for a product or goods to be returned because they have faults or are dangerous □ The company is calling in all 1987 models.

-3. FINANCE to call a loan in to ask for a loan to be repaid. ◇ vi GB [person] to make a short visit, usually on the way to another place □ Could you call in at the store and get some milk? □ I called in on her after work.

◆ call off vt sep -1. to call sth off [party, strike, wedding] to cancel sthg □ The game was called off because of the rain. -2. to call sb/sthg off [dog, thug] to order a person or animal to stop attacking.

◆ call on vt fus -1. to call on sb to pay sb a short visit □ One of our representatives will be happy to call on you and discuss things. -2. = call upon.

◆ call out vt sep -1. to call sb out [army, fire brigade, lifeboat] to order an official group to come and help one with a situation. -2. GB [workers, union members] to order sb to go on strike. -3. to call sthg out to shout sthg □ When your name is called out, go to the desk.

◆ call round vi GB = call in □ I'll call round at Joe's on the way over.

◆ call up vt sep -1. to call sb up to telephone sb □ Why don't we call up Mario's and order a pizza? -2. to call sb up GB MILITARY to order sb to join the armed forces □ He was too old to be called up in 1939. -3. COMPUTING to call sthg up [file, data, document] to make sthg appear on a computer screen.

◆ call upon vt fus to call upon sb to do sthg to publicly ask sb to do sthg □ The women are calling upon senior churchmen and politicians to help them in their fight.

Callas ['kæləs], Maria (1923–1977) a US opera singer whose parents were Greek. She is considered one of the greatest singers of her time.

call box n GB a telephone booth.

caller ['kɔ:lə] n -1. a person who comes to make a short visit □ We don't get many callers these days. -2. a person who makes a telephone call □ Several callers voiced their outrage at the views expressed on the show. □ Sorry, caller, that line is busy.

call girl n a prostitute who makes appointments with clients by telephone.

calligraphy [kəl'ɪgrəfi] n the art of handwriting; beautiful handwriting.

call-in n US a television or radio program in which people are invited to telephone and give their questions, opinions etc to one or more people in the studio □ a call-in show.

calling ['kɔ:lɪŋ] n -1. a career or profession (formal use). -2. a strong desire to do a particular job, especially one that involves caring for other people □ He feels a calling to the ministry.

calling card n a small card with a person's name, address, and telephone number written on it that they give to people they visit.

callipers npl GB = calipers.

call letters npl US the letters or numbers that are used by a person who sends messages by radio to identify themselves.

callous ['kæləs] adj [person, remark, attitude] that shows no concern for the suffering of other people □ The press showed a callous disregard for the family's feelings.

callously ['kæləsli] adv [act, behave, treat] see callous.

call-out charge n the fee charged by somebody to travel to one's home, car etc in order to fix something.

call sign n GB = call letters.

call-up n GB an official order for a person to join the armed forces □ call-up papers.

callus ['kæləs] (pl calluses) n an area of hard skin that develops on one's hands, feet etc from something that has rubbed one's skin, especially as a result of hard physical work.

calm [kɑ:m] ◇ adj -1. [person, voice, behavior] that is not worried, excited, or angry □ Please keep calm. □ He's always calm in a crisis. -2. [place, situation] peaceful □ The streets are calm again after last night's fighting. □ I love this house, it's always so calm and relaxing. -3. [evening, weather] not stormy or windy □ After the morning's storm the afternoon was calm and sunny. -4. [sea, lake] that has no large waves □ the calm waters of the lake.

◇ n [of a person, mind] a state in which one is not worried, excited, or angry □ As tensions mounted, police appealed for calm. □ I'm trying to keep my calm.

◇ vt to make <sb/sthg> calm □ She tried to calm their fears about losing their jobs. □ I had a drink to calm my nerves.

◆ calm down ◇ vt sep to calm sb down to make sb calm and not excited, worried, angry, or upset □ I tried to calm her down, but she was almost hysterical. ◇ vi [person, place, situation] to become calm again □ Look, calm down and tell us what happened. □ When things have calmed down a little, we'll try to find another solution.

calmly ['kɑ:mlɪ] adv [speak, behave, act] see calm □ People were calmly going about their normal business.

calmness ['kɑ:mnəs] n: see calm □ I admire your calmness at such a difficult time.

Calor gasTM ['kæləf-] n GB a kind of gas that is sold in metal containers and can be used when there is no main gas supply.

calorie ['kæləri] n a unit for measuring the amount of energy that a particular type of food will produce □ Each slice contains 500 calories.

calve [US kæv, GB kɑ:v] vi [cow] to give birth to a calf.

calves [US kævz, GB kɑ:vz] plural of calf.

Calvin ['kælvən], John (1509–1564) a French religious thinker who led the Protestant Reformation in France and Switzerland.

cam [kæm] n a projecting part on a shaft or wheel that changes circular movement into movement that goes backward and forward.

CAM (abbr of computer-aided manufacturing) n the use of computers to control machinery and make industrial products.

camaraderie [US ,kɑ:mə'ra:dəri, GB ,kæmə-] n a feeling of friendship and trust between friends or people who work together.

camber ['kæmbəʃ] n a slight curve on a road surface that allows water to drain off it.

Cambodia [kæm'boʊdjə] a country in south-east Asia, between Thailand and Vietnam. SIZE: 181,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 9,000,000 (Cambodians). CAPITAL: Phnom Penh. LANGUAGE: Khmer. CURRENCY: riel.

Cambridge ['keɪmbrɪdʒ] -1. a city near Boston, Massachusetts, USA, the site of Harvard University and MIT. POPULATION: 95,802. -2. a city in eastern England, famous for its university. POPULATION: 101,000.

Cambridgeshire ['keɪmbrɪdʒʃəʃ] a county in eastern England. SIZE: 3,409 sq kms. POPULATION: 652,740. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Cambridge.

Cambs abbr of Cambridgeshire.

camcorder ['kæmkɔ:rdəʃ] n a small video camera and recorder in one unit that can be carried around.

came [keɪm] past tense of come.

camel ['kæml] ◇ n a large animal with a long neck that has one or two humps on its back and lives in deserts □ We crossed the desert by camel. ◇ adj yellow-brown in color □ a camel coat.

camellia [kə'mɪli:ə] n a large plant with dark-green shiny leaves and large white, red, or pink flowers that look like roses.

Camelot ['kæmələʊt] -1. according to legend, the place where King Arthur had his court. Camelot was meant to be a wonderful and magical place. -2. the White House at the time J.F. Kennedy was president.

cameo ['kæmiəʊ] (pl cameos) n -1. [for wearing] a piece of jewelry consisting of a raised design, especially a woman's face, set on a flat background of a different color □ a cameo brooch/ring. -2. [in a play, movie] a small part in a play or movie that is acted by a well-known actor □ a cameo role/performance.

camera ['kæmərə] n -1. a device used for taking photographs □ a 35mm camera □ a camera lens. -2. a device used for recording a movie or television program □ a TV/movie camera.

◆ in camera adv LAW [meet, discuss] privately, without members of the public or the press □ The trial was held in camera.

cameraman ['kæmərəmən] (pl cameramen [-mən]) n a person who operates a television or movie camera.

Cameroon [,kæmə'ru:n] a country in West Africa on the Atlantic coast. SIZE: 475,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 12,800,000 (Cameroonians). CAPITAL: Yaoundé. LANGUAGE: French, English. CURRENCY: CFA franc.

camisole ['kæməsəʊl] n a woman's sleeveless top with thin straps, worn as underwear.

camomile ['kæməmaɪl] n a small plant with yellow and white flowers that are used in herbal remedies and in tea □ camomile tea.

camouflage ['kæməflə:ʒ] ◇ n -1. MILITARY something, e.g. leaves, paint, or clothes, that is used to disguise guns, equipment, or soldiers from the enemy □ soldiers in camouflage □ a camouflage net. -2. BIOLOGY a color or pattern on an animal that makes it look like things around it and makes it difficult to see. ◇ vt to make <sth> look similar to the things around it so that it is difficult to see.

camp [kæmp] ◇ n -1. [for travelers] a place where people live in tents, usually for a short time, e.g. when on vacation or traveling □ We pitched camp near the beach. □ They went back to camp. -2. MILITARY a group of buildings where soldiers live or stay □ a training/army camp. -3. [for refugees, prisoners] a group of huts or tents, usually inside a fence, that have been put up to house a large number of people, e.g. refugees or prisoners of war □ a refugee/labor/prison camp. -4. POLITICS a group of people who hold a particular view or belief, especially in opposition to another group □ He's very much part of the pro-Western camp.

◇ vi to live in a tent for a short period, especially when on vacation □ We camped in the Dordogne this summer.

◆ camp out vi to sleep outdoors, usually in a tent.

campaign [kæm'peɪn] ◇ n -1. a series of planned actions that are intended to produce a particular result, e.g. to help sell a product or get a politician or a party elected □ an advertising/election campaign □ There has been a campaign in the press against tax increases. -2. MILITARY a series of planned actions against an enemy that are intended to achieve a particular aim □ a bombing campaign □ They mounted a campaign against the German forces in Africa. ◇ vi to take part in a campaign □ They were campaigning for an end to violence. □ He campaigned against the use of animals in drugs tests.

campaigner [kæm'peɪnəʃ] n a person who campaigns for or against something □ an animal rights campaigner.

camp bed n GB a folding bed, usually made of canvas with a metal frame, that can be easily carried and is used for camping.

Camp David a place in Maryland, USA, where the President goes to relax.

camper ['kæmpəʃ] n -1. a person who goes camping. -2. a camper (van) a van that has a living space in the back with beds, storage space, a sink etc.

campground ['kæmpgraʊnd] n US a place where people can camp and which often has toilets and showers.

camphor ['kæmfəʃ] n a white substance with a strong smell that is used in several medical and industrial products, e.g. mothballs.

camping ['kæmpɪŋ] n the activity of camping □ a camping vacation.

camping site, campsite ['kæmpsait] n GB = campground.

camp meeting n an outdoor religious meeting, especially in the USA in the 19th century.

campus ['kæmpəs] (pl campuses) n an area where the main buildings of a university, e.g. the lecture halls, offices, and accommodation, are situated □ Most students live on campus. □ a campus university.

camshaft [US 'kæmfæft, GB -ʃɑ:ft] n a rod that has one or more cams attached to it, especially in the engine of a motor vehicle.

can¹ [kæn] (pt & pp canned, cont canning) ◊ n -1. a sealed metal container which contains no air and keeps food or drink fresh; the contents of such a container □ a beer can □ a can of lemonade/beer/tomatoes. -2. a metal container, usually with a lid that can be removed, used for holding liquids, e.g. oil or paint; the contents of such a container □ an oil can □ I used two cans of paint. ◊ vt to put <food> in cans.

can² [stressed kæn, unstressed kən] (pt & conditional could, negative cannot OR can't) modal vb -1. I can swim I know how to swim □ I didn't know you could ski. -2. I can come next Tuesday I am able to come next Tuesday □ We tried, but we couldn't lift it. ■ can you see anything? do you see anything? (used with verbs like see, hear, feel) □ Can you hear that noise? -3. you can use my car I allow you to use my car □ I can't talk now, I'm in a meeting. -4. used to make offers and invitations, or polite requests for help or information □ Can you come to lunch tomorrow? □ Could I see your papers, please? -5. used to give advice, make suggestions etc □ If we're late, we can always take a taxi. □ I can tell him myself, if you like. -6. used with negatives to express disbelief, confusion, surprise etc □ Surely that can't be right! □ He can't have left already, can he? -7. Scotland can be very cold in the winter Scotland is often very cold in winter (used to make general statements) □ The children can be a little naughty sometimes. -8. the plane could arrive at any time it is possible that the plane will arrive at any time.

Canada ['kænədə] a country in North America, north of the USA. It is the second-largest country in the world, with very low temperatures in the north. SIZE: 9,975,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 28,100,000 (Canadians). CAPITAL: Ottawa. MAIN CITIES: Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver. LANGUAGE: English, French. CURRENCY: Canadian dollar.

Canadian [kə'neɪdʒən] n & adj: see Canada.

Canadian French n the French spoken in some parts of Canada.

canal [kə'næl] n a man-made waterway like a straight narrow river that is used for transporting goods or for providing fields with water.

canapé ['kænəpeɪ] n a small cracker or piece of bread with meat, fish, cheese etc on it that is served with drinks at parties.

Canaries [kə'neəri:z] = Canary Islands.

canary [kə'neəri:] (pl canaries) n a small yellow songbird often kept as a pet.

Canary Islands: the Canary Islands a group of islands in the Atlantic, off the coast of Morocco, that form two provinces of Spain and contain many popular tourist resorts. SIZE: 7,300 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,601,812.

Canary Wharf an office development in London's Docklands.

Canberra [US 'kænberə, GB -bərə] the capital of Australia, in the southeast of the country. The name is often used to refer to the federal government of Australia. POPULATION: 297,300.

cancel ['kænsəl] (US pt & pp canceled, cont canceled, GB pt & pp cancelled, cont cancelling) vt -1. [appointment, trip, performance] to decide or state that <sthg that has been planned> will not happen □ I'll have to call my wife and cancel our dinner date. □ Our flight was canceled at the last minute. -2. [reservation, order, subscription] to say that one no longer needs or wants <sthg one had asked for> □ I canceled the rental car and took a taxi instead. -3. [check, agreement, contract] to declare that <sthg one signed> is no longer valid □ The agreement may be canceled by either party at any time.

◆ cancel out vt sep to cancel sthg out to take away all the effect of sthg by having an equal but opposite effect to it □ The extra money I earn for working at night is canceled out by the cost of having to get a taxi home.

cancellation [ˌkænsə'leɪʃn] n -1. something, especially a ticket, that has been canceled and can be given to somebody else □ All the tickets for tonight's play are sold out, but you can wait to see if there are any cancellations. -2. see cancel □ Cancellation of the game means thousands will be disappointed. □ a cancellation fee.

cancer ['kænsə:] n a serious disease in which the cells in a part of the body multiply abnormally to form a tumor that can cause death □ throat/breast/lung cancer □ a cancer specialist/ward/patient □ cancer research.

◆ Cancer n a sign of the zodiac, often shown as a crab; a person born under this sign between June 22 and July 22.

cancerous ['kænsərəs] adj [growth, cell] affected with cancer.

candelabra [ˌkændə'leɪbrə] n a large decorative holder for two or more candles.

C and F = CAF.

candid ['kændəd] adj [person, confession, opinion] that is honest and truthful, even when the truth is unpleasant or embarrassing □ I'll be candid with you.

candidacy ['kændədəsɪ] n the fact of being a candidate for something □ He announced his candidacy for the post.

candidate ['kændədəɪt] n -1. a person who is competing with other people to get a job, political position etc □ There are three candidates for the presidency/job. -2. GB a person who is taking an exam □ Candidates are required to answer three out of four questions.

candidature ['kændədətʃə] n = candidacy.

candied ['kændɪd] adj [fruit, peel] that has been covered or cooked in sugar.

candle ['kændl] n a stick of wax with a piece

- of string in the middle that gives out light when it is lit. ■ to burn the candle at both ends to try to do too many things at once by staying up very late at night and getting up early in the morning.
- candlelight ['kændllaɪt] n a light produced by a candle □ We ate our dinner by candlelight.
- candlelit ['kændllɪt] adj [dinner, supper] lit by candles.
- candlestick ['kændlstɪk] n a holder for a candle.
- candor US, candour GB ['kændə] n the quality of being honest and not trying to hide anything.
- candy ['kændɪ] (pl candies) n sweet foods, e.g. chocolates, toffee, or mints, that are eaten especially by children; a piece of one of these foods □ Mom, can I have some candy? □ Do you want a piece of candy?
- candy bar n US a bar of chocolate.
- candyfloss ['kændɪflɒs] n GB a mass of soft, sticky, pink or white sugar threads that are eaten on a stick, often at fairs.
- candy store n US a store where candy is sold.
- cane [keɪn] ◇ n -1. [for furniture] strips of the stems of some plants such as reeds, used for making furniture □ cane furniture □ a cane chair. -2. [for walking] a long stick used to help somebody walk. -3. the cane a thin stick used by teachers, especially in the past, for hitting children as a punishment. -4. [for plants] a long thin stick used to support plants. ◇ vt to hit <sb> with a cane.
- cane sugar n sugar made from sugarcane.
- canine ['keɪnaɪn] ◇ adj that is connected with dogs. ◇ n a canine (tooth) one of four pointed teeth at the front of the mouth in humans and certain animals.
- canister ['kænɪstə] n -1. a metal container with a lid, for storing film or dry food such as tea □ a tea/sugar/flour canister. -2. a sealed metal container with a substance such as gas or smoke inside that breaks open when thrown or fired from a gun □ a tear gas canister.
- cannabis ['kænəbəs] n a drug, illegal in some countries, that is made from the hemp plant and is usually smoked in a cigarette for pleasure and to help people relax.
- canned [kænd] adj -1. [food, drink] that is stored in cans so that it stays fresh. -2. canned laughter/applause laughter/applause that has been recorded and is used in television programs to make it seem that there is a live audience (informal and disapproving use).
- cannelloni [,kænoʊ'loumi] n a dish consisting of tubes of pasta filled with meat and served with tomato and cheese sauces.
- cannery ['kænəri] (pl canneries) n a factory where food is put in cans.
- cannibal ['kænəbəl] n -1. a person who eats human flesh. -2. an animal that eats other animals of the same type.
- cannibalize, -ise ['kænəbəlaɪz] vt to take parts from  and use them to repair or build another machine or vehicle.
- cannon ['kænən] (pl cannon OR cannons) n -1. in the past, a type of large gun, attached to two wheels, that fired a solid metal ball. -2. a gun that is fitted to an aircraft or a ship and can fire bullets continuously.
- ◆ cannon into vt fus GB to cannon into sb/sthg to accidentally hit sb/sthg, especially while running.
- cannonball ['kænənbɔ:l] n a solid metal ball fired from a cannon.
- cannot ['kænət] vb a negative form of "can" □ You cannot be serious!
- canny ['kæni] (compar cannier, superl canniest) adj [person] who is wise, careful, and not easily deceived, especially in business matters □ a canny investment.
- canoe [kə'nu:] (cont canoeing) ◇ n a long, thin, light boat for one or two people that is pointed at both ends and is moved by using a paddle. ◇ vi to travel in a canoe.
- canoeing [kə'nu:ɪŋ] n the sport or activity of rowing a canoe □ We went canoeing in Mexico.
- canon ['kænən] n -1. [of a cathedral] a Christian priest who is on the staff of a cathedral. -2. [of somebody's behavior] a basic principle or rule □ the canons of taste and decency. -3. the Canon in the Roman Catholic Church, the central prayer of the Mass.
- canonize, -ise ['kænənaɪz] vt in the Roman Catholic Church, to declare  to be a saint.
- can opener n a device used for opening cans of food.
- canopy ['kænəpi] (pl canopies) n -1. [on furniture] a decorative piece of material that hangs over something, especially over a bed or seat. -2. [of trees] the highest branches and leaves in a forest or jungle that form a single layer.
- cant [kænt] n statements about morals or religion made by somebody who does not really believe what they are saying (disapproving use).
- can't [US kænt, GB kɑ:nt] = cannot.
- Cantab. (abbr of Cantabrigiensis) from Cambridge University (used after university degrees).
- cantaloupe ['kæntələup] US, cantaloup ['kæntələ:ʊp] GB n a large melon with orange flesh and green and yellow skin.
- cantankerous [kæn'tæŋkərəs] adj [person] who is unfriendly and complains and quarrels a lot □ a cantankerous old man.
- canteen [kæn'ti:ɪn] n -1. a restaurant that is part of a school, workplace, military camp etc. -2. a plastic or metal container for water that is carried by people on a long walk or expedition. -3. a box containing a set of knives, forks, and spoons.
- canter ['kæntə] ◇ n a speed at which a horse moves that is faster than a trot but slower than a gallop □ The horse broke into a canter. ◇ vi [horse, rider] to move at a canter.

Canterbury [US 'kæntərberi, GB 'kæntəbəri] a city in Kent, England, that is famous for its cathedral. POPULATION: 33,000.

cantilever ['kæntəli:və] n a beam or girder that is fixed at one end and supports a structure, e.g. a shelf, bridge, or an arch, at the other □ a cantilever bridge.

Canton [kæn'tɒn] = Guangzhou.

Cantonese [kæntə'ni:z] ◇ n the language spoken in Guangzhou. It is also the language spoken by many Chinese people living in Hong Kong, Britain, and the USA. ◇ adj that comes from Guangzhou □ Cantonese food.

Canute [kə'nju:t] (995–1035) King of England from 1016, Denmark from 1019, and Norway from 1028. According to a famous story he stood on a beach and ordered the waves to turn back.

canvas ['kænvəs] n -1. a strong heavy fabric that is used for making tents, sails, bags etc □ a canvas rucksack. ■ under canvas [sleep, live] in a tent. -2. ART a piece of canvas used for an oil painting; an oil painting.

canvass ['kænvəs] ◇ vt -1. POLITICS to visit <people or a place> to ask people to vote for one's party; to try to get <people's votes, support> etc in this way □ We've canvassed the whole street/area. □ They're canvassing local support for the Democrats. -2. to find out <people's opinions> by asking them questions. ◇ vi POLITICS Good morning, I'm canvassing for the Green Party.

canvasser ['kænvəsə] n a person who canvasses votes, opinions etc.

canvassing ['kænvəsɪŋ] n the activity of canvassing votes, opinions etc.

canyon ['kænjən] n a very deep narrow valley that often has a river flowing through it.

cap [kæp] (pl & pp capped, cont capping) ◇ n -1. [for one's head] a soft flat hat, usually worn by men or boys; a hat, usually flat, that sometimes has a small stiff part at the front and is worn as part of a uniform □ a flat/cloth cap □ a baseball cap. ■ to go cap in hand to sb to go and ask sb for something in a very humble way. -2. [for a pen, bottle, lens] an object designed to cover the end or top of a particular thing □ a lens cap. -3. GB the cap a contraceptive device used by women consisting of a small circle of rubber.

◇ vt -1. to be capped with sthg [with snow, cloud] to have its top covered with sthg □ The mountains were capped with snow. -2. [performance, feat] to do or say something that is better than <sthg that has been done before> □ She capped his story with an even better one of her own. □ Cap that, if you can! ■ to cap it all a phrase used before the last and worst thing in a list of things □ I was lost, hungry, and to cap it all, it started to rain.

CAP [kæp, si:et'pi:] (abbr of Common Agricultural Policy) n the CAP the EU system for supporting farmers by keeping agricultural prices at agreed levels.

capability [kæpə'bɪləti] (pl capabilities) n -1. sb's capability OR capabilities the ability that sb has to do a particular thing □ Frankly, I think the job is beyond his capabilities. □ I don't doubt her capabilities. -2. MILITARY the ability of a country to take military action of a particular kind □ the country's nuclear capability.

capable ['keɪpəbl] adj -1. to be capable of sthg to be strong enough, fast enough, bad enough etc to do sthg □ Is he capable of murder? □ The computer is capable of processing vast quantities of data. □ It's capable of speeds of up to 150 mph. -2. [person] who does something well without help from other people □ She's a very capable driver/doctor.

capably ['keɪpəblɪ] adv [perform, do, act] see capable □ He runs the office very capably.

capacious [kə'peɪʃəs] adj [bag, pocket] that has a lot of space.

capacitor [kə'pæsɪtə] n a device for collecting and storing an electrical charge.

capacity [kə'pæsəti] (pl capacities) n -1. the maximum amount that something can contain or produce □ The hall has a seating capacity of 700. □ The factory was working at full capacity. ■ a capacity audience/crowd an audience/crowd that fills all the seats in a hall, theater etc □ The band played to a capacity audience. ■ to be full OR filled to capacity to be completely full □ The theater was filled to capacity. -2. an ability that somebody has to do something □ His capacity for work is amazing. □ Everyone has the capacity to learn. □ The job is well within her capacities/capacity. -3. a particular kind of job that somebody has □ I can only comment in my capacity as chairman. □ Mr Patel works for them in an unofficial capacity.

cape [keɪp] n -1. GEOGRAPHY a piece of land that sticks out from the mainland into the sea. -2. a piece of clothing that is worn around the shoulders and fastened at the neck like a very short cloak.

Cape Canaveral [-kə'nævərəl] a cape in Florida, USA, that is the launching site of NASA space flights. OLD NAME: Cape Kennedy.

Cape Cod a cape in Massachusetts, USA, that is popular with tourists.

Cape Horn the cape at the southern end of South America that is well known for its bad weather and dangers to shipping.

Cape of Good Hope: the Cape of Good Hope the cape at the southern end of South Africa.

caper ['keɪpə] ◇ n -1. the flower bud of a Mediterranean plant that is pickled and used to flavor food. -2. a dangerous or dishonest activity (informal use). ◇ vi [child, lamb] to jump around playfully.

Cape Town the legislative capital of the Republic of South Africa, near the Cape of Good Hope. POPULATION: 1,491,000.

capillary [US 'kæpələri, GB kə'pɪləri] (pl capillaries) n a thin blood vessel in the body.

capita ['kæpətə] → per capita.

capital ['kæpɪtl] ◇ adj -1. [letter] written in large form, e.g. as the first letter of a sentence □ My name was written in capital letters. □ capital "A". -2. a capital offense/crime an offense/crime that can be punished by death.

◇ n -1. [of a country, state] a city that is the center of government of a country or state □ Beijing is the capital of China. -2. [of commerce, crime] a town or city that is the center of a particular activity □ Paris is the capital of fashion. □ Germany's financial capital. -3. = capital letter. -4. FINANCE money, especially money that is used to start up a business, or money that is invested in order to earn interest □ I had to use my capital to pay it back. □ They've invested a lot of capital in our business. ■ to make capital out of sthg to use sthg to one's own advantage □ Much political capital was made out of the governor's mistake.

capital allowance n a tax allowance given to a company for money that is spent on fixed assets.

capital assets npl things that a company owns, e.g. land, equipment, and buildings.

capital expenditure n the money that a company spends on buying or improving equipment, buildings etc.

capital gains tax n a tax on any profit made from the sale of an asset.

capital goods npl goods such as machines and raw materials that are used to help make other goods and are not sold.

capitalism ['kæpɪtəlɪzəm] n an economic system based on private rather than state ownership of property, business, and wealth, in which companies and individuals are free to compete with each other for profit.

NOTE: Compare Communism, Socialism.

capitalist ['kæpɪtəlɪst] ◇ adj [society, system, economy] that works according to the principles of capitalism; [person] who supports capitalism □ the capitalist economies of the West. ◇ n -1. a person who supports capitalism. -2. a person who has or controls a lot of money (disapproving use).

capitalize, -ise ['kæpɪtəlaɪz] vi to capitalize on sthg [on a situation, advantage] to use sthg to one's advantage □ Our competitors have capitalized on our labor problems.

capital letter n a letter written in large form, as e.g. the first letter of a sentence is written □ My name appeared in capital letters.

capital punishment n legal punishment of a crime by death.

capital stock n the value of all the shares that a company is allowed to issue.

capital transfer tax n a tax that one pays on money or property that is given to one as a gift or when somebody dies.

Capitol ['kæpɪtəl]: the Capitol the main building where the US Congress meets, in Washington D.C.

Capitol Hill the buildings in Washington D.C. where the US Congress meets to discuss and make laws. The term is used to mean the US Congress itself □ There will be a big debate on Capitol Hill.

capitulate [kə'pɪtʃəleɪt] vi to agree to the demands of one's opponents after refusing them for some time □ The authorities finally capitulated in the face of growing public protest.

capitulation [kə'pɪtʃə'leɪʃn] n: see capitulate.

Capone [kə'poun], Al (1899–1947) a US gangster who was very powerful in Chicago during the time of Prohibition.

cappuccino [US ,kɑ:pə'tʃi:nou, GB ,kæpu-] (pl cappuccinos) n a kind of coffee that is made with frothy hot milk and is sometimes served with chocolate powder on top.

capricious [kə'prɪʃəs] adj [person] who often changes their mind for no good reason or has sudden changes of mood or behavior.

Capricorn ['kæprɪkɔ:'n] n a sign of the zodiac, often shown as a goat; a person born under this sign between December 23 and January 20.

caps [kæps] npl abbr of capital letters.

capsicum ['kæpsɪkəm] n a red, green, or yellow vegetable that is hollow and has seeds inside.

capsize [US 'kæpsaɪz, GB kəp'saɪz] ◇ vi [boat, ship, raft] to turn over in the water. ◇ vt: The waves capsized the dinghy.

capsule [US 'kæpsl, GB 'kæpsju:l] n -1. MEDICINE a small container made of gelatin that contains medicine and is swallowed like a pill. -2. [of a spacecraft] the part of a spacecraft that the crew live and work in.

Capt. abbr of captain.

captain ['kæptən] ◇ n -1. MILITARY a rank in the army, navy, or US Air Force □ Captain Jones. -2. SHIPPING & AVIATION the officer in charge of a ship or aircraft. -3. SPORT the leader of a team □ He's just been made captain of the football team. ◇ vt -1. SHIPPING & AVIATION to be in charge of . -2. SPORT to be the leader of .

caption ['kæpʃn] n the words printed below a photograph, picture, or cartoon, that describe or explain it.

captivate ['kæptəveɪt] vt to attract and fascinate <sb>.

captivating ['kæptəveɪtɪŋ] adj [smile, face, scene] that one thinks is fascinating and attractive.

captive ['kæptɪv] ◇ adj -1. [person, animal] that has been captured □ He was held or kept captive for three months. -2. a captive audience a person or group of people that is forced to listen to somebody because they cannot leave. ◇ n a prisoner, especially during a war.

captivity [kæp'tɪvətɪ] n the state of being held in a prison, cage etc and having no freedom □ The hostages were held in captivity for three weeks. □ an eagle bred in captivity.

captor ['kæptə] n sb's captor the person who keeps sb prisoner □ They eventually escaped their captors.

capture ['kæptʃə] ◇ vt -1. [person] to 'catch <sb> to make them a prisoner, especially in a war □ The two pilots are thought to have been captured. -2. [town, castle, land] to take control of  etc after defeating the people

- there □ The town was captured after a prolonged gun battle. -3. [tiger, bird] to catch <an animal>, especially in order to keep it □ a horse captured in the wild. -4. to capture sb's attention/imagination etc to attract and hold sb's attention, imagination etc □ The song captured the imagination of young people. -5. [market, vote] to succeed in getting <sthg that one's competitors are also trying to get> □ Our aim is to capture at least 15% of the soft drinks market. □ The socialists captured 30% of the vote. -6. [scene, face, mood] to succeed in representing <sthg, especially sthg that is not easy to describe>, in words, pictures, music etc □ The movie captures perfectly the atmosphere of the time. -7. COMPUTING to enter <data> in a computer.
- ◇ n [of a person, animal, town] the act of capturing a person, animal, or place □ a photo taken before his capture.
- car [kɑ:ʔ] n -1. a vehicle that is powered by an engine, usually has four wheels, and has room for a small number of passengers □ We drove OR went to Boston by car. □ a sports/racing car □ a car door/engine/seat □ a car dealer/repairer/manufacturer □ the car industry. -2. one of the parts of a train for passengers □ a restaurant/sleeping/buffet car.
- carafe [kə'reɪf] n a glass container with a wide bottom and thin neck used for serving wine or water.
- caramel ['kærəmel] n -1. burnt sugar that is used to flavor and color food. -2. a chewy candy made of boiled sugar.
- carat [US 'kerət, GB 'kær-] n -1. a unit (0.2 g) for measuring the weight of diamonds and other precious stones □ a 44-carat diamond. -2. a unit of measure for the purity of gold □ 24-carat gold.
- caravan [US 'kerəvæn, GB 'kær-] n -1. a long line of people, camels, wagons etc all traveling together, especially through the desert. -2. GB a vehicle containing beds, cooking equipment etc that can be pulled by a car and is often used by people when they are on vacation □ a caravan holiday/park.
- caravanning [US 'kerəvənɪŋ, GB 'kær-] n GB to go caravanning to take a vacation in a trailer.
- caravan site n GB a place where people can park their trailers when they are on vacation.
- caraway seed [US 'kerəweɪ-, GB 'kær-] n a seed with a strong taste, used in cooking.
- carbohydrate [ˌkɑ:ˈbɒuˈhaɪdreɪt] n a substance that is contained in some foods, e.g. potatoes, bread, or cakes, and that gives one energy.
- ◆ carbohydrates npl types of food, e.g. bread and potatoes, that contain a lot of carbohydrate.
- car bomb n a bomb that consists of explosives hidden inside a car.
- carbon ['kɑ:ˈbɒn] n -1. a chemical element that is found in its pure form in diamonds and graphite, and is present in coal, oil, and all organic matter. SYMBOL: C. -2. [of a document] = carbon copy. -3. = carbon paper.
- carbonated ['kɑ:ˈbɒneɪtəd] adj [water, drink] that is fizzy because it contains bubbles of carbon dioxide gas.
- carbon copy n -1. [of a document] a copy of a document that has been made by using carbon paper. -2. to be a carbon copy of sb/sthg to be exactly the same as sb/sthg else.
- carbon dating n a method of measuring the age of very old objects by calculating the amount of radioactive carbon they contain.
- carbon dioxide [-dɑ:ˈbɒksaɪd] n a gas that is present in the atmosphere and is formed e.g. when animals and humans breathe out. FORMULA: CO₂.
- carbon fiber n thin threads of carbon used for making metals, ceramics, and resins stronger.
- carbon monoxide [-məˈnɒksaɪd] n a poisonous gas produced when carbon burns in very little air, e.g. in a car engine. FORMULA: CO.
- carbon paper n a thin sheet of paper with a dark substance on one side. It is placed between two pieces of plain paper so that what is typed or written on the top piece is copied onto the bottom piece.
- car-boot sale n GB a sale that takes place outside, e.g. in a parking lot or field, and at which people sell things from the trunk of their car.
- carburetor ['kɑ:rbəreɪtɔ:ʔ] US, carburettor [ˌkɑ:ˈbɒ-ˈretəʔ] GB n a device that produces the mixture of air and gasoline that is burned in a car engine.
- carcass ['kɑ:ˈkæs] n the body of a dead animal.
- carcinogenic [ˌkɑ:ˈsɪnəˈdʒenɪk] adj [substance] that causes cancer.
- card [kɑ:ˈd] n -1. CARDS one of a set of 52 small rectangular pieces of stiff paper with numbers or pictures on one side, used for playing games □ a deck of cards □ a card game/player. ■ to play one's cards right to handle a situation or behave in the right way, so that one gets something one wants □ If you play your cards right you could end up running this place. ■ to put OR lay one's cards on the table to tell somebody one's thoughts, plans, ideas etc, especially after one has kept these secret. -2. [for showing information] a small rectangular piece of stiff paper or plastic that has a name or information written on it □ a membership/visiting/business card □ Do you have my card? -3. [for sending a message] a piece of stiff paper, folded in half with a picture on one side, that one sends to another person on a special occasion □ a birthday/Christmas/greeting card. -4. = postcard. -5. GB stiff paper □ a piece of card.
- ◆ cards n any game that is played using cards □ They were sitting playing cards. □ a game of cards.
- ◆ in the cards US, on the cards GB adv likely to happen (informal use) □ A management buyout is still in the cards.

cardamom ['kɑ:rdəməm] n the seeds of an Asian plant that are used as a spice.

cardboard ['kɑ:rdbɔ:d] n thick stiff paper used for making boxes, cartons etc □ a cardboard folder/file.

cardboard box n a box that is made of cardboard.

card-carrying adj a card-carrying member an official and active member of an organization, party etc □ For years I was a card-carrying member of the Green Party.

card catalog n US a set of cards, usually in a library, that have information written on them and are arranged in alphabetical order.

cardholder ['kɑ:rdhouldə] n the person who has a particular credit or debit card.

cardiac ['kɑ:rdiæk] adj [disease, massage, failure] that is connected with the heart.

cardiac arrest n a medical condition in which one's heart stops beating.

Cardiff ['kɑ:rdɪf] the capital of Wales and its main port. POPULATION: 272,600.

cardigan ['kɑ:rdɪgən] n a knitted top like a sweater with buttons up the front.

cardinal ['kɑ:rdənəl] ◇ adj [principle, idea] very important and fundamental □ a cardinal virtue/sin. ◇ n a priest in the Roman Catholic Church who is next in rank to the Pope.

cardinal number, cardinal numeral n a number that shows quantity, e.g. 1, 2, 3, rather than order, e.g. first, second.
NOTE: Compare ordinal number.

card index n GB = card catalog.

cardiology [,kɑ:rdɪ'ɒlədʒɪ] n the medical study and treatment of heart disease.

cardiovascular [,kɑ:rdɪ'ɒvəs'kjələ] adj [disease, system] that is connected with the heart and the blood vessels.

cardsharp ['kɑ:rdʃɑ:p] n a person who cheats at cards to make money.

card table n a small square table for playing cards on.

card vote n GB a vote by people at a labor union meeting in which each person's vote represents the votes of all the members of his or her union.

care [keə] ◇ n -1. the activity of providing somebody or something with what they need in order to be or stay healthy, safe, in good condition etc □ She/This plant needs a lot of care. □ He has several patients in his care. □ care facilities. ■ in care GB [child] who is being looked after by a local authority because a court has ordered this to happen □ When she went to prison her children were taken into care. ■ to take care of sb to be responsible for the comfort, safety etc of sb □ The nurses took very good care of me. □ She can take care of herself. ■ to take care of sthg to deal with sthg □ That will be taken care of later. □ I'll take care of the bill. ■ take care! a phrase used to say goodbye to somebody □ OK, I'll see you tomorrow. Take care! Bye! -2. attention to what one is doing so that one does not make mistakes or cause damage □ Take more care with your writing/work. □ 'Handle with care.' ■ to take care to be careful □ I've learned to take more care of my body. ■ to take care to do sthg to make sure one does sthg □ He always took great care to lock up the house at night. □ Take care not to drip water on the carpet. -3. a care something that makes one worried □ She was weighed down with cares. □ I walked along without a care in the world.

◇ vi to be concerned about something and think it is important □ I really do care, you know. □ All he cares about is his car/himself. □ "Do you want to go out for a drink or stay in?" — "I don't really care." □ Who cares? ■ I couldn't care less it doesn't matter to me at all (informal use) □ I couldn't care less what he thinks!

◆ care of prep at the address of <sb> □ Write to me care of my sister in Adelaide.

◆ care for vt fus -1. to care for sb/sthg to like sb/sthg □ I don't care for opera/him much. □ Would you care for a drink? -2. to care for sb to take care of sb who is ill or too young to take care of themselves □ He spent his life caring for the sick.

CARE [keə] (abbr of Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere) n a US organization that sends packages of food, medicine, clothing, and tools to people who need help in developing countries □ a CARE package.

career [kə'ri:ən] vi = career.

career [kə'ri:ə] ◇ n -1. a job or profession that requires training and that somebody does for a long period of their life □ a career in medicine/banking □ Many women are understandably worried about taking a career break. -2. the part of one's life that one spends working □ He has enjoyed a long career in show business/politics. □ Most of her career was spent abroad. ◇ comp a career diplomat/soldier etc a diplomat/soldier etc who aims to do their job for all of their working life. ◇ vi to move very fast in an uncontrolled way □ The van careered down the road.

career counselor n US a person whose job is to give advice about careers, especially to students about to leave school or college.

careerist [kə'ri:əst] n a person who does their job mainly because they want to keep getting more power and success (disapproving use).

careers [kə'ri:əz] comp a careers office/service etc an office/service etc that provides information and advice to people to help them choose a career □ a careers advice center.

careers adviser, careers officer n GB = career counselor.

career woman n a woman whose career is very important to her.

carefree ['keə'fri:ə] adj [person] who is cheerful and not worried because they have no problems □ a carefree attitude/life.

careful ['keəfl] adj -1. [person] who is sensible and tries to avoid danger, problems, mistakes etc □ He's a very careful driver. □ Be careful! □ He's very careful with his money. ■ to be careful to do sthg to make sure that one does sthg □ She's always careful not to offend

- people. -2. [work, preparation] that is done with care so that no mistakes are made and nothing is left out □ She's a careful and meticulous worker. □ I've given your proposal careful consideration.
- carefully ['keə'flɪ] adv -1. [walk, hold, handle] in a way that avoids hurting anybody or damaging anything □ Please drive carefully! -2. [read, listen] with careful attention; [think, consider] seriously and thoroughly □ He thought carefully before replying. □ a carefully thought-out plan.
- caregiver ['keə'gɪvəʃ] n a person who cares for a child or for somebody who is sick or disabled.
- careless ['keə'ləs] adj -1. [person] who is not careful and makes mistakes, loses things etc; [work, mistake] that is done with too little thought or care □ a careless driver □ That was a careless thing to do/say! -2. [gesture, ease] that is relaxed and does not show any effort □ She was dressed with careless elegance.
- carelessly ['keə'ləsli] adv [drive, speak, act] see careless □ Books were carelessly scattered across the floor.
- carelessness ['keə'ləsənəs] n [of a person, somebody's work] see careless □ Mary makes mistakes through sheer carelessness.
- carer ['keərəʃ] n a person, especially a relative, who cares for an ill or disabled person.
- caress [kə'res] ◇ n a gentle touch or kiss, especially as a sign of affection. ◇ vt to give  a caress.
- caretaker ['keə'teɪkəʃ] n a person whose job is to look after a large building by keeping it clean, doing repairs etc □ the school caretaker.
- caretaker government n a government that holds power for a short time after the end of one government and before the election of a new one.
- car ferry n a ferry designed to carry cars.
- cargo ['kɑ:ɡəʊ] (pl cargoes OR cargos) n goods that are carried by a ship, plane, truck etc □ We have a cargo of coffee and bananas. □ a cargo ship/plane.
- car hire n GB = car rental.
- Caribbean [US kərə'biən, GB kær-] ◇ -1. the Caribbean (Sea) a part of the Atlantic Ocean between North America, South America, and the West Indies. -2. the Caribbean the islands in the Caribbean Sea. ◇ adj: Caribbean culture/cooking.
- caribou [US 'kerɪbu:, GB 'kær-] (pl caribou OR caribous) n a large deer from North America.
- caricature ['kærɪkətʃəʃ] ◇ n -1. [of a person] a picture or description of somebody that exaggerates the way they look or behave, especially in a humorous way. -2. [of the facts, truth] a very exaggerated account of something. ◇ vt to draw or describe <sb> as a caricature.
- caries ['keəri:z] decay of the teeth or bones (technical use).
- caring ['keəriŋ] adj [person, attitude, society] that shows kindness and concern for other people □ a caring home environment.
- caring professions npl the caring professions the professions that involve caring for people, e.g. nursing, social work, and medicine.
- carnage ['kɑ:rnɪdʒ] n the violent killing of a large number of people, especially in battle.
- carnal ['kɑ:nl] adj [desire, pleasure] that involves sex or sexual feelings (formal and disapproving use).
- carnation [kɑ:'neɪʃn] n a plant that has sweet-smelling pink, white, or red flowers.
- Carnegie [kɑ:'neɪɡɪ], Andrew (1835–1919) a US businessman who gave millions of dollars to education and the arts. He was responsible for building many libraries, and also Carnegie Hall in New York.
- Carnegie Hall ['kɑ:'næɡɪ-] a large concert hall in New York.
- carnival ['kɑ:rnɪvl] n -1. a celebration that takes place in the street, usually before Easter, and often involves a large procession of people who dance to loud music in colorful costumes. -2. US an outdoor event with bright lights and music, where people enjoy themselves by riding on fast machines, playing games of skill or strength etc.
- carnivore ['kɑ:rnɪvə:] n an animal that is carnivorous.
- carnivorous [kɑ:'rnɪvərəs] adj [animal, species] that eats the flesh of other animals.
- carol [US 'kerəl, GB 'kær-] n a religious song that is traditionally sung at Christmas □ a carol singer.
- carouse [kə'raʊz] vi to drink a lot of alcohol and have fun in a noisy way.
- carousel [US ,kerə'sel, GB ,kær-] n -1. US [at an amusement park] a mechanical device consisting of a circular covered platform with models of animals or cars on which children can sit while the machine turns around. -2. [at an airport] a circular conveyor belt on which passengers' baggage is placed for collection after a flight.
- carp [kɑ:p] (pl carp OR carps) ◇ n a large, edible, freshwater fish. ◇ vi to complain □ He's always carping about poor service in hotels.
- car park n GB a place where people can leave their cars.
- Carpathian Mountains = Carpathians.
- Carpathians [kɑ:'peɪθiənz]: the Carpathians a mountain range in central Europe extending from Slovakia to Romania. HIGHEST POINT: 2,655 m.
- carpenter ['kɑ:pəntəʃ] n a person whose job is to make or repair things made of wood.
- carpentry ['kɑ:pəntri] n the work of a carpenter.
- carpet ['kɑ:pɪt] ◇ n -1. a piece of a heavy fabric such as woven wool that is used for covering floors or stairs □ a wall-to-wall/stair carpet. ■ to sweep sthg under the carpet to keep sthg secret. -2. a carpet of leaves/snow etc a thick covering of leaves, snow etc on the ground. ◇ vt -1. to put a carpet on the floor of  etc □ I'd like to carpet the whole house in the same color. -2. to be car- peted with sthg [with snow, leaves] to be covered with a thick layer of sthg.

carpetbagger ['kɑ:ˈpætɒgəʃ] n in US history, a Northerner who went to live in the South after the Civil War to improve their financial situation or political career (disapproving use).

carpet slipper n a soft shoe for wearing indoors.

carpet sweeper [-,swi:pəʃ] n a device for sweeping the dirt from carpets.

car phone n a phone that is designed to be used in a car.

car pool n -1. US a group of people who travel to work, school etc together by sharing a car. -2. GB a group of cars owned by a company for the use of its employees.

carport ['kɑ:ˈpɔ:t] n a shelter for a car that is attached to the side of a building and consists of a roof supported on posts.

car radio n a small radio fitted in a car.

car rental n the act or business of renting cars □ a car rental company.

carriage [US 'kerɪdʒ, GB 'kær-] n -1. a vehicle with four wheels that is pulled by horses. -2. [of goods] the transport of goods from one place to another; the cost of this transport. ■ carriage paid OR free GB with the cost already paid by the sender. ■ carriage forward GB with the cost to be paid by the receiver. -3. [on a machine] a moving part of a machine, e.g. a typewriter, that supports another part. -4. [of a person] the way that one holds one's head and body when standing, moving etc (literary use). -5. GB RAIL a vehicle forming part of a train that carries passengers □ a railway carriage.

carriage clock n a small ornamental clock with a rectangular case and a handle on top.

carriage return n a lever or key on a typewriter or computer for moving to the beginning of a new line.

carriageway [US 'kerɪdʒweɪ, GB 'kær-] n GB the part of a road which vehicles travel along.

carrier [US 'kerɪər, GB 'kærɪə] n -1. INDUSTRY somebody or something, e.g. an airline, that carries goods or people from one place to another. -2. MEDICINE a person, animal etc that carries a disease which they can infect others with although they do not have any symptoms of it themselves □ carriers of the AIDS virus. -3. MILITARY = aircraft carrier. -4. GB = carrier bag.

carrier bag n GB a large plastic or paper bag with handles, used for carrying shopping.

carrier pigeon n a pigeon that has been trained to carry messages from one place to another.

carrion [US 'kerɪən, GB 'kær-] n the rotting flesh of dead animals □ Crows feed on carrion.

Carroll ['kærəl], Lewis (1832–1898) a British writer and mathematician. His most famous works are the children's stories Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking-Glass.

carrot [US 'kerət, GB 'kær-] n -1. a long, thin, orange-colored root vegetable that is cooked or eaten raw in salads □ carrot cake/soup. -2. something that is used to try to tempt somebody to do something (informal use).

carry [US 'kerɪ, GB 'kærɪ] (pt & pp carried) ◇ vt -1. [child, load, equipment] to take <sb/sthg> somewhere by holding them in one's hands, arms, on one's back etc so that they do not touch the ground □ He was carrying a suitcase. -2. [passenger, goods, information] to take <sb/sthg> from one place to another □ My car can only carry four people. □ The seeds are carried for miles by the wind. □ The pipeline carries the oil inshore to the terminal. -3. [gun, wallet] to have <sthg> with one all the time □ I never carry cash when I'm abroad. □ The car carries a spare wheel. -4. [person, animal, insect] to have  and be likely to spread it to others □ Mosquitoes do not carry Aids. -5. [penalty, fine, responsibility] to have or involve <sthg> as a necessary part or result of itself; [message, warning] to contain or show <sthg> □ All operations carry an element of risk to the patient. □ All our products carry a six-month guarantee. -6. to be carried [motion, proposal] to be accepted after getting enough votes □ The motion was carried by 62 votes to 30. -7. to be carrying a child to be pregnant. -8. MATH to move  from one column of figures to the next when doing a sum.

◇ vi [sound, noise, voice] to be able to be heard a long way away □ Their laughter carried over the water.

◆ carry away vt fus to get carried away to become so interested, angry, enthusiastic etc about something that one does too much □ We went shopping and I got a little carried away!

◆ carry forward vt sep to carry a number forward in bookkeeping, to move a number from the bottom of a column to the top of the next page.

◆ carry off vt sep -1. to carry sthg off to do <sthg difficult> successfully □ I never thought we'd carry it off! -2. to carry a prize/award off to win a prize/award □ They carried off first prize.

◆ carry on ◇ vt fus -1. to carry on sthg [conversation, tradition, relationship] to continue sthg without stopping □ He told me to carry on taking the pills. -2. to carry on sthg to start sthg again after stopping for a short time □ I intend to carry on working after I've had the baby. ◇ vi -1. to continue something □ We carried on with our meal. □ We'll take a break now, then carry on after coffee. -2. to behave in a silly, excited, or worried way (informal use).

◆ carry out vt sep to carry sthg out [plan, threat, instructions] to do sthg that has been ordered or planned □ The gang carried out a series of attacks on elderly people. □ I'm only carrying out orders.

◆ carry through vt sep to carry sthg through [plan, reform] to complete sthg successfully, even though there are problems.

carryall [US 'kerɪəl, GB 'kær-] n US a large soft bag that people use for carrying clothes and possessions when they travel.

carrycot [US 'kerikɒt, GB 'kær-] n GB a small bed with high sides and handles in which a baby can be carried.

carry-on adj carry-on luggage luggage that passengers take on to a plane with them.

carry-out n US & SCOT a cooked meal that one can buy at a restaurant and take away to eat.

carsick ['kɑ:'sɪk] adj to be carsick to feel sick while traveling in a car.

cart [kɑ:'t] ◇ n -1. a vehicle with two or four wheels that is used for carrying things, is pulled by a horse or by hand, and is often used on a farm. -2. US = grocery cart. ◇ vt -1. [hay, crops] to carry <sthg> to a place in a cart. -2. [person, luggage] to carry or take <sb/sthg heavy> to a place, especially with difficulty (informal use) □ I'm not carting that suitcase around with me all day. □ He was carted off to the police station.

carte blanche [,kɑ:'t'blɑ:nʃ] n to give sb carte blanche to give sb complete freedom to do what they want or think best □ We were given carte blanche to employ whoever we wanted.

cartel [kɑ:'tel] n a group of people or companies that work together as a way of limiting competition and controlling prices □ a drugs cartel.

carthorse ['kɑ:'θɔ:s] n a large, very strong horse used in the past to pull carts and farm equipment.

cartilage ['kɑ:'tɛlɪdʒ] n a substance that forms most of the skeleton of young animals and humans and is found in the nose and joints of adults; a piece of this tissue □ He fell and tore a cartilage in his knee.

carton ['kɑ:'tɒn] n -1. a strong cardboard box. -2. a cardboard or plastic container in which food or drink is sold □ a milk/yogurt/fruit-juice carton.

cartoon [kɑ:'tu:n] n -1. [in a newspaper, magazine] a humorous drawing; a series of these drawings that tell a story □ a political cartoon. -2. CINEMA a movie in which the characters and background are drawn by artists.

cartoonist [kɑ:'tu:nɪst] n a person whose job is drawing cartoons.

cartridge ['kɑ:'trɪdʒ] n -1. [in a gun] a metal, plastic, or cardboard tube that contains a bullet and the explosive charge used to fire it. -2. [in a pen] a plastic tube that contains ink and fits inside a pen. -3. [in a camera] a container with film inside that is loaded into a camera. -4. [in a record player] the part of the arm of a record player that holds the needle. -5. [in a photocopier, printer] a small plastic device that contains ink and fits inside a printer or photocopier.

cartridge paper n a strong thick paper used for drawing.

cartridge pen n a pen that contains a small plastic tube full of ink that is replaced when empty.

cartwheel ['kɑ:'twi:l] n an acrobatic movement made by putting one's hands on the ground, then throwing one's legs sideways so that one lands back on one's feet.

car valeting [-vælətɪŋ] n GB a service offered by some garages in which a car is cleaned inside and outside.

carve [kɑ:'v] ◇ vt -1. [sculpture, figure] to make <an object> out of wood or stone by cutting pieces off it; [wood, stone] to cut and shape <sthg> in this way □ a carved wooden staircase □ He carved the wood into the form of a horse. -2. [lamb, beef] to cut <meat> into slices. -3. [writing, pattern] to cut  into wood □ They carved their names on the tree. ◇ vi to cut meat into slices.

◆ carve out vt sep to carve sthg out [career, niche, position] to get sthg for oneself by working hard □ He has carved out a place for himself in politics.

◆ carve up vt sep to carve sthg up [property, country] to divide sthg between a few people, especially in a greedy way □ They carved up the profits between them.

Carver ['kɑ:'və], George Washington (1864–1943) a US scientist who originally came from a slave family. He encouraged education for black people and improved farming methods in the south of the USA.

carving ['kɑ:'vɪŋ] n -1. the art of making carved objects, sculptures, or designs. -2. an object that has been carved □ a beautiful wood/stone carving.

carving knife n a sharp knife for cutting cooked meat into slices.

car wash n a machine at a gas station that washes cars automatically using large brushes and hoses.

Casanova [,kæzə'nouvə] n a man who has a reputation for having a lot of lovers.

cascade [kæ'skeɪd] ◇ n a waterfall or series of waterfalls that flows over rocks. ◇ vi [water sparks] to fall downwards quickly and in large amounts □ The water cascaded over the rocks. □ Her hair cascaded over her shoulders.

case [keɪs] n -1. a single example or occasion of something □ It was a case of mistaken identity. □ In this particular case, I felt I had no choice but to leave. ■ a case in point a good example □ This school is a case in point, with a failure rate of over 50%. ■ in some/most cases on some/most occasions □ In most cases, complaints were dealt with in less than a month. -2. [of a doctor, lawyer] a person or problem that is being dealt with by somebody such as a doctor, lawyer, adviser, or social worker □ Our complaints department deals with cases like these. □ There have been several cases of measles in the area. -3. LAW a crime or complaint that the police are investigating; the trial in court that results from this □ a murder/rape case □ Her case is due in court next week. -4. [in an argument] the facts and arguments given in support of an opinion □ She made a strong case for cutting taxes. -5. [for holding something] a box or other container for holding and protecting something, especially one that can be carried □ a violin/binocular case □ a case of wine/books. -6. GB = suitcase. -7. phrase to

- be the case to be true or correct □ That is certainly not the case in the United States.
- ◆ in case ◇ conj take an umbrella in case it rains take an umbrella because it might rain.
◇ adv: Should I keep a spare key, just in case?
- ◆ in case of prep 'in case of emergency' if there is an emergency.
- ◆ in any case adv used to give a new and more important reason for something □ In any case, that's not the point.
- ◆ in that case adv if what has just been said is true or correct □ "What if it doesn't work?" — "In that case we'll start again."
- ◆ in which case conj if this happens or is true □ Hē may still come, in which case we can all leave together.
- case history n a record of a person's past, e.g. their medical history, that helps to explain and treat a present illness or problem that they have.
- caseload ['keɪsləʊd] n the amount of work that a social worker, psychiatrist etc has to do, consisting of individual cases.
- casement ['keɪsmənt] n a casement (window) a window that has hinges at one side and opens outward like a door.
- case study n a detailed study of a person or group of people over a period of time by doctors, sociologists etc.
- cash [kæʃ] ◇ n -1. money in the form of notes and coins rather than checks or credit cards □ I've got £20 in cash. □ She always pays (in) cash. □ a cash payment. -2. money (informal use) □ I'm a little short of cash. -3. cash in advance an arrangement in which goods or services are paid for before they are received. ■ cash on delivery → COD. ◇ vt to exchange  for money.
- ◆ cash in vi to cash in on sthg to take advantage of sthg in a way that is thought by other people to be wrong or unfair (informal use) □ Everyone is cashing in on his idea.
- cash and carry n a large store which sells goods in large quantities at a cheaper price.
- cashbook ['kæʃbʊk] n a book in which a person or company keeps a record of all the money they spend and receive.
- cash box n a metal box, usually with a lock, for keeping money in.
- cash card n a plastic card that is used for getting money from a cash dispenser.
- cash cow n a product or part of a business that keeps making a profit.
- cash crop n a crop that is grown in order to be sold.
- cash desk n GB a desk or counter in a store where goods are paid for.
- cash discount n a discount that is offered to somebody when they pay in cash rather than by check or credit card.
- cash dispenser n a machine, usually built into the outside wall of a bank, where one can get money by putting in a plastic card and entering a personal code number.
- cashew ['kæʃu:] n a cashew (nut) a small curved nut that grows in the tropics, often eaten roasted and salted.
- cash flow n the movement of money into and out of a business □ They failed to expand because of cash flow problems.
- cashier [kæʃ'ɪɪə] n -1. a person in a store whose job is to take money as payment for goods. -2. a person in a bank whose job is to cash checks, take payments etc.
- cash machine n = cash dispenser.
- cashmere [US 'kæʒmɪr, GB 'kæʃmɪə] n a fine soft wool that is very expensive □ a cashmere sweater/scarf.
- cashpoint (machine) ['kæʃpɔɪnt-] n GB = cash dispenser.
- cash price n the price of something when it is paid for in cash rather than by check or credit card.
- cash register n a machine in a store that is used to add up and record the prices of goods bought, with a drawer for keeping the money received.
- cash sale n the act of selling something for cash.
- casing ['keɪsɪŋ] n something that covers and protects something else □ a rubber casing □ Remove the outer casing before use.
- casino [kə'si:niʊ] (pl casinos) n a place where people gamble by playing games, e.g. roulette or cards.
- cask [US kæsk, GB kɑ:sk] n a large wooden barrel for wine, sherry, beer etc □ 'Matured in oak casks.'
- casket [US 'kæskət, GB 'kɑ:sk-] n -1. US a box in which a dead person is buried or burned. -2. a small box for jewels and other valuable things.
- Caspian Sea [,kæspjən-]: the Caspian Sea the world's largest inland sea, between southeastern Europe and Asia.
- casserole ['kæsərəʊl] n -1. a casserole (dish) a deep dish with a lid for cooking food in an oven. -2. food cooked in a casserole □ a chicken/vegetable casserole.
- cassette [kə'set] n -1. a rectangular plastic box that holds a roll of audio or video tape and fits into a machine for playing or recording. -2. a container of photographic film that fits into a camera.
- cassette deck n a machine for playing and recording audio cassettes, usually as part of a hi-fi system.
- cassette player n a machine for playing audio cassettes.
- cassette recorder n a machine for playing and recording audio cassettes.
- cassock ['kæsək] n a long robe, usually black, that is worn by Christian priests in church.
- cast [US kæst, GB kɑ:st] (pt & pp cast) ◇ vt -1. to cast an eye OR a glance over sthg to look at sthg quickly □ Could you cast an eye over this report? ■ to cast doubt on sthg to make people doubt sthg □ His indecision casts doubt on his ability to govern. ■ to cast a spell to change somebody or something using

- magic □ The witch cast a spell on the prince.
 -2. to cast a shadow/light to send a shadow/light somewhere □ The flames cast a red glow around the room. -3. [object] to throw <sthg> (literary use). -4. [person] to choose <an actor> to play a role in a play, movie etc □ She cast him in the role of Hamlet. -5. to cast one's vote to vote. -6. [in a mold] to make <an object> by leaving liquid metal or plastic in a mold until it hardens □ a statue cast in bronze.
 ◇ vi FISHING to throw a fishing line into the water.
 ◇ n -1. all the actors in a particular play, movie etc □ He was in the cast of "Showboat".
 □ a member of the cast □ a cast of thousands. -2. MEDICINE = plaster cast.
- ◆ cast about, cast around vt fus to cast about OR around for sthg to try to think of sthg to do or say □ We're desperately casting around for ideas.
- ◆ cast aside vt sep to cast sb/sthg aside to get rid of sb/sthg that one no longer wants □ He later cast aside his pacifism.
- ◆ cast off ◇ vt sep to cast sthg off [mood, burden] to get rid of sthg (formal use) □ She cast off her old habits. ◇ vi -1. to unfasten a boat or ship and start sailing. -2. to fasten the stitches tightly at the end of a piece of knitting to stop them from coming loose.
- ◆ cast on vi to put the first row of stitches onto a needle at the beginning of a piece of knitting.
- castanets [ˌkæstə'nets] npl a Spanish musical instrument that consists of two small pieces of wood that are held in the hand and knocked together.
- castaway [US 'kæstəweɪ, GB 'kɑ:st-] n a person who has survived a shipwreck and been carried by the sea to an empty shore or island.
- caste [US kæst, GB kɑ:st] n one of the fixed classes in some societies, especially in Hindu society □ a caste system □ a low-/high-caste family.
- caster [US 'kæstr, GB 'kɑ:stə] n one of the small wheels under a bed, chair, sofa etc.
- caster sugar n GB fine white sugar used in cooking.
- castigate ['kæstəgeɪt] vt to criticize <sb> severely (formal use).
- casting [US 'kæstɪŋ, GB 'kɑ:st-] n the process of choosing actors for a play, movie etc □ a casting director.
- casting vote n the vote of the most important member of a group or committee that is used to decide an issue when there is an equal number of votes for and against it.
- cast iron n a strong kind of iron that is made into objects by pouring it in liquid form into a mold and leaving it until it hardens.
- ◆ cast-iron adj -1. [gate, stove, railing] made of cast iron. -2. a cast-iron will/decision a firm and strong will/decision. -3. a cast-iron alibi/guarantee an alibi/a guarantee that is very certain and can be trusted.
- castle [US 'kæsl, GB 'kɑ:sl] n -1. a large and very old building with thick walls, ditches etc to protect it against attack. -2. CHESS a chess piece which can move in a straight line but not diagonally.
- castoff [US 'kæstɒf, GB 'kɑ:st-] n a piece of clothing that is given away because it is no longer wanted or needed □ I used to wear all my elder brother's castoffs.
- castor [US 'kæstr, GB 'kɑ:stə] n = caster.
- castor oil n a thick yellow oil used as a medicine.
- caster sugar n = caster sugar.
- castrate [US 'kæstreɪt, GB kɑ'streɪt] vt to remove the testicles of .
- castration [kæ'streɪʃn] n: see castrate.
- Castro ['kæstrou], Fidel (1927–) the Communist revolutionary leader of Cuba, who became Prime Minister in 1959, and President in 1976.
- casual ['kæʒuəl] adj -1. [behavior, attitude, person] that seems not to care or be concerned □ He tried to appear casual when talking about it. □ He cast a casual glance over the report. ■ a casual observer a person who does not look at something in detail □ To the casual observer this may seem like a very ordinary event. -2. [relationship, affair] that is not serious and does not last for long □ casual sex. -3. [meeting] that happens without being planned. -4. [clothes, shoes] that are informal and comfortable □ casual wear. -5. [work, worker] that is not regular or permanent □ a casual job/laborer.
- casually ['kæʒuəli] adv [glance, behave, dress] see casual □ She was casually dressed. □ He casually mentioned he was leaving town.
- casualty ['kæʒuəlɪ] (pl casualties) n -1. [in a war, accident] a person who has died or been injured in a war, accident, or disaster □ There were heavy casualties. -2. GB [in a hospital] a part of a hospital where people who have suddenly fallen ill or have been injured in accidents are taken for emergency medical treatment □ She's in casualty. -3. a casualty of sthg [of a change, policy, system] a person or thing that is lost, destroyed, or suffers as a result of sthg □ Truth is often the first casualty in political debates.
- casualty department n GB [in a hospital] = casualty.
- cat [kæt] n -1. a small furry animal with whiskers and sharp claws, often kept as a pet or to catch mice □ a domestic cat. ■ to let the cat out of the bag to tell somebody a secret, often by mistake. ■ to be like a cat on a hot tin roof US OR on hot bricks GB to be unable to stay still because one is very nervous or excited. -2. any animal related to the domestic cat, e.g. a lion or tiger □ a member of the cat family. -3. AUTO = catalytic converter.
- cataclysmic [ˌkætə'klɪzɪk] adj [effect, change] that seems very big and disastrous.
- catacombs [US 'kætəkoumz, GB -ku:mz] npl a series of underground rooms and tunnels where bodies were once buried.
- Catalan ['kætələn] ◇ n -1. a person who comes from or lives in Catalonia. -2. the language of Catalonia. ◇ adj: see Catalonia.

catalog US, catalogue ['kætələg] ◇ n -1. BUSINESS a book, often illustrated with photographs, listing all the items for sale in a store, at an auction, or through the mail □ a mail-order catalog. -2. [of a museum, gallery, library] a book listing everything in a collection □ I bought a copy of the exhibition catalog. -3. a catalog of disasters/crimes etc a series of disasters/crimes etc that happen close to each other □ A whole catalog of errors led up to the crisis. ◇ vt -1. to make a list of the <books, works of art> etc in a collection. -2. to make a list of <mistakes, crimes> etc.

Catalonia [,kætə'louɳjə] a self-governing region of northeastern Spain, with many tourist resorts and industries.

catalyst ['kætələst] n -1. CHEMISTRY a substance that speeds up a chemical reaction without being affected itself. -2. somebody or something that causes a social or political change □ The shelling of unarmed civilians could act as a catalyst for UN military intervention.

catalytic converter [,kætə'li:tɪkən'vɜ:ʔtəʔ] n a device in the exhaust of a car that reduces the amount of harmful gas produced.

catamaran [,kætəmə'ræn] n a boat or ship with two hulls joined by a single deck.

catapult ['kætəpəlt] GB ◇ n -1. a weapon for shooting stones, usually used by children, which consists of a Y-shaped stick with an elastic strip fastened between the two sides. -2. a machine for launching aircraft from an aircraft carrier. ◇ vt -1. to fire <sthg> from a catapult. -2. to throw <sthg> very suddenly and quickly □ The impact catapulted him through the windshield. -3. to be catapulted to fame/stardom etc to suddenly become famous/a star etc because of some event □ The show catapulted her to fame.

cataract ['kætərəkt] n -1. an area of the lens of the eye that has become unclear and prevents one from seeing properly □ cataract surgery. -2. a large waterfall (literary use).

catarrh [kə'tɑ:ʔ] n a condition in which a thick yellowish substance is produced in one's nose and throat, e.g. when one has a cold.

catastrophe [kə'tæstrəfi] n a terrible event that causes great suffering, destruction, or death □ He predicted that lifting the arms embargo would lead to catastrophe.

catastrophic [,kætə'strɒfɪk] adj [result, event, war] that causes great suffering, destruction, or death □ Pollutants are being released unchecked with catastrophic results for the environment.

cat burglar n a burglar who gets into buildings by climbing high walls and roofs.

catcall ['kætkɔ:l] n a loud noise made by somebody in an audience to show they do not like something.

catch [kætʃ] (pt & pp caught) ◇ vt -1. [a moving object] to take hold of <an object> while it is moving through the air □ I just managed to catch the glass before it hit the ground.

-2. [criminal, mouse, fish] to stop and hold onto  that is trying to escape □ I went fishing but didn't catch anything.

-3. [person] to surprise <sb>, especially while they are doing something wrong or illegal □ He was caught stealing from the petty cash. □ Don't let me catch you telling lies again!

-4. to catch a train/plane etc to get onto a train/plane etc and travel somewhere □ I caught the 7:30 train to Lille. -5. [train, plane, program] not to be too late to get, see, or hear <sthg>

□ We just caught the last bus/the end of the movie. ■ to catch the post GB to put a letter, package etc in the mailbox before it is emptied.

-6. not to catch sthg [name, reply, word] not to hear sthg clearly □ I didn't catch what you said. -7. to catch sb's attention/imagination to make sb interested in what is happening □ The trial has caught the public's interest/imagination.

-8. to catch sight of sb/sthg, to catch a glimpse of sb/sthg to see sb/sthg suddenly for a short time and not completely □ I caught sight of him in the crowd.

-9. [cold, measles, cholera] to get <an illness or disease> □ Put a thick sweater on or you'll catch a chill. -10. [part of one's body, clothing] to get <sthg> trapped or stuck □ I caught my finger in the door. □ She caught her sleeve on a nail.

-11. to catch the light to reflect the light and shine □ Her ring sparkled as it caught the light.

-12. [person, animal, target] to hit <sb/sthg> □ He caught me on the chin and it really hurt.

◇ vi -1. [coat, sleeve, hair] to become trapped or stuck □ My skirt caught on the barbed wire and tore. -2. [fire, wood] to start to burn □ The fire wouldn't catch because the wood was damp.

◇ n -1. [with one's hands] the act of taking hold of an object that is moving through the air, especially a ball □ Good catch! -2. [of fish] an amount of fish that has been caught □ The boat landed its catch in Dover. -3. [on a door, window] a device used to fasten containers, windows, doors etc □ a safety catch. -4. [in a situation] a disadvantage or problem, especially one that has been hidden deliberately □ The plan seems perfect, but there must be a catch in it somewhere.

◇ vi -1. [with one's hands] the act of taking hold of an object that is moving through the air, especially a ball □ Good catch! -2. [of fish] an amount of fish that has been caught □ The boat landed its catch in Dover. -3. [on a door, window] a device used to fasten containers, windows, doors etc □ a safety catch. -4. [in a situation] a disadvantage or problem, especially one that has been hidden deliberately □ The plan seems perfect, but there must be a catch in it somewhere.

◇ vi -1. [with one's hands] the act of taking hold of an object that is moving through the air, especially a ball □ Good catch! -2. [of fish] an amount of fish that has been caught □ The boat landed its catch in Dover. -3. [on a door, window] a device used to fasten containers, windows, doors etc □ a safety catch. -4. [in a situation] a disadvantage or problem, especially one that has been hidden deliberately □ The plan seems perfect, but there must be a catch in it somewhere.

◆ catch at vt fus to catch at sthg [branch, rope, arm] to try to take hold of sthg □ He caught at the railing and missed.

◆ catch on vi -1. [fashion, craze, trend] to become popular □ No one thought the idea would catch on. -2. [person] to begin to understand slowly or later than everybody else (informal use) □ Her husband eventually caught on to what was happening.

◆ catch out vt sep to catch sb out GB to make sb make a mistake, especially in order to show that they are lying or doing something wrong □ They asked a lot of questions to try and catch me out.

◆ catch up ◇ vi sep -1. to get caught up in sthg [in a crime, affair, argument] to become involved in sthg, usually against one's will. -2. to catch sb up GB to come from behind and reach the same point as sb □ You go on ahead, I'll catch you up in a minute. ◇ vi -1. to come from behind and reach the same point as somebody □ Our competitor is the most successful company in the market but we're catching up fast. □ Let's wait here for the others to catch up. -2. to catch up on sthg [on work, sleep, reading] to spend time doing sthg that one has not been able to do for a while □ We had a lot of news to catch up on.

◆ catch up with vt fus -1. to catch up with sb to reach the same point or level as sb □ We've only had two lessons so you'll soon catch up with us. □ I finally caught up with her at the gate. -2. to catch up with sb to catch sb one has been chasing for some time □ The police finally caught up with him in Barcelona. □ The taxman will catch up with you in the end!

catch-22 [-twenti'tu:] n a catch-22 situation a situation that one cannot escape from because one needs one thing in order to get a second thing, but cannot get the second thing unless one has the first thing.

catch-all adj [clause, term] that is general enough to cover all possibilities.

catcher ['kætʃə] n the baseball player behind homeplate who catches the ball when it is not hit by the batter.

catching ['kætʃɪŋ] adj to be catching [disease, enthusiasm] to be easily passed on to other people (informal use).

catchment area ['kætʃmənt-] n GB the area served by a school, hospital etc, which people living in the area are expected to go to.

catchphrase ['kætʃfreɪz] n a phrase that is used by somebody famous, e.g. an entertainer, and is associated with them.

catchword ['kætʃwɜ:d] n a well-known word or phrase that is often repeated, e.g. by a political party.

catchy ['kætʃɪ] (compar catchier, superl catchiest) adj [tune, song] pleasant and easy to remember.

cat door n US a small opening in the door of a house through which cats can enter and leave.

catechism ['kætəkɪzəm] n a series of questions and answers that are used to teach Christian beliefs.

categorical [,kætsə'gɔrɪkəl] adj [denial, refusal, statement] clear and firm.

categorically [,kætsə'gɔrɪkəlɪ] adv [deny, refuse, state] see categorical □ She categorically denied any involvement in the affair.

categorize, -ise ['kætəgəraɪz] vt to put <sb/sthg> into a category □ He is categorized as a Romantic.

category [US 'kætəgɔ:ri, GB -əgəri] (pl categories) n a group or class of people or things with similar qualities □ Her work doesn't fall into any neat category.

cater ['keɪtə] vi [person, company] to provide food and drinks.

◆ cater for vt fus to cater for sb GB to cater to sb.

◆ cater to vt fus -1. to cater to sb US to give sb what they need or want □ The magazine caters to independent working women. □ We cater to all levels of ability. -2. to cater to sthg to provide somebody with sthg that they want but that is thought to be bad □ This kind of rhetoric caters to the very worst in people.

caterer ['keɪtərə] n a person whose job is to provide food and drink for particular occasions □ a firm of caterers.

catering ['keɪtərɪŋ] n the service of providing food and drink for special occasions □ A local firm did the catering. □ a catering college □ the catering industry.

caterpillar ['kætə'pɪlə] n a small long animal with many legs that moves slowly and develops into a butterfly.

caterpillar tracks npl a continuous band of metal plates attached to the wheels of heavy vehicles, e.g. tanks or bulldozers.

catfish ['kætfɪʃ] (pl catfish OR catfishes) n a fish with long thin parts around the mouth that look like whiskers.

cat flap n GB = cat door.

cat food n food for cats sold in cans.

catgut ['kætgʌt] n a strong cord made from the intestines of animals and used to make the strings of violins and tennis rackets.

catharsis [kə'θɑ:ʃəs] (pl catharses [-si:z]) n the release of strong emotions in a harmless way, e.g. by talking about them or by experiencing them through drama or music.

cathedral [kə'θi:drəl] n the main church in an area that a bishop is in charge of □ St Patrick's Cathedral in New York.

Catherine the Great [,kæθərənðə'greɪt] (1729–1796) Empress of Russia from 1762 to 1796.

catheter ['kæθətə] n a thin tube that is put into an opening in the body for putting in medicine, taking out urine etc.

cathode ray tube [kæθəʊd-] n a device used in television sets and computers that produces an image by sending a beam of electrons onto a screen.

catholic ['kæθɪk] adj [tastes, interests] that include a wide range of things.

Catholic ◇ n a member of the Roman Catholic Church. ◇ adj: a Catholic priest/school.

Catholicism [kə'θɒləsɪzəm] n the Roman Catholic religion.

catkin ['kætkɪn] n a flower shaped like a long thin tail that hangs from some types of tree, e.g. willows or hazels.

cat litter n special grains that are placed in a tray in the house for cats to use as a toilet.

CatseyesTM ['kætsaɪz] npl GB small pieces of glass fixed in the middle of a road that reflect car headlights at night and guide drivers.

Catskill ['kætskɪl]: the Catskills, the Catskill Mountains a mountain range in the south-east of New York State, USA. HIGHEST POINT: 1,282 m. catsup ['kætsəp] n US a rich tomato sauce containing vinegar, served cold with food.

cattle ['kætl] npl cows and bulls □ a herd of cattle □ cattle farming.

cattle guard US, cattle grid GB n a row of metal bars over a hole in the ground that stops cows and sheep from going over it.

catty ['kæti] (compar cattier, superl cattiest) adj [person, remark] spiteful (informal use).

catwalk ['kætwɔ:k] n -1. a raised path or bridge, e.g. between two parts of a large building. -2. the catwalk the raised path where models walk in a fashion show.

Caucasian [kə:'keɪʒjən] (formal use) adj who belongs to a white race The suspect is a Caucasian male in his early twenties. adj n a person who is Caucasian.

Caucasus ['kɔ:kəsəs]: the Caucasus a mountainous region in southeastern Europe between the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea. HIGHEST POINT: 5,642 m. caucus ['kɔ:kəs] (pl caucuses) n -1. in some states of the USA and Australia, a large political meeting where people decide who will represent their party in an election and what their policies will be. -2. in Britain, a group within a political party that is strong enough to influence policy.

caught [kɔ:t] past tense & past participle of catch.

cauliflower ['kɔ:lɪflaʊə] n a large vegetable consisting of a rough, round, hard, white part surrounded by green leaves.

causal ['kɔ:z] adj [relationship] in which one thing is caused by another There is no causal link between the two events.

cause [kɔ:z] adj n -1. [of an event] a person, action, or event that makes something happen The cause of the crash is still unknown. She died of natural causes. the law of cause and effect. -2. cause for sthg a good reason for feeling or doing sthg We mustn't give our clients cause for complaint. There is no cause for concern. -3. something such as a charity, political movement, or principle that people fight for or support Please give generously, it's for a good cause.

vt [delay, problem, anxiety] to be the cause of <sthg> The accident was caused by faulty wiring. Who would have thought a missing fax could cause so much trouble? The traffic caused them to miss the appointment. Torrential rain caused the game to be postponed.

causeway ['kɔ:zweɪ] n a raised path or road, usually over water.

caustic ['kɔ:stɪk] adj -1. [chemical, cleaner] that can burn or destroy materials. -2. [comment, wit] unkind and hurtful.

caustic soda n a strong chemical substance used in cleaning products.

cauterize, -ise ['kɔ:teɪraɪz] vt to close  by burning it with a hot object or caustic substance.

caution ['kɔ:ʃn] adj n -1. care that one takes to avoid danger Proceed with caution. Treat everything he says with caution. 'Caution: handle with care.' A word of caution, do not let the glue come into contact with your skin. -2. GB LAW an official warning given by a policeman to somebody who has committed an offense, telling them not to do it again.

vt -1. to caution sb against doing sthg to warn sb not to do sthg because it may be dangerous or unwise. -2. GB LAW to warn <sb> that they will be charged with a crime and that anything they say may be used against them at their trial He was taken down to the police station and cautioned. -3. GB LAW to caution sb for sthg to warn sb that they have done sthg wrong and should not do it again She was cautioned for speeding.

cautionary [US 'kɔ:ʃənəri, GB -əri] adj a cautionary tale a story that gives a warning.

cautious ['kɔ:ʃəs] adj [person, approach, reply] that is very careful and does not take risks He is cautious by nature. Here we are seeing a more cautious approach to foreign policy.

cautiously ['kɔ:ʃəʃli] adv [move, approach, reply] see cautious I tapped the mysterious package cautiously. We are cautiously optimistic about winning the contract.

cavalier [,kævə'liə] adj [person, manner, attitude] having no respect or concern for other people's feelings.

cavalry ['kævlrɪ] n -1. soldiers who fight on horses. -2. the section of an army that uses armored vehicles.

cave [keɪv] n a large natural hole either underground with an opening to the surface or in the side of a cliff or hill.

♦ cave in vi -1. [roof, ceiling] to collapse. -2. [person] to stop opposing something, especially because one is under pressure Eventually they caved in to our demands.

caveman ['keɪvmæn] (pl cavemen [-men]) n a person who lived in a cave in prehistoric times.

cavern ['kævə'n] n a large cave.

cavernous ['kævə'nəs] adj [room, mouth, space] that seems very big and deep The sound echoed in the cavernous depths below.

caviar(e) ['kævɪə:] n the salted black or red eggs of the sturgeon fish that are eaten as a delicacy.

caving ['keɪvɪŋ] n the sport or activity of exploring caves We sometimes go caving.

cavity ['kævəti] (pl cavities) n -1. a hole or hollow space in an object or structure, or in one's body the nasal cavity. -2. a hole in a tooth where the tooth is decayed.

cavity wall insulation n GB a way of keeping out cold and noise from a room by building the walls in two separate layers and filling the space with special material.

cavort [kə'vɔ:t] vi to dance or behave in a noisy or sexual way.

cayenne [keɪ'en] n cayenne (pepper) a very hot red powder made from capsicum peppers and used to flavor food.

CB n -1. (abbr of Citizens' Band) = CB radio. -2. (abbr of Companion of (the Order of) the Bath) an honorary title in Britain.

CBC (abbr of Canadian Broadcasting Corpora- - tion) n a Canadian radio and television company that is paid for by the state.

- CBD (abbr of central business district) n AUS the business district of a town.
- CBE (abbr of Companion of (the Order of) the British Empire) n an award given to somebody who has achieved a lot for Britain.
- CBI (abbr of Confederation of British Industry) n the CBI a federation of British companies that carries out surveys and research for its members.
- CB radio n a set of radio frequencies used by the public to talk to one another on radios; a radio that uses these frequencies to send and receive messages.
- CBS (abbr of Columbia Broadcasting System) n a major national TV network in the USA.
- CBT (abbr of computer-based training) n the use of computers for training people.
- cc \diamond n abbr of cubic centimeter \square a 1300 cc engine. \diamond [on a document] abbr of carbon copy.
- CCTV n abbr of closed-circuit television.
- CD \diamond n abbr of compact disc \square a CD player. \diamond -1. abbr of civil defense. -2. (abbr of Corps Diplomatique) the diplomatic corps.
- CDI, CD-i (abbr of compact disc interactive) n a compact disc that contains text, sound, and pictures, and is used in a special machine attached to a television.
- CD player n = compact disc player.
- Cdr. abbr of commander.
- CD-ROM [ˌsi:di:'rɒm] (abbr of compact disc read-only memory) n a compact disc that contains text, sound, and pictures, and is used in a computer. The information on a CD-ROM cannot be changed \square The dictionary is now available on CD-ROM.
- CDT (abbr of Central Daylight Time) n the time used in summer in the central USA and Canada.
- CDV (abbr of compact disc video) n a compact disc that plays movies.
- CDW abbr of collision damage waiver.
- CE abbr of Church of England.
- cease [si:s] (formal use) \diamond vt to stop doing <sthg> \square The firm has ceased trading. \square You never cease to amaze me! \diamond vi to stop happening \square It rained without ceasing.
- cease-fire n an agreement by two sides in a war to stop fighting for a period of time, especially while discussions about permanent peace take place \square The two sides agreed to a temporary cease-fire. \square a cease-fire resolution.
- ceaseless ['si:sləs] adj [rain, activity, noise] that does not stop (formal use).
- cedar ['si:də] n a cedar (tree) a tall evergreen tree with branches that spread out horizontally and leaves shaped like needles.
- cede [si:d] vt [right, authority, land] to give <sthg> to somebody else, often unwillingly and because there is no choice \square The territory was ceded to France in the nineteenth century.
- cedilla [sə'dɪlə] n an accent (,) put under a letter, e.g. the letter "c" in French, to show that it is pronounced in a certain way.
- CeefaxTM ['si:fæks] n the BBC teletext service.
- ceilidh ['keɪlɪ] n an informal party in Scotland or Ireland with dancing, folk music, and singing.
- ceiling ['si:lɪŋ] n -1. [of a room] the surface at the top of a room inside a building \square From the ceiling hung a large lamp. -2. [on prices] an upper limit that is put on spending, prices, wages etc by a government or official organization \square The government has imposed a ceiling on interest rates.
- celebrate ['seləbreɪt] \diamond vt -1. [anniversary, success] to mark <an important event or date> by enjoying oneself, e.g. by having a party \square He always celebrated his birthday with a big dinner. \square The company celebrated 50 years of business yesterday. -2. [beauty, heroism, person] to praise <sb/sthg> (formal use). -3. [marriage, Mass] to perform . \diamond vi to show that one is happy about an event by doing something enjoyable, e.g. having a party \square I got the job — let's celebrate!
- celebrated ['seləbreɪtəd] adj [writer, actor, speech] well-known and admired.
- celebration [ˌseləbreɪʃn] n -1. the act of celebrating something \square There was much celebration after her promotion was announced. -2. an event or occasion that celebrates something \square The celebrations went on late into the night.
- celebrity [sə'lebrəti] (pl celebrities) n a person who is well-known, especially in the world of show business \square TV celebrities.
- celeriac [sə'leɪrɪæk] n a kind of celery with a large round root that is eaten as a vegetable.
- celery ['seləri] n a vegetable that grows in long green sticks, often eaten raw in salads \square a stick of celery.
- celestial [US sə'lestʃəl, GB '-lestʃəl] adj [body, sphere, being] that is connected with the sky or heaven (literary use).
- celibacy ['seləbəsi] n: see celibate \square a vow of celibacy.
- celibate ['seləbət] adj -1. [priest, monk] who is unmarried or does not have sex because of their religious beliefs. -2. [person] who is not having a sexual relationship with anybody \square I've been celibate for three years.
- cell [sel] n -1. BIOLOGY the smallest unit of a living thing, e.g. a plant or animal, that is able to function independently \square blood cells. -2. [for prisoners] a small room in which a prisoner is kept \square He was kept overnight in a police cell. \square a prison cell \square a cell block. -3. RELIGION a small room with very simple furniture in which a monk or nun lives. -4. [in an organization] a small group of people who work together, often secretly, as part of a larger organization \square a terrorist cell.
- cellar ['selə] n -1. a room underneath a house that is used for storing things \square a coal/wine cellar. -2. the stock of wine that is kept in a cellar \square He keeps a good cellar.
- cellist ['tʃelɪst] n a person who plays the cello.
- cello ['tʃeləʊ] (pl cellos) n a musical instrument like a large violin that is held upright between the player's knees and played with a bow □ She plays the cello.

CellophaneTM ['sɛlsfɛɪn] n a thin transparent material that is used to wrap food and other products.

cellphone ['sɛlfoʊn], cellular phone ['sɛljələʔ-] n a telephone that works without wires and that people use while traveling around.

cellulite ['sɛljələɪt] n fat in the body that makes the skin look slightly swollen and lumpy.

CelluloidTM ['sɛljələɔɪd] n a type of plastic used in the past for making film.

cellulose ['sɛljələʊs] n the material from which the cell walls of plants are made, used in making paper, film, plastic etc.

Celsius ['sɛlsiəs] n a scale for measuring temperature in which water freezes at 0° and boils at 100° □ 20 degrees Celsius.

Celt [kɛlt] n a member of a people who lived in the British Isles and western Europe in ancient times.

Celtic ['kɛltɪk] adj: see Celt □ Celtic art.

cement [sə'mɛnt] ◇ n -1. a gray powder made of limestone and clay that is mixed with sand and water and used in building. -2. a kind of strong thick glue. ◇ vt -1. [floor, path] to cover  with cement. -2. [two objects] to glue <sthg> to something else. -3. [relationship, tie] to make  stronger □ They cemented their new friendship with a major business deal.

cement mixer n a machine with a revolving round container in which cement is mixed with sand and water.

cemetery [US 'semətəri, GB -ətəri] (pl cemeteries) n a place, usually not next to a church, where dead people are buried □ a war cemetery.

cenotaph [US 'sɛnətəf, GB -tɑ:f] n a monument built to remind people of soldiers who were killed in a war.

ensor ['sɛnsəʔ] ◇ vt to examine  etc in order to ban or remove any parts that are considered offensive, immoral, or politically unacceptable □ Most newspapers printed the words in a censored form. ◇ n an official whose job is to censor books, movies, letters etc □ a movie censor.

ensorship ['sɛnsəʔʃɪp] n the practice of censoring letters, movies, books etc.

censure ['sɛnfəʔ] ◇ n strong official criticism □ The police chief's comments met with strong censure. ◇ vt to criticize <sb/sthg> officially □ The social services were heavily censured for their failure to act.

census ['sɛnsəs] (pl censuses) n an official survey, made by a government, that gathers information about the number of people living in the country, their age, occupation etc □ A census of the population was taken in 1991.

cent [sɛnt] n a small unit of money in many countries, including the United States, Australia, and Canada, that is worth one hundredth of a larger unit □ 50 cents.

centennial [sɛn'tɛnjəl] US, centenary [US sɛn'tɛnəri, GB -'ti:n-] GB (pl centenaries) n the day or year that marks one hundred years since an event took place □ This year is/marks the centennial of Van Gogh's death. □ centennial celebrations.

center US, centre GB ['sɛntəʔ] ◇ n -1. [of an area] the point or part that is at an equal distance from all points on the edge of an area □ They have an office in the center of town. □ A vase stood in the center of the table. -2. a medical/sports etc center a building where people can have medical treatment/play sports etc □ a drug rehabilitation center. -3. a cultural/trading etc center a place that is very important for culture/trading etc □ New York is one of the world's most important financial centers. -4. to be at the center of a row/dispute etc to be the most important person or thing in a row/dispute etc □ The government is at the center of the dispute. ■ the center of attention somebody who everybody is interested in □ She loves being the center of attention. -5. the center POLITICS political groups that are moderate and neither very left-wing nor very right-wing. -6. SPORT a player who plays mostly in the middle of the playing field.

◇ adj -1. that is in the center □ a center party. -2. a center party/politician a party/politician that is in the middle of two more extreme parties.

◇ vt [text, picture] to place <sthg> in the center of something □ The title isn't centered.

◆ center around, center on vt fus to center around OR on sthg to be concentrated on or directed at sthg □ The controversy centered around the workers' pay claim. □ Attention was centered on the figure of the President.

center back n SOCCER a player who plays in the center of the defense positions.

center-fold n -1. two pages, often illustrated, at the center of a newspaper or magazine. -2. a picture of a naked or nearly naked woman in the center of a magazine.

center forward n SPORT a player who plays in the center of the attack positions.

center half n = center back.

center lane n US the middle lane of a road.

center of gravity n the point in an object on which it balances.

centerpiece US, centrepiece GB ['sɛntə'pi:ɪs] n -1. a decoration, e.g. a vase of flowers, that is placed in the middle of a table. -2. the most important or attractive part of something □ The painting is the centerpiece of the whole exhibition.

Centers for Disease Control npl the Centers for Disease Control a US organization, partly funded by the government, that tries to prevent the spread of diseases and encourage better health care for the public.

center-spread n the two pages, often illustrated, at the center of a magazine or newspaper.

centigrade ['sɛntəɡreɪd] n a scale for measuring temperature in which water freezes at 0° and boils at 100° □ 16 degrees centigrade.

centigram(me) ['sentəgræm] n one hundredth of a gram.

centiliter US, centilitre GB ['sentəli:tə] n one hundredth of a liter.

centimeter US, centimetre GB ['sentəmi:tə] n one hundredth of a meter.

centipede ['sentəpi:d] n a long thin crawling creature like a worm with a lot of legs.

central ['sentrəl] adj -1. [area, object, place] that is in the center or is the center of something or somewhere □ They live in central Spain. □ The office had a large central conference room. -2. [house, office] that is easy to reach because it is in or near the center of a town, city etc □ My apartment is very central. □ The company has moved to a more central location. -3. a central organization/committee an organization/a committee that is the most important and makes all the main decisions □ The central office has refused permission. -4. [aim, idea, person] most important □ The minister was the central figure in the scandal. □ She played a central role in improving conditions for women. □ Education is a central issue. ■ to be central to sthg [to success, a plan] to be a very important part of sthg □ Participation is absolutely central to our new management strategy.

Central America the strip of land connecting North and South America, consisting of Belize, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, and parts of Mexico and Colombia.

central bank n a bank that is owned by a state, controls the amount of money available, and helps to decide interest rates.

Central Criminal Court → Old Bailey.

central government n the government of a whole country as opposed to local government of a region or city.

central heating n a system of heating buildings in which hot water, oil, or air flows through pipes into radiators □ Does the house have central heating?

centralization [US 'sentərəl'aɪzɪn, GB -aɪ'zeɪʃn] n: see centralize □ the process of bureaucratic centralization.

centralize, -ise ['sentərəlaɪz] vt [power, government, system] to put <sthg> under central, rather than regional, control.

centralized ['sentərəlaɪzd] adj [power, government, system] that is controlled by one main authority rather than several regional ones.

central locking [-'lɒkɪŋ] n a system of locking a car in which a key turned in one lock automatically locks all the other doors too.

centrally ['sentərəli] adv [positioned, situated] see central □ The hotel is centrally located.

centrally heated adj [office, house] that has central heating.

central nervous system n the part of the nervous system, consisting of the brain and spinal cord, that controls activity.

Central Park the main park in Manhattan, New York City.

central processing unit n the part of a computer where the main mathematical and logical operations are performed.

central reservation n GB a raised strip of grass or concrete that divides the two sides of a motorway.

centre etc GB = center etc.

centrifugal force [US sen,tri'fju:gl-, GB sentri-'fju:gl-] n a force that can be thought of as making objects move outward when they are traveling in a circle.

centrist ['sentrist] adj [policy, party] that is moderate rather than extreme politically.

century ['sentʃəri] (pl centuries) n -1. a period of 100 years □ After centuries of violence, peace was finally made. -2. a period of 100 years used in dates and calculated forwards or backwards from the year in which Jesus Christ is supposed to have been born □ the twentieth century □ in the first century BC. ■ at the turn of the century at the end of one century and the beginning of the next. -3. CRICKET 100 runs scored by a batsman.

CEO n abbr of chief executive officer.

ceramic [sə'remɪk] adj [pot, tile] that is made from clay that has been shaped and baked in an oven until hard.

◆ ceramics ◇ npl a collective term for ceramic objects. ◇ n the art or activity of making these objects.

cereal ['siəriəl] n -1. a plant such as wheat, barley, or rice that is grown for its grains which are eaten as food □ cereal crops. -2. a breakfast food, e.g. cornflakes or granola, that is made from grain □ breakfast cereal.

cerebral ['serəbrəl] adj -1. [person, book, activity] that involves one's mind more than one's feelings. -2. [hemorrhage, cortex] that is connected with the brain.

cerebral palsy n a medical condition, caused by lack of oxygen to a baby's brain before birth, in which the muscles do not function properly and are very weak.

ceremonial [,serə'mounjəl] ◇ adj [uniform, function, duty] that is connected with or used in a ceremony □ The Chancellor, in ceremonial dress, led the procession. ◇ n the particular elements of a ceremony, e.g. the rules and rituals of how to behave and what to say.

ceremonious [,serə'mounjəs] adj [behavior, greeting] very formal and polite.

ceremony [US 'serə'mouni, GB -məni] (pl ceremonies) n -1. a special set of actions and words that are performed or spoken at an important social or religious occasion □ The wedding ceremony was very short. -2. the special behavior and formal words used at a ceremony □ The president and his wife were welcomed to the palace with great ceremony. ■ without ceremony in an informal and hurried way □ She was escorted, without ceremony, towards the exit. ■ to stand on ceremony to behave in a way that is too formal □ We don't stand on ceremony in this house.

cert. abbr of certificate.

certain ['sɜːtɪn] adj -1. to be certain to have no doubts about something □ I'm certain (that) things will improve. □ I'm not certain where we're going. □ You can be certain of getting good service there. ■ to be certain to do sthg to be very likely to do sthg □ He is certain to be late. ■ to make certain to check something so that one does not make a mistake □ "Did you lock the door?" — "I can't remember, I'll just go and make certain." □ Make certain that you take your passport with you. ■ to make certain of doing sthg to take action in order to make sure that sthg happens □ I made certain of getting a ticket by reserving in advance. -2. [fact, knowledge] that is known to be true □ It's certain now that Hitler committed suicide in his bunker. -3. [result, death] that one is sure will happen □ It's certain that she will get the job. -4. a word used to refer to a particular person, thing, or amount that is known but is not named or described exactly □ once you reach a certain level of achievement □ Certain people prefer this kind of arrangement. □ There are certain things one can't discuss openly. -5. some □ Well, that's true to a certain extent. □ There's a certain amount of risk involved. -6. [feeling, quality] that is noticeable but is difficult to define exactly □ She has a certain charm, don't you think? -7. a certain a phrase used to refer to a person who one does not know apart from their name □ A certain Mr Jones is asking for you.

◆ for certain adv without doubt □ England won't win, that's for certain. □ I know for certain he won't do anything about it.

certainly ['sɜːtɪnlɪ] adv -1. a word used to express strong agreement or approval □ "Can I bring a friend along?" — "Certainly!" □ "Do you think it's true?" — "Certainly not!" □ "Do you agree?" — "I certainly do." -2. without any doubt □ It's certainly improved since then.

certainty ['sɜːtɪntɪ] (pl certainties) n -1. the state of not having any doubts about something □ I can't say with any degree of certainty whether he'll come. -2. something that is certain to happen □ There are few certainties in life. □ It's an absolute certainty that she'll win.

CertEd [sɜːt'ed] (abbr of Certificate in Education) n a British teaching qualification.

certifiable [sɜːtɪ'faɪəbl] adj -1. [person] crazy (informal use). -2. [person] who can be officially classed as being insane.

certificate [sə'tɪfɪkət] n an official document that states that a particular event has taken place □ a birth/death/marriage certificate □ a certificate of education.

certification [sɜːtɪfɪ'keɪʃn] n the act of certifying something; documents which certify something.

certified ['sɜːtɪfaɪd] adj a certified teacher/nurse a teacher/nurse who has successfully completed their training.

certified mail n US a mail service that records when and by whom a letter or package is sent.

certified public accountant n US a person who has qualified to work as an accountant.

certify ['sɜːtɪfaɪ] (pt & pp certified) vt -1. [fact, results] to declare <sthg> to be true, especially in writing □ This card certifies that Paul Lloyd is a member of the Civil Liberties Union. □ I hereby certify the information above to be correct. -2. [person, goods, work] to give a certificate to <sb/sthg> that proves that they have done something or are something □ The driver was certified dead by the doctor. -3. [person] to declare <sb> officially insane.

cervical ['sɜːvɪkl] adj cervical cancer/screening cancer/screening of the cervix.

cervical smear n a small sample of tissue taken from a woman's cervix and used as a test for cervical cancer.

cervix ['sɜːvɪks] (pl cervices [sə'vaɪsɪz]) n the narrow opening at the bottom of a woman's womb.

CES (abbr of Commonwealth Employment Service) n the CES the employment agency run by the Australian government.

cesarean (section) [sɪˌzeəriən] n an operation to deliver a baby through an opening cut in the mother's stomach □ The baby was born by cesarean.

cessation [se'seɪʃn] n the end of something; a pause in something (formal use).

cesspit ['sespɪt], cesspool ['sespuːl] n -1. a hole or container underground into which waste, especially human waste, flows. -2. a place one thinks is disgusting and corrupt.

CET (abbr of Central European Time) n the standard time in central Europe.

cf. (abbr of confer) a word used in front of a piece of information that is to be compared with what has just been mentioned.

c/f abbr of carried forward.

C & F = CAF.

CFA franc (abbr of Communauté financière africaine) n the unit of money used in several African countries.

CFC (abbr of chlorofluorocarbon) n a gas used in refrigerators and aerosols that is harmful to the ozone layer □ a CFC gas.

cg abbr of centigram(me).

CG n abbr of coastguard.

C & GLI n abbr of City and Guilds of London Institute.

CGT n abbr of capital gains tax.

ch. abbr of chapter.

CH (abbr of Companion of Honour) n an honorary title in Britain.

Chad [tʃæd] a country in central Africa. SIZE: 1,284,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 5,400,000 (Chadians). CAPITAL: Ndjamena. LANGUAGE: French. CURRENCY: CFA franc.

chafe [tʃeɪf] ◇ vi -1. [skin, feet] to become painful as a result of being rubbed by something. -2. to chafe at sthg to be impatient about sthg. ◇ vt [skin, feet] The harness chafed the horse's neck.

chaff [US tʃæf, GB tʃɑːf] n the outer part of wheat and other grains that is not used as food and is removed by beating.

chaffinch ['tʃæfɪntʃ] n a small bird found in Europe that has black and white marks on its wings and, in the male, a reddish body and gray head.

chain [tʃeɪn] ◇ n -1. [of metal, gold] a series of linked metal rings □ She wore a silver chain around her neck. □ a bicycle chain □ The prisoners were kept in chains. ■ a chain of office a large chain worn by an important person around their neck as a mark of their official status. -2. [of mountains, islands, people] a line of people or things that are connected □ a mountain chain □ a human chain. ■ a chain of events a series of events that are all connected □ This is the chain of events that led to the historic agreement. ■ a chain of command a system in an organization in which each person has more power than the person below them to give orders to everybody else. -3. [of stores, hotels] a number of stores, hotels, companies etc that are all owned by the same person or organization □ They own a chain of clothes stores. □ a restaurant chain. ◇ vt to keep <sb/sthg> in a particular place with a chain or chains □ The dog was chained to the railings.

chain letter n a letter, often asking for and promising money, that is sent to a number of people who are then asked to send copies of the letter to several more people.

chain reaction n a series of events or chemical reactions, each one of which makes the next one happen.

chain saw n a large saw, driven by a motor, that consists of a circular chain with sharp cutting teeth.

chain-smoke vi to smoke one cigarette after another without a break.

chain store n a large store that is one of a group of similar stores which belong to the same owner or organization.

chair [tʃeə] ◇ n -1. [for sitting on] a piece of furniture that is designed for one person to sit on, consisting of a seat, four legs, a back, and sometimes arms □ Is this chair free? □ a kitchen chair. -2. EDUCATION the university post of a professor □ She holds the chair in French at Yale. -3. the chair [at a meeting] the position of chairperson of a meeting; a person holding this position □ All questions must be addressed to the chair. ■ to take the chair to be the chairperson at a meeting. ◇ vt to be the chairperson at  etc □ Dr. Eliot will be chairing this debate.

chair lift n a machine for carrying people up mountains, ski slopes etc that consists of seats that hang from a moving cable.

chairman ['tʃeəməŋ] (pl chairmen [-məŋ]) n -1. a chairperson, usually a man, of a meeting, debate etc. -2. the person in charge of an organization or company □ General Powell, now retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

chairmanship ['tʃeəməŋʃɪp] n the position of being chairman; the period during which a person is chairman □ She is being considered for the chairmanship. □ The company prospered under his chairmanship.

chairperson ['tʃeə'pɜːsn] (pl chairpersons) n a person who is in charge of a meeting, discussion, or debate and who decides who can speak and when.

chairwoman ['tʃeə'wʊmən] (pl chairwomen) n -1. a female chairperson. -2. a woman who is in charge of a company or organization.

chaise longue [US 'tʃeɪz'loːŋ, GB 'ʃeɪz'lɒŋ] (pl chaises longues) n a piece of furniture for lying on that has a back and only one arm.

chalet [US 'ʃælɪ, GB 'ʃæleɪ] n -1. a kind of house common in Switzerland that is made of wood and has window shutters and a sloping roof. -2. a small wooden house, often one of a group, built as accommodation in vacation areas.

chalice ['tʃælɪs] n a gold or silver cup, especially one used to hold wine during the Christian service of Communion.

chalk [tʃɔːk] n -1. a very soft white rock □ chalk cliffs. -2. a piece of chalk that is used for writing or drawing on a slate or blackboard □ written in chalk.

chalk up vt sep to chalk up sthg to achieve sthg successful □ She's already chalked up three gold medals.

chalkboard ['tʃɔːkbɔːrd] n US a hard black board that is written on with chalk and is often used in teaching.

challenge ['tʃælɪndʒ] ◇ n -1. [in a contest] an invitation to fight or compete for something □ Will you accept my challenge? □ the challenge to the leadership. -2. [of a fact, remark] something that questions a statement, idea, or fact, or a person's right to do something □ This is a major challenge to the new legal system. □ What he says is always open to challenge. -3. [in one's work, life] a situation, job, task etc that is difficult and exciting and that will make one have to try hard to succeed □ This new job will be a challenge for me.

◇ vt -1. [person] to invite <sb> to fight or compete with one in a game, duel, competition etc □ She challenged me to a game of chess. ■ to challenge sb to do sthg to invite sb to do sthg that one thinks they cannot do or will find very difficult □ He challenged anybody to prove he was lying. -2. [authority, right, legality] to question <sthg> □ They challenged the power of the court to decide such matters.

-challenged ['tʃælɪndʒd] suffix added to words to say that somebody has a particular problem that they were born with □ visually/physically-challenged.

challenger ['tʃælɪndʒə] n a person who tries to win something such as a sports title from somebody who already has it □ the Cup challengers.

challenging ['tʃælɪndʒɪŋ] adj -1. [task, job] that is exciting because it is difficult □ We offer you a challenging and rewarding career. -2. [look, tone of voice] that challenges somebody to disagree or object to something.

chamber [ˈtʃeɪmbəʃ] n -1. a large room used for meetings of an official organization □ the Council chamber. -2. [in a castle, tomb] a room used for a particular purpose, especially in an old or underground building □ a torture chamber. -3. [in a gun] the space inside a gun where the bullet is placed. -4. [of a heart, engine] an enclosed space inside a machine or one's body □ a combustion chamber. -5. GOVERNMENT one of the two parts of a parliament or the US Congress □ the Upper/Lower Chamber.

◆ chambers npl -1. US a judge's offices. -2. GB a barrister's offices.

Chamberlain [ˈtʃeɪmbəˈleɪn], Neville (1869–1940) British Prime Minister from 1937 to 1940. He was criticized for making a deal with Hitler and Mussolini in 1938 which he said would bring “peace in our time”.

chambermaid [ˈtʃeɪmbəˈmeɪd] n a woman whose job is to clean and tidy the bedrooms in a hotel or large house.

chamber music n classical music that is written for a small number of instruments.

chamber of commerce n an organization of local business people who work together to promote and protect their trade.

chamber orchestra n a small orchestra.

chameleon [kəˈmiːljən] n a lizard whose skin can change color to match the color of its surroundings.

chamois¹ [US ʃæmˈwoʊ; GB ʃæmˈwoː] (pl chamois) n a small antelope with horns that lives in the mountains of Europe and South East Asia.

chamois² [ˈʃæmi] n chamois (leather) soft leather made from the skin of chamois, goats, or sheep, often used for cleaning; a piece of this leather.

champ [tʃæmp] ◇ n a champion (informal use). ◇ vi [horse] to eat noisily.

champagne [ʃæmˈpeɪn] n an expensive, sparkling, French white wine made according to a special method and traditionally drunk to celebrate something.

champion [ˈtʃæmpjən] n -1. a person or animal that has defeated all others in a competition □ a tennis/snooker/chess champion □ the world champion. -2. a person who defends a particular cause or person □ a champion of the underprivileged.

championship [ˈtʃæmpjənʃɪp] n -1. a competition to find the best person in a particular sport or activity □ The world championships were held in Helsinki. -2. the title or status of champion □ Do you think she'll win the championship?

chance [US tʃæns, GB tʃɑːns] ◇ n -1. something that seems to happen without any cause or reason □ It was pure chance that we got there on time. □ a chance encounter. ■ by any chance an expression used when one is making a polite request □ You don't by any chance have a copy of last week's report? -2. a chance of doing sthg a possibility of doing sthg □ What are our chances of winning? □ There was no chance of finding her in that crowd. ■ to stand a chance of doing sthg to have a possibility of doing sthg □ Jerry Kaplan doesn't stand a chance of being promoted to manager. ■ the chances are... it is likely that... □ The chances are she's already left. -3. a chance to do sthg an opportunity to do sthg □ The meeting gave us a chance to talk to some of the competitors. -4. a chance that... a risk that something might happen □ There's just a chance that they'll pull out at the last minute. ■ to take a chance to take a risk □ I took a chance on there being a late flight home.

◇ vt -1. to risk <sthg> □ I decided to chance it. □ He's chancing his luck a bit, isn't he? -2. to chance to do sthg to do sthg without planning it □ If she should chance to notice, pretend you're doing something for me.

◆ by chance adv without planning it □ We met by chance. □ It was quite by chance that I happened to be there.

chancellor [US ˈtʃænsləʃ, GB ˈtʃɑːnslə] n -1. the head of government in some countries □ the German chancellor. -2. EDUCATION the head of an American university; the person who represents a British university on official occasions. -3. the Chancellor (of the Exchequer) GB the minister of government in charge of finance and taxes.

chancy [US ˈtʃænsɪ, GB ˈtʃɑːnsɪ] (compar chancier, superl chanciest) adj [action, matter] risky or uncertain (informal use).

chandelier [ˌʃændəˈliːə] n a frame for holding candles or lightbulbs that hangs from the ceiling and is usually decorated with pieces of cut glass.

Chandler [US ˈtʃændlɪ, GB ˈtʃɑːndlə], Raymond (1888–1959) a US crime writer. His best-known character, the detective Philip Marlowe, appears in novels such as Farewell My Lovely and The Long Goodbye.

change [tʃeɪndʒ] ◇ n -1. [in a person, situation] the process of becoming different; the result of this process □ They forecast a change in the weather. □ There has been no change in her condition. □ Too many changes have been introduced too quickly. □ ways of dealing with stressful change □ A few changes had been made to the wording of the document. -2. [in one's habit, routine] a situation that is different from usual and often pleasant □ A weekend walking in the country will be a pleasant change from my usual routine. □ Working from home makes a nice change. □ Let's go back to your place for a change. -3. a change of address/plan etc a different address/plan etc that replaces the original one □ I decided to go abroad because I wanted a change of scene. □ the change from public to private ownership. ■ a change of clothes a clean set of clothes that one has with one for changing into later □ I'll just need to take my toilet bag and a change of underwear with me. -4. [after payment] the money that one gets back after paying for something with more money than it costs □ I think you've given me too much change. □ Keep the change. -5. [instead of paper money] coins not notes □ Could you lend me some change to make a phone call? -6. change for $10/£20 coins or paper money worth $10/£20 given in exchange for a bill worth $10/£20 □ Do you have change for a ten-dollar bill?

◇ vt -1. [situation, plan, attitude] to make <sthg> different □ We've changed our vacation plans; we're going to Egypt instead. □ The experience changed my whole outlook on life. ■ to change one's mind to change one's opinion or decision about something □ "I thought you decided to stay." — "I've changed my mind."

-2. [job, name, car] to replace <sthg> with a different one; [tire, fuse] to replace <sthg old or broken> with a new one □ Have you changed jobs or your job recently? □ Give me a minute to change my clothes, and I'll be with you. □ Change the batteries every three months. ■ to change direction to start moving in a different direction □ The wind had changed direction.

■ to change planes/trains etc to get off one plane/train etc and get on another in order to continue one's trip. ■ to change the subject to start talking about something different □ I tried to get her to talk about it, but she just kept changing the subject. -3. to change $10/$20 etc to give somebody $10/$20 etc and get back the same value in bills or coins of a lower value □ Can you change a $50 bill?

-4. [currency] to exchange <one kind of money> for another kind □ I'd like to change my dollars into yen. -5. to change a bed to take dirty sheets off a bed and put clean ones on □ Will you help me change the sheets? ■ to change a baby to take a dirty diaper off a baby and put a clean one on.

◇ vi -1. [person, situation, place] to become different □ The color changes when the two chemicals are mixed. □ Bill has changed a lot since I last saw him. □ They say the weather's going to change. ■ to change into sthg to become sthg different □ I've watched him change from a shy teenager into a happy and well-adjusted young man. -2. [person] to take off the clothes one is wearing and put on different ones □ She went upstairs to change. □ I'll just change into something more casual. -3. [traveler] to get off one bus, plane etc and get on another one in order to continue one's journey □ You'll have to change at Chicago.

◆ change over vi to stop doing or using something and start doing or using something else □ We changed over to a computerized system last year.

changeable ['tʃeɪndʒəbəl] adj [mood, weather] that keeps changing very quickly □ She's very changeable at the moment.

changed [tʃeɪndʒd] adj to be a changed man/woman to be completely different, and usually much improved, in character or attitude as a result of something that has happened □ He's a changed man since he got married.

change machine n a machine that changes bills or high-value coins into low-value coins.

change of life n the change of life the menopause.

changeover ['tʃeɪndʒəʊvə] n a change to a new system or method of working □ We are considering a changeover to computerized accounting.

change purse n US a very small bag, often made of leather, used for carrying coins.

changing ['tʃeɪndʒɪŋ] adj [attitudes, circumstances, times] becoming different, usually over a long period of time □ The company failed to adapt to changing market conditions.

changing room n -1. a room at a gym, swimming pool etc, where people can change their clothes and usually take a shower. -2. a small room in a store where customers can try on clothes they are thinking of buying.

Chang Jiang [ˌtʃæŋˈdʒɪæŋ] = Yangtze.

channel ['tʃænl] (US pt & pp channeled, cont channeling, GB pt & pp channelled, cont channelling) ◇ n -1. TV & RADIO a single TV or radio station; the wavelength on which this station broadcasts its programs □ The game is on Channel 3. -2. [for water] a man-made passage that carries water and is used for drainage, irrigation etc □ an irrigation channel. -3. [in a river, sea] a long area of deep water used as a route by ships and boats □ the Irish Channel. -4. [for sending information] a system that exists for sending information, dealing with requests, questions, or complaints, or getting something done □ Applications for export licenses must be made through the proper channels. □ a channel of communication/distribution.

◇ vt -1. [water, rain] to make  flow through man-made channels □ The liquid plastic is channeled into molds. -2. [efforts, money] to use <sthg> for one particular purpose □ All our energies have been channeled into promoting our new range. □ Our aim is to channel resources to those who need them most.

◆ Channel = English Channel.

Channel 4 n a commercial television channel in Britain that specializes in cultural programs.

channel-hopping n GB = channel-surfing.

Channel Islands: the Channel Islands a group of British islands in the English Channel, near the French coast, that have important banking and tourist industries. SIZE: 195 sq kms. POPULATION: 120,000.

channel-surfing n US the activity of changing from one TV channel to another without watching any show completely.

Channel Tunnel: the Channel Tunnel the railroad tunnel under the English Channel, between southeastern England and north-eastern France.

chant [US ˌtʃænt, GB ˌtʃɑːnt] ◇ n -1. RELIGION a prayer or religious song that has a very simple melody with long sections sung on a single note □ a Gregorian chant. -2. a word or short sentence repeated rhythmically over and over again, usually by a crowd of people □ A chant of "Down with apartheid" echoed around the hall. ◇ vt -1. RELIGION [words, prayer] to sing or say <sthg> as a chant. -2. [insult, slogan] to say <sthg> repeatedly as a chant □

The fans were chanting slogans throughout the match. ◇ vi to sing or say a chant.

chaos ['keɪs] n complete confusion and lack of organization □ The company's finances are in complete chaos. □ The strike will cause chaos for commuters.

chaotic [keɪ'ɒtɪk] adj [system, management] that is completely confused and lacks organization □ The room was in a chaotic state.

chap [tʃæp] n GB a man (informal use).

chapat(t)i [tʃə'pɑ:tɪ] n a flat round piece of bread that is made without yeast and is eaten with Indian meals.

chapel ['tʃæpl] n -1. [in a church] a room in a church or cathedral that has its own altar and is used for private prayer, special services etc. -2. [in a prison, hospital, school] a room or small church in a larger building that is used for Christian services.

chaperon(e) [ˈʃæpəroun] ◇ n an older woman who goes with a girl or unmarried woman to a party or other social event in order to protect them from sexual relationships with men. ◇ vt to go somewhere with  as a chaperone.

chaplain [tʃæplɪn] n a Christian minister who works in a hospital, university, or other institution □ a prison/school/army chaplain.

Chaplin [ˈtʃæplɪn], Charlie (1889–1977) a British movie actor and director who worked mainly in the USA. Most of his movies are silent comedies in which he plays a tramp with a small mustache and a bowler hat.

chapped [tʃæpt] adj [skin, hands, lips] that are red, rough, cracked, and sore, usually because of cold weather or wind.

chapter [ˈtʃæptə] n -1. [of a book] a major section of a book, usually with its own number or title □ chapter four. -2. [of somebody's life, a history] an event or period of time seen as a part of somebody's life, a country's history etc □ The strike is the latest chapter in this long-running dispute.

Chapter 11 [-ɪ'levn] n in the USA, a law that allows a company in financial difficulty to carry on business in a reorganized form instead of closing.

char [tʃɑ:ʔ] (pt & pp charred, cont charring) ◇ vt [wood, food] to make <sthg> black by burning it.

character [US 'kerəktər, GB 'kærəktə] n -1. sb's/sthg's character the qualities that make something or somebody special and different from other things or people □ The whole character of our town has changed. □ Please tell us something about her character and attitude to work. □ It's a side of his character that I've never really seen. ■ out of/in character not typical/typical of the way a particular person usually behaves □ Her reaction was really out of character. -2. [of a place, building] interesting and unusual qualities □ We chose this house because it had a lot of character. -3. [of a person] good qualities such as honesty, bravery etc □ It showed real character on his part, admitting his mistakes. -4. [in a movie, book, play] a person who appears in a story □ The play has only three characters. -5. [person] a person, especially a strange or unpleasant one □ There were a couple of suspicious-looking characters outside my room. -6. to be a character to have a strong, amusing, or unusual personality (informal use) □ Have you met Wilkins? He's quite a character! -7. [in writing] a letter, sign, or symbol used in writing □ a 102-character keyboard □ Chinese characters.

character code n COMPUTING a system where each character is represented by a number.

characteristic [US ,kerəktə'rɪstɪk, GB ,kær-] ◇ adj [behavior, taste, quality] that is very typical of a person, place, or thing □ He set about the job with his characteristic energy. □ These mistakes are characteristic of her work. ◇ n a feature or quality that makes somebody or something easy to recognize □ She seems to have all the characteristics of a good teacher.

characteristically [US ,kerəktə'rɪstɪkli, GB ,kær-] adv a word used to say that something is characteristic of somebody □ Characteristically, she refused to say anything. □ It was a characteristically brave attempt on her part.

characterization [US ,kerəktəraɪ'zeɪʃn, GB ,kær-] n the way in which the characters in a book, movie etc are described □ The play is ruined by its weak characterization.

characterize, -ise [US 'kerəktəraɪz, GB 'kær-] vt -1. to be the most noticeable or typical quality of  □ The building has the sense of space that characterizes all his architecture. □ The 19th century was characterized by a great growth in technology. -2. to describe <sb/sthg> as having certain noticeable and typical qualities □ The press has characterized this policy as shortsighted.

charade [US ʃə'reɪd, GB -'reɪd] n a situation or event that people pretend is normal even though they know it is false or pointless □ Our marriage has become a charade.

◆ charades n a game in which one person acts out a word or phrase without speaking, and others have to guess what the word or phrase is.

charcoal [ˈtʃɑ:rkəʊl] n the black substance produced when wood is heated without air. It is used as fuel for barbecues and heaters, by artists for drawing, and in industrial filters □ a charcoal drawing.

charge [tʃɑ:ʔdʒ] ◇ n -1. [for goods, services] the amount something, especially a service, costs □ an admission charge □ Telephone charges are still going up. □ There is no charge for delivery. ■ to be free of charge to cost nothing □ We'll fix those free of charge. -2. LAW an official statement saying that somebody is suspected of a crime □ The charges against Benson included fraud and tax evasion. □ She was arrested on a charge of murder. -3. to take charge to take control of or responsibility for something □ I want you to take charge of the design department. ■ in charge in control or authority □ You'd better speak to the person in charge. ■ in charge of sb/sthg [of a department, group of people] in control of or responsible for sb/sthg □ She was put in charge of sales and promotion. -4. ELECTRICITY the amount of electricity in a substance or battery. -5. [by soldiers] a forceful attack made by soldiers, police, animals etc running forward at full speed □ a police/cavalry charge.

◇ vt -1. to ask  to pay a particular amount of money for goods, services etc; to state  as the price of goods, services etc □ The mechanic only charged me $25 for the starter. □ How much do you charge? ■ to charge sthg to sthg [to one's company, account] to tell a store, hotel etc to record the price of sthg so that it will be paid by sthg else at a later time □ I charge all my expenses to the firm. -2. LAW to accuse  etc formally of a crime □ The police intend to charge him with handling stolen goods. -3. [crowd, building] to run or move quickly toward <sb/sthg>, usually in order to attack □ The riot police charged the crowd of demonstrators. -4. ELECTRICITY to put electricity into  so that it becomes stored there □ The computer needs to be charged daily.

◇ vi -1. [store, company] to ask for a particular amount of money in payment for goods, services etc □ Do you charge for delivery? -2. to run or move somewhere quickly □ The children charged down the corridor. -3. to run toward somebody in order to attack them □ Suddenly the bull charged at the crowd.

chargeable ['tʃɑ:ʒəbl] adj -1. [costs, expenses] that can be charged to somebody or something □ All travel expenses are chargeable to the company. -2. LAW [offense, crime] that is serious enough for the police to make a criminal charge against somebody □ They will be chargeable with contempt of court.

charge account n an account at a store that allows a customer to take goods immediately and pay for them later.

charge card n a plastic card that a store gives to customers who have a charge account and which they show when they want to buy something and pay for it later.

charged [tʃɑ:ʒd] adj [question, atmosphere] filled with emotion, tension, or excitement □ a voice charged with emotion □ an emotionally charged reunion.

chargé d'affaires [ʃɑ:'zeɪdə'feə] (pl chargés d'affaires) n a diplomat who does the work of an ambassador, either temporarily when the ambassador is away, or permanently in a country where there is no ambassador.

charge hand n GB a worker who is next in status below a foreman.

charge nurse n GB a nurse, especially a man, who is in charge of a hospital ward.

charger ['tʃɑ:ʒə] n -1. ELECTRICITY a device used for charging batteries. -2. MILITARY a large horse ridden by a soldier (literary use).

charge sheet n GB LAW an official form on which the police list the charges against an accused person.

chariot [US 'tʃeriət, GB 'tʃæri-] n a vehicle with two wheels and no seats that was pulled by horses and used in ancient times for fighting or racing.

charisma [kə'rizmə] n the ability to attract, influence etc other people by using the strength and charm of one's own personality.

charismatic [kærɪz'mætɪk] adj [person] who has charisma.

charitable ['tʃærətəbl] adj -1. [person, remark, attitude] that is kind and sympathetic when judging other people □ That's a charitable way of describing theft! □ That wasn't a very charitable thing to say. -2. a charitable organization/society etc an organization/a society etc that helps poor people, sick animals etc. ■ a charitable donation money that is given to a charitable organization.

charity ['tʃærəti] (pl charities) ◇ n -1. money and donations given to help poor people, hospitals etc □ They're organizing a concert in aid of charity. □ I'm not so poor that I need to accept charity. -2. an organization that uses money and donations to help poor people, hospitals etc □ The Red Cross is an international charity. □ a charity worker. -3. kindness and sympathy when judging other people □ Please show them a little more charity. ◇ comp a charity concert/ball etc a concert/ball etc that is organized to raise money for charity.

charity shop n GB a shop where secondhand goods and clothes are sold by volunteer workers to make money for a particular charity.

charlatan ['ʃɑ:lətən] n a person who pretends to have skills or qualifications, especially in medicine, in order to impress or cheat other people.

Charlemagne ['ʃɑ:ləmeɪn] (742–814) King of what is now France from 771, and Emperor of Europe from 800. He encouraged Christianity, education, and the arts.

Charles [tʃɑ:'lɜz, Prince (1948–) the eldest son of Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain. His title is the Prince of Wales.

Charles I [tʃɑ:'lɜðə'fɜ:st] (1600–1649) King of England, Scotland, and Ireland from 1625 to 1649. His dispute with Parliament led to the English Civil War, in which he was defeated and executed.

Charles II [tʃɑ:'lɜðə'sekənd] (1630–1685) King of England, Scotland, and Ireland. The son of Charles I, he became King after a period in exile, following the English Civil War.

charm [tʃɑ:'m] ◇ n -1. qualities which make somebody or something pleasing and attractive □ a man of great charm □ The charm of her poetry lies in its simplicity. -2. a word or object which people believe brings good luck □ Many people still believe in charms and spells. -3. a small ornament, usually of gold or silver, worn attached to a necklace or bracelet. ◇ vt to please, attract, or influence <sb> by charm □ He charmed us with his wit and humor.

charm bracelet n a bracelet that charms can be attached to and hang from.

charming [ˈtʃɑːmɪŋ] adj [person, smile] that one finds attractive or pleasing □ What a charming young man! □ I think this little room is quite charming. □ "He said he wasn't going to pick you up." — "Oh, charming!"

charmingly [ˈtʃɑːmɪŋli] adv [smile, dress] see charming □ a charmingly renovated cottage.

charred [tʃɑːd] adj [paper, wood] that has been made black by heat or fire □ She sifted through the charred remains of the letters.

chart [tʃɑːt] ◇ n -1. a diagram or illustration which presents information, especially statistical information □ a sales chart. -2. a special map showing stars, oceans, weather conditions etc □ a weather chart. ◇ vt -1. [seas, weather conditions] to make a chart showing <sthg>; [position, route] to mark <sthg> on a map □ The sales figures have been charted and analyzed in detail. □ The general charted the enemy's advance on the map. -2. [events, career] to record the progress of <sthg> in writing □ The book charts the rise of fascism in Germany.

◆ charts npl the charts the weekly list that shows which pop records have sold the most copies □ It's been in the charts for two weeks.

charter [ˈtʃɑːtə] ◇ n an official document issued by a government or other organization that lists the rights or functions of a group of people, institution etc, or its own aims and purposes □ article 6 of the UN Charter. ◇ vt [plane, ship] to rent  for a special use or service.

chartered accountant [ˌtʃɑːtəd-] n GB a fully qualified accountant.

charter flight n a flight on a charter plane that is usually cheaper than a flight on a regular service.

NOTE: Compare scheduled flight.

charter plane n a plane that is rented for special use, e.g. taking people to a resort, and is not part of a regular service.

chary [ˈtʃɛəri] (compar charier, superl chariest) adj to be chary of doing sthg to be unwilling to do sthg because it seems to involve a lot of risks □ Banks are becoming chary of lending to new businesses.

chase [tʃeɪs] ◇ vt -1. to follow  quickly in order to catch them □ The dog chased the cat down the alley. -2. to run after  in order to make them go away □ The farmer chased the children out of his field. -3. to use a lot of time and energy trying to get <money, a job> etc □ There are too many companies chasing too few contracts. ◇ n an act of chasing somebody or something in order to catch them □ a high-speed car chase ■ to give chase to chase somebody or something in order to catch them □ The man ran away and the policeman gave chase.

◆ chase after vt fus to chase after sb/sthg to follow sb/sthg quickly in order to try to catch them □ Chase after him and give him this message.

◆ chase up vt sep GB -1. to chase sb up to remind sb about something that one wants from them and that they are late in supplying □ Can you chase her up about the weekly figures? -2. to chase sthg up to look for sthg that is wanted □ I've chased up those reports that you needed.

chaser [ˈtʃeɪsə] n -1. a strong alcoholic drink, usually whiskey, that is drunk after beer □ a beer with a whiskey chaser. -2. US a drink containing little or no alcohol, e.g. beer or fruit juice, that is drunk after a strong alcoholic one, usually whiskey.

chasm [ˈkæzəm] n -1. a very deep opening in a large mass of rock or ice □ A deep chasm opened up before them. -2. a large difference in opinions or conditions between two groups of people □ It will be difficult to bridge the chasm between the two sides.

chassis [ˈʃæsi] (pl chassis [-ɪz]) n the frame of a vehicle on which the body, wheels etc are fixed.

chaste [tʃeɪst] adj [person] who does not have sex with anybody; who only has sex with their husband or wife (literary use) □ a chaste life/relationship.

chasten [ˈtʃeɪsn] vt to be chastened to be made to realize that what one has done is wrong □ He returned, much chastened by the experience.

chastise [tʃæˈstaɪz] vt to punish <sb> severely (formal use).

chastity [ˈtʃæstəti] n: see chaste (literary use) □ a vow of chastity.

chat [tʃæt] (pt & pp chatted, cont chatting) ◇ n a friendly conversation, especially about personal or unimportant things □ I've just been having a chat with my brother. ◇ vi: She was chatting with OR to him about her vacation.

◆ chat up vt sep to chat sb up GB to talk to sb that one is attracted to in the hope that this will lead to a romantic or sexual relationship (informal use).

chatline [ˈtʃætlaɪn] n GB a telephone service that one can call to talk to other callers.

chat show n GB TV & RADIO a program in which an interviewer talks in a friendly and informal way to well-known guests.

chatter [ˈtʃætə] ◇ vi -1. [person] to speak rapidly and continuously about unimportant things □ They were chattering away about some movie they'd seen. -2. [animal, bird] to make short, quick, high-pitched sounds. -3. [teeth] to knock together rapidly as a result of cold or fear. ◇ n -1. [of people] informal conversation about unimportant things. -2. [of an animal, bird] the sound made by an animal or bird when it chatters.

chatterbox [ˈtʃætəˈbɒks] n a person who talks a lot about unimportant things (informal use).

chattering classes [ˌtʃætəɪŋ-] npl the chattering classes GB educated middle-class people who know a lot about topics in the news and enjoy discussing them (disapproving use).

chatty [ˈtʃæti] (compar chattier, superl chattiest) adj -1. [person] who likes chatting □ The landlord seemed very chatty. -2. [letter] that contains a lot of personal news and is written in a friendly and informal style. □ He writes cheerful, chatty letters.

Chaucer ['tʃɔ:sə], Geoffrey (1340–1400) an English poet whose most famous work is The Canterbury Tales.

chauffeur [US 'ʃoufɜ:r, GB 'ʃoufə] ◇ n a person whose job is to drive a car for somebody rich or important. ◇ vt to be the chauffeur for <sb>.

chauvinist ['ʃouvənɪst] n -1. a man who believes that men are better than women □ a male chauvinist. -2. a person who is unreasonably proud of their country and believes that it is much better than all others.

chauvinistic [ʃouvənɪstɪk] adj [remark, attitude] that is typical of a chauvinist.

ChE abbr of chemical engineer.

cheap [tʃi:p] ◇ adj -1. [clothing, labor] that does not cost much money □ It was the cheapest in the shop. □ I bought a cheap new pen at the market. □ The car's economical on gas, so it's cheap to run. -2. [fare, ticket] that costs less than the usual price □ Do you have any cheap flights to the States? □ We should call him in the evening when it's cheaper. -3. that is not expensive and is of bad quality □ The new office furniture is cheap and ugly. □ cheap and nasty plastic rings. -4. [joke, comment] that is unkind or unfair □ He's only interested in scoring cheap political points. ◇ adv [buy, sell] for little money □ Work of that quality doesn't come cheap.

cheapen ['tʃi:pən] vt -1. [goods, exports] to lower the price of <sthg> □ The competition should cheapen the cost of travel. -2. to make <sb> lose the respect other people have for them □ Don't cheapen yourself by getting involved with this man.

cheaply ['tʃi:pli] adv [buy, sell] for little money □ We were able to live very cheaply in Africa.

cheap rate n GB the periods, usually during the evening and at weekends, when making a phone call costs less than usual □ a cheap-rate phone call.

cheapskate ['tʃi:pskeɪt] n a person who will do anything to avoid spending money (informal and disapproving use).

cheat [tʃi:t] ◇ vt to get something, usually money, from <sb> by being dishonest □ My boss cheated me out of my share of the commission. ■ to feel cheated to feel that one has been treated badly because one has not got what one wanted □ The audience felt cheated because she only sang for half an hour. ◇ vi to act dishonestly or unfairly in order to get something that one wants □ You can't trust a man who cheats at cards. □ She was caught cheating on US OR in GB the test. ◇ n a person who cheats □ He's a cheat and a liar.

◆ cheat on vt fus to cheat on sb [on one's wife, husband, partner] to deceive sb by having a sexual relationship with another person (informal use).

cheating ['tʃi:tɪŋ] n the act of cheating in an exam, competition, or game □ You can't look at my cards, it's cheating!

check [tʃek] ◇ n -1. [for safety, accuracy] an inspection or test to make sure that something is correct, safe etc □ The army has mounted a security check at the airport. □ Have you done a check on the figures? □ Keep a careful check on how much you spend. -2. [on progress, spending, someone's ambitions] an action or circumstance that stops something from getting worse or out of control □ The quota system should act as a check on imports. ■ to keep OR hold sthg in check to control sthg and stop it from becoming worse or stronger □ You must learn to keep your emotions in check. □ The enemy advance has been held in check. -3. US FINANCE a printed form one uses to pay money to somebody from one's bank account by writing their name and the amount of money on it □ You can pay by check, cash, or credit card. □ Is it OK if I write you a check? □ Checks should be made payable to "M. Bridges and Co." -4. US [in a restaurant] a bill for food at a restaurant □ Can I get the check, please? -5. [in a pattern] a pattern made up of squares like on a chessboard □ a check tablecloth. -6. US [on a list, in a box] a written mark (✓) used to show that something has been checked and is satisfactory.

◇ vt -1. [luggage, accuracy, health] to look at or inspect <sthg> to make sure that it is correct, safe etc □ Her secretary called to check the arrangements. □ I checked my watch: it was 2:00 p.m. exactly. □ Before you leave, check that the lights are off. -2. [progress, spending, attack] to control and limit <sthg> □ The spread of the disease has been checked. -3. [person, opponent] to stop <sb> from doing or saying something □ I had to check an impulse to slap him hard. □ She began to say something, but checked herself and sat in silence. -4. US [box, item] to mark <sthg> with a check □ Check this box if you are unemployed. -5. [baggage] to give <one's baggage> to an official so that it can be put on a plane, train etc and sent somewhere □ I checked my bags through to Chicago. -6. US [bag, coat] to leave <one's bag, coat> etc for a short time with somebody whose job is to take care of it □ I'll just check my coat and umbrella if we're going to eat.

◇ vi to find out whether something is correct, allowed etc □ "Can you come on Monday?" — "I'll have to check with my boss/in my calendar." ■ to check for sthg [for mistakes, a disease] to try to find out whether sthg bad is present □ Engineers were called in to check for signs of structural damage. ■ to check on sb/sthg [on progress, accuracy, a patient] to look at or inspect sb/sthg to see that everything is safe, correct etc □ I'll just go and check on the baby to see if he's asleep.

◆ check in ◇ vt sep to check sb/sthg in [guest, passenger, luggage] to record the arrival of sb/sthg at a hotel, airport etc □ The receptionist checked me/my bags in at the United counter. □ I checked my bags in and went for coffee. ◇ vi -1. [guest] to register one's name, get one's key etc when one arrives at a hotel □ She checked in the next day at the Plaza Hotel. -2. [passenger] to show one's ticket and hand in one's luggage when one arrives at an airport □ Please check in one hour before departure.

◆ check off vt sep to check sthg off [name, item] to put a mark beside sthg on a list to show that it has been counted or dealt with □ He checked their names off on the list.

◆ check out ◇ vt sep -1. to check sthg out [library book] to have the removal of sthg recorded, e.g. by having it stamped. -2. to check sthg out [facts, story] to look for more information about sthg in order to find out whether it is true, correct, safe etc □ Check these figures out first and then we'll decide what to do. ■ to check sb out [suspect] to look for more information about sb in order to find out whether they are honest, reliable etc □ You should have checked him out more carefully before offering him credit. ◇ vi to pay one's bill at a hotel and leave □ We checked out of our hotel at 8:00 a.m.

◆ check up vi to check up on sb/sthg [on a person, story, the details] to find out more precise information about sb/sthg □ I'll check up on the times of the trains. □ He was held in prison while the police checked up on him.

checkbook US, chequebook GB ['tʃekbʊk] n a book of checks printed with the name of the owner and their bank.

checked [tʃekt] adj [trousers, tablecloth] that has a pattern of checks of two or more colors.

checkered US, chequered GB ['tʃekəd] adj -1. [trousers, tablecloth] with a pattern of checks of two or more colors. ■ the checkered flag a flag that has a pattern of black and white checks and that is waved to show that a racing car has won a race. -2. [career, history] that includes periods of success as well as failure.

checkers ['tʃekəz] n US a game played on a chessboard with 12 round white or red pieces and 12 round black pieces.

check-in n the place at an airport where passengers check in □ a check-in desk.

checking account ['tʃekɪŋ-] n US a bank account from which one can make payments at any time using checks or a cash card.

checklist ['tʃeklɪst] n a list of things to be done, people to be considered etc that can be used as a guide or reference □ In case of breakdown, go through items 1-10 on the checklist.

checkmate ['tʃekmeɪt] n the situation in a game of chess where one player is unable to move their king out of danger and has therefore lost.

checkout ['tʃekaut] n -1. the place in a supermarket where customers pay for goods □ a checkout girl □ Pay at the checkout. -2. the time before which a guest is supposed to leave a hotel room □ Checkout time is 11 a.m.

checkpoint ['tʃekpɔɪnt] n a place where travelers are stopped so that their vehicles and papers can be inspected, e.g. at the border between two countries.

checkup ['tʃekʌp] n an examination by a doctor or dentist to check that one is healthy, e.g. after an illness □ I've got to go for a check-up on my knee. □ a medical checkup.

Cheddar ['tʃedə] n Cheddar (cheese) a type of hard yellow or orange cheese.

cheek [tʃi:k] n -1. [on one's face] one of the two soft parts of one's face on either side of one's nose and mouth □ His cheeks were red. -2. [of one's bottom] a buttock (informal use). -3. GB [by a person] behavior that one thinks is rude or not respectful enough, especially to somebody older or more important (informal use) □ What a cheek that man has!

cheekbone ['tʃi:kbaʊn] n the bone in one's face between one's cheek and one's eye.

cheeky ['tʃi:kɪ] (compar cheekier, superl cheekiest) adj GB [person, answer, smile] that one thinks is rude or not respectful enough □ He was very cheeky to me yesterday.

cheep [tʃi:p] vi [young bird] to make high-pitched sounds.

cheer [tʃɪə] ◇ n a shout of approval, support, or encouragement □ Now please give three cheers for our new winner. ◇ vt -1. [team, speech, leader] to shout loudly to show approval, support, or encouragement of <sb/sthg> □ Lake was cheered by supporters as he ran onto the field. -2. [person] to make <sb> feel happier and more hopeful □ Everyone felt cheered by the news. ◇ vi to cheer a team, speech, leader etc □ The audience clapped and cheered as the band came onto the stage.

◆ cheers excl -1. a word one says to somebody else before drinking an alcoholic drink. -2. GB goodbye (informal use). -3. GB thank you (informal use).

◆ cheer on vt sep to cheer sb on [team, runner] to encourage sb by cheering □ Don't worry, we'll all be there to cheer you on.

◆ cheer up ◇ vt sep to cheer sb up to make sb feel less unhappy or worried □ I've brought you some magazines to cheer you up. ◇ vi to become less unhappy or worried □ Cheer up!

cheerful ['tʃɪəfʊl] adj -1. [person, mood, atmosphere] happy and lively □ You're looking very cheerful. □ a cheerful smile. -2. [music, story] that makes people feel happy and lively □ The room was painted a cheerful red color. -3. [agreement, worker] that is willing and enthusiastic □ She shows a cheerful attitude to work.

cheerfully ['tʃɪəfʊli] adv -1. [smile, sing] in a happy and lively way □ He greeted me cheerfully on my way in. -2. [admit, agree] willingly □ She cheerfully agreed to let them bring their entire film crew into her apartment.

cheering ['tʃɪərɪŋ] ◇ adj [news, story] that makes one feel happier and more hopeful □ It was very cheering to discover that I wasn't the only one who was short of money. ◇ n shouts of approval, support, or encouragement □ Loud cheering could be heard coming from the stadium.

cheerleader ['tʃɪə'li:də] n a person, usually a girl, who wears a special uniform and leads the cheering at a sports event.

- cheerless ['tʃiə'ləs] adj [place, day] dull and gloomy.
- cheery ['tʃiəri] (compar cheerier, superl cheeriest) adj [person, face, hello] cheerful and friendly.
- cheese [tʃi:z] n a type of solid food made from milk that is usually yellow or white and is often eaten with bread, crackers, or salad □ I'd like some cheese. □ I like French cheeses. □ a cheese sandwich.
- cheeseboard ['tʃi:zbɔ:d] n -1. [for cheeses] a wooden board on which cheese is cut and served. -2. [in a meal] a course consisting of different cheeses that can be ordered in a restaurant, usually at the end of a meal.
- cheeseburger ['tʃi:zbɜ:gə] n a hamburger that has a slice of melted cheese on top of the meat.
- cheesecake ['tʃi:zkeɪk] n a cake that consists of a thin layer of crushed cookies covered with a thick layer of sweetened cream cheese, sometimes with fruit on top □ black-currant cheesecake.
- cheesy ['tʃi:zi] (compar cheesier, superl cheesiest) adj [snack, cracker] that tastes of cheese.
- cheetah ['tʃi:tə] n a large African wild cat that is yellow with black spots, and is able to run very fast.
- chef [ʃef] n a person whose job is to cook in a hotel or restaurant, especially the chief cook.
- Che Guevara [ˌʃeɪgə'vɑ:rə] (1928–1967) an Argentinian revolutionary leader, who played an important part in the Cuban revolution. He was killed fighting with guerrillas in Bolivia.
- Chekhov ['tʃekəv], Anton (1860–1904) a Russian writer of plays and short stories. His works include The Three Sisters, Uncle Vanya, and The Cherry Orchard.
- chemical ['kemɪkl] ◇ adj [reaction, composition] that is connected with chemistry. ◇ n a substance used in or produced by chemistry.
- chemical engineering n the area of engineering that involves designing and operating machines used for industrial chemical processes.
- chemically ['kemɪkli] adv [complex, stable] a word used when one is talking about the chemical composition of a substance.
- chemical weapons npl poisonous gases used as weapons in war.
- chemist ['keməst] n -1. a person who studies or works in chemistry. -2. GB & AUS a person who is qualified to sell drugs, medicines etc. ■ a chemist's a store that sells drugs, medicines, cosmetics etc.
- chemistry ['keməstri] n -1. [as a science] the study of substances, their composition from molecules, atoms etc, and how they react and combine with other substances □ organic/inorganic chemistry □ a chemistry lesson. -2. [of a substance] the composition of a particular substance and how it reacts with other substances □ We are doing research into the chemistry of plant proteins.
- chemotherapy [ˌki:mou'θerəpi] n the use of chemicals to treat diseases, especially cancer.
- cheque n GB FINANCE = check.
- chequebook n GB = checkbook.
- cheque (guarantee) card n GB a small plastic card that a bank gives to owners of accounts with checkbooks, promising that it will pay out the money for checks up to the amount that is stated on the card □ 'Cheques accepted only when backed by a valid cheque card.'
- chequered adj GB = checkered.
- Chequers ['tʃekəz] the official country home of the British prime minister, in Buckinghamshire, southern England.
- cherish ['tʃerɪʃ] vt -1. [hope, memory] to keep <sthg> in one's mind because it makes one feel happier □ Andrew had long cherished the hope that he might one day take charge of the firm. -2. [privilege, right, belief] to consider <sthg> to be very valuable and try to keep it □ We cherish our democratic principles. -3. [person, possession] to care a lot for <sb/ sthg that is important to one> □ cherishing his loved ones with fervor and loyalty.
- cherished ['tʃerɪʃt] adj [memory, privilege, possession] that one cherishes □ That old car, believe it or not, is one of Colin's most cherished possessions.
- Chernobyl [tʃə'noubɪl] a city in central Ukraine where a nuclear reactor broke down in 1986, causing serious radioactive pollution.
- Cherokee ['tʃerəki:] n a member of a Native American people who used to live around the Appalachian Mountains; the language of this people.
- cherry ['tʃeri] (pl cherries) n a small, round, dark-red fruit with a hard seed in the middle that grows on trees in bunches □ cherry pie.
- cherry-picking [-pɪkɪŋ] n BUSINESS the act of choosing only the best of something, e.g. buying only the most profitable sectors of an industry.
- cherry tomato n a kind of very small tomato.
- cherry tree n the tree that cherries grow on.
- cherub ['tʃerəb] n -1. an angel that is shown in art as a fat, naked child with wings. -2. a pretty baby or young child with a round smiling face.
- chervil ['tʃɜ:vɪl] n an herb with a taste like aniseed that is used in salads and soups.
- Ches abbr of Cheshire.
- Chesapeake Bay [ˌtʃesəpi:k-] a large bay on the east coast of the USA, between Maryland and Virginia.
- Cheshire ['tʃeʃə] a county in northwestern England. SIZE: 2,328 sq kms. POPULATION: 955,800. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Chester.
- chess [tʃes] n a game of skill for two players, one with 16 white pieces, the other with 16 black pieces, played on a chessboard. Each set of pieces represents a king, queen, knight etc □ a game of chess □ a chess piece/set.

chessboard [ˈtʃesbɔːrd] n a board on which chess is played with 32 white and 32 black squares.

chessman [ˈtʃesmæn] (pl chessmen [-men]) n a piece used in the game of chess, such as a king or castle.

chest [tʃest] n -1. [of a person, animal] the upper part of the front of the body, containing the lungs, heart etc □ chest pains □ a chest wound □ chest measurement. ■ to get sth off one's chest [problem, worry] to tell somebody sth and feel better because it is no longer secret (informal use) □ Once I'd got it off my chest I felt so much better. -2. [for clothes, tools] a large box, usually made of wood, used for storing things □ a tool/medicine chest.

chestnut [ˈtʃesnʌt] ◇ adj [hair, horse] dark red-brown in color. ◇ n a large brown nut that grows inside a spiky green covering.

chestnut tree n the tree that chestnuts grow on.

chest of drawers (pl chests of drawers) n a piece of furniture with drawers, usually used for storing clothes.

chesty [ˈtʃestɪ] (compar chestier, superl chestiest) adj a chesty cough a cough caused by mucus in one's lungs.

chevron [ˈtʃevrən] n -1. [on cloth, a road sign] a V shape or design. -2. [on a uniform] a V-shaped piece of material on the arm of the uniform of a soldier, a policeman etc, showing their rank.

chew [tʃuː] vt -1. [meat, candy] to crush <food> repeatedly between one's back teeth □ He just sat there chewing gum. -2. [fingernails, pencil] to tear pieces off <sthg> by biting it many times.

◆ chew over vt sep to chew sth over [problem, offer] to think about sth long and carefully □ Give us a few days to chew it over.

◆ chew up vt sep to chew sth up [carpet, lawn, paper] to crush or twist sth until it is completely broken up or torn □ The photocopier has just chewed up all my documents!

chewing gum [ˈtʃuːɪŋ] n a sweet substance made to be chewed for a long time but not swallowed □ a piece OR stick of chewing gum.

chewy [ˈtʃuːɪ] (compar chewier, superl chewiest) adj [meat, candy] that needs to be chewed for a long time before it can be swallowed.

chic [ʃiːk] ◇ adj [person, clothes, restaurant] fashionable and sophisticated □ She came in, looking extremely chic in a black Chanel suit. ◇ n the quality of being chic □ Our offices have an air of mid-fifties chic.

Chicago [ʃəˈkɑːɡoʊ] the third-largest city in the USA, on Lake Michigan in Illinois. POPULATION: 2,783,726.

Chicago Board of Trade n the Chicago Board of Trade an important financial market in Chicago where futures and other commodities are traded.

Chicana [tʃɪˈkɑːnə] n in the USA, a girl or woman whose family came from Mexico.

chicane [ʃɪˈkeɪn] n a series of sharp bends in a motor-racing track.

chicanery [ʃɪˈkeɪnəri] n tricks and dishonesty, especially in politics, business etc.

Chicano [tʃɪˈkɑːnoʊ] n in the USA, a boy or man whose family came from Mexico.

chick [tʃɪk] n -1. a young bird, especially a young chicken. -2. a young woman (informal and offensive use).

chicken [ˈtʃɪkən] n -1. a common farm bird kept for its meat and the eggs it produces; the meat of this bird eaten as food □ I ordered roast chicken. □ a chicken sandwich/salad. ■ a chicken and egg situation a situation where it is impossible to tell which of two things came first and caused the other. -2. a person one thinks is a coward (informal use).

◆ chicken out vi to decide not to do something because one is afraid (informal use) □ I chickened out of meeting them face to face.

chickenfeed [ˈtʃɪkənfiːd] n a very small amount of money (informal and disapproving use) □ You earned $20,000? That's chickenfeed!

chickenpox [ˈtʃɪkənɒks] n an infectious disease, usually caught by children, that causes a high temperature and red, itchy spots which can leave scars.

chicken wire n wire netting with holes which have six sides □ a chicken wire fence.

chickpea [ˈtʃɪkpiː] n a hard pale-yellow seed shaped like a pea that is soaked in water, cooked, and eaten.

chicory [ˈtʃɪkəri] n -1. US a plant whose curly green leaves are eaten raw in salads. -2. GB a plant whose long, crisp, pale-green leaves are eaten raw in salads or stewed; a powder made from the dried roasted roots of this plant and used to add a bitter flavor to coffee.

chide [tʃaɪd] vt to speak angrily to <sb> about something they have done wrong (literary use).

chief [tʃiːf] ◇ adj -1. [aim, concern, problem] that is the most important □ Foreign imports are the chief cause of falling sales figures. -2. [officer, clerk, engineer] who is the highest in rank □ the chief rabbi/librarian. ◇ n -1. a person with the highest authority or rank in an organization □ the Chief of Police □ union chiefs. -2. the leader of a tribe or clan.

chief constable n the head of the police force in a British county or region.

Chief Executive n US the Chief Executive the president of the United States.

chief executive officer n the most important person in charge of running a company.

chief justice n -1. US the chief judge of the Supreme Court. -2. GB & AUS the title given to a senior judge in a high court.

chiefly [ˈtʃiːflɪ] adv mainly □ My work is chiefly administrative. □ They invested chiefly in gold.

chief of staff n -1. the senior officer of a commander's advisory staff. -2. the senior officer of one of the branches of the armed forces of a particular country.

chieftain ['tʃi:ftən] n the leader of a tribe or clan.

chiffon ['ʃɪfən] n a very thin, almost transparent fabric made of silk or nylon and used to make blouses, dresses etc □ a chiffon scarf.

chihuahua [tʃi'wɑ:wə] n a very small dog with smooth hair and large eyes.

chilblain ['tʃɪbleɪn] n a painful itchy swelling, usually on one's fingers or toes, caused by cold weather.

child [tʃaɪld] (pl children) n -1. a boy or girl before they start to develop into adults □ children's books/toys/clothes □ Stop treating me like a child. □ child labor. -2. a person's son or daughter at any age □ My children are all grown-up now.

child abuse n cruel treatment of a child, usually by somebody in the same family, that involves being violent to them, or having a sexual relationship with them.

childbearing ['tʃaɪldbɛərɪŋ] n the process of giving birth to a child □ a woman of child-bearing age.

child benefit n GB money paid regularly by the state to parents who have a child or children under a certain age.

childbirth ['tʃaɪldbɜ:θ] n the act of giving birth to a child □ She died in childbirth.

childcare ['tʃaɪldkeəʃ] n GB the work involved in taking care of young children while their parents are at work □ The company has excellent childcare facilities.

childhood ['tʃaɪldhʊd] n the period of somebody's life during which they are a child □ I spent most of my childhood in Switzerland. □ childhood experiences/memories.

childish ['tʃaɪldɪʃ] adj [behavior, fantasy] that is silly because it makes an adult seem like a child (disapproving use) □ I think you're being very childish.

childishly ['tʃaɪldɪʃli] adv [behave, react] see childish.

childless ['tʃaɪldləs] adj [couple, person] that has no children.

childlike ['tʃaɪldlaɪk] adj [trust, faith, face] that is typical of a child.

childminder ['tʃaɪldmaɪndəʃ] n GB a person whose job is to take care of children while their parents are at work.

child prodigy n a child who has an extraordinary talent or skill.

childproof ['tʃaɪldpru:f] adj [lock, container] that is designed so that it cannot be opened by children.

children ['tʃɪldrən] plural of child.

children's home n a place where children are sent to live, e.g. when their parents are dead or cannot look after them very well.

child support n US money that a person has to pay to their former wife or husband in order to support their children.

Child Support Agency n the Child Support Agency the British government department responsible for finding absent parents and making them pay for the maintenance of their children.

Chile ['tʃɪli] a country in western South America, between the Andes and the Pacific Ocean. SIZE: 757,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 13,400,000 (Chileans). CAPITAL: Santiago. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: peso.

Chilean ['tʃɪliən] n & adj: see Chile.

chili ['tʃɪli] (pl chilies) n a small red or green vegetable that has a hot spicy taste and is used to flavor food □ chili sauce.

chili con carne [-kən'kɑ:ʔni] n a dish made from beans, ground beef, and chili powder.

chili powder n ground dried chilies used as a spice in cooking.

chill [tʃɪl] ◇ vt -1. to make <food or drink> colder without freezing it □ The wine should be chilled before serving. -2. to chill sb to the bone OR to the marrow [cold weather] to make sb feel very cold; [story, noise] to frighten sb. ◇ vi [food, drink] to become colder without freezing □ Leave the wine to chill. ◇ n -1. an illness that causes one to shiver □ I think I've caught a chill. -2. there's a chill in the air the weather is cold. -3. a feeling of coldness, usually caused by fear or shock □ A sudden chill ran down my spine. ◇ adj [wind, air] cold.

◆ chill out vi chill out! relax and calm down (informal use).

chilli ['tʃɪli] n GB = chili.

chilling ['tʃɪlɪŋ] adj -1. [wind] very cold. -2. [story, experience] that makes one feel frightened □ I found his calm quite chilling.

chilly ['tʃɪli] (compar chillier, superl chilliest) adj -1. [weather, water, day] cold □ It's rather chilly out on deck. -2. [stare, atmosphere] unfriendly □ He got a chilly reception.

Chiltern Hundreds [tʃɪltə'n'hʌndrədz] an administrative district in England that does not legally exist. According to tradition, British MPs apply for the Chiltern Hundreds when they want to resign.

chime [tʃaɪm] ◇ vi [bell, clock] to make a pleasant ringing sound. ◇ vt to show <the time> by chiming □ The clock chimed five. ◇ n the sound made by a bell or clock when it chimes.

◆ chime in vi to join in a conversation by saying or asking something suddenly.

chimney ['tʃɪmni] (pl chimneys) n a narrow vertical passage that takes the smoke from a fire out of the roof of a building.

chimney pot ['tʃɪmni:pət] n a short pipe fitted on a roof to the top of a chimney.

chimneysweep ['tʃɪmni:swi:p] n a person whose job is to clean chimneys, usually with a long brush.

chimp [tʃɪmp] n = chimpanzee (informal use).

chimpanzee [tʃɪmpæn'zi:] n a small brown African ape whose appearance and behavior are sometimes similar to those of humans.

chin [tʃɪn] n the lowest part of one's face below one's mouth.

china [tʃaɪnə] n -1. a type of clay used to make high-quality pottery; the pottery made from this clay □ a china cup/plate. -2. a collective term for cups, plates etc made of china □ They brought out the family china. □ a piece of china.

China [ˈtʃaɪnə] a large country in eastern Asia, with the highest population and one of the oldest civilizations in the world. It has had a Communist government since 1949. SIZE: 9,600,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,178,500,000 (Chinese). CAPITAL: Beijing. LANGUAGE: Mandarin (Chinese). CURRENCY: yuan.

china clay n the fine white clay that china is made from.

China Sea: the China Sea part of the Pacific Ocean off the coast of China. It is divided into the East China Sea and the South China Sea.

Chinatown [ˈtʃaɪnətaʊn] n a district of a Western city where many people of Chinese origin live and work.

chinchilla [tʃɪnˈtʃɪlə] n a small South American animal that is similar to a squirrel, with soft silver-gray fur; the fur of this animal, used to make clothes.

Chinese [ˌtʃaɪˈniːz] ◇ n any of the languages spoken in China, e.g. Mandarin or Cantonese, that are all written the same way but spoken differently. ◇ npl & adj: see China.

Chinese cabbage n GB a type of cabbage whose leaves are used in salads and in Chinese cooking.

Chinese lantern n a folding lantern made of thin colored paper.

Chinese leaves npl GB the edible leaves of a Chinese cabbage.

chink [tʃɪŋk] ◇ n -1. [in a wall] a long narrow opening □ He peeped through a chink in the wall. ■ a chink of light a narrow beam of light shining through an opening in something. -2. [of coins, glasses] a light ringing sound made by objects hitting one another. ◇ vi [coins, money, glasses] to make a light ringing sound when knocked together.

chinos [ˈtʃiːnoʊz] npl trousers made of strong cotton fabric □ a pair of chinos.

chintz [tʃɪnts] n a shiny, patterned, cotton fabric used for covering furniture or making curtains □ chintz curtains.

chip [tʃɪp] (pt & pp chipped, cont chipping) ◇ n -1. COOKING US a thin slice of potato that is fried until crisp, usually sold in packages and eaten cold as a snack; GB a long thin piece of potato that is deep-fried and eaten hot □ fish and chips. -2. [of stone, wood] a small piece of wood, stone, pottery etc that has broken off a larger object; the mark left on this object □ a wood chip □ There's a chip in this cup. ■ to have a chip on one's shoulder to always be angry and aggressive because one feels inferior or unfairly treated □ Larry's got a real chip on his shoulder about being small. -3. ELECTRONICS a thin piece of silicon with electric circuits on it, used as part of a computer. -4. GAMES a plastic object used to represent money in gambling. ■ when the chips are down in a serious or difficult situation (informal use) □ But, when the chips are down, will she still support you?

◇ vt [cup, plate, glass] to damage <sthg> by breaking a small piece off it □ I fell and chipped my tooth.

◆ chip in (informal use) ◇ vi -1. to say something in the middle of a conversation between other people □ David suddenly chipped in with the suggestion that we should all go out. -2. to give a sum of money toward something that a group of people are buying together □ We're all going to chip in and buy her something nice. ◇ vt fus to chip in sthg to pay sthg toward something that a group of people are buying together □ We all chipped in $50 toward Miriam's present.

◆ chip off vt sep to chip sthg off [piece, bit, flake] to break sthg small off an object made of wood, stone, pottery etc □ I chipped off a bit of paint from the wall.

chip-based [-beɪst] adj [technology, system] that uses microchips.

chipboard [ˈtʃɪpbɔːrd] n a building material made from wood chips and glue that are pressed together and shaped into boards □ shelves made of chipboard.

chipmunk [ˈtʃɪpmʌŋk] n a small North American animal like a squirrel that has light and dark stripes down its back and lives in holes underground.

chipolata [tʃɪpəˈləɪtə] n a small sausage.

chipped [tʃɪpt] adj [mug, cup, plate] that has a small piece broken out of it.

Chippendale [ˈtʃɪpəndeɪl] n a style of furniture made in England in the 18th century by Thomas Chippendale □ a Chippendale chair.

chippings [ˈtʃɪpɪŋz] npl very small pieces of wood, stone etc. ■ 'Loose chippings' GB a sign that warns drivers that a road has been recently resurfaced with stone chippings.

chip shop n GB a shop that sells hot fish and chips, chicken, sausages etc to take out.

chiropodist [kəˈrɒpədɪst] n a person whose job is to care for people's feet.

chiropody [kəˈrɒpədi] n the profession of a chiropodist.

chiropractor [ˈkairoʊpræktə] n a person whose job is to treat medical conditions by working on people's backs and joints with their hands.

chirp [tʃɜːp] vi [bird, grasshopper] to make a short high-pitched sound.

chirpy [ˈtʃɜːpi] (compar chirpier, superl chirpiest) adj [person, attitude] cheerful and lively (informal use) □ You're very chirpy this morning!

chisel [ˈtʃɪzəl] (US pt & pp chiseled, cont chiseling, GB pt & pp chiselled, cont chiselling) ◇ n a tool that has a flat blade with a squared sharp end that is used for cutting and shaping wood or stone. ◇ vt [groove, slot, wood] to cut or shape <sthg> using a chisel.

Chisholm [ˈtʃɪzəm], Shirley (1924–) a US politician who was the first black woman to be elected to Congress.

chit [tʃɪt] n a short written note that shows how much money one owes or has paid.

chitchat [ˈtʃɪtʃæt] n informal talk about unimportant things (informal use) □ I wasn't really in the mood for Sara's chitchat.

chivalrous [ˈʃɪvɪləs] adj [man, attitude, behavior] polite, helpful, and unselfish, especially when dealing with women □ It was very chivalrous of you to offer to help.

chivalry [ˈʃɪvɪrɪ] n -1. the combination of good qualities expected of medieval knights, such as honor, loyalty, courage etc. -2. chivalrous behavior, especially toward women □ And who says the age of chivalry is dead?

chives [ˈtʃaɪvz] npl the long, thin, hollow leaves of a particular plant that taste like onions and are used as an herb.

chivy, chivvy [ˈtʃɪvɪ] (pt & pp chivied OR chivied) vt to chivy sb along to encourage sb to do something faster by telling them several times to hurry up (informal use).

chloride [ˈklɔːraɪd] n a chemical compound of chlorine and another substance.

chlorinated [ˈklɔːrɪneɪtəd] adj [water] that has chlorine added to it.

chlorine [ˈklɔːrɪn] n a chemical element that is a strong-smelling, greenish-yellow gas, used mainly for purifying water. SYMBOL: Cl.

chlorofluorocarbon [ˌklɔːrɒfʊləʊəˈkɑːrbən] n → CFC.

chloroform [ˈklɔːrəfɔːm] n a colorless chemical liquid used as an anesthetic. FORMULA: CHCl₃.

chlorophyll [ˈklɔːrəfɪl] n the green substance in plants that uses energy from sunlight to help them grow.

choc-ice [ˈtʃɒkaɪs] n GB a small block of ice cream covered in a thin layer of chocolate.

chock [tʃɒk] n a wedge-shaped block that is placed under a wheel, barrel etc to stop it from moving.

chock-a-block, chock-full adj to be chock-a-block OR chock-full to be completely full (informal use) □ The corridor was chock-a-block with packing cases.

chocolate [ˈtʃɒklət] n -1. a solid brown food made from cocoa beans that is usually sweetened and eaten as a candy or used as a flavoring □ a bar/piece of chocolate □ a chocolate bar/cake. -2. a small candy that is covered with chocolate □ a box of chocolates.

Choctaw [ˈtʃɒktɔː] (pl Choctaw OR Choctaws) n a member of a Native American people who used to live in the southeastern USA; the language of this people.

choice [tʃɔɪs] ◇ n -1. to make OR take one's choice to choose one of several things available □ You must make OR take your choice, you can't have both. ■ to do sthg by OR from choice to do sthg because one wants to □ I didn't come here by choice. -2. one's choice the thing or person that one chooses □ She'd be my choice as the new manager/for the position. □ This model was my first/second choice. -3. to have a choice to be able to choose □ If I had the choice, I'd go by car. □ It was a choice between going to university and finding a job. □ "Why did you join?" — "I didn't really have a choice." ■ to have no choice but to do sthg to be forced to do sthg □ Unfortunately I have no choice but to report you to the principal. -4. a choice of things a range or variety of things to choose from □ There's a choice of several different styles. □ We offer a wide choice of leisure activities.

◇ adj [wine, meat, fruit] that is of high quality.

◆ of one's choice adv that one chooses □ You will be flown there by an airline of your choice.

choir [ˈkwaɪə] n an organized group of singers, especially one that sings in a church.

choirboy [ˈkwaɪəˈbɔɪ] n a boy singer in a church choir.

choke [tʃɒk] ◇ n a valve which makes it easier to start a vehicle's engine by reducing the amount of air going into the carburetor. ◇ vi to be unable to breathe because one's windpipe is blocked □ She choked on a fishbone. ◇ vt -1. [person] to cause <sb> to choke □ The fumes choked me. -2. [road, pipe, gutter] to cause <sthg> to be blocked □ Our cities are choked with traffic.

◆ choke back vt fus to choke back sthg [one's tears, sobs, anger] to prevent sthg one is feeling from being seen or heard.

choker [ˈtʃɒkə] n a necklace or a band of decorative material that is worn by women and that fits around their throat.

cholera [ˈkɒləərə] n a highly infectious and serious disease of the intestines that is caught from contaminated water or food and is common in hot countries.

cholesterol [US kəˈlestəroʊl, GB -rɒl] n a fatty substance found in body tissues and fluids, which can cause heart disease if there is too much of it □ a high/low cholesterol level.

chomp [tʃɒmp] vi to chew food noisily □ He was chomping away on a hamburger.

choose [tʃuːz] (pt chose, pp chosen) ◇ vt -1. to decide to have or take <sthg/sb> from the number of things or people that are available □ Will you help me choose a suitable present for the boss? □ You were chosen for your communications skills. □ Who would you choose as OR to be our representative? ■ there's little OR not much to choose between them it is difficult to choose one of them because they are almost the same. -2. to choose to do sthg to do sthg because one wants to □ I didn't choose to come on this trip. ◇ vi to make a decision from a number of possibilities □ We had to choose from ten possible titles.

choos(e)y [ˈtʃuːzɪ] (compar choosier, superl choosiest) adj to be choos(e)y to be difficult to please when making a choice □ You can't afford to be too choosy about the hotels in this town.

chop [tʃɒp] (pt & pp chopped, cont chopping) ◇ n -1. COOKING a piece of meat, usually pork or lamb, attached to a rib □ Cut the fat off the lamb chops. -2. [with the hand] a single blow with a knife, ax etc, or with the hand. ◇ vt -1. [meat, wood] to cut up <sthg> into pieces using a knife, ax etc □ Steve was outside chopping wood. -2. [budget, funding] to reduce <sthg> by a very large amount (informal use).

- ◇ vi to chop and change GB to change one's plans, opinion, attitude etc continually.
- ◆ chops npl one's mouth and cheeks (informal use).
- ◆ chop down vt sep to chop a tree down to cut down a tree with an ax.
- ◆ chop up vt sep to chop sthg up [meat, vegetables, wood] to cut sthg into small pieces using a knife, ax etc.
- chopper ['tʃɒpə] n -1. a knife with a blade like an ax, used for cutting wood or meat. -2. AVIATION a helicopter (informal use).
- chopping block, chopping board ['tʃɒpɪŋ-] n a board which is used to chop food on in the kitchen.
- choppy ['tʃɒpi] (compar choppier, superl choppiest) adj [sea, water] that is rough and covered in small waves.
- chopsticks ['tʃɒpstɪks] npl two thin sticks that are held in one hand and used for eating Chinese, Japanese etc food.
- choral ['kɔ:ɪrəl] adj [music, work] that is performed by a choir □ a choral symphony.
- chord [kɔ:'d] n a number of musical notes that are played or sung together at the same time. ■ to strike a chord to be something that one is familiar with and can sympathize with □ What she said about parents' responsibilities struck a chord with me.
- chore [tʃɔ:'ɪ] n an unpleasant boring task, especially one that has to be done regularly □ It's a real chore having to go to this meeting. □ domestic chores.
- choreographer [ˌkɔ:ri'ɒgrəfə] n a person whose job is to create and teach the movements to be performed by dancers.
- choreography [ˌkɔ:ri'ɒgrəfi] n the profession of a choreographer.
- chortle [tʃɔ:'tɪl] vi to laugh loudly with pleasure.
- chorus ['kɔ:ɪrəs] n -1. [in a song] a part of a song which is repeated after each verse and is usually sung by all the singers □ ...then we'll all join in with the chorus. -2. a choir. -3. [of singers, dancers] a group of singers or dancers who take part in the action of an opera or musical. -4. a chorus of sthg [of disapproval, complaints] sthg expressed by many people at the same time □ The joke was met with a chorus of laughter.
- chose [tʃɔʊz] past tense of choose.
- chosen [tʃɔʊzn] past participle of choose.
- choux pastry [ˈʃu:-] n very light pastry made with eggs that is used to make éclairs, profiteroles etc.
- chow [tʃəʊ] n -1. a breed of dog, originally from China, that has a thick coat and a blue-black tongue. -2. US food (informal use).
- chowder [ˈtʃəʊdə] n thick soup made with seafood or fish and vegetables.
- Christ [kraɪst] ◇ = Jesus Christ. ◇ excl ▽ a word used to express annoyance or frustration (very informal use) □ For Christ's sake, calm down!
- christen ['krɪʃn] vt -1. RELIGION [baby, child] to give a Christian name to <sb> at a christening □ She was christened Naomi. -2. [person, place, car] to give a name to <sb/sthg> (informal use) □ We christened it 'the treehouse'.
- christening ['krɪʃnɪŋ] n the religious ceremony at which a person is given a Christian name and made a member of a Christian church □ a christening cake/gown/present.
- Christian ['krɪʃtʃən] ◇ adj -1. RELIGION [person] who believes that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and follows his teachings; [doctrine, church] that is based on the teachings of Jesus Christ □ a Christian family □ the Christian religion. -2. [act, thought] kind (informal use). ◇ n RELIGION a Christian person.
- Christian Aid n a British aid organization, supported by many Christian churches, that supports development projects in poor countries.
- Christian Democrat n a member or supporter of a moderate conservative party that exists in several European countries.
- Christianity [ˌkrɪʃtɪ'ænəti] n a religion based on the teachings of Jesus Christ.
- Christian name n a person's first name, given to them when they are born or when they are christened.
- Christian Science n a Christian group founded in the USA in 1883. Members believe that illness is cured by religion, not by medicine or doctors.
- Christie ['krɪsti], Agatha (1891–1976) a British writer of detective novels who created the characters Hercule Poirot and Miss Marple. Her works include Murder on the Orient Express and Death on the Nile.
- Christmas ['krɪsməs] n -1. December 25, a public holiday in Christian countries, when the anniversary of the birth of Jesus Christ is celebrated □ I last saw them at Christmas. □ a Christmas present/party. ■ Happy OR Merry Christmas a phrase used to express one's good wishes when one meets somebody at Christmas or when one sends somebody a Christmas card. -2. = Christmastime.
- Christmas cake n GB a cake containing dried fruit and covered with icing that is eaten at Christmas.
- Christmas card n a greeting card sent at Christmas.
- Christmas cracker n GB a tube made of colored paper that makes a loud noise when pulled apart by two people and usually contains a small toy and a paper hat.
- Christmas Day n December 25, the anniversary of the birth of Jesus Christ.
- Christmas Eve n December 24.
- Christmas pudding n GB a heavy, sweet, boiled pudding, full of dried fruit, that is eaten as a dessert at dinner on Christmas Day.
- Christmas stocking n a large sock that children hang up empty on Christmas Eve and find full of presents on Christmas morning.
- Christmastime ['krɪsməstam] n the days before and after December 25, when people celebrate Christmas.

Christmas tree n a real or artificial fir tree that is decorated with lights, ornaments, tinsel etc in people's homes at Christmas.

chrome [kroum] n = chromium (non-technical use) □ chrome taps.

chromium ['kroumjəm] n a shiny silver-colored metal that is used especially for covering other metals. SYMBOL: Cr.

chromosome ['krouməsoum] n the part of a living cell that contains its genes.

chronic ['krɒnɪk] adj -1. [illness, unemployment] that lasts for a long time and does not improve □ There's a chronic shortage of teachers. -2. [alcoholic, invalid] who has an illness, problem, or habit that has lasted for a long time.

chronically ['krɒnɪklɪ] adv to be chronically sick/ill etc to have been sick/ill etc for a long time □ a chronically depressed person.

chronic fatigue syndrome n an illness causing tiredness and aching muscles that sometimes lasts for years.

chronicle ['krɒnɪkl] ◇ n a record of events in the order in which they happened. ◇ vt [life, history] to record  in the order in which they happened □ The book chronicles their adventures across India in the 1920s.

chronological [,krɒnə'lɒdʒɪkl] adj in chronological order in the order in which something happened □ The events are listed in chronological order.

chronologically [,krɒnə'lɒdʒɪklɪ] adv [list, order] see chronological □ The list of his writings is laid out chronologically.

chronology [krɒ'nɒlədʒɪ] n a list of events in the order in which they happened.

chrysalis ['krɪsəlɪs] n a stage in the development of a butterfly or moth when it is inside a hard protective case and is changing from a caterpillar into an adult.

chrysanthemum [krɪ'sænθəməm] (pl chrysanthemums) n a flower with a large, round, brightly colored head made up of many thin petals.

chub [tʃʌb] (pl chub OR chubs) n a freshwater fish with a dark-green body, found in Europe.

chubby ['tʃʌbɪ] (compar chubbier, superl chubbiest) adj [face, cheeks, person] fat and rounded in an attractive way.

chuck [tʃʌk] (informal use) vt -1. [ball, book] to throw <sth> in a careless way □ Could you chuck me the lighter? -2. to chuck a job to resign from a job. -3. [boyfriend, girlfriend] to end a relationship with <sb> because one does not want it to continue.

◆ chuck away, chuck out vt sep to chuck sth away OR out to throw sth away.

chuckle ['tʃʌkl] ◇ n a quiet laugh □ He gave a little chuckle of delight. ◇ vi to laugh quietly □ He sat in a corner, chuckling away to himself.

chuck wagon n US a wagon where food was stored and prepared, used by cowboys in the Western USA.

chug [tʃʌg] (pt & pp chugged, cont chugging) vi [train, car] to move slowly and steadily, making low throbbing sounds; [engine, motor] to make low throbbing sounds □ The little boat was chugging slowly toward the shore.

chum [tʃʌm] n a friend (informal use).

chummy ['tʃʌmɪ] (compar chummier, superl chummiest) adj [person] friendly (informal use).

chump [tʃʌmp] n a person who one thinks is silly (informal use).

chunk [tʃʌŋk] n -1. [of bread, cheese, meat] a large thick piece of food. -2. a chunk of sth a large amount of sth (informal use) □ Rehearsals are taking up a huge chunk of my time.

chunky ['tʃʌŋki] (compar chunkier, superl chunkiest) adj -1. [person] short and rather fat. -2. [sweater, jewelry] large and heavy.

Chunnel ['tʃʌnl] = Channel Tunnel.

church [tʃɜːtʃ] n -1. a building where Christian services are held and where Christians can go to pray □ There's a small village church nearby. ■ to go to church to attend services regularly at a church. -2. an organized group of Christians, e.g. the Roman Catholic Church □ the conflict between Church and State.

churchgoer ['tʃɜːtʃgouə] n a person who regularly goes to church to attend religious services.

Churchill ['tʃɜːtʃɪl], Sir Winston (1874–1965) British Prime Minister from 1940 to 1945, and from 1951 to 1955. He is famous for his strong leadership during World War II, and for his speeches and writing.

churchman ['tʃɜːtʃmən] (pl churchmen [-mən]) n a clergyman (formal use).

Church of England n the Church of England the official branch of the Christian religion in England.

☛ THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND

The Church of England is one of two official state churches in the UK. It is a branch of the Christian religion that separated from the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th century. The head of the Church is the King or Queen, and its religious head is the Archbishop of Canterbury. Priests of the Church are allowed to marry, and since 1994, women have been accepted as priests.

Church of Scotland n the Church of Scotland the official church in Scotland.

☛ THE CHURCH OF SCOTLAND

The Church of Scotland is one of the two official state churches in the UK. It is a Presbyterian church that was established as a branch of the Christian religion in Scotland in the 16th century. Both men and women may be ministers. It has a strong missionary tradition and supports many Protestant Churches in developing countries.

churchyard [ˈtʃɜːrʃjaːrd] n an area close to a church where dead people can be buried.

churlish [ˈtʃɜːlɪʃ] adj [person, manner, behavior] that seems rude and unfriendly □ It would seem churlish to refuse.

churn [tʃɜːn] ◇ n -1. [for butter] a container that is used for making butter from milk. -2. [for milk] a metal container that is used for transporting or storing milk. ◇ vt = churn up. ◇ vi [stomach, water, mud] to move about violently □ The smell was enough to make my stomach churn.

◆ churn out vt sep to churn sth out [goods, programs] to produce a lot of sth quickly and without much care.

◆ churn up vt sep to churn sth up [water, mud] to make sth move around violently.

chute [ʃuːt] n a long sloping tube or passage along which water, rubbish, coal etc can be passed from one place high up to another lower down.

chutney [ˈtʃʌtni] n a mixture of fruit, spices, and sugar that is eaten with meat, cheese etc □ lime/mango chutney.

CI abbr of Channel Islands.

CIA (abbr of Central Intelligence Agency) n the CIA the US government department that is responsible for finding out information about people or countries that might harm the interests of the USA.

cicada [US sɪˈkeɪdə, GB -ˈkɑːdə] n a large winged insect that lives in warm countries and makes a loud high-pitched noise.

CID (abbr of Criminal Investigation Department) n the CID the detective branch of the British police force.

cider [ˈsaɪdə] n -1. US a nonalcoholic drink made with apples. -2. GB an alcoholic drink made with apples.

CIF (abbr of cost, insurance, and freight) a condition of international trade, where the seller pays the cost of insurance and transport.

cigar [sɪˈgɑː] n a thick roll of uncut dried tobacco leaves that is smoked for pleasure.

cigarette [ˌsɪgəˈret] n a thin roll of finely-cut, dried, rolled tobacco covered in paper that is smoked for pleasure.

cigarette butt n the part of a cigarette that is left after it has been smoked.

cigarette end n GB = cigarette butt.

cigarette holder n a thin tube that one puts on the end of a cigarette and sucks in order to smoke it.

cigarette lighter n a small device that produces a flame for lighting a cigarette, pipe, or cigar.

cigarette paper n a very thin piece of paper that can be rolled around cut tobacco to make a cigarette.

C-in-C n abbr of commander in chief.

cinch [sɪntʃ] n it's a cinch it's easy to do (informal use).

cinderblock [ˈsɪndəˈblɒk] n US a large gray brick with a lot of small air spaces.

Cinderella [ˌsɪndəˈrelə] a character in a fairy tale. She is treated badly by her stepmother and two ugly sisters, but with the help of her fairy godmother, she goes to a ball, where a prince falls in love with her.

cinders [ˈsɪndəz] npl small pieces of burnt wood, coal etc that remain after a fire has gone out.

cinecamera [ˈsɪnɪkæməɹə] n GB a camera that is used for making movies.

cine-film n GB film that is used in a cinecamera.

cinema [ˈsɪnəmə] n -1. the art or business of making movies □ This is Italian cinema at its best. □ a cinema director. -2. GB a place where people go to watch movies □ What's on at the cinema tonight?

cinematic [ˌsɪnəˈmætɪk] adj [effect, quality, art] that is connected with or is typical of the art of cinema.

cinnamon [ˈsɪnəmən] n a brown spice that is used as a powder or in small sticks to give flavor to cooked apples, cakes, curries etc.

cipher [ˈsaɪfə] n a secret code.

circa [ˈsɜːkə] prep a word used to indicate that the date which follows is not exact □ The company was founded circa 1800.

circle [ˈsɜːkl] ◇ n -1. a two-dimensional shape consisting of a curved line on which any point is the same distance from the center; anything that has this shape □ He drew a circle on the paper. □ They stood in a circle. ■ to come full circle to reach the point at which something first began after a long series of changes or events □ So, after 200 years, events came full circle. □ I felt as if my life had come full circle. ■ to go around in circles to keep coming back to the same point where one was before without making any progress. -2. [of people] a group of people who have similar tastes, interests, or backgrounds □ He moves in very chic circles these days. □ I have a very small circle of good friends. -3. [in a theater] the seats in a theater or cinema that are arranged in a curve above ground level.

◇ vt -1. [word, mistake] to draw a circle around <sthg> □ He circled the passage in red. -2. [place, object] to move in a circle in the sky around <sthg> □ The plane circled the airport.

◇ vi [plane, bird] to fly in a circle in the sky □ The vultures circled overhead.

circuit [ˈsɜːkɪt] n -1. ELECTRICITY a continuous path which an electric current can flow around □ an electrical circuit. -2. SPORT a trip around a particular route □ She completed the circuit in four minutes. -3. RACING a circular route that cars, runners etc race around □ a racing circuit. -4. EDUCATION, SPORT, & THEATER a series of events where a group of people meet regularly for professional or social reasons □ the fringe theater/tennis/lecture circuit □ He's very well known on the cabaret circuit.

circuit board n a board made of insulating material that holds an electronic circuit.

circuit breaker n a device that can stop peo- ple from getting an electric shock by stopping the electricity if there is a fault.

- circuitous [sə'f:kju:ətəs] adj a circuitous route a long and indirect way of going to a place.
- circular ['sɜ:kjələ] adj -1. [table, pond] that is shaped like a circle. -2. [route, journey] that involves going to a place and coming back by a different route. -3. [argument, discussion] that keeps coming back to the same point and makes no progress. ◇ n a letter, notice, or advertisement that is sent to a large number of people.
- circulate ['sɜ:kjəleɪt] vi -1. [blood, virus, drug] to move around the body; [air, smell] to move around a room. -2. [money, document, goods] to be passed around among a group of people □ Illegal copies of the software have been circulating in Asia. -3. [rumor, story] to spread among a large number of people □ There's a rumor circulating that she's leaving. -4. [guest, host] to talk to a lot of different people at a party □ I'd better go and circulate. ◇ vt -1. [money, document] Please circulate this memo. -2. [rumor, story] Find out who's been circulating these rumors.
- circulation [ˌsɜ:kjə'leɪʃn] n -1. MEDICINE & BIOLOGY the movement of blood in the body □ I've got very poor circulation. -2. to be in circulation [money] to be in public use □ They've taken the old $5 note out of circulation. -3. JOURNALISM the number of copies of a newspaper or magazine that are sold each time it is published □ The paper has a circulation of 60,000. -4. [of heat, air] the movement of heat, air etc within a place. -5. [of information] the movement of documents, information etc within a group of people □ the free circulation of ideas.
- circumcise ['sɜ:kəmsaɪz] vt -1. [boy, man] to remove the foreskin from the penis of . -2. [girl, woman] to cut away the clitoris of .
- circumcision [ˌsɜ:kəm'sɪʒn] n the act or ceremony of circumcising somebody or of being circumcised.
- circumference [sə'kʌmfərəns] n the outside edge of a circle, lake, garden etc; the distance around this □ How do you calculate the circumference of the Earth?
- circumflex ['sɜ:kəm'fleks] n a circumflex (accent) an accent (˘) that is placed over certain vowels in some languages, e.g. French □ "Rôle" is sometimes spelled with an "o" circumflex.
- circumnavigate [ˌsɜ:kəm'nævɪgeɪt] vt to sail or fly completely around <the world>.
- circumscribe ['sɜ:kəmskraɪb] vt [freedom, movement, activity] to limit or restrict <sthg>.
- circumspect ['sɜ:kəmspekt] adj [behavior, manner, person] cautious □ We must be extremely circumspect about who we tell.
- circumstances ['sɜ:kəmstænsɪz] npl the conditions in which an event takes place or in which something exists *□ They were investigating the circumstances of her disappearance. □ These are exceptional circumstances. ■ under OR in no circumstances an expression used to emphasize that something must not happen □ Don't, under any circumstances, open the door. □ Under no circumstances may deposits be returned. ■ under OR in the circumstances considering the situation *□ Under the circumstances, I think it would be better if you left.
- circumstantial [ˌsɜ:kəm'stæʃnəl] adj circumstantial evidence facts that make it seem likely that something happened but do not prove that it did happen (formal use).
- circumvent [ˌsɜ:kəm'vent] vt to avoid following  in a clever way (formal use).
- circus ['sɜ:kəs] n -1. a group of acrobats, clowns, and sometimes animals, who travel around and give performances in a large tent; a performance given by this group □ a traveling circus □ Can we go to the circus? □ a circus clown/act. -2. GB an open area where several streets meet □ Piccadilly Circus.
- cirrhosis [sə'ru:ʊsɪs] n cirrhosis (of the liver) a serious disease of the liver, often caused by drinking too much alcohol.
- CIS (abbr of Commonwealth of Independent States): the CIS a union of 11 of the countries that used to be republics of the USSR, formed in 1991. It includes Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Moldavia, Russia, Tadjikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, and Uzbekistan.
- cissy ['sɪsɪ] (pl cissies) n a boy who one thinks is weak or cowardly (informal use).
- cistern ['sɪstərn] n -1. [in a roof] a tank in the roof of a house in which water is stored. -2. [of a toilet] a tank attached to a toilet in which water for flushing the toilet is stored.
- citation [saɪ'teɪʃn] n -1. [for a person] an official statement that praises somebody for something brave or good that they have done □ He received a citation for his services to the nation. -2. [from a book] a quotation. -3. US LAW a summons to appear in court.
- cite [saɪt] vt -1. [passage, words] to quote <sthg>; [factor, problem] to mention <sthg> as the reason for something □ His employers cited his frequent absences as the reason for firing him. -2. LAW to mention <sb/sthg> as part of a case in court □ His lover was cited in the divorce proceedings.
- citizen ['sɪtɪzən] n -1. [of a country] a person who belongs to a particular country □ a US/ British citizen. -2. [of a city] a person who is a permanent resident of a particular town or city □ citizens of Toronto.
- Citizens' Advice Bureau n the Citizens' Advice Bureau an organization with offices in many British and Australian towns that gives free advice to people about problems such as divorce, housing, money etc.
- Citizens' Band n → CB.
- Citizen's Charter n the Citizen's Charter a set of proposals made by the British government in 1991 that stated the standards of service that government departments should provide and the compensation that people can claim for poor service.

citizenship ['sɪtɪzənʃɪp] n the state of being a citizen of a particular country □ He was given French citizenship after 5 years.

citric acid [ˌsɪtrɪk-] n a weak acid that comes from citrus fruits.

citrus fruit ['sɪtrəs-] n a fruit, e.g. an orange or grapefruit, that has a sharp acidic taste.

city ['sɪtɪ] (pl cities) n -1. a large town where a lot of people live and where a lot of business and social activity takes place □ Mexico City is one of the biggest cities in the world. □ City life is so stressful these days. -2. US the local government of a city.

◆ City n GB the City a small area in the center of London where all the major banks, including the Bank of England, and the stock exchange are situated □ She works in the City. □ a City stockbroker.

♥ THE CITY

The City, London's financial district, is like a small independent city with its own administration and police force. People often talk about "the City" when they mean the world of finance in Britain generally.

City and Guilds n -1. the City and Guilds (of London Institute) a British organization that gives qualifications in technical subjects. -2. a qualification given by the City and Guilds.

city center n the center of a city, where all the main stores, businesses etc are.

city government n US the work involved in running the affairs of a city; the officials who do this work.

city hall n US a building used by a city's administration; the administration itself.

city planner n US a person who is responsible for city planning.

city planning n US the work of planning, designing, and developing the buildings, roads, parks etc in a town or city.

city technology college n a type of secondary school in Britain that specializes in technological subjects, is based in inner-city areas, and is funded by industry.

civic ['sɪvɪk] adj [leader, duty, pride] that is connected with a city or its citizens.

civic center n the buildings in a town that belong to the local government, e.g. the offices or sports facilities.

civil ['sɪvɪl] adj -1. [disorder, strife] that involves the different groups of people who live in a country; [aviation] that is not military but is for the ordinary citizens of a country; [ceremony] that is not religious. -2. [person] who is polite in a formal way □ He could at least have been more civil.

civil defense n the organization and training of ordinary citizens to deal with enemy attack.

civil disobedience n the refusal of people to obey a particular law, pay a tax etc as a protest against something the government has done or wants to do.

civil engineer n an engineer who is qualified to plan, build, and repair public buildings, roads, bridges etc.

civil engineering n the work or profession of a civil engineer □ She's studying civil engineering.

civilian [sə'vɪliən] n a person who does not belong to the armed forces □ civilian clothes/life □ a civilian organization.

civility [sə'vɪlətɪ] n the quality of being polite in a formal way.

◆ civilities npl polite remarks.

civilization [US ,sɪvɪlə'zeɪʃn, GB -aɪ'zeɪʃn] n -1. the state of having a very developed society and economy □ Mesopotamia is believed to be the birthplace of civilization. □ This could be the end of civilization as we know it. -2. a society which is culturally, socially, and economically advanced □ an ancient civilization.

civilize, -ise ['sɪvəlaɪz] vt to change  etc from being badly educated, organized etc to a more advanced state □ His wife has a civilizing influence on him.

civilized ['sɪvəlaɪzɪd] adj -1. [society, people, tribe] that has a high level of civilization □ This shouldn't happen in a civilized country. -2. [person] polite and cultured; [discussion] polite rather than angry or violent □ It was a pleasantly civilized dinner. □ Let's talk about this in a civilized manner.

civil law n a collective term for the laws connected with personal matters, e.g. divorce, property, and business, rather than criminal behavior.

civil liberties npl the rights of individual people to do what they like so long as this does not affect other people's rights.

civil list n the civil list GB the money that is given by Parliament to the Royal Family every year.

civil rights npl the rights of individual people to be treated equally, regardless of their race, sex, or religion □ a civil rights campaigner.

Civil Rights Movement n the Civil Rights Movement a movement that began in the USA in the 1950s in order to fight for equal rights for minorities, especially blacks.

♥ CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT

The Civil Rights Movement in the USA began in 1954, when the Supreme Court passed a law that said that black people could go to the same schools as white people. Later, in the 1960s, many peaceful protests were organized by leaders like Martin Luther King to try to win better treatment for black people. The Civil Rights Act (1964) and the Voting Rights Act (1965) made it illegal to treat minorities such as black people differently from white people, either at work or in public places.

civil servant n a person who works in the civil service □ a high-grade civil servant.

civil service n the non-political organization that is responsible for the administrative work of a government, but not including the military or judicial departments.

civil war n a war that is fought between citizens of the same country.

cl n abbr of centiliter.

clad [klæd] adj to be clad in white/silk etc to be dressed in white/silk etc (literary use).

claim [kleim] \diamond n -1. a claim to sthg [to somebody's land, money] the right to have or own something \square He has a rightful claim to the inheritance. \blacksquare to lay claim to sthg to state that one has a right to sthg. -2. a claim on sb the right one feels one has to ask sb for something, especially their time or attention \square He acts as if he has some kind of claim on you. -3. [for money] a request for money that one believes one has a right to \square a pay/insurance claim \square Don't forget to put in a claim for expenses. \square The owner has made a claim for the damage to his property. -4. [by somebody] a statement made by somebody before other people know if it is true \square His claim of unfair dismissal was rejected by the court.

\diamond vt -1. [money, property, right] to ask for <sthg that one believes one has a right to> \square He claimed the money back on expenses. \square She claimed the umbrella from lost and found. \square You should be able to claim it on your insurance.

-2. to claim responsibility/credit for sthg to state that the responsibility/credit for sthg belongs to oneself \square You can't claim all the credit for the idea. -3. to claim (that)... to declare that something is true before other people know if it is true \square She claimed (that) the company had made an illegal deal. \blacksquare to claim to do sthg to claim that one does sthg. \square The cult claims to have a membership of 500,000. -4. the accident claimed 50 lives 50 people died in the accident.

\diamond vi to claim for sthg [for postage, damage] to officially ask for the money to pay for sthg \square Remember to claim for expenses. \blacksquare to claim on one's insurance to ask an insurance company to pay for the loss or damage of something.

claimant ['kleimənt] n a person who is claiming something \square one of the claimants to the title \square All claimants should wait at the counter.

claim form n a form that one has to fill in in order to claim something such as an insurance payment.

clairvoyant [kleə'vɔɪənt] \diamond adj [person] who is thought to be able to see the future. \diamond n a person who is clairvoyant.

clam [klæm] (pt & pp clammed, cont clamming) n an animal that lives on the bottom of the sea and has a soft edible body protected by a hard shell that can open and close.

\blacklozenge clam up vi to stop talking because one is afraid or does not want to talk (informal use).

clamber ['klæmbə] vi to climb with difficulty, using one's hands and feet \square We clambered up the tree/down the slope.

clammy ['klæmi] (compar clammier, superl clammiest) adj [hand, forehead] cold and wet; [weather] humid and unpleasant.

clamor US, clamour GB ['klæmə] \diamond n -1. a loud and continuous noise of many voices talking or shouting together \square I could hardly hear what he was saying above the clamor. -2. a very strong expression of a demand, complaint, or anger made by a large number of people \square the growing clamor for a change to the tax system. \diamond vi to clamor for sthg to demand sthg very strongly and insistently \square The public is clamoring for change.

clamorous ['klæməərəs] adj [applause, voices, demands] very loud.

clamour n & vi GB = clamor.

clamp [klæmp] \diamond n -1. [for carpentry, surgery] a tool that has two metal parts joined by a screw, spring etc that closes two things together or forces two things apart. -2. a wheelclamp. \diamond vt -1. to put a clamp on <sthg> \square My car's been clamped! -2. to hold <sthg> in position firmly using a clamp.

\blacklozenge clamp down vi to begin to take strong measures to control or prevent something \square The police are clamping down on drunk driving.

clampdown ['klæmpdaʊn] n the act of clamping down on something \square a clampdown on crime.

clan [klæn] n a group of families, especially in Scotland, that have the same name and are originally descended from the same family \square the clan tartan \square a clan gathering.

clandestine [klæn'destən] adj [movement, meeting, organization] that is secret, often because it is not legal \square Nobody knows how many clandestine immigrants there are in the city.

clang [klæŋ] \diamond n a loud ringing noise that is made when something that is made of metal hits something else \square The gates made a loud clang. \square the clang of the bell. \diamond vi [bell, gate, gong] to make a clang \square The iron doors clanged shut behind her.

clank [klæŋk] \diamond n a sharp, loud, metallic noise like that of a chain being moved \square the clank of chains. \diamond vi [chain, machinery] to make a sharp, loud, metallic noise \square machines clanking all around.

clap [klæp] (pt & pp clapped, cont clapping) \diamond n -1. the sound made by a person hitting the flat part of their hands together, often to show approval; the act of hitting one's hands together in this way. -2. a clap of thunder a sudden loud noise made by thunder.

\diamond vt -1. to hit <one's hands> together once or repeatedly, often to show approval \square "Let's begin!" she said, clapping her hands. -2. to put <sb/sthg> somewhere firmly \square She clapped her hand to her mouth.

\diamond vi [audience, crowd] to clap one's hands \square Everybody clapped wildly when she finished singing.

clapboard [US 'klæbrd, GB 'klæpbɔ:d] n US wooden boards fixed in rows to the outside of a building to protect it from the weather \square a clapboard house.

clapperboard ['klæpə'bɔ:d] n a small black board, made of two pieces of wood that

- make a loud noise at the beginning of each scene when a movie is being made, so that the picture can be matched with the sound.
- clapping ['klæpɪŋ] n the act or sound of hitting the flat part of one's hands together, often to show approval.
- claptrap ['klæptɹæp] n nonsense (informal use).
- claret [US 'klerət, GB 'klær-] n -1. a type of red wine that comes from the Bordeaux region in France. -2. a deep red color.
- clarification [US ,klerɪfɪ'keɪʃn, GB ,klær-] n: see clarify □ Your statement requires some clarification.
- clarify [US 'klerɪfaɪ, GB 'klær-] (pt & pp clarified) vt [matter, point, statement] to make <sthg> clear □ Could you clarify an earlier point for me...
- clarinet [US ,klerə'net, GB ,klær-] n a long thin musical instrument that is played by blowing into a mouthpiece with a reed in it.
- clarity [US 'klerəti, GB 'klærəti] n -1. [of an explanation, text] the quality of being clear and easy to understand □ I find this report somewhat lacking in clarity. -2. [of one's mind] the ability to understand something clearly □ I could now see things with greater clarity.
- clash [klæʃ] ◇ n -1. [of personalities] a strong contrast □ There is a personality clash between us. -2. [between people] a fight □ There were renewed clashes with the police. -3. [between forces] a disagreement □ a clash of interests. -4. [of metal] a loud noise like metal hitting metal □ the clash of cymbals. ◇ vi -1. [opinions, beliefs, policies] to be in conflict with each other □ This statement clashes with what was previously said. -2. [colors, styles] to look unpleasant together □ That sofa clashes with the carpet. -3. [protesters, rival groups] to fight □ Demonstrators clashed with police. -4. [colleagues, politicians] to argue with each other □ We clashed on a number of points. □ I've clashed with him about policy before. -5. [appointments, events] to happen at the same time, so that it is not possible to go to both □ The conference clashes with our meeting. -6. [cymbals] to make a loud metallic noise.
- clasp [US klæsp, GB klɔ:sp] ◇ n a metal fastener that holds the two ends or sides of a belt, necklace, bracelet etc together. ◇ vt to hold <sb/sthg> tightly □ She clasped the table as if she was going to fall.
- class [US klæs, GB klɑ:s] ◇ n -1. [in a school, college] a group of students who are learning together □ They're a good class. □ In my class there were only 10 students. -2. [in a subject] a lesson or series of lessons □ a French/evening class. -3. [in society] a group in society whose members have similar status □ He comes from the lower/upper class. □ a member of the middle classes □ the class system □ class conflict. -4. [of animals, plants, objects] a group of things that share the same set of characteristics □ A lion is an animal of the class "Mammalia". -5. a particular level of quality □ business class passengers □ second-class accommodations ■ to be in a class of one's own to be much better at something than other people □ As far as translations go, she's in a class of her own. -6. to have class to have style and elegance (informal use) □ He's got a lot of class. ◇ vi to class sb as sthg to consider sb to be sthg □ Even though he's been playing for two years, he's still classed as a beginner.
- classic ['klæsɪk] ◇ adj -1. [example, mistake, case] very typical □ What you are seeing here are the classic symptoms of schizophrenia. -2. [book, work of art, movie] that is of very high quality and is used as a standard in judging other works of a similar kind □ Charles Dickens' classic story of nineteenth-century England. ◇ n a classic book, movie, play etc □ a classic in French cinema.
- ◆ classics npl Latin and Greek language, literature, and culture as a subject of study.
- classical ['klæsɪkl] adj -1. [literature, ballet, architecture] that is based on traditional methods or principles. -2. [poetry, civilization, sculpture] that is connected with the civilizations of Ancient Greece and Rome.
- classical music n a serious traditional kind of music played only on instruments invented a long time ago.
- classification [,klæsɪfɪ'keɪʃn] n -1. the act or system of putting information, things, facts etc into groups so that they can be found easily or understood better □ What is now needed is classification of the relevant documents. -2. a group into which information, things, facts etc are put □ They've added a new classification.
- classified ['klæsɪfaɪd] adj [information, document, material] that has been declared secret by a government.
- classified ad n a small advertisement in a newspaper, usually placed by an individual or small business, that offers goods for sale, employment, services etc, or which asks for employment, goods etc.
- classify ['klæsɪfaɪ] (pt & pp classified) vt [plant, animal, book] to put <sthg> in a particular group of things of a similar type so that it can be found easily or understood better □ Cars are classified according to engine capacity and value. □ Such people are usually classified as villains.
- classless [US 'klæsɪəs, GB 'klɑ:s-] adj [society] in which divisions between social classes are not important.
- classmate [US 'klæsmeɪt, GB 'klɑ:s-] n a person who one studies with in the same class.
- classroom [US 'klæsru:m, GB 'klɑ:s-] n a room in a school where teaching takes place.
- classy [US 'klæsi, GB 'klɑ:si] (compar classier, superl classiest) adj [car, person] that one thinks is stylish and attractive (informal use).
- clatter ['klætə] ◇ n the unpleasant noise made by several hard objects knocking against each other or against something else □ the clatter of pots and pans. ◇ vi to make a clatter □ The carriage clattered over the cobblestones.
- clause [klɔ:z] n -1. LAW a section in a legal document □ They've added a clause to protect maternity rights. -2. GRAMMAR a part of a sentence that contains at least a verb and a subject □ a subordinate/main clause.

claustrophobia [ˌklɔːstrəˈfɔʊbjə] n a strong feeling of anxiety one has when one is in a small enclosed space or among a crowd of people.

claustrophobic [ˌklɔːstrəˈfɔʊbɪk] adj -1. [room, atmosphere] that gives one a feeling of claustrophobia □ It's getting rather claustrophobic in here. -2. to be claustrophobic to suffer from claustrophobia □ I began to feel extremely claustrophobic.

claw [klɔː] ◇ n -1. [of an animal, bird] one of the sharp curved nails at the end of an animal's paw or a bird's foot. -2. [of an insect] a curved part at the end of the legs of some insects and sea animals, e.g. a crab or scorpion, that opens and closes and is used mainly for catching food. ◇ vt to tear <sb/sthg> using claws □ The cat was clawing the sofa. ◇ vi to claw at sthg to pull or tear sthg using claws.

◆ claw back vt sep to claw money back GB to get money back, especially through taxation.

clay [kleɪ] n a substance, found in soil, that is soft and sticky when wet and hard when dry and is used to make pots, bricks etc.

clay pigeon shooting n the sport of shooting at small clay disks that are fired into the air by a machine.

clean [kliːn] ◇ adj -1. [shirt, room, floor] that has no marks or dirt; that has been washed or cleaned; [person] who keeps themselves and the place where they live free from dirt □ Are your hands clean? □ There are clean glasses on the shelf. □ He's very clean and neat. -2. [page, piece of paper] that has not been written on. □ Have you a clean sheet of paper? -3. LAW [record, driver's license] that does not have any legal offences recorded on it. ■ to come clean about sthg to admit sthg (informal use). -4. [joke, humor] that does not involve sex or anything considered immoral □ Look, it was just some good clean fun, nothing more. -5. [outline, design] simple in design □ The apartment is full of clean lines and white surfaces. -6. [cut, break] neat and regular. □ It's a clean fracture, so it will mend easily. -7. to be clean [person] to have stopped taking illegal drugs (informal use).

◇ adv completely (informal use) □ The bullet went clean through his chest. □ I clean forgot we were going out tonight.

◇ vt [house, window, clothes] to make <sthg> clean by washing, sweeping, scrubbing etc □ Don't forget to clean the car.

◇ vi -1. to make something clean □ I've been cleaning all day. -2. to work as a cleaner □ She cleans for the Joneses.

◇ n the act of cleaning □ This room needs a good clean.

◆ clean out vt sep -1. to clean sthg out [room, cupboard, drawer] to make sthg clean and tidy, especially by throwing out all the things that one no longer needs. -2. to clean sb/sthg out [person, house] to take or steal everything, e.g. money or possessions, from sb/sthg (informal use).

◆ clean up vt sep to clean sthg up [room, house] to make sthg clean and neat □ I tried to clean everything up before they came home. □ You really should clean yourself up. ■ to clean sthg up [mess, debris] to get rid of sthg by washing, wiping etc.

clean-cut adj [boy, man] who looks neat and tidy in a way that makes one think they are honest.

cleaner ['kliːnə] n -1. [in a house, office] a person whose job is to clean people's houses, offices etc □ an office cleaner. -2. [for a kitchen, bathroom] a substance that is used for cleaning □ a floor cleaner □ oven cleaner. -3. a machine that is used for cleaning something □ a carpet cleaner. -4. the cleaner's the dry cleaner's □ My coat is at the cleaner's.

cleaning ['kliːnɪŋ] n the activity of making a house, office etc clean □ I have to do the cleaning before I leave.

cleaning lady n a woman whose job is to clean people's houses, offices etc.

cleanliness ['klienlɪnəs] n the habit of keeping things or oneself clean □ Cleanliness is something I'm particularly fussy about.

clean-living adj [person] who leads a healthy life and does not smoke, drink, take drugs etc.

cleanly ['kliːnlɪ] adv [cut, break] see clean □ The plate broke cleanly down the middle.

cleanse [klenz] vt -1. [wound, skin] to make <sthg> completely clean □ He cleansed the cut with disinfectant. -2. to make <sb/sthg> free of something unpleasant or impure □ He felt the need to cleanse himself of the memory of this terrible weekend.

cleanser ['klenzə] n a lotion or liquid that is used for cleaning something, especially one's face □ a skin cleanser.

clean-shaven [-ˈjeɪvɪn] adj [man] who has no beard or moustache.

cleanup ['kliːnʌp] n the process of cleaning up □ a cleanup campaign/operation.

clear [kliə] ◇ adj -1. [light] that is strong and pure, and makes it easy to see; [sky, day] that is light and has no clouds; [color] light and bright; [eyes] that are not red, and look honest and calm; [water, air] that looks clean and fresh □ Everything looked different in the clear light of day. □ On a clear day you can see right across to the bay. □ His eyes were a beautiful clear blue. □ She had attractive eyes, clear and expressive. □ clear mountain streams. -2. [signal, explanation, argument] that is easy to understand □ The report's recommendations were brief and clear. □ I want you to leave, is that clear? ■ to make sthg clear to sb [feelings, opinion] to make sb understand sthg by using words, or in other ways □ I'd like to make clear my thoughts on the subject. ■ to make it clear that... to explain in a way that is easy to understand that... □ I made it clear that if her work didn't improve, she would have to go. ■ to make oneself clear to explain what one is trying to say, especially when this is unpleasant, in a way that is easy to understand □ Do I make myself clear? □ You've made yourself abundantly clear. -3. [difference, answer, improvement] that is easy to see, notice, or recognize □ It's clear to me that you haven't understood. □ We need to win by a clear majority. □ It's a clear case of racial prejudice. -4. [sound, voice, speaker] that is easy to hear □ The telephone line to Australia was amazingly clear. -5. [glass, plastic, liquid] that one can see through completely □ a clear gel. -6. [skin, complexion] that is healthy and has no spots. -7. [mind, thinking, idea] that is not confused □ I need a clear head to deal with statistics. □ I'm not quite clear on your reasons for leaving. -8. [road, desk, space] that is free of blockages or things that take up space; [week, hour] when one does not have work to do □ My garden is now clear of weeds. □ The highway is now clear after the accident. □ There's a clear view of the Alps. □ Please keep Fridays clear. -9. my/his conscience is clear, I have/he has a clear conscience I have/he has not done anything to feel guilty about. -10. a word used to say that a particular sum of money is what is left after expenses, taxes etc have been taken off □ We made a clear profit of $6000.

◇ adv to jump/stand clear to jump to/stand in another place so that one is not in the way □ Stand clear of the doors! ■ to steer clear of sb/sthg not to go near sb/sthg □ Steer clear of him — he's a bad influence.

◇ n to be in the clear not to be in danger □ The doctors told her she was now in the clear. ■ to put sb in the clear to show that sb cannot be guilty □ New evidence puts him in the clear.

◇ vt -1. [road, desk, space] to remove the blockages or things that take up space in or on <sthg> □ We cleared the table and sat down with a glass of whiskey. ■ to clear one's throat to cough to prepare oneself to speak, or to tell people that one is going to speak. -2. [fallen tree, ruins, mess] to remove <sthg that is in the way> □ The snow has now been cleared from main roads. -3. [fence, hurdle] to jump over <sthg> without touching it □ The pole-vaulter cleared three meters. -4. to clear a debt to pay money that one owes so that one does not have a debt any more. -5. [plan, proposal] to give permission for <sthg> □ The Governor has cleared the new airport. □ The plane was cleared for take off. -6. to be cleared of sthg [of a crime] to be not guilty of sthg □ Simpson was finally cleared of murder. □ She was cleared of all charges. ■ to clear one's name to prove that one has not committed a crime. -7. to be cleared [check] to be accepted by a bank after it has made sure that one has enough money in one's account.

◇ vi -1. [fog, mist, smoke] to gradually disappear □ When the mist cleared, the rocks were plainly visible. -2. [weather, sky] = clear up.

◆ clear away vt sep to clear sthg away [plates, books, mess] to remove sthg that is in the way □ If I clear away these magazines you can sit here.

◆ clear out ◇ vt sep to clear sthg out [room, drawer] to remove objects that are not useful any more from sthg; [belongings, clothes] to throw away sthg in this way □ I'm clearing out all my old books. □ I cleared out my office before I went on vacation. ◇ vi to leave a place (informal use) □ They cleared out without paying their bills.

◆ clear up ◇ vt sep -1. to clear sthg up [room, house] to make sthg tidy and clean; [mess, dishes] to remove sthg to make a place tidy and clean □ You'd better clear up your bedroom before your mother sees it. □ It'll take ages to clear up this mess. -2. to clear sthg up [dispute, misunderstanding] to end sthg by making or helping people to agree or understand each other; [mystery, problem] to find the answer to sthg that is difficult to understand or solve □ Let's clear up this matter once and for all. □ There's just one point I'd like you to clear up.

◇ vi -1. [weather, sky] to become sunny after a period of bad weather □ The rain cleared up and the sun came out. -2. [illness, infection] to be cured □ The rash will clear up in a few days. -3. [person] to make a place tidy and clean □ Don't forget to clear up after you've finished!

clearance ['klɪərəns] n -1. [of garbage, furniture] the removal of things that are not wanted or needed □ a company that organizes house clearances. -2. [to do something] permission □ The airplane was waiting for clearance to land. -3. [for a vehicle] the amount of space around a vehicle that allows it to move without hitting an object, building, or another vehicle.

clearance sale n a sale in which goods are sold at a reduced price, e.g. because a store is closing or because the owner wants to sell the stock quickly.

clear-cut adj [issue, division, advantage] that is simple and clear □ The choice is clear-cut: do we accept or not?

clear-headed [-'hedəd] adj [person] who is able to think clearly, especially in a difficult situation □ You need to stay clear-headed when you're under pressure.

clearing ['klɪərɪŋ] n an open space in the middle of a forest or wood.

clearing bank n GB a bank that serves ordinary customers, e.g. by transferring checks and money.

clearing house n -1. an organization that collects and distributes information □ a university clearing house. -2. FINANCE an institution where banks exchange checks, settle accounts etc.

clearing-up n the tidying and cleaning that is done after a meal, party etc.

clearly ['klɪəli] adv -1. [speak, think, explain] see clear. -2. a word used when one expects people to agree with what one is saying, or when something is easy to understand or see □ Frances Chadwick is clearly the best candidate for the job. □ The man was clearly nervous. □ Clearly there has been a mistake.

clearout ['kliərəʊt] n the act of throwing away a lot of unwanted things from one's house, office, room etc.

clear-sighted [-'saɪtəd] adj [person] who can understand things clearly and make sensible decisions.

clearway ['kliə'weɪ] n GB a road on which cars are not allowed to stop unless they have problems.

cleavage ['kli:vɪdʒ] n the space between a woman's breasts, especially when shown by a low-cut top or dress □ a dress that shows some cleavage.

cleaver ['kli:və] n a wide metal blade with a handle that is used especially for chopping meat □ a meat cleaver.

clef [klef] n a symbol (♩) or (♮) that is written at the beginning of a piece of music to indicate the pitch of the music.

cleft [kleft] n a crack or narrow opening in the ground or in a rock.

cleft palate n a medical condition in which somebody has a split along the roof of their mouth that makes it difficult to talk.

clematis ['klemətəs] n a plant with brightly-colored flowers that grows on walls or on other plants.

clemency ['klemənsɪ] n to show clemency to treat a criminal in a way that is not severe (formal use).

clementine ['kleməntaɪn] n GB a fruit similar to a small orange.

clench [klentʃ] vt to hold or squeeze <sthg> tightly ■ to clench one's fist to close one's fist tightly. ■ to clench one's teeth to close one's teeth together tightly.

Cleopatra [ˌkli:ə'pætrə] (69–30 BC) Queen of Egypt from 51 to 48 BC and 47 to 30 BC, and the lover of Julius Caesar and Mark Antony. She committed suicide.

clergy ['klɜ:dʒɪ] npl the clergy all the people who are specially trained to serve in the Christian Church, e.g. priests and bishops.

clergyman ['klɜ:'dʒɪmən] (pl clergymen [-mən]) n a man who is a member of the clergy.

cleric ['klerɪk] n a member of the clergy.

clerical ['klerɪkl] adj -1. [work, staff, job] that is connected with the routine administration of an office. -2. RELIGION [duty, matter] see clergy.

clerk [US klɜ:rk, GB klɔ:k] n -1. [in an office] a person whose job is to do the routine administrative tasks in an office, e.g. filing and keeping records □ an office/a filing clerk. -2. [in a court] a person who is in charge of keeping records in a court. -3. US [in a store] a sales assistant.

Cleveland ['kli:vlənd] -1. an industrial city in Ohio, USA, on Lake Erie. POPULATION: 505,616. -2. a county in northeastern England until 1996. SIZE: 583 sq kms. POPULATION: 554,500. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Middlesbrough.

clever ['klevə] adj -1. [idea, invention] that works well and shows the skill and intelligence of the person who thought of it □ a really clever little device. -2. [person] who is physically skillful □ I'm not very clever with my hands. -3. [politician, lawyer] who is good at using their intelligence to get what they want, sometimes in an unfair way □ It was a clever move, marrying the boss's daughter! -4. GB [person] who is quick to understand and learn things; [action, behavior] that shows intelligence □ She was always clever at school. □ That wasn't a very clever thing to do!

cleverly ['klevə'li] adv [arrange, manage] in a way that shows skill and intelligence □ a very cleverly worded statement.

cliché [US kli:'ʃeɪ, GB 'kli:ʃeɪ] n something that has been done, said, or thought so often before that it is not considered interesting or useful □ I was tired of hearing the same old clichés about equality and democracy.

click [kɪk] ◇ n a short quiet sound like a camera taking a picture □ I heard the click of the door behind me. ◇ vt to move or hit <one's fingers, heels> etc against each other to make a click □ "Waiter!" he said, clicking his fingers. ■ to click one's tongue to make a noise like a click with one's tongue against the top of one's mouth. ◇ vi -1. [camera, heels, telephone] to make a click □ The gate clicked shut behind him. -2. it suddenly or all clicked it suddenly became clear (informal use) □ It suddenly clicked what was going on.

◆ click on vt fus COMPUTING to click on sth [icon, word] to press the button on a mouse in order to select sth on a screen □ Click on "maximize".

client [ˌklaɪənt] n a person or organization that buys services or goods from a business or individual □ Manfred & Co are one of our best clients.

clientele [US 'klaɪəntel, GB 'kli:nt-] n the customers or clients of a business or individual □ They have a very select clientele.

client-server comp [technology, database] that uses a central computer to provide services for other computers on the same network.

cliff [klɪf] n a wall or very steep slope made of rock, especially on a coast.

cliffhanger ['klɪfhæŋgə] n a part of a book, movie etc in which it seems that something very dramatic is going to happen, but that makes one wait to see what happens.

climactic [klaɪ'mæktɪk] adj [moment, point] that is especially exciting or important, usually because it is near or at the end of something.

climate ['klaɪmət] n -1. WEATHER the kind of weather conditions that an area, country etc normally has □ a cold/warm/tropical climate. -2. [in society] the kind of situation created by the way a group of people feel about a particular subject at a particular time □ I don't think that would be wise, given the current political climate.

climatic [klaɪ'mætɪk] adj [conditions, change] that is connected with the climate of a place □ climatic changes owing to the greenhouse effect.

climax ['klaɪmæks] n -1. [of an event] the most exciting or important point in an experience, event, or series of events, which usually comes at or near the end □ The climax of his career came when he won the Nobel Prize. -2. [during sex] the point at which a person reaches the highest level of physical pleasure during sex.

climb [klaɪm] ◇ n -1. [by a person] the act of climbing □ The climb took three hours. -2. a hill, slope etc that one climbs □ a steep climb. ◇ vt [tree, ladder, mountain] to go up <sthg> toward the top □ the first woman to climb K2. ◇ vi -1. [person] to climb up/over/into etc sthg to move carefully up/over/into etc sthg, often with difficulty □ She climbed out of bed. -2. [plant] to grow in an upward direction □ The ivy had started to climb up the walls. -3. [road, plane] to go upward □ The path began to climb steeply. -4. [price, cost] to increase □ Our profits have been steadily climbing all year.

◆ climb down vi GB [person] to change one's plans or admit that one was wrong, especially to avoid a serious conflict □ The newspaper finally climbed down over the allegations.

climb-down n GB an act of climbing down □ The company's change of policy should not be seen as a climb-down.

climber ['klaɪmər] n a person who climbs mountains, hills, rocks etc □ an experienced climber.

climbing ['klaɪmɪŋ] n the activity or sport of going up mountains, hills, rocks etc □ I took up climbing ten years ago.

climbing frame n GB a metal, plastic, or wooden structure of bars on which children can play and climb.

climbing plant n a plant that grows upward on walls or other plants.

climes [klaɪmz] npl sunnier/warmer etc climes a sunnier/warmer etc part of the world (literary use).

clinch [klaɪntʃ] vt [argument, deal, victory] to finally succeed in winning <sthg> □ We're about to clinch a deal with a Polish company to supply the parts. □ The team clinched the title with a last-minute goal.

cling [klaɪŋ] (pt & pp clung) vi -1. [person] to hold on very tightly to somebody or something □ We clung on, hoping to be rescued. -2. [clothes, smell] to stick or stay close to somebody □ His wet shirt was clinging to his chest. -3. to cling to sb to be very dependent on sb emotionally and spend a lot of time with them so that they have little freedom □ She's five, but she still clings to her mother. ■ to cling to sthg [to a principle, hope, idea] to continue to believe in sthg even if it is no longer appropriate □ He had clung for so long to a belief in the value of honesty and hard work.

clingfilm ['klaɪŋfɪlm] n GB very thin transparent plastic that is put over food to keep it fresh.

clinging ['klaɪŋɪŋ] adj -1. [child, wife] who clings to somebody. -2. [clothing] that fits or sticks closely to the body □ a clinging dress.

clinic ['klaɪnɪk] n a place, often part of a hospital, where people go to be treated and to receive advice for particular medical problems □ a baby/a chest/an eye clinic.

clinical ['klaɪnɪkl] adj -1. MEDICINE [training, examination, test] that is connected with real patients rather than theory □ She works as a clinical psychologist. -2. [person, approach] that shows no emotion □ The program dealt with the issue in a fairly clinical way. -3. [room, furniture] that is simple, practical, and has no character or warmth □ Her plain white walls simply looked clinical.

clinically ['klaɪnɪklɪ] adv [examine, test, approach] see clinical □ He was clinically depressed at the time.

clink [klaɪŋk] ◇ n a short quiet sound like that of two bottles hitting each other lightly □ the clink of glasses. ◇ vi [cups, glasses, bottles] to make a clink.

clip [klaɪp] (pt & pp clipped, cont clipping) ◇ n -1. a small device for holding things such as pieces of paper together, or for keeping something such as one's hair in place. □ She fastened the papers together with a clip. -2. a short part of a movie or TV program that is shown separately, e.g. for publicity. □ They showed a clip of "Star Wars".

◇ vt -1. [paper, badge] to fasten <sthg> to something else with a clip □ He clipped the papers together. -2. [hedge, hair] to cut <sthg> so that it is short and tidy □ The blackberry bushes need clipping. ■ to clip an article to cut an article out of a newspaper, magazine etc. -3. [person, animal] to hit <sb/sthg> lightly (informal use) □ The ball just clipped the edge of the post.

◆ clip on vi [tie, microphone, earring] to be designed so that it can be fixed to something else with a clip.

clipboard ['klaɪpbɔːrd] n a small board with a clip at the top that holds pieces of paper in place so that one can write on them while standing.

clip-on adj [earring, bow-tie, badge] that clips on to something.

clipped [klaɪpt] adj -1. [voice, speech, accent] that makes words sound very short. -2. [hair, moustache] that is cut to a short tidy length.

clippers ['klaɪpəz] npl a tool or machine for clipping hair, nails, or grass □ a pair of nail clippers.

clipping ['klaɪpɪŋ] n an article or section that has been cut from a newspaper or magazine □ a pile of newspaper clippings.

clique [klaɪ:k] n a group of people who behave as if they are special and do not accept other people as part of their group.

clitoris ['klaɪtərəs] n a part of the woman's sexual organs that is found just above the vagina and that causes pleasurable feelings and orgasm during sex.

cloak [klaʊk] ◇ n -1. a piece of clothing like a coat without sleeves that is worn around the shoulders and fastened at the neck. -2. something that is used to keep an activity, intention etc secret □ The business is a cloak for drug-dealing. ◇ vt to be cloaked in sth [in mist, mystery] to be covered by sth in a way that hides it.

cloak-and-dagger adj [behavior, story] that involves mystery and secrecy in a way that is often unnecessary.

cloakroom ['kloukrum] n -1. a place in a restaurant, museum, theater etc where one can leave one's coat, hat, or bags □ a cloakroom attendant. -2. GB a toilet in a public building (polite use).

lobber ['klɒbər] vt (informal use) -1. [with one's fists, a stick] to hit <sb> hard. -2. SPORT & GAMES to beat <sb> easily in a race, competition etc.

clock [klɒk] n -1. [for telling the time] an instrument that is usually kept in one place to show the time, especially one that has the numbers 1 to 12 arranged in a circle with two separate pieces that point to the numbers □ the church clock □ The clock said five to four. □ That clock is fast/slow. □ a digital clock. ■ around OR round the clock [work] all day and all night □ Our lines are kept open around the clock. ■ to do sth against the clock to do sth as quickly as possible, because one is running out of time □ It was a race against the clock. ■ to put the clock forward/back to change the time on a clock to be later/earlier than it was. ■ to turn OR put back the clock to return to a situation that existed in the past □ Things are different now. You can't turn back the clock. -2. AUTO the clock the device in a car that shows how far the car has traveled or the speed the car is traveling at □ The car has 60,000 miles on the clock. □ We were doing 180 mph by the clock.

◆ clock in vi [worker] to record the time at which one arrives at work, usually by putting a card into a device that marks the time on it.

◆ clock off vi GB = clock out.

◆ clock on vi = clock in.

◆ clock out vi US [worker] to record the time at which one leaves work, usually by putting a card into a device that marks the time on it.

◆ clock up vt fus to clock up a number/amount to achieve or reach a total number/amount □ We clocked up 800 miles in just one day. □ They've clocked up a whole series of victories.

clock radio n a type of alarm clock with a radio that can be set to switch itself on at a particular time.

clockwise ['klɒkwɪz] ◇ adj [direction, movement] that is in the same direction as the movement of the hands of a clock □ Traffic circulates in a clockwise direction. ◇ adv [move, turn, walk] Turn the switch clockwise.

NOTE: Compare anticlockwise, counterclockwise.

clockwork ['klɒkwɜ:k] ◇ n to go like clockwork [operation, event] to happen as planned and without problems. ◇ comp [toy, model] that has a mechanism which is operated by turning a key to make it move.

clod [klɒd] n a lump of earth □ a clod of earth.

clog [klɒg] (pt & pp clogged, cont clogging) vt [road, pipe, mechanism] to block or fill <sth> so that it does not work properly and movement is very difficult □ The gears on my bike are completely clogged with oil.

◆ clogs npl shoes that have a wooden bottom and leather upper part or are made only of wood □ a pair of clogs.

◆ clog up ◇ vt sep = clog □ The amount of mail has clogged up our delivery system. ◇ vi [road, pipe, mechanism] Every winter the drains clog up with leaves.

clogged [klɒgd] adj [road, pipe, mechanism] that does not work properly because it is blocked.

cloister ['klɔɪstə] n a covered passage that goes around a square garden or courtyard in a church, monastery etc.

cloistered ['klɔɪstəd] adj to lead a cloistered life OR existence to live without seeing or having the problems or fun of ordinary life (literary use).

clone [kloun] ◇ n -1. SCIENCE an animal or plant that has been artificially produced from the cells of another animal or plant and is exactly the same as the original one. -2. [of a person] a person who looks or acts exactly like somebody else and so is not taken seriously. -3. COMPUTING a copy of a computer or circuit that operates in the same way as the original one. ◇ vt TECHNOLOGY to produce <an animal or plant> artificially as a clone of another animal or plant.

close¹ [kloʊs] ◇ adj -1. to be close [person, event, place] to be only a short distance away in time or space □ I was so close I could have touched him. □ Christmas is getting closer. □ Stay close to me. ■ to be close to tears to be almost crying. ■ that was a close shave OR thing OR call something unpleasant or dangerous almost happened □ I had a close shave with a bus on the way here. ■ close up, close to [be, come, stand] very near, so that one can see or hear properly □ The shoes looked really cheap when I saw them close up. ■ to be close by, close at hand [person, place, thing] to be very near □ Luckily, help was close at hand. □ Two women were sunbathing close by. -2. to be close [friends, family] to like each other, spend a lot of time together, and know each other well □ My sister and I are very close. □ He grew closer to his father during his last days. -3. [relative] who is one of the main members of one's family, e.g. a parent, brother, or sister. □ I'm a close relative of Miles Barraclough. -4. [involvement, cooperation] that involves people talking to each other regularly and often; [connection, resemblance] very strong □ The text was drawn up on close consultation with Mr Marsh himself. □ The organization has close links with the Church. □ She bears a very close resemblance to her father. -5. [observation, questioning, study] that is detailed and careful □ Let's take a closer look. □ The police are keeping a close watch on him. □ Closer examination revealed traces of blood on the clothing. -6. [weather, atmosphere, room] that is too warm and lacks fresh air □ It's very close in here; do you mind if I open a window? -7. [fight, race, vote] in which both sides have almost the same number of points □ It's going to be a close contest.

◇ adv [stay, come, live] near □ We all stood close together. □ Hold me close. □ They live quite close to London.

◇ n GB a quiet road with houses, closed at one end.

◆ close on, close to prep slightly less than  □ Close on 4,000 people turned up.

close² [kloʊz] ◇ vi -1. [door, lid, book] to shut <sthg> so there is no longer a gap, passage etc □ They've closed the road through the mountains. □ Close your eyes and go to sleep. -2. [factory, mine, store] = close down □ There are plans to close five more hospitals. ■ to close an account to remove all the money from an account and stop using it. -3. [speech, meeting, case] to make <sthg> finish □ Let's close the subject, shall we?

◇ vi -1. [door, lid, eyes] to move so that there is no longer a gap, passage etc □ I heard the door close behind me. -2. [store, library, museum] to stop being open to the public, usually for a short time □ What time does the bank close? -3. [factory, mine, store] = close down □ The shipyard closed last year with the loss of 500 jobs. -4. [discussion, performance, offer] to come to an end □ We close with a piece of music by Bach. □ 'Sale closes March 31.' -5. FINANCE [shares, currency] to be worth a particular price at the end of a day's trading □ The dollar closed at 0.5c down on the Mark.

◇ n the close of business/play the end of business/play on a particular occasion □ The pound stood at $1.53 at close of business yesterday. □ The meeting was drawing to a close. □ The chairman brought the debate to a close.

◆ close down ◇ vt sep to close sthg down [factory, company, mine] to cause sthg to stop operating permanently □ They had to close down the family business. ◇ vi [factory, company, mine] When did the steelworks close down?

◆ close in vi to close in on sb/sthg to surround sb/sthg gradually from all sides in a threatening way □ Government forces are closing in on the rebels. □ The darkness closed in around them.

◆ close off vt sep to close sthg off [room, road, area] to stop people from using or going into sthg □ Security men closed off the surrounding streets.

close-cropped [,kloʊz'krɒpt] adj [hair] that has been cut very short.

closed [kloʊzd] adj -1. [door, window, eyes] not open □ Keep the window closed — it's cold otherwise. -2. [store, bank, library] not open to the public □ I'm sorry, we're closed for lunch. □ This road is closed to traffic. -3. [society, world] that is not open to outside influences or to other people □ They have a fairly closed circle of friends.

closed-circuit television n a television system that is used to observe people, usually for security purposes, inside a store, parking lot etc.

closedown ['kloʊzdaʊn] n -1. the act of stopping all work, e.g. in a factory. -2. GB the time when a TV or radio station stops broadcasting for the night.

closed shop n a workplace, e.g. a factory or company, where workers must belong to a particular labor union.

close-fitting [ˌkloʊs-] adj [dress, top] that is tight and shows the shape of one's body □ She was wearing a pair of close-fitting pants.

close-knit [ˌkloʊs-] adj [family, village, community] closely united by social, political, or religious connections.

closely ['kloʊslɪ] adv [follow, watch, listen] see close □ He's closely related to the Kennedy family. □ She's very closely involved with our work.

closeout ['kloʊzaut] n US a sale of all the goods of a business that is closing down, usually at reduced prices.

close quarters [ˌkloʊs-] npl at close quarters from a position that is very near □ The building looks very different at close quarters.

close season ['kloʊs-] n GB a period during each year when particular animals, birds, or fish are not allowed to be killed for sport.

closet ['kloʊzət] ◇ n a cabinet or small room that is used for hanging and storing clothes, tools etc □ Hang it up in the closet. ◇ vt to be closeted with sb to be in a room with sb and have a private conversation with them. ◇ comp [belief, feeling] that one hides from other people as a secret. ■ a closet homosexual/fascist etc a person who is a homosexual/fascist etc but who does not want to admit it □ He's suspected of being a closet socialist.

close-up ['kloʊs-] n a photo or way of filming that shows somebody or something from a short distance away so that one can see a lot of detail □ Here we see a photo of the wing in close-up. □ a close-up shot.

closing ['kloʊzɪŋ] adj [remark, speech, stage] that comes near the end of something □ We are now in the closing stages of the competition.

closing date n the last date on which people can ask for something □ The closing date for applications is May 6.

closing price n the final price of shares at the end of the day on a stock exchange.

closing time n the time at which a store, bar etc closes in the evening.

closure ['kloʊzə] n -1. [of a business] the act of closing a business, company etc permanently □ factory closures □ After the closure of the Detroit plant... -2. [of a road] the act of blocking a road, railroad track etc in order to stop people from using it □ lane closures on the highway.

clot [klɒt] (pt & pp clotted, cont clotting) ◇ n a lump that forms in a liquid such as blood or milk □ a blood clot. ◇ vi [blood, milk] to form clots.

cloth [klɒθ] n -1. a fabric that is made by weaving or knitting materials such as cotton, wool, or nylon □ a piece of cloth. -2. a - piece of cloth used for a particular purpose, e.g. cleaning, drying, or covering something □ Wipe it up with a cloth. □ a floor cloth.

- cloth cap n a soft flat cap, worn by men and usually made of wool. It is often used as a symbol of the British working class.
- clothe [kloʊð] vt (formal use) -1. to provide clothes for <sb>. -2. to dress <sb> in clothes.
- clothes [kloʊz] npl the things that a person wears to cover parts of their body, e.g. trousers, shirt, or socks □ Andrea took off all her clothes and jumped in. □ He had no clothes on.
- clothes basket n a basket in which one puts clothes that need to be washed.
- clothes brush n a brush that is used to remove dust, mud, hairs etc from clothes.
- clotheshorse ['kloʊzho:ʔs] n a frame on which one hangs wet clothes inside a house until they are dry.
- clothesline ['kloʊzlaɪn] n a piece of rope or cable on which one hangs wet clothes outside until they are dry.
- clothespin ['kloʊzpin] US, clothes peg GB n a small device made of wood or plastic that is used for holding clothes on a clothesline.
- clothing ['kloʊðɪŋ] n the things that a person wears to cover parts of their body □ You'll need warm clothing. □ a piece of clothing □ items OR articles of clothing □ the clothing industry.
- clotted cream [ˌklɒtəd-] n thick cream that is made by heating milk slowly and taking the cream from the top.
- cloud [klaʊd] ◇ n -1. [in the sky] a white or gray mass of water vapor that floats in the sky □ The sun disappeared behind a cloud. □ There was not a cloud in the sky. □ a thunder cloud. ■ to be under a cloud to be disliked and not trusted because of something one has done □ I'm afraid he left under a cloud. -2. [of smoke, dust] a mass of smoke, dust, gas etc that floats in the air.
 ◇ vt -1. [window, glass] to cover <sthg> with mist so that one can no longer see through it □ The steam clouded the mirror. -2. [memory, happiness, day] to spoil <sthg> by making it sad □ My happiness was clouded only by the thought that Lewis could not be with us. -3. to cloud the issue to make something more complicated and difficult to understand or deal with.
- ◆ cloud over vi -1. [sky] to become covered with clouds. -2. [face] to become sad or worried.
- cloudburst ['klaʊdbɜ:ʔst] n a sudden heavy fall of rain.
- cloudless ['klaʊdləs] adj [sky] that has no clouds in it □ a sunny cloudless day.
- cloudy ['klaʊdi] (compar cloudier, superl cloudiest) adj -1. [day, sky] that has a lot of clouds □ It looks pretty cloudy today. -2. [beer, water] not clear.
- clout [klaʊt] (informal use) ◇ n -1. [with one's hand] a blow with one's hand or with an object in one's hand. -2. [of a person] the ability to get things done using one's influence □ Irving has a lot of clout with the local authorities.
 ◇ vt to hit <sb> with one's hand or with an object in one's hand.
- clove [kloʊv] n -1. a kind of spice that is brown and hard, looks like a tiny twig, and is a dried flower bud. -2. a clove of garlic one of the small parts of a bulb of garlic.
- clover ['kloʊvəʔ] n a small wild plant with three or sometimes four leaves on each stem and pink or white flowers.
- clown [klaʊn] ◇ n -1. [in a circus] a performer, usually in a circus, who wears loose brightly-colored clothes, has a painted face, and does silly things to make people laugh □ a circus clown. -2. a person who one thinks behaves in a silly way. ◇ vi to behave in a silly way □ Will you stop clowning around!
- clotyping ['kloʊɪŋ] adj [small, sentiment] that is intended to be pleasant but is too sweet or sentimental.
- club [klʌb] (pt & pp clubbed, cont clubbing) ◇ n -1. [for people] an organization that people belong to because they have the same interest or do the same activity; a place where the members of this organization meet □ a sports/bridge/theater club □ a club member. -2. [for dancing] = nightclub. -3. [for hitting a person] a kind of thick stick made of wood, metal etc with a rounded end that is used as a weapon □ a wooden club. -4. [for golf] a long thin stick with a rounded head made of metal or wood that is used for hitting golf balls. ◇ vt to hit  with a club □ The seals are clubbed to death with sticks.
- ◆ clubs npl one of the four suits in a set of playing cards whose symbol (♣) is black and looks like three round leaves on a stem.
- ◆ club together vi GB [group of people] to join together to pay for something together □ We're clubbing together to buy him a present.
- club car n US a section of a train where food and drink are sold.
- clubhouse ['klʌbhaʊs, pl -haʊzɪz] n a building where members of a sports club meet.
- club sandwich n a sandwich made of three slices of bread with food in between.
- club soda n = soda water.
- cluck [klʌk] vi -1. [hen] to make a short quiet noise. -2. [person] to make a short quiet noise with one's tongue to express an emotion, e.g. sympathy or disapproval.
- clue [klu:] n something, e.g. an object or a piece of information, that helps one to solve a problem, crime, or mystery □ No clues were found on the body. □ Could you just give me a clue? □ The clue to understanding her is her family. □ a crossword clue. ■ I don't have a clue an expression used to emphasize the fact that one does not know something □ I don't have a clue where she went. ■ he doesn't have a clue he is very bad at doing something □ You don't have a clue how to treat people!
- clueless ['klu:ləs] adj [person] who does not know anything about a particular subject or is unable to do something practical (informal use).

clump [klʌmp] ◇ n -1. [of plants] a small group of trees, bushes, flowers etc that grow together. -2. [of feet] a heavy dull noise □ the clump of boots. ◇ vi to walk very heavily and slowly.

clumsily ['klʌmzɪli] adv [move, apologize] see clumsy □ a clumsily worded statement.

clumsy ['klʌmzi] (compar clumsier, superl clumsiest) adj -1. [person, movement, gesture] that is awkward, careless, and may cause an accident □ How clumsy of me! I'm so sorry. -2. [machine, tool] that has a shape which makes it difficult to use □ a clumsy-looking device. -3. [remark, apology] that is careless and likely to offend or annoy somebody □ He made a clumsy attempt to apologize.

clung [klʌŋ] past tense & past participle of cling.

clunk [klʌŋk] n a deep low sound made when two heavy objects hit against each other.

cluster ['klʌstə] ◇ n [of people, objects] a small group of people, houses, trees etc that stand close together; [of fruit] a number of grapes, flowers etc that grow together. ◇ vi [people] to gather close together in groups; [houses, trees] to stand close together in groups □ They clustered around the table, waiting for food.

clutch [klʌtʃ] ◇ n the pedal in a car that one presses before changing gear; the mechanism operated by this pedal. ◇ vi to hold <sthg> tightly, often because one is anxious or afraid □ Tom clutched his mother's hand in the crowd. □ She was clutching her bag nervously. ◇ vi to clutch at sb/sthg to try to catch hold of sb/sthg.

◆ clutches npl in the clutches of sb under the control of sb □ I managed to escape from the clutches of my relatives.

clutch bag n a handbag with no handle that is usually carried under one's arm or in one's hand.

clutter ['klʌtə] ◇ n a lot of untidily arranged and often useless things in a room, drawer etc □ The room was filled with clutter. ◇ vt to be cluttered [room, space, mind] to be filled with useless things in a disordered way.

Clyde¹ [klaɪd]: the Clyde a river in Scotland that flows through Glasgow.

Clyde² [klaɪd] → Bonnie and Clyde.

cm n abbr of centimeter.

CND (abbr of Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament) n a British organization that is against the use of nuclear weapons.

CNN (abbr of Cable News Network) n an American cable television station that only broadcasts news.

co- [kou] prefix added to words to show that something is shared or done with another person □ a co-worker.

c/o abbr of care of.

Co. [kou] -1. abbr of company. -2. abbr of county.

CO ◇ n -1. abbr of commanding officer. -2. (abbr of Commonwealth Office) the British government department responsible for Commonwealth affairs. -3. abbr of conscientious objector. ◇ abbr of Colorado.

coach [koutʃ] ◇ n -1. a large closed vehicle pulled by horses. -2. RAIL a vehicle for carrying passengers that forms part of a train. -3. SPORT a person who is in charge of training and who improves the skills of a player or team □ a football/tennis coach. -4. EDUCATION a teacher who gives somebody lessons in a particular skill or prepares them for an examination □ a voice/drama coach. -5. US AVIATION = coach class. -6. GB a bus used on long-distance routes and for touring, trips etc □ a coach driver/trip/station. ◇ vt -1. SPORT [player, team] to act as a coach to <sb>. -2. EDUCATION [student] to give <sb> special help in preparing for an examination.

coach class n US a standard of service that provides the cheapest seats on a plane.

coaching ['koutʃɪŋ] n SPORT & EDUCATION the activity or profession of being a coach.

coagulate [kou'ægjəleɪt] vi [milk, blood] to thicken and form solid lumps.

coal [koul] n -1. a hard black substance, dug from the ground, that is burned to provide heat and power □ a piece of coal □ coal dust □ a coal fire □ the nation's coal reserves. -2. a piece of coal □ A red-hot coal fell out of the fire.

coalesce [kou'ales] vi [ideas, systems, parties] to mix and form a single thing.

coalface ['koulfeɪs] n the rock surface from which coal is cut in a mine.

coalfield ['koulfi:ld] n an area of a country that has a lot of coal underground.

coal gas n gas that comes from coal and is used for heating and lighting.

coalition [kou'əliʃn] n two or more nations, political parties, groups etc that are working together for a common aim □ a coalition of environmentalist groups □ a coalition government.

coalman ['koulmæn] (pl coalmen [-men]) n GB a person whose job is to deliver coal to people's houses.

coal merchant n a company that sells coal to people and delivers it to their houses.

coalmine ['koulmaɪn] n a mine that coal is dug from.

coalminer ['koulmaɪnə] n a person whose job is to dig for coal in a mine.

coalmining ['koulmaɪnɪŋ] n the work or business of getting coal from a mine □ an important coalmining area.

coarse [kɔ:'s] adj -1. [hair, sandpaper, fabric] that is rough and not fine, smooth, or delicate □ If the edges are too coarse, smooth them down first. -2. [remark, laugh, joke] that is vulgar and likely to be offensive; [person, behavior] that shows a lack of manners and politeness □ There's no need to use coarse language. □ Don't be so coarse.

coarse fishing n GB the activity of fishing for any freshwater fish apart from salmon or trout.

coarsen ['kɔ:'sn] ◇ vt [person, skin, texture] to make <sb/sthg> coarse. ◇ vi [person, texture] to become coarse.

coast [koust] ◇ n the area of land in a country

- that is beside the sea □ the East/West Coast of the USA □ an island off the coast of British Columbia □ a network covering the country from coast to coast. ◇ vi [vehicle] to move by going downhill without using the engine; [person] to continue one's work, life etc without effort and in a relaxed happy way □ We coasted down the hill. □ He was just coasting along, enjoying life.
- coastal ['koustl] adj [town, district, area] that is on or near the coast.
- coaster ['koustə] n a small mat that is placed under a glass or bottle to protect the surface of a table.
- coastguard ['koustgɑ:d] n -1. the coastguard an organization whose job is to watch the coast and the sea close to the shore of a particular country. -2. GB a member of the coastguard.
- coastline ['koustlaɪn] n the edge or shape of a coast.
- coat [kout] ◇ n -1. [for a person] a piece of clothing that is usually quite long and warm, has sleeves, and is worn over other clothing □ a winter/summer coat □ I left my keys in my coat pocket. -2. [of an animal] the fur or hair that covers an animal □ The dog had a glossy, healthy coat. -3. [of paint] a thin layer of paint, wax, varnish etc used to cover and protect a surface □ The wall will need two coats of paint. ◇ vt [surface, top] to cover <sthg> with a layer of paint, wax, varnish etc □ a chocolate-coated wafer □ Coat each surface thoroughly with glue.
- coat check n US a place in a museum, theater etc where one can leave one's coat.
- coat hanger n an object, usually in the shape of a triangle with a hook on top, that is used for hanging clothes on rails.
- coating ['koutɪŋ] n a layer of something that is spread evenly over a surface □ There was a thick coating of soot in the chimney □ a crisp sugar coating.
- coat of arms (pl coats of arms) n a design, usually on a shield, that represents a family, organization, town etc.
- coat stand n a tall pole with small hooks at the top to hang coats on.
- coauthor [,kəu'ɔ:θə] n one of two or more people who write a book together.
- coax [kəʊks] vt [child, horse] to persuade  to do something by speaking to them pleasantly and gently; [information, smile] to get <sthg> from somebody in this way □ He tried to coax them to sign or into signing the document. □ I managed to coax the cat down from the tree. □ Eventually I coaxed the full story out of her.
- coaxial cable [kəʊ,æksjəl] n an electrical cable that is used to carry high frequency signals for televisions or computers.
- cob [kɒb] n → corn on the cob.
- cobalt ['kəʊbɔ:lt] n -1. a green-blue color. -2. CHEMISTRY a hard silver-white metal used to make things blue or used with other metals to make alloys. SYMBOL: Co.
- cobble ['kɒbl] ◆ cobbles npl = cobblestones. ◆ cobble together vt sep GB to cobble sth together [agreement, draft, report] to make or prepare sth when one does not have much time, many materials etc.
- cobbled ['kɒblɪd] adj [road, street] that has a surface made of cobblestones.
- cobbler ['kɒblə] n a person whose job is to mend shoes.
- cobblestones ['kɒblstəʊnz] npl rounded stones that are laid down as a surface for streets, courtyards etc.
- Cobol ['kəʊbəl] (abbr of Common Business Oriented Language) n a computer programming language used mainly in business software.
- cobra ['kəʊbrə] n a poisonous snake found in Africa and Asia that can spread the skin of its neck into a kind of hood.
- cobweb ['kɒbweb] n a net of threads made by a spider in order to catch insects □ The cellar was full of cobwebs.
- Coca-ColaTM [,kəʊkə'kəʊlə] n a sweet, brown, fizzy, non-alcoholic drink from the USA.
- cocaine [kəʊ'keɪn] n an addictive drug that is usually illegal and is taken through the nose in the form of a white powder.
- cock [kɒk] ◇ n -1. a male chicken. -2. the male of a species of bird □ a cock pheasant. ◇ vt -1. to cock a gun to pull back the hammer of a gun to make it ready to shoot. -2. to cock one's head/hat etc to place one's head/hat etc at an angle.
- ◆ cock up[▽] vt sep GB to cock sth up to do sth very badly (very informal use).
- cock-a-hoop adj GB to be cock-a-hoop [person] to be extremely pleased and excited, usually because one has won or achieved something (informal use).
- cockatoo [,kɒkə'tu:] (pl cockatoos) n an Australian parrot with a crest of feathers on its head.
- cockerel ['kɒkrəl] n a young male chicken.
- cocker spaniel [,kɒkə'spi:] n a small dog with a round head, long ears, and a silky coat.
- cockeyed ['kɒkaid] adj (informal use) -1. [picture, hat] not straight. -2. [idea, plan] foolish and unlikely to work.
- cockfight ['kɒkfɑ:ɪt] n a fight, usually illegal, between two cocks with sharp metal spurs attached to their feet.
- cockle ['kɒkl] n a small edible shellfish in a rounded shell.
- Cockney ['kɒkni:] (pl Cockneys) n -1. a working-class person born in London, especially in the East End of London. -2. the dialect or accent spoken by Cockneys □ a Cockney accent.
- cockpit ['kɒkpɪt] n the compartment in a plane where the controls are situated.
- cockroach ['kɒkrəʊtʃ] n a large insect with a flat body that eats decaying food and is regarded as a pest in houses.
- cocksure [US ,kɒk'sʊə, GB -'fɔ:] adj [person] who is confident or certain in an arrogant way □ I dislike his cocksure attitude.

cocktail

cocktail ['kɒkteɪl] n a drink that is a mixture of various drinks shaken together in a container □ a cocktail bar/lounge.

cocktail dress n a woman's dress, usually short and elegant, that is worn at formal parties.

cocktail party n a party in the early evening, often quite formal and short, where cocktails and snacks are served.

cocktail shaker n a metal container in which a mixture of drinks is shaken together to make a cocktail.

cocktail stick n a small, thin, sharp stick of wood or plastic used for putting cherries, olives etc into cocktails or for serving small pieces of food at parties.

cock-up [∇] n GB something that has been done badly (very informal use).

cocky ['kɒki] (compar cockier, superl cockiest) adj [person] who is very confident and too proud of themselves (informal and disapproving use).

cocoa ['kəʊkəʊ] n -1. a brown powder made from a plant and used to make chocolate □ cocoa powder. -2. a hot drink made by mixing cocoa with milk or water.

cocunut ['kəʊkənʌt] n the large, egg-shaped, hairy nut of a kind of palm tree; the white part inside this nut that can be eaten □ cocunut oil/milk.

cocoon [kə'ku:n] ◇ n -1. [around an insect] the protective covering of silk threads formed around the larva of an insect or the eggs of spiders. -2. [around a person] something that forms a protective environment for a person □ The family house was a cocoon which he found it hard to leave. ◇ vt to make <sb> feel safe and protected □ In his little room, he felt cocooned from the outside world.

Cocos Islands ['kəʊkəs-]: the Cocos Islands a group of 27 coral islands in the Indian Ocean that belongs to Australia. POPULATION: 550.

cod [kɒd] (pl cod OR cods) n a large fish with white flesh that is mainly found in the North Atlantic and is eaten as food.

COD -1. (abbr of cash on delivery) a term that describes an arrangement in which goods are paid for when they are delivered. -2. abbr of collect on delivery.

code [kəʊd] ◇ n -1. [for communicating] a set of letters or symbols used in place of the ordinary alphabet to communicate information in a way that cannot be understood by other people □ a secret code. □ The message was sent in code. -2. [of rules] a set of rules that tell people the correct or sensible way to act in particular situations □ a code of behavior/conduct. -3. [in addresses, phone numbers] a set of letters, numbers, or symbols that identifies an address, phone number, credit card etc □ The code for that project is LE0916 □ a code number.

◇ vt -1. [message, signal] to translate <sthg> into a code. -2. [product, file] to identify or classify <sthg> using a code □ All documents are coded for ease of location.

coded ['kəʊdəd] adj [message, signal] that is written or sent in a code so that other people cannot understand it.

codeine ['kəʊdi:n] n a drug made from morphine that is used to relieve pain.

code name n a name used to keep the identity or nature of somebody or something a secret from other people.

code of practice n a set of rules that states how people in a particular profession or organization are supposed to conduct their business.

cod-liver oil n a type of oil, made from the liver of the cod, that contains a large amount of vitamins.

coed ['kəʊəd] ◇ adj abbr of coeducational (informal use). ◇ n -1. US (abbr of coeducational student) a female student at a mixed college. -2. GB abbr of coeducational school.

coeducational [,kəʊədʒə'keɪʃnəl] adj [school] that has members of both sexes as students.

coefficient [,kəʊi'fɪʃnt] n -1. MATH a number or factor by which a variable is multiplied in an equation. -2. PHYSICS a number that represents a particular quality of a substance under particular conditions □ the coefficient of expansion/viscosity.

coerce [kəʊ'ɜ:ʃs] vt to force <sb> to do something by using threats □ I was coerced into agreeing to the takeover.

coercion [kəʊ'ɜ:ʃn] n see coerce □ You will never achieve your aims by coercion.

coexist [,kəʊɪg'zɪst] vi [conditions, factors] to exist together at the same time or in the same place □ Cooperation can never coexist with suspicion.

coexistence [,kəʊɪg'zɪstəns] n: see coexist □ a peaceful coexistence between North and South.

C of C n abbr of chamber of commerce.

C of E n abbr of Church of England.

coffee ['kɒfi] n -1. a drink made by adding boiling water to roasted and ground coffee beans; a cup of this drink □ a cup of instant/filter coffee. □ Will you come for (a) coffee? -2. = coffee beans. -3. the brown granules or powder made from coffee beans and used to make coffee to drink □ a jar/can of coffee.

coffee bar n GB a café that serves coffee, other non-alcoholic drinks, and snacks.

coffee bean n the seed of a tropical plant that is collected, dried, and roasted in order to be used for making coffee.

coffee break n a rest period during work when people drink coffee.

coffee cup n a small cup for drinking coffee.

coffee grinder n = coffee mill.

coffee-maker n a small machine used for making coffee from ground coffee beans.

coffee mill n a machine for grinding coffee beans.

coffee morning n GB a social event in the morning at which coffee is served and which is often used as a way of raising money for a church or charity.

coffeepot ['kɒfɪpɒt] n a tall pot with a lid, used for serving coffee.

coffee shop n -1. a small restaurant on its own or inside a department store, hotel etc that serves drinks and light snacks. -2. a store that sells ground coffee, beans etc and sometimes serves drinks and snacks at tables.

coffee table n a low table usually placed in front of a sofa or chairs in a sitting room.

coffee-table book n a large attractive book, usually containing many pictures, that is meant to be looked at, not read.

coffer ['kɒfə] n a large strong box for keeping money in. ■ the coffers are full/empty there is a lot of money/no money to spend.

coffin ['kɒfn] n a long wooden box used for burying or cremating a dead person in.

cog [kɒg] n a wheel that has teeth around its edge that connect with similar teeth on another wheel to make a machine work. ■ a cog in the machine a person who plays an unimportant part in, and feels exploited by, a large organization.

cogent ['kɒdʒənt] adj [argument, reason] that is very persuasive and convincing.

cogitate ['kɒdʒəteɪt] vi to think very carefully about something (formal use).

cognac [US 'kɒnʒæk, GB 'kɒn-] n a type of French brandy; a glass of this drink.

cognitive ['kɒgnətɪv] adj [process, faculty] that is connected with the mind and its ability to learn □ cognitive psychology.

cogwheel ['kɒgwɪ:l] n = cog. cohabit [kəʊ'hæbət] vi [two people] to live together like a married couple (formal use) □ He was, at the time, cohabiting with his girlfriend.

coherent [kəʊ'hɪərənt] adj [argument, answer, speech] that is organized in a clear and logical way; [person] who is able to talk clearly and can be easily understood □ The article is organized in a perfectly coherent fashion. □ The more he drank, the less coherent he became.

coherently [kəʊ'hɪərəntli] adv [argue, answer, speak] see coherent □ The first candidate expressed herself clearly and coherently.

cohesion [kəʊ'hɪʒn] n: see cohesive □ We need greater cohesion among our local branches.

cohesive [kəʊ'hɪ:sɪv] adj [structure, group] that fits together well □ The new students now form a very cohesive group within the college.

cohort ['kəʊhɔ:ɪt] n a group of people who follow or support somebody (disapproving use).

COI (abbr of Central Office of Information) n the COI the British government department responsible for producing information about Britain for the public.

coil [kɔɪl] ◇ n -1. a coil of wire/rope/hair one of a series of circular sections into which a length of wire/rope/hair is wound □ Her hair fell in black coils. -2. ELECTRICITY a coil of wire carrying an electric current that is used in electric motors. -3. GB a contraceptive device that is fitted inside a woman's womb. ◇ vt [wire, rope, hair] to wind <sthg> into a coil □

He coiled the rope around his arm. ◇ vi [snake, rope, smoke] to form itself into a coil.

◆ coil up vt sep to coil sthg up [hose, wire, rope] to wind all of sthg into a coil.

coiled [kɔɪld] adj [rope, spring] that is wound into a coil.

coin [kɔɪn] ◇ n a piece of money in the form of a small, round, flat piece of metal □ a dollar coin. ◇ vt to invent  etc. ■ to coin a phrase a phrase used humorously when one says something that is not original and has been said many times before □ There was a free and frank exchange of views, to coin a phrase.

coinage ['kɔɪnɪdʒ] n -1. [of a country] the metal money used in a particular country. -2. [in speech, writing] a word or phrase that has been recently invented.

coin-box n GB a public telephone that is operated by coins but not by a card.

coincide [,kɔɪn'saɪd] vi -1. [events, meetings] to happen at the same time, usually by chance □ His arrival coincided with my visit. -2. [ideas, opinions] to be the same □ Her views coincided with mine.

coincidence [kəʊ'ɪnsɪdəns] n a situation where something happens by chance at the same time as something else □ By a strange coincidence, I found I was staying in the same hotel. □ It is no coincidence that they both turned up at the same time. □ What a coincidence!

coincidental [kəʊ'ɪnsə'dentl] adj that happens, exists etc by chance at the same time as something else □ Any similarity between the two designs is purely coincidental.

coincidentally [kəʊ'ɪnsə'dentli] adv a word used to say that something is coincidental □ Coincidentally, I was thinking exactly the same thing.

coin-operated [-ɒpəreɪtəd] adj [machine, phone] that works when one puts a coin into it.

coitus ['kɔɪtəs] n sexual intercourse (formal use).

coke [kəʊk] n -1. [for burning] a solid fuel used in fires that is made by removing gas from coal. -2. ▽ = cocaine (drugs slang).

CokeTM [kəʊk] n Coca-Cola; a glass, can, or bottle of this.

Col. abbr of colonel.

cola ['kəʊlə] n a sweet, brown, non-alcoholic drink with bubbles.

COLA ['kəʊlə] (abbr of cost-of-living adjustment) n US an amount of money added to salaries or social security payments to cover increases in the cost of living.

colander ['kɒləndə] n a bowl with holes in the bottom and sides that is used for washing food or separating it from liquid.

cold [kəʊld] ◇ adj -1. [drink, weather, room] that has a low temperature □ Turn the heat up, it's cold in here. ■ to be OR feel cold [person] to feel uncomfortable because the temperature is low. ■ to get cold [person] to begin to feel cold; [food, room, air] to lose heat. -2. [eyes, voice, stare] unfriendly and without emotion

□ He was given a cold reception by his colleagues. -3. [person] who does not seem to care about other people.

◇ n -1. MEDICINE a common illness whose symptoms are a sore throat, sneezing, coughing, and a headache □ I've got a cold. ■ to catch (a) cold to become ill with a cold □ Put your coat on or you'll catch a cold. -2. the cold cold air or weather □ Come in out of the cold.

cold-blooded [-'blʌdɪd] adj -1. [animal] whose body temperature goes up or down depending on the temperature of its surroundings. -2. [murder, crime] that is done in an intentional and cruel way. -3. [person] who does not seem to care if other people suffer or are upset.

cold call n BUSINESS a visit or phone call made by a salesperson to somebody who is not expecting it.

cold cream n a cosmetic cream used to clean and soften the skin, especially on the face.

cold cuts npl US slices of cooked meat, such as ham or salami, served cold.

cold feet npl to have/get cold feet to feel/start feeling that one does not want to do something one has planned, usually because one is afraid of failing (informal use) □ There are signs that the Australians are getting cold feet and may pull out of the deal.

cold front n the front of a mass of cold air that is moving into a mass of warmer air.
NOTE: Compare warm front.

cold-hearted [-'hɑ:rtəd] adj [person, refusal] that does not show any concern for people's feelings and so seems unkind.

coldly ['kəʊldli] adv [look, speak, behave] see cold □ "It's not my fault," she said coldly.

coldness ['kəʊldnəs] n: see cold □ Kate was puzzled by his coldness toward her.

cold shoulder n to give sb the cold shoulder to ignore sb and be unfriendly to them (informal use).

cold sore n a blister on the edge of one's lips that sometimes appears when one has a cold.

cold storage n storage, especially of food, at a low temperature in a refrigerator or freezer □ Food lasts longer if kept in cold storage.

cold sweat n sweat that is a result or sign of nervousness or fear □ I woke up in a cold sweat.

Cold War n the Cold War the political struggle between the USA and the USSR that started after World War II, and ended in 1990. Although both countries regarded each other as enemies, there was no actual fighting.

Coleridge ['kəʊlərɪdʒ], Samuel Taylor (1772–1834) a British poet and critic. He was a friend of Wordsworth, and one of the Romantics.

coleslaw ['kəʊlsɔ:] n a salad made of chopped raw cabbage, carrots, onions, and mayonnaise.

colic ['kɒlɪk] n a medical condition that causes sharp pains in the stomach and abdomen, and is usually suffered by young babies.

collaborate [kə'læbəreɪt] vi -1. [partners, colleagues] to work together on a particular project □ I'm collaborating with John OR John and I are collaborating on the basic design. -2. [person] to help or cooperate with an enemy who is occupying one's country □ He was accused of collaborating with the Nazis.

collaboration [kə'læbə'reɪʃn] n: see collaborate □ The timetable was worked out in close collaboration with our partners. □ He was accused of collaboration with the occupying forces.

collaborative [kə'læbərə'tɪv] adj [effort, project] that involves people or groups working together □ It's a collaborative venture between the USA and Mexico.

collaborator [kə'læbərə'tɔ:] n -1. [with other people] a person who collaborates with another person or other people on a project □ Sarah was my main collaborator on the encyclopedia. -2. [with the enemy] a person who collaborates with the enemy □ He was accused of being a collaborator.

collage [US kə'lɑ:ʒ, GB 'kɒlɑ:ʒ] n a method of making pictures by sticking photographs, pieces of paper, fabric etc onto a background; a picture made by this method.

collagen ['kɒlədʒən] n a type of protein that is used in women's face creams and can be injected into their lips to make them bigger.

collapse [kə'læps] ◇ vi -1. [building, structure, roof] to fall down suddenly □ The roof collapsed under the weight of the snow. -2. [company, government, marriage] to become unable to continue □ The bank collapsed last May with millions owed in bad debts. -3. MEDICINE [person] to fall down because one is tired or suddenly ill □ He collapsed in the street and was rushed to the hospital. -4. [table, chair, bed] to have the ability to fold so that it can be stored more easily □ The tripod collapses for easy storage.

◇ n -1. [of a building, structure] the act of collapsing □ What caused the bridge's collapse? -2. [of a company, government, marriage] a failure □ The system is on the verge of collapse. □ the changes that followed the collapse of the Soviet Union. -3. MEDICINE an inability to continue living normally because of mental or physical exhaustion; the act of falling over because one suddenly becomes ill.

collapsible [kə'læpsəbl] adj [table, chair, bed] that can collapse.

collar ['kɒlə] ◇ n -1. [of a shirt] the part of a shirt, jacket, coat etc that fits around the neck and that is usually folded □ My collar's too tight. □ What is your collar size? -2. [of a dog, cat] a band, usually made of leather, that is fitted around the neck of an animal. -3. [in a machine] an object shaped like a ring and used in a machine around a pipe, tube etc to hold something in place. ◇ vt to catch or capture <sb>, especially because they have done something wrong (informal use).

collarbone ['kɒlə'bəʊn] n the long bone that connects one's shoulder to the bottom of one's neck.

collate [kə'leɪt] vt -1. [information, evidence] to bring <facts> together and compare them. -2. [pages, photocopies] to put <pieces of paper> in the correct order.

collateral [kə'lætərəl] n something such as property, money, or goods that are used as security for a loan □ This stock was used as collateral for the loan.

colleague ['kɒli:ɡ] n a person one works with □ May I introduce my colleague, Bruce Roberts?

collect [kə'lekt] ◇ vt -1. [wood, files, information] to bring or gather <sthg> together from different places □ The teacher collected the exam papers. ■ to collect one's thoughts, to collect oneself to become calm and get one's thoughts into order. -2. [stamps, coins, butterflies] to get and keep <several things of the same type>, usually as a hobby □ My father collects antiques. -3. [washing, photographs, car] to go to a place in order to take <sb/sthg> from there to another place □ Can you collect me from the station? -4. [taxes, contributions, donations] to ask for and get <money> from people. ■ collect on delivery US a term that describes an arrangement in which goods are paid for when they are delivered.

◇ vi -1. [crowd, people] to gather together and form a group □ Several fans had collected outside the hotel. -2. [dust, leaves, dirt] to form a pile, layer etc over a period of time □ Rainwater had collected in the bottom of the trough. -3. [person] to ask people for money, usually for charity or to buy a gift for somebody □ I'm collecting on behalf of sick children.

◇ adv to call (sb) collect US to call somebody on the telephone so that the person who receives the call pays for it.

◆ collect up vt sep to collect things up to bring things together in one place □ Can you help me collect up the empty bottles?

collectable [kə'lektəbl] ◇ adj [antique, book] that is worth keeping or buying because it is valuable or interesting □ Early examples of her work are proving to be highly collectable. ◇ n a collectable object.

collected [kə'lektəd] adj -1. to be collected [person] to be calm and self-controlled □ He always stays cool, calm, and collected. -2. [works, poems] that are published together in one book □ "The Collected Writings of Joseph Roth."

collecting [kə'lektɪŋ] n the hobby of getting and keeping many examples of the same object □ coin collecting.

collecting tin n GB a box, usually with a slot in the top, into which people are asked to put donations for a charity.

collection [kə'lektʃn] n -1. [of stamps, coins, antiques] a group of objects of the same type that somebody has collected □ a stamp/record collection. -2. [of stories, poems] a group of short stories, poems etc, published in one book, by the same writer or on the same subject. -3. [of wood, files, information] the act of coming and taking something away □ Your photos will be ready for collection on Mon- day. □ The next (mail) collection is at noon. -4. [of money] money that is collected from many people for a charity, to buy somebody a present, or during a church service □ We're having a collection for her leaving present. -5. [of people] a group of people who have gathered together; [of objects] a group of things that have been gathered together □ a collection of strange-looking characters □ I've got to go through the collection of papers on my desk.

collective [kə'lektɪv] ◇ adj [decision, responsibility] that belongs to all the members of a group □ the industrial nations' collective share of fossil fuel emissions. ◇ n a business or farm that is owned by all the people who work there.

collective bargaining n discussions between labor unions and employers about the pay and working conditions of employees.

collectively [kə'lektɪvli] adv -1. [decide, own] see collective □ They are all collectively responsible. □ The three states collectively spend $20 million on law enforcement. -2. to be collectively known as sthg to be called sthg when they are in a group □ A group of fish is collectively known as a "school".

collective ownership n the ownership of a business by the people who work in it.

collector [kə'lektə] n -1. [of stamps, coins, antiques] a person who collects things as a hobby □ a stamp/record collector. -2. [of taxes, garbage] a person whose job is to collect money, garbage etc □ a rent/debt collector.

collector's item n a thing that collectors would want because it is rare or valuable.

college ['kɒlɪdʒ] n -1. a place where one can go after leaving school in order to study for further qualifications and that often specializes in one particular subject; the people who work and study there □ When does John start college? □ I go to art/nursing/agricultural college □ college life □ a college professor/scarf. -2. [of a university] one of the parts that some universities are divided into, where students live and study; the people who work and study there □ King's College, Cambridge □ an all-female college. -3. a group of people who have the same professional, educational, or religious duties □ the Royal College of Nursing □ an electoral college.

college of education n a college where people train to become teachers.

collide [kə'laɪd] vi [people, vehicles, planets] to crash □ They collided in the corridor. □ The bus collided with a car.

collie ['kɒli] n a type of dog that has black and white hair and is often used to control sheep.

colliery ['kɒljəri] (pl collieries) n a coalmine.

Collins ['kɒlɪnz], Michael (1890–1922) an Irish revolutionary, and MP. He was a leader of Sinn Féin, and founder of the IRA.

collision [kə'lɪʒn] n -1. [between vehicles] a crash between two vehicles traveling fast □ Their car was in a head-on collision with a truck □ a collision between two trains. -2. [between people] a serious disagreement between two or more people or things □ a collision of interests.

 ■ to be on a collision course to be very likely to disagree strongly with somebody about something □ Their stance has put them on a collision course with the anti-abortion lobby.

collision damage waiver n a section that is added to an insurance contract when one rents a car, stating that damage caused to the car will be paid for by the insurer.

colloquial [kə'loʊkwɪəl] adj [word, expression, English] that is used only in informal conversation.

collude [kə'lu:d] vi [people] to work together in secret to do something dishonest □ They were accused of colluding with the enemy.

collusion [kə'lu:ʒn] n to be in collusion with sb to be colluding with sb.

cologne [kə'loun] n a mild perfume.

Colombia [kə'lambɪə] a country in north-western South America, with Pacific and Caribbean coasts. SIZE: 1,140,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 33,600,000 (Colombians). CAPITAL: Bogotá. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: peso.

colon ['kəʊlən] n -1. ANATOMY the part of the large intestine that leads to the anus. -2. GRAMMAR a symbol (:) used before a list, explanation, or quotation.

colonel ['kɜ:nl] n an officer of high rank in the army.

colonial [kə'lounjəl] adj [rule, power] that is connected with countries that are colonies; [style, period, building] that is connected with a country when it was a colony.

colonialism [kə'lounjəlɪzəm] n the practice of colonizing other countries.

colonist ['kɒlənɪst] n a person who starts a colony.

colonize, -ise ['kɒlənaɪz] vt [country, region] to make <an area of land> a colony.

colonnade [kə'lə'neɪd] n a row of columns.

colony ['kɒləni] (pl colonies) n -1. [of another country] a country or area that is controlled by a more powerful country that is usually far away; the people who live there □ They spent the day visiting the former Portuguese colony. -2. [of people] a group of people who live together because they have the same interest, problem etc □ a nudist/leper colony. -3. [of ants, birds] a group of the same kind of animal or insect that lives together □ an ant colony.

color US, colour GB ['kʌlə] ◇ n -1. the appearance that the reflection of light gives to an object, e.g. red, blue, or green □ It looks like a different color in this light. ■ to be in color [movie, magazine, photograph] to be made showing different colors, not just black and white □ The brochure is printed in full color. -2. a particular color □ Red is my favorite color. □ What color is it? □ This model comes in a wide range of colors. -3. the color of one's skin when this shows one's race or state of health □ Her skin was a lovely color after her holiday in Spain. □ He has faced much discrimination on account of his color □ people of color.

◇ vt -1. [picture, drawing] = color in □ I colored it blue. -2. [hair, food] to change the color of <sthg> using dyes or chemicals. -3. [opinion, judgment] to influence <sthg> □ His narrow-minded comments colored my attitude toward him from then on.

◇ vi [person, cheeks] to blush.

◆ colors npl -1. [of a team, school] a piece of clothing, e.g. a tie or a badge, that shows which team, club, school etc one belongs to. -2. [of a country, regiment] the flag of a country, ship, or regiment.

◆ color in vt sep to color sthg in [picture, drawing] to fill in the outline of sthg with color.

Colorado [US ˌkɒlə'reɪdəʊ, GB -'rɑ:d-] a mountainous state in the western USA. ABBREVIATION: CO. SIZE: 270,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,294,394 (Coloradans, Coloradoans). CAPITAL: Denver.

colorado beetle n a black and yellow insect that eats potato plants.

color bar n the rule or custom in some places that does not allow people of different colors to mix.

color-blind adj [person] who cannot see the difference between particular colors, especially red and green.

color-coded adj [system, wiring] that has different colors to identify different parts.

colored US, coloured GB ['kɒləd] adj -1. [pen, sheet] that has one or more colors, not just black or white. -2. [jacket, hair, bird] that has a particular color □ straw-colored hair □ a brightly-colored shirt. -3. ▼ [person] who belongs to a race whose skin is not white (old-fashioned and offensive use).

colorfast ['kɒlərfæst] US, colourfast ['kɒləfɑ:st] GB adj [garment, fabric] that does not lose its color when washed.

colorful US, colourful GB ['kɒləfl] adj -1. [dress, picture, procession] that has one or more bright colors □ The parade made a colorful sight. -2. [story, career, life] that is full of interesting or exciting details □ a person with a colorful past. -3. [person] who is interesting, unusual, and amusing □ I met lots of colorful characters along the way.

coloring US, colouring GB ['kɒlərɪŋ] n -1. [in food, drink] a substance or chemical used to color food or drink □ This orange juice contains no artificial coloring. -2. [of a person] the color of a person's hair, eyes, and skin □ With your coloring you only need a low-factor sunscreen. -3. [of an animal] the color of an animal's skin or fur □ The male's bright coloring is designed to attract the hen.

colorless US, colourless GB ['kɒlə'ləs] adj -1. [ink, complexion, liquid] that has no color. -2. [person, voice, place] that is not interesting and has no strong qualities.

color scheme n the combination of colors used in the decoration of a room, house etc.

color television, color TV n a television that can show pictures in color.

colossal [kə'lɒsl] adj [statue, amount, building] very large □ Most of their colossal profits are reinvested.

colostomy [kə'lɒstəmi] (pl colostomies) n a medical operation that passes the colon through a hole made in the abdomen, so that feces can be collected in a bag □ a colostomy bag.

colour etc GB = color etc.

colour supplement n GB a free color magazine that comes with a newspaper, especially at weekends.

colt [kəʊlt] n a young male horse.

Columbus [kə'lʌmbəs], Christopher (1451–1506) an Italian-born explorer who, supported by the Spanish royal family, was the first European to discover the West Indies and the South American mainland.

Columbus Day n a US public holiday on the second Monday in October, in memory of Christopher Columbus.

column ['kɒləm] n -1. ARCHITECTURE a very tall rounded structure, usually made of stone, that is used to support a roof. -2. a column of smoke a long straight line of smoke that goes upwards. -3. [of people, vehicles, animals] a long straight line that is moving forwards □ a column of tanks OR tank column. -4. [of text, numbers] a vertical block on a page □ Add up each column of figures. -5. [in a newspaper, magazine] a section that is always written by the same person or is always about the same subject □ the sports column.

columnist [US 'kɒləmnɪst, GB 'kɒləmɪst] n a person who writes a regular column in a newspaper or magazine □ a gossip columnist.

coma ['kəʊmə] n to be in a coma to be unconscious for a long time, especially after an accident □ She's gone into a deep coma.

Comanche [kəm'mæntʃi] n a member of a Native American people who used to live in the southwestern USA; the language of this people.

comatose ['kəʊmətəʊs] adj to be comatose to be in a coma.

comb [kəʊm] ◇ n a thin flat object made of plastic or metal with a row of sharp points along one side that are moved through one's hair to make it look neater. ◇ vt -1. to comb one's hair to arrange one's hair more neatly using a comb. -2. [field, city, country] to search  very carefully for somebody or something □ The police combed the countryside for clues/the missing man.

combat ['kɒmbæt] ◇ n -1. fighting between two or more people or armies □ The young soldier was killed in combat □ combat aircraft/troops. -2. a struggle between two systems, ideas etc □ the combat between good and evil. ◇ vt [crime, disease, inflation] to struggle to stop <sthg>.

combative [US kəm'bætɪv, GB 'kɒmbətɪv] adj [person] who is always ready to fight or argue.

combination [ˌkɒmbɪ'neɪʃn] n -1. the act of combining two or more things □ The alloy can be produced by combination with copper. ■ in combination together □ Running, cycling, and swimming in combination provide a comprehensive training program. -2. [of colors, people, ideas] something that is made by combining two or more things, especially something that works well □ a winning combination □ A combination of printing techniques was used to produce the book. □ His success is due to a combination of business flair and an understanding of the consumer. -3. [for a lock, safe] the numbers or letters in a particular order that are needed to open something.

combination lock n a lock that can only be opened using a particular combination of numbers.

combination skin n skin on one's face that is partly dry and partly oily.

combine [vɪ kəm'baɪn, n 'kɒmbaɪn] ◇ vt [groups, classes, efforts] to join together <two or more things>; [activities] to do <two or more things> at the same time; [two qualities or features] to have <two or more different qualities or features> □ Let's combine forces. □ How do you combine having a career with looking after four children? □ I try to combine business with pleasure whenever possible. □ Our new model combines speed and reliability.

◇ vi [groups, activities, qualities] The two parties combined to form the Alliance Party. □ Events combined to leave her penniless.

◇ n -1. a group of organizations that have joined together □ an industrial combine. -2. = combine harvester.

combined [kəm'baɪnd] adj [effort, operation] that is made by two or more groups of people.

combine harvester [ˌkɒmbaɪn'hɑːvɪstəʃ] n a large vehicle used on a farm that cuts, sorts, and cleans grain as it is driven across a field.

combustible [kəm'bʌstəbəl] adj [substance, material] that can start to burn easily.

combustion [kəm'bʌstʃən] n the act of starting to burn.

come [kʌm] (pt came, pp come) vi -1. [person, car, train] to move toward the place where one is sitting, standing etc □ The bus came round the corner. □ She came running down the stairs to meet me. ■ coming! I shall be there soon (used as a reply when somebody is called to dinner, the telephone etc). -2. [guest, visitor] to go to one's home for a visit, usually for a short time □ Some friends are coming to dinner. -3. [person] to go somewhere with one □ Come with me, I've got something to show you. -4. [person, bus, news] to arrive at the place where one is □ She came home late. □ The train came into the station. □ You'll feel better when summer comes. □ Letters of complaint came flooding in. ■ the time has come to leave it is now the right time to leave. -5. [level, flood, person] to reach a particular point or place □ The water came up over his boots. □ Keep going until you come to some traffic lights. -6. [announcement, change] to happen or be done at a particular time □ The strike comes at a bad time for the company. ■ the news came as a shock somebody had a shock when the news came □ It comes as no

- surprise to me to hear that he's been fired. -7. to come first/second etc in a competition to be first/second etc compared to all the other people in a competition. ■ P comes before Q P is before Q in order. -8. ▽ [person] to have an orgasm during sex (very informal use). -9. to come to do sthg to start to do sthg gradually and over a period of time □ Over the years I came to enjoy living in New York. ■ how did you come to lose it? explain to me how you lost it. ■ come to think of it a phrase used when one suddenly remembers or realizes something □ Come to think of it, he did sound strange on the phone. -10. her dream came true what she had dreamed about happened. ■ to come loose/undone to become loose/unfastened slowly or gradually. ■ come again? a phrase used to ask somebody to repeat something because one did not hear it or is surprised by it (informal use).
- ◆ to come adv in (the) days/years to come in the days/years that follow □ We do not expect any improvement for some time to come.
 - ◆ come about vi [discovery, crisis, situation] to happen, usually by chance □ We still don't know how the problem came about.
 - ◆ come across ◇ vi fus to come across sb/sthg to find or meet sb/sthg by chance □ Years later, I came across him in Beirut. ◇ vi to come across well to make a good impression on people □ She came across as being more nervous than she really was. ■ the main point comes across clearly people can clearly understand the main point.
 - ◆ come along vi -1. [bus, opportunity, job] to arrive, often unexpectedly and by chance □ We're waiting for the right candidate to come along. □ Everything was going fine till you came along! -2. the project is coming along well the project is going or progressing well □ How's your new secretary coming along? -3. phrase come along! a phrase used to encourage somebody to hurry up or to do something that they do not want to do □ Come along or you'll be late for school.
 - ◆ come apart vi [shoes, package, machine] to become broken or fall to pieces □ The toy just came apart in my hands.
 - ◆ come around vi -1. [guest, visitor] to visit one in one's home, usually for a short time □ Do come around for a game of bridge. -2. [Christmas, birthday, summer] to happen (used of regular events) □ The local elections are coming around in May. -3. [patient] to become conscious again after being unconscious. -4. to come around to sthg to change one's opinion and start agreeing with sthg □ He's very stubborn, but he'll come around to our way of thinking in the end.
 - ◆ come at vt fus to come at sb to move toward sb in order to attack them □ He came at me with a knife.
 - ◆ come back vi -1. [person] to return to the place where one is or lives □ She came back from work early. □ Call me if the pain comes back. -2. it all came back (to me) I remembered it all suddenly □ I can't remember her name but I'm sure it will come back (to me).
 - 3. to come back into fashion to become fashionable again.
 - ◆ come back to vt fus to come back to sthg [question, topic, idea] to consider or discuss sthg again □ That's an interesting point and I'll come back to it later.
 - ◆ come by vt fus -1. to come by sthg [money, name, idea] to get or find sthg, usually by chance □ How did you come by that nasty cut? □ Jobs aren't easy to come by. -2. they came by the house US they came to visit, unexpectedly and for a short time.
 - ◆ come down vi -1. [fog, barrier, building] to fall, drop, or be taken down; [plane, parachute] to land, usually not in the place intended □ That tree is dangerous, it's got to come down. □ Barriers to free trade are coming down all over the world. □ The helicopter came down in a field. -2. [unemployment, prices, spending] to become lower or less. -3. [person] to visit somebody, usually when this involves going southwards or into the countryside □ The Tylers are coming down next weekend.
 - ◆ come down to vt fus it comes down to cost in the end cost is the most important thing that matters in the end □ It came down to a choice between the Fiat and the Renault.
 - ◆ come down with vt fus to come down with an illness to catch an illness □ She's come down with a cold.
 - ◆ come for vt fus to come for sb/sthg to come to collect sb/sthg and take them away.
 - ◆ come forward vi [volunteer, expert] to offer help or information, especially because somebody has asked for it publicly □ The police have asked for witnesses to come forward.
 - ◆ come from vt fus -1. to come from a place to be born or live in a place □ I come from Chicago. □ Where do you come from? -2. to come from sthg to have sthg as its source □ Milk comes from cows. □ The picture comes from one of her movies. □ I don't know where the money is going to come from.
 - ◆ come in vi -1. [person] to enter a house or room where one is □ I was in the kitchen when John came in. ■ come in! a phrase used to ask somebody to come into one's office, room etc. □ Come in out of the cold and get warm. -2. [news, information, message] to be received by people who are waiting for it □ Reports are coming in of riots in Tokyo. -3. to have money coming in to earn money regularly. -4. where do I come in? how am I involved? □ The plan is fine, but I don't see where I come into it. -5. [clothes, custom] to become fashionable or popular □ These shoes first came in in the fifties.
 - ◆ come in for vt fus to come in for criticism/praise to get a lot of criticism/praise from people.
 - ◆ come into vt fus -1. to come into sthg [into money, an inheritance] to inherit sthg when somebody dies □ She came into a fortune when her father died. -2. to come into sight OR view to appear a long way away. ■ to come into being OR existence to start to exist.
 - ◆ come of vt fus nothing came of it it did not happen □ We did have plans to work abroad, but nothing came of it. ■ that's what comes of smoking that is the result of smoking □ "I feel sick." — "That's what comes of eating too much!"

- ◆ come off ◇ vi -1. [button, label, lid] to become separated or broken off from the main part of something □ The chain has come off my bike, can you fix it back on? -2. [stain, dirt] to be possible to remove □ Will the paint come off? -3. [wedding, attempt, trip] to take place as planned □ Let's hope the deal comes off. -4. to come off well/badly to be in a good/bad situation as a result of something □ They came off badly from the deal and lost a lot of money.

◇ vt -1. to come off sth [horse, bike, roof] to fall off sth. -2. to come off sth [medicine, drug] to stop taking sth □ I've had to come off the Pill. -3. phrase come off it! a phrase used when one does not believe what somebody is saying □ Oh, come off it, you must have known what was going on!

- ◆ come on vi -1. to be coming on [cold, headache] to be starting □ I can feel a cold coming on. -2. [light, heating] to start working, usually automatically □ I set the radio to come on at 8 am. -3. [project, person] to be making good progress □ Her Russian has come on well this term. -4. phrase come on! a phrase used to encourage somebody or to tell them to hurry up □ Come on, don't give up, you can do it! □ Come on or we'll miss the bus.

- ◆ come out vi -1. [move] to leave a room or building and move toward where one is □ Can Sam come out to play? □ He came out of prison after two years. -2. [Sun, Moon, stars] to appear in the sky □ The clouds parted and the Sun came out. -3. [stain, dirt] to be removed by washing □ The mark will come out if you soak it. -4. [photograph, recording] to be produced successfully and clearly □ Only a few of our wedding pictures came out. -5. [information, fact] to become known after being secret or hidden □ The truth eventually came out. -6. [newspaper, book] to be published; [movie, product] to become available to the public □ The magazine comes out on Tuesdays. □ The video is coming out next month. -7. to come out for/against sth to state publicly that one is in favor of/against sth. -8. to publicly admit that one is homosexual. -9. GB [workers, union] to go on strike.

- ◆ come out in vt fus to come out in pimples to become covered in pimples □ I come out in a rash if I eat strawberries.

- ◆ come over ◇ vt fus a change came over her a change made her behave in an unusual way □ I'm sorry about that, I don't know what came over me. ◇ vi -1. [person] to arrive at the place where one is, usually by crossing a bridge, the sea etc □ They came over from France on the night ferry. -2. she comes over well people get a good impression of her □ He came over as being very efficient in the interview. -3. GB [guest, visitor] to visit one at home, usually for a short time □ You must come over for tea some time.

- ◆ come round vi = come around.

- ◆ come through ◇ vt fus to come through sth [crisis, recession, war] to reach the end of sth difficult without being hurt, harmed, or killed □ He came through the divorce fairly well. ◇ vi [news, document] to arrive after going through the necessary procedures or stages □ My passport hasn't come through yet.

- ◆ come to ◇ vt fus -1. to come to a place to arrive at a place one has not been to before □ We carried on walking until we came to a crossroads. □ They came to England in 1962. -2. to come to an end to end, usually after some time □ The war finally came to an end in 1919. □ We have not yet come to a decision/conclusion. ■ to come to a halt OR stop to stop moving □ The ball came to rest at the bottom of the stairs. ■ to come to power to start to rule or govern a country. -3. the bill came to $15 the bill was $15 in all. ◇ vi [person] to become conscious again after being unconscious □ When he came to there was a nurse standing over him.

- ◆ come under vt fus -1. to come under sth to be controlled or managed by sth □ The state police comes under the authority of the Governor. -2. to come under a category to belong in a particular category □ This book comes under the heading of fiction. -3. to come under attack/criticism to be attacked/criticized □ The Fed is coming under pressure from the banks to raise interest rates.

- ◆ come up vi -1. [person, train] to go to or arrive at the place where one is □ My mother came up yesterday by train. □ He came up to me and asked for a cigarette. -2. to be coming up [Christmas, birthday] to be happening soon □ It's coming up to Easter/six o'clock. -3. [subject, person] to be mentioned or discussed □ Your name came up in the conversation. -4. [Sun, Moon] to appear in the sky from below the horizon. -5. [situation, problem] to happen unexpectedly □ Sorry I'm late, but something came up at work.

- ◆ come up against vt fus to come up against sth [opposition, prejudices] to meet sth that causes problems □ We've come up against a few snags.

- ◆ come upon vt fus to come upon sb/sth to find or meet sb/sth by chance □ I came upon some errors in your report.

- ◆ come up to vt fus to come up to a standard to reach or equal a standard.

- ◆ come up with vt fus to come up with sth [plan, idea, solution] to think up, invent, or suggest sth □ What excuse did he come up with?

comeback ['kʌmbæk] n a return to being as popular, fashionable, or successful as before □ She made her comeback in the stage version of "Sunset Boulevard". □ a comeback record.

comedian [kə'mi:diən] n a person whose job is to tell jokes and make people laugh.

comedienne [kə,mɪ:'di:en] n a female comedian.

comedown ['kʌmdaʊn] n something that is less exciting or important than something one has had or felt before (informal use) □

This place is a real comedown after my usual room at the Ambassador!

comedy ['kɒmədi] (pl comedies) n -1. THEATER & CINEMA a play or movie that is meant to be funny □ a comedy actor. -2. [of a situation] the quality in a situation, play etc that makes it funny □ She's an actress with a gift for comedy.

comely ['kɒmli] adj [woman] attractive (literary use).

come-on n to give sb the come-on to show sb in a very obvious way that one would like to have sex with them (informal use).

comet ['kɒmət] n an object that looks like a star with a long bright tail and that travels around the Sun.

come-uppance [ˌkʌm'ʌpəns] n to get one's come-uppance to get the punishment one deserves (informal use).

comfort ['kʌmfərt] ◇ n -1. the feeling of being comfortable; the state of having everything that one needs to live □ clothes designed for comfort and style □ They live in comfort. □ This service is provided for your comfort and convenience. ■ to be too close for comfort to be so close that one feels frightened □ That truck came a little too close for comfort. -2. [in the home] something used in the home that makes one's life easier and more pleasant □ I like my comforts. □ a home with every modern comfort. -3. to be a comfort to make one feel less worried or unhappy □ It's a great comfort to know you're around. □ That's not much comfort to me now, is it!

◇ vt to make <sb> feel less worried or unhappy □ She comforted me when I was really down. □ It comforted him to know she was safe.

comfortable ['kʌmfətbəl] adj -1. to be comfortable to be in a position or place in which one is relaxed because it is pleasant □ Sit down and make yourself comfortable. □ I had just got comfortable when the phone rang. -2. [chair, room, trip] that makes one feel comfortable □ Those shoes look comfortable. -3. MEDICINE [patient] who is not in too much pain or danger after an accident or operation □ Both mother and baby were said to be comfortable. -4. [lead, win] that is large enough for one to be sure about winning □ He won by a comfortable margin. -5. [family] that has enough money to pay for things easily □ He comes from a comfortable, middle-class background. -6. to be comfortable about OR with sthg not to be worried about sthg □ I don't really feel comfortable with the idea, frankly.

comfortably ['kʌmfətbli] adv -1. to be comfortably off [person] to be quite rich. -2. [sleep, win] see comfortable □ Are you sitting comfortably? □ I can live comfortably on $100 a week. □ By half-time, Brazil was comfortably in the lead.

comforter ['kʌmfə'tɜː] n -1. a person who comforts somebody. -2. US a thick warm bedcover that is filled with feathers or another soft material.

comforting ['kʌmfə'tɪŋ] adj [thought, news, voice] that comforts one □ It's comforting to know help is never far away.

comfort station n a public restroom (polite use).

comfy ['kʌmfɪ] (compar comfier, superl comfiest) adj [shoes, chair, room] comfortable (informal use).

comic ['kɒmɪk] ◇ adj [event, performance, actor] that is intended to make people laugh. ◇ n -1. THEATER & TV a person whose job is to tell jokes and make people laugh. -2. [for children] a magazine, usually for children, containing stories in the form of cartoons.

◆ comics npl US the part of a newspaper that contains stories in the form of cartoons.

comical ['kɒmɪkl] adj [appearance, person, event] that is funny but was not intended to be.

comic strip n a series of cartoons that tell a story.

coming ['kʌmɪŋ] ◇ adj the coming storm/election etc the storm/election etc that will happen soon □ We're hoping to negotiate a deal in the coming days/weeks. ◇ n comings and goings the movement of people arriving and leaving somewhere.

comma ['kɒmə] n a symbol (,) used between the items in a list or to divide up a sentence.

command [US kə'mænd, GB -'ma:nd] ◇ n -1. [to a person] an order that is given by somebody in a position of authority □ His commands were always carried out promptly. □ At her command OR When she gave the command everybody stood up. -2. [of an army, country, situation] control over particular people, events etc □ The troops were under his command. □ He has command of 30,000 men. □ We are looking to take command of the market. ■ to be in command to have command over somebody or something □ Who's in command here? □ She is in total command of the situation. □ I'm only second in command. -3. [of a language, subject] knowledge of something and the ability to use it □ His command of detail is outstanding. □ She has a poor/an excellent command of French. ■ to have sthg at one's command [language, resource] to have sthg that one can use □ With Japanese and Korean at her command, she's perfect for the job. -4. COMPUTING an instruction to a computer.

◇ vt -1. to command sb to do sthg to order sb to do sthg when one has the authority to do this □ He commanded us to wait. -2. [regiment, troops] to be in a position of control over <people>. -3. [respect, attention] to get <sthg that one deserves> from other people □ He no longer commands the respect of his staff. ■ to command a high fee/salary to get a high fee/salary □ Consultants now command a five-figure salary.

commandant ['kɒməndənt] n an officer who is in charge of a particular place or group of soldiers.

commandeer [ˌkɒmə'n'diːə] vt [vehicle, building, property] to take <sthg> without paying for it for the use of the army.

commander [US kə'mændr, GB kə'ma:ndə] n

-1. an officer in charge of a military campaign or group. -2. GB an officer in the Royal Navy.

commander in chief (pl commanders in chief) n the officer in charge of all the military groups in a particular area.

commanding [US kə'mændɪŋ, GB -'mɑ:nd-] adj
-1. to be in a commanding position to be in a position that allows one to have a lot of control over other people and events. ■ to have a commanding lead to be far ahead of other people in a race or competition. -2. [voice, manner, look] that commands respect and obedience □ He was a commanding presence in his uniform. -3. a commanding view/height a view/height that allows one to see for a great distance all around.

commanding officer n the officer who is in charge of a group of soldiers.

commandment [US kə'mændmənt, GB -'mɑ:nd-] n one of the ten rules in the Bible that Jews and Christians believe God told people to obey □ the Ten Commandments.

command module n the part of a spacecraft where the controls are situated.

commando [US kə'mændou, GB -'mɑ:nd-] (pl commandos OR commandoes) n a group of soldiers who have been specially trained to carry out surprise attacks on enemy territory; a member of this group □ a commando of marines □ a commando unit.

command performance n a performance at a theater that has been requested by a king or queen and is attended by a member of their family.

commemorate [kə'meməreit] vt -1. to do something that shows one remembers and respects  □ Hundreds turned up at the ceremony to commemorate the end of the war. □ a series of programs commemorating the 100th anniversary of the author's death. -2. to remind people officially of  □ The statue was erected to commemorate those who died in the war.

commemoration [kə'memə'reiʃn] n: see commemorate □ a statue in commemoration of the dead soldiers.

commemorative [kə'memərətɪv] adj [stamp, service, plaque] that commemorates a person or event.

commence [kə'mens] (formal use) ◇ vt [trip, speech, work] to begin <sthg> □ They commenced construction of the bridge in 1992. ◇ vi [meeting, work] 'Sale commences January 3rd.'

commencement [kə'mensmənt] n -1. the start of something (formal use). -2. a commencement (ceremony) US EDUCATION a graduation ceremony.

commend [kə'mend] vt -1. to praise <sb> officially, especially for something brave they have done □ He was highly commended on OR for his actions. -2. [restaurant, person, place] to praise <sthg/sb> to somebody because they may want to use it, employ them etc (formal use) □ I can certainly commend her to you. □ The policy has little to commend it.

commendable [kə'mendəbl] adj [action, achievement, effort] that deserves praise.

commendation [ˌkɒmən'deɪʃn] n a special award given to somebody because of something they have done that deserves praise □ a commendation for bravery.

commensurate [kə'mensərət] adj commensurate with sthg at a level that is appropriate to sthg (formal use) □ Salary is commensurate with experience.

comment ['kɒment] ◇ n a statement that gives one's opinion about something, sometimes in public □ Does anyone have any comments? □ She made a few useful comments on how we had handled the incident. □ His wife was unavailable for comment. ■ no comment a phrase used when one does not want to give an opinion or talk about something, especially to the press. ◇ vt to comment that... to say that something is true in one's opinion □ Officials commented that the proposed pay increases were unrealistic. ◇ vi to make a comment about something □ I'm afraid I cannot comment on this matter.

commentary [US 'kɒmənəri, GB -əntəri] (pl commentaries) n -1. RADIO & TV a spoken description of a game, ceremony etc that is given while it is happening □ a news/sports commentary. -2. [on a book, situation] a written discussion or explanation of something.

commentate ['kɒmənteɪt] vi RADIO & TV to give a spoken commentary on something □ She commentates on tennis matches.

commentator ['kɒmənɪtətə] n -1. RADIO & TV a person whose job is to commentate on a sports game, ceremony etc □ a sports commentator. -2. JOURNALISM an expert who writes or talks about a particular subject □ a political commentator.

commerce ['kɒmɜ:s] n the activity of buying and selling goods, especially between different countries or companies □ the enormous benefits of commerce between our two countries □ My father went into commerce.

commercial [kə'mɜ:sɪ'ʃl] ◇ adj -1. [venture, movie, television] that is intended to make money □ The song has a very commercial sound. □ The idea is just not commercial. □ a commercial success. -2. [law, district, correspondence] see commerce. ◇ n an advertisement on the television or radio □ I made a cup of coffee during the commercials.

commercial bank n a bank that lends money to businesses for a short period of time, using money from savings accounts.

commercial break n the time during a television or radio program, or between programs, when advertisements are shown.

commercial college n GB a college where skills needed for business are taught, e.g. accounting.

commercialism [kə'mɜ:sɪ'ʃəlɪzəm] n the attitude that is based on the belief that making a profit is the most important thing (disapproving use).

commercialized [kə'mɜ:sɪ'ʃəlaɪzɪd] adj [place, record] that is too concerned with making a profit (disapproving use) □ Christmas has become very commercialized.

commercially [kə'mɜːʃiəlɪ] adv [sell, print, produce] see commercial □ They are commercially very successful. □ a commercially viable business □ Commercially, it was a disaster.

commercial television, commercial TV n GB television that gets money from the advertisements it shows and not from the government.

commercial vehicle n a vehicle used to carry goods along roads.

commie ['kɒmi] n & adj = Communist (informal and disapproving use).

commiserate [kə'mɪzəreɪt] vi to show sympathy to somebody about something bad that has happened to them □ I commiserated with them over their defeat.

commiseration [kə,mɪzə'reɪʃn] n the sympathy one shows when one commiserates with somebody □ a look of commiseration □ Our commiserations go to the losers.

commission [kə'mɪʃn] ◇ n -1. BUSINESS an amount of money that one earns for selling something □ She gets a 5% commission on each item she sells. □ The bank charges 10% commission. □ I work on a commission basis. □ a commission fee. -2. ART & MUSIC a piece of work that an artist, architect, musician etc is officially chosen to make. -3. POLITICS a special group of people chosen to carry out a particular duty or examine a particular subject □ the Equal Opportunities Commission.

◇ vt [painting, building, book] to officially choose somebody to make <sthg>; [artist, architect] to officially choose <sb> to make something □ City Hall has commissioned a suite of new offices from him. □ We commissioned her to create the costumes for the play.

commissionaire [kə,mɪʃə'neəʃ] n GB a person whose job is to help customers and open the doors of a theater, hotel etc.

commissioned officer [kə,mɪʃnd-] n an officer in the army or navy of middle or high rank.

commissioner [kə'mɪʃnəʃ] n -1. [of the church, police, a government department] a person in charge of an organization □ a police commissioner. -2. POLITICS a member of a commission.

Commission for Racial Equality n the Commission for Racial Equality the British government organization responsible for making sure that people of all races are treated equally by the law.

commit [kə'mɪt] (pt & pp committed, cont committing) vt -1. [crime, sin, offense] to do <sthg bad or illegal> □ He was sent to prison for a murder he never committed. -2. [money, resources, staff] to promise to provide or use <sb/sthg> for a particular purpose □ The US has committed several thousand troops to the peace-keeping process. ■ to commit oneself to sthg to promise to do sthg □ The Government has committed itself to market reforms. -3. LAW to order <sb> to be put in prison or a mental hospital. -4. to commit sthg to memory [information, poem] to learn sthg so that one remembers it exactly (formal use).

commitment [kə'mɪtmənt] n -1. [to a person, charity, one's job] the hard work, activity, or involvement in something that comes from a real interest or belief in it □ Her enthusiasm and commitment to the project were crucial to its success. □ They would like to see a greater commitment to AIDS research. -2. [of a person] something that one must do or agrees to do and that takes some of one's time, money etc □ a financial commitment □ I have too many commitments at the moment.

committed [kə'mɪtəd] adj [supporter, socialist] who shows a strong belief in something and who works hard to help it succeed □ committed to innovation and change.

committee [kə'mɪtɪ] n a group of specially chosen people who discuss, make decisions, or give advice about a particular subject □ A committee was formed to deal with the problem. □ Who is on the committee? □ a committee meeting/member.

commode [kə'məʊd] n a piece of furniture like a chair or stool with a pot inside that is used as a toilet by sick people.

commodity [kə'mɒdətɪ] (pl commodities) n a product, such as oil or sugar, that can be bought or sold for profit, usually in large quantities.

commodity exchange n the central market where commodities are bought and sold.

common ['kɒmən] ◇ adj -1. [occurrence, experience, problem] that happens often, in large numbers, or in many different places □ Foxes are quite a common sight in some cities. □ It's very common to see people using cellular phones nowadays. ■ common practice a way of doing things that is usual and accepted □ Polygamy used to be common practice among Mormons. -2. [aim, feature, language] that is shared by two or more people or things □ We share a common belief that education ought to be free for everyone. □ This type of experience is common to many. -3. [cold, man] ordinary and with no special characteristics □ the common toad. -4. [person] a word used to describe a person who one thinks has bad manners and bad taste (disapproving use) □ She thought her son-in-law was common.

◇ n an area of grassy land in a town or village that all the local people can use.

◆ in common adv to have sthg in common to have the same characteristics or interests □ I no longer have much in common with my brother. □ We have such a lot in common.

Common Agricultural Policy n → CAP.

commoner ['kɒmənəʃ] n a person who is not a member of the nobility □ It is no longer unusual for royalty to marry commoners.

common good n for the common good in order to benefit people in general.

common ground n something that the different people involved in an argument or dispute already agree about □ Let's try to find some common ground.

common knowledge n something that is known by most people □ It is common knowledge that Stephen only got the job because of family connections.

common land n a piece of land in a particular area that all the local people can use.

common law n the system of law that is based on the past decisions of a court rather than on written laws.

◆ common-law adj a common-law husband/wife a husband/wife who is living with somebody as their husband/wife but is not legally married to them □ a common-law husband/wife/marriage.

commonly ['kɒmənlɪ] adv a word used to say what many people do, think, say etc □ Oysters are commonly thought to be an aphrodisiac.

Common Market n the Common Market the name used to refer to the European Union in its original form as an economic community.

commonplace ['kɒmənpleɪs] adj [object, event, activity] that is not unusual or special in any way □ Satellite dishes are now becoming commonplace.

common room n a room in a school or college where students can meet and relax during breaks and free time.

Commons ['kɒmənz] npl = House of Commons □ a Commons debate.

common sense n -1. the ability to think sensibly or logically about a problem or situation and make practical decisions □ Use your common sense! -2. it's common sense it's something that seems obvious to most people for logical reasons □ It's just a matter of common sense.

Commonwealth ['kɒmənwelθ] n the Commonwealth the association of countries that used to be part of the British Empire and still have special relations with Britain and each other.

🇬🇧 THE COMMONWEALTH

In Britain, the term "the Commonwealth" refers to the group of 50 independent countries, founded in 1931, that used to be British colonies. The official name for this is the Commonwealth of Nations, but it is often called the British Commonwealth.

In Australia, people use the term "the Commonwealth" when they are referring to the federal government, or when they want to distinguish the federal government from the governments of each state. The term comes from the official name for Australia, which is the Commonwealth of Australia.

Commonwealth Employment Service n → CES.

Commonwealth of Independent States n → CIS.

commotion [kə'mɒʃn] n the sudden noise and movement of people who are excited, confused, or angry □ Suddenly we heard a tremendous commotion outside.

communal [kə'mju:nl, 'kɒmjʊnl] adj [garden, kitchen, land] that is shared by a group of people who live in the same house, area etc □ Communal baths are popular in Japan.

commune [n 'kɒmjʊ:n, vb kə'mju:n] ◇ n a group of people living together who share everything equally, including food and money □ He was brought up in a hippy commune. ◇ vi to commune with nature/God to become spiritually close to nature/God (literary use).

communicate [kə'mju:nɪkeɪt] ◇ vt [information, opinion, feeling] to make <sthg> known to somebody using words, images etc □ I find it hard to communicate what I really feel in a foreign language. ◇ vi: It's important to communicate with your staff.

communicating [kə'mju:nɪkeɪtɪŋ] adj [rooms] that are connected by a door; [door] that connects two rooms.

communication [kə,mju:nɪ'keɪʃn] n -1. □ There has been a breakdown in communication. □ good communication skills. -2. [from a person] a message, letter, or telephone call (formal use).

◆ communications npl the various systems and methods of communication between people and places, such as the telephone, mail, and computers □ the communications industry.

communications satellite n a satellite in space that uses radio signals to make it possible to communicate over long distances by television, telephone, and computer.

communicative [kə'mju:nəkeɪtɪv] adj [person] who likes to talk to people and can communicate well □ You're not being very communicative.

communicator [kə'mju:nɪkeɪtə] n a good/bad communicator a person who communicates well/badly with other people.

communion [kə'mju:njən] n a feeling of being spiritually close to somebody or something, especially when emotions, ideas etc are exchanged □ a feeling of communion with Nature.

◆ Communion n a Christian service in which people eat bread and drink wine as a symbol of Christ's death and resurrection.

communiqué [kə'mju:nɪkeɪ] n an official statement made by a government, organization etc to the media.

Communism ['kɒmjənɪzəm] n a political system in which the state has complete control of the sources of wealth, e.g. land and factories, and in which there is no private property and no difference in social classes. NOTE: Compare Capitalism, Socialism.

Communist ['kɒmjənɪst] ◇ n a person who believes in Communism. ◇ adj: a member of the Communist Party □ a Communist state.

community [kə'mju:nətɪ] (pl communities) n [of people] a group of people who are connected to each other because they live in the same area or have a particular religion, nationality, interests etc □ The business community has welcomed the move. □ the English-speaking com- munity in Rome □ an organization to help prisoners released into the community □ the international community.

community association n one of many local voluntary groups in Britain that works to help the local neighborhood.

community care n the British government program of taking people out of institutions, e.g. mental hospitals, and sending them home, to be cared for by their families or local welfare organizations.

community center n a building used by the people of an area for meetings and entertainment or sports.

community college n in the USA and Australia, an undergraduate college where students, who generally live at home, receive a technical qualification after two years of study.

community home n in Britain, a special school for children who have broken the law.

community service n -1. [by volunteers] voluntary work done to benefit the local community as part of an organized program. -2. LAW unpaid work for the local community that a criminal is ordered to do, instead of going to prison.

community spirit n the feeling of friendliness and helpfulness that exists between people who live in the same area.

commutable [kə'mju:təbl] adj LAW [sentence] that can be made less severe.

commutation ticket [kəmju'teɪʃn-] n US a ticket for a fixed number of trips on a train along a route during a limited period.

commute [kə'mju:t] ◇ vt to make  less severe □ The sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment. ◇ vi to travel to and from work every day □ He commutes to work by train.

commuter [kə'mju:tə] n a person who commutes to work □ a commuter train/town.

commy ['kɒmi] (pl commies) adj & n = commie.

compact [adj & vb kəm'pækt, n 'kɒmpækt] ◇ adj [bag, apartment, car] that is not large and is smaller than other ones of the same kind. ◇ n -1. a small flat case that contains face powder and a mirror. -2. US a compact (car) a small car. ◇ vt [earth, sand, mixture] to force <sthg> into a smaller space by pressing it together (formal use).

compact disc [kəm'pækt-] n a small plastic disk that stores recorded music in the form of numbers that are changed back to music by a special machine □ The album is now available on compact disc.

compact disc player n a machine used for playing compact discs.

companion [kəm'pænjən] n a person who one spends a lot of time with as a friend or to avoid feeling bored, lonely etc □ I offered to go with her as a traveling companion.

companionable [kəm'pænjənəbl] adj [person, occasion] that seems pleasant and friendly.

companionship [kəm'pænjənʃɪp] n the friendly relationship that exists between people who know each other well □ Pets provide much-needed companionship for elderly people.

company ['kʌmpəni] (pl companies) n -1. BUSINESS a group of people who work together in business under one name □ They decided to set up a company together. □ company profits. -2. [of performers] a group of actors or dancers who work together on a production, sometimes traveling around a country □ a touring company. -3. [for a person] the presence of somebody who helps to pass the time □ I'd be glad of your company. □ Cats make good company. ■ to have/expect company to have/expect guests □ We have company this weekend so we can't come to dinner. ■ to keep sb company to spend time with sb so that they are not lonely □ Stay here and keep me company. ■ to part company to go in separate directions after meeting, traveling together etc; to come to the end of a personal or business relationship, especially because of a disagreement □ He parted company with the firm last year.

company car n a car that a company provides for an employee, especially one who travels a lot in their job.

company director n one of the group of people who control a company at the highest level.

company secretary n GB an important member of a company who is responsible for the accounts and the legal side of the company's business.

comparable ['kɒmpərəbl] adj that is similar enough in size, quality etc to be able to be compared with something else □ The car's fuel consumption is comparable to OR with that of a much smaller car. □ This is the only comparable case that I can think of.

comparative [kəm'pærətɪv] adj -1. [wealth, luxury, safety] that has the particular quality mentioned when it is compared to something similar □ After Moscow I enjoyed the comparative warmth of Prague. -2. a comparative study a study that shows the differences and similarities between two or more related things □ They carried out a comparative study between males and females. -3. GRAMMAR a word used to refer to the form of an adjective or adverb that shows a difference in size, quality etc between two related things or people □ "Older" is the comparative form of "old".

comparatively [kəm'pærətɪvli] adv comparatively poor/wealthy etc poor/wealthy etc when compared with other things or people of a similar kind □ The weather has been comparatively mild for the time of year.

compare [kəm'peɪ] ◇ vt to find the similarities or differences between <two or more people or things> □ If we compare the increase with OR to last year's, we can see a big difference. ■ compared with OR to a phrase used to introduce the difference(s) between two or more people or things □ Compared to most laptops, it has a large keyboard. ◇ vi to be of a similar standard □ The two just don't compare. □ Nothing can compare with the awesome splendor of the Grand Canyon. ■ to compare favorably/unfavorably with sb/sthg to seem good/bad when compared with sb/sthg else.

comparison [US kəm'perɪsən, GB 'pær-] n [of people, things] see compare □ He made OR drew an interesting comparison between US and Japanese marketing strategies. □ Domestic sales are low by OR in comparison.

◆ in comparison with prep a phrase used to introduce the differences between two or more people or things □ My problems seem small in comparison with yours.

compartment [kəm'pɑ:tmənt] n -1. a separate space in a car, refrigerator, bag etc where things are kept □ Salad should be kept in a separate compartment. -2. RAIL a divided section of a train carriage □ We found an empty compartment. □ a smoking compartment.

compartmentalize, -ise [kəm'pɑ:t'mentəlaɪz] vt to divide <sthg> into separate sections.

compass ['kɑmpəs] n -1. a device for showing directions that consists of a magnetized needle that always points to the north. -2. a device used with a pencil for drawing circles and measuring distances that has two bars attached at one end that can be moved apart to form a "V" shape. -3. the compass of sthg the limited area of activity, ability, knowledge, importance etc of sthg (formal use) □ This issue does not lie within the compass of the committee.

compassion [kəm'pæʃn] n a strong feeling of sympathy and pity that one has for somebody who is suffering □ He felt no compassion for his victims.

compassionate [kəm'pæʃənət] adj [person] who shows compassion.

compatibility [kəm,pætə'bɪlətɪ] n the quality of being suited to each other; the ability to work well together.

compatible [kəm'pætəbl] adj -1. [people] who are able to have a good relationship because they have the same interests or personalities □ We were never compatible. -2. [methods, ideas] that can work well together □ Is this compatible with official guidelines? -3. COMPUTING [hardware, software] that can be used with particular machines or programs without causing problems □ IBM-compatible □ The printer is not compatible with my computer.

compatriot [US kəm'peɪtriət, GB 'pætr-] n a person of the same nationality as oneself.

compel [kəm'pel] (vt & pp compelled, cont compelling) vt -1. to make <sb> do something, especially by threatening them □ I feel compelled to justify myself. -2. [admiration, attention] to cause <sthg, especially a feeling>, in a way that is difficult to resist or prevent (formal use).

compelling [kəm'pelɪŋ] adj -1. [argument, reason] that is so strong and powerful it is difficult to disagree with □ The writer builds up his case with compelling logic. -2. [story, movie, book] that is extremely interesting or exciting □ Her biography makes compelling reading.

compendium [kəm'pendjəm] (pl compendiums OR compendia [-'pendjə]) n a short but detailed book on a subject (formal use).

compensate ['kɒmpenseɪt] ◇ vt LAW to pay <sb> money because of something bad that has happened to them, e.g. an accident or unfair dismissal from a job □ He was compensated for loss of earnings. ◇ vi to cancel the effect of something bad □ The good food compensated for the lousy weather.

compensation [kɒmpən'seɪʃn] n -1. LAW money that is paid to compensate somebody □ The victims' families are demanding compensation for the suffering caused. -2. it has its compensations there are good points that make it less unpleasant □ Working on short-term contracts has its compensations.

comper ['kɒmpəʊ] GB ◇ n a person whose job is to introduce the performers in a show and entertain the audience between the different sections of the show. ◇ vt to be the comper of  □ Tonight's show was compered by Frank Greenhouse.

compete [kəm'pi:t] vi -1. [athlete, team, contestant] to try to obtain something for oneself and to prevent other people from having it □ Eight teams will be competing for the title. □ Christie will be competing with OR against Lewis in the final. -2. BUSINESS to try to be more successful than one's rivals □ We're competing with some of the top brand names. □ With everyone competing for a share in the market, it's going to be tough. -3. [in a competition] to take part in a competition or race □ She competed in the last Olympics.

competence ['kɒmpətəns] n the ability to do something correctly and to a satisfactory standard □ I don't doubt your competence, I'm simply questioning your attitude.

competent ['kɒmpətənt] adj [person] who is able to do something correctly and to a satisfactory standard □ She's a competent enough worker. □ I'm competent in three languages.

competently ['kɒmpətəntli] adv: see competent □ He plays the piano competently.

competing [kəm'pi:tɪŋ] adj [views, ideas] that are different and opposed to each other.

competition [kɒmpə'tɪʃn] n -1. [between people] a situation in which two or more people try to be better or more successful than each other, usually to obtain something; the person or people one is competing against in this situation □ There's stiff competition for the contract. □ I'm finding it hard to keep up with the competition. -2. BUSINESS the process of trying to be more successful than one's rivals □ Once again, the two firms are in competition with each other. -3. [between teams, players] an event that people try to win by being better than everybody else in some way □ a skating competition.

competitive [kəm'petətɪv] adj -1. [person] who likes to try to win or be better than everybody else □ Our students are encouraged to be competitive. -2. [match, sport, exam] that involves competition; [atmosphere, spirit] that involves the desire to win □ She's involved in competitive swimming. □ It's very competitive at work. -3. [price, goods] that is not expensive compared to rival products or services and so is likely to attract customers □ I think you'll find our prices very competitive. □ Reducing overheads is one way of remaining competitive in today's market.

competitively [kəm'petətɪvli] adv -1. [play] see competitive. -2. competitively priced that is not too expensive compared to rival products.

competitor [kəm'petətə] n -1. BUSINESS a person or company that is competing with another □ We're looking for anything that will give us an edge over our competitors. -2. [in a competition] a person who takes part in a competition or race.

compilation [ˌkɒmpɪ'leɪʃn] n -1. a book, record, TV program, or report that contains a collection of work from different sources. -2. see compile.

compile [kəm'paɪl] vt [book, record, report] to make <sthg> from information, work etc that has been collected together □ The program was compiled from archive film.

complacency [kəm'pleɪnsɪ] n the state of being complacent about something □ There's no room for complacency here.

complacent [kəm'pleɪsnt] adj [person] who is not worried about something or does not make an effort when they should □ Despite good progress we can't afford to be complacent.

complain [kəm'pleɪn] vi -1. [customer, passenger, worker] to say that one is unhappy or not satisfied with a situation, product, or service □ Despite the constant pain, he never complained. □ Oh, stop complaining! □ She complained about the smell. □ As usual, he's complaining about his job. -2. MEDICINE to complain of sthg [of a pain, illness] to say that one is suffering from sthg □ He's been complaining of chest pains for some time.

complaint [kəm'pleɪnt] n -1. [about a problem] a statement in which somebody complains about somebody or something; the reason for making this statement □ Following the program, they received several complaints about bad language. □ If you like, you can make an official complaint. □ I have no cause for complaint. -2. MEDICINE an illness or pain that is usually not very serious □ a chest complaint.

complement ['kɒmpləmənt] ◇ vt to improve <sb/sthg> by adding something that has different qualities □ They complement each other perfectly. ◇ n -1. something that helps one to appreciate the qualities of the thing it is combined with □ Red wine is the ideal complement to this type of dish. -2. a full complement the number or amount needed to make something complete □ We now have our full complement of staff. -3. GRAMMAR a word or phrase that comes after a verb and describes the subject of the verb, e.g. "late" in the sentence, "He is late."

complementary [ˌkɒmplə'mentəri] adj that makes something complete or more effective □ Their skills, though different, are complementary.

complementary medicine n a way of treating illness, e.g. homeopathy or acupuncture, that is not part of standard Western medical practices.

complete [kəm'pli:t] ◇ adj -1. [story, collection, version] that has every part of something with nothing missing □ No visit to Athens would be complete without a tour of the Acropolis. □ "The Complete Works of Oscar Wilde." -2. to be complete [work, report, plan] to be finished and ready □ At last everything is complete. -3. a word used for emphasis □ It was a complete disaster!

◇ vt -1. [collection, set] to add to and make <sthg> whole or finished □ A diamond necklace completed the outfit. □ His failure to notice the flowers completed her misery. -2. [report, painting, job] to finish  □ I plan to travel as soon as I complete my studies. -3. [questionnaire, application] to write the necessary information in the spaces provided on  □ Complete the coupon below and send it to the following address ...

◆ complete with prep including or with the addition of <sthg> □ The TV comes complete with remote control.

completely [kəm'pli:tli] adv completely finished/wrong etc finished/wrong etc in every way □ I completely forgot about it. □ My attitude toward him has changed completely.

completion [kəm'pli:ʃn] n [of work, a collection, a test] see complete □ Work is nearing completion.

complex ['kɒmpleks] ◇ adj [problem, system, character] that is not simple and has many different connected parts; [language, calculation] difficult to understand □ The plot of the movie is highly complex. □ It's too complex for me. ◇ n -1. ARCHITECTURE a very large building with different parts, or a number of connected buildings, used for a particular purpose □ a shopping complex. -2. PSYCHOLOGY a set of feelings, beliefs, or worries that develops unconsciously from experiences or childhood memories, and that affects one's behavior □ an inferiority complex □ After failing three times, I'm starting to get a complex.

complexion [kəm'plekʃn] n -1. [of a person] the nature and appearance of the skin on one's face □ an oily complexion. -2. [of a problem, situation] the nature or character of a problem, matter, or situation □ This of course puts an entirely different complexion on the issue.

complexity [kəm'pleksəti] (pl complexities) n -1. [of a problem, system, character] the state of being complex. -2. the complexities of sthg the many different connected parts of sthg that make it difficult to understand.

compliance [kəm'plaɪəns] n: see comply □ We acted in compliance with your wishes.

complicate ['kɒmplekət] vt [matter, situation, life] to make <sthg> more difficult to understand or deal with □ Don't change the schedule now, it will only complicate things.

complicated [ˈkɒmpləkeɪtəd] adj [situation, process, problem] that consists of so many different parts that it is difficult to understand or deal with □ The case is so complicated I don't know where to start.

complication [ˌkɒmpləˈkeɪʃn] n -1. an extra fact or detail that makes a situation or problem more difficult to understand or deal with □ The car broke down on the way, which was an added complication. -2. MEDICINE a condition that develops as a result of another illness or treatment, and makes it more difficult for the patient to get better □ She died of complications following a minor infection.

complicity [kəmˈplɪsətɪ] n involvement in something bad or illegal (formal use) □ His complicity in the scandal was never proved.

compliment [n ˈkɒmpləmənt, vb ˈkɒmpləment] ◇ n a pleasing statement praising one's appearance, work etc □ He's always paying me compliments. ■ to take sthg as a compliment to decide that sthg somebody says or does shows that they like or respect one. ◇ vt to tell <sb> that one likes or admires their work, appearance etc □ She complimented him on his good taste.

◆ compliments npl a word used to express respect or good wishes (formal use) □ The li-queurs came with the compliments of the house. □ My compliments to the chef!

complimentary [ˌkɒmpləˈmentəri] adj -1. [remark, look] that shows admiration or liking for something □ She was most complimentary about my work. -2. [drink, copy] that is given free to somebody □ I have two complimentary tickets for tonight's show.

compliments slip [ˈkɒmpləmənts-] n GB a small piece of paper with a company's name on it that is put in an envelope with letters, documents etc sent from that company.

comply [kəmˈplaɪ] (pt & pp complied) vi to comply with sthg [with the law, rules] to do something that is ordered or requested by sthg □ The new model complies with all safety regulations.

component [kəmˈpɒnənt] n one of the parts in a machine or system □ The car is assembled in Europe from Japanese components.

compose [kəmˈpəʊz] vt -1. to be composed of sthg to have sthg as its parts or members □ The chamber is composed of 650 members. -2. [music, letter] to write <sthg>, thinking very carefully about what to include and how to arrange it. -3. to compose oneself to make oneself calm after being upset.

composed [kəmˈpəʊzd] adj [person] who is calm, especially in a difficult situation □ I felt calm and composed before the interview.

composer [kəmˈpəʊzə] n a person who writes music □ a composer of musicals.

composite [US kəmˈpəʊzət, GB ˈkɒmpəzɪt] ◇ adj [picture, account] that is made up of several different parts □ We used various sources to produce a composite program. ◇ n something that is made up of different parts □ The article is a composite of three people's statements.

composition [ˌkɒmpəˈzɪʃn] n -1. a piece of music or poetry; the act of composing this □ one of Mahler's later compositions. -2. [of a chemical, committee] the way that different parts are combined to make a whole thing. -3. EDUCATION a piece of writing on a particular subject, done as an exercise, especially at school.

compost [US ˈkɒmpəʊst, GB -pɒst] n a mixture of decayed material, e.g. cut grass or dead leaves, that is used to improve the quality of soil □ a compost heap.

composure [kəmˈpəʊzə] n the ability to stay calm, especially in a difficult situation □ She was clearly embarrassed, but quickly regained her composure.

compound [adj & n ˈkɒmpaʊnd, vb kəmˈpaʊnd] ◇ adj -1. [eye, problem] that has two or more parts. -2. GRAMMAR [noun, adjective] that is formed by two or more words.

◇ n -1. CHEMISTRY a substance that is made by mixing two or more simple chemical elements together □ a chemical compound. -2. [of factors, conditions, ingredients] a mixture of two or more things. -3. [in a prison, military camp] an enclosed area with a wall or fence around it that is used for a particular purpose □ a military compound. -4. GRAMMAR a noun or adjective that is formed by joining two or more words together □ "Coffee table" is a compound.

◇ vt -1. to be compounded of sthg to be a mixture of sthg (formal use). -2. [problem, mistake, difficulty] to make <sthg bad> worse □ My apologies only compounded her irritation.

compound fracture [ˈkɒmpaʊnd-] n MEDICINE a type of bone fracture in which the bone goes through the flesh, causing a wound on the surface of the body.

compound interest [ˈkɒmpaʊnd-] n the interest that is paid on the total of the original amount of money and the interest it has already made.

comprehend [ˌkɒmpriˈhend] vt [action, idea, significance] to understand <sthg> completely □ I fail to comprehend what good that will do.

comprehension [ˌkɒmpriˈhenʃn] n -1. [of an action, idea] the ability to understand a situation, problem, or process □ Why they do it is beyond my comprehension. -2. EDUCATION a reading or listening exercise to check a student's ability to understand something □ reading/listening comprehension.

comprehensive [ˌkɒmpriˈhensɪv] ◇ adj -1. [report, list] that includes everything that is necessary or important. □ We offer a comprehensive range of services. -2. comprehensive insurance insurance that pays for all types of damage that is caused by oneself or somebody else. -3. GB [teacher, system] that is connected with comprehensive schools. ◇ n GB = comprehensive school.

comprehensively [ˌkɒmpriˈhensɪvli] adv [cover, study, treat] paying attention to the details, so that everything necessary or important is included.

comprehensive school n a school in Britain that provides free education to children of all abilities between the ages of 11 and 18.

compress [n 'kɒmpres, vb kəm'pres] ◇ vt -1. [air, gas, metal] to squeeze or press <sthg> together so that it takes up a smaller space □ compressed air. -2. [text, information, file] to make <sthg> shorter so that it takes up less space or time □ A three-hour debate was compressed into two minutes of television. ◇ n a hot or cold pad of material placed on a part of the body to reduce pain, fever etc.

compression [kəm'preʃn] n: see compress.

comprise [kəm'praɪz] vt -1. to be  □ Women comprise 60% of the workforce. -2. to be comprised of sthg to have sthg as its parts or members □ The USA is comprised of 50 states.

compromise ['kɒmprəmaɪz] ◇ n an agreement or situation in which somebody accepts less than they really want □ The two parties reached a compromise late last night. ◇ vt [person, position, party] to make <sb/sthg> appear insincere, dishonest, or immoral □ I didn't want to compromise my principles by taking part. ◇ vi to reach a compromise with somebody in order to end a disagreement □ We compromised on the deadline.

compromising ['kɒmprəmaɪzɪŋ] adj [position, circumstances, letter] that can make one seem insincere, dishonest, or immoral □ I don't think Howard realized what a compromising situation he was putting himself in.

compulsion [kəm'pʌlʃn] n -1. a strong desire or need to do something that is often impossible to control □ I felt a sudden compulsion to hit him. -2. to be under no compulsion to do sthg to have no obligation to do a particular thing □ He is under no compulsion to sell.

compulsive [kəm'pʌlsɪv] adj -1. [gambling, smoking, behavior] that somebody does often and finds difficult to stop or control. ■ a compulsive liar/gambler etc a person who lies/gambles etc very often because they cannot stop doing it. -2. [book, program] that is so interesting one does not want to stop reading, watching, listening etc □ This study makes compulsive reading.

compulsory [kəm'pʌlsɔəri] adj [education, military service] that one must do because of a law, regulation, or rule □ It's compulsory to wear a seat belt.

compulsory purchase n GB the buying of land or property by a local council or the government for public use, whether the owner wishes to sell it or not.

compunction [kəm'pʌŋkʃn] n to have or feel no compunction to not feel guilty at all about doing something (formal use) □ I felt absolutely no compunction in asking him for money.

compute [kəm'pjʊ:t] vt [number, quantity, total] to calculate <sthg>, especially with a computer □ After the results have been computed we will make the necessary changes.

computer [kəm'pjʊ:təf] n an electronic machine that is used e.g. for calculations and for storing and providing information, and that is operated by a programmed set of instructions □ The information is kept on computer. □ a computer program □ computer graphics.

computer dating [-deɪtɪŋ] n a service provided by an agency that uses personal information about somebody, e.g. their interests or appearance, to help them find a partner for a personal relationship.

computer game n a game that is played using a computer.

computerization [US kəm'pjʊ:təraɪ'zeɪʃn, GB -ərəɪ'zeɪʃn] n: see computerize.

computerize, -ise [kəm'pjʊ:təraɪz] vt [system, firm, information] to change <sthg> so that computers control all the information that is dealt with.

computerized [kəm'pjʊ:təraɪzd] adj [system, process] that is controlled by a computer; [information, database] that is stored on a computer □ The accounts department is fully computerized. □ computerized files/invoices.

computer language n the language used in the writing of a computer program.

computer-literate adj [person] who understands and knows how to use computers.

computer science n the study of computers and their uses.

computing [kəm'pjʊ:tɪŋ] n the activity of using a computer; the study of computers and their uses □ a course in computing □ a computing manual.

comrade [US 'kɒmræd, GB -reɪd] n -1. POLITICS a word used by a Communist or Socialist to address somebody who belongs to the same organization, especially in speeches. -2. a person who is close to another person, especially because they are together in the same situation, e.g. a war (old-fashioned use).

comradeship [US 'kɒmrædʃɪp, GB -reɪd-] n the friendship that exists between people who are together in a particular situation, e.g. a war or expedition.

comsat ['kɒmsæt] n abbr of communications satellite.

con [kɒn] (pt & pp conned, cont conning) (informal use) ◇ n a situation or deal in which somebody is deceived and often loses money. ◇ vt to deceive <sb> in order to achieve or obtain something, especially money □ He conned her out of $200,000.

Conan Doyle [ˌkɒnən'dɔɪl], Sir Arthur (1859–1930) a British writer well known for his stories about the detective Sherlock Holmes.

concave [kɒn'keɪv] adj [lens, mirror] that curves inward in the middle.

NOTE: Compare convex.

conceal [kən'si:l] vt -1. [building, smell, weapon] to cover or hide <sthg> □ The house was partly concealed from the road by trees. □ The drugs were concealed in a consignment of paper goods. -2. [feeling, information] to stop somebody from knowing <sthg>, especially by lying □ She even concealed the truth from her husband.

concede [kən'si:d] vt -1. to concede (that)... to admit that something is true even though one does not want to □ He eventually conceded ed that a mistake had been made. -2. to concede defeat to admit that one has lost a game, an argument etc □ They were finally forced to concede defeat.

conceit [kən'si:t] n a conceited attitude (disapproving use) □ He was puffed up with conceit.

conceited [kən'si:təd] adj [person] who feels too proud of their abilities, talents etc (disapproving use) □ Don't tell him you like it, he's conceited enough already.

conceivable [kən'si:vəbl] adj [reason, means] that one thinks is possible but not very likely □ It's just conceivable that she may be right.

conceivably [kən'si:vəblɪ] adv a word used to show that one thinks something is possible but not very likely □ We could conceivably win.

conceive [kən'si:v] ◇ vt -1. [plan, idea] to form and develop <sthg> in one's mind. -2. to conceive a child to become pregnant. ◇ vi -1. [woman] to become pregnant. -2. to conceive of sthg to imagine sthg □ It's hard to conceive of anything more stupid.

concentrate ['kɒnsntreɪt] ◇ vt -1. [attention, effort, mind] to use all of <sthg that one has> in order to do or achieve something □ We're concentrating all our energy on developing existing markets. -2. to be concentrated in a place [power, industry] to be situated in one place, especially in large amounts □ Most of the population is concentrated in the north. ◇ vi to use all one's attention, effort etc to do or achieve something □ I can't concentrate with all this noise. □ The government should concentrate on improving the economy.

concentrated ['kɒnsntreɪtəd] adj -1. [fruit juice, detergent] that is very strong, e.g. because it contains very little water, so that only a little needs to be used. -2. [effort, work] that is done with a lot of determination □ a period of concentrated activity.

concentration [ˌkɒnsnə'treɪʃn] n -1. [of one's attention] the act or state of fixing one's thoughts and attention on something so that one deals with it properly □ Don't disturb my concentration. -2. [of power, industry] see concentrate □ the concentration of political power in the hands of a few individuals.

concentration camp n a prison camp for large numbers of people who are usually placed there because of their race or political beliefs.

concentric [kən'sentrik] adj concentric circles circles that have the same center but are of different sizes.

concept ['kɒnsɛpt] n a basic idea or principle that is connected with a particular thing □ He has redefined the concept of socialism. □ an interesting concept.

conception [kən'sepʃn] n -1. an understanding of something □ He has no conception of the problems involved. □ a book that alters our conception of man's recent past. -2. [of a plan, idea, child] see conceive □ all the joys of motherhood, from conception to early infancy.

conceptualize, -ise [kən'septʃuəlaɪz] vt [idea, theory] to put <sthg> into the form of a concept that can be understood.

concern [kən'sɜ:n] ◇ n -1. a feeling of worry about a particular thing □ There is no cause for concern. □ She showed little concern for their welfare. -2. to be sb's concern to be something that interests, involves, or is important to sb □ It's of no concern to me OR It's not my concern. □ This is a matter of great concern to everybody. -3. BUSINESS a company or business □ It's a profitable concern.

◇ vt -1. to be concerned to be worried about somebody or something □ They're very concerned about her health. □ We're concerned to make sure there is no misunderstanding. □ I'm only concerned for your health. -2. to involve <sb/sthg> □ This doesn't concern you. □ Where human rights are concerned, we cannot sit back and do nothing. □ It was a difficult time for everybody concerned. ■ to be concerned with sthg to be interested and involved in sthg □ Our main job is concerned with identifying future markets. ■ to concern oneself with sthg to get involved with sthg because one thinks it is important □ I don't concern myself too much with details. ■ as far as sb/sthg is concerned a phrase used to introduce somebody's opinion; a phrase used to introduce the subject being talked about □ As far as I'm concerned, he's just an idiot. □ Their record is good as far as safety is concerned. -3. [subject, topic] to be about <sb/sthg> □ The first paragraph concerns the budget for next year.

concerning [kən'sɜ:nɪŋ] prep on the subject of <sthg> □ I wrote to her concerning the lease.

concert ['kɒnsə:t] n a live performance of music for an audience □ We went to a rock concert last night.

◆ in concert adv -1. [sing, play] at a concert □ Have you ever seen them in concert? -2. to act in concert to do something in close cooperation with other people (formal use).

concerted [kən'sɜ:təd] adj -1. [attempt, effort] that shows a lot of determination □ We've made a concerted effort to improve on last year's figures. -2. [attack, campaign] that happens in close cooperation with other people □ They launched a concerted attack on the enemy.

concertgoer ['kɒnsə'tgouə] n a person who often goes to concerts.

concert hall n a building where concerts are held.

concertina [ˌkɒnsə'tɪnə] (pt & pp concertinaed, cont concertinaing) ◇ n a musical instrument that consists of a bag of air that folds and unfolds as its ends are pushed together or pulled apart, and notes are played by pressing small buttons. ◇ vi GB AUTO to be pressed into a smaller shape during an accident □ The front of the car concertinaed.

concerto [kən'tʃɜ:tou] (pl concertos) n a piece of music written for a solo instrument and orchestra □ a piano concerto.

concession [kən'seʃn] n -1. [to an opponent] something that one lets one's opponents have, usually in order to end a disagreement □ Neither side seems willing to make conces- sions on any of these points. -2. BUSINESS the right to carry out a particular business or activity on somebody's property; the stand or area where this business is carried out. -3. GB [for unemployed or retired people] a reduced price for some events and services, e.g. for unemployed or retired people □ Is there a concession for students?

concessionaire [kən,seʃə'neə] n BUSINESS a person who has been given a concession.

concessionary [US kən'seʃənəri, GB '-seʃnəri] adj [ticket, fare, rate] that is cheaper because it is reduced in price, e.g. for unemployed or retired people □ 'Concessionary rates for students.'

conciliation [kən,sɪli'eɪʃn] n the act or process of ending a dispute □ There is no hope of conciliation between the two sides.

conciliatory [US kən'sɪliətəʊəri, GB -ətəri] adj [phrase, tone, approach] that is intended to help end a disagreement.

concise [kən'saɪs] adj [book, speech, report] that is short and only uses the words that are necessary □ Please be as concise as possible.

concisely [kən'saɪsli] adv [explain, write, speak] see concise □ Please state concisely your reasons for applying for this post.

conclave ['kɒnkleɪv] n a secret and private meeting.

conclude [kən'klu:d] ◇ vt -1. [meeting, speech, article] to end or represent the end of <sthg> □ He concluded the report with a list of next year's targets. □ That concludes tonight's programs. -2. to conclude that... to decide or suppose that something is true because of what one has seen, heard, or discovered □ They concluded that military intervention was a grave mistake. □ I conclude from your statements that you're not in favor. -3. [settlement, deal, sale] to arrange and agree the final terms of <sthg> □ The treaty was concluded in the early hours of last night. ◇ vi [meeting, speaker, book] to end □ The report concludes with a message of hope for the future.

conclusion [kən'klu:ʒn] n -1. a decision or theory based on what one has seen, heard, or discovered □ People are free to draw their own conclusions from today's news. □ I've come to the conclusion that I'll never learn to drive. ■ to jump to conclusions to suppose or decide something too soon, without having all the necessary information □ Don't go jumping to the wrong conclusions. -2. [of a meeting, speech, book] the last part of something □ In conclusion, I'd like to thank everybody for taking the time to come here today. -3. [of a settlement, deal, sale] see conclude □ Martin saw the deal was brought to a successful conclusion.

conclusive [kən'klu:ʒɪv] adj [evidence, proof] that proves something so that there is no doubt.

concoct [kən'kɒkt] vt -1. [story, excuse] to invent <sthg that is not true> □ He concocted some story about an accident on his way home. -2. [meal, dish, drink] to prepare <sthg> by mixing several ingredients, especially in an unusual way □ What will he have concocted for us this evening, I wonder?

concoction [kən'kɒkʃn] n a mixture of food, drink, or medicine that is unusual or unpleasant.

concord ['kɒnkɔ:d] n a state of peaceful agreement, usually between two countries.

Concord a village in Massachusetts, USA, where the first fighting of the American Revolution took place in 1775.

concourse ['kɒnkɔ:rs] n a large hall, e.g. in an airport or station.

concrete ['kɒnkri:t] ◇ adj -1. [fact, evidence] that is definite and based on reality rather than imagined or vague. -2. [object] that is real rather than in the mind, and can be touched, seen etc. ◇ n a building material made of a mixture of sand, cement, small stones, and water □ a concrete slab/wall. ◇ vt [path, garden] to cover <sthg> with concrete.

concrete mixer n = cement mixer.

concur [kən'kɜ:] (pt & pp concurred, cont concurring) vi to say that one agrees □ Everyone concurred with the views expressed.

concurrently [US kən'kɜ:rəntli, GB '-kɜ:-] adv [happen, develop] at the same time □ I'm working on two projects concurrently.

concussed [kən'kʌst] adj to be concussed to have a concussion.

concussion [kən'kʌʃn] n damage to the brain, usually temporary, that results from a blow to the head and can make one faint or feel dizzy □ The doctors said she was suffering from concussion.

condemn [kən'dem] vt -1. [opponent, policy, decision] to express very strong disapproval of <sb/sthg> □ She was widely condemned for her comments. □ The decision was condemned as unfair and harsh. -2. to condemn sb to sthg/to do sthg to force sb into sthg/to do sthg unpleasant or undesirable □ people condemned to live in poverty. -3. LAW to condemn sb to sthg [to imprisonment, death] to sentence sb to sthg as punishment. -4. [house, block] to state officially that  is unsafe.

condemnation [,kɒndem'neɪʃn] n the act of expressing strong disapproval □ There was widespread condemnation of the killings.

condemned [kən'demd] adj -1. [building] that has been officially declared unsafe. -2. [criminal, prisoner] who is in prison waiting to be killed as an official punishment.

condensation [,kɒnden'seɪʃn] n small drops of water that form when steam condenses on a cold surface such as a window.

condense [kən'dens] ◇ vt -1. [steam, alcohol, vapor] to cause  to become a liquid, usually by cooling it. -2. [report, ideas, message] to put <sthg> into a shorter or smaller form so that only the important points are included □ These points need to be condensed into one paragraph. ◇ vi [gas, steam] to become a liquid □ On cold days water vapor condenses on the windows.

condensed milk [kən'denst-] n milk that has been thickened and sweetened and is sold in cans.

condescend [kɒndɪ'send] vi -1. to condescend to sb to treat sb in a way that suggests one thinks they are inferior. -2. to condescend to do sthg to agree to do sthg in a way that suggests one considers it unimportant or not worth one's attention □ He finally condescended to write a reply.

condescending [kɒndɪ'sendɪŋ] adj [person, attitude, tone] that shows a belief that other people are inferior □ She's very condescending toward her employees in the factory.

condiment ['kɒndɪmənt] n a substance, e.g. salt or mustard, that is used to add flavor to food (formal use).

condition [kən'dɪʃn] ◇ n -1. [of a person, building, car] the state that somebody or something is in at a particular time □ The house is in very good/bad condition. □ The patient is in a critical condition. ■ to be out of condition [person, animal] to be unfit. -2. MEDICINE an illness or disorder □ He has a heart condition. □ a serious medical condition. -3. [for improvement, talks, growth] something that must be done or must exist in order for something else to happen □ She agreed to go on one condition, that she could take a friend with her. □ He'll do it on condition that he's paid well.

◇ vt -1. to influence <sb> over a period of time to think or behave in a particular way □ Society conditions us to believe/into believing that money is the key to happiness. -2. to be conditioned by sthg to be directly influenced by sthg □ The market is conditioned by changes in interest rates. -3. to condition one's hair to put conditioner on one's hair.

◆ conditions npl -1. the physical surroundings or circumstances in which people live or work □ The working/living conditions are appalling. -2. the circumstances under which something happens □ The conditions are right for economic growth. □ The team struggled against appalling weather conditions.

conditional [kən'dɪʃnəl] adj [offer, acceptance, agreement] that depends on something else happening □ The ceasefire is conditional on OR upon the withdrawal of troops.

conditionally [kən'dɪʃnəli] adv: see conditional □ I've agreed conditionally to the offer.

conditioner [kən'dɪʃnə] n a liquid used for softening hair after washing it with shampoo □ hair conditioner.

conditioning [kən'dɪʃnɪŋ] n the influences or training somebody has had that make them think or behave in a particular way.

condo ['kɒndəʊ] n US abbr of condominium (informal use).

condolences [kən'dɒlənsɪz] npl sympathy that is expressed to somebody who has experienced something sad, especially the death of a close friend or relative □ I would like to offer you my condolences on the death of your husband.

condom [US 'kɒndəm, GB 'kɒnd-] n a thin rubber cover that a man wears on his penis during sex as a contraceptive and as protection against disease.

condominium [kɒndə'mɪnɪəm] n US an apartment block in which each apartment is owned by the people living in it; an apartment in such a block.

condone [kən'daʊn] vt [practice, drugs, war] to accept or allow <sthg bad or wrong> □ We cannot condone such immoral behavior.

condor ['kɒndɔːr] n a type of large American vulture.

conductive [kən'djuːsɪv] adj to be conducive to sthg to make sthg easier or more likely to happen □ It's hardly conducive to a relaxing weekend, is it?

conduct [n 'kɒndəkt, vb kən'dəkt] ◇ n -1. [of a person] the way somebody behaves □ He was dismissed for conduct unbecoming to an officer. -2. [of business, talks] the way something is organized and done. ◇ vt -1. [investigation, survey] to carry out <sthg> □ The inquiry was conducted in a fair and open manner. -2. to conduct oneself well/badly to behave well/badly. -3. [orchestra, choir] to direct  in a performance. -4. PHYSICS [metal] to allow <heat or electricity> to move through it. ◇ vi [conductor] to direct an orchestra or choir in a performance.

conducted tour [kən'dəktəd-] n a tour of a place in which a guide explains the points of interest to a group of people.

conductor [kən'dəktə] n -1. MUSIC a person whose job is to conduct an orchestra or choir. -2. [on a bus] a person whose job is to check and sell tickets on a bus, streetcar etc □ a bus conductor. -3. US [on a train] a railroad official in charge of a train.

conduit ['kɒndjuːt] n a pipe or channel that something such as water can pass through.

cone [kəʊn] n -1. a three-dimensional shape with a circular base and rounded sides that narrow to a point at the other end. -2. [for ice cream] a wafer in the shape of a cone that is used for holding ice cream. -3. [of a tree] the fruit of a coniferous tree that is made up of a lot of small wooden pieces □ pine cones.

Coney Island ['kəʊni-] a popular resort for tourists on the Atlantic Ocean at Brooklyn, New York.

confectioner [kən'fekʃənə] n a person whose job is to make or sell candy, cakes etc.

confectioner's sugar n US a type of very fine sugar used to make icing.

confectionery [US kən'fekʃənəri, GB -əri] n a collective term for sweet food that can be bought in a store, e.g. candy, cakes, or ice cream.

Confederacy [kən'fedərəsi] n the Confederacy the eleven Southern US states that left the Union in 1861 to form an independent country, officially called the Confederate States of America. They were defeated in the American Civil War.

Confederate [kən'fedərət] adj that belongs to the Confederacy □ the Confederate States.

confederation [kən,fedə'reiʃn] n an organization that consists of smaller groups, usually for business or political purposes.

Confederation of British Industry n → CBI.

confer [kən'fɜːr] (pt & pp conferred, cont confering) ◇ vt [honor, title, award] to give <sthg> to somebody (formal use). ◇ vi to talk with somebody else in order to exchange ideas or opinions □ I need to confer with my management team on or about this matter.

conference ['kɒnfrəns] n an organized event at which a large group of people meets to discuss a particular subject, usually for a number of days □ the annual sales conference. ■ to be in conference GB to be in a meeting □ She can't come to the phone now, she's in conference.

conference call n a telephone call that allows three or more people to talk to each other at the same time.

conference center n a building where conferences are held.

conference hall n a large room where conferences are held.

conferencing ['kɒnfrənsɪŋ] n the facility on a telephone that allows conference calls to be made.

confess [kən'fes] ◇ vt -1. RELIGION to tell a priest about . -2. [crime, truth, mistake] to admit <sthg> to somebody □ I must confess (that) I've never been there. ◇ vi to confess a crime, sin etc □ She confessed to the murders. □ I confess to not really having understood what he said.

confession [kən'feʃn] n -1. [of a crime, mistake, the truth] a statement that somebody makes when they confess something □ I have a confession to make. I forgot to reserve the seats. □ Fielding made a full confession to all three murders. -2. RELIGION a religious act where one confesses one's sins to a priest □ I haven't been to confession recently.

confessional [kən'feʃnl] n a small enclosed place in a church in which a person can confess to a priest in private.

confetti [kən'feti] n small pieces of colored paper that are thrown in the air at a celebration, especially over the bride and groom at a wedding □ They were showered in confetti.

confidant [US ,kɒnfi'dɑːnt, GB -'dænt] n a man one trusts enough to discuss secret or personal matters with □ Alan was my friend and confidant for many years.

confidante [US ,kɒnfi'dɑːnt, GB -'dænt] n a woman who acts as a confidant.

confide [kən'faɪd] ◇ vt [thought, fear] to tell <sthg secret or personal> to somebody because one trusts them. ◇ vi to confide in sb to tell sb about something secret or personal because one trusts them.

confidence ['kɒnfɪdəns] n -1. [in oneself] the belief that one has in one's ability to do something well □ He spoke with confidence. -2. [in a person, plan, machine] the belief one has that a person or thing will do what one expects of them □ We have every confidence (that) you'll succeed. □ I have great confidence in her abilities. □ Consumer confidence is building slowly. -3. to tell sthg to sb in confidence to tell sthg to sb as a secret because one trusts them not to tell anybody else □ I'm telling you this in the strictest confidence, you understand. -4. something that is told in confidence □ She'd never betray a confidence.

confidence trick n a trick in which somebody deceives somebody else in order to get money or property from them.

confident ['kɒnfɪdənt] adj [person] who has confidence in their own ability to do something; who has confidence in somebody or something □ You should be more confident. □ I feel confident (that) we will succeed. □ We are confident of success.

confidential [ˌkɒnfi'denʃl] adj -1. [document, information, arrangement] that is secret and should not be told to anybody else □ I have no need to add that this matter is strictly confidential. -2. [tone, voice, look] showing that what is being said is supposed to be secret □ "This is just between you and me," she said with a confidential wink.

confidentiality [ˌkɒnfi'denʃləti] n [of information, a document] see confidential.

confidentially [ˌkɒnfi'denʃləli] adv [tell, whisper] see confidential □ All enquiries are treated confidentially.

confidently ['kɒnfɪdəntli] adv [speak, smile, predict] in a way that shows one is confident □ I think I can confidently say we've never had such a response before.

configuration [kən,figjə'reiʃn] n -1. a shape formed by arranging things, or parts of something, in a particular way. -2. COMPUTING a particular arrangement of the different parts and programs of a computer and their connections.

confine [kən'faɪn] vt -1. to confine sthg to sthg [comments, criticism] to limit sthg so that it only mentions or concerns sthg □ The allegations are not confined to bribery alone. ■ to confine oneself to sthg to limit one's thoughts or actions to sthg □ I suggest we confine ourselves to discussing the most urgent issues. -2. to keep <sb> in a place that they cannot leave □ He's confined to his room/a wheelchair.

◆ confines npl within the confines of sthg [of a system, place, building] inside the limits and boundaries of sthg; [of space, time, system] inside the limits and restrictions that are fixed by sthg □ Inmates must not leave the confines of the hospital. □ We have to work within the confines of what the local planning laws allow.

confined [kən'faɪnd] adj -1. [space, area] that seems small and enclosed. -2. to be confined to sb [problem, attitude] to only affect or involve sb □ This behavior is confined to a small minority of fans. -3. to be confined to a place [animal, plant, event] to only exist or happen in a particular place □ This species is now confined to a few remote areas.

confinement [kən'faɪnmənt] n -1. [of a prisoner] the period when somebody is in prison or in a place that they are not free to leave. -2. [of a pregnant woman] the period between the beginning of labor and the birth of a child (old-fashioned use).

confirm [kən'fɜːm] vt -1. [reservation, appointment, decision] to make <an arrangement> definite □ Please confirm your flight two days prior to departure. -2. [report, suspicion, news] to state or prove the truth of <sthg> □ I can confirm (that) I will be retiring next year. -3. RELIGION to accept <sb> officially as a member of a Christian church.

confirmation [ˌkɒnfə'meɪʃn] n -1. [of a reservation, appointment] see confirm. □ We have not yet received confirmation of this report. -2. RELIGION a church ceremony at which people are confirmed.

confirmed [kən'fɜːmd] adj a confirmed bachelor/teetotaler etc a person who has been a bachelor/teetotaler etc for a long time and is unlikely to change.

confiscate ['kɒnfɪskeɪt] vt to take <sthg that is not allowed> away from somebody, when one has the necessary authority □ Police confiscated a number of weapons before the game.

confiscation [ˌkɒnfɪ'skeɪʃn] n: see confiscate □ powers of confiscation.

conflagration [ˌkɒnflə'ɡreɪʃn] n a large fire that causes a lot of damage (formal use).

conflict [n 'kɒnflɪkt, vb US 'kɒnflɪkt, GB kən'flɪkt] ◇ n -1. [between countries, people] a period of fighting between countries or groups of people □ an armed conflict. -2. [between ideas, beliefs] a serious difference between ideas, beliefs etc, that makes it difficult for them to exist or be used together; a serious argument or disagreement between people □ a conflict between her private and her public life □ Their policies are in conflict with their manifesto. □ I often came into conflict with my boss. ■ a conflict of interest a situation in which a person is working for two competing clients, organizations etc, or has goals that are different and opposed.

◇ vi [ideas, interests] to be different or opposed in a way that makes it difficult to be used or to exist together □ This appears to conflict with their earlier statement.

conflicting [US 'kɒnflɪkɪŋ, GB kən'flɪkɪŋ] adj [account, advice, evidence] that conflicts with something else of the same kind □ There were conflicting reports in the press.

conform [kən'fɔːm] vi -1. [person] to behave the way one is expected to or the way most other people in the same group behave □ School puts a lot of pressure on kids to conform. -2. [object, action] to be done in a way that obeys particular rules or standards □ All new windows must conform to OR with current building regulations.

conformist [kən'fɔːmɪst] ◇ adj [person, behavior, attitude] that is not original and follows what is expected, or what is already established (disapproving use) □ He reacted against the conformist views of his parents. ◇ n a person whose behavior or attitude is conformist (disapproving use).

conformity [kən'fɔːmətɪ] n [of a person, action, behavior] see conform.

confound [kən'faʊnd] vt to confuse and surprise <sb> □ Your expectations are likely to be confounded.

confounded [kən'faʊndəd] adj a word used to show that one is annoyed about something (old-fashioned and informal use) □ It's a confounded nuisance!

confront [kən'frʌnt] vt -1. [problem, truth] to consider <sthg unpleasant> and start to deal with it. -2. [person] to present <sb> with a difficulty that they have to deal with □ This year, many more problems/obstacles are confronting the company. -3. to confront sb with sthg [with evidence, the truth, an allegation] to accuse or criticize sb by showing or talking to them about sthg.

confrontation [ˌkɒnfrʌn'teɪʃn] n a situation in which there is strong disagreement or violence between two people or groups □ We don't want to risk confrontation with the bosses.

Confucius [kən'fjuːʃəs] (551–479 BC) a Chinese philosopher whose ideas on the importance of order and duty influenced Chinese society.

confuse [kən'fjuːz] vt -1. [person] to cause <sb> to be uncertain about something or unable to think clearly □ The instructions in the manual just confused me even more. -2. [people, objects, places] to make a mistake about <two or more people or things> because one cannot tell the difference between them □ You seem to be confusing me with someone else. □ This new software should not be confused with earlier versions. -3. [situation, problem] to make <sthg> more complicated or unclear than it was before □ To confuse the issue further, there are several different departments involved.

confused [kən'fjuːzd] adj [person] who is unable to understand something or think clearly; [idea, thought, situation] that is unclear and difficult to understand □ I'm confused about which one to choose. □ His argument was confused and poorly structured.

confusing [kən'fjuːzɪŋ] adj [instruction, story, description] that is not clear or simple enough to understand □ I found the plot very confusing.

confusion [kən'fjuːʒn] n -1. [of a person] the state of being confused □ There is a lot of confusion about OR over who exactly is eligible under the new law. -2. [of people, objects, places] see confuse □ To avoid confusion, please state your full name. -3. [in a place] a state of disorder, usually with a lot of noise and a lot of things happening at the same time □ The house was in total confusion.

conga ['kɒŋgə] n the conga a Latin American dance performed by people in a line, one behind the other.

congeal [kən'dʒiːl] vi [milk, fat, sauce] to become thick and sticky □ congealed blood.

congenial [kən'dʒiːnɪəl] adj [atmosphere, work] that is pleasant and makes one feel relaxed □ an evening spent in congenial company.

congenital [kən'dʒenətɪl] adj [disease, defect, deafness] that has affected somebody since birth, but was not inherited □ He has a congenital heart condition.

conger eel [ˌkɒŋɡəˈ-] n a large eel that lives in seawater.

congested [kən'dʒestəd] adj -1. [road, area] that is very crowded or blocked with traffic or people. -2. MEDICINE [lung, nose] that is blocked because it is full of liquid.

congestion [kən'dʒestʃən] n [of a road, somebody's nose] the state of being congested □ the problems of traffic congestion.

conglomerate [kən'glɒməɾət] n BUSINESS a large company made up of several smaller companies.

conglomeration [kən,glɒmə'reɪʃn] n an unusual mixture of many different things (formal use).

Congo ['kɒŋɡou] -1. the Congo (Republic) a country in the western part of central Africa. SIZE: 342,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,400,000 (Congolese). CAPITAL: Brazzaville. LANGUAGE: French. CURRENCY: CFA franc. -2. the Congo (River) = Zaïre River.

Congolese [ˌkɒŋɡə'li:z] adj & n: see Congo.

congratulate [kən'grætʃəleɪt] vt to express one's pleasure or praise to <sb> when they have done something well or when something pleasant has happened to them □ They congratulated her on her promotion/being promoted. ■ to congratulate oneself to be proud of a quality one has or of one's actions □ You can congratulate yourself on a job well done.

congratulations [kən,grætʃə'leɪʃənz] ◇ npl a message given to congratulate somebody on something □ Give him my congratulations. □ a letter of congratulations. ◇ excl a word used to congratulate somebody □ "We won the contract!" — "Congratulations!" □ Congratulations on your new baby!

congratulatory [US kən'grætʃələtɔ:ri, GB -,grætʃə'leɪtɔ:ri] adj [message, smile] that congratulates somebody.

congregate ['kɒŋɡrɪgeɪt] vi to gather together and form a large group □ A large crowd had congregated around the scene of the accident.

congregation [ˌkɒŋɡrɪ'geɪʃn] n the people at a church service; the people who regularly go to a particular church □ the congregation of St Mark's.

congress ['kɒŋɡres] n a meeting of representatives of large organizations or countries, usually held to discuss ideas and policies □ the party's annual congress.

◆ Congress n US the elected group of politicians that makes laws in the USA □ The Democrats had a majority in Congress.

CONGRESS

The US Congress, which meets in the Capitol building in Washington, D.C., consists of the Senate and the House of Representatives. A proposed new law must be approved by both houses separately, and then by the President. If the President refuses the proposal, it can still be made law if two-thirds of the members of Congress agree.

congressional [kən'ɡresʃənəl] adj [hearing, election, committee] that is connected with the US Congress.

Congressional Record n the Congressional Record the official written record of everything that takes place in the US Congress, including speeches and the results of votes.

congressman ['kɒŋɡresməŋ] (pl congressmen [-məŋ]) n a man who is a member of the US House of Representatives.

congresswoman ['kɒŋɡreswʊməŋ] (pl congresswomen) n a woman who is a member of the US House of Representatives.

conical ['kɒnɪkl] adj [shape, hat] that is shaped like a cone.

conifer ['kɒnɪfə] n an evergreen tree that produces cones, e.g. pine, fir, or sequoia.

coniferous [US kəu'nɪfərəs, GB kə-] adj [tree, forest] see conifer.

conjecture [kən'dʒektʃə] ◇ n an idea or opinion that is based on incomplete or uncertain information □ At this stage, it's a matter of pure conjecture. ◇ vt to conjecture (that)... to suggest that something is true without having all the necessary information □ Police conjectured that a terrorist organization was responsible. ◇ vi: We can only conjecture where/how the money was spent.

conjugal ['kɒndʒəgl] adj [happiness, right] that is connected with a marriage, especially the sexual relationship between a husband and wife (formal use).

conjugate ['kɒndʒəgeɪt] vt to list the different grammatical forms of .

conjugation [ˌkɒndʒə'geɪʃn] n -1. a class of verbs that are conjugated in the same way. -2. a way of conjugating a particular verb.

conjunction [kən'dʒʌŋkʃn] n GRAMMAR a word that connects other words or phrases, e.g. "and", "but", or "while".

◆ in conjunction with prep together with <sb/sth> □ They work in conjunction with the U.N.

conjunctivitis [kən,dʒʌŋktɪ'vaɪtəs] n an infection of one's eye that causes the thin skin covering one's eyeball and the inside of one's eyelid to become red and swollen.

conjure ['kɒndʒə] ◇ vt to make <sth> appear in a way that seems like magic □ He conjured a rabbit out of a hat. ◇ vi to perform conjuring tricks.

◆ conjure up vt sep to conjure sth up [memory, picture] to make sth appear in somebody's imagination □ The thought of India still conjures up for many images of its colonial past.

conjurer ['kɒndʒərə] n a person who performs conjuring tricks.

conjuring trick ['kɒndʒərɪŋ-] n a trick in which somebody makes something appear or disappear, especially by using their hands cleverly in a way that looks like magic.

conjuror ['kɒndʒərə] n = conjurer.

conk [kɒŋk] ♦ conk out vi (informal use) -1. [person] to collapse from exhaustion. -2. [vehicle, machine] to break down.

conker ['kɒŋkə] n GB a horse chestnut.

conman ['kɒnmæn] (pl conmen [-men]) n a person who gets money from people by deceiving them □ a professional conman.

connect [kə'nekt] ◇ vt -1. to join or attach <two things> to each other □ The island is connected to the mainland by a bridge. □ The rooms were connected by a hidden door. -2. [by telephone] to allow <sb> to speak to another person by joining two lines, e.g. on a switchboard □ I'm trying to connect you now, sir. -3. to connect sb/sthg with sb/sthg to realize that there is a link between sb/sthg and sb/sthg else; to succeed in finding a link between sb/sthg and sb/sthg else □ Many people would never connect libraries with fun. □ The police were unable to connect him with the previous attacks. -4. [machine, appliance, wire] to join <sthg> to the main supply of electricity, gas, or water □ Have you had your phone connected yet?

◇ vi [train, plane, bus] to arrive in time for passengers to transfer to another train, plane etc in order to continue their journey □ This flight connects with AA112 to Amsterdam.

connected [kə'nektəd] adj [event, idea, person] that is linked to somebody or something □ Is he connected with the robbery/place/project? □ The two religions are closely connected.

Connecticut [kə'netɪkət] a state in the north-eastern USA. ABBREVIATION: CT. SIZE: 13,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,287,116. CAPITAL: Hartford.

connecting [kə'nektɪŋ] adj a connecting flight/train etc a flight/train etc that takes passengers from one part of their trip to another.

connecting rod n a rod in the engine of a car, truck etc that connects the piston to the crankshaft.

connection [kə'neɪʃn] n -1. [between two facts, events] a link or relationship between two things □ Does this have any connection with what happened yesterday? □ the connection between interest rates and unemployment. -2. [between two wires] something that joins two wires in an electrical circuit □ a loose connection. -3. [on a telephone] the link between people when they are talking to each other by telephone □ It's a bad connection. -4. TRANSPORT a train, plane, or bus that leaves after passengers have transferred to it from another one in order to continue their trip □ I missed my connection.

♦ connections npl people who one knows and who may be useful to one, e.g. because they are in important positions □ He has connections in the government.

♦ in connection with prep about <sthg> □ Two men have been arrested in connection with the murder. □ I am writing in connection with your comments yesterday.

connective tissue [kə'nektɪv-] n animal tissue that supports organs and connects limbs.

connive [kə'naɪv] vi to plan secretly with other people to do something dishonest in order to get something for oneself □ She connived with his enemies to have him discredited.

♦ connive at vt fus to connive at sthg to allow sthg bad to happen even though one knows that one ought to prevent it □ teachers who had connived at students' absence from school.

conniving [kə'naɪvɪŋ] adj [person] who is cunning and dishonest.

connoisseur [,kɒnə'sɜːr] n a person who enjoys and knows a lot about art, music, wine etc, and can tell when it is of good quality □ He's a connoisseur of antique porcelain. □ a wine connoisseur.

connotation [,kɒnə'teɪʃn] n an idea or quality that is suggested by a word □ The word clearly has political connotations.

conquer ['kɒŋkə] vt -1. [country, town, people] to take  by fighting and beating the people there □ The invaders conquered most of modern Mexico. -2. [fear, shyness, inflation] to bring  under control □ It took me six months to conquer my addiction to smoking.

conqueror ['kɒŋkərə] n a person who has conquered a place or group of people.

conquest ['kɒŋkwɛst] n -1. [of a country, town] success in conquering something □ the conquest of North Africa. -2. something that has been conquered, usually land □ They added France to their list of conquests.

Conrad ['kɒnrəd], Joseph (1857–1924) a British novelist, born in Poland. His stories of adventures at sea include Lord Jim and Heart of Darkness.

cons [kɒnz] npl -1. → mod cons. -2. → pro.

Cons. abbr of Conservative.

conscience ['kɒnʃəns] n a sense of right and wrong; a sense of having done something wrong that makes one feel guilty □ She has no conscience about letting people down. □ It's something that has been weighing on my conscience for a long time. □ What you decide to do in the end is a matter of conscience. ■ to have a guilty conscience to feel guilty about something. ■ I cannot, in all conscience. I cannot, because I think it is wrong □ In all conscience, I couldn't have said yes.

conscientious [,kɒnʃɪ'ɛnʃəs] adj [student, worker] who is thorough, careful, and serious in the way they do things □ It can't have been Jenny, she's usually so conscientious.

conscientiously [,kɒnʃɪ'ɛnʃəsli] adv [study, work] see conscientious.

conscientious objector n a person who refuses to join the armed forces for moral or religious reasons.

conscious ['kɒnʃəs] adj -1. to be conscious [person] to be alive and aware of things around one rather than asleep or unconscious □ He's fully conscious now. -2. to be conscious of sthg to be aware of sthg □ She was very conscious of him watching her. -3. a conscious decision/effort a decision/an effort that has been thought about and is deliberate □ I've never made a conscious attempt to win people's respect.

-4. [mind, memory] that one is aware of.

-conscious suffix class-/health- etc conscious aware of or concerned about class/health etc □ All's pretty safety-conscious these days.

consciously ['kɒnʃəsli] adv [decide, try] see conscious □ I wasn't consciously aware I was taking a risk. □ I didn't consciously avoid the subject.

consciousness ['kɒnʃənsəs] n -1. the state of being awake and aware of things around one □ She lost/regained consciousness. -2. everything that somebody thinks and believes, especially about a particular subject □ They are trying to raise levels of political consciousness.

conscript [vb kən'skrɪpt, n 'kɒnskript] ◇ vt to make <sb> join one of the armed forces □ He was conscripted into the navy. ◇ n a person who has been conscripted.

conscription [kən'skrɪpʃn] n the official system that makes people join the armed forces, e.g. because a war is being fought.

consecrated ['kɒnsəkreɪtəd] adj RELIGION [church, bread] that has been officially declared to be holy in a religious ceremony □ His body was buried in consecrated ground.

consecration [,kɒnsə'kreɪʃn] n -1. [of a church, bread] see consecrated. -2. a religious ceremony in which somebody is made a priest or bishop.

consecutive [kən'sekjətɪv] adj [days, occasions] that happen one after the other without any breaks □ America won the championship for the fourth consecutive year.

consecutively [kən'sekjətɪvli] adv: see consecutive □ The tickets are numbered consecutively.

consensus [kən'sensəs] n general agreement among a group of people □ Delegates failed to reach (a) consensus on arms limitation.

consent [kən'sent] ◇ n -1. official permission for something □ Because of her age she needed her parents to give their consent to the marriage. □ They used my name without my consent. -2. by common OR general consent a phrase used to say what most people think is true □ He is, by general consent, the best worker on the team. ◇ vi to agree to do something or to allow something to happen □ They consented to the plan/marriage/interview. □ After much deliberation, she consented to take part.

consenting [kən'sentɪŋ] adj consenting adults adults who are old enough to decide they will have sex together.

consequence ['kɒnsɪkwəns] n -1. a result or effect of something □ The policy had terrible consequences for the poor. ■ in consequence as a result □ The work is undervalued and, in consequence, underpaid. -2. of little/no etc consequence of little/no etc importance (formal use) □ a person of consequence □ It's of little consequence.

consequent ['kɒnsɪkwənt] adj [difficulty, event] that happens as a result of something □ the political disagreements and consequent splits within the party.

consequently ['kɒnsɪkwəntli] adv as a result of something that has just been mentioned □ We took on extra work, and consequently, an additional member of staff had to be hired.

conservation [ˌkɒnsə'veɪʃn] n -1. [of nature, a painting, building] the preservation and protection of something □ a conservation project. -2. [of energy, water] the careful use of something to stop it being wasted or lost □ energy conservation.

conservation area n in Britain, an area that is officially protected because of its natural beauty, or its historical or architectural importance.

conservationist [ˌkɒnsə'veɪʃnəst] n a person who works or campaigns to protect the environment.

conservatism [kən'sɜː'veɪtɪzəm] n [of attitudes, ideas, methods] the state of being conservative.

◆ Conservatism n the policies and ideas of a Conservative Party.

conservative [kən'sɜː'veɪtɪv] ◇ adj -1. [person] who likes established and traditional things and dislikes change □ conservative ideas/attitudes. -2. a conservative estimate/guess etc an estimate/a guess etc that one deliberately makes lower than one thinks the real amount is to avoid exaggerating □ At a conservative estimate, we should make $3 million in the next year. ◇ n a conservative person.

◆ Conservative ◇ n a member or supporter of a Conservative Party. ◇ adj: a Conservative MP/policy.

Conservative Party n the Conservative Party in Britain, Australia, and Canada, a center-right political party that is in favor of free enterprise and against Socialism.

conservatory [US kən'sɜːrvətɔːri, GB '-sɜːvətɔːri] (pl conservatories) n a room, usually attached to a house, with glass walls and a roof that is used for sitting in or growing plants in.

conserve [vb kən'sɜːv, n 'kɒnsɜːv] ◇ vt [energy, water, electricity] to prevent <sthg> from being wasted or lost by using it carefully □ More can be done to conserve the Earth's resources. ◇ n jam that contains whole fruit or large pieces of fruit □ raspberry conserve.

consider [kən'sɪdə] vt -1. [proposal, possibility] to think carefully about <sthg>, especially before making a decision about it □ She's being considered for the post of manager. □ I need time to consider my future. -2. [budget, consequences, somebody's feelings] to remember <sb/sthg> and think about how they will be affected before making a decision □ You have your family to consider above all. ■ all things considered when everything has been thought about carefully □ We haven't done too badly, all things considered. -3. to consider (that)... to believe that something is the case □ He considered (that) the use of firearms in this case was justified. □ I have always considered her to be a friend. □ This sort of behavior would be considered unacceptable by most people.

considerable [kən'sɪdrəbl] adj [damage, number, expense] that is large in amount or size □ He lost a considerable sum of money.

considerably [kən'sɪdrəblɪ] adv considerably greater/less etc much greater/less etc □ We were considerably better-off before the move. □ Relations between locals and the police have improved considerably.

considerate [kən'sɪdərət] adj [person] who is kind and thoughtful to other people.

consideration [kən,sɪd'ereɪʃn] n -1. careful thought about something □ After due consideration the proposal was rejected. ■ to take sth into consideration [fact, factor] to think about sth before one makes a decision □ It was a good performance, taking into consideration the problems he faced. -2. [for other people] kind attention and care shown to other people □ He showed no consideration for their feelings. -3. a financial/political etc consideration a financial/political etc aspect of something that should be thought about, especially when making a decision □ Money is an important consideration. -4. to be under consideration [question, matter] to be in the process of being considered □ Your application for a loan is presently under consideration.

considered [kən'sɪdərɪd] adj a considered opinion/response etc an opinion/a response etc that is the result of careful thought □ It's my considered opinion that military action at this time would serve no useful purpose.

considering [kən'sɪdərɪŋ] ◇ prep & conj a word used to show that one is taking a particular fact into account □ Considering all the problems we had, it's amazing that we finished on time. □ Considering (that) they'd never met before, they got along very well. ◇ adv a word used at the end of a sentence to show that one did not expect things to turn out as well as they have □ The results are pretty good, considering.

consign [kən'saɪn] vt -1. to consign sth to sb [goods, supplies] to send sth to sb. -2. to consign sth to a place to get rid of sth by putting it in a place □ It's time that old coat was consigned to the trash can! -3. to consign sb to sb to put sb into sb's care or control.

consignee [kən'saɪ'ni:] n the person that something is being sent to.

consignment [kən'saɪnmənt] n a quantity of goods that is being sent to somebody □ a large consignment of medical supplies.

consignment note n the documents that accompany a consignment of goods.

consignor [kən'saɪnə] n a person who consigns goods.

consist [kən'sɪst] ◆ consist in vt fus to consist in sth to have sth as a base or main element (formal use) □ The plan's success consists largely in its simplicity.

◆ consist of vt fus to consist of sb/sth to be made up of sb/sth □ The panel consists of five executive managers.

consistency [kən'sɪstənsɪ] (pl consistencies) n -1. [of a person, argument] see consistent □ Consistency is vital when disciplining young children. -2. [of a substance] the degree of thickness, smoothness, or firmness of something, e.g. food or a liquid □ Add the liquid until the mixture has the consistency of thin cream.

consistent [kən'sɪstənt] adj -1. [person, behavior, quality] that does not vary □ His performance has been consistent all year. □ a consistent approach to punishment. -2. [growth, improvement] that develops in a regular way □ This year has seen a consistent increase in sales. -3. [idea, argument] whose different parts agree with each other □ The new measure is entirely consistent with the government's tough approach to crime.

consistently [kən'sɪstəntli] adv [behave, improve, argue] in a way that does not vary □ They have consistently denied the accusation. □ We produce work to a consistently high standard.

consolation [kən'sə'leɪʃn] n a person or thing that consoles somebody □ If it's any consolation, you're not the only one who got cheated. □ Her work with charities was a great consolation to her after her husband died.

consolation prize n a small prize given to somebody who has failed to win a competition.

console [n 'kɒnsəʊl, vb kən'səʊl] ◇ n a panel where the controls for a piece of equipment are situated. ◇ vt to comfort <sb> when they are sad or disappointed □ He consoled himself with the thought that he had learned a lot from the experience.

consolidate [kən'sɒlɪdeɪt] ◇ vt -1. [position, power, knowledge] to strengthen one's control over <sth that one has won or gained> □ Rebel forces have consolidated their earlier gains. -2. BUSINESS to join <two or more companies> together □ consolidated accounts. ◇ vi BUSINESS The two companies have recently consolidated.

consolidation [kən,sɒlɪ'deɪʃn] n: see consolidate □ ACL is concentrating on the consolidation of its existing position in the market.

consols ['kɒnsɒlz] npl FINANCE bonds issued by the British government.

consommé [US kɒnsə'meɪ, GB kɒn'sɒmeɪ] n a clear soup made of meat stock.

consonant ['kɒnsənənt] n a sound made when one is talking that is not a vowel and is made by stopping the air in the mouth; a letter that represents such a sound, e.g. "r", "p", or "t".

consort [vb kən'sɔ:t, n 'kɒnsɔ:t] ◇ vi to consort with sb to spend a lot of time with sb (disapproving use). ◇ n the husband or wife of a king or queen.

consortium [kən'sɔ:tɪjəm] (pl consortiums OR consortia [-tɪjə]) n a group of people or businesses working together on a project □ an American consortium OR a consortium of American companies.

conspicuous [kən'spɪkjʊəs] adj [color, building, failure] that is easy to see and attracts attention □ Such conspicuous wealth attracts envy, of course. □ Simon was conspicuous by his absence at the meeting.

conspicuously [kən'spɪkjʊəsli] adv [dress, fail] see conspicuous □ Any mention of an apology was conspicuously absent. □ Officials have conspicuously avoided any mention of compensation.

conspiracy [kən'spɪərəsi] (pl conspiracies) n a secret plan by a group of people to do something harmful or dishonest together □ He became convinced there was a conspiracy against him.

conspirator [kən'spɪrətə] n a person who takes part in a conspiracy.

conspiratorial [kən'spɪrətɔ:riəl] adj [look, smile, whisper] that shows one shares a secret with somebody.

conspire [kən'spaɪə] vi -1. [people] to take part in a conspiracy □ They conspired to kill him. □ They have been accused of conspiring with/against the unions. -2. [events, circumstances] to combine to cause a particular result □ Various factors have conspired to bring about the latest crisis.

constable ['kɒnstəbl] n GB the lowest rank of police officer.

Constable ['kɒnstəbl], John (1776–1837) a British artist, well known for his paintings of English landscapes. His most famous picture is The Haywain.

constabulary [kən'stæbjələri] (pl constabularies) n GB the police force of a particular area □ the Sussex constabulary.

constancy ['kɒnstənsɪ] n: see constant.

constant ['kɒnstənt] adj -1. [temperature, speed, support] that stays at the same level □ Demand for our services has remained fairly constant. -2. [attacks, arguments] that happen very often or that never stop □ I've had to put up with constant criticism. □ He's in constant pain. -3. [friend, husband, wife] who is always faithful (literary use).

Constantine (the Great) [ˌkɒnstəntaɪn(də'greɪt)] (280?–337) a Roman emperor who established the city of Constantinople and the Byzantine Empire, and made Christianity the official religion.

constantly ['kɒnstəntli] adv in a way that stays at the same level or happens often □ The world is constantly changing. □ My job keeps me constantly busy.

constellation [ˌkɒnstə'leɪʃn] n ASTRONOMY a group of stars that has been given a name.

consternation [ˌkɒnstə'neɪʃn] n a feeling of worry or fear □ The statement caused consternation among community leaders.

constipated [ˌkɒnstɪpeɪtəd] adj [person] who has difficulty emptying their bowels.

constipation [ˌkɒnstɪ'peɪʃn] n the condition of being constipated □ Eat a high-fiber diet to avoid constipation.

constituency [kən'stɪtʃuənsɪ] (pl constituencies) n the area of a country, region etc that elects somebody to represent it in parliament; the people who vote in this area.

constituency party n GB a regional section of a political party.

constituent [kən'stɪtʃuənt] ◇ adj the constituent parts/members etc of sthg the parts/members etc that combine to form sthg □ All of the alliance's constituent countries are taking part. ◇ n -1. POLITICS a voter in a constituency. -2. one of the parts that something is made from □ The constituents of water are hydrogen and oxygen.

constitute ['kɒnstɪtju:t] vt -1. to form or make up <sthg> □ This is a challenge for all the countries that constitute the European Union. □ Women constitute less than 10% of applicants. -2. [threat, victory] to mean the same as <sthg> □ This constitutes a breach of privacy. -3. [committee, panel] to create <sthg> □ A working party was constituted to investigate the problem.

constitution [ˌkɒnstɪ'tju:ʃn] n -1. [of a country] the set of laws that describe the way a country is governed and the rights of its citizens. -2. [of a person] one's general health □ He has a strong constitution. -3. [of a committee, working party] the way in which different elements combine to form something.

📖 CONSTITUTION

In the USA and Australia, the system of government is described in a written constitution. The US Constitution was written in 1787, and the Australian one in 1901. Changes to the US Constitution have to be approved by the Supreme Court. In Australia, people vote to approve any proposed change, which must have the support of the majority of voters in at least four states.

The British Constitution has no written form. It has developed through history, as laws have been made and changed.

constitutional [ˌkɒnstɪ'tju:ʃnəl] adj -1. [change, crisis, right] that is connected with the constitution of a country or organization □ It's all part of the constitutional process. -2. [government, right] that is allowed by the constitution of a country □ The king can only be deposed by constitutional means.

constitutional monarch n a king or queen who is the head of a constitutional monarchy.

constitutional monarchy n a system of government with a king or queen whose power is limited by a constitution and in which most important decisions are made by elected politicians; a country that has this system.

constrain [kən'streɪn] vt -1. to be constrained to do sthg to be or feel forced to do something one does not want to do □ He felt constrained to agree to the decision. -2. [feeling, freedom, development] to limit the size, expression, or growth of <sthg> □ They were constrained from expressing their true opinions by an outdated law.

constrained [kən'streɪnd] adj [manner, smile] that is awkward and seems forced.

constraint [kən'streɪnt] n -1. something that limits or controls what somebody does □ They are subject to the constraints of time and money. □ There are certain constraints on their activities. -2. self-control □ He showed remark-

- able constraint. -3. to do sthg under constraint to do sthg because one has been forced to do it □ I'll do it, but under constraint.
- constrict [kən'strɪkt] vt -1. [neck, wrist, blood vessel] to make <sthg> narrower or tighter □ The bandage can be tightened to constrict the flow of blood. -2. [person] to limit the actions of <sb> □ I felt very constricted in my role as Chairman.
- constriction [kən'strɪkʃn] n: see constrict □ Remove any tight articles of clothing that may cause constriction.
- constricting [kən'strɪktɪŋ] adj -1. [clothes, shoes] that are too tight and limit the way one moves □ This jacket is very constricting. -2. [circumstances, system, situation] that constricts somebody □ Army life is very constricting.
- construct [vb kən'strʌkt, n 'kɒnstrʌkt] ◇ vt -1. [building, boat, bridge] to build <sthg> □ The floor was constructed out of blocks of wood. -2. [sentence, argument, theory] to form <sthg> by putting parts together □ The new evidence demolishes their carefully constructed case. ◇ n a complex idea that is formed in one's mind (formal use) □ Some philosophers believe that religion is just a mental construct.
- construction [kən'strʌkʃn] n -1. [of a building, bridge] the act of building something □ The tunnel's construction will be financed privately. □ Construction work begins next month. ■ to be under construction to be in the process of being built □ Several major new buildings are under construction. -2. the area of work and business connected with the construction of buildings, bridges etc □ the construction industry □ a construction worker/site/company. -3. something, e.g. a building or bridge, that has been built; the way that this has been built □ a massive brick construction □ a model ship of elaborate construction.
- constructive [kən'strʌktɪv] adj [criticism, attitude, person] that is useful and helpful rather than damaging or negative □ Both sides described the talks as "constructive."
- construe [kən'stru:ɪ] vt [word, behavior] to understand <sthg> in a particular way (formal use) □ In fact, their words could be construed as a challenge to the West.
- consul ['kɒnsəl] n an official who is appointed by the government of a country to help and protect its citizens and its business interests in a foreign city □ the US consul in Athens.
- consular [US 'kɒnslər, GB 'kɒnsjələ] adj [office, section, duties] see consul.
- consulate [US 'kɒnslət, GB 'kɒnsjələt] n the building where a consul lives or works.
- consult [kən'sʌlt] ◇ vt -1. [friend, doctor, lawyer] to ask <sb>, especially an expert>, for advice on something serious □ I consult her about everything. -2. [dictionary, map] to read <sthg> for information □ After consulting our records, it appears you still have not paid the amount due. ◇ vi to consult with sb to talk to and exchange ideas with sb, especially sb who knows a lot about a particular subject.
- consultancy [kən'sʌltənsɪ] (pl consultancies) n BUSINESS a company whose business is to give advice on a particular subject □ a design/management consultancy.
- consultancy fee n a fee paid to a person or company for professional advice.
- consultant [kən'sʌltənt] n -1. BUSINESS a person whose job is to give expert professional advice □ a management/design consultant. -2. GB MEDICINE a senior hospital doctor who specializes in a particular field of medicine □ a consultant pediatrician.
- consultation [ˌkɒnsʌl'teɪʃn] n -1. [before a decision] a discussion, usually held in order to make a decision about something □ Parents can now make better choices for their children in consultation with schools. -2. [for advice] a discussion in which somebody is consulted for advice. -3. [of a dictionary, map] see consult.
- consulting room [kən'sʌltɪŋ] n GB a room where a doctor sees patients.
- consumables [kən'su:məblz] npl goods that people need to buy, often because they have to be replaced after being used.
- consume [kən'sju:m] vt -1. [food, drink] to eat or drink <sthg> (formal use) □ The device shows how much alcohol you have consumed. □ As a nation, we consume far too much fat. -2. [fuel, time, resource] to use <sthg> □ We are consuming the world's supply of solid fuels at an alarming rate. □ These heaters consume far less energy than the old ones. -3. [person] to fill the thoughts or feelings of <sb> (literary use) □ He was consumed by jealousy.
- consumer [kən'sju:mə] n a person who buys and uses goods and services □ consumer advice/protection/rights.
- consumer credit n personal credit that allows somebody to buy goods.
- consumer durables npl goods, e.g. cars or televisions, that people do not buy often because they are expected to last a long time.
- consumer goods npl goods that people buy and use in everyday life.
- consumerism [kən'sju:məɪzɪzəm] n -1. the idea that buying and selling a lot of consumer goods is desirable for a strong economy. -2. the protection of the rights and interests of consumers.
- consumer price index n US a system of figures that shows how the prices of a list of goods have increased over a period of time, used to show changes in the cost of living.
- consumer society n a society in which the production and buying of consumer goods is very important.
- consumer spending n money spent on consumer goods.
- consuming [kən'sju:mɪŋ] adj a consuming interest/passion etc an interest/a passion etc that one gives all of one's energy and enthusiasm to □ Dance was her consuming passion.
- consummate [adj 'kɒnsəmət, vb 'kɒnsəmeɪt] ◇ adj (formal use) -1. [skill, happiness] that is very great □ The champion won with consummate ease. -2. [liar, politician, actor] who is very skillful □ She's a consummate actress. ◇ vt -1. to consummate a marriage to make a marriage complete by having sexual intercourse. -2. [deal, achievement] to complete <sthg>.

consummation [ˌkɒnsə'meɪʃn] n [of a marriage] see consummate.

consumption [kən'sʌmpʃn] n [of food, fuel] see consume □ We must reduce our consumption of imported timber. □ fuel consumption charges.

cont. -1. abbr of continued. -2. GRAMMAR abbr of continuous.

contact ['kɒntækt] ◇ n -1. the act or state of touching somebody or something □ physical contact □ Keep one foot in contact with the ground. -2. [by telephone, letter] the act of communicating with somebody, especially by telephoning or writing to them □ Have you been in contact with them? □ We are no longer in contact. ■ to lose contact with sb to no longer see sb or hear from them. ■ to make contact with sb to begin to communicate with sb. -3. to come into contact with sb/sthg to know or be affected by sb/sthg as a result of one's experiences □ It's not known when she came into contact with the disease. -4. [in a country, organization] a person who one knows and who may be useful □ a business contact □ He's got lots of contacts in the movie business.

◇ vt to communicate with <sb> by phone, fax etc, especially in order to give or ask for information □ We'll contact you when we have the results. □ You can contact me at this number.

contact lens n a small lens that fits directly onto one's eye and is worn instead of glasses as a way of improving one's eyesight.

contact number n a telephone number where somebody can be contacted.

contact sport n a sport such as football in which players are allowed to touch each other during games, and which can be rough.

contagious [kən'teɪdʒəs] adj -1. [disease] that is spread by physical contact. -2. [laughter, enthusiasm] that spreads quickly to other people.

contain [kən'teɪn] vt -1. to hold or to have <sthg> inside □ Each pack contains twenty cigarettes. -2. [message, sugar, fat] to have <sthg> as a part □ The food contains additives and preservatives. □ This movie contains scenes of a sexually explicit nature. □ Her story does contain some truth. -3. [one's anger, excitement] to keep  hidden and under control □ He could hardly contain his enthusiasm. ■ to contain oneself to control a particular strong feeling, so that other people do not notice it. -4. [epidemic, fire, revolt] to limit <sthg> so that it does not spread □ Firemen fought to contain the blaze.

container [kən'teɪnə] n -1. something that is designed to contain things, e.g. a box or bottle □ a plastic/glass container. -2. TRANSPORT a large rectangular box, usually made of metal, used for transporting goods on trucks and ships; the amount of something contained in this box.

containerize, -ise [kən'teɪnəraɪz] vt -1. to transport <goods, cargo> etc in containers. -2. to make changes to  so that containers can be used there.

container ship n a ship that is designed to transport goods in containers.

containment [kən'teɪnmənt] n -1. [of one's excitement, an epidemic, enemy] see contain. -2. POLITICS the process or policy of limiting the power of another country □ a policy of containment.

contaminate [kən'tæmɪneɪt] vt [water, blood, food] to make <sthg> dangerous or harmful by adding something dirty or poisonous to it, often by accident □ rivers contaminated with or by sewage.

contaminated [kən'tæmɪneɪtəd] adj [water, blood, food] that has been made dangerous or harmful by the addition of something dirty or poisonous □ The buildings had been erected on contaminated land.

contamination [kən'tæmɪneɪʃn] n: see contaminate □ the contamination of rivers by agricultural runoff.

cont'd abbr of continued.

contemplate ['kɒntəmpleɪt] ◇ vt -1. [idea, thought] to think deeply and seriously about <sthg>, especially when it is connected with what one might do in the future □ They are contemplating selling the company. -2. [sunset, flower] to look at <sthg> thoughtfully (literary use).

contemplation [ˌkɒntəmpleɪʃn] n the act of thinking deeply about something □ She was lost in contemplation.

contemplative [kən'templətɪv] adj [person, life] that is thoughtful and quiet.

contemporary [US kən'tempərəri, GB -rəri] (pl contemporaries) ◇ adj -1. [art, design] that is modern and belongs to the present time □ He also writes a lot of contemporary music. -2. [account, report, event] that belongs to the same period □ He was contemporary with Lincoln. ◇ n a person living at the same time as another person; a person who is the same age as another person □ She was a contemporary of Frank Pugh. □ He's a contemporary of yours, I believe.

contempt [kən'tempt] n -1. dislike for something or somebody that one thinks is unpleasant, unimportant, and worthless □ I feel nothing but contempt for him/his policies. ■ to hold sb in contempt to feel contempt for sb. -2. LAW contempt (of court) the crime of disobeying the rules of a court, e.g. by being rude to a judge or by failing to appear in court when requested.

contemptible [kən'temptəbl] adj [person, manner, behavior] that one feels deserves contempt □ I think it's contemptible the way he's behaved toward her.

contemptuous [kən'temptʃuəs] adj [person, look, remark] that shows contempt □ He's contemptuous of anyone else's work.

- contend [kən'tend] ◇ vi -1. to have to contend with sb/sthg, to have sb/sthg to contend with to have to deal with sb/sthg that may cause one difficulty or problems □ Don't do it again, or you'll have me to contend with. -2. to contend for sthg [for power, a trophy] to compete for sthg. ■ to contend with sb to compete with sb for something. ◇ vt to contend (that)... to claim that something is true □ He contended (that) his client could not have known the firm was exporting military equipment.
- contender [kən'tendə] n a person who is competing with other people for something, e.g. a job or sports title □ He was a leading contender for the post.
- content [adj & vb kən'tent, n 'kɒntent] ◇ adj [person] who is happy and satisfied with what they have □ He seems quite content with his new life. ■ to be content to do sthg to be happy to do sthg and not wish to do more. ◇ n -1. the amount of a particular substance contained in something □ food with a high fiber content. -2. the things that are written or spoken about in a book, program, speech etc □ His movies are all style and no content. ◇ vt to content oneself with sthg to be satisfied with sthg □ We've never contented ourselves with coming second.
- ◆ contents npl -1. [in a bottle, bag] everything that is contained inside something □ He emptied the contents of the bin on the floor. -2. [of a letter, document] everything that is said in a piece of writing □ I haven't yet seen the contents of the report. -3. [in a book, magazine] a list at the beginning of a book or magazine which gives the title of each chapter or article and its page number □ the contents page.
- contented [kən'tentəd] adj [person] who is satisfied, happy, and does not want things to be changed □ She gave a contented smile.
- contentedly [kən'tentədli] adv [smile, sit] see contented □ Gary hummed contentedly as we drove along.
- contention [kən'tenʃn] n (formal use) -1. [by a person] an opinion or idea that is expressed, e.g. during an argument or discussion □ It is my contention that the other proposal offers better opportunities. -2. [among people] angry disagreement or argument □ Privatization is an issue of contention within the government. -3. to be in contention for sthg to be in a competition and have a chance of winning sthg.
- contentious [kən'tenʃəs] adj [issue, subject, decision] that is likely to cause a lot of disagreement and argument.
- contentment [kən'tentmənt] n a feeling of quiet happiness and satisfaction with one's situation □ a feeling of peace and contentment.
- contest [n 'kɒntest, vb kən'test] ◇ n -1. a competition, usually decided by specially chosen judges, in which two or more people try to win something □ a fishing contest. -2. a struggle between different people who want to win power □ She has little chance in the contest for the leadership of the party. ◇ vt -1. [leadership, election, competition] to try to win <sthg> □ a hotly contested tennis tournament.
- 2. [decision, statement, claim] to argue against <sthg> because one believes it is wrong or unreasonable (formal use).
- contestant [kən'testənt] n a person who takes part in a competition, game, quiz etc in order to try to win □ Our third contestant is Mr Knight from Stockton.
- context ['kɒntekst] n -1. the words and sentences that come before and after a word, sentence etc and affect or help to explain its meaning □ Try to work out the meaning from the context. ■ to use/quote etc sthg out of context to use/quote etc sthg without its context, with the result that it is likely to be misunderstood □ These comments should not be taken out of context. -2. the circumstances in which something happens and which one needs to know about to understand it completely □ Seen in a world context, these shortages have little importance.
- continent ['kɒntinənt] n one of the earth's large areas of land, e.g. Europe, Asia, or Africa □ the continent of Africa OR the African continent.
- ◆ Continent n the Continent GB a phrase used by people in Britain to talk about the rest of western Europe □ a holiday on the Continent.
- continental [,kɒntɪ'nentl] adj -1. [waters, crust] see continent. -2. GB [food, city] that belongs to or is part of the Continent □ a continental holiday.
- continental breakfast n a light breakfast consisting of bread, rolls or buns, and coffee or tea, but no hot cooked dish.
NOTE: Compare English breakfast.
- continental climate n GB a climate that is very hot in summer, very cold in winter, and usually quite dry.
- Continental Congress n the Continental Congress the law-making body of the thirteen North American colonies before and during the American Revolution.
- continental quilt n GB a large bag filled with feathers or synthetic fiber that is used instead of blankets on a bed.
- contingency [kən'tɪndʒənsɪ] (pl contingencies) n an event that might happen in the future and might cause problems if it does □ You must be prepared for all contingencies.
- contingency plan n a plan that is ready to be used if something goes wrong.
- contingent [kən'tɪndʒənt] ◇ adj to be contingent on OR upon sthg to depend on sthg that may or may not happen (formal use). ◇ n -1. MILITARY a group of soldiers, police, vehicles etc that is part of a larger group. -2. [at a conference, meeting] a group of people representing a country, organization etc □ There was a large Australian contingent at our sales promotion.
- continual [kən'tɪnjuəl] adj -1. [noise, growth, fear] that continues without stopping, often for a long time □ We lived under the continual threat of starvation. -2. [demands, interruptions, warnings] that happen many times, often over a long period of time □ There have been continual calls for his release.

continually [kən'tɪnjuəli] adv [grow, change, demand] see continual □ He was continually complaining about the food.

continuation [kən,tɪnju'eɪʃn] n -1. [of talks, work, a game] see continue □ We are unable to offer you a continuation of your contract. -2. [of a road, book, voyage] something which is added to something else and makes it longer □ My lecture today is a continuation of last week's.

continue [kən'tɪnju:] ◇ vt -1. [studies, talks, supper] to keep doing <sthg> without stopping □ I intend to continue my career in France. □ The band continued to play OR playing late into the night. -2. [concert, game, work] to start doing <sthg> again after a break or interruption □ 'To be continued' □ "And so we move on to our next topic," he continued.

◇ vi -1. [noise, fighting, rain] to go on happening or existing for some time without stopping □ If interest rates continue to rise, we'll be bankrupt before long. □ She will continue to be the director until we find a replacement. □ I no longer wish to continue as an employee of the company. □ The doctor told me to continue with the treatment. -2. [concert, game, speaker] to start again after a break or interruption □ The article continues on page 15. □ The chairman made a few comments and then asked me to continue. -3. [person, vehicle, road] to keep moving, traveling, or going somewhere □ We continued along the path.

continuity [ˌkɒntə'nju:ətɪ] n -1. the quality of something that develops and continues in a smooth way without any sudden unwanted changes □ The party has to ensure continuity in its political programs. -2. CINEMA & TV the correct arrangement of scenes in a movie or television program so that one follows another logically and without sudden breaks.

continuous [kən'tɪnjuəs] adj -1. [rain, supply, line] that continues all the time without stops or breaks □ There has been a continuous stream of telephone calls to protest. -2. GRAMMAR a word used to refer to the form of a verb that describes an action while it is still happening. This form is made using the verb "to be", as in the phrases "she is thinking" and "I was working".

continuous assessment n EDUCATION the system of judging students' progress regularly throughout a course rather than by an examination at the end of it.

continuously [kən'tɪnjuəsli] adv [rain, complain, increase] see continuous □ Their TV is on continuously from morning till night.

contorted [kən'tɔ:təd] adj [body, image] that is twisted or bent so that it becomes an unnatural and unattractive shape □ His face was contorted with anger.

contortion [kən'tɔ:ʃn] n a position or shape produced when something becomes contorted.

contour ['kɒntʊə] n -1. [of a face, coastline] the shape of the outside edge of something, especially something that has a lot of curves □ contraband ['kɒntrəbænd] ◇ adj [cigarettes, goods] that are brought into a country illegally, usually to avoid paying tax. ◇ n contraband goods □ Customs officials seized $3 million worth of contraband.

Her dress showed off the contours of her body. -2. [on a map] a line on a map showing how high places are above sea level □ a contour map/line.

contraception [ˌkɒntrə'sepʃn] n methods used to prevent a woman from becoming pregnant □ What form of contraception do you use?

contraceptive [ˌkɒntrə'septɪv] ◇ adj [method, device] that is intended to prevent a woman from becoming pregnant. ◇ n a contraceptive device, pill etc □ an oral contraceptive.

contraceptive pill n a small pill containing hormones that a woman takes regularly to prevent her from becoming pregnant.

contract [n 'kɒntrækt, vb kən'trækt] ◇ n a formal agreement, usually in writing, that often concerns money in return for work, services etc □ a contract of employment □ The two parties then signed the contract. □ We won the contract for the new bridge. ■ to put work out to contract to employ a firm or person to do some work instead of doing it oneself.

◇ vt -1. BUSINESS [company, builder] to get <sb> to do some work according to conditions written down in a contract □ contracted labor □ We contracted Vincents to do the cleaning. -2. MEDICINE [malaria, measles] to get  (formal use) □ She contracted hepatitis in the tropics. -3. [name, word] to make <sthg> shorter by removing some letters. -4. ANATOMY to make  tighter and shorter.

◇ vi [metal, muscle, sales] to become smaller □ Our business is contracting as demand falls.

◆ contract in vi GB to agree formally, and usually in writing, to join or take part in something □ You have the opportunity to contract in to the company pension plan.

◆ contract out ◇ vt sep to contract sth out [services, work] to have sth done by somebody from outside one's organization, according to conditions written down in a contract □ The university has contracted out security to a private company. ◇ vi GB to agree formally, and usually in writing, not to join or take part in something □ We are contracting out of the company pension plan.

contraction [kən'trækʃn] n -1. [of a metal, muscle, sales] see contract □ a muscular contraction. -2. [of a name, word] a shortened form of a word or words.

contractor [kən'træktə] n a person or company that does a particular job for another company, especially building or public works □ a cleaning contractor.

contractual [kən'træktʃuəl] adj [obligations, agreement] that is described or listed in a contract □ The company was accused of failing to fulfil its contractual obligations to employees.

contradict [ˌkɒntrə'dɪkt] vt -1. [person, statement, opinion] to show that one thinks <sb/sthg> is wrong, by saying something very different or disagreeing □ Why do you contradict everything I say? -2. [statement, claim, idea] to be different from <sthg> and make it seem wrong □ Their statements contradict each other.

contradiction [ˌkɒntrə'dɪkʃn] n -1. a difference between two statements, facts etc that shows that they cannot both be true □ There seems to be a contradiction between our records and your invoice. ■ a contradiction in terms a phrase or sentence that is meaningless because it contains two different ideas that cannot both be true. -2. a difference between parts of somebody's character, behavior etc that is difficult to understand or accept □ She's full of contradictions.

contradictory [ˌkɒntrə'dɪktəri] adj [statements, reports] that are so different that they cannot both be true.

contraflow [ˌkɒntrə'fləʊ] n a contraflow (system) GB AUTO a temporary system on a road where traffic going in both directions uses one side of the road only, usually because the other side is being repaired.

contralto [US kən'træltəʊ, GB -'trɑ:ltoʊ] (pl contraltos) n a woman's singing voice that is quite low; a woman who has this kind of voice.

contraption [kən'træpʃn] n a strange or complicated machine or piece of equipment.

contrary ['kɒntrəri, adj sense 2 kən'treəri] ◇ adj -1. [ideas, attitudes, directions] that are completely different from each other □ His opinions are contrary to mine and we'll never agree. -2. [person] who likes disagreeing with other people and behaving unreasonably □ My boss can be so contrary at times.

◇ n the contrary the opposite □ He always says the contrary to what I say. □ "Were you upset?" — "Quite the contrary, I was delighted."

■ on the contrary a phrase used to introduce a statement or opinion that corrects what has just been said or suggested by somebody else □ She's not fat; on the contrary, she's rather thin. ■ to the contrary a phrase used to say that the opposite of what has been arranged, said etc is true □ Despite evidence to the contrary, many people still believe the drug is effective. □ If you don't hear anything to the contrary, aim to arrive at about 7pm.

◆ contrary to prep a phrase used to emphasize that something is true even if something else makes it seem unlikely or wrong □ Contrary to all advice, she married him. □ Contrary to what people say, she's not that bad to work for.

contrast [n US 'kɒntræst, GB -'trɑ:st, vb US kən'træst, GB -trɑ:st] ◇ n -1. a difference that can be seen when two things are compared with each other □ the contrast between summer and winter □ This year's performance makes a striking contrast with OR to last year's. ■ by OR in contrast a phrase used to emphasize the differences between two things □ Last year we did badly, but this year, by contrast, we have made a profit. ■ in contrast with OR to sb/sthg in a way that is very different than sb/sthg

□ In contrast to his sister, he works very hard. □ In marked contrast to earlier statements, the General adopted a conciliatory tone. -2. something or somebody that is very different to something or somebody else □ Their new house is a complete contrast to their old one.

◇ vt to compare <two things> in order to show how different they are □ It's interesting to contrast the styles of the two players. □ If we contrast this year's figures with last year's, we can see an improvement.

◇ vi [actions, statements] to be very different from each other when compared □ Blue contrasts well with yellow. □ The two reports contrast sharply.

contrasting [US kən'træstɪŋ, GB -'trɑ:stɪŋ] adj [colors, personalities, views] that are very different when compared with each other □ The room was painted in contrasting shades of red and blue.

contravene [ˌkɒntrə'veɪn] vt [law, treaty] to be against the rules or terms of <sthg> (formal use).

contravention [ˌkɒntrə'venʃn] n: see contravene □ They attacked the town, in direct contravention of the ceasefire agreement.

contribute [US kən'trɪbjət, GB -ju:t] ◇ vt -1. [to a fund, cause] to give <money> to help pay for something □ We contributed $150 toward the cost of the trip. -2. [to a discussion, debate] to make <comments, suggestions> etc as part of a discussion or debate □ I have nothing more to contribute to this conversation. -3. [to a magazine, book] to write <sthg> for a magazine, book etc □ Dr Williams has contributed several articles to the journal.

◇ vi -1. [to a collection, charity, conversation] to contribute something that makes something increase, develop, or get better □ Everyone contributed in their own individual way. □ Your work has contributed greatly to our increase in profits. -2. to contribute to sthg [to an event, change, problem] to be one of the causes of sthg □ Unemployment is contributing to the increase in crime. -3. to contribute to sthg [to a magazine, book] to write articles for sthg.

contributing [US kən'trɪbjətɪŋ, GB -jʊtɪŋ] adj [factor, cause] that is part of the reason why something happens □ Poverty is one of the contributing factors in the rise of urban crime.

contribution [ˌkɒntrɪ'bju:ʃn] n -1. [to a fund, cause] money given to help pay for or support something □ They agreed to make a contribution to charity. □ a contribution of $3,000. -2. [to science, safety, peace] something, e.g. help, work, or a service, that somebody or something gives to help something to succeed □ She has made a valuable contribution to medical science. -3. [to a debate, discussion] something, e.g. an idea or comment, that one contributes to a discussion or debate □ Thank you for that most interesting contribution to the discussion. -4. [to a magazine, book] an article, essay, poem etc written for a magazine or book □ We have received contributions from journalists all over the world. -5. GB FINANCE money that the government takes from people's wages to pay for public health and pensions □ National Insurance contributions.

contributor [kən'trɪbjətəʃ] n -1. [to funds, a cause] a person who gives money to help pay for something □ Britain is a major contributor to EU funds. -2. [to a magazine, book] a person who writes for a magazine, book etc □ Christine Lowe is a regular contributor to the magazine.

contributory [US kən'trɪbjətɔːrɪ, GB -trɪbjətəri] adj [factor, cause] = contributing.

contributory pension scheme n GB a pension scheme for employees in which pensions are paid for partly by themselves and partly by their employers.

contrite [US kən'traɪt, GB 'kɒntraɪt] adj [person] who is sorry and apologetic for something they have done (formal use).

contrition [kən'trɪʃn] n the feeling one has when one is contrite.

contrivance [kən'traɪvns] n -1. a machine or piece of equipment, especially an unusual one made for a particular purpose. -2. a clever plan or trick that is usually dishonest or unfair (disapproving use).

contrive [kən'traɪv] vt (formal use) -1. [meeting, scheme] to arrange <sthg> in a clever way, often secretly and by using tricks or dishonesty □ The scandal has been deliberately contrived by the media. -2. to contrive to do sthg to succeed in doing sthg difficult □ Despite the rain, the Finnish team contrived to produce its best performance all season.

contrived [kən'traɪvd] adj [plot, ending] that does not seem natural or believable.

control [kən'trəʊl] (pt & pp controlled, cont controlling) ◇ n -1. [of a country, organization, machine] the power or ability to make something work or happen the way one wants it to □ The director has control of or over the budget. □ a control switch □ She lost control of the steering wheel. □ They have made a bid to gain control of the business. ■ to take control [of a situation, game] to start to have control of something □ You must learn to take control of your own life. ■ beyond OR outside one's control that one has no power over and is unable to change □ Payments will be delayed due to circumstances beyond our control. ■ to be in control to have control □ Who's in control here? □ They are fully in control of the situation. ■ to be out of control [car, crowd, disease] to be impossible to deal with and likely to cause harm □ His drinking is getting out of control. ■ to be under control [horse, crowd, fire] to have been dealt with and made less dangerous □ The government claims to have brought inflation under control. □ Don't worry, everything's under control. ■ to be under the control of sb [town, area] to be ruled or directed by sb □ The south of the country is under enemy control. -2. [of one's emotions] the ability to stop oneself from becoming too excited, angry, or emotional □ They just lost control and started shooting. -3. [of immigration, spending] a system or method used to limit or prevent something that is harmful or unwanted □ pest/ traffic control □ The administration has imposed controls on or over defense spending. -4. [in an experiment] something used in an experiment as a standard against which the results of the experiment are compared. -5. COMPUTING = control key.

◇ vt -1. [country, company, budget] to have the power to direct, manage, rule, or make decisions about <sthg> □ He controls his business interests from his home in Switzerland. □ a US-controlled company. -2. [crowd, traffic, emotion] to prevent <sb/sthg> from becoming too violent or harmful □ He found it hard to control his anger. ■ to control oneself to stop oneself becoming too excited or emotional. -3. [machine, car, heating] to make  work in the way intended □ This lever controls the supply of fuel. □ They were living in an artificially controlled environment. -4. [inflation, costs, spending] to keep <sthg> at a particular level; [disease, epidemic, pollution] to prevent <sthg> from spreading or getting worse □ The tax is intended to control the rise in imports. □ measures designed to control the spread of AIDS.

◆ controls npl the controls the switches, buttons etc used to make a machine work □ She suddenly found herself sitting at the controls of a 120-seater jet.

control code n an instruction given to a computer using the control key and at least one other key.

control group n a group of people used in an experiment to provide a standard against which the results of the experiment are compared.

control key n a key on a computer keyboard used with other keys to enter commands and perform different operations.

controlled [kən'trəʊld] adj -1. [person] who is able to stop themselves from getting too excited or emotional □ He spoke in a calm, controlled voice. -2. a controlled economy an economy that is directed and limited by the government.

controller [kən'trəʊləʃ] n the head or most important manager of a large organization or department □ The Controller of the national network stood by the decision to broadcast the show.

controlling [kən'trəʊlɪŋ] adj [factor, influence] that is very important in deciding the way in which something happens.

controlling interest n FINANCE ownership of enough shares in a company to be able to direct its policies.

control panel n a board or surface containing the switches and buttons used to operate a machine, car, plane etc.

control room n the part of a factory, power station etc where the central controls for equipment are kept, and where operations can be observed and checked, often on TV screens.

control tower n a building at an airport from which pilots are given instructions about taking off and landing via radio.

controversial [ˌkɒntrəˈvɜːʃl] adj [movie, person, decision] that causes controversy □ The allegations are made in his controversial new book.

controversy [ˈkɒntrəvɜːʃsɪ] (pl controversies) n a lot of argument and discussion caused by something that makes people feel very strongly □ The mayor's speech was the subject of much controversy. □ the controversy over the sale of arms to Iran.

conundrum [kəˈnʌndrəm] (pl conundrums) n a confusing problem that is hard to solve.

conurbation [ˌkɒnɜːˈbeɪʃn] n a large urban area that has been formed by individual towns growing until they join together.

convalesce [ˌkɒnvəˈles] vi to rest for a period of time in order to get completely better after a serious illness or operation.

convalescence [ˌkɒnvəˈlesns] n the period of time in which somebody convalesces.

convalescent [ˌkɒnvəˈlesnt] n a person who is convalescing.

convalescent home n a place where people who are convalescing stay.

convection [kənˈvekʃn] n the movement of heat through air, water etc, that happens as a result of warm parts rising and colder parts sinking □ convection currents.

convector (heater) [kənˈvektəʃ-] n a heater that heats air that then moves around a room by convection.

convene [kənˈviːn] ◇ vt [meeting, conference] to ask people to come to <sthg> □ The meeting was convened last week. ◇ vi [court, parliament] to come together for a formal meeting □ Members of the Board convened last May.

convener [kənˈviːnəʃ] n a person who organizes a meeting and asks people to come to it.

convenience [kənˈviːnjəns] n -1. the quality of being suitable or useful for somebody by saving them time and trouble □ I keep my datebook in my car for convenience. -2. sb's convenience sb's personal comfort or advantage □ A telephone is provided for your convenience. ■ at your convenience when it is easiest for you (formal use). ■ at your earliest convenience as soon as you can (formal use) □ Please reply at your earliest convenience. -3. a machine or piece of equipment that is useful and makes life easier □ The house has every modern convenience.

convenience food n food, especially canned or frozen food, that is easy to store and quick to prepare.

convenience store n a small local store that is open late and sells food, drink, and other basic items.

convenient [kənˈviːnjənt] adj [time, date, place] that is suitable for one's needs or plans and helps one to avoid wasting time or effort □ Will Tuesday be convenient for you? □ I find a bicycle a convenient way to get around town. ■ to be convenient for sthg [for stores, facilities] to be close to sthg □ I chose this area because it's convenient for work.

conveniently [kənˈviːnjəntli] adv: see convenient □ The hotel is conveniently situated downtown.

convent [ˈkɒnvənt] n a building where a group of nuns live.

convention [kənˈvenʃn] n -1. the way of behaving or doing something that is accepted by most people □ He defied convention by wearing jeans. □ a social convention. -2. POLITICS an international agreement about how countries should behave □ international conventions on human rights. -3. [of teachers, doctors] a large meeting of an organization or political party that is usually held once a year □ the Democratic convention.

CONVENTION

The most important political conventions in the USA are the national party conventions, which take place every four years to choose the candidates for president. Party members come from all over the country to represent their state and nominate, or choose, the candidates for president and vice-president; they also help to decide party policies. Conventions usually take place in large halls filled with red, white, and blue signs and balloons. Important party members make speeches during the days before the voting, and there are informal parties in the evenings.

conventional [kənˈvenʃnəl] adj -1. [person, style, taste] that is normal and traditional, in a way that some people may think is boring □ She wears very conventional clothes. -2. [education, medicine, method] that has been used for a long time and is accepted by most people. -3. MILITARY [weapon, warfare] that does not involve nuclear weapons.

conventional oven n an ordinary oven rather than a microwave oven.

conventionally [kənˈvenʃnəli] adv [dress, behave] see conventional □ She was conventionally educated at public school.

convent school n a school for girls run by nuns.

converge [kənˈvɜːdʒ] vi -1. [rivers, paths, roads] to come together and meet □ The paths converge at the top of the hill. ■ to converge on a place [people, traffic] to come to a place in large numbers from many different directions □ Rock fans from all over Europe are converging on London for the event. -2. [interests, societies, views] to become more similar □ The Mexican economy is beginning to converge with those of its neighbors.

conversant [kənˈvɜːsnt] adj to be conversant with sthg [with a method, idea] to know and be familiar with sthg (formal use) □ I'm fully conversant with the latest network systems.

conversation [ˌkɒnvəˈseɪʃn] n an informal talk between two or more people □ I had a long conversation with him over the phone. □ They were deep in conversation. ■ to make conversation to make an effort to talk to somebody, usually in order to be polite.

conversational [ˌkɒnvəʃənəl] adj [style, tone] that is used in friendly conversation.

conversationalist [ˌkɒnvəʃənəlɪst] n a person who is interesting and entertaining when they have conversations.

converse adj US kən'vɜːrs, GB 'kɒnvɜːs, n 'kɒnvɜːs, vb kən'vɜːs (formal use) \diamond adj [opinion, view] that is opposite to something. \diamond n the converse the opposite of something else, especially something that has just been said. \diamond vi to have a conversation with somebody \square I find it very difficult to converse with her.

conversely [kən'vɜːsli] adv a word used to introduce a situation or statement that is the opposite of the one just mentioned (formal use) \square The demand for new housing in the area has fallen over recent years. Conversely, the interest in older properties has shown a marked increase.

conversion [kən'vɜːʃn] n -1. [to a new system, method] the process of changing from one system, method, or form to another \square Conversion from electric to gas heating could be expensive. -2. CONSTRUCTION a room, house etc that has been changed or rebuilt for a new use \square a loft conversion. -3. [to a new belief, religion] a major change in somebody's religious or political beliefs \square His conversion to Catholicism came late in his life. -4. SPORT the act of kicking a rugby ball over the bar between the goalposts after scoring a try to score more points.

conversion table n a list that shows values in one system converted to values in another, e.g. dollars to pounds.

convert [n 'kɒnvɜːt, vb kən'vɜːt] \diamond vt -1. to convert sthg to OR into sthg [currency, machine] to change sthg completely so that it becomes sthg else and can be used in a different way \square The process converts crude oil into petroleum. -2. [person] to persuade <sb> to change their religious or political beliefs or opinions \square At college she was converted to Marxism. -3. [room, house] to change or rebuild  for a new use \square We converted our basement into another bedroom. -4. SPORT to convert a try to score points with a successful conversion. \diamond vi -1. [person] to change one's opinion, religious beliefs, way of doing things etc to something very different \square We're converting from gas to electricity. \square She converted to Islam. -2. [equipment, material] to be able to be changed and used in a different way \square The sofa converts into a bed.

\diamond n a person who has been converted to a new opinion, or to a new religious or political belief \square a recent convert to Christianity/the benefits of exercise.

converted [kən'vɜːtəd] adj [room, building] that has been changed or rebuilt for a new use.

convertible [kən'vɜːtəbl] \diamond adj -1. [bed] that becomes a sofa when it is folded; [sofa] that becomes a bed when it is opened out. -2. [currency] that can easily be exchanged for a different currency. -3. [car] that has a roof that can be folded down or removed. \diamond n a car that is convertible.

convex [kɒn'veks] adj [lens, mirror, surface] that curves outward in the middle.

NOTE: Compare concave.

convey [kən'veɪ] vt -1. [people, cargo, luggage] to take <sb/sthg> from one place to another (formal use) \square The goods will be conveyed by boat. -2. [idea, opinion, thought] to communicate <sthg> to somebody, often indirectly \square I was unable to convey to them what I thought. \square His manner conveyed a slight nervousness.

conveyancing [kən'veɪənsɪŋ] n LAW the process by which the ownership of a house, property etc is legally transferred from one person to another.

conveyor belt, conveyor belt [kən'veɪə-] n a long strip of plastic, rubber etc that moves continuously and is used for moving objects from place to place, especially in factories.

convict [vb kən'vɪkt, n 'kɒnvɪkt] \diamond vt to find <sb> guilty of a crime in a court of law \square She was convicted of fraud and tax evasion. \diamond n a person who has been convicted of a crime and sent to prison \square an escaped convict.

convicted [kən'vɪktəd] adj a convicted killer/rapist etc a person who has been found guilty of killing/raping etc somebody.

conviction [kən'vɪkʃn] n -1. a strong belief \square It is my conviction that there is no such thing as a limited war. -2. the quality that somebody shows when they believe something strongly, and that helps them to persuade other people \square His words lacked conviction. -3. LAW a decision made by a court of law that somebody is guilty of a crime \square She has several previous convictions for shoplifting.

convince [kən'vɪns] vt to make <sb> believe or realize something is true, especially when they doubted it before \square She convinced me (that) she was telling the truth. \square I was unable to convince them of the importance of these findings. ■ to convince sb to do sthg to persuade sb to do sthg \square I tried to convince him not to leave.

convinced [kən'vɪnst] adj [person] who believes something totally \square I'm not convinced of the need to buy a new one. \square Lorna was convinced (that) she'd seen the man someplace before.

convincing [kən'vɪnsɪŋ] adj -1. [person, argument, evidence] that convinces people that something is true \square He didn't sound very convincing to me. -2. [win, victory] that is big enough to show that somebody deserved it \square China won the event by a convincing margin.

convincingly [kən'vɪnsɪŋli] adv [argue, win] see convincing \square He spoke convincingly in favor of lifting the ban.

convivial [kən'vɪvɪəl] adj [group, atmosphere, welcome] that seems cheerful and friendly (formal use).

convoluted ['kɒnvəlʊtəd] adj [sentence, plot, reasoning] that is complicated and difficult to understand (formal use).

convoy ['kɒnvɔɪ] n a group of ships or vehicles traveling together, often for protection \square a naval convoy \square a convoy of trucks. ■ in convoy [drive, travel] together, one behind the other.

convulse [kən'vʌls] vt to be convulsed with sthg [with pain, laughter] to shake suddenly and uncontrollably because of sthg.

convulsion [kən'vʌlʃn] n a sudden and uncontrollable movement of the muscles □ After taking the drug, she went into convulsions.

convulsive [kən'vʌlsɪv] adj [movement, laughter, shiver] that is sudden, violent, and cannot be controlled.

coo [ku:] vi -1. [dove, pigeon] to make a soft sound. -2. [person] to speak in a very soft voice, usually lovingly.

cook [kʊk] ◇ vt -1. [meat, vegetables, meal] to prepare <food> to eat by heating it □ Let me cook you dinner OR cook dinner for you. -2. to cook the books to change the figures in a company's accounts in order to deceive people (informal use). ◇ vi [person] to cook food; [food] to become cooked □ I don't mind cooking tonight. □ Put the pie in a preheated oven and leave it to cook for 20 minutes. ◇ n a person who cooks food, often as a job □ Her husband is an excellent cook.

◆ cook up vt sep to cook sthg up [plan, excuse] to spend time inventing sthg (informal use) □ What are they cooking up now?

Cook [kʊk], Captain James (1728–1779) a British explorer who was the first European to discover Australia, New Zealand, and many Pacific islands.

cookbook ['kʊkbʊk] n a book that shows one how to cook particular dishes.

cooked [kʊkt] adj [food, meal] that has been prepared for eating by heating □ The chicken's only half-cooked.

cooked breakfast n GB a meal of bacon, sausages, fried eggs, tomatoes etc eaten for breakfast.

cooker ['kʊkə] n GB a piece of equipment used in a kitchen for cooking food that consists of a grill, an oven, and some rings, and that uses gas or electricity.

cookery ['kʊkəri] n GB the activity and skills of cooking food □ She teaches cookery.

cookery book n GB = cookbook.

cookie ['kʊki] n US a small flat cake, usually sweetened and flavored and baked until crisp □ a chocolate cookie.

cooking ['kʊkɪŋ] n -1. the activity of cooking food □ cooking utensils. -2. a style of cooking food □ French/vegetarian cooking □ Don't you like my cooking?

cooking apple n a large sour apple used for cooking.

cooking oil n oil taken from a plant or animal that is used for cooking food.

cookout ['kʊkaʊt] n US an event where people cook and eat outdoors.

cool [ku:l] ◇ adj -1. [room, drink, weather] pleasantly cold □ Store in a cool place. -2. [clothing] made of material that is suitable for wearing in hot weather □ I should change into something cooler. -3. [person] who is calm and does not show their emotions, especially when other people do □ Throughout the crisis she re- mained cool and in control. ■ to keep a cool head to stay calm in a difficult situation □ You'll need to keep a cool head during the negotiations. -4. [person, welcome, relationship] that is less friendly and enthusiastic than one expects □ The proposals have met with a cool response from the public. -5. [idea, suggestion] that one approves of and thinks is good (informal use) □ "Why don't we head out of town for a while?" — "Hey, that'd be cool!" -6. [person, clothes, car] that seems attractive and fashionable (informal use) □ Evan looked so cool in his tuxedo!

◇ vt to make <sthg> less hot □ The engine is cooled by air.

◇ vi -1. to become less hot □ Leave the pot to cool. -2. [friendship, anger, love] to become less powerful and intense □ My feelings toward him have cooled since then.

◇ n (informal use) to keep one's cool to remain calm in a difficult situation. ■ to lose one's cool to become excited or angry.

◆ cool down ◇ vt sep -1. to cool sb/sthg down to make sb/sthg less hot. -2. to cool sb down to make sb less angry or excited.

◇ vi -1. [food, engine, person] to become less hot □ I drank some water to cool down after the game. -2. [person] to become less angry or excited □ Let him go and cool down first and then we can talk about it.

◆ cool off vi = cool down.

coolant ['ku:lənt] n a liquid used to keep a machine from becoming too hot.

cool bag n GB a bag made of plastic and used for keeping food cool on a picnic, trip etc.

cooler ['ku:lə] US, cool box GB n a box for keeping food cool on a picnic, trip etc.

cool-headed [-'hedɪd] adj [person, decision] calm and unexcited in a difficult situation.

cooling-off period [,ku:lɪŋ-] n a period of time in which two sides in a dispute can think more calmly about the situation before deciding how to act.

cooling tower n a large round tower at a power station or factory in which water is cooled as part of an industrial process.

coolly ['ku:lɪli] adv -1. [behave, react] in a calm way and without becoming excited. -2. [welcome, say] in a way that is less friendly and enthusiastic than one expects.

coolness ['ku:lɪnəs] n [of the weather, a person, welcome] see cool □ The Chief was praised for his coolness under pressure. □ He felt hurt by her coolness toward him.

coop [ku:p] n a cage for small animals or birds □ a chicken coop.

◆ coop up vt sep to be cooped up to be kept in a small space so that one feels uncomfortable and wants to get out.

co-op ['kəʊp] n = cooperative (informal use).

Cooper ['ku:pə], James Fenimore (1789–1851) a US writer who described life in the Wild West. He wrote the novel The Last of the Mohicans.

cooperate, co-operate [kəʊ'ɒpəreɪt] vi -1. [people, companies, countries] to work together for a purpose that will be good for everybody involved □ The two firms are cooperating on a joint venture to build tramways. □ The USA is cooperating with Canada to find the criminals. -2. [public, witness] to do what somebody else wants in order to help them achieve something □ He refused to cooperate with the police investigation.

cooperation [kou,opə'reiʃn] n -1. [between people, companies, countries] see cooperate □ We need more cooperation among staff members. □ Our new pump was designed in cooperation with a company in Mexico. -2. the act of willingly doing what one is asked in order to help somebody achieve something □ I would like more cooperation from some employees.

cooperative, co-operative [kou'opə'retɪv] adj
-1. [child, witness] who is helpful and willing to do what they are asked □ The staff there are helpful and cooperative. -2. [work, activity] that is carried out by several people working together □ The project was a cooperative effort. -3. a cooperative factory/farm etc a factory/farm etc that is owned and run by the people who work there. ◇ n a cooperative factory, farm, store etc □ an agricultural cooperative.

co-opt [kou'ɒpt] vt to be co-opted onto a committee to be made a member of a committee as the result of being asked by the other members rather than by being elected □ She was co-opted onto the planning committee.

coordinate, co-ordinate [n kou'ɔ:'dɪnət, vt kou-'ɔ:'dɪneɪt] ◇ n one of two numbers or letters that give the precise position of a point on a map or graph. ◇ vt -1. [project, mission, campaign] to organize <sthg> so that all its different parts work well together □ She's responsible for coordinating policy initiatives across the various divisions. -2. to control <movements, muscles> etc so that they work smoothly together □ I found it hard to coordinate both hands when I started playing the piano.

◆ coordinates npl two or more articles of women's clothing that are designed to be worn together.

coordination [kou,ɔ:'dɪn'eɪʃn] n -1. [of a project, mission] see coordinate □ Mr Evans will be responsible for the coordination of the campaign. -2. [in a person] the ability to move different parts of one's body together in a controlled way.

coot [ku:t] n a water bird with black feathers.

co-ownership n ownership of something by two or more people or groups of people.

cop [kɒp] (pt & pp copped, cont copping) (informal use) n a policeman or policewoman □ Who called the cops?

◆ cop out vi to avoid doing something that one ought to do □ You can't just cop out at the last minute.

cope [koup] vi to deal successfully with a difficult situation □ I can't cope any more. □ The system can't cope with so much traffic.

Copenhagen [US 'koupənheɪgən, GB 'koupən-'heɪgən] the capital of Denmark and its largest city. POPULATION: 482,000.

Copernicus [kou'pɜ:'nɪkəs], Nicolas (1473–1543) a Polish astronomer who was the first person to suggest that the sun was at the center of the solar system.

copier ['kopiə] n = photocopier.

copilot ['koupɪlət] n the assistant pilot of an aircraft.

copious ['koupjəs] adj [notes, tears, supply] that exists or is produced in large amounts □ We drank copious amounts of coffee.

Copland ['kouplənd], Aaron (1900–1990) a US classical composer who used traditional folk music and jazz in his work.

cop-out n something that somebody does to avoid doing something that they ought to do (informal use) □ Instead of camping they stayed in a hotel; what a cop-out!

copper ['kɒpə] n -1. a soft reddish-brown metal that is a good conductor of heat and electricity. SYMBOL: Cu □ a copper mine/coin □ copper piping/wire. -2. GB a coin that is worth 1p or 2p.

copperhead ['kɒpə'hed] n a poisonous snake found in the eastern USA.

coppice ['kɒpəs], copse [kɒps] n a small group of trees and bushes.

copulate ['kɒpjəleɪt] vi [people, animals] to have sex (formal use).

copulation [kɒpjə'leɪʃn] n the act of copulating (formal use).

copy ['kɒpi] (pt & pp copied) ◇ n -1. [of a work of art, product] something that has been made to look similar to, or exactly like, something that somebody else has already made or designed □ It's a copy of the original drawing. □ Local workshops make cheap copies of expensive watches imported from the West. -2. [of a letter, document, print] something that looks exactly the same as something else because it has been printed or photocopied from it □ Can you give me a copy of the report? -3. [of a book, newspaper, record] a single example of something of which many have been printed or made □ There's a copy in the library.

◇ vt -1. [person] to try to be like <sb>, e.g. by dressing or behaving like them; [action, behavior] to do <sthg that somebody else has done> in order to be like them □ There is a danger of children copying the violence they see on TV. -2. [idea, piece of work, signature] to make or produce something that is the same as <sthg else>, sometimes in order to cheat □ I copied it from the original. -3. [letter, document, report] to photocopy <sthg>.

◇ vi to cheat during a test, examination etc by copying what somebody else has written.

◆ copy down vt sep to copy sth down [notes, information] to make a written copy of sth that is said or written □ He spoke so fast that we didn't have time to copy down what he said.

◆ copy out vt sep GB = copy over.

◆ copy over vt sep to copy sth over [notes, report] to write sth again completely, using the same words □ I copied over the relevant information.

copycat ['kɒpɪkæt] n a person who copies oth- er people's behavior, ideas, dress etc (informal and disapproving use) □ a copycat killer/murder.

- copy-protect vt COMPUTING to format  so that it cannot be copied.
- copyright ['kɒpɪraɪt] n the right to publish, sell, perform etc an original piece of work for a period of time □ They own the copyright on the software. □ The work/invention is protected by copyright. □ 'Copyright reserved' □ copyright laws. ■ to be in/out of copyright to be protected/not protected by copyright.
- copy typist n GB a typist who copies written material by typing it.
- copywriter ['kɒpɪraɪtə] n a person whose job is to write the words of advertisements.
- coral ['kɒrəl] n a kind of rock found on the seabed that is formed by the skeletons of small sea creatures and is used to make jewelry □ a coral island/necklace.
- coral reef n a reef formed from coral, found in the tropics.
- cord [kɔːd] n -1. [for tying things] thick strong string □ She tied the package up with cord. -2. ELECTRICITY a cable that contains two or three insulated wires for carrying electricity to electrical appliances □ an electric cord. -3. = corduroy □ a cord jacket.
- ◆ cords npl corduroy trousers (informal use) □ a pair of cords.
- cordial [US 'kɔːrdzəl, GB 'kɔːdjəl] ◇ adj [reception, welcome, smile] that is warm and friendly. ◇ n a drink made from fruit juice and sugar to which water is added before drinking □ a lime cordial.
- cordially [US 'kɔːrdzəli, GB 'kɔːdjəli] adv [greet, welcome] see cordial □ You are cordially invited to the wedding of...
- cordless ['kɔːdləs] adj [shaver, drill, phone] that works without an electric cord.
- cordon ['kɔːdn] n a barrier formed by police officers, soldiers, vehicles etc to prevent people entering and leaving an area □ a police cordon.
- ◆ cordon off vt sep to cordon sthg off [area, street] to put a cordon around sthg.
- cordon bleu [US kɔːr,dn'blu, GB ,kɔːdn'blɜː] adj [cook, cooking, recipe] of the highest standard.
- corduroy ['kɔːdərɔɪ] n a thick cotton cloth with parallel raised lines on it, used for making clothes □ a corduroy jacket.
- core [kɔː] ◇ n -1. [of an apple, pear] the hard part in the middle of some fruits that contains the seeds □ an apple core. -2. [of a cable, planet, nuclear reactor] the central part of something □ the temperature at the Earth's core. ■ to the core completely □ The system is rotten to the core. -3. [of a problem, argument, business] the most important part of something □ These proposals form the core of the campaign. ◇ comp -1. a core business/industry the most important business/industry etc. -2. core subjects/a core curriculum EDUCATION subjects/a curriculum that everybody must study, including e.g. math and English. ◇ vt to cut out the core of <an apple>.
- CORE [kɔː] (abbr of Congress on Racial Equality) n a US organization against racism.
- corer ['kɔːrə] n a device for coring apples.
- corespondent [ˌkɒrɪ'spɒndənt] n a person accused of committing adultery with the partner of a person who wants a divorce.
- core time n GB the central period of the day in a flexitime system when everybody must be at work.
- Corfu [kɔː'fuː] a Greek island, off the northwestern coast of the mainland, that is popular with tourists.
- corgi ['kɔːrɡɪ] (pl corgis) n a breed of small dog with short legs and a long body.
- coriander [ˌkɒrɪ'ændə] a plant whose leaves and seeds are used as a flavoring, especially in Asian food.
- cork [kɔːk] n -1. the light springy bark of a kind of oak tree, used to make tiles, mats etc □ a cork mat/tile. -2. a round piece of cork or plastic that is used to block the open end of bottles □ a champagne cork.
- Cork [kɔːk] -1. a county in the south of the Republic of Ireland. SIZE: 7,459 sq kms. POPULATION: 279,427. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Cork. -2. a port on the south coast of Ireland. POPULATION: 127,024.
- corkage ['kɔːkɪdʒ] n GB a charge made by a restaurant for allowing people to drink wine they have brought with them.
- corked [kɔːkt] adj [wine] that tastes and smells bad because the cork has mold in it.
- corkscrew ['kɔːkskruː] n a device for pulling corks out of bottles.
- cormorant ['kɔːmərənt] n a large black seabird with a long neck and hooked beak.
- corn [kɔːn] n -1. US & AUS a tall plant with large yellow seeds that is grown for food. -2. [on one's foot] an area of hard skin formed on the foot that can be painful. -3. GB any plant such as barley, oats, or wheat that is grown as a crop for its seeds; the seeds of such a plant □ vast fields of corn □ a grain of corn.
- Corn abbr of Cornwall.
- Corn Belt: the Corn Belt an agricultural area of the American Midwest, including Iowa and Illinois, that produces large quantities of corn.
- corn bread n a kind of bread made from corn.
- cornea ['kɔːrniə] (pl corneas) n the transparent outer covering of the eye.
- corned beef [ˌkɔːnd-] n beef that has been cut into little pieces, cooked, pressed, and preserved in salt and usually canned.
- corner ['kɔːnə] ◇ n -1. [of a table, page, painting] the angle formed where two lines, edges, or surfaces meet □ She stood in the corner of the room. ■ to cut corners to do something carelessly or ignore rules in order to save time or money □ We'll have to cut a few corners to meet the deadline. -2. [of a street] the place where two streets or roads meet □ I'll meet you on OR at the corner of 76th and Lincoln.

 □ kids hanging around on street corners. -3. [in a road, path] a sharp bend □ A car appeared around the corner. -4. [of the earth, a country] a remote or distant place □ Politicians from all (four) corners of the earth met in Rio. -5. SPORT in soccer and field hockey, a shot taken from one of the corners of the field □ The referee awarded a corner.

◇ vt -1. to put  in a position from which it is difficult to escape; to stop <sb> so that they have to talk to one □ He lashed out like a cornered animal. □ I managed to corner him as he was leaving the office. -2. to corner the market to gain complete control of a particular market by being the only, or the main, supplier □ They've cornered the market in rubber goods.

corner flag n a flag that marks the corner of a playing field in soccer, rugby etc.

corner kick n SPORT [in soccer] = corner.

corner shop n GB = corner store.

cornerstone ['kɔːrnə'stoun] n the cornerstone of sthg [of one's success, a policy, argument] the most basic or essential part of sthg that makes it possible, successful, or true □ One of the cornerstones of our education policy is parental choice.

corner store n US a small store, often on a street corner, that sells food and household goods and is used especially by the people who live nearby.

cornet [US kɔːr'net, GB 'kɔːnɪt] n -1. MUSIC a brass musical instrument similar to a trumpet but smaller. -2. GB a thin crisp wafer shaped like a cone in which ice cream is served.

cornfield ['kɔːrnfi:ld] n a field in which corn is growing.

cornflakes ['kɔːrnfleɪks] npl a breakfast cereal of flakes made from corn and eaten with milk and sometimes sugar □ a box of cornflakes.

cornflour n GB = cornstarch.

cornice ['kɔːrnɪs] n a decorative border on the top edge of the wall of a building or room.

Cornish ['kɔːrnɪʃ] ◇ npl the Cornish people from Cornwall. ◇ adj: see Cornwall. ◇ n the ancient language of Cornwall.

Cornishman ['kɔːrnɪʃmən] (pl Cornishmen [-məni]) n a man from Cornwall.

Cornish pasty n GB a small semicircular pie containing meat and vegetables.

Cornishwoman ['kɔːrnɪʃwʊmən] (pl Cornishwomen) n a woman from Cornwall.

corn oil n oil made from corn and used in cooking, especially to fry food.

corn on the cob n the long, round, sweet-tasting part of the corn plant, cooked and eaten as a vegetable.

cornstarch ['kɔːrnstɑːtʃ] US, cornflour ['kɔːrnflaʊə] GB n flour made from corn, often used in cooking to thicken sauces.

cornucopia [ˌkɔːr'njə'kɔʊpjə] n a large number or amount of good things (literary use).

Cornwall ['kɔːrnwɔːl] a county in the far southwest of England. It is a popular tourist area. SIZE: 3,564 sq kms. POPULATION: 453,100. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: TRURO.

corny ['kɔːrni] (compar cornier, superl corniest) adj [joke, movie] that one thinks is bad because it is not original (informal use) □ That sounds so corny!

corollary [US 'kɔːrələri, GB kə'rɒləri] (pl corollaries) n something that follows logically from something else □ The obvious corollary to increased costs is lower profits.

coronary [US 'kɔːrənəri, GB 'kɒrənri] (pl coronaries), coronary thrombosis [-θrɒm'bɔʊsɪs] (pl coronary thromboses [-i:z]) n a heart attack caused when the flow of blood to the heart is blocked.

coronation [ˌkɒrə'neɪʃn] n the ceremony at which a king or queen is crowned □ a coronation ceremony.

coroner ['kɒrənə] n an official who investigates the cause of violent or suspicious deaths □ a coroner's inquest/report.

Corp abbr of corporation.

corpora ['kɔːpərə] plural of corpus.

corporal ['kɔːprəl] n an officer in the army or air force who is higher in position than a private but lower than a sergeant.

corporal punishment n a form of punishment in which somebody is hit with a stick or a whip.

corporate ['kɔːpərət] adj -1. [boss, affairs, strategy] that is connected with a large business □ a corporate borrower. -2. [existence, responsibility, effort] that is made or created by all the members of a group.

corporate hospitality n things that a large company provides free for the entertainment of its clients, e.g. theater tickets or meals.

corporate identity, corporate image n the image a large business tries to give to the public; the image that the public has of a large business.

corporation [ˌkɔːpə'reɪʃn] n -1. BUSINESS a large company □ the British Broadcasting Corporation. -2. POLITICS a group of people elected to run a city or town □ the Corporation of the City of Boston.

corporation tax n GB a tax on profits that is paid by large businesses.

corps [kɔː] (pl corps) n -1. MILITARY a part of the army which has special duties □ the medical/intelligence corps. -2. a group of people involved in a particular activity together □ the press/diplomatic corps.

corpse [kɔːps] n a dead body.

corpulent ['kɔːpjələnt] adj [person, body] fat (formal use).

corpus ['kɔːpəs] (pl corpora OR corpuses) n a collection of texts.

corpuscle ['kɔːpəsl] n ANATOMY a red or white blood cell □ red blood corpuscles.

- corral [US kə'reɪl, GB -'rɑ:l] n an enclosed area for horses, cattle etc on a ranch or farm.
- correct [kə'rekt] \diamond adj -1. [answer, forecast, time] that is right and accurate \square Yes, that's correct, the answer is ten. -2. [temperature, amount] that is required or is the most suitable \square Rearrange the letters in the correct order. -3. [behavior, dress, views] respectable or socially acceptable \square It was all very correct and proper. \diamond vt -1. [mistake, eyesight, behavior] to make correct <sthg that is not correct> \square Correct me if I'm wrong, but don't I know you? \square We have to correct people's impression that we're a failure. -2. [work, spelling] to write corrections on <sthg> \square Teachers have to correct homework in their own time.
- correcting [kə'rektɪŋ] n US the activity of checking and correcting a piece of homework or an exam and giving it a grade to show how good or bad it is.
- correction [kə'rekʃn] n -1. [of a mistake, one's eyesight, work] the act of correcting somebody or something \square There are a few passages that are in need of correction. -2. a mark written on a piece of writing that corrects a mistake \square My teacher has made several corrections on my paper.
- correctly [kə'rekʃnli] adv [answer, behave] see correct \square They didn't even spell my name correctly.
- correlate ['kɒrəleɪt] \diamond vt to find a connection between <two things> \square Research has clearly correlated smoking and lung cancer. \diamond vi: These figures do not correlate with our findings.
- correlation [,kɒrə'leɪʃn] n a connection between two things \square There's a close/strong correlation between smoking and lung cancer.
- correspond [,kɒrə'spɒnd] vi -1. [names, numbers, handwriting] to be the same or closely connected \square Their versions do not correspond. \square The minutes must correspond with OR to what was actually said. -2. [words, ideas, jobs] to have the same effect, position, importance etc \square What does that word correspond to in English? \square The reality didn't correspond with the description in the brochure. -3. [person] to write letters to somebody who writes back \square We've been corresponding for years.
- correspondence [,kɒrə'spɒndəns] n -1. [between people] letters that have been sent to somebody; the act of writing letters to somebody \square I have a lot of correspondence to answer. \square There has been no correspondence between us. \square the poet's correspondence with his mistress. -2. [between names, numbers, handwriting] an agreement or similarity between two facts, situations etc \square It bears no correspondence to what was actually said.
- correspondence course n a course in which a student studies at home, receiving work from a teacher and mailing it back.
- correspondent [,kɒrə'spɒndənt] n a journalist who reports from a particular place, usually abroad, or on a particular subject \square a foreign correspondent \square a report from our Moscow correspondent, James White.
- corresponding [,kɒrə'spɒndɪŋ] adj that is the same, but in a different situation, position etc or at a different time \square In the corresponding month last year, inflation stood at 7%.
- corridor [US 'kɔ:ɹədɹ, GB 'kɒrɪdɔ:] n a long narrow passage in a building or train, often with doors on either side \square She followed him along OR down the corridor.
- corroborate [kə'rɒbəreɪt] vt [statement, theory, view] to support or confirm <sthg> \square Their story is corroborated by the evidence.
- corrode [kə'rəʊd] \diamond vt [pipe, metal] to damage or destroy <sthg> gradually by chemical action. \diamond vi [pipe, metal] The batteries had corroded completely.
- corrosion [kə'rəʊzən] n the damage caused when something corrodes.
- corrosive [kə'rəʊsɪv] adj [substance, chemical] that can corrode something.
- corrugated ['kɒrəgeɪtəd] adj [cardboard, roof, paper] that has rows of curved ridges and grooves to make it stronger \square a sheet of corrugated iron.
- corrupt [kə'rʌpt] \diamond adj -1. [government, politician, official] who uses their power, job etc to do illegal or dishonest things, especially by helping people who give them money or presents \square We intend to stamp out these corrupt practices. -2. [person, society] that is sexually immoral. -3. COMPUTING [disk, data] that contains errors. \diamond vt -1. [politician, official, morals] to make <sb/sthg> corrupt \square They were corrupted by wealth/power. -2. [society, young person] to cause or encourage <sb> to become involved in immoral sexual activities \square He was accused of corrupting a minor. -3. COMPUTING [disk, file, data] to cause <sthg> to contain errors \square The virus had corrupted the entire database.
- corruption [kə'rʌpʃn] n corrupt activities or behavior \square official/police corruption.
- corsage [kɔ:'sɑ:ʒ] n a small bunch of flowers worn on the front of a woman's dress.
- corset ['kɔ:'sæt] n -1. a tight piece of clothing worn in the past, especially by women, around the waist to look slimmer. -2. a tight piece of clothing that is used to support one's back after an injury.
- Corsica ['kɔ:'sɪkə] a large mountainous island in the Mediterranean, north of Sardinia, belonging to France. SIZE: 8,680 sq kms. POPULATION: 250,371 (Corsicans). CAPITAL: Ajaccio.
- cortege [US kɔ:'teɪʒ, GB kɔ:'teɪʒ] n a procession of people or cars accompanying a body at a funeral \square a funeral cortege.
- cortisone ['kɔ:'tɪzəʊn] n a hormone used as a drug in the treatment of arthritis, allergies, skin diseases etc \square a cortisone injection.
- cos [kɒs] n GB = cos lettuce.
- cosh [kɒʃ] GB \diamond n a long piece of thick rubber or metal used as a weapon. \diamond vt to hit <sb>, usually on the head, with a cosh.
- cosignatory [US ,kəʊ'sɪgnətɔ:ri, GB -trɪ] (pl cosignatories) n one of two or more people, countries etc who have signed a document.
- cosine ['kəʊsaɪn] n the ratio of the length of the side of a right-angled triangle that is next to an acute angle to the length of the hypotenuse.

cos lettuce n GB a type of lettuce with long crisp leaves.

cosmetic [kɒz'metɪk] ◇ n a substance, e.g. lipstick or powder, used on the face or body, especially by women, to make them more attractive □ a cosmetic cream. ◇ adj [measure, change, reform] that only makes something look better without really changing what it is or what happens.

cosmetic surgery n surgery that improves somebody's physical appearance.

cosmic ['kɒzmɪk] adj -1. [ray, dust, force] that is connected with the cosmos □ those who believe in cosmic order. -2. [scale, importance] that is extremely big and affects a large number of people □ a scandal/disaster of cosmic proportions.

cosmonaut ['kɒzmənɔ:t] n an astronaut from the former Soviet Union.

cosmopolitan [ˌkɒzmə'pɒlɪtn] adj -1. [city, gathering] where there are a lot of people from all over the world □ I love New York because it's so cosmopolitan. -2. [person] who has been to many different countries and respects people's different ways of life □ She has a very cosmopolitan outlook.

cosmos [US 'kɒzməs, GB -mɒs] n the cosmos the universe considered as a system □ the mysteries of the cosmos.

Cossack ['kɒsæk] n a member of a people living mainly in southern Russia and the Ukraine. In the past they were well-known for their military and horse-riding skills.

cosset ['kɒsət] vt to protect <sb> too much □ She was cosseted as a child.

cost [kɒst] (pt & pp senses 1 & 3 cost, sense 2 costed) ◇ n -1. [of damage, replacement, transport] the amount of money needed or paid to buy, do, or make something □ The total cost will be about $50,000. □ The cost of repairs can be high. □ The stadium was built at a cost of $1 million. □ The cost to the taxpayer is put at billions. □ A replacement will be provided at no extra cost. ■ at cost at cost price. -2. [of one's health, marriage] the loss, damage, sacrifice etc of something that is caused by doing something □ He continued to work, but at great cost to his health. □ The cost in terms of human lives was terrible. □ She is determined to succeed whatever the cost. ■ at all costs a phrase used to say that everything possible must be done in order to avoid or achieve something □ We must avoid conflict at all costs.

◇ vt -1. to have  □ It cost me $300/a lot of money. □ How much does it cost? □ It won't cost much to run. □ It costs £55. -2. BUSINESS [job, service, project] to estimate the price of <sthg> in advance □ The work was costed at $650. ■ to cost a product to calculate how much a product will cost to make, so that its price can be decided. -3. [job, health, marriage] to cause somebody to lose <sthg> □ His political views cost him his life. □ It wouldn't cost him much to be polite. □ We must succeed whatever it costs.

◆ costs npl LAW -1. the expenses involved in a court case. -2. sb's costs BUSINESS the money sb has to spend on running their business or a particular part of their business □ Our costs are still far too high. □ production/fuel costs.

Costa Brava [ˌkɒstə'brɑ:və]: the Costa Brava part of the Mediterranean coast of north-eastern Spain. It includes many popular tourist resorts.

cost accountant n a person who keeps a record of a business's expenses.

Costa del Sol [US ˌkɒstədel'soʊl, GB -'sɒl]: the Costa del Sol part of the Mediterranean coast of southern Spain. It includes many popular tourist resorts.

co-star ◇ n a famous actor or actress who appears in a movie with another famous actor or actress. ◇ vt to have  as a co-star □ The movie co-stars Anthony Hopkins and Debra Winger. ◇ vi [actor, actress] She co-starred with Bogart in "Casablanca".

Costa Rica [US ˌkɒstə'rɪkə, GB ˌkɒstə'rɪkə] a country in Central America. SIZE: 51,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 3,300,000 (Costa Ricans). CAPITAL: San José. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: colón.

cost-benefit analysis n a study of the relationship between the cost of something and the benefits it offers.

cost-effective adj [business, plan, project] that gives enough profit in comparison with the money spent □ The business is not being run in a cost-effective way.

costing ['kɒstɪŋ] n an official estimate of costs or prices □ We need a detailed costing for the proposed extension.

costly ['kɒstli] (compar costlier, superl costliest) adj -1. [operation, business] that is expensive and wastes money □ The car is very costly to run. -2. [mistake, war] that causes great loss or damage □ It proved to be a costly error.

cost of living n the money needed to pay for the things people need to live, including their food, home, heating, travel etc □ The cost of living has gone up dramatically.

cost-of-living index n the cost-of-living index an index that shows relative changes in the cost of living at different times.

cost price n the price of an article when it is bought by a retailer from the maker □ I had to sell it at cost price.

costume ['kɒstj:zm] n -1. [for an actor] the clothes, often typical of a particular period, worn by an actor in a movie, play etc □ The costumes were the best thing about the movie. -2. [of a period, country] the clothes that are typical of a particular period, group etc □ medieval/traditional/national costume □ They were dressed in costume. -3. [for a party] a set of clothes that make one look like somebody or something famous, funny etc □ He appeared in a gorilla costume. -4. GB [for swimming] an item of clothing worn for swimming, especially by women □ a one-piece swimming costume.

- costume jewelry n cheap jewelry that looks valuable or is large and decorative.
- costume party n US a party where everybody wears clothes that make them look like somebody or something famous, funny etc.
- cosy adj & n GB = cozy.
- cot [kɒt] n -1. US a folding bed, usually made of canvas with a metal frame, that can be easily carried and is used for camping. -2. GB a bed for a baby or small child, usually with bars or sides to stop the child from falling out.
- cot death n GB the sudden death of a baby while it is asleep and not suffering from any illness.
- Cotswolds ['kɒtswɔʊldz]: the Cotswolds a hilly area in southwestern England, famous for its attractive scenery and villages.
- cottage ['kɒtɪdʒ] n a small house, especially in the countryside.
- cottage cheese n a kind of soft, white, lumpy cheese.
- cottage hospital n GB a small hospital in the countryside.
- cottage industry n a small business based in somebody's home.
- cottage pie n GB a hot dish consisting of ground beef covered with mashed potato.
- cotton ['kɒtn] n -1. FARMING a plant grown as a crop whose seeds are surrounded by soft white fibers used for making thread, cloth etc; the fibers that come from this plant □ a field of cotton □ cotton fibers. -2. [for clothes] cloth made from cotton □ a cotton dress/shirt/sheet. -3. [for sewing] thread made from cotton □ a needle and cotton. -4. US [for cleaning part of one's body] a mass of soft cotton used for cleaning wounds, removing make-up etc □ a piece of cotton □ a cotton pad. ◇ comp [mill, industry] that produces cotton.
- ◆ cotton on vi GB to understand or realize something, especially without being told (informal use) □ It took me ages to cotton on to the fact he was lying.
- Cotton Belt: the Cotton Belt an area of the southeastern USA where cotton is grown.
- cotton bud n GB = cotton swab.
- cotton candy n US a mass of soft, sticky, pink or white sugar threads that are eaten on a stick, often at fairs.
- cotton swab n US a short, thin, plastic or wooden stick with a small piece of cotton on each end, used for cleaning ears, noses etc.
- cottonwood ['kɒtnwɒd] n a tree with seeds like balls of white cotton that grows in North America.
- cotton wool n GB a mass of soft cotton used for cleaning wounds, removing make-up etc □ a piece of cotton wool.
- couch [kaʊtʃ] n a long piece of furniture which more than one person can sit on, and which usually has a back and sides for leaning on. ◇ vt [reply, idea, thought] to express <sthg> in a particular way (formal use) □ The statement was couched in very polite terms.
- couchette [ku:'ʃet] n a bed on a train that folds against the wall of the compartment when it is not being used.
- couch potato n a person who spends a lot of time watching television because they are lazy (informal and humorous use).
- cougar ['ku:ɡəʃ] (pl cougar OR cougars) n a large wild cat with brown fur that lives in the mountain regions of North and South America.
- cough [kɒf] n ◇ vi to force air out of one's throat with a rough sound, often to clear one's lungs or throat □ I could hear him coughing in the next room. □ She coughed quietly. ◇ vt [blood, phlegm, food] = cough up. ◇ n -1. an act of coughing; the sound of coughing □ She gave a discreet cough. -2. an illness that makes one cough a lot □ He has a bad/chesty cough.
- ◆ cough up ◇ vt sep to cough sth up [blood, phlegm, food] to clear sth from one's lungs or throat by coughing □ He told the doctor he'd been coughing up thick green phlegm. ◇ vt fus to cough up an amount of money to pay an amount of money for something, usually unwillingly (informal use) □ I won the bet, so Philip had to cough up.
- cough drop n a candy containing ingredients to make a cough feel better.
- coughing ['kɒfɪŋ] n the act or sound of coughing.
- cough mixture n GB = cough syrup.
- cough sweet n GB = cough drop.
- cough syrup n a type of liquid medicine that one swallows to make a cough feel better.
- could [kʊd] past tense of can.
- couldn't ['kʊdnt] = could not.
- could've ['kʊdəv] = could have.
- council ['kaʊnsəl] n -1. [of a city] a group of people elected to run the affairs of a city, county, large organization etc □ She works for the council. □ the city/student council □ a council meeting/leader. -2. [of representatives, members] a group or organization elected or appointed to give advice, make rules, manage affairs etc □ The UN Security Council is meeting tomorrow. ◇ comp GB [housing, flat] that has been built by the local council for people who pay rent to the council □ a council tenant.
- council estate n GB an estate consisting of council houses or apartments.
- councilor US, councillor GB ['kaʊnsləʃ] n a member of a council □ Councilor Williams □ a local councilor.
- Council of Europe n the Council of Europe an organization established in 1949 to promote European cooperation and defend human rights. It includes 39 European states and is based in Strasbourg.
- council of war n a meeting held to decide how to deal with a particular problem, threat, emergency etc.

council tax n GB a local tax in Great Britain based on the value of a building.

counsel ['kaʊnsl] (US pt & pp counseled, cont counseling, GB pt & pp counselled, cont counselling) \diamond n -1. advice that is given after thinking carefully (formal use). -2. LAW a lawyer or group of lawyers who represent somebody in a court of law \square counsel for the defense/prosecution. \diamond vt to counsel sb to do sthg to advise sb to do sthg (formal use) \square My attorney counseled me not to say anything.

counseling US, counselling GB ['kaʊnslɪŋ] n professional help and advice, especially for emotional or personal problems \square Counseling will be available for the families of the crash victims. \square debt counseling.

counselor US, counsellor GB ['kaʊnslə] n -1. US a lawyer. -2. a person trained to give counseling \square a marriage guidance counselor.

count [kaʊnt] \diamond vt -1. [money, children] to add up the total number of <things or people> \square I counted 60 people in the line. -2. to count sb as sthg to consider sb as part of sthg \square I don't count him as one of the family. -3. to include <sb/sthg> when one is counting things \square There are six, not counting the broken ones.

\diamond vi -1. [person] to say all the numbers in order up to a particular number \square I'll count (up) to a hundred. -2. [age, sex, intelligence] to be important or valuable \square Enthusiasm is what really counts. \square I'd like to feel my work counted for something. \square That doesn't count, you cheated! -3. [test, mark, expenses] to be considered in a particular way \square After 6 o'clock all work counts as overtime. \square All coursework counts toward your final grade.

\diamond n -1. the total number reached by counting \square The count has risen to over a million. \square At the last count he'd moved nine times. ■ to keep/lose count to remember/forget how many there are, especially when the number keeps changing \square There are so many it's impossible to keep count of them. \square I've lost count of the number of times he's been late. -2. on this/that count a phrase used to refer to a particular point in a discussion \square I disagree with him on both counts. -3. LAW a charge which a person is accused of \square She was convicted on three counts of theft and shoplifting. -4. [as a title] a European nobleman \square Count Lowenstahe.

◆ count against vt fus to count against sb/sthg to cause people to have a less favorable opinion of sb/sthg \square Do you think my lack of experience will count against me?

◆ count in vt sep count me in! I want to be involved too (informal use).

◆ count on vt fus -1. to count on sb/sthg [on a friend, relative] to rely on sb/sthg \square You can count on me for help if you need it. \square I was counting on you to back me up. -2. to count on sthg [on somebody's help, support] to expect sthg \square I didn't count on so many guests coming.

◆ count out vt sep -1. to count money out [coins, change] to count money so that it comes to a particular amount \square The cashier counted out $16 in change. -2. count me out! I don't want to be involved (informal use).

◆ count up vt fus to count things/people up to count all the things/people in order to find out how many there are \square I've counted up the number of days that are left.

◆ count upon vt fus = count on.

countdown ['kaʊntdaʊn] n -1. [to lift-off] the act of counting backward in seconds to zero before a spacecraft, missile etc is launched \square They had to stop the countdown. -2. [to an event] the period of time just before an important event, when people think or talk about it a lot \square The countdown to the presidential race has begun.

countenance ['kaʊntənəns] \diamond n a person's face, especially when it shows a particular feeling or character (literary use). \diamond vt [idea, use] to allow <sthg> to happen (formal use).

counter ['kaʊntə] \diamond n -1. [in a store, bank] a long flat surface that salesclerks, office clerks etc stand at to serve customers \square Please pay at the counter. -2. US [in a kitchen] a flat surface on top of a piece of kitchen furniture, used e.g. for preparing food. -3. [in a game] a small disk used by each player in some board games. \diamond vt [criticism, argument, trend] to do something that reduces the effect of <sthg bad> \square They countered the threat with an even stronger display of their own power. \diamond vi: He countered with more scandalous accusations of his own.

◆ counter to prep to run counter to sthg to be the complete opposite of sthg \square What he did ran counter to everything he had been taught.

counteract [ˌkaʊntə'ækt] vt [effect, influence, trend] to reduce the effect of <sthg bad> by doing something that has the opposite effect \square Our new face cream helps counteract the effects of aging.

counterattack [ˌkaʊntərə'tæk] \diamond n an attack made to defend oneself against somebody who has just attacked one. \diamond vt to make a counterattack against <sb/sthg>. \diamond vi [army, soldiers] The opposition counterattacked in the media.

counterbalance [ˌkaʊntə'bæləns] vt [effect, influence, amount] to correct or balance <sthg> with something else that has an opposite effect.

counterclaim ['kaʊntə'kleɪm] n a legal claim made against somebody who has brought a claim against one.

counterclockwise [ˌkaʊntə'klɒkwaɪz] US \diamond adj [movement, direction] that is in the opposite direction to the movement of the hands of a clock. \diamond adv: Turn the lid counterclockwise. NOTE: Compare anticlockwise, clockwise.

counterespionage [ˌkaʊntə'ɛspɪəndʒɪz] n action taken by a government to limit or prevent espionage.

counterfeit ['kaʊntə'feit] \diamond vt [money, signature] to make an illegal copy of <sthg> so that people will think it is real \square These coins have been counterfeited by an expert. \diamond adj [money, coin] that has been counterfeited \square There are counterfeit banknotes in circulation.

- counterfoil ['kauntə'fɔɪl] n the part of a check or receipt that the payer keeps as a record of how the money was spent.
- counterintelligence [,kauntərɪn'telɪdʒəns] n = counterespionage.
- counter lunch n US & AUS a small meal bought at a bar, e.g. in a hotel.
- countermand [US 'kauntərmænd, GB 'kauntə'mɑ:nd] vt to give an order to cancel <an earlier order, instruction> etc.
- countermeasure ['kauntə'meʒəʃ] n something that is done in order to prevent a situation from becoming worse or more dangerous.
- counteroffensive [,kauntərə'fensɪv] n a large counterattack.
- counterpane ['kauntə'peɪn] n a decorative cover placed on top of the sheets, blankets etc of a bed (old-fashioned use).
- counterpart ['kauntə'pɑ:t] n a person or thing that has the same function as another person or thing but in a different organization, country etc □ The Secretary of State is having discussions with his French counterpart.
- counterpoint ['kauntə'pɔɪnt] n the use of two different melodies in one piece of music at the same time.
- counterproductive [,kauntə'prɔ'dʌktɪv] adj [action, decision] that has the opposite result from what was intended □ I think it would be counterproductive to confront him with it now.
- counter-revolution n a political or military action that is intended to defeat a government that came to power as a result of a previous revolution.
- countersank ['kauntəsæŋk] past tense of countersink.
- countersign ['kauntə'saɪn] vt [document, check] to sign <sthg that somebody else has already signed>, usually to show that their signature is correct or legal □ The invoice must be countersigned by an authorized signatory.
- countersink ['kauntə'sɪŋk] (vt countersank, pp countersunk [-sæŋk]) vt to give a slope to the head of  so that it fits a hole exactly; to give a slope to the shape of  so that a screw fits exactly.
- countess ['kauntəs] n a woman of high status with the same rank as a count or earl, either by birth or marriage.
- countless ['kauntləs] adj countless people/opportunities very many people/opportunities □ He told me so on countless occasions.
- countrified ['kʌntrɪfaɪd] adj [area, person] that is typical of the countryside or has been made to seem typical of the countryside.
- country ['kʌntri] (pl countries) n -1. [of the world] a part of the world with its own government, language, culture etc □ What country are you from? □ all the countries of or in the world □ She's out of/in the country on a state visit. -2. the country the people who live in a country □ The country will not accept this new tax. -3. the country land that is away from towns or cities and is often used for farming □ They live in the country. □ a country boy/town □ country life. -4. [for walking, farming] land of a particular type, usually outside towns □ mountainous/farming country.
- country and western n a style of popular music developed from the folk music of white people in the south of the USA □ country and western music □ a country and western song/singer.
- country club n an expensive club outside a city or in suburban areas where people can play golf and outdoor sports and take part in social activities.
- country code n TELECOMMUNICATIONS a number that one dials before the main part of a telephone number if one is calling from outside a particular country.
- country dancing n in Britain, a traditional style of dancing by several pairs of dancers arranged in rows or circles.
- country house n a large old house in the country with land around it, usually owned by a rich or aristocratic person.
- countryman ['kʌntrɪmən] (pl countrymen [-mən]) n -1. a person from the same country as oneself □ my fellow countrymen. -2. a man who has lived in the countryside for a long time.
- country music n country and western music □ a country music singer.
- country park n in Britain, a park in the country, often around a large private house, where people can walk, have picnics etc.
- countryside ['kʌntrɪsaɪd] n land away from towns and cities, including fields, woods etc □ We enjoy taking walks in the countryside.
- Countryside Commission n the Countryside Commission a British government agency responsible for protecting the countryside, and for making it accessible to the public.
- countrywoman ['kʌntrɪwʊmən] (pl countrywomen) n a woman who has lived in the countryside for a long time.
- county ['kaʊntɪ] (pl counties) n -1. in the USA, one of several areas of a state that has its own local government □ The county boundaries have been changed again. -2. in Britain and Ireland, one of several areas of a country that has its own local government.
- county council n in Britain, a group of people elected to govern a county.
- county court n a local court of law that deals with less important crimes, e.g. when somebody fails to pay a debt or fine.
- county seat US, county town GB n the main town of a county, where the local government has its offices.
- coup [ku:] n -1. a coup (d'état) an attempt by a small group of people who have not been elected, often army officers, to get rid of their government and take power for themselves □ He came to power in the coup of 1976. □ There are fears of a military coup. -2. [for a person, business] something that is very successful and surprises people because it was very intelligent or difficult □ Winning the contract would be a real coup for us.

coupé [US ku:'peɪ, GB 'ku:peɪ] n a car with two doors and a sloping back.

couple ['kʌpl] ◇ n -1. two people who have a romantic or sexual relationship; a husband and wife □ a married couple. -2. a couple of people/things two people/things; a small number of people/things □ I was stopped by a couple of policemen. □ I'll see you in a couple of minutes. ◇ vt -1. RAIL [wagons, cars] to join <two parts of a train> together □ They coupled the car to the engine. -2. to couple sb/sthg with sthg to think of sb/sthg as being closely connected with sthg □ People tend to couple young people with crime.

◆ coupled with prep together with <sthg> □ Unemployment, coupled with high interest rates, is at the root of the problem.

couplet ['kʌplət] n two lines of poetry that are next to each other, are of the same length, and contain a rhyme at the end.

coupon ['ku:pʊn] n -1. a piece of paper that gives somebody the right to buy something, to buy something more cheaply, or to get it free □ book/butter coupons □ a coupon for 10 cents off your next hamburger. -2. a small form in a newspaper, catalog etc that people can send away to order goods, ask for information, or enter a competition.

courage [US 'kʌrɪdʒ, GB 'kʌr-] n the ability to control one's fear when doing something difficult or dangerous □ I wish I had the courage to tell him what I think of him. ■ to take courage to feel more hopeful or confident because of something □ You should take courage from the fact that many people share your views. ■ to have the courage of one's convictions to say or do what one thinks is right, even though it is difficult or dangerous.

courageous [kə'reɪdʒəs] adj [person, action, fight] that shows courage □ It was a courageous decision.

courageously [kə'reɪdʒəsli] adv [act, fight] see courageous □ She battled courageously against cancer.

courgette [US ku:'ʒet, GB kɔ:-] n GB a long, thin, green vegetable that is fairly small, has white flesh, and is soft and watery when cooked.

courier ['kʊriə] n -1. [for letters, packages] a person or company that delivers letters, goods, packages etc □ We will send the papers by motorcycle courier. -2. GB [for a travel company] a person whose job is to work for a travel company looking after groups of tourists □ a travel courier.

course [kɔ:'s] ◇ n -1. [of study, lectures] a series of lessons on a particular subject □ I'm doing OR taking a course in computing. □ a science/language course. -2. [of treatment, injections, drugs] a series of things that are planned as a treatment over a period of time □ My doctor put me on a course of antibiotics. -3. [of a ship, plane] the direction in which something is moving; [of negotiations, one's life, a country's history] the way in which something happens □ The ship changed course to avoid the rocks. □ In the normal course of events, I would have finished by now. ■ to run OR take its course [disease, war] to develop naturally and come to a natural end □ You must allow events to take their natural course. ■ to be on course [ship, plane] to be moving in the right direction; [person, plan] to be going or developing the right way to achieve something □ We're on course for Jamaica. □ The company is on course to win the contract. ■ to be off course [ship, plane] to be moving away from the right direction □ The boat was blown off course by the storm. -4. a course (of action) something one can do in a particular situation □ Your only course now is to resign. □ We took the only course of action open to us. -5. in due course at some time in the future □ Everything will become clear in due course. ■ in OR during the course of sthg at some time during sthg □ I'll see you in the course of the next few days. □ Kay Barnes has achieved much during the course of her long and fruitful career. -6. [of a meal] a part of a meal served separately from the other parts □ The main course was lamb. □ the first/second/dessert course □ a three-course meal. -7. SPORT a piece of open land or water where a particular sport or game is played □ a golf course. ◇ vi [tears, blood, water] to flow quickly (literary use).

◆ of course adv -1. a phrase used to show that one expects people to know about or agree with what one is saying □ Of course, that's not her real name. □ That's my advice, but it's up to you, of course. -2. a phrase used to introduce information that is the obvious result of another action or event □ If it rains the trip will, of course, have to be canceled. -3. a phrase used as an emphatic way to say yes □ "Can I come?" — "Of course you can." □ "Do you love me?" — "Of course (I do)." -4. of course not a phrase used as an emphatic way of saying no □ "Do you want me to tell her?" — "Of course not."

coursebook ['kɔ:'sbʊk] n GB a book written for students studying a particular course.

coursework ['kɔ:'swɜ:k] n work done as part of a course of study.

court [kɔ:'t] ◇ n -1. LAW a place where crimes and other legal cases are judged □ I'll see you in court! ■ to appear in court [defendant, lawyer, witness] to take part in a trial in a court □ Mrs Edwards will appear in court charged with manslaughter. ■ to go to court to have a legal case heard and decided by a court □ I am prepared to go to court over this matter. ■ to take sb to court to ask a court to decide a legal case or complaint against sb □ They've threatened to take us to court if we don't pay. -2. LAW the court the people in a court, especially the judge and jury □ This is a matter for the courts to decide. -3. SPORT an area where tennis and similar games are played □ a tennis/badminton/squash court □ The players came onto the court. ■ to be on court [player] to be playing on a court. -4. [of a building] a courtyard. -5. [of a king, queen] the official home of a king or queen; the officials and advisers who work there □ a court painter/jester.

◇ vi [danger, disaster] to behave in a way that makes <sthg bad> likely to happen; [favor, popularity] to try to win <sthg good> from somebody (formal use).

◇ vi [man and woman] to spend a lot of time together with the intention of getting married (old-fashioned use) □ a courting couple.

court circular n GB a column in a newspaper that says what the Royal Family will be doing on a particular day.

courteous ['kɔ:ˈtʃəs] adj [person, reply, letter] that shows courtesy toward somebody.

courtesan [US 'kɔ:rtəzn, GB ,kɔ:tɪ'zæn] n a prostitute for wealthy men or men of high status (old-fashioned use).

courtesy ['kɜ:ˈtʃəsi] ◇ n good manners and polite respectful behavior; something polite that somebody says or does □ He didn't even have the courtesy to say "please". □ You should ask their permission first, as a matter of courtesy.

◇ adj a courtesy bus/car etc a bus/car etc provided free by a company or hotel for the use of its customers, guests etc.

◆ courtesy of prep -1. with the permission of <sb> who has provided a favor, usually without cost □ 'This painting is displayed courtesy of the National Gallery.' -2. because of <sthg> that has made something possible □ The Dutch won courtesy of a last-minute goal.

◆ by courtesy of prep GB = courtesy of.

courthouse ['kɔ:ˈthaʊs, pl -ˈhaʊzɪz] n a building containing a court of law.

courtier ['kɔ:ˈtʃɪə] n a noble advisor or assistant at the court of a king or queen.

court-martial (pl court-martials OR courts-martial, US pl & pp court-martialed, cont court-martialing, GB pl & pp court-martialled, cont court-martialling) ◇ n a court in which officers judge a member of the armed forces who is accused of breaking military law; a trial at this court □ Corporal Havering was tried by court-martial. ◇ vt to try  by court-martial □ He was court-martialed for insubordination.

Court of Appeal n the Court of Appeal the highest court of law in England and Wales, apart from the House of Lords, where appeals against decisions made in other courts are considered.

court of appeals n in the USA, a court of law that reconsiders a decision made in another court if somebody makes an appeal.

court of inquiry n an official investigation into a serious accident, riot etc; a group of people officially appointed to carry out this investigation.

court of law n a place where crimes and other law cases are judged.

courtroom ['kɔ:ˈtru:m] n a room where trials are held □ The case will be held in courtroom number 12.

courtship ['kɔ:ˈtʃɪp] n -1. [of people] the time during which a man and woman are courting □ We had a long courtship. -2. [of animals] the things that a male animal does to attract a female before they mate □ an elaborate courtship ritual.

court shoe n GB a woman's shoe of a simple design with a low heel and no fastening.

courtyard ['kɔ:ˈtʃɑ:rd] n a flat area of ground without a roof that is surrounded by walls or buildings, and is part of a large house, castle etc.

cousin ['kʌzn] n a son or daughter of one's uncle or aunt.

couture [kuˈtʃʊə] n (haute couture) the business of designing, making, and selling expensive and fashionable women's clothes.

cove [kouv] n a small bay on a coast □ We had a picnic in a quiet cove.

coven ['kʌvn] n a group of witches; a meeting of this group.

covenant ['kʌvənənt] n -1. LAW a formal written promise to pay a certain amount of money every year, especially to a charity □ If you pay by covenant, more money actually reaches the charity. -2. [between people, countries] a formal agreement between two or more people, groups, countries etc □ They made a solemn covenant never to mention it again.

Covent Garden [US ,kʌvnt-, GB ,kɒv-] n -1. a square in central London that used to be a fruit and vegetable market. -2. another name for the Royal Opera House in London.

♥ COVENT GARDEN

Covent Garden, once the fruit, flower, and vegetable market for central London, is now an enormous covered shopping area with many restaurants and small stores. It attracts performers who entertain the crowds with street theater, mime, and magic shows. The Royal Opera House, next to the old market, is also known as "Covent Garden".

Coventry [US 'kʌvntri, GB 'kɒv-] -1. an industrial city in the Midlands, central England. POPULATION: 292,600. -2. phrase to send sb to Coventry GB to refuse to talk to sb as a punishment or sign of disapproval.

cover ['kʌvə] ◇ n -1. [of a machine, piece of furniture] something made of material that is put on top of or around something else, usually to protect it or keep it clean □ a seat cover. -2. [of a pan] a lid that fits a pan. -3. [of a book, magazine] the outside page that is usually thicker than the pages inside □ the front/back cover. -4. [for a bed] a sheet or blanket that keeps a person warm in bed □ the bed covers. -5. [from attacks, the weather] something that provides shelter or protection from attacks, the weather etc □ Fighter planes provided air cover. □ We looked for cover from the storm. ■ to break cover to come out of a place where one has been hiding. ■ to take cover [from the rain, weather] to go somewhere where one will be sheltered; [from gunfire, a bomb] to go somewhere where one will be safe □ Take cover! ■ under cover under a roof as a protection from bad weather. ■ to do sthg under cover of darkness OR night to do sthg at night so that one will not be noticed. -6. [for an illegal activity] a way of hiding an illegal activity □ The freight business is a cover for drug smuggling. -7. [against a risk] insurance that will provide repayment if there is a fire, accident etc □ insurance/accident cover □ I took out cover against theft of my belongings. -8. [of a song] = cover version.

◇ vt -1. [table, book, one's face] to put or spread something over or around <sthg> to protect or hide it □ We've had the sofa covered. □ The prisoner arrived covered in or with a blanket. -2. [ground, mountain, floor] to lie over the surface of <sthg> □ Snow covered the fields. □ Her hands were covered with or in paint. -3. [county, country] to spread over  □ The forest covers 20 square kilometers. □ His interests cover a wide field. -4. [case, situation] to apply to <sb/sthg> □ All workplaces are covered under the act. -5. to cover a particular distance to travel a particular distance □ We had covered most of the distance by lunchtime. -6. [insured person] to provide <sb> with insurance cover against something □ Does this policy cover me against breakages? -7. [subject, details] to discuss or deal with <sthg> □ That particular point is covered in paragraph three. □ Well, I think that covers everything. Any questions? -8. JOURNALISM to report  for radio, TV, a newspaper etc. -9. [cost, price] to be enough to pay for <sthg> □ $5 won't even cover the taxi fare.

◆ cover up vt sep -1. to cover sthg up [machine, face] to cover sthg so that it cannot be seen or damaged □ Cover yourself up with this blanket. -2. to cover sthg up [fact, scandal] to hide sthg so that people will not know about it □ The company tried desperately to cover up news of the disaster.

coverage ['kʌvərɪdʒ] n the amount of time or space given to a news story by radio, TV, a newspaper etc □ The President's tour has been given saturation coverage on TV.

coveralls ['kʌvə:rlz] npl US outer clothing worn by people in factories, on building sites etc for protection and to keep their other clothes clean.

cover charge n -1. US a fee paid to get into some bars, concerts, or discos. -2. GB a charge made by a restaurant that is added to the cost of food, drinks, and service.

covered wagon n a wagon with a canvas roof that was pulled by horses or oxen. It was used especially by families traveling to the west of the USA in the 19th century.

cover girl n an attractive woman whose photograph appears on the front of a magazine.

covering ['kʌvərɪŋ] n something that covers or hides something □ a thin covering of snow/dust □ a type of floor covering.

cover letter US, covering letter GB n a note or letter sent with a package, goods, documents etc, giving information or explanations.

cover note n GB a short printed statement from an insurance company stating that insurance has been paid for and giving protection until the full contract or policy is ready.

cover price n the price of a book, magazine, or newspaper that is printed on its cover.

covert ['kʌvət:rɪ] adj [operation, look] that is secret or not intended to be noticed by other people □ a covert military operation.

cover-up n an attempt or plan to prevent the public from finding out about something criminal, dishonest, or embarrassing □ a police cover-up.

cover version n a performance or recording of a song that has been made famous by another performer or group.

covet ['kʌvət] vt to want <sthg> very much, especially when it belongs to somebody else (formal use).

cow [kaʊ] ◇ n -1. FARMING a large female animal kept on farms for its milk □ a herd of cows □ cow's milk. -2. [of an elephant, whale] the female of some types of large mammals. ◇ vt to make <sb> do what one wants by frightening or threatening them □ The workers were cowed into accepting the terms by threats of dismissal.

coward ['kaʊəd] n a cowardly person □ She accused him of being a coward.

cowardice ['kaʊədɪs] n lack of courage □ an act of cowardice.

cowardly ['kaʊədli] adj [person, decision, behavior] that shows fear and a lack of courage in a dishonorable way □ That was a cowardly thing to do.

cowboy ['kaʊbɔɪ] n -1. a man who looks after cattle, especially one who rides horses in North America □ a cowboy movie. -2. GB a man who gives customers bad service because he is careless, dishonest, or does not have enough experience (informal use) □ cowboy builders/taxi drivers.

cower ['kaʊə] vi to bend down or move back because one is afraid □ The child, terrified, sat cowering in a corner of the room.

Cowes Week ['kaʊz-] n a series of yacht races that takes place once a year off the port of Cowes, Isle of Wight, in England. It is an important social event.

cowhand ['kaʊhænd] n a person whose job is to look after cattle.

cowhide ['kaʊhaɪd] n strong leather from the skin of a cow.

cowl neck ['kaʊl-] n a neckline of a woman's sweater or dress that forms loose folds at the front.

cowshed ['kaʊʃed] n a building in which cows are kept or milked.

cox [kɒks], coxswain ['kɒksn] n a person who steers a rowboat, especially one with four or eight rowers.

coy [kɔɪ] adj [person] who pretends to be shy or modest, especially in order to attract more interest or avoid saying something □ a coy smile.

coyly ['kɔɪli] adv [smile, answer, behave] see coy.

coyote [kaɪ'outɪ] n a small wolf from the plains of North America.

cozy US, cosy GB ['kɒzɪ] (US compar cozier, superl coziest, GB compar cosier, superl cosiest) ◇ adj -1. [room, apartment, sweater] warm and comfortable □ It was so cozy indoors, I didn't want to go out. -2. [atmosphere, chat, gathering] that is friendly because people feel close to each other □ It's a pity to interrupt our cozy get-together. ◇ n = tea cozy.

cp. (abbr of compare) a word used in front of a piece of information that is to be compared with what has just been mentioned.

c/p GB abbr of carriage paid.

CPA n abbr of certified public accountant.

CPI (abbr of Consumer Price Index) n a scale that shows how much the prices of consumer goods have risen over a fixed period.

Cpl abbr of corporal.

cps (abbr of characters per second) n COMPUTING the number of characters of text, information etc that can be printed or processed in a second.

CPS n abbr of Crown Prosecution Service.

CPSA (abbr of Civil and Public Services Association) n a British labor union for public employees.

CPU n abbr of central processing unit.

cr -1. abbr of credit. -2. abbr of creditor.

crab [kræb] n a sea creature with a flat shell and five pairs of legs, with strong claws on the front pair; the meat of this animal eaten as food □ crab meat/paté.

crab apple n a small sour apple; the tree that this apple grows on.

crabby ['kræbrɪ] (compar crabbier, superl crabbiest) adj [person] who gets cross easily and is unpleasant to people.

crack [kræk] ◇ n -1. [in a glass, cup, the ground] a long thin line where something has broken, but not into separate pieces □ There's a crack in this window/the paint. -2. [in the curtains, a door] a long narrow gap between two objects □ We watched through a crack in the fence. ■ at the crack of dawn very early in the morning. -3. [of twigs, a whip] a loud sharp sound. -4. [about a person] a clever joke or funny comment, usually critical of or rude about somebody. -5. to have a crack at sthg to do or take part in sthg that one tries to win or do well at (informal use) □ I'd like a crack at the World Championship. -6. ▽ crack (cocaine) concentrated and very addictive cocaine in hard lumps (drugs slang).

◇ vt -1. [glass, paint, cup] to damage <sthg> so that it has a crack or cracks □ The frost had cracked the pipe. -2. [nut, safe] to open <sthg> using force, sometimes by breaking it □ Crack the eggs on the side of the cup. ■ to crack open a bottle to open a bottle of wine, champagne etc to celebrate something. -3. [whip, one's fingers] to make a sharp sound with <sthg>. -4. [head, knee] to hit <part of one's body> sharply and painfully against something hard □ He fell over and cracked his head on the chair. -5. [problem, code] to solve or find the answer to <sthg> after much time and effort □ We've cracked it! -6. to crack a joke to make a joke (informal use).

◇ vi -1. [glass, paint, cup] The ice cracked under my feet. □ My lips are cracking in the cold.

-2. [whip] The dry twigs cracked beneath our feet. -3. [person] to lose one's self-control as a result of great difficulty, stress, or pressure □ His voice cracked with emotion. -4. [marriage, system] to stop working properly as a result of difficulties that have existed for a long time. -5. to get cracking to start doing something immediately; to speed up when doing something (informal use) □ Come on, let's get cracking!

◇ adj [troops, regiment, team] that is highly trained and very skillful □ He's a crack shot with a rifle.

◆ crack down vi [police, government] to take strong action to try to stop something that is wrong □ The administration intends to crack down on crime.

◆ crack up vi to go crazy as a result of stress or pressure (informal use).

crackdown ['krækdaʊn] n [on crime, drugs] strong official action to try to stop illegal activities □ The government is planning a crackdown on tax-evaders.

cracked [krækt] adj -1. [glass, paint, skin] that is damaged with a crack or cracks. -2. to be cracked to be crazy (informal use).

cracker ['krækəʃ] n -1. a thin hard biscuit that is not sweet and is usually eaten with cheese. -2. GB = Christmas cracker.

crackle ['krækl] ◇ n a series of loud but very short sounds made by a fire, or by a telephone or radio that does not work correctly □ There's a lot of crackle on the line. ◇ vi [fire, radio, loudspeaker] to make a crackle.

crackling ['kræklɪŋ] n -1. [on a telephone, radio] crackles □ We could hear the crackling of the fire. -2. COOKING the crispy skin on roasted pork.

crackpot ['krækpɒt] ◇ adj [idea, scheme, letter] that is crazy in an impractical way (informal use). ◇ n a person with crackpot ideas (informal use).

cradle ['kreɪdl] ◇ n -1. [for a baby] a small bed, usually shaped like a box with a curved base so that it can be rocked from side to side. -2. the cradle of sthg [of civilization, a movement] the place where something began. -3. [on a building, ship] an open box that can be moved on ropes up and down the outside of tall buildings and ships so that people can paint, do repairs, clean windows etc. ◇ vt [baby, bottle, glass] to hold <sb/sthg> gently and carefully in one's arms, especially rocking them from side to side □ She cradled the child in her arms.

craft [US kræft, GB kra:ft] (pl sense 2 craft) n -1. a job or activity that involves making things with one's hands, especially a traditional skill such as making pottery or furniture; the work produced by such a skill □ a craft fair/exhibition. -2. a boat, ship, hovercraft, or other vehicle used on or under water.

craftsman [US 'kræftsmən, GB 'krɑ:fts-] (pl craftsmen [-mən]) n a person who knows a craft and does skilled work with their hands; a person who uses great skill, thought, and care in any activity, e.g. music or sports □ Skilled craftsmen who can do this kind of work are fast disappearing. □ He's a real craftsman.

craftsmanship [US 'kræftsmənʃɪp, GB 'krɑ:fts-] n the skill or ability of a craftsman; the skilled work that a craftsman produces.

crafty [US 'kræftɪ, GB 'krɑ:ftɪ] (compar craftier, superl craftiest) adj [person] who is good at deceiving other people in order to get what they want □ That was a crafty move!

crag [kræg] n a high steep rock or cliff.

craggy ['kræɡɪ] (compar craggier, superl craggiest) adj -1. [mountain, slope] that is steep and rocky. -2. [face, features] that looks attractive in a rough way, with large bones and deep lines.

cram [kræm] (vt & pp crammed, cont cramming) ◇ vt to push or force <clothes, food, people> etc into a small space with the result that it is full □ He crammed the cake into his mouth. □ We were all crammed into one small car. □ His head is crammed with useless facts. □ I crammed in as much as I could during the trip. ◇ vi [for an examination, test] to learn a lot of facts as quickly as possible □ She was up all night cramming for her final exam.

cramp [kræmp] ◇ n pain and an inability to move that is caused by a muscle suddenly becoming very stiff □ stomach cramps □ I've got a cramp US OR cramp GB in my leg. ◇ vt [somebody's progress, movement, prospects] to stop <sthg> from developing or working as well as it could.

cramped [kræmpt] adj [room, office] that is too small. ■ to be cramped (for space) [person] not to have enough space □ We're beginning to feel cramped in our present house.

crampon ['kræmpən] n a piece of metal with sharp spikes that is fixed under shoes to make climbing or walking on ice easier.

cranberry [US 'krænbəri, GB -bəri] (pl cranberries) n a small red berry with a sour taste that grows on a low bush and is used in sauces for turkey and duck □ cranberry sauce.

crane [kreɪn] ◇ n -1. a large machine for lifting heavy objects that has a cable fixed to a long movable arm. -2. a tall bird with long legs and a long neck that lives near water. ◇ vt to stretch <one's neck or head> forward, usually in order to see something. ◇ vi: I craned forward to get a better view.

crane fly n an insect with wings and very long legs that can fly.

cranium ['kreɪnjəm] (pl craniums OR crania [-njə]) n the curved part of the skull that covers the brain.

crank [kræŋk] ◇ n -1. TECHNOLOGY a handle which, when it is turned, causes something to move. -2. a person who behaves in a strange way and often has unusual ideas (informal use) □ Some crank rang up claiming he was a terrorist. ◇ vt -1. to cause <sthg> to move by turning a handle □ She cranked the shutters down. -2. AUTO [engine, car] to try to start <sthg> by turning a crank.

crankshaft [US 'kræŋkʃæft, GB -ʃɑ:ft] n a metal rod in the engine of a vehicle that is turned by the pistons and so makes the wheels in the gearbox turn.

cranky ['kræŋkɪ] (compar crankier, superl crankiest) adj -1. US [person] bad-tempered □ There's no need to get cranky with me. -2. [person, ideas, habits] strange and unusual (informal use) □ a cranky old man.

cranny ['kræni] (pl crannies) n → nook.

crap [kræp] n -1. ▼ excrement (vulgar use). -2. ▼ something worthless, untrue, or unimportant (very informal use) □ What a load of crap!

crappy ['kræpɪ] (compar crappier, superl crappiest) adj [movie, party, idea] that one thinks is very bad (very informal use).

crash [kræʃ] ◇ n -1. [in a vehicle] an accident in which a moving vehicle hits something, e.g. another vehicle, and is badly damaged □ He was killed in a car/plane crash. □ They had a crash on the way to work. -2. [of something breaking] a sudden loud noise, usually caused by something hitting something or by something breaking □ From the kitchen came a sudden crash. -3. FINANCE the sudden and serious failure of a company or business institution □ the Wall Street Crash.

◇ vt [car, airplane] to have a crash in  □ She crashed her car into a tree.

◇ vi -1. [car, airplane, person] to have a crash □ We crashed into the car in front. -2. [object] to hit or fall onto something, making a sudden loud noise □ The bottle crashed to the floor. -3. FINANCE [company, stock market] to fail suddenly and seriously; [currency] to fall suddenly in value by a large amount □ The firm crashed with debts of $7 million. □ The Spanish peseta crashed on the currency markets yesterday. -4. COMPUTING [computer, system] to stop working suddenly.

crash barrier n a strong low fence that is designed to hold back crowds, stop cars leaving a road etc.

crash course n a course of lessons intended to teach the most important aspects of a subject as quickly as possible □ a crash course in computing.

crash diet n a diet intended to make somebody lose a lot of weight as quickly as possible.

crash-dive vi [submarine, plane] to move suddenly downward, usually to avoid an attack.

crash helmet n a strong hat worn by motorcyclists, racing drivers etc to protect their heads.

crash-land ◇ vt to land <an airplane> in an emergency, trying to cause as little damage as possible. ◇ vi [airplane, pilot] They were forced to crash-land in a field.

crash landing n: see crash-land □ We were forced to make a crash landing in the ocean.

crass [kræs] adj [person, remark, behavior] that is stupid and shows a lack of sympathy or respect for other people.

crate [kreɪt] n a large box, usually made of wood or plastic, that is used for transporting and storing things; the contents of a crate □ a milk crate □ a crate of milk.

crater ['kreɪtəʃ] n -1. a round hole in the ground, especially one made by an explosion; a similar hole on the surface of the Moon □ The meteorite left a 200m-wide crater. □ a bomb crater. -2. a deep round hole in the top of a volcano.

cravat [krə'væt] n a piece of clothing worn by men around their neck and folded inside the top of a shirt.

crave [kreɪv] ◇ vt [affection, wealth, cigarette] to want <sthg> very much, especially in a way that is difficult to control □ He never gave her the love she craved. ◇ vi to be craving for sthg to want sthg very much.

craving ['kreɪvɪŋ] n a strong desire for something that is difficult to control □ I had a sudden craving for chocolate. □ a constant craving for attention.

crawl [krɔ:l] ◇ vi -1. [person] to move slowly on one's hands and knees or with one's body on the ground □ He crawled along the window ledge. -2. [insect, worm] to move slowly along a surface. -3. [car, traffic, crowd] to move somewhere very slowly □ We crawled along at 15 miles an hour. -4. to be crawling with tourists/maggots etc to be covered with or full of tourists/maggots etc (informal use) □ When we got there, the place was crawling with police/reporters. -5. to crawl to sb to try to become liked by sb more important by praising them, agreeing with them etc all the time (informal and disapproving use) □ Stop crawling!

◇ n -1. a crawl a very slow speed □ We drove at a crawl. □ Traffic had slowed to a crawl. -2. the crawl a way of swimming on one's stomach by moving one's arms over one's head, one after the other, and kicking one's legs.

crawler lane ['krɔ:lɔʔ-] n GB a lane on a road that is for vehicles which are moving slowly, especially on a hill.

crayfish ['kreɪfɪʃ] (pl crayfish OR crayfishes) n a small shellfish, similar to a lobster, that lives in rivers and lakes; the meat of this shellfish eaten as food.

crayon ['kreɪɒn] n a colored pencil or stick of colored wax or chalk that is used for drawing □ a box of crayons.

craze [kreɪz] n something such as an activity or a way of dressing that is very popular for a short time, especially among young people □ the latest dance craze.

crazed [kreɪzd] adj [mob, gunman, behavior] who is wild and excited in a way that is frightening □ They were half crazed with fear.

crazy ['kreɪzi] (compar crazier, superl craziest) adj (informal use) -1. [person, idea, behavior] that is very foolish □ It would be crazy to give up now. ■ to drive sb crazy to annoy sb very much □ That noise is driving me crazy. ■ to go crazy to become very angry □ When I told him he went crazy and started shouting. -2. to be crazy about sthg to be very interested in and enthusiastic about sthg □ I'm not crazy about the idea. ■ to be crazy about sb to be in love with sb in a way that one cannot control.

Crazy Horse (1849–1877) a leader of the Sioux people, who defeated the US army at the battle of the Little Bighorn.

crazy paving n GB pieces of flat stone that have irregular shapes and are fitted together to make a path or garden terrace.

CRE n abbr of Commission for Racial Equality.

creak [kri:k] ◇ n a sound like the one that is made by a loose floorboard when somebody steps on it. ◇ vi [door, bed] to make creaks □ The floorboards creak when you walk on them.

creaky ['kri:kɪ] (compar creakier, superl creakiest) adj [door, bed, floorboard] that creaks.

cream [kri:m] ◇ n -1. [in milk] the thick yellow-white liquid that rises to the top of milk; an artificial mixture with a similar taste and appearance that is used in making food □ a fresh cream cake □ strawberries and cream □ cream of chicken soup. -2. [for one's skin] a thick liquid or smooth paste that one rubs into one's skin as a cosmetic or medicine □ a tube of suntan cream. -3. a food, candy, or cookie containing cream or a similar smooth mixture □ chocolate creams. -4. [color] a white color with a little yellow in it □ Do you have the same dress in cream? -5. the cream the best people or things in a group □ We recruit from the cream of British graduates.

◇ vt [potatoes, ingredients] to mix <food> so that it becomes smooth and soft, often by adding milk, cream, or butter □ creamed potatoes □ Cream the butter and sugar in a bowl.

◇ adj [wall, shirt] that is the color of white with a little yellow in it.

◆ cream off vt sep to cream off the profits/the best students etc to separate the profits/the best students etc from the rest for one's own benefit.

cream cake n a cake or roll containing cream.

cream cheese n a soft white cheese with a rich flavor.

cream cracker n GB a dry unsweetened cracker that is often eaten with cheese.

cream of tartar n a white powder that is mixed with baking soda to make baking powder.

cream tea n GB an afternoon meal that consists of tea with scones, jam, and whipped cream.

creamy ['kri:mɪ] (compar creamier, superl creamiest) adj -1. [coffee, pudding] that tastes of or contains cream. -2. [liquid, soup, paint] that is thick and smooth □ This cheese has a deliciously creamy texture. -3. [silk, flower] that is yellow-white in color.

crease [kri:s] ◇ n -1. a straight line on a piece of clothing that is made by folding and pressing it □ I can never get the creases right when I iron my pants. -2. an irregular line where cloth, paper etc has been folded or crushed in a way that is not intentional □ I'll just iron these jeans quickly to get rid of the creases. ◇ vt [skirt, paper] to make a crease or creases in <sthg>. ◇ vi [skirt, paper] to become creased □ The beauty of this shirt is that it doesn't crease. -2. [face, forehead] to get lines on it because one is frowning, smiling etc.

creased [kri:st] adj [skirt, paper] that has irregular lines in it as a result of being crushed □ My jacket got creased on the plane.

crease-resistant adj [fabric, shirt] that does not crease easily.

create [kri:'eɪt] vt -1. [poem, painting, style] to produce <sthg new>, especially using one's imagination □ In the 1960s, he created a look that was to last a generation. -2. [employment, risk, problem] to cause <sthg> to exist or develop □ A number of new jobs have been created. □ It's important to create a good impression.

creation [kri:'eɪʃn] n -1. see create □ the creation of a new training program. -2. the whole universe and everything in it (literary use). -3. something created with imagination or skill, e.g. a work of art, a hairstyle, or a meal □ The Paris fashion designers are showing their latest creations.

creative [kri:'eɪtɪv] adj [person, design, writing] that uses new, original, and imaginative ideas, especially in an artistic way □ a designer with creative flair.

creativity [kri:'eɪtɪvəti] n [of a person, idea] the quality of being creative □ We're looking for somebody with flair and creativity.

creator [kri:'eɪtə] n [of a story, idea] a person who makes, produces, or invents something □ a new film from the creators of "Delicatessen".

creature ['kri:tʃə] n -1. a living animal, bird, fish, insect etc □ sea creatures. -2. a word used to describe a person who has a particular quality □ What an extraordinary creature your mother is! □ Most of us are creatures of habit.

crèche [kref] n GB a place, especially one provided at a place of work, where babies and small children are looked after while their parents work □ With our crèche facilities, you can shop with peace of mind.

credence ['kri:dns] n to give OR lend credence to sthg [to a story, claim, promise] to make sthg seem more likely to be true □ This evidence lends further credence to his case.

credentials [krə'denʃlɪz] npl -1. sb's credentials ability, knowledge, experience etc that show that somebody is suitable for a job or position or has reached a high standard □ No one doubts her credentials as an artist. -2. a letter or other document that proves that somebody is who or what they say they are □ The receptionist asked him for his credentials.

credibility [kredə'bɪləti] n: see credible □ She's lost all political credibility.

credible ['kredəbl] adj [excuse, person, policy] that can be believed, trusted, or taken seriously □ The company has no credible strategy for market development.

credit ['kredət] ◇ n -1. [with a store, bank] a system of paying for goods or services some time after they have been received; an arrangement for somebody to pay in this way □ 'We regret that we are unable to give credit.' ■ to be in credit [bank account, customer] to have money available for use and not be overdrawn. ■ to buy sthg on credit to take sthg and use it immediately without having to pay for it until later. -2. [for an achievement] praise or approval given to somebody for something they have done □ She took or got all the credit for the invention. ■ to sb's credit a phrase used to draw attention to something good that somebody has done, especially when they are also being criticized for something else □ To his credit, he was quick to rectify the mistake. ■ to do sb credit [action, attitude] to make sb deserve praise or approval □ Your honesty does you credit. ■ to give sb credit for sthg to say or admit that sb has done sthg good □ She works much harder than people give her credit for. ■ to have sthg to one's credit to have already achieved or completed sthg successfully □ With three hit musicals to his credit, he is now going into movies. -3. EDUCATION a pass in one part of a course at a college or university. -4. FINANCE a sum of money that is added to somebody's account □ The statement shows a credit of $90. □ a credit transfer.

◇ vt -1. FINANCE to add  to an account □ We have credited the dividend to your account. □ Your account has been credited with $100. -2. [statement, story] to believe <sthg unlikely or unexpected> □ Can you credit it? The package still hasn't arrived! -3. to credit sb with sthg [with common sense, tact] to believe or say that sb has sthg □ Credit me with at least some intelligence! ■ to be credited with sthg to be generally believed to be responsible for sthg □ He's credited with having invented television.

◆ credits npl the list of people who helped to make a movie or TV program that appears at the beginning or end of it.

creditable ['kredətəbl] adj [effort, attempt, performance] that is good enough to deserve praise or approval □ She gave a creditable performance in the preliminary rounds.

credit account n GB an account at a store that allows a customer to take goods away and pay for them later.

credit broker n a person or company whose job is to find the best place for people to borrow money.

credit card n a small plastic card that is given to a customer by a bank, finance company, or store and is used to buy goods on credit □ Can I pay by credit card? □ a credit-card purchase/customer.

credit control n -1. a company's system of control for checking that customers do not spend more than their credit limit. -2. limits on the amount of money a bank can lend that are decided by the government.

credit facilities npl an arrangement with a bank, supplier etc that allows a customer to buy things on credit.

credit line US, credit limit GB n the largest amount of money that a customer of a bank, store, company etc can have on credit, especially when using a credit card or credit account.

credit note n -1. a piece of paper that a store gives instead of money to a customer who returns goods, and that allows the customer to buy other goods of the same value. -2. a letter sent by a supplier to a customer to tell them the supplier owes them money.

creditor ['kredətə] n a person or company that somebody owes money to.

credit rating n an estimate of how likely a person is to pay back money that they borrow, used to calculate their credit line.

credit squeeze n a period when the government makes it difficult to borrow money, usually to reduce spending or inflation.

credit transfer n a payment of money directly from one bank account to another, rather than by cash, check etc.

credit union n US & AUS a kind of savings bank that gives better terms to particular kinds of people, e.g. students or members of a labor union.

creditworthy ['kredətʰwɜ:ði] adj [person, company, project] that it is safe to lend money or give credit to.

credulity [krə'di:li:tɪ] n: see credulous (formal use).

credulous ['kredʒələs] adj [person] who is too willing to believe what other people say without real proof □ He somehow duped dozens of credulous investors.

Cree [kri:] n a member of a Native American people living mainly in Canada and Montana; the language of this people.

creed [kri:d] n -1. a set of beliefs and principles that are usually shared by many people □ They embraced the creed of socialism. -2. a religion □ people of every color and creed. -3. the Creed a short statement of Christian beliefs that is spoken as part of some church services.

creek [kri:k] n -1. US a small narrow river or stream. -2. GB a long narrow area of water that reaches inland from the sea.

Creek n a member of a Native American people who used to live in Georgia and Alabama; the language of this people.

creep [kri:p] (pt & pp crept) ◇ vi -1. [person, animal] to move somewhere quietly and carefully to avoid being noticed □ The burglar crept through the house. □ The cat crept toward the mouse. -2. [cloud, traffic, time] to move in a particular direction very slowly □ The cars crept along at a walking pace. □ Our debts have crept up to over $1 million. -3. to creep (up) to sb to try to become liked by sb important by praising them, agreeing with them etc all the time (informal and disapproving use) □ I see you've been creeping (up) to the boss again. ◇ n a person who one dislikes (informal use) □ He's a real creep!

◆ creeps npl to give sb the creeps to make sb feel fear, disgust, or strong dislike (informal use) □ There's something about that guy that gives me the creeps.

◆ creep in vi [mistakes, idea, fear] to begin to appear □ A hint of doubt crept into his voice.

◆ creep up on vt fus -1. to creep up on a person/animal to creep toward another person/animal, usually from behind. -2. to creep up on sb [feeling, time] to get slowly closer to sb in a way that is not always noticeable □ Old age is creeping up on me. □ The deadline is creeping up on us.

creeper ['kri:pə] n a long plant that grows along the ground, up walls etc.

creeping ['kri:pɪŋ] adj [inflation, paralysis] that increases or spreads slowly and causes damage.

creepy ['kri:pɪ] (compar creepier, superl creepiest) adj [story, person, place] that makes one feel fear, disgust, or strong dislike (informal use) □ Their house is dark and creepy.

creepy-crawly [-'kri:li] (pl creepy-crawlies) n an insect that one finds unpleasant or that makes one nervous or afraid (informal use).

cremate [US 'kri:meɪt, GB krə'meɪt] vt to burn <the body of a dead person>.

cremation [krə'meɪʃn] n: see cremate □ After the cremation, we all went back to my uncle's house.

crematorium [US ,kri:mə'tɔ:riəm, GB ,krem-] (pl crematoriums OR crematoria [-riə]) n a building where the bodies of dead people are cremated.

crematory [US 'kri:mətɔ:ri, GB 'kremətɔ:ri] (pl crematories) n US = crematorium.

creosote ['kriəsəʊt] ◇ n a brown liquid with a strong smell that is used to preserve wood. ◇ vt [fence, shed] to paint <sthg made of wood> with creosote.

crepe [kreɪp] n -1. CLOTHING a light thin fabric such as cotton or wool that has an uneven surface □ a crepe blouse/dress. -2. [for shoes] a kind of strong rubber with an uneven surface that is used for making the soles of shoes. -3. COOKING a thin pancake.

crepe bandage n GB a long piece of white flexible fabric with an uneven surface that is used for covering and protecting cuts and injuries.

crepe paper n thin brightly-colored paper with an uneven surface that is used for making decorations and wrapping gifts.

crepe-soled shoes [-səʊld-] npl shoes with thick soles made of crepe rubber.

crept [krept] past tense & past participle of creep.

Cres abbr of crescent.

crescendo [kri'fendəʊ] (pl crescendos) n -1. [of noise, applause] a sudden increase in the loudness of something □ There was a crescendo of clapping and cheering from the audience. -2. to rise to OR reach a crescendo [noise, protest] to increase gradually and reach a climax □ The music reached a crescendo, then suddenly stopped.

crescent [US 'kresnt, GB 'krez-] ◇ n -1. a curved shape like that of the Moon when it is less than half full. -2. a street or line of houses that forms a curve. ◇ adj [shape, Moon] that has the shape of a crescent.

cress [kres] n a very small plant with small leaves that have a strong taste and are eaten raw in salads and sandwiches.

crest [krest] n -1. [of a bird] a group of feathers growing upward on a bird's head. -2. [of a hill, wave] the top or highest part of a hill or wave. -3. [of a family, institution] a small design used on furniture, writing paper etc as the symbol of a family, town, or organization □ the family crest.

crestfallen ['krestfɔ:lən] adj [person] who is disappointed and sad □ She looked crestfallen when I told her the news.

Crete [kri:t] a Greek island in the eastern Mediterranean. SIZE: 8,336 sq kms. POPULATION: 536,980 (Creteans).

cretin [US 'kri:tɪn, GB 'kretɪn] n a person who one thinks is very stupid (informal use).

crevasse [krə'væs] n a long deep hole in thick ice.

crevice ['krevəs] n a long narrow space or hole in a rock, wall etc.

crew [kru:] n -1. the people who work on a ship, plane, ambulance or other vehicle □ an ambulance crew □ a crew member. -2. a group of people, usually with special skills, who work together on a task or project □ a movie/camera crew.

crew cut n a hairstyle in which the hair is cut very short all over one's head.

crewman ['kru:mən] (pl crewmen [-mən]) n a member of a crew.

crew-neck(ed) [-nek(t)] adj [sweater, pullover] that has a round collar and is close-fitting at the neck.

crib [kri:b] (pt & pp cribbed, cont cribbing) ◇ n a bed with high sides for a baby. ◇ vt to copy <sthg written> from somebody else and pretend it is one's own idea, work etc (informal use) □ He cribbed the answer off or from the girl next to him.

cribbage ['kri:bɪdʒ] n a card game in which the players keep their scores by putting small sticks into holes on a wooden board.

crib death n US the sudden death of a baby while it is asleep and is not suffering from any illness.

crick [kri:k] ◇ n a pain in one's neck or back caused by the muscles suddenly becoming stiff. ◇ vt to get a crick in <one's neck or back>.

cricket ['kri:kət] n -1. an outdoor sport that is played by two teams of eleven players who dress in white and score points by hitting a small hard ball with a wooden bat and running between two sets of small posts □ a cricket ball/match/pitch. -2. a small brown insect that jumps in the air and makes short loud sounds by rubbing its wings together.

cricketer ['kri:kətə] n a person who plays cricket.

cried [kraid] past tense & past participle of cry.

crime [kraim] n -1. acts and behavior which are against the law □ The government is worried about the increase in violent crime. □ crime prevention □ a crime novel. -2. an act which is against the law □ a minor or petty crime. -3. something that one thinks it is wrong to do or let happen □ It would be a crime to tear down that old church.

Crimea [kraɪ'miə]: the Crimea an area of land in the Ukraine on the Black Sea.

crime wave n a sudden increase in crime that lasts for a particular period of time.

criminal ['kri:mɪnəl] ◇ adj -1. [offense, behavior, lawyer] that is connected with acts which are against the law □ Shoplifting is a criminal offense. -2. [waste, neglect] that one thinks is wrong to do or let happen □ It's a criminal waste of taxpayers' money. ◇ n a person who has committed a crime.

criminalize, -ise ['kri:mɪnəlaɪz] vt to make <an activity> a criminal offense.

criminal law n the laws of a country that deal with crimes that are punished, rather than with people's rights, disagreements etc.

criminology [,kri:mɪ'nɒlədʒɪ] n the study of the causes and prevention of crime.

crimped [kri:mpt] adj [hair] that has been made to look wavy.

crimson ['kri:mzɪn] ◇ adj -1. [dress, flower] that is dark purple-red in color. -2. to be/turn crimson [face] to be/become very red because one is embarrassed or angry. ◇ n a dark purple-red color.

cringe [kri:ndʒ] vi -1. to have a very unpleasant feeling of shame or embarrassment that is clear from the expression on one's face (informal use) □ It makes me cringe (with embarrassment) when I think about it. -2. to move backward because of fear.

crinkle ['kriŋkl] ◇ n a small line, wave, or fold in the surface of paper, cloth, skin etc. ◇ vi [clothes, leaf, face] to become covered with crinkles.

crinkly ['kriŋkli] adj [surface, face] that is covered with crinkles.

cripple ['kripl] ◇ n ▲ a person who is permanently unable to walk or move properly as a result of an injury or disease in their back or legs (old-fashioned and offensive use). ◇ vt -1. [person] to cause <sb> to become a cripple □ He was crippled in a riding accident. -2. [country, economy, ship] to prevent <sthg> from continuing to work properly □ The company was crippled by debts.

crippling ['kriplɪŋ] adj -1. [disease, pain] that prevents somebody from walking or moving properly. -2. [debt, price, tax] very large and difficult to deal with.

crisis ['kraɪsɪs] (pl crises [-ɪ:z]) n -1. a point in a situation when it has become very difficult, dangerous, and uncertain □ The govern- ment is in crisis. □ We need international measures to combat the energy crisis. □ Relations between the two countries have reached crisis point. -2. a time in a person's life when they are unable to deal with their problems □ He'll start drinking again at the first sign of crisis.

crisp [krɪsp] adj -1. [toast, bacon, leaves] hard, dry, and easily broken; [apple, lettuce] firm and fresh □ He handed over a wad of crisp dollar bills. -2. [weather, wind] pleasantly fresh, cold, and dry □ It was a fine, crisp morning. -3. [tone, manner] quick, confident, and often unfriendly □ "Good morning," said a clear crisp voice over the telephone.

♦ crisps npl GB thin slices of potato that are fried until they are hard and break easily, and that are eaten cold.

crispbread ['krɪspbrɛd] n a plain, dry, unsweetened cracker that is eaten in place of bread, e.g. by people on diets.

crispy ['krɪspi] (compar crispier, superl crispiest) adj [bacon, toast] that has been fried, grilled etc until it is hard and breaks easily; [apple, lettuce] firm and fresh.

crisscross ['krɪskrɒs] ◇ adj [pattern, design] that has many straight lines that cross each other. ◇ vt to cross  etc in many different directions □ The region is crisscrossed by a network of canals. ◇ vi [lines, roads] to form a crisscross pattern.

criterion [kraɪ'tɪərɪən] (pl criteria [-rɪə]) n a measure or standard that people use to make decisions or to judge somebody or something □ Wealth is not the only criterion of success. □ All new products will have to meet the criteria laid down by the authorities.

critic ['krɪtɪk] n -1. a person whose job is to give their opinion of movies, books, music etc □ The critics loved the new show. □ an art/a film critic. -2. a person who criticizes somebody or something publicly □ He is an outspoken critic of the regime.

critical ['krɪtɪkəl] adj -1. [stage, moment] that is very important in deciding what will happen □ The discussions had reached a critical point. □ The next few weeks will be critical for the company's future. -2. [illness, situation, condition] that is very serious and may suddenly get worse or lead to somebody's death □ The patient is still critical. -3. [person, article, attitude] that expresses or shows disapproval □ The chairman was highly critical of our department's performance. □ The play met with critical acclaim. -4. [study, analysis] that examines and judges carefully somebody or something's good and bad qualities □ The report provides a critical assessment of potential markets. -5. [success, acclaim] that is connected with what critics have said.

critically ['krɪtɪkəlɪ] adv -1. critically important/ill etc very important/seriously ill etc □ She was critically injured in the explosion. -2. [look, judge] in a way that shows disapproval □ She often speaks critically about her husband.

criticism ['krɪtɪsɪzəm] n -1. [of a book, play] serious discussion of something, especially a book, play etc, in order to decide what its good and bad points are □ literary criticism. -2. [of a person, decision] disapproval that is expressed about somebody or something; a comment that expresses this □ They've had a lot of criticism lately. □ These tactics are open to criticism. □ I have a few small criticisms to make.

criticize, -ise ['krɪtəsaɪz] ◇ vt [person, policy] to express disapproval of <sb/sthg> □ She always criticizes the way I drive. ◇ vi: All he ever does is criticize.

critique [krɪ'tɪ:k] n an article, book, speech etc that carefully examines and judges something □ She's writing a critique of Borges' work.

croak [krouk] ◇ n -1. [of a frog, bird] a deep harsh sound. -2. [of a person] a low, harsh, rough voice that is caused by a sore throat, tiredness, thirst, fear etc. ◇ vi -1. [frog, bird] to make a croak. -2. [person] to speak with a croak.

Croat ['krouæt] n & adj: see Croatia.

Croatia [krou'eɪʃə] a country in southeastern Europe, on the Adriatic Sea, that was part of Yugoslavia until 1991. SIZE: 56,500 sq kms. POPULATION: 4,400,000 (Croats, Croatians). CAPITAL: Zagreb. LANGUAGE: Croatian. CURRENCY: Croatian dinar.

Croatian [krou'eɪʃn] adj & n: see Croatia.

crochet [US krou'feɪ, GB 'kroufeɪ] ◇ vt [sweater, tablecloth] to make <sthg> from wool or thread using a short needle with a hook on the end □ I'm going to crochet a nice scarf for you. ◇ n the art of crocheting things.

crockery ['krɒkəri] n a collective term for plates, cups, saucers etc.

Crockett ['krɒkət], Davy (1786–1836) a US hero from the Wild West who later became a politician. He died at the battle of the Alamo.

crocodile ['krɒkədəɪl] (pl crocodile OR crocodiles) n a large reptile with a long mouth and many sharp teeth that lives in rivers and lakes in Africa, Australia, and Asia. It eats meat and can attack people.

crocus ['krɒkəs] (pl crocus) n a small garden plant that produces white, yellow, or purple flowers early in the spring.

Croesus ['kri:səs] a king who ruled in the 6th century BC in what is now Turkey. He is famous for being very rich.

croft [krɒft] n GB a small farm, especially in Scotland.

croissant [US kwɑ:'sɑɪnt, GB 'kwæsɒŋ] n a crescent-shaped piece of light flaky pastry that is sometimes eaten for breakfast.

Cromwell ['krɒmwəl], Oliver (1599–1658) a British soldier and politician who led the Parliamentary army against the Royalists in the English Civil War. He established a republic, which he governed until his death.

crony ['krouni] (pl cronies) n sb's crony sb's close friend or companion (informal and disapproving use) □ We think it was John and some of his cronies that did it.

crook [krʊk] ◇ n -1. a dishonest person (informal use). -2. [of one's arm, leg] the soft part where somebody's elbow or knee bends.

-3. [of a shepherd] a long stick with a curved end that is used by shepherds for catching sheep. ◇ vt to bend <one's finger or arm>. ◇ adj AUS ill (informal use).

crooked ['krʊkəd] adj -1. [path, branch, tie] that is not straight □ I've always had crooked teeth. -2. [person, deal] dishonest (informal use).

croon [kru:n] ◇ vt [song, tune, words] to sing or say <sth> softly and gently. ◇ vi: She was crooning over the baby.

crop [krɒp] (pt & pp cropped, cont cropping) ◇ n -1. FARMING a plant grown in large amounts on farms, e.g. grain, vegetables, or fruit; the amount of a crop that is grown and collected in a year or season in one particular place □ This land is no good for growing crops. □ We expect a good crop of apples this year. □ The wheat crop was damaged by the storm. -2. [of people, results, problems] a group of similar people or things that all appear at the same time (informal use) □ I don't think much of this year's crop of students/recruits. □ the latest crop of official figures. -3. [for horse riding] a short whip used by horse riders. ◇ vt -1. [hairstylist] to cut <sb's hair> very short. -2. [animal] to bite the tops off <plants, grass> etc and eat them.

◆ crop up vi [problem, subject] to happen or appear unexpectedly (informal use) □ I'm afraid something's cropped up at the office so I'll have to meet you later. □ Your name cropped up during the conversation.

crop spraying [-spreɪnɪŋ] n the treatment of crops with chemicals that kill insects, usually using low-flying airplanes.

croquet [US krou'keɪ, GB 'kroukeɪ] n a game in which players use long sticks with heavy heads to hit wooden balls through metal arches fixed into a grass lawn.

croquette [krou'ket] n a ball of crushed potato, fish etc that is covered in breadcrumbs and fried or baked □ a potato croquette.

cross [krɒs] ◇ adj [person, look, reply] angry □ I'm sorry I was so cross with you. □ He got cross with me when I told him so.

◇ n -1. [on a map] a symbol (X) used e.g. on a map to indicate where something is or on a piece of work to indicate that an answer is wrong □ Please put a cross in the relevant boxes. -2. [in Christianity] a symbol (+) that is often used to represent the Christian religion □ She wore a little silver cross on a chain around her neck. -3. [of animals, plants] a mixture of two different things, especially two types of animal or plant □ A mule is a cross between a horse and a donkey.

◇ vt -1. [street, room, river] to go from one side of <sth> to the other □ We crossed the border into Spain. ■ to cross sb's face [look, expression] to appear for a short time on sb's face □ A look of anxiety crossed his face. -2. to cross one's arms/legs to place one arm/leg over the other □ I sat on the floor with my legs crossed. -3. RELIGION to cross oneself to make the sign of a Christian cross by touching one's head, chest, and shoulders with one's hand. -4. to cross a cheque GB to draw two lines across a check so that it must be deposited into a bank account and cannot be exchanged for cash □ a crossed cheque.

-5. [person] to annoy <sb> by opposing them or preventing them from getting what they want □ You'd better be careful with the manager; he doesn't like being crossed.

◇ vi -1. [lines, streets] to come together and go across each other □ The roads cross just south of Detroit. -2. [pedestrian, vehicle] to cross a street, room, the sea etc □ It's best to cross at the traffic lights.

◆ cross off vt sep to cross sth off to delete sth from a list □ You may as well cross Jenny's name off; she won't even be here.

◆ cross out vt sep to cross sth out [word, sentence] to draw a line through sth to show that it is incorrect or unnecessary □ Please cross out the words that do not apply.

crossbar ['krɒsbɑ:ɹ] n -1. SPORT the horizontal bar between the two upright posts of a goal. -2. the horizontal bar on a man's bicycle that is between the saddle and the handlebars.

crossbencher ['krɒsbentʃə] n a member of the British parliament who sits on the crossbenches.

crossbenches ['krɒsbentʃɪz] npl the crossbenches the seats in the House of Lords and the House of Commons for members who do not belong to the Government or to the Opposition.

crossbow ['krɒsbəʊ] n a weapon that consists of a small horizontal bow whose string is pulled back along a central shaft and released by a trigger.

crossbreed ['krɒsbri:d] n a type of animal or plant that is produced by mixing two different types.

cross-Channel adj a cross-Channel ferry/route etc a ferry/route etc that crosses the English Channel between England and mainland Europe.

cross-check n a check of something that is carried out to make sure that no mistakes have been made and that uses a different method from the one originally used □ Can you please run a cross-check on these figures?

◆ crosscheck vt [data, calculation, statement] to carry out a cross-check on <sth>.

cross-country ◇ adj [running, skiing] that involves crossing fields, open country etc; [route, service] that uses less important roads, railroad lines etc rather than main routes. ◇ adv [walk, travel] by crossing fields, open country etc or using cross-country routes. ◇ n the sport of running races across fields and open country; one of these races.

cross-cultural adj [study, music, conflict] that involves two or more different cultures.

cross-dressing n the practice of wearing clothes that are usually worn by the opposite sex.

crossed line [ˌkrɒst-] n a fault on a telephone line in which one can hear somebody else's conversation on another line.

cross-examination n: see cross-examine □ The second witness was called for cross-examination.

cross-examine vt -1. LAW to ask  a lot of detailed questions in a court of law to check that they give the same answers as the previous time they were questioned □ You can expect to be cross-examined at length about this. -2. to ask <sb> a lot of detailed questions, often because one does not believe them □ I hate being cross-examined.

cross-eyed [-aid] adj [person] who has eyes that seem to look toward their nose.

cross-fertilize vt to fertilize  using the male pollen of a different type of plant.

crossfire ['krɒsfɪə] n gunfire that comes from two or more places. ■ to be/get caught in the crossfire to be/become unwillingly involved in an argument between two other people.

crosshead ['krɒshed] adj GB a crosshead screwdriver a screwdriver that has a pointed end in the shape of a cross. ■ a crosshead screw a screw that has a slot in the shape of a cross at one end.

crossing ['krɒsɪŋ] n -1. [for pedestrians, cars] a safe place to cross a road, railroad etc. -2. [between countries] an official place to cross from one country to another □ a border crossing. -3. [across water] a trip by boat or ship across a sea, lake etc □ We had a rough/pleasant crossing.

cross-legged [-legd] adv to sit cross-legged to sit with one leg placed on top of the other so that one's knees point to each side; with one leg placed on top of the other.

crossly ['krɒsli] adv [say, reply, frown] in an angry way □ "No it isn't!" she said crossly.

crossply ['krɒsplai] (pl crossplies) ◇ adj a crossply tire a tire that is made stronger by having wires or cords arranged crosswise inside the rubber. ◇ n a crossply tire.

cross-purposes npl to be at cross-purposes [two people] to be talking about different things without realizing it so that there is confusion and misunderstanding □ We seem to be talking at cross-purposes.

cross-question vt = cross-examine.

cross-refer ◇ vt to send  to another part of a book or document using a cross-reference. ◇ vi: An arrow is used to cross-refer to related topics.

cross-reference n a note in a book or document that tells readers that there is more information on a subject in another part of the book or document.

crossroads ['krɒsrəʊdz] (pl crossroads) n a place where two roads meet and cross each other □ When you come to the crossroads, turn left. ■ to be at a crossroads to be at an important point in one's life or career where one has to make a decision that will affect one's future.

cross-section n -1. [of a plant, brain, pipe] the inside surface that can be seen when something is cut in half; a picture of this □ The drawing shows a cross-section of the building. □ crosswalk ['krɒswɔ:k] n US a specially marked part of a road where vehicles have to stop to allow pedestrians to cross.

The beam is shown in cross-section. -2. [of students, the community, population] a group chosen as being typical of a larger group □ Our market researchers have tested the product on a cross-section of consumers.

crossways ['krɒsweɪz] adv = crosswise.

crosswind ['krɒswɪnd] n a wind blowing across the direction in which an airplane, ship, car etc is traveling.

crosswise ['krɒswaɪz] adv [lie, lay, arrange] across each other; from corner to corner across something.

crossword (puzzle) ['krɒswɜ:d-] n a word game found in newspapers, magazines etc in which one has to find words from information that is given and write the answers in squares on a special pattern.

crotch [krɒtʃ] n the place where one's legs meet at the front of one's body; the part of a pair of trousers, pantyhose etc that cover this place.

crotchet ['krɒtʃət] n GB MUSIC a note (♩) that is a quarter as long as a whole note.

crotchety ['krɒtʃətɪ] adj [person] who is bad-tempered (informal use).

crouch [kraʊtʃ] vi [person, animal] to lower the body close to the ground by bending the legs, especially in order to hide □ I crouched down in the bushes, hoping no one had seen me.

◆ crouch over vt fus to crouch over sth to lean forward so that one's body is very close to sth.

croup [kru:p] n -1. MEDICINE a children's disease which causes coughing and breathing problems. -2. [of a horse] the fleshy part above the back legs of a horse.

croupier ['kru:piə] n a person whose job is to spin the roulette wheel, deal the cards, take in and pay out money etc in a casino.

crouton ['kru:tɒn] n a small square of fried bread that is eaten in soups or salads.

crow [krou] ◇ n a large black bird with a loud harsh cry. ■ as the crow flies a phrase used to give the distance between two places if one travels in a straight line □ It's two miles, as the crow flies. ◇ vi -1. [cock] to make a loud high call, especially at dawn. -2. [person] to talk proudly about something, especially to somebody who has not been as successful (disapproving use) □ He's been crowing about OR over his promotion all week.

Crow n a member of a Native American people living in Montana; the language of this people.

crowbar ['kroubɑ:ɹ] n a long, heavy, iron bar with a bent end that is used for lifting heavy objects and breaking open boxes.

crowd [kraud] ◇ n -1. a large group of people who have gathered together, usually outdoors □ There was a crowd of people waiting to get in. □ a football crowd. -2. a particular group of people, e.g. friends or people who work together (informal use) □ "Who was at the party?" — "The usual crowd."

◇ vi [people] to come together somewhere in large numbers □ Everyone crowded around as the salesman demonstrated the machine. □ The fans crowded into the stadium.

◇ vt -1. to fill  □ Tourists crowded the streets. -2. to force <people> into a small space □ We were just able to crowd everybody in. □ The delegates were crowded into a tiny room.

crowded ['kraʊdəd] adj -1. [train, room] that is filled with a lot of people so that it is often difficult to move, find a seat etc □ The beach was very crowded. □ The hall was crowded with photographers. -2. [timetable, schedule] that is full of events □ The agenda is starting to look very crowded.

crown [kraʊn] ◇ n -1. [of a king, queen] a decorative hat, often of silver or gold, worn as a symbol of royal power. -2. [of a hill, hat, somebody's head] the top or highest part of something. -3. [of a tooth] a cover of gold or porcelain fixed over the top of a broken tooth. ◇ vt -1. to make <sb> a king or queen by placing a crown on their head □ Charles V was crowned king of Spain in 1516. -2. [dentist] to put a crown on . -3. to be crowned with sthg to be covered with sthg at the top □ His head was crowned with soft white hair.

◆ Crown n the Crown the monarchy in a particular country □ a Crown estate/property.

crown court n GB a local court in England or Wales where serious criminal cases are judged.

crowning ['kraʊnɪŋ] adj sb's crowning achievement sb's best or most important achievement.

crown jewels npl the crowns and other jewels and valuable objects that are worn or carried by a king or queen at official ceremonies.

crown prince n the prince who will become king when the present king or queen dies.

Crown Prosecution Service n the Crown Prosecution Service the government department responsible for bringing legal charges for serious crimes in England and Wales.

crow's feet npl lines or folds in the skin at the outside corners of the eyes that one usually gets as one becomes older.

crow's nest n a small box high up on the mast of a ship from which one can look for land, danger etc.

crucial ['kru:ʃl] adj [decision, factor, moment] that is extremely important, because the success of something depends on it □ This deal is crucial to OR for the future of the company. □ It is absolutely crucial that no one else hears about this.

crucially ['kru:ʃli] adv to be crucially important to be very important.

crucible ['kru:səbl] n a container used to heat metals to very high temperatures.

crucifix ['kru:səfɪks] n a cross with a figure of Christ on it.

Crucifixion [ˌkru:sə'fɪkʃn] n the Crucifixion the death of Christ by being crucified.

crucify ['kru:sɪfaɪ] (pt & pp crucified) vt -1. to kill <sb> by tying or nailing them to a cross. -2. to treat, defeat, or criticize <sb> very severely (informal use) □ He'll be crucified in the press for this.

crude [kru:d] ◇ adj -1. [sugar, rubber] that is in its natural state and is not yet treated and cannot be used □ The crude oil is piped ashore to a refinery. -2. [person, joke, remark] rude and vulgar □ There's no need to be so crude, Roger. -3. [sketch, guess] that is not completely accurate because it has been made quickly, is not finished, or is not skilled □ Making a crude guess, I'd say there were over 50 people there. ◇ n crude oil.

crudely ['kru:dlɪ] adv [behave, express, sketch] see crude □ a crudely carved sculpture □ Put crudely, they want more money.

crude oil n oil that is in the natural state in which it comes from the ground.

cruel [kru:əl] (compar crueller, superl cruellest) adj -1. [person, treatment, remark] that deliberately causes pain or suffering □ Don't be cruel to animals. -2. [disappointment, winter, wind] that causes pain or suffering □ Losing the contract was a cruel blow for the company.

cruelly ['kru:əlɪ] adv [treat, speak] see cruel □ They were cruelly tortured. □ His hopes were cruelly shattered.

cruelty ['kru:əltɪ] n cruel behavior or actions □ They argue that such practices expose the animals to unnecessary cruelty.

cruet ['kru:ət] n a stand containing pots or bottles of salt, pepper, oil, vinegar etc that is put on a table at mealtimes.

Cruft's [kɹɑ:fts] n an annual competition for dogs in Britain, where prizes are given for the best dog in each breed.

cruise [kru:z] ◇ n a vacation spent traveling on a large ship □ We're going on a cruise. ◇ vi -1. [ship, passenger] to sail from one place to another on a cruise □ I like the idea of cruising around the Caribbean for a few weeks. -2. [car, plane] to move at a speed that is quite fast but that can be continued over a long distance □ We will be cruising at an altitude of 30,000 feet.

cruise missile n a missile which carries a nuclear bomb, flies quite low, and is guided by its own computer.

cruiser ['kru:zə] n -1. MILITARY a large fast warship. -2. SAILING a motorboat that has a room where people can sleep and eat and is used for pleasure trips.

crumb [krʌm] n -1. [of bread, cake, a cookie] a very small piece of dry food □ You left crumbs all over the table. -2. a crumb of knowledge/information etc a very small amount of knowledge/information etc, especially when it is not enough to be useful □ He hung on, waiting for whatever crumbs of information the hospital might be able to give.

crumble ['krʌmbəl] ◇ n a dessert of cooked fruit covered with a loose mixture of butter, flour, and sugar □ apple/rhubarb crumble. ◇ vt [bread, cheese] to break <sthg> into very small pieces. ◇ vi -1. [building, plaster, cliff] to break slowly into pieces because it is weak or old □ We came across the crumbling ruins of a church. -2. [relationship, hope, opposition] to become slowly weaker and start to fail or disappear □ Support for the party is crumbling.

crumbly ['krʌmbli] (compar crumblier, superl crumbliest) adj [bread, cake] that one thinks is easily broken into little pieces.

crummy ['krʌmi] (compar crummier, superl crummiest) adj [place, book, idea] that is of poor quality (informal use).

crumpet ['krʌmpət] n GB a flat and round kind of bread with holes in one side that is eaten hot with butter.

crumple ['krʌmpl] ◇ vt [clothes, paper] to crush or squash <sthg> so that it has a lot of lines or folds □ He was wearing a crumpled shirt. ◇ vi -1. [clothes, car] This skirt crumples easily. -2. [person] to suddenly fall or lie down because one is weak, helpless, or has had a shock; [team, regime] to suddenly become weak and so be easily defeated □ She crumpled on the sofa in exhaustion. □ The army crumpled under the attack.

◆ crumple up vt sep to crumple sthg up [clothes, paper] to crumple sthg □ She crumpled up the letter and threw it on the fire.

crunch [krʌntʃ] ◇ vt -1. [cracker, bone] to crush <food> noisily with one's teeth □ He sat crunching a cookie. -2. [gravel, snow] to cause <sthg hard or rough> to make a noise by stepping on it, driving over it, crushing it etc. ◇ n the sound of something being crunched □ There was a crunch of gears and the car raced away. ■ if/when it comes to the crunch... if/when the important time comes when one has to decide or take action... □ I can't find work, but if it came to the crunch I could always go back to teaching.

crunchy ['krʌntʃi] (compar crunchier, superl crunchiest) adj -1. [apple, cracker] that makes a noise when it is eaten because it is hard. -2. [gravel, snow] that crunches when somebody steps or drives on it.

crusade [kru:'seɪd] ◇ n -1. HISTORY one of the wars fought by Christians to win Jerusalem and Palestine from the Muslims between about 1100 and 1300 AD. -2. a campaign to improve the way people live or behave □ The government has launched a crusade against crime. □ They're on a moral/political crusade. ◇ vi to crusade for/against sthg to lead or take part in a crusade for/against sthg.

crusader [kru:'seɪdər] n -1. HISTORY a Christian soldier who went on a crusade. -2. [for change, against war] a person who takes part in a campaign to improve the way people live or behave □ a human rights crusader.

crush [krʌʃ] ◇ n -1. a crowd of people packed tightly together in a way that makes it difficult to move □ I forced my way through the crush. -2. to have a crush on sb to have an uncontrolled feeling of love for sb, especially an older person, that does not last (informal use). -3. orange/lemon crush GB a drink made from orange/lemon juice, sugar, and water.

◇ vt -1. [car, hat] to push or press <sthg> so that it becomes flat, broken, or damaged □ The box got crushed in the mail. □ He was crushed to death by falling rocks. -2. [seeds, garlic] to make <sthg> into a powder or paste by squashing it. -3. [army, opposition, hopes] to defeat or destroy <sthg> completely □ The army was sent to crush the rebels.

crush barrier n GB a strong fence used in a stadium, street etc to stop people from becoming crushed in a crowd.

crushing ['krʌʃɪŋ] adj -1. [defeat, blow] that destroys somebody's hopes completely. -2. [remark, indifference] that makes one feel very hurt, upset, or embarrassed.

crust [krʌst] n -1. [on bread] the hard outer covering of a loaf of bread □ a piece of crust. -2. [on a pie] a layer of pastry on a pie, tart etc □ the pie crust. -3. [on a surface] a hard covering that has formed on top of something or on the outside of it □ There was a crust of ice on the window. □ the Earth's crust.

crustacean [krʌ'steɪʃn] n an animal such as a crab, shrimp, or lobster that has a hard outer shell and usually lives in water.

crusty ['krʌsti] (compar crustier, superl crustiest) adj -1. [food] that has a hard crust. -2. [person] who is bad-tempered.

crutch [krʌtʃ] n -1. [for walking] a stick with a piece at the top that fits under the arm and is used by injured people as a support when walking □ He was walking on OR with crutches. -2. [for help] a person or thing that provides help or support (disapproving use) □ She uses her mother as an emotional crutch. -3. [of one's body, a pair of pants] = crotch.

crux [krʌks] n the crux of the issue/problem etc the most important or difficult part of the issue/problem etc □ Now we come to the crux of the matter: how much will it cost?

cry [krai] (pl cries, pt & pp cried) ◇ vi -1. [person] to produce tears because one is sad, in pain, scared, laughing etc □ The baby was crying for its mother. □ I cried with pain. -2. [person] to shout □ He cried for help.

◇ n -1. to have a cry to cry because one is sad, in pain, or scared □ You'll feel better if you have a good cry. -2. [of a person] a shout or loud call □ a cry of pain □ a cry for help. ■ to be a far cry from sthg to be very different from sthg □ The hotel was a far cry from what the brochure had promised. -3. [of a bird, animal] the sound made by some birds and animals, especially if it is loud and high-pitched.

◇ vt -1. to cry tears of joy/relief to cry because one is happy/relieved. ■ to cry oneself to sleep to cry until one falls asleep. -2. to shout <sthg> □ "Help!" he cried.

◆ cry off vi GB to say that one will not do something that one has promised or agreed - to do □ I arranged an interview with her but she cried off at the last moment.

- ◆ cry out ◇ vt sep to cry sth out to shout or call sth suddenly and loudly □ "Be careful!" he cried out. ◇ vi to shout, call, or make a sound suddenly and loudly because of fear, excitement, or surprise □ She cried out in pain when I tried to lift her.
- ◆ cry out for vt fus to be crying out for sthg to need sthg very much and very soon □ The system is crying out for change.
- crybaby ['kraibeibi] (pl crybabies) n a person, especially a child, who cries too much and without a good reason (informal and disapproving use).
- crying ['kraɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. it's a crying shame a phrase used to show that one thinks something is wrong or unfair (informal use) □ It's a crying shame, the way she treats her husband. -2. a crying need for sthg a very great and urgent need for sthg □ There is a crying need for reforms. ◇ n the act of crying or the sound of somebody crying □ I could hear crying coming from the next room.
- crypt [kript] n a room under a church.
- cryptic ['kriptɪk] adj [message, comment, smile] that is mysterious because its meaning is hidden or difficult to understand.
- crypto- ['kriptou] prefix added to words to mean secret □ a crypto-communist/crypto-fascist.
- crystal ['krɪstl] n -1. a hard object with many flat sides that forms naturally when substances such as minerals or sugar become solid □ a rock/quartz crystal □ ice/sugar crystals. -2. high-quality colorless glass that is used to make bowls, wine glasses etc and whose surface is often cut so that it shines in the light □ lead crystal □ a crystal chandelier/bowl.
- crystal ball n a clear glass ball in which fortune-tellers try to see future events.
- crystal clear adj -1. [water, air, glass] that is completely clear and bright, and that one can see through. -2. [meaning, statement] that is completely clear, so that there is no doubt or misunderstanding □ I have made my reasons crystal clear. -3. [voice, sound] that is heard very clearly.
- crystallize, -ise ['krɪstəlaɪz] ◇ vi -1. [liquid, substance] to form crystals. -2. [idea, plan] to become clear, fixed, and definite in somebody's mind. ◇ vt [idea, plan] to cause <sthg> to crystallize.
- crystallized ['krɪstəlaɪzd] adj crystallized fruit fruit that has been preserved by covering it with sugar □ crystallized orange/ginger.
- CSC (abbr of Civil Service Commission) n the CSC the British government department responsible for recruiting civil servants.
- CS gas n a type of tear gas that is used by the police to stop riots and makes one's eyes water and makes breathing difficult.
- CST (abbr of Central Standard Time) n the local winter time in the central USA and Canada; the local time in central Australia.
- ct abbr of carat.
- CT abbr of Connecticut.
- CTC n abbr of city technology college.
- CTP (abbr of compulsory third party) n car insurance that all drivers in Australia must have.
- cu. abbr of cubic.
- cub [kʌb] n -1. a young fox, bear, lion etc □ a tiger cub. -2. = Cub Scout.
- Cuba ['kju:bə] a country in the Caribbean, south of Florida. The largest island in the West Indies, it has been a Communist country since 1959. SIZE: 111,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 10,700,000 (Cubans). CAPITAL: Havana. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: Cuban peso.
- Cuban ['kju:bən] n & adj: see Cuba.
- Cuban missile crisis n the Cuban missile crisis a period of tension between the USA and the USSR in 1962, when the USSR started to build military bases for nuclear missiles in Cuba. As a result of threats by the USA, the USSR removed the bases.
- cubbyhole ['kʌbɪhəʊl] n a very small room or space for storing things in (informal use).
- cube [kju:b] ◇ n -1. a shape or object that has six square sides all of the same size □ a sugar cube. -2. MATH the number made by multiplying a number by itself twice □ The cube of 3 is 27. ◇ vt MATH to calculate the cube of  □ 3 cubed is 27.
- cube root n the number that makes a particular number when it is cubed □ 3 is the cube root of 27.
- cubic ['kju:bɪk] adj a cubic centimeter/foot etc a unit used for measuring the space inside something, equal in size to a cube whose sides are all a centimeter/foot etc long.
- cubicle ['kju:bɪkl] n a very small room shaped like a box and separated from the rest of a larger room, e.g. for dressing and undressing at a swimming pool.
- Cubism ['kju:bɪzəm] n an early 20th-century style of painting developed by Picasso and Braque that presents objects as simple geometrical shapes.
- Cubist ['kju:bəst] n an artist who uses Cubism.
- cub reporter n a young journalist who is still learning their job.
- Cub Scout n a member of the Cub Scouts, an organization for boys aged 8–11 that teaches boys practical skills and organizes outdoor activities.
- cuckoo ['kʊku:] n a gray European bird that has a call that sounds like "cuckoo" and lays its eggs in other birds' nests.
- cuckoo clock n a type of clock that has a wooden cuckoo that comes out and says "cuckoo" every hour.
- cucumber ['kju:kʌmbə] n a long thin vegetable that is dark green on the outside, light green inside, and is eaten raw in salads.
- cud [kʌd] n to chew the cud [cow] to chew food slowly in the mouth again after already having swallowed it once.
- cuddle ['kʌdl] ◇ vt to put one's arm around <sb/sthg> and hold them close to show love, sympathy etc. ◇ vi: They sat cuddling on the sofa. ◇ n an act of cuddling somebody or something □ She gave him a cuddle.

◆ cuddle up vi [people] to sit or lie close together, holding each other □ Jonathon cuddled up to me and fell asleep.

cuddly ['kʌdli] (compar cuddlier, superl cuddliest) adj [person, animal] that is small, soft, and harmless and looks pleasant to cuddle □ He's so cute and cuddly!

cuddly toy n a soft furry children's toy such as a teddy bear.

cudgel ['kʌdʒəl] (US pt & pp cudgeled, cont cudgeling, GB pt & pp cudgelled, cont cudgelling) ◇ n a short, thick, heavy stick used as a weapon. ■ to take up the cudgels for sb/sthg to support or defend sb/sthg strongly. ◇ vt to hit <sb> with a cudgel.

cue [kju:] n -1. THEATER a word or action from one actor that is a signal for another actor to speak or do something □ That's the cue for Simon to come on. ■ on cue exactly at the expected or most appropriate moment □ We were talking about John when, right on cue, he came in through the door. ■ to take one's cue from sb to follow the way sb behaves or reacts by behaving or reacting in the same way □ The audience took its cue from the chairman and started to applaud. -2. [for a new event, situation] an event or situation that acts as a signal for something else □ I took it as my cue to leave. □ The fall in spending could be a cue for inflation to ease. -3. SPORT a long wooden stick used for hitting the ball in snooker, pool etc.

cuff [kʌf] ◇ n -1. [of a shirt] the end of a sleeve, especially a shirt sleeve, where it goes around the wrist □ a shirt cuff. -2. US [on trousers] the bottom of a trouser leg where the material is turned upwards □ a trouser cuff. -3. [with one's hand] the act of hitting somebody lightly. ◇ vt to hit <sb> lightly with one's hand, especially on the head.

cuff link n one of a pair of small decorative objects that can be attached to shirt cuffs to fasten them □ a pair of gold cuff links.

cu. in. abbr of cubic inch(es).

cuisine [kwɪ'zi:n] n the style of cooking of a particular country, region, restaurant etc □ I love Italian cuisine.

cul-de-sac ['kʌldəsæk] n a street that is only open to traffic at one end.

culinary [US 'kʌlɪnəri, GB -ɪnəri] adj [skills, expertise] that is connected with cooking □ We had a chance to sample the local culinary delights.

cull [kʌl] ◇ vt -1. [seals, deer] to reduce the numbers of  by killing some of them. -2. [facts, details] to collect <information> from different sources and choose the useful parts □ The data is culled from a number of official reports. ◇ n an operation to cull seals, deer etc □ a seal cull.

culminate ['kʌlmɪneɪt] ◆ culminate in vt fus to culminate in sthg [in disaster, triumph] to result in sthg important after a period of gradual development □ The series of one-day stoppages culminated in an all-out strike.

culmination [ˌkʌlmɪ'neɪʃn] n the culmination of sthg [of a period, process] something important that happens at the end of a long period of activity □ The award was the culmination of his life's work.

culottes [US 'ku:lɒts, GB kju:'lɒts] npl wide knee-length or short trousers that look like a skirt and are worn by women □ a pair of culottes.

culpable ['kʌlpəbl] adj -1. [person, negligence] that deserves blame (formal use). -2. culpable homicide LAW manslaughter.

culprit ['kʌlprɪt] n a person who has committed a particular crime or done something wrong □ The money is missing but we know who the culprit is.

cult [kʌlt] n -1. RELIGION a religious group that is often small and secretive and has its own rituals and beliefs, especially when these are considered strange or dangerous by most of society. -2. a person, movie, activity etc that is very popular or fashionable among a particular group in society, especially among young people □ a cult figure/movie □ The band has a cult following among the young.

cultivate ['kʌltəveɪt] vt -1. FARMING to prepare and use <land> for growing crops; to grow . -2. [friendship, skill] to try hard to improve or develop <sthg> □ My job is to cultivate links with potential overseas partners. □ a carefully cultivated image. -3. [person] to try to win the friendship or support of <sb>, usually in order to gain some advantage.

cultivated ['kʌltəveɪtəd] adj -1. [land, plant] that is developed or grown by a farmer □ a patch of cultivated land. -2. [person, accent] that shows good manners, taste, and education.

cultivation [ˌkʌltə'veɪʃn] n [of land, crops, a skill] see cultivate □ Hundreds of acres have been brought under cultivation.

cultural ['kʌltʃrəl] adj [difference, event, activity] that is connected with the culture of a particular group of people □ India has a great cultural diversity/heritage. □ My cultural background is mixed.

culture ['kʌltʃə] n -1. [of a group of people] the way of life, ideas, traditions, arts etc produced and shared by a particular group of people □ We are all products of our culture. □ Their songs have become part of popular culture. □ Japanese culture is very different in this respect. -2. [in a part of the world] a society that shares a particular culture □ all cultures of the world practice some form of religion □ a primitive culture. -3. ARTS art, music, literature, and all other aspects of society that require education and thought □ There isn't much culture in the town where I live. □ a center of culture. -4. BIOLOGY a group of bacteria, cells etc grown in a laboratory, e.g. to see whether a disease is present.

cultured ['kʌltʃəd] adj [person] who is well-educated and knows a lot about literature, art etc □ She comes from a very cultured background.

cultured pearl n a pearl produced artificially by putting a piece of sand into an oyster.

culture shock n the confusion, loneliness etc felt by somebody who has moved from one country to live in another one that has a different culture.

culture vulture n a person who is always eager to attend concerts, visit exhibitions, read books etc (informal and disapproving use).

culvert ['kʌlvərt] n a pipe that carries water under a road, railroad etc.

cumbersome ['kʌmbərsəm] adj -1. [package, machine] big, heavy, and difficult to carry or handle □ These suitcases are too cumbersome for traveling around with. -2. [system, process] slow, complicated, and inefficient □ I find their accounting methods outdated and cumbersome.

Cumbria ['kʌmbriə] a county in northwestern England. SIZE: 6,810 sq kms. POPULATION: 486,900. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Carlisle.

cumin ['kʌmɪn] n a dark-yellow spice that has a sweet smell and is used especially in Indian cooking.

cummings ['kʌmɪŋz], e. e. (1894–1962) a US poet known for his experimental style.

cumulative ['kju:mjələtɪv] adj [interest, effect] that increases gradually over a period of time □ The changes are cumulative, and are far-reaching when taken together.

cunning ['kʌnɪŋ] ◇ adj [person] who is clever and is able to deceive people in order to get things □ It was a cunning trick/plan. ◇ n the ability of somebody to be cunning □ a man of great cunning.

cup [kʌp] (pt & pp cupped, cont cupping) ◇ n -1. [for a drink] a small round container that is made of pottery, usually has a small handle, and is used for drinking hot drinks; a small round container made of paper or plastic that has no handle, is used for any drink, and is thrown away after it has been used □ a paper/plastic cup. -2. [of coffee, tea] a drink contained in a cup □ Would you like a cup of coffee/tea? ■ it's not my cup of tea a phrase used to say that something is not the kind of thing that one likes. -3. [for measuring] the amount that a cup holds □ Mix one cup of sugar and two cups of flour. -4. SPORT a decorative metal bowl or cup given as a prize to the winner of a competition; a competition to win this □ Hungary reached the fifth round of the World Cup. -5. [of a bra] one of the two parts of a bra that covers a woman's breasts □ What is your cup size, ma'am? □ a bra cup.

◇ vt to cup one's hands to put one's hands together in the shape of a cup or bowl.

cupboard ['kʌbəd] n -1. a piece of furniture fixed to a wall that has one or two doors, often with shelves inside, and is used for storing clothes, food, tools etc □ a kitchen cupboard □ a wall cupboard. -2. GB a small part of a room that has one or two doors and is used for storing things □ a broom cupboard □ There's a cupboard under the stairs.

cupcake ['kʌpkɛɪk] n a small sweet cake baked in a paper container shaped like a cup and covered with frosting □ a cupcake tin.

Cup Final n the Cup Final the final game to decide the winners of an annual soccer competition.

cup holder n SPORT a team that is the champion of a sport at a particular time and has been given a trophy as a prize.

Cupid ['kju:pɪd] the Roman god of romantic love, usually shown as a boy with wings and a bow and arrow. When the arrow hits somebody's heart, they fall in love.

cupola ['kju:pələ] (pl cupolas) n a small dome on the top of a roof or larger dome.

cup tie n GB a game, especially in soccer, between two teams that are competing in a competition for which the prize is a trophy.

curable ['kjʊərəbl] adj [illness, disease] that can be cured.

curate ['kjʊərət] n a priest who helps the main priest of a church in a particular area.

curator [kjʊ'reɪtə] n the person who is in charge of the objects in a museum, art gallery etc.

curb [kɜ:b] ◇ n -1. US the raised edge of a sidewalk where it meets the road. -2. a way of limiting or controlling something in order to prevent it from increasing or continuing □ They ought to put a curb on cheap imported goods. ◇ vt [spending, powers] to control or limit <sth> in order to reduce it □ He did his best to curb his son's extravagances.

curd cheese [kɜ:'d-] n GB a soft, white, mild cheese made from sour milk.

curdle ['kɜ:dɪl] vi [milk, cream] to become thicker and form lumps, e.g. as a result of being left to go sour.

cure [kjʊə] ◇ n -1. MEDICINE a medicine or treatment that cures an illness □ As yet, there is no cure for Alzheimer's disease. -2. a solution to a problem, difficulty etc □ There is no easy cure for the country's economic ills.

◇ vt -1. MEDICINE to make  better by medical or other treatment; to cause a person to no longer have <an illness> □ He was cured of cancer. □ It was the antibiotics that cured me. □ a disease that cannot be cured. -2. [problem, difficulty] to cause <sth bad> to stop □ At least it's cured his habit of smoking at mealtimes. -3. to cure sb of sth to cause sb to no longer be influenced by sth □ It cured me of any ideas I had about being a teacher. -4. [meat, fish] to preserve <food> by hanging it to dry, smoking it, or salting it □ a piece of cured pork.

cure-all n something that people think can cure any illness, problem etc □ They look upon low inflation as a kind of general cure-all.

curfew ['kɜ:fju:] n a rule or law that forbids people to be outside their houses after a certain time of day, usually from when it is dark until the next morning □ The military government imposed a curfew.

Curie ['kjʊəri], Marie (1867–1934) a French scientist, born in Poland. With her husband, Pierre, she studied radioactivity, and discovered the elements radium and polonium.

curio ['kjʊəriəʊ] (pl curios) n a small object such as an ornament that is valued because it is unusual, rare, or beautiful.

curiosity [ˈkjʊəriˈɒsəti] n -1. the desire to know about somebody or something □ I'd like to see the house, just out of curiosity. -2. a rare and unusual object □ The shop was full of curiosities.

curious [ˈkjʊəriəs] adj -1. [person] who wants to know about somebody or something because they are interested □ I'm curious to know why he was late. □ I'm curious about his past life. -2. [noise, coincidence, object] that seems strange and unusual □ I saw a very curious sight as I crossed the bridge.

curiously [ˈkjʊəriəslɪ] adv -1. [look, watch, ask] with a desire to know more about something □ She stared curiously at the child. -2. curiously (enough),... a phrase used to introduce a fact that one finds strange or unusual □ Curiously enough, they had already met.

curl [kɜːl] ◇ n -1. a piece of hair that is not straight but forms a curved or circular shape □ Her hair fell in dark curls over her shoulders. -2. a shape similar to that of a curl of hair □ A curl of smoke rose above the house.

◇ vt -1. to make curls in <sb's hair> □ I went to the hairdresser's and had my hair curled. -2. to move <sthg> so that it makes a curved shape □ The cat curled its tail around its body.

◇ vi -1. [hair] to form curls. -2. [leaf, paper] to change shape so that the edges move toward the center in a curl. ■ to curl into a ball [person, animal] to lie with the body rolled up, forming a rounded shape. -3. [snake, tail] to move in a way that forms curved shapes □ Smoke curled from the chimney.

◆ curl up vi [person, animal] to lie in a way that forms a curved shape with the legs pulled closely to the rest of the body □ I like nothing better than to curl up with a good book.

curler [ˈkɜːlə] n a small hollow cylinder made of metal or plastic that one rolls wet hair around so that it dries in the shape of a curl.

curling [ˈkɜːlɪŋ] n a winter sport played in countries such as Scotland and Canada that consists of sliding heavy stones across ice toward a target.

curling irons US, curling tongs GB npl a heated metal rod with a flat movable part on the side that is used to hold wet hair in place and make it curly as it dries.

curly [ˈkɜːli] (compar curlier, superl curliest) adj [hair] that is not straight but forms curved or circular shapes.

currant [US ˈkɜːrənt, GB ˈkʌr-] n -1. a small dried grape that is often used in making cakes, cookies etc □ a currant bun. -2. the small round fruit of one of a number of bushes.

currency [US ˈkɜːrənsɪ, GB ˈkʌr-] (pl currencies) n -1. the type of money that is used in a particular country □ The yen was up two points against a wide range of currencies. □ the currency markets □ foreign/local currency. -2. to gain currency □ to become accepted and popular with an increasing number of people □ His ideas have gained currency over the years.

current [US ˈkɜːrənt, GB ˈkʌr-] ◇ adj [year, price, crisis] that is happening, exists etc now but is certain or likely to change in the future □ We are confident of surviving the current recession. □ The practice is no longer current over here.

◇ n -1. [of water, air] the continuous movement of water, air, or gas in a particular direction □ Be careful, there's a strong current. -2. [of opinion, thought] the pattern of the way a situation, set of opinions etc is changing □ The policy goes against the current of public opinion. -3. ELECTRICITY the flow of electricity through a conductor such as a wire □ The electric current was getting weaker.

current account n GB a type of bank account that earns little or no interest and from which one can take money at any time using a check or card.

current affairs npl events, especially in politics, that are considered important and receive attention in newspapers, on TV etc.

current assets npl financial assets that can be changed into cash within a year.

current liabilities npl the debts of a company that must be paid within a year.

currently [US ˈkɜːrəntli, GB ˈkʌr-] adv at this particular time □ He's currently chairman of the board. □ Talks are currently in progress.

curriculum [kəˈrɪkjələm] (pl curriculums OR curricula [-lə]) n the different courses that can be studied at a school, university etc; one of these courses □ Italian isn't on the school curriculum.

curriculum vitae [US ˈvɪtaɪ, GB ˈvɪtaɪ] (pl curricula vitae) n → CV.

curried [US ˈkɜːriɪd, GB ˈkʌr-] adj curried chicken/beans etc chicken/beans etc flavored with curry powder.

curry [US ˈkɜːri, GB ˈkʌri] (pl curries) n an Indian dish that is made of meat, vegetables etc flavored with spices, and tastes hot.

curry powder n a mixture of hot spices made into a powder, used especially in Indian cooking.

curse [kɜːs] ◇ n -1. to put a curse on sb to ask God or some magical force to make something unpleasant happen to sb □ The wicked witch put a curse on the whole land. -2. a vulgar or offensive word that somebody uses when they are angry □ He uttered a curse under his breath. -3. to be a curse to be a cause of problems □ Those rabbits are a real curse, they've eaten all the lettuce. ◇ vt -1. to put a curse on <sb>. -2. to say vulgar or offensive things to <sb> because one is angry with them □ I cursed the train for being late.

◇ vi to use vulgar or offensive language because one is angry □ She cursed loudly as she bumped her head on the shelf.

cursor [ˈkɜːsə] n COMPUTING a point of light or symbol that can be moved around a screen and is used to indicate where one is working.

cursory ['kɜːsɪ] adj [look, glance] that is quick and does not give much attention to detail.

curt [kɜːt] adj [person, reply, manner] that uses few words and so seems quite rude.

curtail [kɜː'teɪl] vt -1. [visit, vacation] to make <sthg> shorter than was planned □ His career was curtailed by injury. -2. [spending, service, powers] to reduce or limit <sthg> □ We need to curtail expenditure. □ The new measures are designed to curtail crime severely.

curtailment [kɜː'teɪlmənt] n: see curtail □ The Governor announced the curtailment of privileges long enjoyed by inmates at the prison.

curtain ['kɜːtɪn] n -1. [for a window] a piece of material that hangs in front of a window inside a house, apartment etc to prevent people seeing in or to keep the light out □ She drew the curtains. -2. [in a theater] a large piece of material that hangs down from above the stage at a theater and is raised when the play begins □ As the curtain fell, there was a loud burst of applause. -3. a curtain of smoke/dust etc a layer of smoke/dust etc that one cannot see through □ We hit a thick curtain of fog as we approached the Bay area.

◆ curtain off vt sep to curtain sthg off to separate sthg from the rest of a room by using a curtain □ The bed had been curtained off.

curtain call n the moment at the end of a theater performance when the actors come to the front of the stage to receive the audience's applause.

curtain raiser [-reɪzə] n an event that comes before another event that is more important, especially one that is organized.

curts(e)y ['kɜːtsi] (pt & pp curtsied) ◇ n a sign of respect given by a woman in which she bends her knees, keeping one foot behind the other. ◇ vi to make a curtsy.

curvaceous [kɜː'veɪʃəs] adj [woman] whose body has curves that make it attractive.

curvature ['kɜːvətʃə] n [of the Earth, Moon] the curved shape of something. ■ curvature of the spine MEDICINE a condition in which the spine is curved in the wrong place.

curve [kɜːv] ◇ n -1. a line that is not straight at any point and bends smoothly □ The graph showed a steady upward curve. □ The car drove fast, following the curve of the road. -2. US SPORT a throw in baseball in which the ball curves unexpectedly as it moves through the air. ◇ vi [road, river, surface] to form a curve □ The path curved slightly to the left.

curved [kɜːvd] adj [shape, surface, line] that is in the form of a curve.

curvy ['kɜːvi] (compar curvier, superl curviest) adj [line, shape] curved; [woman] whose body has curves that make it attractive.

cushion [kʊʃn] ◇ n -1. a round or square piece of fabric filled with soft material on which one can sit, rest one's head etc. -2. a layer of something that protects an object or person from the impact of being hit in some way □ a cushion of air. ◇ vt [impact, shock] to make <sthg violent or unpleasant> feel softer or less severe □ The snow cushioned his fall. □ The reduction in income tax cushioned the blow of an increase in sales tax. ■ to cushion sb against sthg [against change, reality] to protect sb against sthg □ We've been cushioned against the full effects of the recession.

cushy ['kʊʃi] (compar cushier, superl cushiest) adj [job, life] that is very easy and involves little effort (informal use) □ Sean's having a cushy time living with his parents.

custard ['kʌstəd] n -1. US a sweet food that consists of a mixture of milk, sugar, and eggs baked until it is solid. -2. GB a sweet yellow sauce made from milk, sugar, eggs, and flour that is put on puddings and fruit.

custard pie n an open pie made with custard that is used by clowns, comedians etc to throw at each other on stage.

custard powder n a powder that is mixed with milk and sugar to make custard.

Custer ['kʌstə], General George Armstrong (1839–1876) a US soldier who was successful in the American Civil War. He was killed by a force of Native Americans at the battle of the Little Bighorn, also known as Custer's Last Stand.

custodian [kʌ'stɔ:djən] n a person who is in charge of a building, museum etc.

custody ['kʌstədi] n -1. the legal right to be responsible for bringing up a child, given to a father or mother in a divorce case □ She was given custody of the children. -2. to be in custody to be held by the police □ The suspect is now in police custody.

custom ['kʌstəm] n -1. [of a society] a tradition or usual practice of a particular society or community □ It's a local/an ancient custom. □ It's the custom to write a note of thanks to the hostess. -2. [of a person] the habit of a particular person (literary use) □ It's his custom to invite people for a drink before dismissing them. -3. BUSINESS the act of regularly buying goods or services from a particular store or business □ Thank you for your custom.

◆ customs n the place at the border of a country or at an airport or port where people arriving from a foreign country must declare certain goods that they have brought with them, e.g. alcohol or tobacco, and where officials search baggage to look for these goods □ We went through customs without any problems. □ customs officials.

customary [US 'kʌstəməri, GB -əməri] adj [behavior, way, time] usual and expected □ You'll need to go through the customary procedures.

custom-built adj [car, machine] that has been built to suit a particular person's needs.

customer ['kʌstəmə] n -1. a person who buys goods or services from a store or business □ She's a valued customer. -2. an awkward/a strange etc customer a person who one thinks is awkward/strange etc (informal use).

customer services npl a department in a company, store etc that deals with requests, inquiries, and complaints from customers.

customize, -ise ['kʌstəmaɪz] vt to make or change  etc to suit a particular person's needs.

custom-made adj [shoes, suit, car] made to suit a particular person's needs.

Customs and Excise n a British government department that collects duty on imported goods and collects taxes on certain goods made in Britain.

customs duty n an amount of money that has to be paid for bringing certain goods from one country into another.

customs officer n an official who works at customs.

cut [kʌt] (pt & pp cut, cont cutting) \diamond vt -1. [bread, meat] to separate <sthg> into pieces using a knife or other sharp instrument; [slice, piece] to separate <one piece of sthg> from the rest, using a knife or other sharp instrument \square Cut the cake in half/in three pieces. \square She cut her articles from the paper. -2. [finger, leg, wrists] to wound  by making an opening in the skin \square He fell and cut his knee. \square I cut myself with the can opener. -3. [prices, workforce] to reduce <sthg> \square We cut our costs by half. \square They will cut taxes in the run-up to the election. -4. [grass, hair] to make <sthg> shorter by removing part of it using a sharp tool \square He was cutting his toenails. \square You've had your hair cut. -5. [article, film] to remove part of <sthg> before it is published or broadcast; [line, scene] to remove <sthg> so that it is not published or broadcast \square The censors cut all scenes of violence. -6. to cut a tooth [child] to grow a tooth \square The baby is cutting his first tooth. -7. to cut the cards to divide a pack of cards into two sections before starting to play. -8. [meeting, class] to be deliberately absent from <sthg>.

\diamond vi -1. [knife, blade] to make an opening in something, or to remove a piece of something when pressed into it; [bread, cake] to be able to be cut \square These scissors don't cut very well. \square The rope cut into my wrists. \square This meat cuts easily. -2. CINEMA to stop filming a scene \square "Cut!" cried the director.

\diamond n -1. [in wood, cloth] a narrow opening made by cutting; [in skin, a finger] a narrow wound \square She had a nasty cut on her leg. -2. [of beef, lamb] a piece of meat that has been cut in a particular way, usually before cooking. -3. [in salary, personnel] a reduction; [in an article, a film] a part of something that is removed before it is published or broadcast \square He is calling for cuts in government spending/tax cuts. -4. [of the deal, the spoils] a share (informal use) \square What's his cut (of the profits)? -5. [of hair, clothes] the shape or style of something. -6. phrase a cut above the rest better than the other things or people \square Nine Elms is full of good restaurants but this one is a cut above the rest.

\diamond cut across vt fus -1. to cut across sthg [across a field, forest] to go across sthg instead of around it, in order to save time \square We got there early by cutting across the square. -2. [across party lines, social divisions] to affect people on both sides of <sthg> \square The issue cuts across party lines.

\diamond cut back vt sep -1. to cut sthg back [tree, bush] to remove some of the branches of sthg. -2. to cut sthg back [expenditure, budget] to reduce sthg \square The factory is cutting back production. \diamond vi [on education, advertising] to spend less money on sthg; [on spending, staff] to reduce sthg \square They had to cut back on business travel. \square We are cutting back at the .moment.

\diamond cut down \diamond vt sep -1. to cut a tree down to cut through the trunk of a tree until it falls to the ground. -2. to cut sthg down [expenses, intake] to reduce sthg \square He cut his smoking down to ten a day. \diamond vi to cut down on sthg [on smoking, drinking, spending] to do less of sthg \square They have cut down on eating out in restaurants.

\diamond cut in vi -1. [in a conversation] to interrupt \square She cut in on their discussion. -2. [in a car] to move into a different lane in front of a moving vehicle \square The taxi cut in on them. -3. SPORT to move in front of another player or players moving in the same direction.

\diamond cut off vt sep -1. to cut sthg off [finger, branch, piece of meat] to remove sthg by cutting \square They cut the king's head off. \square She cut off a big lump of cheese. -2. to cut sthg off [gas, electricity] to stop the supply of sthg \square They've had their water cut off. \square They have cut off all military aid to the region. \blacksquare to be cut off [on the telephone] to lose one's connection \square "What happened?" — "I don't know, we just got cut off." -3. to be cut off [place] to have no contact with other places, because they are far away or difficult to reach; [person] to have no contact with other people \square The house was cut off by snow drifts. \square He felt cut off from his family.

\diamond cut out \diamond vt sep -1. to cut sthg out [photograph, tumor] to remove sthg by cutting \square advertisements cut out of magazines. -2. SEWING to cut sthg out [pattern, dress] to make sthg into a particular shape by cutting. -3. to be cut out for sthg to have the necessary qualities or abilities for sthg \square He's not cut out to be a politician. -4. to cut sthg out [smoking, drinking] to stop doing sthg; [meat, chocolate] to stop eating sthg. \blacksquare cut it out! stop it! (informal use). -5. to cut sthg out [light, sound] to prevent sthg from reaching somewhere \square The blinds cut out the sunlight. -6. to cut sb out of one's will to remove sb's name from one's will. \diamond vi [engine] to stop working.

\diamond cut up vt sep to cut sthg up [meat, vegetables] to cut sthg into small pieces.

cut-and-dried adj [argument, result] clear and definite \square There is no cut-and-dried solution to this issue.

cut and paste COMPUTING \diamond vi to take pieces of text from one part of a document and put them in another part. \diamond vt to cut and paste in order to move <text>.

cutback ['kʌtbæk] n a reduction in the amount of money that is spent on something \square cutbacks in defense/health/education.

- cute [kju:t] adj [child, dress, animal] that one thinks is pretty and has an innocent or simple quality □ What a cute little girl!
- cut glass n glass that is decorated with patterns that have been cut into it □ a cut-glass bowl.
- cuticle ['kju:tɪkl] n an area of dead skin at the lower part of a fingernail or toenail.
- cutlery ['kʌtləri] n GB a collective term for knives, forks, spoons etc that are used for eating.
- cutlet ['kʌtlət] n -1. a small piece of meat, e.g. lamb or pork, joined to a bone. -2. a nut/vegetable cutlet a flat mass of chopped nuts/vegetables that is grilled or fried.
- cut lunch n AUS a light lunch, usually of sandwiches (informal use).
- cutoff (point) ['kʌtɒf-] n a point or level that one fixes and decides not to go beyond □ Our cutoff is $45,000 — we can't afford any more.
- cutout ['kʌtaʊt] n -1. a device in a machine that automatically stops the machine functioning when there is a fault or if there is too much electric current passing through it □ a cutout switch/mechanism. -2. a shape that has been cut from paper, card etc □ a cardboard cutout.
- cut-rate US, cut-price adj [offer, goods, gasoline] sold at a reduced price □ a store offering cut-rate cigarettes.
- cutter ['kʌtə] n a tool that is used for cutting things such as wire or glass.
- cutthroat ['kʌθrəʊt] adj [competition, campaign] that is aggressive and shows a great determination to succeed □ The price war is becoming increasingly cutthroat.
- cutting ['kʌtɪŋ] ◇ adj [comment, remark] that is unkind and is intended to hurt somebody □ Nathan can be very cutting at times, but don't let it get to you. ◇ n -1. [of a plant] a part of a plant, e.g. a leaf or part of a stem, that is put in soil or water to grow into a new plant. -2. [from a newspaper, magazine] an article, piece of news, photograph etc that has been cut out of a newspaper or magazine. -3. GB [in a hill] an area of land cut from a hill to allow a road or railroad to pass through □ a railway cutting.
- cuttlefish ['kʌtlɪfɪʃ] (pl cuttlefish) n a sea creature with a broad soft body, tentacles, and a flat bony part inside.
- CV (abbr of curriculum vitae) n a summary of one's education, background, achievements, and employment history that one sends to a company, institution etc when one is trying to get a job.
- C & W n abbr of country and western (music).
- cwo (abbr of cash with order) a term that indicates that something has to be paid for in cash when the order is placed.
- cwt. abbr of hundredweight.
- cyanide ['saɪənaɪd] n a strong poisonous substance.
- cybernetics [,saɪbə'netɪks] n a science that is concerned with studying how electronic and mechanical devices are controlled and comparing them to the way humans do the same tasks.
- cyberspace ['saɪbə'speɪs] n a word used to describe the space in which electronic messages travel or exist when computer users send or receive them, e.g. via the Internet.
- cyclamen ['sɪkləmən] (pl cyclamen) n a plant that has red, pink, or white flowers with petals that curl backward.
- cycle ['saɪkl] ◇ n -1. [of events, processes] a series of events, actions, or processes that happen repeatedly, always in the same order □ people trapped in a cycle of poverty and violence □ This machine completes three cycles per hour. □ the growth cycle of a plant. -2. = bicycle □ a cycle path/shop/race. -3. [of poems, songs] a series of poems, songs etc that form one continuous story about a particular person or event □ Schubert's song cycles. ◇ vi to ride a bicycle □ I usually cycle to work.
- cyclic(al) ['sɪklɪk(l)] adj [change, process] that happens in cycles □ the cyclic(al) pattern of boom and bust.
- cycling ['saɪklɪŋ] n the activity of riding a bicycle □ We went cycling through Belgium. □ a cycling vacation.
- cycling helmet n a hard hat worn by cyclists as a protection for the head.
- cyclist ['saɪklɪst] n a person who rides a bicycle.
- cyclone ['saɪkləʊn] n a violent tropical storm that moves air very fast in a circle.
- cygnet ['sɪgnət] n a young swan.
- cylinder ['sɪlɪndə] n -1. [shape] a shape that has long straight sides and flat circular ends. -2. [container] a cylinder-shaped container, usually made of metal, that is used especially for keeping gas in. -3. [in a machine] the tube through which a piston moves in an engine or a piece of machinery.
- cylinder block n the metal casing that holds the cylinders in the engine of a motor vehicle.
- cylinder head n a piece of metal that fits onto the top of a cylinder block in a motor vehicle.
- cylinder-head gasket n a piece of material that joins the cylinder block and the cylinder head in a motor vehicle.
- cylindrical [sə'lɪndrɪkəl] adj [object] that is shaped like a cylinder.
- cymbals ['sɪmblz] npl a musical instrument consisting of two metal disks that are hit together or hit with a stick or metal brush.
- Cymru ['kʌmru] the Welsh name for Wales.
- cynic ['sɪnɪk] n a person who believes that people only care about themselves and so does not expect good things to happen □ Don't be such a cynic — I'm sure it's true!
- cynical ['sɪnɪkəl] adj [remark, person, attitude] that shows cynicism □ People get to a certain age and they become cynical.
- cynically ['sɪnɪkəl] adv [say, talk] see cynical.

cynicism ['sɪnɪsɪzəm] n the attitude of a cynic □
I find his cynicism rather depressing.

CYO (abbr of Catholic Youth Organization) n the CYO an organization for young Catholics in the USA.

cypher ['saɪfə] n = cipher.

cypress ['saɪprəs] n an evergreen tree with dark-green leaves.

Cypriot ['sɪprɪət] n & adj: see Cyprus.

Cyprus ['saɪprəs] an island in the eastern Mediterranean that is divided into the Republic of Cyprus in the south, controlled by Greek Cypriots, and the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus. SIZE: 9,251 sq kms. POPULA-TION: 700,000 (Cypriots). CAPITAL: Nicosia.
LANGUAGE: Greek, Turkish. CURRENCY: Cypriot pound.

cyst [sɪst] n a bubble of liquid that can form in or on various parts of the body.

cystic fibrosis [ˌsɪstɪkfaɪ'brɒʊsɪs] n an inherited disease that causes lung infections, difficulties in absorbing food, and restricted growth in children.

cystitis [sɪ'staɪtɪs] n an infection of the bladder that is especially common in women and makes urination frequent and painful.

cytology [saɪ'tɒlədʒɪ] n the study of plant and animal cells.

CZ (abbr of canal zone) the Panama Canal and the land on each side of it. It was controlled by the USA until 1979, when Panama took it over.

czar [zɑ:'r] n a hereditary male ruler of Russia before the revolution of 1917.

Czech [tʃek] n & adj: see Czech Republic.

Czechoslovakia [US ˌtʃekəsloʊ'vɑ:kɪə, GB -'væk-] a country in central Europe until 1993, when it was divided into two independent states, the Czech Republic and Slovakia.

Czech Republic: the Czech Republic a country in central Europe that was part of Czechoslovakia until it became an independent republic in 1993. SIZE: 79,000 sq kms. POPU-LATION: 10,350,000 (Czechs). CAPITAL: Prague.
LANGUAGE: Czech. CURRENCY: koruna.

D

d¹ [di:] (pl d's OR ds), D [di:] (pl D's OR Ds) n the fourth letter of the English alphabet.

◆ D < n -1. EDUCATION a low grade for a piece of work. -2. MUSIC one of the notes in Western music. < US abbr of Democrat(ic).

d.² abbr of died.

DA n abbr of district attorney □ the DA's office.

dab [dæb] (pl & pp dabbed, cont dabbing) < n a small amount of cream, paint, powder etc that is put on a surface with a quick gentle stroke. < vt [wound, skin] to put cream, an ointment etc on <sthg> with quick gentle strokes □ She dabbed his knee with antiseptic. ■ to dab sthg on(to) sthg [cream, ointment] to put sthg on sthg with quick gentle strokes □ He dabbed some paint on(to) the canvas. < vi to dab at sthg to touch sthg with quick gentle strokes □ He dabbed at the cut with antiseptic.

dabble ['dæbl] < vt to put <one's toes or fingers> in a liquid and move them about gently. < vi to be interested or involved in something without being very serious about it □ He dabbles in astrology.

dachshund [US 'dɑ:kʃʊnd, GB 'dæksnd] n a small dog with a long body and short legs.

dad [dæd], daddy ['dædɪ] (pl daddies) n a father (informal use).

daddy longlegs [-'lɒŋlegz] (pl daddy longlegs) n GB an insect that has very long legs and can fly.

daffodil ['dæfədɪl] n a bright yellow flower that is shaped like a trumpet and blooms in the spring.

daft [US dæft, GB dɑ:ft] adj GB [person, behavior, idea] that seems silly (informal use).

dagger ['dægə] n a small, sharp, pointed knife that is used as a weapon.

dahlia [US 'dæliə, GB 'deɪli] n a brightly colored flower with a lot of pointed petals.

Dáil [dɑ:ɪl] n the Dáil (Eireann) in the Republic of Ireland, the lower chamber of parliament.

daily ['deɪli] (pl dailies) < adj -1. a daily occurrence/routine etc an occurrence/a routine etc that happens every day □ They kept us up to date with daily reports on his progress. -2. a daily newspaper a newspaper that is published every day except Sunday. -3. a daily rate/wage etc a rate/wage etc that is based on a single day □ They paid us on a daily basis.
< adv every day □ The mail is distributed twice daily. < n a daily newspaper.

daintily ['deɪntɪli] adv [eat, walk, move] in a delicate way.

dainty ['deɪntɪ] (compar daintier, superl daintiest) adj [person, dress, ornament] delicate or pretty.

dairy ['deəri] (pl dairies) n -1. the part of a farm where milk is kept or is made into butter or cheese. -2. a store where butter, cheese, milk, cream etc are sold.

dairy cattle npl cows that are kept on a farm to produce milk.

dairy farm n a farm that specializes in producing milk, butter, cheese etc.

dairy products npl products made from milk, e.g. cheese, butter, and yogurt.

dais ['deɪəs] n a raised platform in a hall that speakers stand on to address people.

daisy ['deɪzi] (pl daisies) n a small flower with white petals and a yellow center that often grows in grass.

daisy wheel n in some typewriters and printers, a disk for printing characters that is made up of a lot of thin rods with different letters of the alphabet on them.

daisy-wheel printer n a printer that uses a daisy wheel.

NOTE: Compare dot-matrix printer.

Dakota [dɑː'kɒʊtə] → North Dakota, South Dakota.

Dalai Lama [US ˌdɑ:lɑ:lɑ:mə, GB ˈdæl-] n the Dalai Lama the title of the religious and political leader of Tibet. The present Dalai Lama (1935–) has lived in exile since the Chinese invasion of Tibet in 1959.

dale [deɪl] n a valley.

Dali ['dɑ:lɪ], Salvador (1904–1989) a Spanish Surrealist painter, famous for his eccentric behavior and thin mustache.

Dallas ['dæləs] a city in Texas, USA, that is an important center of the oil industry. POPULATION: 1,006,877.

dalmatian [dæl'metʃn] n a large dog with short white hair and black or brown spots.

dam [dæm] (pt & pp dammed, cont damming) ◇ n a barrier that is built across a river to control the flow of water. ◇ vt to build a dam across .

◆ dam up vt sep -1. to dam a river up to block a river by building a dam across it. -2. to dam one's feelings up to control one's feelings.

damage ['dæmɪdʒ] ◇ n -1. physical harm that spoils the condition of something or stops it from working properly □ The fire caused a lot of damage. □ You'll have to pay for the damage to the kitchen. □ He suffered damage to his ligaments. -2. a harmful effect □ This scandal has done a lot of damage to his career. ◇ vt -1. [building, structure] to destroy part of <sthg> □ The house was badly damaged by the explosion. -2. [reputation, career] to have a harmful effect on <sthg> □ This has severely damaged her chances of becoming mayor.

◆ damages npl LAW an amount of money that a person is ordered by a court to pay to somebody after being found guilty of damaging their property or reputation or injuring them □ She was awarded $15,000 in damages.

damaging ['dæmɪdʒɪŋ] adj [scandal, affair] that has harmful effects □ This could be very damaging to your reputation/chances.

Dame [deɪm] n a title given by the British monarch to a woman as a reward for important work or services □ Dame Margot Fonteyn.

damn [dæm] (informal use) ◇ adj a word used to emphasize how annoyed one is about something □ What a damn nuisance! ◇ adv very □ You know damn well I'm right! ◇ n I don't give OR care a damn I don't care at all. ◇ vt -1. RELIGION to send <sb> to hell. -2. a word used to show that one is annoyed about somebody or something □ Damn it! ◇ excl a word used to show that one is annoyed.

damnation [dæm'neɪʃn] n RELIGION the state of being damned.

damned [dæmd] (informal use) ◇ adj a word used to show how strongly one feels about something □ It's a damned shame. ■ I'm damned if... a phrase used to show that one does not intend to do something □ I'm damned if I'm going to give up my Saturdays for him! ■ well I'll be OR I'm damned! a phrase used to express surprise □ Well I'll be damned, look who's here! ◇ adv: This kitchen needs a damned good clean.

damning ['dæmɪŋ] adj a damning statement/report etc a statement/report etc that shows that somebody has done something very bad or wrong □ The number of homeless people is a damning indictment of our society.

damp [dæmp] ◇ adj [clothes, building, weather] that feels slightly wet □ a damp cold room. ◇ n slight wetness that affects areas of walls, ceilings etc □ There's a patch of damp above the window. ◇ vt to make <sthg> damp □ She damped the cloth and wiped the table.

◆ damp down vt sep to damp sth down [unrest, panic, enthusiasm] to make sth less intense.

damp course n GB a layer of special material that is placed near the bottom of a wall to prevent damp rising through its bricks.

dampen ['dæmpən] vt -1. [cloth, surface] to make <sthg> damp. -2. [excitement, enthusiasm, hope] to make <sthg> less strong □ Nothing could dampen her high spirits.

damper ['dæmpə] n a metal plate in front of a fire or furnace that can be moved to control the flow of air, making the fire burn more or less brightly. ■ to put a damper on sth [on a party, somebody's enthusiasm] to make sth less lively or enjoyable □ The news put a damper on things, didn't it?

damp-proof course n = damp course.

damson ['dæmzən] n a small purple plum.

dance [US dæns, GB dɑ:ns] ◇ n -1. a rhythmical way of moving one's body and feet, usually in time to music □ Dance is a good form of exercise. -2. a particular set of movements performed in time to music, e.g. the tango or the waltz □ Would you like a dance? □ a fast dance. -3. a social occasion where there is music and dancing □ Are you coming to the dance? -4. an art form in which performers move in time to music, e.g. ballet □ classes in contemporary dance and ballet. ◇ vi -1. [person] to perform a dance □ Can you dance? -2. [shadows, flowers, flames] to move quickly, as if dancing □ The daffodils danced in the wind.

dance floor n an area of a club, restaurant etc where there are no chairs, tables etc and people can dance □ There were only two people on the dance floor.

dance hall n a public hall that can be rented for parties and where people dance.

dancer [US ˈdænsr, GB ˈdɑ:nsə] n a person who dances □ You're a good dancer. □ She used to be a professional dancer.

dancing [US ˈdænsɪŋ, GB ˈdɑ:ns-] n the activity of dancing □ dancing lessons.

D and C (abbr of dilatation and curettage) n

MEDICINE an operation in which the inside of the womb is scraped to remove a growth or tissue for a sample, or to carry out an abortion.

dandelion ['dændələɪən] n a common wild plant that has yellow flowers that become soft balls of white seeds.

dandruff ['dændrʌf] n small white pieces of dead skin that come from people's heads and can be seen in their hair or on their clothing.

dandy ['dændɪ] (pl dandies) n a man who pays a lot of attention to his clothing and appearance.

Dane [deɪn] n a person who comes from or lives in Denmark.

danger ['deɪndʒə] n -1. the possibility of being hurt or killed □ He sensed danger. □ 'Danger, keep out.' ■ to be in danger to be in a situation where one may be killed or hurt □ They/Their lives are in great danger. ■ to be out of danger to be safe, after having been in danger or seriously ill. -2. something that may cause harm □ the dangers of smoking/of making hasty judgments □ The power station is a danger to public safety. -3. to be in danger of doing sthg to be in a situation in which one might do sthg bad □ We're in danger of exceeding the budget. -4. there's no danger of that a phrase used to say that something bad will not happen □ There's no danger of that happening.

danger list n to be on the danger list to be so ill that one may die □ She's off the danger list now.

danger money n GB = danger pay.

dangerous ['deɪndʒərəs] adj [animal, person, situation] that may cause harm or a problem □ It would be dangerous to invest everything in one type of stock.

dangerous driving n the act of driving a motor vehicle in a way that is likely to cause injury or damage.

dangerously ['deɪndʒərəsli] adv -1. [live, drive] see dangerous □ This building is dangerously close to collapse. -2. dangerously ill very ill and close to death.

danger pay n US extra money that is paid to somebody for doing a dangerous job.

danger zone n a dangerous area.

dangle ['dæŋɡl] ◇ vt -1. to let <sthg> hang loosely so that it can move □ She dangled her legs over the arm of the sofa. -2. to dangle sthg in front of sb to offer sthg as an attractive possibility to sb in order to encourage them to do something. ◇ vi [legs, chain] to hang loosely in a way that allows movement □ Let your arms dangle by your side.

Daniel ['dænjəl] in the Bible, a Jew who was captured and put into a lions' den to be killed. He survived because God protected him.

Danish ['deɪnɪʃ] ◇ adj: see Denmark. ◇ n a roll made of sweet pastry and filled with apple or almond paste □ an apple Danish. ◇ npl the Danish the people of Denmark.

Danish blue n a strong white cheese with lines of blue mold in it.

Danish pastry n = Danish.

dank [dæŋk] adj [room, cellar, atmosphere] that is unpleasantly damp and cold □ The basement was dank and cold.

Danube ['dænju:b]: the Danube a river in central Europe that starts in southern Germany and flows into the Black Sea.

dapper ['dæpə] adj [man] who is small and neat in appearance.

dappled ['dæpld] adj -1. [light, shade] that consists of small patches of shadow and light. -2. a dappled horse a horse that is marked with spots of a different color from the rest of its coat.

Dardanelles [ˌdɑːrˈdæːnəlz]: the Dardanelles a narrow channel between European and Asian Turkey, connecting the Mediterranean and the Sea of Marmara.

dare [deə] ◇ vt -1. to dare (to) do sthg to be brave enough to do sthg (used as a modal verb) □ I didn't dare argue. □ He lay hidden, hardly daring to breathe. ■ I dare say you are right you are probably right □ I dare say you're hungry after your journey. ■ don't you dare! if you do that I shall be very angry and upset □ Don't you dare tell him what I said! ■ how dare you! what you have done makes me feel very angry because it is unfair □ How dare he speak to me like that! -2. to dare sb to do sthg to persuade sb to do sthg dangerous in order to show how brave they are □ Go on, I dare you to ask him!

◇ n a challenge made to somebody to do something dangerous in order to show how brave they are □ He stole the radio on a dare.

daredevil ['deəˈdevl] n a person who enjoys doing dangerous activities or sports.

daren't ['deənt] GB = dare not.

daring ['deərɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. [person] who is not afraid to take risks or do something dangerous; [action, feat, attempt] that is brave and involves risk □ a daring bid to get into the record books. -2. [comment, movie, dress] that is unusual or unexpected and likely to shock people □ It was very daring of you to suggest a complete rethink. ◇ n the courage to take risks □ a man of great daring.

dark [dɑːk] ◇ adj -1. [room, street, night] with little or no light □ It gets dark at 3:00 p.m. in wintertime. -2. [color, material] that is nearer to black than to white □ a dark-blue suit. -3. [person] who has dark skin and dark brown or black hair □ Is she dark or fair? -4. [story, thought] sad and depressing □ during the dark days of the Depression. -5. [look, comment] that is unpleasant and threatening □ There's a dark side to him.

◇ n -1. the dark a situation where there is no light □ He's afraid of the dark. ■ to be in the dark about sthg to know nothing about sthg □ I'm afraid we're as much in the dark about Joel's intentions as you are. □ Even her aides were kept in the dark about the deal until the last minute. -2. before/after dark before/after sunset □ Make sure you're back before dark.

Dark Ages npl the Dark Ages the period of European history from about 500 AD to 1000 AD.

darken ['dɑ:kən] ◇ vt [color, room] to make <sthg> darker □ A large thunder-cloud darkened the sky. ◇ vi -1. [sky, room] to become darker. -2. [face] to start looking angry.

dark glasses npl glasses that have dark lenses to keep one's eyes protected or hidden.

dark horse n a person who keeps their thoughts, intentions, or talents secret □ You're a dark horse, I didn't know you could speak Italian.

darkness ['dɑ:kənəs] n [of a room, street, night] the state of being dark □ Thousands of homes were plunged into darkness. □ Darkness fell.

darkroom ['dɑ:kru:m] n a room that does not let any light in and is used for developing photographs.

darling ['dɑ:lɪŋ] ◇ adj -1. [person] a word used to somebody who one loves very much □ To my darling husband on his birthday. -2. [child, cottage] that one thinks is attractive or likes very much □ What a darling little puppy! ◇ n -1. a term of affection for somebody one loves □ I'm home, darling! -2. a word used to address somebody, usually of the opposite sex, in a friendly way (informal use) □ Hello, darling. -3. to be the darling of... to be popular among a particular group of people at a particular time □ the darling of the media/party conference.

darn [dɑ:n] ◇ adj a word used to show that one is annoyed about something (informal use) □ That darn dog! ◇ adv very (informal use) □ I came darn close to having an accident. ◇ vt to mend a hole in  by sewing long stitches across it; to mend  in a piece of clothing in this way. ◇ excl a word used by somebody to show that they are annoyed (informal use) □ Darn it!

darning needle n a long needle used for darning.

dart [dɑ:t] ◇ n -1. a small arrow that is thrown at a board in games, or fired from a gun or blowpipe as a weapon. -2. SEWING a fold that is made in a piece of clothing to make it fit more closely. ◇ vt to dart a look OR glance at sb to look very quickly at sb. ◇ vi to move somewhere suddenly and quickly □ She darted behind a tree.

◆ darts n a game in which darts are thrown at a dartboard.

dartboard ['dɑ:tbo:d] n a round board divided into numbered sections that is used as a target in the game of darts.

Dartmoor ['dɑ:tmoo] -1. a large area of high land in southwestern England that is a national park. -2. a famous prison on Dartmoor.

Darwin¹ ['dɑ:r'wən] the capital of the Northern Territory of Australia. POPULATION: 78,139.

Darwin² ['dɑ:r'wən], Charles (1809–1882) a British scientist whose book, The Origin of Species, stated that people are descended from animals. His theory of evolution caused controversy because it disagreed with Christian ideas.

dash [dæʃ] ◇ n -1. a dash of sthg a small amount of sthg that is mixed with or added to some other substance □ Add a dash of tabasco sauce. -2. GRAMMAR a punctuation mark (–) that is usually used to separate a phrase from the rest of a sentence. -3. AUTO = dash-board. -4. to make a dash for sthg [for a train, building] to run suddenly and quickly toward sthg □ We made a dash for the nearest doorway to try and shelter from the rain.

◇ vt -1. to break <sthg> by throwing it against a hard surface (literary use) □ The waves dashed the boat against the rocks. -2. to destroy <sb's hopes> □ His letter dashed any hopes I had of a reconciliation.

◇ vi to go somewhere quickly □ I've got to dash back to the office. ■ I must dash I am in a hurry and have to leave now.

◆ dash off vt sep to dash sthg off [letter, memo] to write sthg quickly because one is in a hurry to finish it.

dashboard ['dæʃbo:d] n AUTO the panel in a motor vehicle in front of the driver that contains instruments and switches.

dashing ['dæʃɪŋ] adj [person] who is lively, stylish, and attractive.

DAT [dæt, ,dɪr'eɪ'tɪ] (abbr of digital audio tape) n a high-quality cassette tape that records sounds in digital form.

data ['deɪtə] n -1. information, usually in the form of facts and figures, that helps people to understand something quickly □ I haven't had time to process all the data yet. -2. COMPUTING information that is stored in a computer □ data entry/input/protection.

databank ['deɪtəbæŋk] n = database.

database ['deɪtəbeɪs] n a collection of data that is stored in a computer in such a way that related types of data can be identified.

data capture n the act of entering data into a computer system, usually using a keyboard, diskette, or scanner.

DatapostTM ['deɪtəpəʊst] n a British mail service for sending letters, packages etc more quickly than the usual mail.

data processing n the act of selecting or organizing data in a computer in order to produce or analyze information.

data protection n the protection of people's privacy by legally controlling the use of data about them that is stored on computers.

data transmission n the process of sending computer data from one place to another, e.g. by using a modem.

date [deɪt] ◇ n -1. a particular point in time, usually shown by the number of the day, the name of the month, and the number of the year □ "What's today's date?" OR "What date is it today?" — "It's June ninth." □ We can look at the figures again at a later date. -2. [with a friend] an arrangement to meet somebody

- at a particular time □ Shall we make a date for lunch? -3. [with a boyfriend, girlfriend] an arrangement to go out with a boyfriend or girlfriend, or with somebody that one hopes to have a romantic relationship with □ My daughter's going out on her first date tonight. -4. [boyfriend, girlfriend] the person one goes out with as a boyfriend or girlfriend on a date □ Can I bring a date to the party? -5. [fruit] a small, sweet, dark-brown fruit that grows on palm trees.
- ◇ vt -1. to estimate the age of <sthg> □ The church can be dated from the stonework. -2. [letter, check] to write the present date on <sthg> □ The invoice was dated August 24th. -3. [person] to go out regularly with <sb that one is having a romantic relationship with> □ Is Jim still dating Anne? ◇ vi to go out of fashion □ It's the sort of style that never dates.
- ◆ to date adv up to the present time □ Enclosed is a list of all our transactions to date. □ To date, I've only met him once.
- ◆ date back to, date from vt fus to date back to the 14th/15th etc century to have been in existence since the 14th/15th etc century □ The church dates from Norman times.
- datebook ['deɪtbʊk] n US -1. a newspaper editor's record of events that have to be reported in the future. -2. a small book with spaces marked for each day or week of the year where one can write down appointments etc.
- dated ['deɪtəd] adj that is no longer fashionable □ That look seems rather dated these days.
- dateline ['deɪtlaɪn] n = international date line.
- date of birth n the date on which somebody was born □ Give your name, age, and date of birth.
- date rape n a situation in which a man rapes a woman who he knows socially and who he has usually just spent the evening with.
- date stamp n -1. a rubber stamp used for marking the date on documents. -2. a date marked by a date stamp.
- daub [dɔ:b] vt [surface, wall, face] to spread a substance on <sthg> unevenly and carelessly □ The door was daubed with paint. ■ to daub sthg on sthg [paint, mud] to spread sthg unevenly and carelessly on sthg □ He daubed paint on the wall.
- daughter ['dɔ:tə] n somebody's female child □ Our youngest daughter is still at school.
- daughter-in-law (pl daughters-in-law) n the wife of one's son.
- daunt [dɔ:nt] vt to make <sb> worried and uncertain about whether they can succeed in what they are trying to do □ I felt daunted by the prospect.
- daunting ['dɔ:ntɪŋ] adj [task, prospect] that daunts somebody □ Meeting Charles' huge family was very daunting.
- David ['deɪvəd] (10th century BC) King of Israel. In the Bible, he killed the giant Goliath with a stone. The names David and Goliath are often used to describe battles between weak and strong people.
- Davis ['deɪvəs], Jefferson (1808–1889) President of the Confederacy from 1861 to 1864.
- dawdle ['dɔ:dɪl] vi to waste time by doing something or going somewhere very slowly □ She dawdled over her breakfast. □ Hurry up and stop dawdling!
- dawn [dɔ:n] ◇ n -1. the time at the beginning of a day when the first light appears in the sky □ He woke up at dawn. □ They work from dawn to dusk. -2. the dawn of an age/era etc the beginning of an age/era etc □ the dawn of civilization. ◇ vi -1. [day] to begin □ The day dawned bright and sunny. -2. [period, hope] to begin to develop □ A new era of peace dawned.
- ◆ dawn (up)on vt fus to dawn (up)on sb to become slowly clear to sb □ It finally dawned on me that they were taking advantage of me.
- dawn chorus n GB the dawn chorus the sound of birds singing at dawn.
- day [deɪ] n -1. one of the seven periods that a week is divided into □ the day before/after the conference □ What day is it today? ■ the day before yesterday two days ago. -2. a period of 24 hours □ It will take three days for the check to clear your account. ■ any day now at any time soon in the next few days □ We're expecting to hear something any day now. ■ to call it a day to stop doing something, usually working □ I suggest we call it a day now and finish up tomorrow. ■ to make sb's day to make sb very happy (informal use) □ Getting the chance to meet up with you really made my day. ■ to save sthg for a rainy day to keep sthg, especially money, so that one can use it later when it is more needed. ■ it's early days yet GB it's too soon to be certain □ The new product seems to be selling well, but it's early days yet. ■ his days are numbered he has not got much time left to live or keep his job, power etc. ■ in this day and age in the present time □ In this day and age you can hardly expect your wife to do all the cooking and cleaning for you. ■ one day, some day, one of these days at some time in the future □ One of these days I'm going to tell him what I think of him. -3. a period in the past □ In those days there were no cars. ■ in sb's day during the time when sb was alive, active, or famous □ In my day, children were expected to be polite to their elders. □ He was well known in his day. -4. the time when it is light and when people are usually active □ He sleeps by day and works at night. □ I've had a miserable day at the office. □ Lovely day, isn't it! □ I was trying to phone you all day! ■ day and night [work] all or almost all the time, without stopping □ We've been working day and night trying to get this finished in time.
- ◆ days adv [work] during the day.
- dayboy ['deɪbɔɪ] n GB a male pupil who goes to a boarding school but lives at home.
- daybreak ['deɪbreɪk] n the time at the beginning of the day when the first light appears in the sky □ I left the house at daybreak.

daycare center

daycare center ['deɪkeəː-] n a nursery where young children can be taken care of while their parents are at work.

daycenter ['deɪsɛntəː] n GB a place where children or elderly or disabled people can be taken care of during the day.

daydream ['deɪdri:m] ◇ n a pleasant thought or fantasy somebody has when they are awake. ◇ vi to have daydreams □ What are you daydreaming about?

daygirl ['deɪgɜːl] n GB a female pupil at a boarding school who lives at home.

Day-GloTM [-glou] adj a Day-Glo color a color, e.g. pink, orange, or green, that is very bright when light shines on it.

daylight ['deɪlaɪt] n -1. natural light during the day □ It looks different in daylight. -2. [in the morning] the time at the beginning of a day when the first light appears in the sky □ We set off before daylight. -3. to scare the (living) daylight out of sb to scare sb very much.

daylight robbery n an expression used to show that one thinks something is much more expensive than it should be (informal use) □ $50 for a notebook? That's daylight robbery!

daylight saving (time) [-'seɪvɪŋ-] n the practice of setting all the clocks in a country or region one hour later than the local standard time in the summer in order to have more daylight hours.

day nursery n GB = daycare center.

Day of Atonement n = Yom Kippur.

day off (pl days off) n a working day when one does not go to work □ She took a day off to go to the dentist. □ I could meet you on Monday — it's my day off.

day pupil n GB a pupil who goes to a boarding school but lives at home.

day release n GB a system that allows employees to take time off work, e.g. one day a week, to study at college.

day return n GB a travel ticket to go somewhere and come back the same day that costs less than the standard round trip fare.

dayroom ['deɪru:m] n a room in an institution, e.g. a hospital, where people can read, write, relax etc.

day school n a school where the students return home at the end of each day rather than stay to sleep there.

day shift n a shift in which one works during the day.

day student n US a student who goes home in the evening rather than living at the school or college where they are studying.

daytime ['deɪtaɪm] n the time during the day when it is light □ a daytime job □ daytime TV.

day-to-day adj -1. day-to-day activities/duties etc activities/duties etc that are a regular part of one's life and are not special in any way □ She is in charge of the day-to-day running of the organization. -2. to live a day-to-day ex- istence to live each day as it happens without planning ahead.

day trip n a sightseeing excursion in which one goes to a place and comes back the same day.

day tripper n a person on a day trip.

daze [deɪz] ◇ n to be in a daze to be unable to think clearly, e.g. after a shock or a blow to the head □ I went around in a daze for weeks after she left. ◇ vt to put <sb> in a daze.

dazed [deɪzd] adj [person] who is in a daze □ He seemed dazed and confused.

dazzle ['dæzl] vt -1. [light, sun] to make <sb> unable to see for a short time because of being so bright □ I was dazzled by the car's headlights. -2. [beauty, skill, wit] to impress <sb> very much □ She dazzled everyone with her wit and humor.

dazzling ['dæzlɪŋ] adj [light, beauty, skill] that dazzles somebody □ She gave a dazzling performance.

DBE (abbr of Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire) n a British honorary title for women.

DBS (abbr of direct broadcasting by satellite) n a system of broadcasting television programs via a satellite into homes equipped with special satellite dishes.

DC ◇ n abbr of direct current. ◇ -1. abbr of District of Columbia. -2. = Washington D.C.

NOTE: Compare AC.

DD (abbr of Doctor of Divinity) n a postgraduate degree in religious studies; a person who has this degree.

D/D abbr of direct debit.

D-day n -1. the day (June 6, 1944) when the Allied forces invaded German-occupied Europe by landing on the beaches of northern France. -2. a day when a particular important event is planned to happen.

DDS (abbr of Doctor of Dental Science) n a postgraduate degree in dentistry; a person who has this degree.

DDT (abbr of dichlorodiphenyltrichloroethane) n a chemical used for killing insects that is also harmful to people and animals. It is now banned in many countries.

DE abbr of Delaware.

DEA (abbr of Drug Enforcement Administration) n the DEA the US government department responsible for controlling the use and sale of dangerous drugs.

deacon ['di:kən] n -1. in some Christian churches, a person who is below a priest in rank. -2. in some Protestant churches, a person who helps the minister.

deaconess [,di:kə'nes] n in some Christian churches, a woman who performs some of the duties of a priest.

deactivate [di:'æktɪveɪt] vt to make  safe.

dead [ded] ◇ adj -1. [person, animal, plant] that is no longer alive □ The family refuse to accept that she might be dead. ■ to shoot sb dead to kill sb by shooting them. ■ he wouldn't be seen dead in that restaurant/wearing those

- clothes etc he would never go to that restaurant/wear those clothes etc (informal use). -2. to go dead [leg, arm, finger] to lose all feeling □ My hand's gone dead. -3. [telephone, battery, radio] that does not work because there is no electrical power in it □ I tried to phone but the line was dead. -4. dead silence/calm etc complete silence/calm etc □ The train came to a dead stop. -5. [town, party] that is boring because there is nothing exciting happening □ This place is completely dead at night. -6. [voice, eyes] showing no excitement or emotion.
- ◇ adv -1. completely; very (informal use) □ I'm dead against it. □ I'm dead tired. ■ to be dead set on/against sthg to be determined to do or have sthg/prevent sthg from happening. -2. to stop dead to stop suddenly. -3. GB exactly □ They arrived dead on time/on six o'clock. □ dead in the middle.
- ◇ n in the dead of night/winter in the middle of the night/winter.
- ◇ npl the dead people who have died □ a memorial service for the war dead.
- deadbeat ['dedbi:t] n US a person who does not want to live and work in the way that most people in society do and so is considered to be lazy (informal use).
- dead center n the dead center the exact center of something.
- dead duck n a person, plan, or idea that is thought to have no chance of success or survival (informal use) □ His plan to run for the presidency is now a dead duck.
- deaden ['dedn] vt [pain, hunger, noise] to make <sthg> less extreme so that one notices it less.
- dead end n -1. a street that does not lead to other streets because one end of it is permanently closed. -2. an activity or situation that does not lead to any further development □ The talks have reached a dead end.
- dead-end job n a job with no possibilities of future progress or promotion.
- dead heat n a situation in which two or more competitors finish as equal winners.
- dead letter n -1. a letter that has not been delivered. -2. a rule or law that still exists, but is no longer enforced or obeyed.
- deadline ['dedlain] n the time after which it is too late for something to be done □ The deadline for applications is August 26th. □ We'll have to work overtime to meet the deadline.
- deadlock ['dedlɒk] n a situation in a dispute in which no agreement can be reached between the two sides □ The talks between the two parties have reached a deadlock. ■ to break the deadlock to end the deadlock □ Last-minute negotiations failed to break the deadlock.
- deadlocked ['dedlɒkt] adj to be deadlocked [talks, negotiations] to have reached a deadlock.
- deadly ['dedli] (compar deadlier, superl deadliest) ◇ adj -1. [poison, weapon] that can kill people. -2. deadly enemies people who hate each other and want to harm each other □
- They became deadly enemies.* -3. [accuracy, force] that is complete and capable of causing a lot of damage □ His aim is deadly. ◇ adv deadly boring/serious etc very boring/serious etc □ His speech was deadly dull.
- deadly nightshade [-'naɪtʃeɪd] n a plant with purple bell-shaped flowers and very poisonous black berries.
- deadpan ['dedpæn] ◇ adj [expression, manner, humor] that deliberately seems serious while intending to be funny. ◇ adv [look, act] in a deadpan way.
- Dead Sea: the Dead Sea a large lake between Israel and Jordan. The water in it is so salty that people can float in it easily.
- deadwood ['dedwud] US, dead wood GB n people or things in an organization that are no longer considered useful or profitable □ The new management plans to get rid of any deadwood.
- deaf [def] ◇ adj -1. [person] who is unable to hear □ She was born deaf in one ear. -2. to be deaf to sthg [to somebody's demands, criticism] to refuse to take notice of sthg □ The government was deaf to our requests for aid. ◇ npl the deaf deaf people □ a school for the deaf.
- deaf-aid n GB = hearing aid.
- deaf-and-dumb adj [person] who cannot hear or speak.
- deafen ['defn] vt to make <sb> unable to hear □ We were deafened by the noise from outside.
- deafening ['defnɪŋ] adj [noise, crash] very loud □ the deafening roar of planes overhead.
- deaf-mute ◇ adj [person] who is unable to hear or speak. ◇ n a deaf-mute person.
- deafness ['defnəs] n [of a person] see deaf □ She overcame her deafness, eventually becoming a successful percussionist.
- deal [di:l] (pt & pp dealt) ◇ n -1. a good OR great deal a lot □ I miss her a great deal. □ There's a great deal of work to be done. -2. [between people, organizations, countries] an agreement, usually in business □ I assume the deal is going ahead. ■ to do OR strike a deal with sb to make an agreement with sb □ We struck a good deal with the distribution company. □ The government does not do deals with terrorists. -3. a good/bad etc deal (informal use) good/bad etc treatment □ The legislature promised to give small businesses a better deal. □ At least we can say we got a fair deal.
- ◇ vt -1. to deal sb/sthg a blow, to deal a blow to sb/sthg to hit sb/sthg □ They dealt him several blows to the head. □ The closure of the plant dealt a terrible blow to the community. -2. to give <cards> to the players in a card game. ◇ vi -1. to give cards to the players in a card game. -2. to buy and sell drugs, weapons etc.
- ◆ deal in vt fus to deal in sthg [in drugs, furniture, commodities] to buy and sell sthg to make money □ They deal in second-hand books.
- ◆ deal out vt sep -1. to deal cards out to give cards to the players in a card game. -2. to deal sthg out [food, money] to share sthg out among several people. ■ to deal punishment out to to punish somebody.

- ◆ deal with vt fus -1. to deal with sthg [with a problem, situation] to take action in order to bring sthg to an acceptable or desirable conclusion □ We are dealing with your complaint.
- 2. to deal with sb [with a customer, patient] to take action to meet the needs of sb □ The job involves dealing with the public.
- 3. to deal with sthg to be about sthg □ The book/movie deals with corruption in high places.
- 4. to deal with sthg [with a problem, emergency] to be faced with sthg □ We are dealing with what is potentially a major disaster.

dealer ['di:lə] n -1. a person who buys and sells particular goods to make money □ a drugs/an arms/an antiques dealer. -2. a person who deals the cards in a card game.

dealership ['di:ləʃɪp] n a place where particular types of goods are bought and sold □ a car dealership.

dealing ['di:lɪŋ] n BUSINESS the activity of buying and selling of goods, shares etc □ Dealing in futures was down yesterday.

- ◆ dealings npl personal involvement or a business relationship that one has with somebody □ I don't know, I've never had any dealings with him.

dealt [delt] past tense & past participle of deal.

dean [di:n] n -1. [at a university, college] a teacher who is in charge of a faculty or college, or who looks after the welfare of students. -2. [in the Church of England] a priest who is in charge of other priests and of running a cathedral.

Dean [di:n], James (1931–1955) a US movie actor who was killed in a car crash. He appeared in East of Eden and Rebel without a Cause, and became a symbol of angry youth.

Dean's List n the Dean's List at some US universities, a list of the top students.

dear [diə] ◇ adj -1. a dear friend/sister etc a friend/sister etc who one loves very much □ She's a very dear friend. □ I've always been fond of dear old Shirley. ■ to be dear to sb to be very important to sb □ You are very dear to me. -2. GB to be dear to cost a lot of money □ Property is dear in this area. -3. Dear Sir/Madam/John etc a phrase used at the beginning of a letter to show who one is writing to.

◇ n -1. a word used when speaking to somebody one likes or loves, especially one's husband or wife □ Hello, dear, I'm home! □ I do understand, my dear. -2. a kind and helpful person □ John is such a dear.

◇ excl oh dear! a phrase used to show disappointment or sympathy □ Oh dear! I seem to have broken it.

Dear AbbyTM [-'æbɪ] n the name of a personal advice column in many US newspapers.

dearly ['diəli] adv to love sb dearly to love sb very much □ I've always loved you very dearly, Sam. ■ I would dearly love OR like to know I would very much like to know.

dearth [dɜ:'θ] n a dearth of sthg a shortage of sthg that is needed □ There is a dearth of good restaurants in this area.

death [deθ] n -1. [of a person, animal] the end of a person's or animal's life □ What was the cause of death? ■ to be crushed/beaten etc to death to be crushed/beaten etc so much that one dies. ■ to fall/jump etc to one's death to die by falling/jumping etc. -2. an agonizing/a horrible etc death an agonizing/horrible etc way to die □ It was a cruel death! -3. a person who has died or been killed □ The number of road deaths has increased rapidly. -4. [of a tradition, idea] the end of something □ Videos will be the death of cinema. -5. phrases to frighten/worry sb to death to frighten/worry sb a lot □ Where have you been? I was worried to death. ■ to be bored to death with sb/sthg to be very bored by sb/sthg (informal use). ■ to be sick to death of sthg to be very annoyed or bored by sthg (informal use) □ I'm sick to death of listening to Tony complaining the whole time! ■ to put sb to death to kill sb, usually after an official order □ He was put to death for his religious views. ■ to be at death's door to be very ill and close to death.

deathbed ['deθbed] n to be on one's deathbed to be about to die □ a deathbed confession.

death certificate n an official document written by a doctor that states where and when a person died and what caused their death.

death duty n GB = death tax.

death knell n to sound the death knell for sthg to cause sthg to end soon □ Another scandal could sound the death knell for the party.

deathly ['deθli] ◇ adj a deathly silence OR hush a total silence. ◇ adv deathly pale/cold etc very pale/cold etc □ It was deathly quiet.

death penalty n the death penalty the punishment of a serious crime by death.

death rate n the number of deaths within a particular area or group of people in proportion to the population of that area or group.

death row [-'rou] n to be on death row [prisoner, inmate] to have been sentenced to death □ Collins has been on death row for 10 years.

death sentence n a punishment of death given by a court □ In some countries, drug trafficking carries the death sentence.

death squad n a group of people employed by a political party or military force to kill people who oppose them.

death tax n US a tax that has to be paid on money and property left by a person who has died.

death toll n the number of people who have died in a war, massacre, earthquake etc.

death trap n something, e.g. a vehicle or building, that is so unsafe that anybody who goes in it could be killed.

Death Valley an area of desert between California and Nevada. It is the lowest, hottest, and driest part of the USA.

deathwatch beetle [,deθwɒtʃ-] n a kind of beetle that eats holes in wood and makes a tapping or clicking noise.

death wish n to have a death wish to take such big risks that one seems not to care if one dies.

deb [deb] n = debutante (informal use).

débâcle [deɪ'ba:kl] n an event that ends in total failure.

debar [di:'bɑ:ɪ] (pt & pp debarred, cont debarring) vt to prevent <sb> from doing something or going somewhere □ Foreigners are debarred from applying for these posts.

debase [di:'beɪs] vt to lower the value or quality of <sb/sthg>. ■ to debase oneself to act in a way that makes people lose respect for one.

debatable [di:'beɪtəbl] adj [question, point, issue] that one does not know the answer to because people have different views about it □ It's debatable whether the Germans are even interested joining.

debate [di:'beɪt] ◇ n -1. a discussion about something by two or more people who hold different views □ a heated debate □ There has been a lot of debate about OR over the issue of embryo research. ■ to be open to debate [question, matter] to be debatable □ Whether that would have achieved anything is open to debate. -2. a formal meeting at which people have a debate about something □ There will be a live debate on television.

◇ vt -1. [issue, question, subject] to have a debate about <sthg> □ The origins of the virus are much debated. -2. [course of action] to discuss and think about <sthg> before making a decision □ We're just debating whether to go ahead with the deal or not.

◇ vi: I debated with my boss about the merits of the idea. □ I debated a little about which color was best.

debating society [di:'beɪtɪŋ-] n a society that organizes formal debates.

debauched [di:'bɔ:tʃt] adj [person] who treats themselves and other people badly, e.g. by getting drunk or using people for sex (formal use).

debauchery [di:'bɔ:tʃəri] n debauched behavior (formal use).

debenture [di:'bentʃə] n a loan to a company or government agency that is made for a fixed period and has a fixed rate of interest.

debenture stock n GB money lent to a company in the form of debentures.

debilitate [di:'bɪlɪteɪt] vt to make <sb> weaker □ a country debilitated by war.

debilitating [di:'bɪlɪteɪtɪŋ] adj [disease, heat] that is unpleasant and makes one weaker.

debility [di:'bɪlətɪ] n weakness, usually as the result of illness.

debit ['deɪbɪt] ◇ n a sum of money that somebody takes out of their account; a record of this money □ a debit of $548 □ Several debits appeared on last month's statement. ◇ vt to take money out of <an account>; to withdraw  from an account □ We have debited your account with $100. □ $50 will be debited from your account.

debit card n a plastic card that one can use to pay for goods and that takes money directly out of one's bank account.

debit note n a note that shows that a customer owes money.

debonair [ˌdeɪbə'neəʃ] adj [man] well-dressed, confident, and charming.

Debrett's Peerage [də'brets-] n a book that lists the names and titles of all the British aristocratic families.

debrief [ˌdi:'brɪ:fɪ] vt [soldier, hostage] to get information from <sb> after a mission, task etc that they have carried out or after an experience they have had □ The released hostages are being debriefed first.

debriefing [ˌdi:'brɪ:fɪŋ] n a meeting or series of meetings in which somebody is debriefed □ a debriefing session/meeting.

debris [US də'bri:, GB 'deɪri:] n pieces of material, e.g. bricks, broken glass, that remain after something has been destroyed □ Various personal belongings were found in the debris.

debt [det] n -1. money that is owed by a person or organization to somebody else □ The company has debts of over $100,000. -2. the state of owing money to somebody □ the worry of debt and possible bankruptcy. ■ to be in debt to owe money to somebody □ The company is $3 million in debt. □ He's in debt to the bank. □ She went deeper and deeper into debt. -3. [of gratitude] a feeling one has that one owes something to somebody for something they have done □ I wish we could repay our debt of gratitude to you. ■ to be in sb's debt to feel grateful to sb for something they have done □ I am very much in your debt for your help and advice.

debt collector n a person whose job is to collect debts for a creditor.

debtor ['detə] n a person or business that owes money to somebody.

debug [ˌdi:'bʌg] (pt & pp debugged, cont debugging) vt -1. TECHNOLOGY to remove hidden microphones from  etc. -2. COMPUTING to remove faults from .

debunk [ˌdi:'bʌŋk] vt [idea, theory] to show that <sthg that a lot of people believe> is not true.

debut [US deɪ'bjʊ:, GB 'deɪbjʊ:] n the first time that somebody performs publicly as a singer, actor, athlete etc □ She made her debut at the Met. □ a debut appearance/speech.

debutante ['deɪbjʊ:tənt] n a young upper-class woman who makes her first formal appearance in high society by attending a series of balls, parties etc.

Dec abbr of December.

decade ['dekeɪd] n a period of ten years.

decadence ['dekədəns] n: see decadent □ It was an age of decadence.

decadent ['dekədənt] adj [person, society] that only cares about pleasure and does not take life seriously □ It feels very decadent having breakfast in bed on a weekday!

decaff [ˈdi:kæf] n decaffeinated coffee (informal use).

decaffeinated [diˈkæfɪneɪtəd] adj [coffee, drink] that has had the caffeine removed from it.

decal [ˈdi:kæl] n US a small sticker used as an advertisement.

decamp [diˈkæmp] vi to leave somewhere in a hurry, often secretly (informal use).

decant [diˈkænt] vt [wine, whiskey] to pour <an alcoholic drink> from a bottle into a jug, decanter etc before serving it.

decanter [diˈkæntər] n a glass bottle or jug used to serve wine, whiskey etc.

decapitate [diˈkæpɪteɪt] vt to cut off the head of <sb>.

decathlete [diˈkæθli:t] n an athlete who competes in the decathlon.

decathlon [diˈkæθlɒn] n a competition in which athletes compete in ten different events.

decay [diˈkeɪ] ◇ n -1. the natural chemical process that slowly destroys something, e.g. a tooth, plant, or dead body □ tooth decay. -2. the process of getting into a worse condition □ The house has fallen into decay. ◇ vi -1. [tooth, plant, dead body] to become rotten. -2. [building] to get into a worse condition.

deceased [diˈsi:st] (pl deceased) (formal use) ◇ adj [person] who has died recently □ his deceased wife. ◇ n the deceased a phrase used to refer to somebody who has recently died □ The family of the deceased has been informed.

deceit [diˈsi:t] n something dishonest that somebody says or does that is intended to make somebody else believe something that is not true.

deceitful [diˈsi:tfl] adj [person] who tries to deceive people.

deceive [diˈsi:v] vt to deliberately make <sb> believe something that is not true □ She's been deceiving him all these years. □ Unless my eyes deceive me, that's him over there. ■ to deceive oneself to choose to believe something although one knows it is not true.

decelerate [ˌdi:ˈseləreɪt] vi [car, machine] to slow down.

December [diˈsembə] n the twelfth month of the year in the Western calendar; see also February.

decency [ˈdi:snsɪ] n -1. to have the decency to do sthg to have enough good manners to do sthg □ He didn't even have the decency to apologize. -2. acceptable moral behavior □ standards of public decency in broadcasting.

decent [ˈdi:snt] adj -1. [person] who shows respect for accepted standards of behavior and morality □ decent, law-abiding folk □ After her husband died she left a decent interval before remarrying. ■ are you decent? are you dressed? (humorous use). -2. a decent wage/home etc a wage/home etc that is acceptable □ Why don't you get yourself a decent winter coat? -3. [movie, restaurant] that is of good quality □ Can you recommend a decent hotel? -4. [person] who one likes because they are kind □ She's a decent kid. □ It was decent of her to offer.

decentralization [US ˌdi:ˈsentʃəleɪzɪʃn, GB -aɪˈzeɪʃn] n: see decentralize.

decentralize, -ise [di:ˈsentʃəlaɪz] vt [government, company] to remove some part of  from one central place to several smaller places so that decisions are made locally □ Asian governments are pushing ahead toward decentralized economic structures.

deception [diˈsepʃn] n -1. something that deceives somebody □ It was a cruel deception. -2. the act of deceiving somebody, especially by telling lies □ He was charged with obtaining money by deception.

deceptive [diˈseptɪv] adj [behavior, appearance] that deceives one □ First impressions can be deceptive. □ The building's quite deceptive: it looks much bigger than it actually is.

deceptively [diˈseptɪvli] adv to look deceptively simple/easy to look simpler/easier than it actually is.

decibel [ˈdesɪbel] n a measurement of the loudness of a sound.

decide [diˈsaɪd] ◇ vt -1. to make a choice about <sthg> after thinking about it □ They've decided (that) the offices should be closed. □ I couldn't decide whether to go or not. □ You need to decide if it's big enough. □ They've decided to accept the offer. □ What have you decided? -2. [question, case] to make a judgment about <sthg> so that people cannot disagree about it any more □ The court decided the issue. -3. [result, future] to influence <sthg> and cause a particular result to happen □ Talks with union leaders will decide the outcome of the dispute. □ The battle was decided by superior fire power. -4. [person] to cause <sb> to make a particular choice □ So what finally decided you? ◇ vi to make a choice about something after thinking about it □ I can't decide between them. □ You'll have to decide for yourself. □ We have decided against economic sanctions.

◆ decide (up)on vt fus to decide (up)on sthg [plan, choice] to choose sthg after thinking about it □ They've decided on the new location for the offices.

decided [diˈsaɪdəd] adj a decided change/advantage etc a clear and definite change/advantage etc.

decidedly [diˈsaɪdədli] adv decidedly unhappy/uncomfortable etc very unhappy/uncomfortable etc □ The future looks decidedly bleak.

deciding [diˈsaɪdɪŋ] adj to have the deciding vote to have the last vote, so that one decides what the result of an election, ballot, debate etc will be.

deciduous [diˈsɪdʒʊəs] adj [tree, shrub] that loses its leaves in the autumn.

NOTE: Compare evergreen.

deciliter US, decilitre GB [ˈdesɪli:tə] n one tenth of a liter.

decimal [ˈdesəml] ◇ adj a decimal system a system of counting based on the number ten. ◇ n a fraction in which tenths, hundredths, and thousandths are shown as figures after a decimal point, e.g. 0.03 or 0.12.

decimal currency n a currency in which each

- coin or note is either a tenth of or ten times the value of another coin or note.
- decimalize, -ise ['desəməlaɪz] vt [currency, number] to change <sthg> to a decimal system.
- decimal place n one of the positions after a decimal point □ Calculate the answer to within three decimal places.
- decimal point n a symbol (.) in a decimal used to separate whole numbers from fractions.
- decimate ['desəmeɪt] vt to reduce the number of <animals, people, plants> etc by destroying many of them.
- decipher [dɪ'saɪfəʃ] vt [code, piece of writing] to work out the meaning of <sthg that is difficult to understand or read>.
- decision [dɪ'sɪʒn] n -1. a choice that one makes about something after thinking about it □ Have they reached a decision yet? □ His decision to leave took us all by surprise. □ You've made OR taken the right decision. -2. the ability to make choices or judgments quickly and with determination □ a man of decision.
- decision-maker n a person whose job is to make important decisions.
- decision-making n the activity of making decisions □ I was not involved in the decision-making process.
- decisive [dɪ'saɪsɪv] adj -1. [person] who is good at making decisions quickly □ Be decisive for once. -2. [factor, moment, defeat] that makes the result of something certain □ It was a decisive victory for the Allies.
- decisively [dɪ'saɪsɪvlɪ] adv [act, speak, beat] see decisive □ He was decisively beaten.
- deck [dek] ◇ n -1. [of a ship] one of the floors or levels of a large ship; the flat open areas on each of these floors or levels □ We were sitting on deck. □ the car deck of a ferry. -2. [of a bus] one of the two floors of a bus □ the top/lower deck. -3. [for playing records] a piece of equipment designed to play records □ a record deck. -4. [of cards] a complete set of playing cards. -5. [of a house] a wooden entrance at the front or back of a house that is raised above the ground and has no roof. ◇ vt to be decked with sthg [with flags, jewelry] to be decorated with sthg in a colorful and attractive way.
- ◆ deck out vt sep -1. to be decked out with OR in sthg [with flags, ribbons] to be decorated with sthg colorful and attractive. -2. to be decked out in sthg [in clothes, jewelry] to be wearing sthg colorful and attractive □ She was decked out in an ermine coat and pearls.
- deckchair ['dektʃeə] n a folding chair that consists of a wooden frame covered with canvas and that is used outdoors, e.g. on a beach or in a park.
- deckhand ['dekhænd] n a person who works on the deck of a ship doing various jobs.
- declaration [,deklə'reɪʃn] n -1. a statement that makes one's thoughts, feelings, intentions etc very clear to other people □ He made a declaration of love. -2. an official announcement □ a declaration of war/independence.
- Declaration of Independence n the Declaration of Independence a document written in 1776 by Thomas Jefferson. It stated that the American colonies were no longer ruled by Britain.
- declare [dɪ'kleəʃ] vt -1. to declare (that)... to say very clearly that something is true, especially because one believes it or feels it strongly □ He declared (that) he would find a way to solve the problem. □ He declared his love to her. -2. [news, war, state of emergency] to announce <sthg> officially □ They declared war on Britain. -3. [goods, money] to tell a government official, e.g. at a border, at customs, or on a form, about <sthg that one has> so that the correct tax can be paid □ Go through the green channel if you have nothing to declare.
- declared [dɪ'kleəʃd] adj one's declared intention/belief etc an intention/belief etc that one makes known officially to other people □ It's their declared aim to double production in 10 years.
- declassify [di:'klæsɪfaɪ] (vt & pp declassified) vt to officially change the status of <information, a document> etc so that it is no longer secret.
- decline [dɪ'klaɪn] ◇ n a gradual change from a good, healthy etc position to a worse or lower one □ Increased competition hastened the company's decline. □ a decline in numbers/the population □ There has been a sharp decline in the quality of journalism. ■ to be in decline [number, quality, health] to be gradually becoming smaller or worse. ■ to be on the OR in decline to be gradually changing from a good, healthy etc position to a worse or lower one □ The coal industry is in decline.
- ◇ vt [offer, request, invitation] to refuse <sthg> □ She declined to say what their plans were.
- ◇ vi -1. [number, quality, health] to gradually change from a good, healthy etc position to a worse or lower one □ The amount of business we do overseas has declined rapidly. -2. [person] to refuse an invitation, offer, or request □ We asked him to speak at the conference, but he declined.
- declutch [di:'klʌtʃ] vi to disconnect the clutch of a vehicle before changing gear.
- decode [di:'kəʊd] vt [message, text] to find out the meaning of <sthg that is written in code> by changing it to normal language.
- decoder [di:'kəʊdər] n a device for decoding messages, texts etc.
- decommission [,di:kə'mɪʃn] vt [nuclear reactor, warship, weapon] to stop using .
- decompose [,di:kəm'pəʊz] vi [body, food] to rot by a process of chemical change.
- decomposition [,di:kəm'pəʊzɪʃn] n: see decompose □ the process of decomposition □ The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition.
- decompression chamber [,di:kəm'preʃn] n a special room in which divers can be brought slowly and safely back to normal air pressure.

decompression sickness n a sickness that affects divers if they return to normal air pressure too quickly.

decongestant [ˌdi:kən'dʒestənt] n a medicine used for treating colds, flu etc that helps to clear the nose and chest.

decontaminate [ˌdi:kən'tæmɪneɪt] vt to make  safe by removing harmful substances, e.g. germs, poison, or radioactivity.

decor [US deɪ'kɔːr, GB 'deɪkɔː] n the way in which a room or house is decorated, including the design, colors, furniture etc □ I liked the simple decor.

decorate ['dekəreɪt] vt -1. [room, wall, card] to make <sthg> look more attractive by adding things, e.g. ornaments, balloons, flags etc □ She decorated his birthday cake with candles. -2. [bedroom, hall] US to make <the inside of a room or building> more attractive by putting furniture, curtains etc in it; GB to make <the inside of a room or building> more attractive by painting the walls, ceiling, or woodwork, putting up wallpaper etc □ I spent the day decorating the living-room. -3. [soldier] to give <sb> a medal for something they have done □ He was twice decorated for bravery.

decoration [ˌdekə'reɪʃn] n -1. [for a cake, street] something that is added to something else to make it look more attractive □ cake/Christmas decorations. -2. the way in which a room, house, building etc is decorated □ I like the decoration. -3. MILITARY a medal □ a military decoration. -4. [of a room, building] the process of painting, papering etc a room or building □ Work has begun on the decoration of the upstairs rooms.

decorative ['dekə'reɪtɪv] adj [ornament, effect] that makes something more attractive □ The drape is purely decorative.

decorator ['dekəreɪtə] n a person whose job is to decorate houses or buildings □ a firm of painters and decorators.

decorous ['dekərəs] adj [behavior, manner, appearance] that shows decorum (formal use).

decorum [dɪ'kɔːrəm] n proper and correct behavior that respects society's customs.

decoy ['di:kɔɪ] n -1. something or somebody that is used to distract another person's attention or lead them into danger □ The attack was a decoy for the main assault further north. -2. a model of an animal, especially a duck, that is used by hunters to attract animals of the same kind in order to shoot or catch them □ a decoy duck.

decrease [n 'di:kri:s, vb di:'kri:s] ◇ n -1. a reduction in the size, number, or strength of something □ There has been a sharp decrease in foreign trade. -2. the amount by which something decreases □ a 10% decrease in profits. ◇ vt to reduce the size, number, or strength of <sthg> □ They've decreased the budget for next year. ◇ vi: The population has steadily decreased.

decreasing [di:'kri:ɪŋ] adj a decreasing number/amount etc a number/amount etc that is becoming less □ We now have decreasing unemployment for the first time in five years.

decree [dɪ'kri:] ◇ n -1. a command or decision that is made by a state, ruler etc. -2. US a judgment made in a court of law. ◇ vt to decree that... to officially decide that something must happen □ The judge decreed that he should be sentenced to death.

decree absolute (pl decrees absolute) n GB a court order stating that a marriage is finally and legally ended.

NOTE: Compare decree nisi.

decree nisi [-'naɪsɪ] (pl decrees nisi) n GB a court order that states that a marriage will be ended at a future date with a decree absolute unless some reason is given why this may not take place.

NOTE: Compare decree absolute.

decrepit [dɪ'kreɪtɪ] adj [person, building] that is very old and in poor condition.

decry [dɪ'kraɪ] (pt & pp decried) vt [situation, decline] to criticize and show disapproval of <sthg bad> (formal use).

dedicate ['dedɪkeɪt] vt -1. to dedicate sthg to sb [book, song, poem] to say that sthg was written, composed etc especially for sb □ I'd like to dedicate the next song to the late, great Bill Morris. -2. to give <all one's time, energy> etc to a particular purpose □ He dedicated his life to trying to find a cure for cancer. ■ to dedicate oneself to sthg to give all one's time and energy to sthg □ She dedicated herself to looking after him/to the revolutionary cause.

dedicated ['dedɪkeɪtəd] adj -1. [person] who gives a lot of time and energy to something and believes it is important, useful etc □ She's very dedicated to her work. □ He's a dedicated musician. -2. to be dedicated to sb/sthg to be officially declared or designed to honor or deal with only sb/sthg □ The church is dedicated to St. Francis. □ It's the only museum in the country dedicated to the history of the theater. ■ a dedicated computer/phone line etc a computer/phone line etc that has only one particular use □ a dedicated lounge and check-in area.

dedication [ˌdedɪ'keɪʃn] n -1. the state of being dedicated □ He shows great dedication to his work. -2. the words at the beginning of a book, poem, song etc that state who it is written or composed for.

deduce [dɪ'dju:s] vt to deduce (that)... to decide that something is true because of something one knows, finds out, notices etc □ He deduced that she had already left. ■ to deduce sthg from sthg to deduce sthg by using sthg else as evidence □ I deduce from your expression that the meeting did not go well.

deduct [dɪ'dʌkt] vt to take  etc from a total □ The money will be deducted from your wages.

deductible [dɪ'dʌktəbəl] ◇ adj [sum of money] that can be deducted. ◇ n US an amount of money that one does not pay tax on.

deduction [dɪ'dʌkʃn] n -1. the process of deducting something □ By a process of deduction I was able to work out the exact location. -2. the act of deducting something; an amount that has been deducted □ after the deduction of tax □ My income is $58,000 after all deductions. □ a tax deduction.

deed [di:d] n -1. something that somebody does, especially something very good or very bad □ dark deeds. -2. LAW an official document that contains the details of an agreement, especially a contract involving property □ a deed of covenant.

deed poll (pl deed polls OR deeds poll) n GB to change one's name by deed poll to change one's name legally.

deem [di:m] vt to deem sb/sthg to be sthg to consider sb/sthg to be sthg (formal use) □ He deemed it wise/best to keep quiet. □ The building was deemed to be unsafe. □ They deem that the time is not yet ripe.

deep [di:p] ◇ adj -1. [water, sea, hole] that goes a long way down from the surface □ That's a very deep cut, you may need stitches. ■ to be thrown in at the deep end to start a new job by having to do something very difficult. -2. [shelf, drawer] that goes a long way in from the outer edge □ They live deep in the mountains. -3. [used in measurements] a word used to say how far it is from the top of something to the bottom or from the outer edge of something to the inner edge □ The water/cupboard is two feet deep. -4. [sorrow, disappointment, resentment] that is strongly felt □ It is with deep regret that I tender my resignation. □ Please accept my deepest sympathy. -5. to be in a deep sleep to be completely asleep and difficult to wake. -6. [blue, green, red] dark and strong □ a deep blue sea □ a deep shade of pink. -7. [sound, voice] low □ a rich, deep voice. -8. [conversation, movie] that explores things that are difficult to understand □ They were having a deep theological discussion. -9. to take a deep breath to breathe in a lot of air and then breathe it out again □ She gave a deep sigh.

◇ adv [dig, advance, move] a long way from the top of something toward the bottom, or from the outer edge of something toward the inner edge □ They went deep into the jungle. ■ to be deep in thought to be completely absorbed in thinking about something. ■ deep down OR inside a phrase used to describe somebody's true character or feelings that are not obvious from the way they look or behave □ Deep down, he doesn't really want the job. □ He's a nice guy, deep down.

deepen ['di:pən] ◇ vt [hole, channel] to make <sthg> deeper. ◇ vi -1. [river, sea, channel] to become deeper □ The lake deepens considerably in the middle. -2. [crisis, recession] to become worse; [love, hatred] to be felt more strongly □ Their love deepened over the years. -3. [darkness, color] to become darker.

deepening ['di:pənɪŋ] adj a deepening crisis/recession a crisis/recession that is becoming worse.

deep-fat fryer [-'fraɪəʃ] n a deep cooking pan that holds enough oil to cover food and fry it completely.

deep freeze n a refrigerator that freezes food.

◆ deep-freeze vt to freeze or keep <food> in a deep freeze.

deep-fry vt to fry <food> in fat or oil so that it is completely covered.

deeply ['di:pli] adv -1. to be deeply involved/offended etc to be very involved/offended etc □ I'm deeply indebted to you. □ He'll be deeply missed when he's gone. -2. to dig deeply to dig a long way down into something. -3. to breathe deeply to breathe in a lot of air and then breathe it out again.

deep-rooted adj [prejudice, hatred, affection] that has been felt by a person, society etc for a long time and is unlikely to stop.

deep-sea adj deep-sea diving/fishing diving/fishing that takes place a long way out at sea.

deep-seated adj a deep-seated belief/fear etc a belief/fear etc that is very strong and difficult to change.

deep-set adj deep-set eyes eyes that have deep sockets.

Deep South: the Deep South the southeastern states of the USA, including Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama.

deer [diəʃ] (pl deer) n a large animal that eats grass, often lives in forests, and can run fast. The male has two long horns with several points on them.

deerstalker ['diəʃstə:kəʃ] n a kind of hat made of thick cloth with flaps that cover the ears or can be tied together on top.

de-escalate [di:'eskəleɪt] ◇ vt [crisis, violence] to make  less dangerous and less harmful. ◇ vi: The arms race shows no signs of de-escalating.

deface [di'feɪs] vt [picture, wall, notice] to spoil <sthg> by marking it in some way, e.g. by writing or drawing on it.

defamation [,defə'meɪʃn] n the act of publicly saying or writing something about a person that could damage their reputation (formal use).

defamatory [US di'fæmətɔ:ri, GB -ətəri] adj [remark, statement] that is damaging to a person's reputation (formal use).

default [di'fɔ:lt] ◇ n -1. a failure to do something, e.g. to pay a debt or to appear in court □ Default on loan repayments would lead to the banks laying down even stricter conditions in the future. ■ to happen by default to happen because somebody failed to do something that would have prevented it □ Our opponents didn't turn up, so we won by default. -2. COMPUTING a system for performing operations when no specific instructions have been given. ◇ adj COMPUTING [position, setting] that is automatically used by a computer if the user has not given different instructions.

◇ vi to fail to do something, especially to pay a debt □ He defaulted on his mortgage.

defaulter [dɪ'fɔ:ltə] n a person who fails to do something, especially to pay a debt.

default value n COMPUTING a value that is automatically used by a computer if the user has not chosen another value.

defeat [dɪ'fi:t] ◇ vt -1. [opponent, rival] to beat <sb> in a contest, sport, argument etc □ The Russian army was defeated at the Battle of Austerlitz. -2. [motion, proposal] to win enough votes to stop <sthg> that one is opposed to > from being accepted □ The motion was defeated by a majority of 132 votes. -3. [plan, project] to cause <sthg> to fail □ Rescue attempts have so far been defeated by the weather. ◇ n a failure to win or achieve something □ The prime minister refused to admit defeat. □ The Battle of Waterloo was Napoleon's final defeat.

defeatism [dɪ'fi:tɪzəm] n the attitude of a person who expects to fail or be defeated.

defeatist [dɪ'fi:tɪst] ◇ n a person who expects to fail or be defeated. ◇ adj: That's a very defeatist attitude.

defecate [dɪ'fekɪt] vi to get rid of feces from one's body (formal use).

defect [n 'di:fekt, vi dɪ'fekt] ◇ n a fault that makes something or somebody not perfect □ There's a slight defect in this appliance/your argument. ◇ vi to leave one's country or political party and move to an opposing one □ He's defected to the other side.

defection [dɪ'fekʃn] n: see defect □ after his defection to the West □ There has been a rise in the number of defections.

defective [dɪ'fektɪv] adj [appliance, product] that has a defect and so does not work properly.

defector [dɪ'fektə] n a person who defects to another country or party.

defence etc GB = defense etc.

defend [dɪ'fend] ◇ vt -1. [person, city, country] to take action to protect  against physical attack □ Troops were sent in to defend the capital. □ He used his cane to defend himself against his attackers. -2. [action, opinion, decision] to argue in support of <sthg> that is accused of being wrong □ I'm not trying to defend what she did. □ In a letter to the press, she vigorously defended herself against the accusations of corruption. -3. LAW to represent <sb> in court to argue against an accusation that has been made against them. -4. SPORT to take action to prevent somebody from attacking <one's goal, position> etc. -5. to defend one's title to play against somebody and try to prevent them from taking a title that one holds □ They will be defending their title in the World Championships next week.

◇ vi SPORT to take action against an opponent who is attacking.

defendant [dɪ'fendənt] n the person in a trial who is accused of a crime.

NOTE: Compare plaintiff.

defender [dɪ'fendə] n -1. [of a country, city] a person who defends a place against attack.

-2. SPORT a player who tries to prevent the other side from scoring points. -3. a defender of sthg [of a cause, policy] a person who defends sthg.

defense US, defence GB [dɪ'fens] n -1. [of oneself, a country] the act of defending oneself or one's country against attack □ She carries a weapon for defense against attackers/mugging.

-2. MILITARY the armed forces of a country and their equipment □ How much do we spend on defense? -3. [against an illness, attack] a device or system that protects a person, animal, or thing □ the body's natural defenses against infection □ Attack is often the best defense. -4. LAW an argument or arguments used to deny a charge in court □ Lawyers are preparing her defense. ■ the defense the lawyers who are defending somebody in court; the case presented by these lawyers □ He was cross-examined by the defense. □ a witness for the defense □ a defense witness. ■ in sb's defense as a way of defending sb against criticism or an accusation □ It must be said in her defense that she's always been kind to us.

-5. SPORT the players who defend against the opposing team □ He managed to break through the Irish defense.

◆ defenses US, defences GB npl the armed forces and equipment available to defend a country, town, or building □ They broke through the city's defenses.

defenseless US, defenceless GB [dɪ'fensləs] adj [person] who is unable to defend themselves, e.g. because they are weak or have no weapon □ They even attacked defenseless women and children.

defensive [dɪ'fensɪv] ◇ adj -1. [weapon, tactic] that is intended to be used in defense □ Parts of the defensive walls remain. -2. [person] who is ready to defend themselves against criticism □ Why are you getting all defensive? ◇ n to be/go on the defensive to be/make oneself ready to defend oneself against criticism or attack.

defer [dɪ'fɜ:t] (pt & pp deferred, cont deferring) ◇ vt [decision, action, payment] to delay <sthg> until later □ I've decided to defer my entry to university and spend a year doing voluntary work. ◇ vi to defer to sb to accept sb's decision, even if one does not agree with it, because one respects them or because they are in a position of authority.

deference [dɪ'fɜ:ns] n polite and respectful behavior, usually toward somebody older or in authority □ I wore a tie in OR out of deference to tradition.

deferential [dɪ'fɜ:rensɪl] adj [behavior, treatment, person] that shows great respect for a person, their wishes etc.

defiance [dɪ'faɪəns] n behavior that shows that one refuses to obey a law, a rule, or somebody's wishes □ She tore up the letter in a gesture of defiance. ■ to do sthg in defiance of sb/sthg to do sthg even though one has been told not to do it □ They are continuing to test chemical weapons in defiance of the ban.

defiant [dɪ'faɪənt] adj [person, action, behavior] that shows defiance of somebody or something □ She gave him a defiant look.

defiantly [di'faiəntli] adv [say, refuse] see defiant □ He laughed defiantly.

deficiency [di'fiʃnsi] (pl deficiencies) n [in vitamins, person, system] see deficient □ a Vitamin A deficiency.

deficient [di'fiʃnt] adj -1. to be deficient in sthg to have too little of sthg that is necessary for health, growth etc □ a diet deficient in vitamins. -2. [person, system, process] that is not good enough for a particular activity or purpose □ They must be mentally deficient to think that.

deficit [di'fɛsɪt] n the amount by which something, usually a sum of money, is less than what is necessary, correct, or expected □ The government faces a trade deficit of $20 billion.

defile [di'fail] vt to spoil <sthg> by treating it with disrespect or by making it less pure or good □ She felt his memory had been defiled.

define [di'faɪn] vt -1. [word, phrase, concept] to explain or show the meaning of <sthg> □ It's a difficult word to define. □ How would you define happiness? -2. [problem, feeling, function] to explain the nature of <sthg> in a precise way □ It's hard to define how I feel right now. □ Their role is clearly defined in their contract.

definite [di'fɛnət] adj -1. [plan, date] firm and clear □ We're supposed to be meeting next week but it's not definite. □ When can you give me a definite answer? -2. [improvement, advantage] very noticeable □ There has been a definite change in his behavior. -3. to be definite to be firm and confident about one's wishes, opinion etc □ Briggs was very definite about the need for punctuality.

definitely [di'fɛnətli] adv a word used to show that one is certain about something □ He's definitely the man I saw. □ He has definitely decided to resign. □ "Are you going to the show?" — "Definitely!"

definition [di'fɛʃnɪʃn] n -1. an explanation of the meaning of a word or phrase, especially in a dictionary □ It's not a very clear definition.
■ by definition a phrase used to say that a word has a particular quality because that quality is part of the meaning of the word □ Jealousy is by definition a destructive feeling. -2. the quality of being clear □ the improved definition of computer screens.

definitive [di'fɪnətɪv] adj -1. a definitive answer/decision etc an answer/decision etc that is final and cannot be questioned or changed. -2. a definitive book/study etc a book/study etc that is considered to be the best of its kind □ the definitive work on the history of the American Civil War.

deflate [di:'fleɪt] ◇ vt -1. to let the air out of  etc. -2. to make <sb> less proud or self-confident □ He came back from the meeting looking a little deflated. -3. to cause deflation in <an economy>. ◇ vi [balloon, tire] to lose air and become flat.

deflation [di:'fleɪʃn] n ECONOMY a reduction in the supply of money, leading to less economie activity, lower prices, and lower levels of investment and employment.

NOTE: Compare inflation.

deflationary [di:'fleɪʃnəri] adj [policy, measure] that is intended to cause deflation.

NOTE: Compare inflationary.

deflect [di'flekt] vt -1. [ball, stream, bullet] to make <sthg> change direction, e.g. by blocking its path □ The ball was deflected off another player's legs. -2. [criticism, anger] to avoid <sthg> by directing it toward somebody or something else □ The war was partly an attempt to deflect attention away from domestic problems.

deflection [di'flekʃn] n: see deflect □ The deflection sent the ball just wide of the goal.

defog [di:'fɒŋ] vt US to remove mist from .

defogger [di:'fɒŋə] n US a device that blows air onto the front window of a car so that one can see clearly through it; a set of wires that heat the back window of a car so that one can see clearly through it.

deforest [di:'fɒrɪst] vt to cut down all the trees in <an area>.

deforestation [di:'fɒrɪsteɪʃn] n: see deforest □ Since the 1970s the rainforests have suffered massive deforestation.

deform [di'fɔ:'m] vt to change the shape or appearance of  so that it is no longer normal, especially because of a disease or injury □ His face was hideously deformed in the attack.

deformed [di'fɔ:'md] adj [person, animal, limb] that does not have a normal shape or appearance, especially because of a disease or injury.

deformity [di'fɔ:'məti] (pl deformities) n the state of being deformed; a part of the body that is deformed.

defraud [di'frɔ:d] vt to get money or goods illegally by deceiving  etc.

defray [di'freɪ] vt to provide money to pay for <costs, expenses> etc □ The company is hoping that these measures will defray future pension costs.

defrost [di:'frɒst] ◇ vt -1. [fridge, icebox] to turn off or adjust  so that the ice melts. -2. [meat, vegetables] to allow <frozen food> to become warmer gradually before eating or cooking it □ I defrosted the fish overnight. -3. US [window, windshield] to remove ice or mist from . ◇ vi -1. [fridge, freezer] to be turned off so that the ice can melt □ The fridge is defrosting. -2. [food] to pass from a frozen state to its usual state □ Allow the meat 4 hrs to defrost.

deft [deft] adj -1. [movement, maneuver, shot] that looks quick and skillful □ his deft handling of the ball. -2. [handling, leadership] that is skillful and shows an ability to think quickly □ deft use of the media.

deftly ['deftli] adv [move, manage, handle] see deft □ Mr Robinson deftly avoided the question.

defunct [dɪ'fʌŋkt] adj [project, organization, company] that no longer exists or has importance defuse [dɪ'fju:z] vt -1. to remove the fuse from  to prevent it from exploding □ The device was defused by bomb disposal experts. -2. [tension, argument] to make  calmer □ Diplomats are hurriedly trying to defuse the row.

□ the now defunct Greater London Council.

defy [dɪ'faɪ] (pt & pp defied) vt -1. [person, order, law] to refuse openly to respect or obey <sb/sthg> □ The union defied the court order. -2. to defy sb to do sthg to say that one thinks sb is unable to do sthg in order to make them try to do it □ I defy you to prove otherwise. -3. [description, attempts] to make <sthg> very difficult or impossible □ Some of the things they did defy belief.

de Gaulle [də'gəʊl], Charles (1890–1970) a French general and politician who was president from 1959 to 1969. During World War II he led French opposition to the Nazis while he was based in England. As president he was responsible for the independence of the French colonies in Africa.

degenerate [adj & n dɪ'dʒenəreɪt, vb dɪ'dʒenəreɪt] ◇ adj [person] who has low standards of behavior and morals. ◇ n a degenerate person. ◇ vi [discussion, situation] to go from one state to a worse one □ The meeting degenerated into a brawl.

degradation [ˌdeɪgrə'deɪʃn] n a state of extreme poverty or shame □ a life of misery and degradation.

degrade [dɪ'greɪd] vt -1. to make <sb> feel worthless and not respected by other people □ She felt degraded by their treatment of her. -2. to cause damage to <sthg> □ chemicals that degrade the environment.

degrading [dɪ'greɪdɪŋ] adj [comment, experience] that degrades somebody □ the degrading treatment of prisoners.

degree [dɪ'ɡri:ɪ] n -1. [for measuring temperature] a unit of measurement for temperature □ 30 degrees Centigrade. -2. [for measuring angles] a unit of measurement for angles □ a 90-degree angle. -3. [for measuring positions] a unit of measurement for positions on a map □ a latitude of 52 degrees north. -4. EDUCATION a qualification, usually from a university □ She has a degree in economics. -5. [of truth, risk, luck] an amount or level of something □ There is a degree of risk in this venture. ■ to a certain degree partly □ To a certain degree he's right. ■ by degrees gradually □ The economy is improving by degrees.

dehumanize, -ise [dɪ'hju:mənaɪz] vt to treat <sb> in a way that causes them to lose their dignity or individuality.

dehydrated [ˌdɪ:haɪ'dreɪtəd] adj -1. [food] that has been preserved by drying. -2. [person] whose body is suffering from a lack of water.

dehydration [ˌdɪ:haɪ'dreɪʃn] n a medical condition in which one feels weak or ill because one's body does not contain enough water.

de-ice [ˌdɪ:'aɪs] vt to remove ice from .

de-icer [ˌdɪ:'aɪsə] n a chemical used for removing ice from a windshield.

deign [deɪn] vi to deign to do sthg to do sthg one considers to be below one's status or abilities □ So you've deigned to join us.

deity ['deɪtɪ] (pl deities) n a god or goddess.

déjà vu [ˌdeɪʒɑ:'vu:] n the feeling that one is experiencing something that one has already experienced before at some time in the past.

dejected [dɪ'dʒektəd] adj [look, face, person] unhappy and disappointed □ He looked sad and dejected.

dejection [dɪ'dʒekʃn] n a feeling of unhappiness caused by something very disappointing.

del abbr of delete.

Delaware ['deləweə] a state in the eastern USA, on the Atlantic coast. ABBREVIATION: DE. SIZE: 5,004 sq kms. POPULATION: 666,168 (Delawareans). CAPITAL: Dover.

delay [dɪ'leɪ] ◇ vt -1. [passenger, traffic, trip] to cause <sb/sthg> to be late □ The flight was delayed for three hours. -2. [meeting, payment, decision] to make <sthg> happen at a later time □ She delayed telling him the truth until it was too late. ◇ vi to be slow or late in doing something □ Don't delay in giving him your answer. ◇ n -1. an act of delaying □ Delays may occur as a result of the fog. □ We should buy now, without delay. -2. the length of time that something is delayed □ There is a three-hour delay on all flights.

delayed [dɪ'leɪd] adj happening at a later time than usual or expected □ a delayed start □ He had a delayed reaction to the news.

delayed-action adj [response, fuse] that happens or works after a delay. ■ a delayed-action shutter PHOTOGRAPHY a camera shutter that works a short time after it is operated.

delectable [dɪ'lektəbl] adj -1. [food, meal] that tastes very good. -2. [person, dress] that one thinks is very attractive (informal use).

delegate [ˌn 'deɪləgət, vb 'deɪləget] ◇ n a person chosen to represent a country, organization etc at a conference or meeting. ◇ vt -1. to give <sb> the authority or responsibility to do something as one's representative □ Sarah was delegated to represent us at the meeting. -2. to give somebody  etc to do as one's representative; to give somebody <authority or responsibility> so they can act as one's representative □ I've delegated most of my secretarial work to Chuck. ◇ vi to delegate responsibility, a task etc □ We would be more efficient if we delegated more often.

delegation [ˌdelɪ'geɪʃn] n -1. a group of delegates □ the Korean/trade delegation. -2. [of power, responsibility] the act of delegating something.

delete [dɪ'li:t] ◇ vt to remove  etc from a text by crossing it out, erasing it, or removing it from a computer screen. ◇ vi: 'Delete where not applicable.'

deletion [dɪ'li:ʃn] n: see delete □ We'll need to make a few deletions.

Delhi ['delɪ] a city in central northern India consisting of Old Delhi, an ancient walled city, and New Delhi, the capital of India. POPULATION: 8,375,188.

deli ['deli] n = delicatessen (informal use).

deliberate [ədʒ dɪ'libəreɪt, vb dɪ'libəreɪt] ◇ adj -1. [act, rudeness, insult] that happens because somebody intends it to happen, and not by accident or chance □ It was a deliberate attempt to embarrass the guests. -2. [movement, speech] slow and careful. ◇ vi [jury, committee] to think about something very seriously before making a decision □ She deliberated for several minutes before answering.

deliberately [dɪ'libərətli] adv [act, insult, move] see deliberate □ He deliberately kept us waiting, I'm sure! □ Police said the fire had been started deliberately.

deliberation [dɪ,libə'reɪʃn] n -1. careful consideration □ After much deliberation, it was decided that he should be allowed to join. -2. with deliberation [act, speak] slowly and carefully.

◆ deliberations npl serious discussion by a group of people about something (formal use).

delicacy ['delɪkəsi] (pl delicacies) n -1. [of a hand, situation] see delicate □ a matter of the utmost delicacy. -2. [of a person] a way of acting or speaking to somebody that avoids offending them. -3. COOKING something that is very pleasant to eat but is rare or expensive □ Snails are a delicacy here.

delicate ['delɪkət] adj -1. [hand, work, movement] small, attractive, and graceful □ a small delicate woman. -2. [flavor, color] that is pleasant and not strong □ a delicate hint of saffron. -3. [glass, china] that is fragile and breaks easily □ Don't drop it, it's very delicate. -4. [person] who becomes ill easily □ He was a delicate child. □ Her health is becoming increasingly delicate. -5. [situation, subject, issue] that needs to be treated in a careful and sensitive way, e.g. because it is uncertain or likely to cause problems □ Talks have reached a very delicate stage. -6. [instrument, equipment] that is very sensitive and shows small changes.

delicately ['delɪkətli] adv -1. delicately drawn/carved etc drawn/carved etc in a delicate way □ a piece of delicately made china. -2. delicately colored/flavored etc pleasantly and not strongly colored/flavored etc □ delicately spiced with cinnamon. -3. [hint, suggest] in a careful and sensitive way □ He put it very delicately, but it was quite clear that he wanted us to leave.

delicatessen [dɪlɪkət'sɛsn] n a store that sells cold fresh food of good quality that is often imported, e.g. cheese and cooked meat.

delicious [dɪ'lɪʃəs] adj -1. [food, drink, flavor] that tastes very good □ This pasta is absolutely delicious! □ What a delicious smell! -2. [feeling] that one finds very enjoyable or satisfying.

delight [dɪ'laɪt] ◇ n -1. a feeling of great pleasure □ He discovered to his delight that his shares had doubled in value. ■ to take delight in doing sthg to enjoy doing sthg very much □ Simon takes a great delight in teasing his younger sister. -2. a thing or person that gives great pleasure □ the delights of country life. ◇ vt to please <sb> very much □ The news should delight enthusiasts everywhere. ◇ vi to delight in sthg to enjoy sthg very much □ He delights in annoying me.

delighted [dɪ'laɪtəd] adj to be delighted to be very happy about something □ We were delighted with the news. □ She was delighted to see him. □ "Can you come?" — "I'd be delighted." □ We were delighted (that) you could come.

delightful [dɪ'laɪtfl] adj [person, place, evening] very pleasant or enjoyable □ We had a delightful time while we were there.

delightfully [dɪ'laɪtflɪ] adv: see delightful □ a delightfully amusing book.

Delilah [dɪ'laɪlə] → Samson.

delimit [dɪ'limət] vt [powers, scope] to fix the limits of <sthg> □ The role of the commission is delimited by law.

delineate [dɪ'liːneɪt] vt [plan, policy, problem] to describe <sthg>.

delinquency [dɪ'ɪŋkwənsɪ] n delinquent behavior.

delinquent [dɪ'ɪŋkwənt] ◇ adj [child] who breaks the law, usually by committing minor crimes against society. ◇ n a delinquent child.

delirious [dɪ'liːriəs] adj -1. who is suffering from delirium □ He was delirious with fever. -2. who is very excited and happy □ She was delirious with joy. □ He'll be delirious at the news.

delirium [dɪ'liːriəm] n an inability to think or speak in a clear sensible way, usually caused by fever □ suffering from delirium.

deliver [dɪ'lvɪə] ◇ vt -1. [goods, mail, newspapers] to take <sthg> to somebody's home or office, usually because one is paid to do this □ Can you deliver these photos to the press office by 11 am? -2. [speech, lecture, warning] to say <sthg> in public □ The jury delivered a verdict of guilty. -3. to help a woman while she gives birth to  □ Her husband helped to deliver the baby. -4. to deliver sb from sthg [from captivity, danger] to help sb escape from sthg unpleasant (literary use). -5. US POLITICS to succeed in getting <the votes of a group of people> □ Can he deliver the Black vote? -6. to deliver a blow to hit somebody □ He delivered a heavy blow to the back of her head.

◇ vi -1. to take things to somebody's home, office etc, usually in return for payment □ We deliver 24 hours a day. -2. to do what one has promised or been asked to do □ The Administration has failed to deliver on tax reform/its promises.

delivery [dɪ'lvɪəri] (pl deliveries) n -1. [of letters, goods] the act of delivering something □ Mail deliveries are fairly irregular. □ 'Allow two weeks for delivery.' □ 'Payment on delivery' □ 'Free delivery.' ■ to take delivery of sthg to accept sthg that has been delivered, usually by signing for it. -2. [of stationery, stock] something that is delivered □ Another delivery of spare parts has just arrived. -3. [of a speech] somebody's way of speaking, especially when making a speech or acting □ He needs to work on his delivery. -4. [of a baby] the act of giving birth to a baby □ the delivery room.

delivery note n a document signed by somebody who receives a package, goods etc to prove that they have been delivered.

delivery truck US, delivery van n a small van used for delivering goods.

delphinium [del'fɪniəm] (pl delphiniums) n a tall garden plant with blue flowers growing along its stem.

delta ['deltə] (pl deltas) n a triangular area where a river divides into many parts before reaching the sea □ the Pearl River delta.

delude [di'lud:] vt to persuade <sb> to believe something that is not true □ If he thinks they can survive the recession he's deluding himself.

deluge [ˈdelju:dʒ] ◇ n -1. a flood; a large amount of heavy rain. -2. [of questions, letters] a very large amount of things that arrive at the same time. □ We've received a deluge of complaints. ◇ vt to be deluged with sth [with letters, questions] to receive a large amount of sth □ The band has been deluged with fan mail.

delusion [di'luz:ʒn] n something that somebody believes, but that is not true □ She is under the delusion that her illness isn't serious. ■ to have delusions of grandeur to believe that one is more important than one really is.

de luxe [də'lʌks] adj [hotel, car] that is of high quality and expensive.

delve [delv] vi -1. to delve into sth [into a mystery, the past] to investigate sth in detail in order to get information □ I don't want to delve too deeply into his reasons for not going. -2. to search in a place, especially in something that is deep or filled with things □ She had to delve inside her bag to find it.

Dem abbr of Democrat(ic).

demagogue [ˈdeməgɒg] n a political leader who tries to win support by appealing to people's emotions and prejudices.

demand [US di'mænd, GB -'mə:nd] ◇ n -1. a firm request for something, usually for something that another person does not want to give □ There have been demands for the president's resignation. ■ a wage demand a request for an increase in wages. ■ on demand whenever anybody asks for it □ Abortion is now available on demand. -2. demands on sb the things that use up sb's time and energy □ His family makes huge demands on his time. ■ a demand for sth a need or desire for sth □ There's not much demand for luxury goods in this area. ■ to be in demand to be very popular and wanted by many people □ American jeans are in great demand.

◇ vt -1. [apology, explanation, wage increase] to ask firmly and forcefully for <sthg> □ He demanded to see the report. -2. to ask <sthg> firmly □ "What's wrong with that?" she demanded. -3. [attention, dedication, time] to need demanding [US di'mændɪŋ, GB -'mə:nd-] adj -1. [job, task, situation] that is difficult and needs a lot of effort, concentration, time etc □ It's extremely demanding being on duty 14 hours a day. -2. [person] who needs a lot of attention and is not easily satisfied □ She's a very demanding child.

<sthg> □ He has the courage that the job demands.

demarcation [ˌdi:mɑ:'keɪʃn] n a boundary or line of separation, e.g. between two pieces of land or between different types of work □ a demarcation line.

demarcation dispute n a dispute between labor unions about which jobs should be done by their members.

demean [di'mi:n] vt to cause <sb/sthg> to lose the respect of other people □ Pornography demeans women.

demeaning [di'mi:nɪŋ] adj [work, experience] that demeans somebody □ a demeaning, sexist remark.

demeanor US, demeanour GB [di'mi:nə] n the way that somebody behaves (formal use) □ I didn't like his haughty demeanor.

demented [di'mentəd] adj [person] crazy.

dementia [di'menʃə] n serious mental illness that is caused by a disease or injury of the brain □ people suffering from dementia.

demerara sugar [ˌdemərə'eə-] n GB a type of brown sugar.

demigod [ˈdemɪgɒd] n a mythological being who is half-human and half-god.

demijohn [ˈdemɪdʒɒn] n a large bottle with a narrow neck that is used for making wine.

demilitarized zone [di:'mɪlɪtəraɪz-d-] n an area from which military forces have been removed.

demise [di'maɪz] n -1. [of a company, empire] the end of something that was successful or important □ the demise of the Welfare State. -2. the death of somebody (formal use) □ after the tragic demise of his wife.

demist [ˌdi:'mɪst] vt GB to remove mist from .

demister [ˌdi:'mɪstə] n GB a device that blows air onto the front window of a car so that one can see clearly through it; a set of wires that heat the back window of a car so that one can see clearly through it.

demo ['demou] (pl demos) n = demonstration (informal use).

demobilize, -ise [ˌdi'məʊbəlaɪz] vt to release <troops, soldiers> etc from the armed forces, usually after a war.

democracy [di'mɒkrəsi] (pl democracies) n -1. a system of government in which people choose leaders to govern them by voting in elections □ We are working to bring back democracy. -2. a country whose government is elected by the people □ a fragile democracy.

democrat ['deməkræt] n a person who believes in democracy.

◆ Democrat n a person who supports or is a member of the Democratic Party in the USA.

democratic [ˌdeməˈkrætɪk] adj [country] that has a government elected by the people; [government, system, election] that is found in this kind of country □ Western liberal democratic values.

♦ Democratic adj that is connected with the Democratic Party in the USA □ the Democratic election campaign.

democratically [ˌdeməˈkrætɪkli] adv [decide, discuss] by asking everybody for their opinion □ a democratically elected leader.

Democratic Party n the Democratic Party one of the two main political parties in the USA. It is considered to be more left-wing than the Republican Party.

demographic [ˌdeməˈgræfɪk] adj [change, trend] that is connected with the population of a particular country and where people live.

demolish [dɪˈmɒlɪʃ] vt -1. [house, block] to pull down , usually to provide space for something new □ The old cinema was demolished and a new one built in its place. -2. [theory, case] to prove that <an idea or argument> is wrong □ By the end of the trial the prosecution had completely demolished Mrs Baxter's defense. -3. [meal, course] to eat <food> very quickly so that there is no more left (informal use) □ Frank demolished the contents of his plate in five minutes flat.

demolition [ˌdeməˈlɪʃn] n [of a house, block] see demolish □ Demolition work is already underway on the site.

demon [ˈdiːmən] n an evil spirit or devil. ◇ comp a demon player/cyclist etc an extremely skilled player/cyclist etc.

demonstrable [dɪˈmɒnstrəbl̩] adj [fact, change, improvement] that can be shown to be true or exist □ a demonstrable link between smoking and lung cancer.

demonstrably [dɪˈmɒnstrəbl̩i] adv [true, better] see demonstrable □ Their claims are demonstrably wrong.

demonstrate [ˈdemənstreɪt] ◇ vt -1. [theory, principle] to prove that <sthg> is true or exists □ The findings clearly demonstrate a link between poverty and crime. □ You must demonstrate that you are able to do the work. -2. [machine, technique] to show how <sthg> works by operating it and giving an explanation at the same time □ Can you demonstrate how it works? -3. [ability, skill, quality] to show that one has <sthg> □ This clearly demonstrates her organizational skills. ◇ vi to demonstrate for/against sthg to take part in a demonstration for/against sthg.

demonstration [ˌdemənˈstreɪʃn] n -1. to give a demonstration to show how something works or is done □ She gave us a demonstration of how it operated. -2. [for something, against something] a public meeting or march held by people who feel strongly about a particular subject and want their opinions to be known □ They held/staged a massive demonstration against the new highway. -3. a demonstration of affection/support etc an act of showing affection/support etc.

demonstrative [dɪˈmɒnstrətɪv] adj [person] who shows their feelings openly, especially by hugging and kissing people.

demonstrator [ˈdemənstreɪtə] n -1. a person who shows and explains how a machine, appliance etc works. -2. a person who takes part in a demonstration for or against something □ Over a thousand demonstrators gathered to protest the measures.

demoralize, -ise [dɪˈmɒrəlaɪz] vt to make <sb> lose confidence in what they are doing □ It demoralized many teachers to see cuts being made in key areas.

demoralized [dɪˈmɒrəlaɪzd] adj [person, workforce, army] who has lost confidence in what they are doing □ They returned from the meeting tired and demoralized.

demote [diːˈmɔʊt] vt to put <sb> into a lower rank or position, often as a punishment □ He was demoted to the rank of sergeant.

demotion [diːˈmɔʊʃn] n: see demote □ Miss Taft's behavior improved after her demotion.

demotivate [diːˈmɔʊtəveɪt] vt to make <workers, students> etc lose their enthusiasm for what they are doing.

demure [dɪˈmjʊə] adj [woman, child] who seems shy and careful to behave correctly □ She looked very demure in her long white dress.

demystify [ˌdiːˈmɪstəfaɪ] (pt & pp demystified) vt to make <sthg> less mysterious and easier for ordinary people to understand.

den [den] n a home made by wild animals such as foxes.

denationalize, -ise [ˌdiːˈnæʃnəlaɪz] vt to sell <an industry> to private owners so that it no longer belongs to the state.

denial [dɪˈnaɪəl] n -1. [of an accusation, allegation, rumor] a statement that says something is not true □ The Prime Minister issued a firm denial today. -2. [of a right, privilege] a refusal to allow somebody to have something they want.

denier [ˈdenjə] n GB a measurement of how fine the thread is in pantyhose or stockings □ 15-denier tights.

denigrate [ˈdenɪɡreɪt] vt [person, achievement, character] to speak or write very unfavorably about <sb/sthg> especially when they deserve to be praised (formal use).

denim [ˈdenɪm] n a strong cloth made of cotton that is usually blue and is used to make clothes □ denim jeans.

♦ denims npl jeans made of denim □ a pair of denims.

denim jacket n a short casual jacket made of denim.

denizen [ˈdenɪzən] n an inhabitant of a particular place (literary use).

Denmark [ˈdenmɑːk] a country in northern Europe, between the Baltic and the North Sea. SIZE: 43,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 5,100,000 (Danes, Danish). CAPITAL: Copenhagen. LANGUAGE: Danish. CURRENCY: Danish krone.

denomination [dɪˌnɒməˈneɪʃn] n -1. RELIGION one of the main groups of believers in a particular religion. -2. FINANCE the value of a coin or bill □ We cannot change denominations smaller than 2000 lire.

denominator [dɪˌnɒməneɪtəʃ] n the part of a fraction that is below the line and that the top number is divided by.

denote [dɪˈnəʊt] vt (formal use) to mean <sthg>; to be a sign or symbol for <sthg>.

denouement [ˌdeɪnuːˈmə:ɪŋ, ˌdeɪnuːˈmɔ:ŋ] n the end of a book, movie, or play, when everything is explained □ I found the denouement of the plot rather unsatisfactory.

denounce [dɪˈnaʊns] vt [person, idea, policy] to criticize <sb/sthg> severely in public □ He was denounced as a traitor to his country.

dense [dens] adj -1. [crowd, traffic, forest] where there are many people or things with very little space between them; [fog, mist, smoke] that is difficult to see through. -2. [person] who one thinks is stupid and slow in understanding (informal use).

densely [ˈdensli] adv densely populated that has a lot of people living in a small area.

density [ˈdensəti] (pl densities) n -1. [of traffic, a crowd, forest] the degree to which people or things are very close together; [of fog, mist, smoke] the fact of being difficult to see through □ a map showing population density. -2. PHYSICS the relationship between an object's mass and its volume □ Water has a higher density than oil.

dent [dent] ◇ n a hollow area on a surface where it has been hit by something and damaged □ I noticed a small dent in my car. ◇ vt [surface, metal, car] to make a dent in <sthg>.

dental [ˈdentl] adj [hygiene, decay] that is connected with one's teeth □ a dental appointment.

dental floss n thread covered in wax that is used to clean the spaces between one's teeth.

dental plate n the part of a set of dentures that fits against the top of the mouth.

dental surgeon n = dentist.

dental surgery n GB the place where a dentist works and gives treatment to patients.

dental treatment n something done by a dentist to one's teeth to keep them healthy or attractive.

dented [ˈdentəd] adj [car, surface] that has a dent in it.

dentist [ˈdentɪst] n a person whose job is to treat people's teeth. ■ a dentist's the place where a dentist works □ I've got to go to the dentist's.

dentistry [ˈdentɪstri] n the work done by a dentist.

dentures [ˈdentʃəz] npl artificial teeth that are used to replace teeth that have fallen out or been removed □ a set of dentures.

denude [dɪˈnju:ɪd] vt to be denuded of sthg [of leaves, flowers] to have all of sthg removed so that it is completely bare (formal use).

denunciation [dɪˌnʌnsɪˈeɪʃn] n [of a person, organization, decision] a statement that denounces somebody or something □ Brandon's denunciation of the behavior of the press.

deny [dɪˈnaɪ] (pt & pp denied) vt -1. [accusation, allegation, rumor] to say that <sthg> is not true □ He denied all knowledge of the takeover bid. □ She denied driving while under the influence of alcohol. □ A spokesman denied (that) the company had knowingly damaged the environment. -2. to deny sb sthg [right, access, chance] to refuse to allow sb to have sthg that they want □ You cannot deny me the right to speak to my own wife!

deodorant [dɪˈoʊdərənt] n a substance, usually a liquid or a spray, that is used to reduce body smells, especially under one's arms □ a spray/roll-on deodorant □ He doesn't use deodorant.

depart [dɪˈpɑ:t] vi (formal use) -1. [train, plane, person] to leave □ The train for Pisa will depart from platform 16. -2. to depart from sthg [from normal procedure, a custom, script] not to follow sthg □ Departing from tradition, the Queen traveled on a scheduled flight.

department [dɪˈpɑ:tɪmənt] n -1. [of a company] a section of a company or organization that has a particular function □ the company's personnel/sales department. -2. [of a store] a section of a large store that sells a particular kind of goods □ the menswear/china department. -3. EDUCATION a group of teachers in a school, college, or university who teach a particular subject □ the psychology department. -4. [of a government] a section of a government that has responsibility for a particular activity, service etc □ the Department of Health/Industry/Transport.

departmental [ˌdɪːpɑ:tɪˈmentl] adj [meeting, staff, manager] that is connected with a particular department of a company, government etc.

department store n a large store made up of different sections selling many kinds of goods.

departure [dɪˈpɑ:tʃə] n -1. [from a place] the act of leaving a place; a plane, train, ferry etc that leaves a particular place at a particular time □ Passengers are advised to confirm their return flight 24 hours before departure. □ There are three departures a day for Dublin. □ the departure gate/time. -2. a departure from sthg [from normal procedure, a custom] a change from the usual way of doing sthg □ In a departure from his normal practice, the commissioner gave a press conference immediately. -3. a new departure a change in the kind of things one does □ This is a new departure for me in my career.

departure lounge n the room at an airport where passengers wait until they can get on their plane.

depend [dɪˈpend] vi it depends a phrase used to say that one is not certain about something because other factors must be taken into consideration.

◆ depending on prep a phrase used to introduce information that will affect a future decision, course of action etc □ Depending on when I finish work, I'll either call for you at the hotel or meet you at the theater.

◆ depend on vt fus -1. to depend on sb/sthg [on a parent, salary] to need sb/sthg because one cannot survive, cope, succeed etc without them □ I depend on public transportation to get to work. ■ you can depend on him/her you can trust him/her to do what he/she says □ You can always depend on me. -2. to depend on sb/sthg to be affected, controlled, or decided by sb/sthg □ Whether you succeed in business depends on your attitude. □ "Do you think you'll ever get married?" — "It depends (on) whether I meet the right person."

dependable [dɪ'pendəbl] adj [person, income, car] that one can trust □ John's a solid, dependable kind of guy.

dependance [dɪ'pendəns] n US = dependence.

dependant [dɪ'pendənt] n a person who depends on another person or organization for money □ Does the applicant have any dependants under the age of 18?

dependence [dɪ'pendəns] n [on charity, alcohol, a person] the state of needing somebody or something and not being able to survive, succeed etc without them □ alcohol dependence.

dependent [dɪ'pendənt] adj -1. [person, organization, country] that needs somebody or something else in order to continue or survive □ We are entirely dependent on the government for getting us contracts. -2. to be dependent on sthg [on drugs, alcohol, cigarettes] to be addicted to sthg □ the problem of young people dependent on hard drugs. -3. to be dependent on sb/sthg [on a result, the time] to be affected, controlled, or decided by sb/sthg □ Pay is dependent on age and experience.

depict [dɪ'pɪkt] vt -1. [person, scene] to show <sb/sthg> in a picture □ The painting depicts a battle scene. -2. [person, place, way of life] to describe <sb/sthg>, usually by writing about them, in a way that creates a clear and detailed impression of them □ The biography depicts him as a cold and ruthless traitor.

depilatory [US dɪ'pɪlətɔːri, GB -ətəri] adj [cream, wax] that is used to remove unwanted hair from one's body.

deplete [dɪ'pli:t] vt to reduce <supplies, resources> etc to a level that is very low and sometimes dangerous □ His energy levels have been seriously depleted.

depletion [dɪ'pli:ʃn] n: see deplete □ As we near the depletion of our coal stocks...

deplorable [dɪ'plɔːrəbl] adj [state, condition, treatment] that one finds bad or wrong, and unacceptable □ It is deplorable that people should have to wait so long to see a doctor. □ The service at the restaurant was simply deplorable.

deplore [dɪ'plɔːr] vt to disapprove of <sthg> very strongly □ This company deplores the use of animals to test cosmetics.

deploy [dɪ'plɔɪ] vt to organize <troops, weapons, resources> in a way that makes them ready to be used when necessary.

deployment [dɪ'plɔɪmənt] n: see deploy □ the deployment of nuclear missiles.

depopulated [di:'pɒpjəleɪtəd] adj [country, area] where there are far fewer people living than there were before.

depopulation [di:'pɒpjə'leɪʃn] n: see depopulated □ the rural crisis triggered by depopulation.

deport [dɪ'pɔːt] vt to make <sb> leave a country where they are not a citizen because they have done something illegal or are not wanted by the government □ Illegal immigrants risk being deported.

deportation [ˌdi:'pɔː'teɪʃn] n: see deport.

deportation order n an official order that tells somebody that they must leave a country.

depose [dɪ'pəʊz] vt to remove  etc from power □ The King was deposed by the military in 1967.

deposit [dɪ'pɒzət] ◇ n -1. FINANCE [at a bank] an amount of money placed in a bank account □ I'd like to make a deposit of $5,000. -2. [on a house, car] a sum of money that one gives as a first part of a payment when buying a house, car etc to make sure that nobody else can buy it □ We put down a deposit on a new television. -3. [on equipment, an apartment] a sum of money that one gives when one rents something and that is returned if the thing one rented is used without being damaged □ The deposit on the apartment is equivalent to one month's rent. -4. GEOLOGY a layer of a substance formed underground by natural processes □ oil deposits. -5. [in a liquid] a solid substance left behind at the bottom of a container of liquid, or by a river, flood etc.

◇ vt -1. [liquid, river] to leave behind <sand, dust, mud> etc on a surface. -2. FINANCE [customer] to put <money or valuables> in a bank □ I'd like to deposit $150 in my savings account. -3. [person] to put <sthg> down somewhere □ She deposited her luggage at my feet.

deposit account n GB a bank account that pays interest on the money saved in it.

depositor [dɪ'pɒzətər] n a person who saves money in a deposit account.

depot [sense 1 'depou, sense 2 US 'dɪpou, GB 'dep-] n -1. [for goods] a place where equipment or goods are stored □ an ammunition depot. -2. [for buses, trains] a bus or train station at the end of a route or line.

depraved [dɪ'preɪvd] adj [person, habit, behavior] that is very evil or corrupt.

depravity [dɪ'prævəti] n behavior that is depraved.

deprecate ['deprekət] vt to express disapproval of <sthg> (formal use).

deprecating ['deprekətɪŋ] adj [remark, gesture] that expresses disapproval.

depreciate [di'pri:ʃieɪt] vi [currency, investment, property] to go down in value.

depreciation [di,prɪ:'ʃi:eiʃn] n: see depreciate □ the depreciation of shares.

depress [di'pres] vt -1. [news, event, situation] to make <sb> feel very sad and hopeless □ Hearing him talk about the war just depressed me. -2. ECONOMICS to make  less active; to make <prices, values, sales> etc go down.

depressant [di'presnt] n a substance that reduces the activity of the brain or body □ Alcohol acts as a depressant.

depressed [di'prest] adj -1. [person] who is very sad and has lost hope □ I felt so depressed I couldn't get out of bed. -2. a depressed market a market in which there is not much demand for the goods and services offered for sale. -3. a depressed area an area that suffers from a lack of economic activity and jobs.

depressing [di'presɪŋ] adj [person, news, story] that makes one depressed □ It's depressing to think that you may never work again.

depression [di'preʃn] n -1. MEDICINE a feeling of extreme unhappiness that causes one to believe that there is no hope for one in the future and that prevents one from living an active life □ He's having treatment for depression. -2. ECONOMICS a period when economic activity is low and unemployment is high □ The country is in the grip of a severe depression. -3. [in a surface] a hole or hollow in a surface caused by something pressing down on it.

◆ Depression n = Great Depression.

depressive [di'presɪv] adj [person] who sometimes suffers from depression; [effect] that causes depression.

deprivation [di,preɪ'veɪʃn] n the state of not being able to have something one needs to live properly □ sleep deprivation.

deprive [di'praɪv] vt to deprive sb/sthg of sthg to prevent sb/sthg from having sthg □ If people are deprived of sleep, they become irritable. □ His captors deprived him of all contact with the outside world.

deprived [di'praɪvd] adj [background, area] where the people are poor and living conditions are bad □ He had a deprived childhood.

dept. abbr of department.

depth [depθ] n -1. the distance between the top and the bottom of a lake, mine, hole etc; the distance between the front and back of a solid object or a space □ The submarine can dive to a depth of 500m. □ Make sure you measure the depth of the refrigerator before you buy it. ■ to be out of one's depth [in the ocean, a swimming pool] to be in water where one's feet do not touch the bottom; [in a situation, discussion] not to know enough to be able to deal with or understand what is being done or said □ I felt a bit out of my depth among all those specialists. -2. [of one's feelings, knowledge] the strength or intensity of one's feelings, knowledge etc □ We were impressed by the depth of his understanding. □ We have studied the matter in (great) depth.

◆ depths npl the depths the deepest parts of something, or the parts that are most difficult to get to; the worst part of something □ the depths of the ocean/forest □ in the depths of winter/despair.

depth charge n an underwater bomb used to destroy submarines.

deputation [di,depjə'teɪʃn] n a group of people who are chosen to be representatives of a larger group, and to speak or complain to somebody in authority on their behalf.

deputize, -ise ['depjətaɪz] vi to do somebody else's job or replace them at a meeting when they are unable to be there □ I had to deputize for my boss while she was away.

deputy ['depjəti] (pl deputies) ◇ n -1. BUSINESS a person who is next below a chairman, manager etc in rank, and who often has to represent them when they are not there. -2. US LAW a person who is second-in-command to a sheriff. ◇ adj [leader, head, chairman] who acts as deputy □ Mrs Cowling, the Deputy Chairman of the Committee.

derail [di:'reɪl] vt to make  go off the tracks.

derailment [di:'reɪlmənt] n: see derail □ Trains are running late following an earlier derailment.

deranged [di:'reɪndʒd] adj [person] who acts in a crazy and sometimes dangerous way.

derby [US 'dɜ:rbɪ, GB 'dɑ:bɪ] (pl derbies) n -1. US a round stiff hat, usually black and worn by men. -2. SPORT a sports event between two teams from the same area or city.

Derby n the Derby an important horserace held every year at Epsom, southern England.

Derbyshire [US 'dɜ:rbɪʃɪr, GB 'dɑ:bɪʃə] a county in northern central England. SIZE: 2,631 sq kms. POPULATION: 918,700. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Matlock.

deregulate [di:'regjəleɪt] vt to remove government controls from .

deregulation [di:'regjə'leɪʃn] n: see deregulate □ plans for deregulation of the country's broadcasting services.

derelict ['derəhɪkt] adj [building, site, area] that is in very bad condition because it is no longer used.

deride [di:'raɪd] vt [person, suggestion, idea] to speak about <sb/sthg> in a way that makes them seem ridiculous or worthless □ She has been much derided for her outdated views.

derision [di:'rɪʒn] n things that are said about somebody or something and that make them seem ridiculous or worthless □ His ideas were greeted with derision.

derisive [di:'raɪsɪv] adj [laughter, smile, comment] that shows that one thinks somebody or something is ridiculous or worthless.

derisory [di:'raɪsəri] adj -1. [amount, increase] that is so small or unimportant that it cannot be taken seriously (disapproving use) □ I was paid the derisory sum of $20. -2. [laughter, smile, comment] derisive.

derivation [ˌdɛrəˈveɪʃn] n the source or origin of a word.

derivative [dɛˈrɪvətɪv] ◇ adj [idea, work, style] that is not new or original, and is based on another person's ideas (disapproving use) □ I quite like his paintings, but they're very derivative. ◇ n something which is developed from something else □ Many cosmetics are petroleum derivatives.

derive [dɪˈraɪv] ◇ vt -1. to derive sthg from sthg [pleasure, satisfaction, amusement] to get sthg from sthg □ She derived great pleasure from telling him that the work would have to be done again. -2. to be derived from sthg to have developed from sthg □ The word is derived from the Latin term. ◇ vi to derive from sthg to be the result of sthg □ His confidence in speaking in public derives from considerable experience. □ The word "table" in English derives from the French word.

dermatitis [ˌdɜːməˈtɑɪtɪs] n a medical condition in which the skin becomes sore and irritated.

dermatologist [ˌdɜːməˈtɒlədʒɪst] n a doctor who specializes in dermatology.

dermatology [ˌdɜːməˈtɒlədʒɪ] n the branch of medicine that deals with diseases of the skin.

derogatory [US dɪˈrɒɡətɔːri, GB -ətəri] adj [remark, comment] that criticizes somebody or something in a harsh and unfriendly way □ He was sitting there in front of me, making derogatory remarks about my furniture!

derrick [ˈdɛrɪk] n -1. a kind of crane that lifts cargo onto a ship. -2. a structure built over an oil well that moves the drill up and down.

Derry [ˈdɛri] = Londonderry.

derv [dɜːˈv] n GB the fuel used in diesel vehicles.

desalination [dɪːsæləˈneɪʃn] n the process of removing salt from sea water to make it suitable for drinking □ a desalination plant.

Descartes [US dɛrˈkɑːrt, GB ˈdɛrkɑːrt], René (1596–1650) a French philosopher and mathematician who developed a complete system of philosophy based on scientific reasoning. He is famous for the phrase "I think therefore I am."

descend [dɪˈsend] ◇ vi -1. [sun, vehicle, person] to move in a downward direction (formal use). -2. [silence, sadness, darkness] to become noticeable among a group of people or over an area □ A strange hush descended on the guests. -3. to descend on a place [crowd, tourists] to arrive in a place suddenly and in large numbers □ Thousands of visitors descend on the town each summer. □ My relations are going to descend on us this weekend. -4. to descend to sthg to do sthg that is below one's usual moral standards □ How could you descend to lying to me like that? ◇ vt [stairs, hill, ladder] to go down <sthg> (formal use).

descendant [dɪˈsendənt] n a person who is the child, grandchild, great-grandchild etc of another person □ a descendant of George Washington.

descended [dɪˈsendəd] adj to be descended from sb to be directly related to sb who lived in the past □ Man is descended from the apes.

descending [dɪˈsendɪŋ] adj in descending order going from a high number or value to a lower one.

descent [dɪˈsent] n -1. [from a high place] a movement downward □ We will shortly be commencing our descent to La Guardia. -2. [of a person] the origins of one's family □ She is of mixed French and Cherokee descent.

describe [dɪˈskraɪb] vt to give an account of the appearance, quality etc of <sb/sthg> □ Would you be able to describe him to the police? □ It's difficult to describe what it was like because it all happened so quickly.

description [dɪˈskrɪpʃn] n -1. [of a person, thing, place, event] see describe □ There was a description of the man in this morning's paper. □ The beauty of Alaska defies description. -2. of every/any/some description of every/any/some etc type □ Are you carrying an aerosol or anything of that description?

descriptive [dɪˈskrɪptɪv] adj [passage, language] that gives a detailed description of somebody or something, especially one that is expressed in a pleasing way □ One of our assignments was to do a descriptive piece of writing.

Desdemona [ˌdezdəˈmoʊnə] the heroine of Shakespeare's play Othello. She is killed by her jealous husband, Othello.

desecrate [ˈdesɪkret] vt [church, grave] to damage <sthg> deliberately as an insult to something that is holy and sacred.

desecration [ˌdesɪˈkreɪʃn] n: see desecrate □ The attack was condemned as the desecration of a holy place.

desegregate [dɪˈsegrɪgeɪt] vt to make sure that people of different races, sexes, or religions are no longer kept apart in  etc □ desegregated schools.

deselect [ˌdɪːsəˈlekt] vt GB [constituency] to decide not to choose and support <an MP> as a candidate at the next election.

desert [n ˈdeɪzəʔt, vb & npl dɪˈzɜːtɪ] ◇ n -1. GEOGRAPHY an area of land with very little water, or plant or animal life □ the Sahara Desert. -2. a place with few facilities for people □ a cultural desert. ◇ vt -1. [town, building] to abandon  and leave it empty. -2. [wife, friend] to leave  and stop supporting them □ He deserted his wife and children. □ People are deserting the party in droves. ◇ vi [soldier] to leave one's job in the armed forces without permission □ He deserted from the army.

◆ deserts npl to get one's just deserts to receive the punishment one deserves.

deserted [dɪˈzɜːtɪd] adj [town, street, beach] that has very few or no people □ When we arrived, the place was deserted.

deserter [dɪ'zɜːtə] n a soldier who has deserted.

desertion [dɪ'zɜːʃn] n [by a soldier, husband] see desert □ a man wanted for desertion.

desert island [ˌdeɪzə't-] n a small, uninhabited, tropical island that has no contact with the outside world □ He was shipwrecked on a desert island.

deserve [dɪ'zɜːv] vt [reward, prize, punishment] to have done something for which one should get <sthg> in return or as a result □ You've been working very hard and deserve a rest. □ She deserves to lose her job for speaking to you like that. □ I know he can be difficult, but he doesn't deserve to be treated like that.

deserved [dɪ'zɜːvd] adj [reward, punishment] that somebody deserves □ The performers received a well-deserved round of applause.

deservedly [dɪ'zɜːfvdlɪ] adv: see deserved □ She was deservedly beaten in the final. □ He has been described as a genius, and deservedly so.

deserving [dɪ'zɜːvɪŋ] adj [cause, charity] that deserves to be helped, rewarded, or praised. ■ to be deserving of sthg to deserve sthg (formal use).

desiccated [ˈdesɪkətəd] adj desiccated coconut coconut that has been grated and dried.

design [dɪ'zain] ◇ n -1. [for a building, product] a plan for a new building, construction, or manufactured object that has been drawn to show what it will look like □ The architect showed us her designs. -2. ART the work or art of planning and drawing the form of things that are going to be made □ industrial design. -3. [on wallpaper, fabric] a decorative pattern on a surface □ an intricate floral design. -4. [of an object] the form or shape that is given to a manufactured object □ The chair has a simple but practical design. -5. [of a person] an intention. ■ by design intentionally □ Was it left here by accident or by design? ■ to have designs on sthg to plan to get and use sthg that belongs to somebody else, often in a dishonest way □ He's got designs on that plot of land behind the house. ■ to have designs on sb to be intending to seduce sb.

◇ vt -1. [building, dress, car] to draw plans for <sthg> so that it can be made or built □ The chair was designed by Le Corbusier. -2. to be designed for sthg [product, system, layout] to be planned or made in a particular way so that it can be used for sthg □ The apartments are specially designed for old people. □ The car is designed to perform well in the most difficult conditions.

designate [ˈdɛzɪɡneɪt, ˈdɛzɪɡneɪt] ◇ adj the President/director etc designate the person who has been appointed to be President/director etc but who has not yet started doing the job. ◇ vt to officially choose  for a particular purpose □ The earthquake zone has been officially designated a disaster area. □ I have been designated to chair the committee. □ Mr Townsend has been designated as the next chairman.

designation [ˌdɛzɪɡˈneɪʃn] n: see designate □ the designation of safe havens by the UN.

designer [dɪ'zainə] ◇ n a person whose job is to design clothes, manufactured goods, buildings etc □ a dress/interior designer. ◇ adj designer jeans/jewelry etc jeans/jewelry etc that have been designed or produced by a famous designer or company □ Everything she wears has to be a designer label.

desirable [dɪ'zairəbl] adj -1. [result, approach] that is what one wants □ It would not be desirable to comment further at this stage. -2. [house, place, object] that is attractive and that people want □ This has become a highly desirable area to live in. -3. [person] who is sexually attractive □ She looked extremely desirable in that evening dress.

desire [dɪ'zairə] ◇ n -1. a strong wish □ I have no desire to see him again. □ There is a genuine desire for an improvement in relations. -2. a strong feeling of wanting to have sex with somebody □ He was filled with desire for her. ◇ vt -1. to want <sthg> □ You can have anything you desire. ■ to leave a lot to be desired [person, service, quality] to be of a low standard □ The food was good, but the service left a lot to be desired. -2. to want to have sex with <sb>.

desirous [dɪ'zairəs] adj to be desirous of sthg to want sthg (formal use).

desist [dɪ'zɪst] vi to desist from doing sthg to stop doing sthg (formal use).

desk [desk] n -1. [for writing] a kind of table that one sits at to write or work □ Steve's not at his desk right now. -2. [for information] a place in a public building where one can obtain a particular service □ the information desk □ the Air France desk at the airport.

desk clerk n US a hotel receptionist.

desk diary n GB a large book used in an office for writing business appointments in.

desk lamp n a lamp for use on a desk.

desktop ['deskɒp] adj a desktop computer a computer designed to fit on top of a desk.

desktop publishing n a system of producing documents, books etc that uses a desktop computer.

desolate [ˈdesələt] adj -1. [place, scene] that is empty and makes one feel sad □ I never expected to meet anyone in this desolate spot. -2. [person] who is lonely and feels sad.

desolation [ˌdesəˈleɪʃn] n: see desolate □ a scene of utter desolation.

despair [dɪ'speə] ◇ n a feeling of not having any hope □ She looked at me in despair. ◇ vi to lose hope □ Don't despair! □ He began to despair of ever finding a job.

despairing [dɪ'speərɪŋ] adj [look, gesture] that expresses despair.

despairingly [dɪ'speərɪŋli] adv [look, appeal] see despairing □ "We'll never get there on time," she said despairingly.

despatch [dɪ'spætʃ] n & vt = dispatch.

desperate [ˈdesprət] adj -1. [person] who needs or wants something very much and is ready to try anything to get it; [attempt, measure] that is tried because one is in this state □ He asked James for money? He must be desperate!

- This calls for desperate measures. □ a desperate gang of criminals. -2. [situation, lack, need] that is very serious and needs to be dealt with very soon □ There is a desperate shortage of teachers in science subjects. -3. [person] who feels completely helpless □ She felt desperate and alone. -4. to be desperate for sthg [for money, a drink, rest] to need sthg very badly □ They're desperate for staff down at Palmer's. □ I'm desperate to go to the toilet.
- desperately ['desprətli] adv -1. [want, need] so much that one will try anything □ They desperately want to have children. -2. [fight, struggle] very fiercely because one is in a dangerous or unpleasant situation. -3. desperately ill/unhappy etc very ill/unhappy etc.
- desperation [ˌdɛspə'reɪʃn] n the state of being desperate □ In desperation, I turned to Franklin for help.
- despicable [dɪ'spɪkəbl] adj [person, behavior, act] that deserves to be despised □ I thought his behavior was absolutely despicable.
- despise [dɪ'spaɪz] vt [person, idea, activity] to dislike <sb/sthg> and consider them to be of little importance or worth □ Sometimes I feel that she despises me for the kind of job I do.
- despite [dɪ'spaɪt] prep we had a good time despite the rain the fact that it was raining did not stop us from having a good time □ She remains cheerful despite all her problems.
- ◆ despite the fact that conj although □ Despite the fact that I was very tired, I offered to drive us home.
- despondent [dɪ'spɒndənt] adj [person] who feels sad and without hope □ Sam came back from the interview looking tired and despondent.
- despot ['dɛspɒt] n a person, especially the ruler of a country, who uses their control over people in a cruel and unfair way.
- despotic [dɪ'spɒtɪk] adj [person] who uses their control over other people in a cruel and unfair way □ despotic behavior.
- dessert [dɪ'zɜ:t] n sweet food that is eaten as the last part of a meal □ Would you like to see the dessert menu?
- dessertspoon [dɪ'zɜ:t'spu:n] n a large spoon used to eat dessert; the amount of food or liquid that can be contained in this.
- dessert wine n a type of sweet wine that is drunk with a dessert.
- destabilize, -ise [ˌdɪ'steɪbəlaɪz] vt [government, country, economy] to make <sthg> less secure □ rumors of a plot to destabilize the regime.
- destination [ˌdɛstɪ'neɪʃn] n the place where a person, package, aircraft etc is supposed to arrive at the end of a journey □ After three days of traveling we finally reached our destination. □ Feingold's eventual destination was not known.
- destined ['dɛstɪnd] adj -1. to be destined for sthg [for fame, success] to be certain to have or achieve sthg in the future □ She is destined for a successful career in advertising. ■ to be destined to do sthg to be certain to do sthg in the future □ We were destined never to meet again. -2. to be destined for a place [person, aircraft, package] to be traveling to a particular place □ a plane destined for Bangkok.
- destiny ['dɛstəni] (pl destinies) n -1. one's future, especially when this is considered to be controlled by events and circumstances rather than by oneself □ I just hate feeling that our destiny is in their hands. -2. the force that some people believe controls their lives □ Destiny brought us together.
- destitute ['dɛstɪtʃu:t] adj [person] who has no money or possessions, and often no home □ It left him destitute and with no one to turn to.
- destroy [dɪ'strɔɪ] vt -1. [evidence, building, friendship] to damage <sthg> so severely that it no longer exists in its original form □ The station was completely destroyed by the bombing. -2. [person] to affect <sb> badly so that they cannot continue the kind of life they were living before □ He was financially/emotionally destroyed. -3. [dog, horse] to kill <an animal> because it is suffering too much from an illness or injury, or because it is dangerous.
- destroyer [dɪ'strɔɪə] n MILITARY a small fast warship.
- destruction [dɪ'strʌkʃn] n [of evidence, a building, friendship] the act of destroying something □ scenes of death and destruction.
- destructive [dɪ'strʌktɪv] adj [person, behavior, feeling] that causes serious damage to somebody or something □ The scandal had a destructive effect on the election campaign.
- desultory [US 'dɛslʊtɔ:ri, GB -ɔ:ri] adj [attempt, conversation] that has no plan or purpose and shows little enthusiasm (formal use) □ They made a few desultory comments, then lapsed into awkward silence.
- Det. abbr of detective.
- detach [dɪ'tætʃ] vt -1. [handle, collar, label] to remove <sthg that is fixed to something else> □ You can detach the hood from the rest of the jacket. -2. to detach oneself from sthg [from reality, a discussion] to try to avoid being involved in or affected by sthg □ It's impossible to detach myself from what's happening at home.
- detachable [dɪ'tætʃəbl] adj [handle, collar, hood] that can be removed.
- detached [dɪ'tætʃt] adj [view, attitude, person] that is not affected by personal feelings about something □ As a doctor, one has to at least try to remain detached.
- detached house n a house that stands alone and is not attached to any other houses.
- detachment [dɪ'tætʃmənt] n -1. [of a person] the state of being detached □ As an outsider, she was able to look at the situation with a certain degree of detachment. -2. MILITARY a group of soldiers who are sent on a mission separately from the rest of a larger group.
- detail [US dr'teɪl, GB 'dɪ:teɪl] ◇ n -1. a small point that is part of a story, discussion, plan, design etc; many of these points when they are part of something more complete □ No further details on the decision are available yet. □ My assistant will take care of the details for you. □ She's got a good eye for detail. □ I looked more closely to admire the detail. ■ to go into detail to include a lot of points or facts about something □ The report goes into great detail on where the money would come from. ■ in detail [examine, study, speak] in a careful and thorough way □ I would welcome the opportunity to look into these proposals in detail. -2. MILITARY a small group of soldiers chosen for a particular mission.

◇ vt [costs, plan] to give all the details of <sthg> □ Expenses should be detailed on the yellow form attached. □ Mr Bryant's relationship with Miss Walker has been detailed in the press.

◆ details npl GB personal information about somebody, e.g. their name, address, and occupation □ Can I take down your details, sir?

detailed [US dr'teɪld, GB 'di:teɪld] adj [map, report, plan] that is carefully prepared and contains a lot of details □ He gave us very detailed instructions about how to get there.

detain [dɪ'teɪn] vt -1. [suspect] to keep <sb> in a police station for questioning. -2. to delay <sb>, especially by talking to them or keeping them working (formal use).

detainee [ˌdi:teɪ'ni:ə] n a person who is held by the authorities of a country because they are suspected of doing something illegal.

detect [dɪ'tekt] vt -1. to notice <sthg> that is not obvious □ Do I detect a note of irony in your voice? -2. [smoke, aircraft, submarine] to find and show the presence of <sthg> □ The aircraft was detected by radar.

detection [dɪ'tekʃn] n -1. [of an aircraft, submarine] see detect. -2. the act of finding out who committed a crime □ The criminals have so far managed to escape detection. □ The detection rate for burglary went up last year.

detective [dɪ'tektɪv] n a person whose job is to find out who committed a crime.

detective novel n a book that tells the story of a detective who tries to solve a crime.

detector [dɪ'tektəʃ] n a piece of equipment that shows the presence of something □ a smoke/metal detector.

détente [deɪ'tɒnt] n a period of more friendly relations between two countries that have had bad relations for a long time.

detention [dɪ'tenʃn] n -1. [of a suspect, criminal] the act of detaining somebody. ■ to be in detention to be held by the authorities of a country because one is suspected of a crime, especially when the crime is a political one. -2. [of a student] a form of punishment in which a student has to stay at school after normal classes and do extra work □ He was given detention for misbehaving in class.

detention centre n GB a place where young criminals are kept for a period of time as a punishment.

deter [dɪ'tɜː] (pt & pp deterred, cont detering) vt to stop <sb> from doing something by showing the bad things that will happen if they do it □ Her parents' warnings did not deter her from going out every night.

detergent [dɪ'tɜːdʒənt] n a chemical product in the form of a liquid or powder that is used for cleaning things such as clothes.

deteriorate [dɪ'tɪəriəreɪt] vi [health, situation, weather] to become worse, usually over a period of time □ Relations between the two countries have deteriorated in recent months.

deterioration [dɪ,tɪəriə'reɪʃn] n: see deteriorate □ There has been a marked deterioration in OR of living standards.

determination [dɪ,tɜː'mɪ'neɪʃn] n -1. the quality of being prepared to try hard to do something that one has decided to do □ I was impressed by his determination to succeed. -2. [of a cause, boundary] see determine.

determine [dɪ'tɜː'mɪn] vt -1. [location, cause] to find out <sthg> for certain □ We need to determine whether it is worth continuing in this way. -2. [result, outcome, success] to control or decide <sthg> □ These elections could determine the future of the President's domestic policy for the next two years. -3. to determine to do sthg to decide to do sthg (formal use). -4. [price, wage, boundary] to officially decide what <sthg> will be.

determined [dɪ'tɜː'mɪnd] adj -1. [person] who has decided to do something and is prepared to try very hard to do it □ a very determined young man □ You two are determined to ruin the day, aren't you? -2. determined efforts/resistance etc efforts/resistance etc showing a desire to succeed □ a determined fight for survival.

deterrent [US dɪ'tɜːrənt, GB -'ter-] ◇ adj a deterrent effect/action an effect/action that deters somebody from doing something. ◇ n something, e.g. a punishment or weapon, that stops people from doing something by making them afraid of what will happen to them if they do it □ They believe capital punishment acts as a deterrent to crime. □ the nuclear deterrent.

detest [dɪ'test] vt to dislike <sb/sthg> very much □ I detest lies and hypocrisy.

detestable [dɪ'testəbl] adj [person, behavior, attitude] that one detests or finds very unpleasant.

dethrone [dɪ'θrəʊn] vt to remove  from their position of power.

detonate ['detəneɪt] ◇ vt [bomb, explosive device] to make <sthg> explode. ◇ vi: The package detonated in his face.

detonator ['detəneɪtəʃ] n a device that is used to make a bomb explode.

detour ['di:tʊə] n an indirect route between two places that is chosen for a particular purpose, e.g. to avoid traffic □ We made a detour so we could stop off at the gas station.

detox [ˌdi:tɒks] n = detoxification (informal use).

detoxification [ˌdi:tɒksɪfɪ'keɪʃn] n treatment for addiction to alcohol or drugs.

detract [dɪ'trækt] vi to detract from sthg [from a quality, achievement] to make the good aspects of sthg less noticeable or enjoyable □ I'm not going to let that detract from my enjoyment of the evening.

detractor [dɪ'træktəʃ] n one's detractors people who criticize one's achievements.

detrain [di:'treɪn] vi [passenger] to get off a train.

detriment ['detrɪmənt] n to do sthg to the detriment of sb/sthg to do sthg that affects sb/sthg badly without intending to □ We have concentrated on exports to the detriment of our domestic market.

detrimental [di'trɪ'mentl] adj [policy, effect] that causes damage or harm □ This type of image could be detrimental to our sales in certain countries.

detritus [di'traɪtəs] n -1. pieces of waste that are left after something has been used or after something has happened (formal use). -2. GEOLOGY loose material left behind when rocks have eroded.

Detroit [di'trɔɪt] a city in Michigan, USA that is famous for its car industry and popular music. POPULATION: 1,027,974.

deuce [dju:s] n the score of 40 points each in a game of tennis.

Deutschmark [dɔɪtʃmɑ:k], Deutsche Mark [dɔɪtʃmɑ:k] n the unit of currency used in Germany.

devaluation [di:vælju'eɪʃn] n the reduction of the value of something, especially a national currency □ the devaluation of the pound.

devalue [di:'vælju:] vt -1. FINANCE to reduce the value of . -2. [person, achievement] not to treat <sb/sthg> with the respect they deserve.

devastate ['devæsteɪt] vt -1. [area, city] to damage  very badly so that most of the things there are destroyed □ The country has been devastated by floods. -2. to upset and shock <sb> very badly □ He was devastated by the news.

devastated ['devæsteɪtəd] adj -1. [area, city] that has been very badly damaged. -2. to be devastated [person] to be very upset and shocked □ I felt completely devastated when I heard what had happened.

devastating ['devæsteɪtɪŋ] adj -1. [hurricane, earthquake, disaster] that causes a lot of destruction □ the devastating effects of the drought. -2. [remark, argument, shot] that is very effective and difficult for an opponent to deal with □ The Swede responded with a devastating volley. -3. [news, experience] very upsetting and shocking □ It was a devastating blow to the family. -4. [looks, charm] very attractive.

devastation [di'vevəsteɪʃn] n [of an area, city] see devastate □ scenes of devastation.

develop [di'veləp] ◇ vt -1. [business, country, system] to make <sthg> better, more successful, complete etc □ We need to develop our overseas market. □ There are plans to develop tourism in this area. □ We are developing new approaches to the care of the elderly. -2. CONSTRUCTION to build new buildings in  so that it becomes more useful and valuable □ They're developing the old docks as a new residential area. -3. [fault, habit, illness] to gradually get <sthg> □ You've developed a nasty cough. □ The engine developed a problem.

-4. [idea, point] to think, speak, or write about <sthg> so that it becomes clearer and more complete □ a well-developed argument.

-5. PHOTOGRAPHY to use a chemical process to make a photograph appear from <film>; to make  by developing a film □ When I've had the photos developed, I'll bring them over for you.

◇ vi -1. [business, country, story] to become bigger, more advanced, complex etc □ Our friendship developed from that chance meeting/developed into love. -2. [person] to grow physically or become more mature. -3. [problem, trouble] to appear and increase gradually □ Tensions soon developed between the two countries. -4. PHOTOGRAPHY to be developed □ It'll take a few minutes for the film to develop.

developer [di'veləpə] n -1. CONSTRUCTION a person or company that uses land for building on or does work to improve existing buildings in order to make a profit. -2. an early/a late developer a person, especially a child, who develops more quickly/slowly than other people of the same age. -3. PHOTOGRAPHY a chemical used to make photographs from film.

developing country [di'veləpɪŋ-] n a poor country that is trying to improve its industry and agriculture in order to become stronger economically.

development [di'veləpmənt] n -1. [of a product, idea, industry] the process of making something better, more successful, complete etc □ Investment is needed to finance the development of tourism in the region. -2. CONSTRUCTION a project in which land is developed in a particular way; an area of land that is developed by this project □ plans for development of the old docks □ a new property development. -3. [in a situation] a new event or element in a situation, problem etc □ We will be keeping you informed of the latest developments in the hostage crisis. □ a worrying development. -4. [of an illness, habit, fault] the process of getting something gradually.

development area n GB an area with a high level of unemployment that the government tries to encourage companies to invest in.

deviant [di:'viənt] ◇ adj [behavior, tendency] that is different from what is accepted or usual in society □ sexually deviant. ◇ n a person who is deviant in their behavior, especially in a criminal or sexual way.

deviate [di:'vi:ɪt] vi to move away from what is usual, decided, agreed etc □ This deviates from the original agreement.

deviation [di:'vi'eɪʃn] n -1. [in a person] behavior or ideas that are different from what is usual or accepted in society □ sexual deviation. -2. [from a plan] a change from something that is usual, agreed etc □ There must be no deviation from the party line.

device [di:'vaɪs] n -1. a small piece of equipment that has a particular purpose □ a safety/listening device. -2. a plan that is designed for a particular purpose, especially a dishonest one □ It was just a device to get my attention. ■ to leave sb to their own devices to allow sb to think about or do something alone and without interference □ Left to my own devices, I think I'd have done the same.

devil ['devl] n -1. RELIGION an evil spirit □ devil-worship. -2. a word that is used to address or refer to somebody, especially when commenting on something that has happened to them or that they have done (informal use) □ You silly/lucky/poor devil! -3. who/where/why the devil... a phrase used to give emphasis to a question (informal use) □ What the devil are you doing here?

◆ Devil n the Devil in Christianity, the most powerful evil spirit, which is believed to be directly opposed to God.

devilish ['devlɪʃ] adj [scheme, plan] that aims to do something bad in a clever way.

devil-may-care adj [approach, attitude] that seems relaxed and careless.

devil's advocate n a person who presents the opposing point of view in an argument without necessarily supporting it themselves.

devious ['di:vɪəs] adj -1. [person] who tries to get what they want dishonestly, usually by using a secret and complicated plan □ a devious plan/method. -2. [route] that is not direct and so is longer than necessary.

devise [dɪ'vaɪz] vt [plan, system, method] to create <sth> by thinking carefully about it □ We've devised a way of keeping costs down.

devoid [dɪ'vɔɪd] adj to be devoid of sth [of humor, sense, meaning] to be completely without sth (formal use) □ The conference wasn't entirely devoid of interest.

devolution [US ,devə'lu:ʃn, GB ,di:və-] n the transfer of power from a central organization, especially a government, to an organization at a lower level.

devolve [dɪ'vɒlv] vi to devolve (up) on sb [responsibility, duty, work] to be sb's responsibility (formal use) □ It devolves on you to make good use of the available funds.

Devon ['devn] a county in southwestern England. SIZE: 6,712 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,021,100. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Exeter.

devote [dɪ'vəʊt] vt to devote time/energy etc to sth to give a lot of time/energy etc to sth □ They've devoted a lot of money to advertising the new product. ■ to devote oneself to sth to give all of one's time, energy etc to sth □ She devoted herself to her work/studies.

devoted [dɪ'vəʊtəd] adj [person] who cares a lot about somebody or something and so gives them a lot of time, energy etc □ a devoted mother/friend/follower □ He's devoted to his work/children.

devotee [,devə'ti:] n a person who likes somebody or something a lot □ Devotees of Miles Davis will recognize this next track.

devotion [dɪ'vəʊʃn] n -1. [to an ideal, person] a feeling of love and loyalty toward somebody or something □ His devotion to the cause cannot be questioned. -2. [to God, a religion] strong religious belief.

devour [dɪ'vaʊə] vt -1. [person, animal] to eat <food> quickly and greedily □ He devoured one plateful, and then asked for more. -2. [reader] to read  etc quickly and with great interest. -3. [fire] to destroy  etc quickly.

devout [dɪ'vaʊt] adj [person] who believes strongly in a particular religion □ a devout Catholic/Muslim.

dew [dju:] n the drops of water that form on outdoor surfaces during the night.

dexterity [dek'stɛrətɪ] n skill, especially in using one's hands □ a test of manual dexterity.

dexterous ['dekstərəs] adj [person] who shows skill with their hands.

dextrose ['dekstrəʊz] n a form of sugar that is found in fruit and honey.

dextrous ['dekstrəs] adj = dexterous.

DFEE (abbr of Department for Education and Employment) n the DFEE the British government department responsible for education, employment policy, and unemployment benefits.

DI (abbr of donor insemination) n the process of artificial insemination using semen from a donor.

diabetes [US ,daɪə'bitəs, GB -ɪz] n a medical condition in which one has too much sugar in one's blood.

diabetic [,daɪə'betɪk] ◇ adj -1. [person] who suffers from diabetes. -2. [jam, chocolate] that is suitable for a diabetic. ◇ n a person who suffers from diabetes.

diabolic(al) [,daɪə'bɒlɪk(l)] adj -1. [plan, treatment, nature] evil and cruel. -2. [traffic, service] very bad (informal use) □ The food was absolutely diabolical!

diaeresis n GB = dieresis.

diagnose [US 'daɪəgnəʊs, GB -nəʊz] vt -1. MEDICINE to decide that a patient has , especially after examining the symptoms □ Her illness was diagnosed as tonsillitis. -2. [problem, fault] to find or decide the nature of <sth>.

diagnosis [,daɪəg'nəʊsɪs] (pl diagnoses [-ɪ:z]) n: see diagnose □ The doctor gave a diagnosis of pneumonia.

diagnostic [,daɪəg'nɒstɪk] adj MEDICINE [test, investigation, equipment] that is used to find out what illness somebody has.

diagonal [daɪ'ægnəl] ◇ adj [line, path] that is straight and goes between two points that are in opposite corners of a shape, area etc. ◇ n a diagonal line.

diagonally [daɪ'ægnəli] adv [move, go] see diagonal □ The houses are diagonally opposite each other.

diagram ['daɪəgrəm] n a drawing that shows how something works or that represents scientific, mathematical etc information.

diagrammatic [,daɪəgrə'mætɪk] adj [form, representation] that is in the form of a diagram.

dial ['daɪəl] (US pt & pp dialed, cont dialing, GB pt & pp dialled, cont dialling) ◇ n -1. [on a clock] the front part of a watch, clock, meter

- etc that has a pointer and numbers on it and is used for showing measurements of time, speed etc □ I couldn't see the dial clearly in the dark. -2. [on a radio] the round control on a device such as a radio that is turned by hand in order to change the station □ She fiddled with the dial. -3. [on a telephone] the circular part on the front of some telephones that has holes for one's fingers.
- ◇ vt to choose  on a telephone by pressing buttons or turning the dial □ Dial 911 for the emergency services. □ I'm sorry, I must have dialed the wrong number.
- dialect ['daɪləkt] n the form of a language that is spoken in a particular region.
- dialling code ['daɪəlɪŋ] n GB the first part of a telephone number, representing a town or area □ The dialling code for central London is 0171.
- dialling tone n GB = dial tone.
- dialog US, dialogue ['daɪələʒ] n -1. [between people] discussions between people or groups of people who have different opinions, e.g. labor unions and management □ We need dialog in order to find a lasting settlement. -2. [in a play, book] a written conversation, e.g. in a play, book, or movie □ There's a lot of dialog and not much action.
- dial tone US, dialling tone GB n the sound that tells a telephone user that it is possible to make a call.
- dialysis [daɪ'æləsəs] n the process used for removing waste and fluid from the body of a person suffering from kidney problems.
- diamanté [US ,di:əmə'n'teɪ, GB ,daɪə'mɒnteɪ] adj [jewelry] that is covered with small sparkling decorations that look like diamonds.
- diameter [daɪ'æmɪtəʃ] n the length of a straight line that passes from one side of a circle to the other and through its center.
- diametrically [,daɪə'metrɪkəlɪ] adv diametrically opposed [ideas, points of view] that are exactly the opposite of each other.
- diamond ['daɪmənd] n -1. a hard precious stone that is transparent and without color, and is used to make expensive jewelry □ a diamond ring/necklace. ■ a diamond in the rough US a person who has good qualities, but whose appearance or behavior makes them seem aggressive, rude etc. -2. the shape (◇) that is similar to a square but that rests on one of its corners. -3. SPORT the field that a baseball game is played on; the area of the field between the four bases.
- ◆ diamonds npl one of the four suits in a pack of playing cards, with red diamond shapes printed on each card of the suit □ the queen of diamonds.
- diamond anniversary n US a married couple's sixtieth wedding anniversary.
- diamondback ['daɪməndbæk] n a diamondback (rattlesnake) a large poisonous snake that lives in the southern USA.
- diamond wedding n GB = diamond anniversary.
- diaper ['daɪpəʃ] n US a piece of material, e.g. cloth or paper, that is wrapped around the waist and between the legs of a baby to collect urine and feces □ Do you know how to change a diaper?
- diaphanous [daɪ'æfənəs] adj [cloth, dress] that looks very thin and almost transparent.
- diaphragm ['daɪəfræm] n -1. ANATOMY the muscle that is between the chest and the stomach and is used when breathing deeply. -2. MEDICINE a contraceptive used by women that is made of rubber and shaped like a dome, and that fits inside the vagina to prevent sperm from getting into the womb.
- diarrhea US, diarrhoea GB [,daɪə'riə] n an illness that makes one's feces very liquid and makes it necessary to go to the toilet very often.
- diary ['daɪəri] (pl diaries) n -1. a written personal record of events, feelings etc that happen to one in one's day-to-day life □ He kept a diary all his life. -2. GB a book in which space is provided for each day of the year so that appointments and other things to remember can be written in it.
- diatribe ['daɪətraɪb] n a long attack on somebody or something that is written or spoken and expressed in strong terms (formal use) □ He launched into a diatribe against the EU.
- dice [daɪs] (pl dice) ◇ n a small wooden or plastic cube with between one and six dots on each of its sides, used in games □ Throw the dice to see who starts. ■ no dice US (informal use) a phrase used to say "no" when refusing a request; a phrase used to say that an attempt was unsuccessful □ "What did he say?" — "No dice. He's not going to give us the money." ◇ vt [vegetable, meat, cheese] to cut <sth> into small cubes.
- dacey [daɪsɪ] (compar dicier, superl diciest) adj [situation, plan, activity] that could be dangerous or unsuccessful (informal use) □ I wouldn't try skiing down there, it looks dacey to me.
- dichotomy [daɪ'kɒtəmi] (pl dichotomies) n a large difference between two things, e.g. ideas or groups of people (formal use).
- Dickens ['dɪkənz], Charles (1812–1870) a British novelist whose writing drew attention to the conditions of the poor in Victorian Britain. His works include Oliver Twist and David Copperfield.
- Dickinson ['dɪkənsən], Emily (1830–1886) a US poet, who wrote in an experimental style. She is sometimes called "The Belle of Amherst".
- DictaphoneTM ['dɪktəfoʊn] n a piece of equipment used for recording what somebody wants to say, e.g. in a letter or report, so that it can be written down or typed later.
- dictate [vb dɪk'teɪt, n 'dɪkteɪt] ◇ vt -1. [letter, passage] to read or say <sth> aloud so that somebody else can hear it and copy it into written or typed form □ She dictated a letter to her secretary. -2. [terms, conditions] to decide and state <what one wants> in a way that does not allow any opposition □ He dictated when/where the meetings would take place.

-3. [result, outcome, events] to affect or control <sthg> □ Circumstances will dictate whether we get a second chance.

◇ vi -1. to dictate a letter, passage etc □ He was in the middle of dictating to his secretary.

-2. to tell somebody what to do in a way that makes it seem that they have to obey □ Stop trying to dictate to me.

◇ n an order or idea that one feels one has to follow, especially one that is based on a particular ideology □ the dictates of modern society/Marxism.

dictation [dɪk'teɪʃn] n -1. [of a letter, passage] see dictate □ Can you take or do dictation?

-2. [to students] an exercise used in teaching in which students must write down as accurately as possible a text that is read aloud to them □ a French dictation.

dictator [dɪk'teɪtə] n a leader of a country who has complete power and allows no opposition.

dictatorship [US 'dɪktətərʃɪp, GB dɪk'teɪtəʃɪp] n a form of government in which a dictator has power; a country that is ruled by this form of government □ The country has been living under a dictatorship for 50 years. □ It's not the first time they've done business with a dictatorship.

diction ['dɪkʃn] n the quality of somebody's way of speaking □ She's got very good diction.

dictionary [US 'dɪkʃənəri, GB -ʃənəri] (pl dictionaries) n a reference book that contains translations, definitions, or explanations of words in a particular language or specialized subject, in alphabetical order □ an English-Spanish dictionary □ Look it up in the dictionary.

did [dɪd] past tense of do.

didactic [daɪ'dæktɪk] adj [play, story] that is designed to educate people, especially on a moral subject.

iddle ['ɪdl] vt to take or keep money from <sb> unfairly (informal use) □ I've been iddled!

didn't ['dɪdnt] = did not.

die [daɪ] (pt & pp died [daɪd], cont dying, pl sense 2 only dice) ◇ vi -1. [person, animal, plant] to stop living □ He died of cancer. ■ to be dying to be coming closer to death □ She continued to work as normal while her father lay dying in the hospital. ■ to be dying for sthg/to do sthg to want sthg/to do sthg very much (informal use) □ I'm dying for a drink/cigarette. □ They're all dying to meet you. -2. [love, hope, memory] to stop existing □ All hope finally died when I saw her with another man.

◇ n -1. a block of hard metal with a special shape or design on it that is used to make a design on another softer metal. -2. a dice (old-fashioned use).

◆ die away vi [sound, wind] to disappear gradually □ The sound of the police sirens gradually died away.

◆ die down vi [wind, fire, trouble] to become less intense □ When all the fuss has died down, people will forget all about it.

◆ die out vi [language, tradition, species] to stop existing gradually □ The local dialect is in danger of dying out in some areas.

diehard ['daɪhɑːrd] n a person who continues to support or believe in something because of loyalty or unwillingness to accept change □ Republican diehards □ a diehard supporter.

dieresis US, diaeresis GB [daɪ'eresəs] (pl US diereses, GB diaereses [-əsɪz]) n the mark (¨) that is placed above a vowel to show that it is pronounced separately from a vowel immediately before it, as in "naïve".

diesel ['diːzl] n -1. [fuel, oil] a type of fuel that is used especially in trains and trucks and sometimes in cars. -2. [vehicle] a vehicle that uses this fuel.

diesel engine n a car or rail engine that uses diesel as fuel.

diesel fuel, diesel oil n = diesel.

diet ['daɪət] ◇ n -1. the type and quantity of the food and drink that a person usually eats and drinks □ He eats or has a fairly balanced diet. -2. a plan that states what somebody should eat and drink during a period of time, e.g. in order to help them to lose weight or for medical reasons □ a fruit/seven-day diet. ■ to be/go on a diet to eat and drink/start eating and drinking in a controlled way in order to lose weight □ I'll have to go on a diet before my vacation.

◇ comp [food, drink] that contains few calories and is produced for people who are trying to lose weight □ diet cola.

◇ vi to follow a diet □ Susan is always dieting.

dietary [US 'daɪətəri, GB -ətəri] adj [requirements, intake] that is connected with what somebody eats and drinks □ Do any of your guests have special dietary needs?

dietary fiber n fiber in fruit and vegetables that passes through the body without being digested. It can help one's digestion and prevent certain diseases.

dieter ['daɪətə] n a person who is on a diet.

dietician [daɪ'etɪʃn] n a person whose job is to advise people on what to eat and drink in order to be healthy.

differ ['dɪfə] vi -1. [people, ideas, approaches] to be different □ They differ in appearance, but not in character. □ In what way does this text differ from the first? -2. [person] to disagree □ I must differ with you about or on that point. ■ to agree to differ to accept that there is disagreement on a subject and to stop arguing □ Well, we'll just have to agree to differ on that point.

difference ['dɪfrəns] n -1. [between people, things] a way in which one person or thing is not the same as another □ The big difference is that I know what I'm doing. -2. [in a person, thing] a way in which a person or thing is not the same as they were at another time □ I've noticed a difference in your writing. -3. [amount] the amount or degree to which people, things, or numbers are not the same □ There's not much difference between the two parties. ■ to make a difference to affect or change a situation in some way □ The extra hour made quite a difference. □ It makes no dif- ference to me what time you come. ■ to make all the difference to have an effect that changes something completely in a good way □ Having a new car makes all the difference. -4. [in ideas] a cause of disagreement between people □ We have our differences. □ a difference of opinion.

different ['dɪfrənt] adj -1. [person, thing] that is not the same as something or somebody else □ You look different with that haircut. □ It's very different than US or from any other city I've visited. -2. different kinds/times etc more than one separate kind/time etc □ We wrote to him on five different occasions. □ There are a variety of different ways you can cook pork.

differential [ˌdɪfə'renʃl] ◇ adj [rate, charge] that is different for different people, things etc, depending on factors such as age, experience etc. ◇ n -1. a difference in the amount of something, especially in the rate of pay for different workers or for different types of work □ the price differential □ pay differentials. -2. MATH the difference between two values on a scale.

differentiate [ˌdɪfə'renʃiət] ◇ vt to make <two things> different from each other □ What differentiates this car from its competitors? ◇ vi to find the difference between two things □ I'm unable to differentiate between the two.

differently ['dɪfrəntli] adv [feel, think, act] see different □ I look at it differently from you.

difficult ['dɪfɪklt] adj -1. [task, question, language] that is not easy and requires effort or skill □ We find ourselves in a difficult situation. -2. [marriage, period] that is affected by problems and so causes unhappiness or stress □ He's had a difficult life. -3. [person] who is unfriendly or unhelpful, and so is not easy to deal with □ My father can be very difficult.

difficulty ['dɪfɪklti] (pl difficulties) n -1. a problem that affects a process or situation □ We are experiencing financial difficulties at the moment. □ We got him upstairs but not without some difficulty. -2. to have difficulty (in) doing sthg to find it difficult to do sthg □ You should have no difficulty finding the place.

diffidence ['dɪfɪdəns] n: see diffident.

diffident ['dɪfɪdənt] adj [person, manner, voice] that shows a lack of confidence, especially in relation to personal opinions, abilities, and achievements □ He was a quiet, diffident man.

diffuse [adj dɪ'fju:s, vb dɪ'fju:z] ◇ adj -1. [light, population] that is spread out over a large space and is not concentrated in one small area. -2. [thought, speech] vague and unclear. ◇ vt [light, information] to spread <sthg> out in different directions. ◇ vi: These ideas gradually diffused to other parts of Europe.

diffusion [dɪ'fju:ʒn] n: see diffuse.

dig [dɪg] (pt & pp dug, cont digging) ◇ vt -1. [grave, well, tunnel] to make  by removing the earth □ They dug a trench. -2. [garden, flowerbed] to break up earth in  in order to remove weeds, plant seeds etc. -3. to dig sthg into sb/sthg to press sthg against or into sb/sthg □ She dug her nails into his hand. □ He dug me in the ribs with his elbow.

◇ vi -1. to break up or remove earth, rock, sand etc □ They used to dig for gold in those hills. □ Archeologists are digging near the castle.

-2. to dig into sthg to press into sthg □ These shoes are digging into my heels.

◇ n -1. [at a person] an unkind remark. -2. ARCHEOLOGY a place where archeologists are digging.

◆ dig out vt sep -1. to dig sb/sthg out [victim, car] to rescue sb/sthg that is covered with earth, snow etc □ It took rescuers three hours to dig the family out from under the rubble. -2. to dig sthg out [letter, photograph, file] to find sthg that has been left somewhere for a long time (informal use).

◆ dig up vt sep -1. to dig sthg up [tree, potato, bone] to remove sthg from the earth. -2. to dig sthg up [fact, information] to discover sthg that has been hidden or forgotten for a long time (informal use) □ They've dug up all kinds of old stories about her when she was young.

digest [n 'dɑ:dʒest, vb daɪ'dʒest] ◇ vt -1. [meal, fat, starch] to break down <food> inside the body so that it can be used by the body □ I don't digest onions very well. -2. [news, information] to think about and understand <sthg> □ It took me a few minutes to digest what he said. ◇ n a magazine or book that contains pieces of writing that have been made shorter so they are easier to read.

digestible [daɪ'dʒestəbl] adj [food] that can be easily digested.

digestion [daɪ'dʒestʃn] n -1. [of food] the process of digesting food □ A liqueur can aid digestion. -2. [in the body] the digestive system.

digestive [daɪ'dʒestɪv] adj [disorder, juice] see digestion.

digestive biscuit n GB a round wholemeal cookie.

digestive system n the part of the body that digests food, including the stomach and intestine in humans.

digger ['dɪgə] n a machine that is used for digging □ a mechanical digger.

digit ['dɪdʒət] n -1. MATH a number between 0 and 9, written as a figure. -2. ANATOMY a finger or toe (formal use).

digital ['dɪdʒətəl] adj -1. that is in the form of numbers. -2. [clock, device, screen] that shows information by displaying numbers on a screen □ a digital display. -3. digital radio/TV a method of transmitting radio/TV programs that provides a high quality reception and makes it possible to have a large number of stations, and to receive special services.

NOTE: Compare analog.

digital recording n a high-quality recording made by changing sounds into thousands of tiny signals.

digital watch n a watch that has a digital screen.

digitize, -ise ['dɪdʒətaɪz] vt to convert <information> into numbers so that it can be processed by a computer.

dignified [ˈdɪɡnəfaɪd] adj [person, response, behavior] that shows dignity □ It wasn't exactly dignified running after him like that.

dignitary [US ˈdɪɡnətəri, GB -əri] (pl dignitaries) n a person who has an important position in a government or Church □ a visiting/foreign dignitary.

dignity [ˈdɪɡnəti] n -1. [of a person] a calm and serious appearance or manner that makes people have respect for one □ He should be allowed to die with dignity. -2. one's dignity the sense one has of being important □ She felt that typing letters was beneath her dignity.

digress [daɪˈɡres] vi [writer, lecturer, passage] to talk or write about something that is not relevant to one's main subject □ Try not to digress from the main point.

digression [daɪˈɡresn] n a part of a conversation, report etc that digresses □ After numerous digressions, she finally got around to telling us what had actually happened.

dike [daɪk] n -1. a thick wall or bank, especially one built to control flooding. -2. ▼ a lesbian (informal and offensive use).

diktat [US ˈdɪkta:t, GB -tæt] n a harsh order given by a government or ruler.

dilapidated [dɪˈlæpədeɪtəd] adj [house, furniture, car] that is old and in bad condition.

dilate [daɪˈleɪt] ◇ vt [pupils, blood vessel, cervix] to make  bigger or more open, usually for a short time. ◇ vi: These eye drops will make your pupils dilate.

dilated [daɪˈleɪtəd] adj [blood vessel, cervix] that has become bigger and wider.

dilemma [dɪˈlemə] n a situation in which one cannot decide whether to do one thing or another thing □ It's put me in a terrible dilemma; I now can't decide whether to go or not. □ a moral dilemma.

dilettante [US ˌdɪləˈtɑːnt, GB -ˈtæntɪ] (pl dilettantes [US -ˈtɑːnts, GB -ˈtæntɪz] OR dilettanti [US -ˈtɑːntɪ, GB -ˈtæntɪ]) n a person who one thinks is not very interested in an activity or not very good at it (disapproving use).

diligent [ˈdɪlɪdʒənt] adj [student, official] who is careful and works hard □ I appreciate your diligent efforts on my behalf.

dill [dɪl] n a herb with green leaves, used to add flavor to food such as soup or pickle.

dillydally [ˈdɪlɪdæli] (pt & pp dillydallied) vi to waste time (informal use).

dilute [daɪˈlu:t] ◇ vt [acid, drink] to make  less strong by adding another liquid to it, usually water □ wine diluted with water □ 'Dilute to taste.' ◇ adj [acid, drink] that has been diluted.

dilution [daɪˈluːʃn] n: see dilute.

dim [dɪm] (compar dimmer, superl dimmest, pt & pp dimmed, cont dimming) ◇ adj -1. [light, room] that is not very bright □ The room was lit by one dim light bulb. -2. [shape, outline] that cannot be seen clearly; [feeling, memory] that is not clear in one's mind □ a dim figure on the horizon □ I had only a dim recollection of having been there before. -3. [eyes] that do not see clearly because one is old or is crying □

His sight is growing dim. -4. to take a dim view of sthg to disapprove of sthg □ Your boss would take a dim view of you being late if he knew. -5. [person, idea] that is not intelligent (informal use).

◇ vt -1. [light, room] to make <sthg> less bright. -2. to dim one's headlights OR lights US to switch one's car headlights so that they point downward and not in the eyes of other drivers.

◇ vi -1. [light, room] The lights dimmed all around the hall. -2. [hope, memory] to become weaker.

DiMaggio [dɪˈmædʒɪoʊ], Joe (1914–) a US baseball player who was married to Marilyn Monroe.

dime [daɪm] n US -1. a small coin worth 10 cents. -2. they're a dime a dozen they're not valuable or special, because there are a lot of them.

dimension [daɪˈmenʃn] n -1. [of an object, room] a measurement of the height, length, width, or depth of something □ He wrote down the dimensions of the bookcase. -2. [of a problem, subject] a particular aspect of something that can be thought about □ The book opens up a whole new dimension of thought.

diminish [dɪˈmɪnɪʃ] ◇ vt [importance, popularity, feeling] to make <sthg> smaller or weaker □ Nothing can never diminish the horror of what those people suffered. ◇ vi [importance, popularity, feeling] Their share of the market has diminished.

diminished [dɪˈmɪnɪʃt] adj [profit, role] that has become smaller.

diminished responsibility n LAW the fact that a person was mentally ill when they committed a crime, so that they deserve a less severe punishment □ He was found not guilty on the grounds of diminished responsibility.

diminishing returns [dɪˈmɪnɪʃɪŋ-] npl the idea that it is not worth continuing something because a lot of work is always needed to do it, and the results will keep getting smaller.

diminutive [dɪˈmɪnɪjətɪv] ◇ adj [person, animal, object] very small (literary use). ◇ n a word formed by adding an ending to a word to show that it is small, e.g. piglet, duckling.

dimly [ˈdɪmli] adv [see, remember] see dim □ I dimly remembered her mentioning something when we were at the party. ■ dimly-lit [room, bar] that has little light.

dimmer [ˈdɪmə] n -1. a device that makes it possible to change the brightness of an electric light. -2. a switch that makes the headlights on a car point downward.

dimmer switch n = dimmer.

dimple [ˈdɪmpl] n a small hollow in one's cheek or chin that is usually considered attractive.

dimwit [ˈdɪmwɪt] n a person who is not very intelligent (informal use).

dim-witted [-ˈwɪtəd] adj [person] who is not very intelligent (informal use).

- din [dɪn] n a loud unpleasant noise that lasts a long time (informal use) □ What a din!
- dine [daɪn] vi to eat dinner (formal use).
- ◆ dine out vi to eat dinner in a restaurant or at somebody else's house □ Do you want to eat in or dine out tonight?
- diner ['daɪnə] n -1. a person who is eating a meal, especially in a restaurant. -2. US a small restaurant where meals are cooked and served quickly.
-
- ♥ DINER
- Diners are found mainly on highways in the USA, but most towns also have a diner. They are open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner, and specialize in cheap hot food such as hamburgers and ham and eggs. The first diners were converted railroad cars, and many modern diners are still designed in the same way.
-
- dingdong ['dɪŋdɒŋ] n a word used to represent the noise made by a bell ringing.
- dinghy ['dɪŋɡɪ] (pl dinghies) n a small boat for rowing or sailing or a motorboat.
- dingo ['dɪŋɡəʊ] (pl dingoes) n an Australian wild dog.
- dingy ['dɪŋdʒɪ] (compar dingier, superl dingiest) adj [room, area] that looks dirty and dark □ They live in a dark and dingy little apartment.
- dining car ['daɪnɪŋ-] n a car on a train where meals are served.
- dining room n a room in a house or hotel where meals are eaten.
- dining table n a large table on which meals are eaten.
- dinkum ['dɪŋkəm] adj AUS genuine or honest (informal use).
- dinner ['dɪnə] n -1. [at home] the main meal of the day, eaten in the evening or the middle of the day; [in a restaurant, hotel] the meal served in the evening □ Come on, I'll take you out for dinner! □ What's for dinner? -2. [at a club, organization] a formal evening meal □ Are you going to the annual dinner?
- dinner dance n a formal evening meal for a large number of people, usually at a restaurant or hotel, followed by dancing.
- dinner jacket n a man's black jacket worn for formal evening occasions.
- dinner lady n GB a woman whose job is to prepare and serve meals in a school.
- dinner party n an evening party at somebody's house for a small number of guests at which dinner is served □ I'm having a dinner party next week.
- dinner service n a set of matching plates, bowls, cups etc.
- dinner table n at the dinner table while dinner is being eaten □ You shouldn't read at the dinner table.
- dinnertime ['dɪnə'taɪm] n the time at which dinner is eaten □ Come on, Joe, it's dinnertime!
- dinosaur ['daɪnəsəʊ] n any of several types of often very large reptiles that lived on the Earth millions of years ago and no longer exist □ dinosaur bones.
- dint [daɪnt] n by dint of sth by means of sth (formal use) □ She succeeded by dint of sheer courage and determination.
- diocese ['daɪəsəs] n the area under the control of a bishop.
- diode ['daɪəʊd] n a device used in electrical circuits to change alternating current to direct current.
- Dionysus [ˌdaɪə'najsəs] the Greek god of wine and fertility.
- dip [dɪp] (vt & pp dipped, cont dipping) ◇ vt
- 1. to dip sth in(to) sth [in water, a drink] to put sth into sth for a short time □ Dip the strawberries in melted chocolate. -2. to dip one's headlights OR lights GB to switch one's car headlights so that they shine downward and not in the eyes of other drivers.
- ◇ vi -1. [plane, bird] to move downward suddenly. -2. [road, ground, sales] to drop in level suddenly.
- ◇ n -1. [in the ground] a slight drop in the level of the ground □ There's a dip in the road just ahead. -2. [for food] a thick sauce eaten with small pieces of food that are dipped into it □ a cheese/avocado dip. -3. to go for a dip to go for a short swim.
- Dip GB abbr of diploma.
- diphtheria [dɪf'θɪəriə] n a serious disease that makes the throat swell and makes breathing difficult.
- diphthong ['dɪfθɒŋ] n a sound in speech made by pronouncing two vowels one after the other as if they were one vowel, e.g. "ou" in "shout".
- diploma [dɪ'pləʊmə] (pl diplomas) n -1. a document showing that a student has completed their studies at high school or college. -2. GB a document given to somebody who has successfully completed a course of study or passed an exam.
- diplomacy [dɪ'pləʊməsi] n -1. [between countries] the process of keeping peaceful relations between countries. -2. [with people] the ability to deal skillfully and politely with people in difficult situations □ He acted with great tact and diplomacy.
- diplomat ['dɪpləmət] n -1. [of a country] an official representative of a government in a foreign country □ a career diplomat. -2. a tactful person □ You're such a diplomat.
- diplomatic [ˌdɪplə'mætɪk] adj [service, behavior, person] see diplomacy □ Diplomatic efforts are being stepped up on their behalf. □ You could have been more diplomatic about telling her she was wrong.
- diplomatic bag n a bag, used to send documents to and from an embassy or consulate, that customs officials are not allowed to open.
- diplomatic corps n all the diplomats living and working in a country.
- diplomatic immunity n the right of diplomats not to pay taxes or be charged with a criminal offense in the country where they are working.

diplomatic relations npl the relationship between two governments that exists when they have diplomats in each other's country □ They have established/broken off diplomatic relations with Iraq.

dipsomaniac [ˌdɪpsə'meɪniæk] n a person who cannot control their desire for alcohol.

dipstick ['dɪpstɪk] n AUTO a stick with a scale marked on it to show how much liquid is in a container, especially how much oil is in a car engine.

dipswitch ['dɪpswɪtʃ] n GB the device used to make car headlights shine downward.

dire ['daɪə] adj [need, consequences, warning] very serious □ a dire shortage of medical supplies □ These socks are in dire need of mending.

direct [də'rekt] ◊ adj -1. [route, line] that goes straight to a particular place without stopping or changing direction □ a direct flight to Cairo. -2. [access, contact, control] that does not involve anybody or anything else in between □ As manager, she has direct control over finances and forward planning. □ I've had direct experience of such problems myself. □ Public opinion has a direct influence over policy. -3. [result, response] that follows immediately and only from a particular thing □ The product was withdrawn as a direct consequence of the protests. -4. [answer, manner, person] that is clear and easy to understand, but can offend people by not being polite enough □ She asked some very direct questions. -5. [attack, challenge, threat] that goes straight to the person or place it is aimed at □ The move is seen as a direct attack on the premier's leadership. -6. direct sunlight/heat strong sunlight/heat that can damage people or things □ 'Do not store in direct sunlight.' -7. the direct opposite something that is completely the opposite of something else □ That's the direct opposite of the truth! -8. a direct descendant of sb a person who is descended from sb through their parents, grandparents etc □ Hulse is a direct descendant of the 16th-century Admiral Hulse.

◊ vt -1. [question, message, attention] to aim <sth> at a particular person, thing, or place □ The campaign is directed at teenagers. □ Our efforts should be directed toward helping these people more. -2. [tourist, foreigner] to tell <sb> how to get to a particular place □ Can you direct me to the station, please? -3. [project, company, campaign] to be in charge of <sth> □ Mr Bonnell, 38, is directing research on behalf of L.R.C. -4. CINEMA, TV & THEATER to be the director of  □ He's directing "Aida" at the Sydney Opera House. -5. to direct sb to do sth to tell sb to do sth, especially officially.

◊ adv [come, go] without stopping or going anywhere else on the way □ We flew direct to Houston. □ I came direct from the hospital. -2. BUSINESS [buy, sell] without involving another company, so that there are fewer costs □ We buy all our equipment direct from the factory. -3. [call, dial] without having to go through a switchboard or operator first □ You can ring me direct on extension 0448.

direct action n action, e.g. strikes, organized by unions or groups of workers in order to get what they want from their employers or the government.

direct current n an electric current that is continuous and flows from a battery in one direction only.

direct debit n GB an arrangement that somebody can have with their bank to pay money from their account to an organization or person at regular times □ I pay all my bills by direct debit.

direct dialing [-'daɪəlɪŋ] n the system that allows one to make long-distance telephone calls without the help of the operator.

direct hit n the act of hitting all of something with a bomb or other missile.

direction [də'rekʃn] n -1. the way that somebody or something goes when they move toward a particular place or state □ She went in the direction of the river. □ European military policy is taking a new direction. □ His life lacks direction. -2. under the direction of sb/sthg under the control of sb/sthg □ The project was completed under the direction of the company head, Malcolm McManus. -3. [of a play, movie, TV program] see direct.

◆ directions npl -1. [to a place] instructions telling somebody how to get to a place □ Can you give me directions from here to Fifth Avenue? -2. [for a product] instructions on the box, jar etc of a product that tell one how to use it □ Read the directions before use.

directive [də'rektɪv] n an official order □ an EU directive.

directly [də'rektli] adv -1. [look, travel, go] in a straight line, and without stopping or changing direction □ She looked directly at me. □ He's directly descended from Leo Tolstoy. -2. [answer, say] in a way that is easy to understand and does not hide anything □ I can't answer that question directly. -3. directly behind/above etc exactly behind/above etc □ My apartment is directly underneath hers. □ The bank is directly opposite the mosque. -4. directly before/after immediately before/after □ He left directly before you arrived. -5. [arrive, start] very soon □ I'll be with you directly.

direct mail n a way of selling products or services by sending letters that contain advertisements to people.

director [də'rektə] n -1. [of a company, project] a person chosen by the people who own a company, whose job is to help run it □ the board of directors. -2. CINEMA, TV & THEATER the person who tells the actors, cameramen etc what to do when rehearsing a play or making a movie.

directorate [də'rektərət] n a group of directors who control a company or organization.

director-general (pl directors-general OR director-generals) n the head of a large organization □ the Director-General of the BBC.

- Director of Public Prosecutions n GB the Director of Public Prosecutions the government official who prosecutes in all cases brought by the police and advises government departments whether prosecutions should be started.
- directorship [də'rektərɪʃɪp] n the position of director of a company; the period of time spent by somebody in this position.
- directory [də'rektəri] (pl directories) n -1. a book containing a list of the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of people, companies, organizations etc □ a telephone directory □ a business directory. -2. COMPUTING a list of files that have been put in the same area of a disk to make them easier to find.
- directory assistance US, directory enquiries GB n the service one calls to find out somebody's telephone number.
- direct rule n a system in which a government in one place rules an area somewhere else that used to rule itself.
- direct selling n a way of selling in which manufacturers sell products to customers without selling them to stores first.
- direct speech n the way of telling people what somebody else has said or written by writing their exact words.
- direct taxation n the system by which taxes are paid by people, companies etc and not on goods and services that are sold.
- dire straits npl to be in dire straits to be in a difficult or dangerous situation □ Peel's has been in dire financial straits for some time now.
- dirge [dɜ:'dʒ] n a slow sad song, usually sung when somebody has died.
- dirt [dɜ:'tɪ] n -1. [on clothes, a person] any substance such as mud, dust, or soil that one removes from a surface, fabric, or part of the body in order to keep it clean □ She came in covered in dirt. -2. [on the ground] loose earth, e.g. in a garden or field.
- dirt cheap (informal use) ◇ adj very cheap. ◇ adv: I bought it dirt cheap.
- dirt track n a track used for some types of motorcycle race.
- dirty ['dɜ:'tɪ] (compar dirtier, superl dirtiest, pt & pp dirtied) ◇ adj -1. [hands, floor] not clean □ Try not to get your clothes dirty. -2. [business, deal] dishonest; [trick] cruel. -3. [book, language] that is connected with sex in an offensive way □ He told a dirty joke. ◇ vt [floor, hands] to make <sthg> dirty.
- disability [ˌdɪsə'bɪlətɪ] (pl disabilities) n the state of being unable to use one's body completely or move around normally; a physical illness or condition that causes this, e.g. deafness □ a disability allowance.
- disable [dɪs'eɪbl] vt [illness, accident] to cause <sb> to have a physical disability □ Kevin was left disabled after a motorcycle accident.
- disabled [dɪs'eɪblɪd] ◇ adj [person] who has a disability □ She's severely disabled. ◇ npl the disabled people who are disabled □ parking/access for the disabled.
- disablement [dɪs'eɪblmənt] n: see disable.
- disabuse [ˌdɪsə'bjuːz] vt to disabuse sb of sth [of an idea, belief] to tell sb that sth that they believe is wrong (formal use) □ I soon disabused him of THAT idea!
- disadvantage [US ˌdɪsəd'ventɪdʒ, GB -'vɑːnt-] n something that causes somebody or something to have a problem that other people or things do not have □ The major disadvantage of this model is its size. ■ to be at a disadvantage to have a particular disadvantage □ Women are at a disadvantage when it comes to lifting heavy weights. ■ to be to one's disadvantage to cause one to be at a disadvantage □ His lack of experience was to his disadvantage.
- disadvantaged [US ˌdɪsəd'ventɪdʒd, GB -'vɑːnt-] adj [person] who lives in bad conditions because they are poor.
- disaffected [ˌdɪsə'fektəd] adj [member, soldier] who no longer supports an organization, a political party etc.
- disaffection [ˌdɪsə'fekʃn] n [of a member, soldier] the state of being disaffected.
- disagree [ˌdɪsə'ɡriː] vi -1. [person] to have different opinions or argue about something □ We disagree on most issues. □ My parents and I disagree about OR over politics. □ I disagree with him/the proposals. -2. [statements, accounts, results] to be different from each other □ Our totals disagree. -3. to disagree with sb [food, drink] to make sb feel ill □ Something I ate disagreed with me.
- disagreeable [ˌdɪsə'ɡriːəbl] adj [smell, job, person] unpleasant.
- disagreement [ˌdɪsə'ɡriːmənt] n an argument or situation in which people disagree about something □ We're in disagreement over the new sales policy. □ They had a disagreement over money.
- disallow [ˌdɪsə'laʊ] vt -1. [appeal, claim] to refuse to allow <sthg> (formal use). -2. SPORT to refuse to allow .
- disappear [ˌdɪsə'pɪə] vi -1. [person, object, car] to no longer be able to be seen or found □ The plane gradually disappeared from sight. □ The sun disappeared behind a cloud. □ Mrs Schneider disappeared while on vacation. □ My pencil keeps disappearing from my desk. □ Where did you disappear to? -2. [custom, threat, species] to stop existing □ Dinosaurs disappeared from the Earth millions of years ago.
- disappearance [ˌdɪsə'pɪərəns] n: see disappear □ Officials are investigating the disappearance of large sums of money from the account.
- disappoint [ˌdɪsə'pɔɪnt] vt to make <sb> disappointed □ I didn't want to disappoint them by not going to the party. □ I was disappointed by the result.
- disappointed [ˌdɪsə'pɔɪntəd] adj [person] who is unhappy because somebody has not done what they want or something has not happened the way they want □ She was disappointed in OR with her exam results. □ We were disappointed at OR about the news.
- disappointing [ˌdɪsə'pɔɪntɪŋ] adj [result, performance, behavior] that makes one disappointed □ The response has been disappointing.

disappointment [ˌdɪsəˈpɔɪntmənt] n -1. the feeling that one has when one is disappointed □ I tried to hide my disappointment. -2. to be a disappointment to be disappointing □ The vacation was a real disappointment. □ I hope I wasn't a disappointment to you.

disapproval [ˌdɪsəˈpruːvəl] n the feeling one has when one disapproves of somebody or something □ He frowned in disapproval.

disapprove [ˌdɪsəˈpruːv] vi to disapprove of sb/sthg to dislike sb/sthg because one thinks they are not acceptable or suitable □ My mother's always disapproved of the way I dress.

disapproving [ˌdɪsəˈpruːvɪŋ] adj [look, person] that shows disapproval.

disarm [dɪsˈɑːrm] ◇ vt -1. [criminal, attacker] to take a weapon from <sb>. -2. [critic, audience] to stop <sb> from being angry with one or not liking one, usually by being pleasant. ◇ vi [country] to reduce the size and power of its armed forces.

disarmament [dɪsˈɑːrmənt] n [of a country] see disarm □ nuclear disarmament.

disarming [dɪsˈɑːrmɪŋ] adj [smile, person, honesty] that makes somebody like or trust one immediately.

disarray [ˌdɪsəˈreɪ] n to be in disarray [clothes, hair] to be untidy; [organization, government] to be in a state of confusion and not know what to do (formal use) □ When I returned, the room was in complete disarray. □ The election has left the Republicans in disarray.

disassociate [ˌdɪsəˈsoʊʃieɪt] vt to disassociate oneself from sb/sthg [from an organization, policy] to show that one is not connected with sb/sthg □ Campbell had moved to disassociate himself from the more extreme wing of his party.

disaster [US dɪˈzæstər, GB ˈ-zɑːstə] n -1. a harmful or destructive event □ an air disaster □ The area is prone to natural disasters. -2. something which has very serious consequences for somebody □ The recession meant financial disaster for a number of small enterprises. -3. a failure (informal use) □ You're/It's a complete disaster!

disaster area n an area where a disaster such as an earthquake has just occurred.

disastrous [US dɪˈzæstrəs, GB ˈ-zɑːst-] adj [event, results, effect] extremely bad □ The fax was never sent, with disastrous consequences.

disastrously [US dɪˈzæstrəsli, GB ˈ-zɑːst-] adv [fail, perform] see disastrous □ It happened at a disastrously bad time. □ Everything went disastrously wrong.

disband [dɪsˈbænd] ◇ vt [group, army] to stop <an organization> from existing. ◇ vi: The group disbanded.

disbelief [ˌdɪsbɪˈliːf] n in OR with disbelief in a way that shows that one does not believe something is true □ Monica looked at him in sheer disbelief.

disbelieve [ˌdɪsbɪˈliːv] vt [person, story] to refuse to believe <sb/sthg>.

disc n GB -1. = disk. -2. MUSIC a record for playing on a record player.

discard [dɪsˈkɑːrd] vt [object, clothes] to get rid of <sthg that is useless>.

discarded [dɪsˈkɑːrdəd] adj [object, piece of clothing] that has been left somewhere by somebody who has discarded it.

disc brake n a type of brake that works by two disks pressing against each other in the center of a car wheel.

discern [dɪˈsɜːn] vt -1. [figure, shape] to see <sthg> by looking carefully □ I could just discern a vague shape in the darkness. -2. [difference, improvement, reason] to notice or understand <sthg> □ I had discerned a small change in his attitude during recent weeks.

discernible [dɪˈsɜːnəbl] adj [shape, improvement, difference] that can be discerned □ The scar was barely discernible under his hair.

discerning [dɪˈsɜːnɪŋ] adj [person] who has good taste or judgment.

discharge [n ˈdɪstʃɑːrdʒ, vt dɪsˈtʃɑːrdʒ] ◇ n -1. [from an organization] the release of somebody from an institution or organization, e.g. a hospital, prison, or the armed services. -2. [of one's duty] the act of doing one's duty, responsibility etc completely and properly (formal use). -3. [of sewage] the release into the surrounding area of sewage, pollution, chemicals etc. -4. MEDICINE any liquid that is released from a wound or an opening in one's body when one has an infection □ a nasal/vaginal discharge. -5. [of a debt] payment (formal use).

◇ vt -1. [patient, prisoner] to allow <sb> to leave a hospital, prison etc; [soldier, sailor] to allow <sb> to leave the army, navy etc □ He was discharged from hospital yesterday. -2. [duty, responsibility] to do <sthg that one has to do> completely and properly (formal use). -3. [smoke, sewage, pollution] to release <sthg> into the air or the surrounding area □ These chemicals are discharged directly into the atmosphere. -4. to discharge a debt to pay a debt (formal use).

discharged bankrupt [dɪsˈtʃɑːrdʒd-] n a person who was bankrupt and can legally do business again.

disciple [dɪˈsaɪpl] n -1. [in Christianity] one of the 12 early followers of Jesus Christ. -2. a follower of a great teacher of religion, political thought etc □ a disciple of Karl Marx.

disciplinarian [ˌdɪsəplɪˈneəriən] n a person who makes people behave in a disciplined way □ My father was a strict disciplinarian.

disciplinary [US ˈdɪsəplənəri, GB -plɪnəri] adj [measure, procedure] that is designed to punish people for not obeying rules, or to force them to obey rules. ■ to take disciplinary action against sb to punish sb formally for having done something wrong, especially at work □ Disciplinary action will be taken.

discipline [ˈdɪsəplɪn] ◇ n -1. good behavior which comes from obeying rules □ Teachers must maintain discipline in the classroom. □ good discipline. -2. [in an activity] the use of rules that make people behave correctly and do what one thinks is right □ Discipline is essential to the smooth running of the company. □ He im-

- poses strict discipline on team members. -3. [at school] a subject that people study □ a scientific discipline. ◇ vt -1. [children, staff, regiment] to impose a system of rules for behavior on <sb>. -2. [employee, child, pupil] to punish <sb> in order to maintain control.
- disciplined ['dɪsəplɪnd] adj [person, routine] that follows a fixed system of rules □ Our soldiers are highly disciplined. □ a strict, disciplined diet.
- disc jockey n a person whose job is to introduce and play records on the radio or at a disco.
- disclaim [dɪs'kleɪm] vt [knowledge, responsibility] to refuse to accept that one has <sthg> (formal use) □ The company disclaims all responsibility for customers' private property.
- disclaimer [dɪs'kleɪmə] n a statement that disclaims knowledge, responsibility etc □ The newspaper issued a disclaimer.
- disclose [dɪs'kloʊz] vt [evidence, detail, information] to tell somebody about <sthg that is secret> □ I am not at liberty to disclose the source of my information.
- disclosure [dɪs'kloʊʒə] n -1. to make a disclosure to disclose a fact to a newspaper, interviewer etc. -2. [of evidence, information] see disclose.
- disco ['dɪskou] (pl discos) n -1. a party where people dance to records □ We're having a disco on Saturday night. -2. MUSIC a type of dance music that became popular in the 1970s. -3. a place where people dance to recorded music (old-fashioned use).
- discolor US, discolour GB [dɪs'kʌlə] ◇ vt [teeth, fabric, surface] to make <sthg> lose its original color, especially so that it looks unpleasant □ The poster was faded and discolored by the sun. ◇ vi [teeth, fabric, paint] This material may discolor if exposed to direct sunlight.
- discoloration [dɪs,kʌlə'reɪʃn] n: see discolor □ Bleach may cause slight discoloration.
- discolored US, discoloured GB [dɪs'kʌləd] adj [teeth, fabric, surface] that has changed color because something has discolored it.
- discomfort [dɪs'kʌmfə't] n -1. [in one's back, feet] slight pain □ New shoes often cause a little discomfort at first. □ You will feel some discomfort after the operation. -2. [of a person] a feeling of embarrassment or anxiety □ Their kindness only added to my discomfort.
- disconcert [dɪskən'sɜ:ʃt] vt to make <sb> feel uncomfortable or worried □ Her silence disconcerted me considerably.
- disconcerting [dɪskən'sɜ:ʃtɪŋ] adj [silence, stare] that disconcerts one □ He had a disconcerting habit of laughing after everything he said.
- disconnect [dɪskə'nekt] vt -1. [hosepipe, wire] to undo <sthg> □ Disconnect the nozzle from the end of the pipe. -2. [washing machine, heater] to remove the plug of <an appliance or device> from a socket so that no electricity or gas reaches it □ 'Disconnect plug before removing cover.' -3. [gas, electricity, telephone] to stop <sthg> from working in a building because the people there have not paid their bills or are leaving □ Our phone's been disconnected. -4. [caller] to end a conversation on the telephone of <sb> by interrupting the line □ We were suddenly disconnected.
- disconnected [dɪskə'nektəd] adj -1. [thoughts, remarks] that are not connected in a logical way □ The poem is a series of seemingly disconnected images. -2. [telephone, wire] that has been disconnected □ One of the wires had become disconnected.
- disconsolate [dɪs'kɒnsələt] adj [person] who is very unhappy or disappointed □ Don't look so disconsolate!
- discontent [dɪskən'tent] n a feeling one has when one is not satisfied □ There is growing discontent among senior staff.
- discontented [dɪskən'tentəd] adj [staff, youth] who is not satisfied with something □ I became increasingly discontented with married life.
- discontinue [dɪskən'tɪnju:] vt [service, supply] to stop <sthg> after it has happened regularly or existed for a period of time □ This product has been discontinued.
- discontinued line [dɪskən,tɪnju:d] n a product that is no longer being sold or made.
- discord ['dɪskɔ:d] n -1. a lack of agreement between people that causes problems. -2. MUSIC the strange or unpleasant sound made when notes that do not go well together are played at the same time.
- discordant [dɪs'kɔ:dənt] adj [opinions, points of view, music] see discord.
- discotheque ['dɪskətek] n a place where people dance to recorded pop music (old-fashioned use).
- discount [n 'dɪskaʊnt, vb US 'dɪskaʊnt, GB dɪs'kaʊnt] ◇ n a reduction in the price of something □ a 10% discount □ We offer a discount on all goods over $50. □ a staff discount. ◇ vt -1. [report, claim, story] to say or decide that <sthg> is unimportant or untrue and no longer consider it. -2. BUSINESS to lower the price of .
- discount house n -1. = discount store. -2. a financial organization that specializes in discounting bills of exchange.
- discount store n a store that sells goods at a low price.
- discourage [US dɪs'kɜ:ɪdʒ, GB -'kʌr-] vt -1. [person] to make <sb> lose their enthusiasm and willingness to do something □ I felt discouraged by their lack of interest. -2. [action, behavior] to try to stop <sthg> by making it difficult or by showing one's disapproval □ We are trying to discourage smoking. □ They've installed closed-circuit television to discourage shoplifters. □ This type of diet should be discouraged. □ They discouraged him from seeing her.
- discouraging [US dɪs'kɜ:ɪdʒɪŋ, GB -'kʌr-] adj [result, remark, sign] that discourages one □ The response so far has been discouraging.
- discourse ['dɪskɔ:s] n -1. [about something] a serious speech or piece of writing about a particular subject (formal use) □ a lengthy discourse on the subject of Eastern philosophy. -2. [between people] spoken or written discussion between people (formal use). -3.

LINGUISTICS written or spoken units of language of more than one sentence.

discourteous [dɪs'kɜ:tjəs] adj [person, behavior] that is not polite (formal use).

discourtesy [dɪs'kɜ:təsɪ] n: see discourteous.

discover [dɪ'skʌvə] vt -1. [continent, process, product] to be the first person to find <sthg> that is important and that already existed □ When was the planet Pluto discovered? -2. [object, person] to find <sb/sthg>, especially when one is not looking for them; [fact] to learn or realize <sthg> □ The money was discovered in a disused warehouse. □ Have you discovered the cause of the problem? □ When did you discover that the keys were missing? -3. [country, activity] to visit, learn etc <sthg> oneself for the first time □ 'Discover the Greek Islands.' □ I discovered the joys of painting. -4. [artist, athlete] to recognize the ability or talent of <sb> and help them to become successful □ He's still waiting to be discovered.

discoverer [dɪ'skʌvərə] n the first person to discover a continent, process etc.

discovery [dɪ'skʌvəri] (pl discoveries) n -1. something that has been discovered □ Scientists have made an important scientific discovery. -2. see discover □ The discovery of the murder weapon gave the police a vital clue.

discredit [dɪs'kredət] ◇ vt -1. [politician, company] to make <sb> lose the respect and trust of other people □ The government has been discredited by the recent spate of scandals. -2. [idea, theory] to make people lose their trust or belief in <sthg> □ Their findings have been largely discredited by more recent research. ◇ n a loss of respect or the trust of other people □ He brought discredit on the company. □ Much to his discredit, he lied about the money.

discreet [dɪ'skri:t] adj [person] who is careful about what they say or do in order to avoid attracting too much attention, upsetting other people etc □ I made a few discreet enquiries about her background.

discreetly [dɪ'skri:tli] adv [enquire, enter, leave] see discreet □ I coughed discreetly.

discrepancy [dɪs'krepənsɪ] (pl discrepancies) n a difference between two things that one expects to be the same □ a discrepancy in the figures □ There were a number of discrepancies between the two versions.

discrete [dɪ'skri:t] adj [objects, units, ideas] that are separate and independent (formal use).

discretion [dɪ'skreʃn] n -1. [of a person] good judgment or tact □ a man of discretion. -2. one's discretion the ability to decide what it is best to do in a particular situation □ I'll leave the timing of the announcement to your discretion. □ Use your discretion in borderline cases. ■ at the discretion of sb depending on the decision of sb □ Visitors are admitted at the discretion of the management.

discretionary [US dɪ'skreʃənəri, GB -ənri] adj [award, payment] that is given when it is considered to be appropriate rather than according to any particular rules.

discriminate [dɪ'skrɪmɪneɪt] vi -1. to discriminate between people/things to see or make a difference between people/things □ He seems unable to discriminate between right and wrong. -2. to discriminate against sb to treat sb differently from other people in a way that is unfair □ Many people are still being racially/sexually discriminated against.

discriminating [dɪ'skrɪmɪneɪtɪŋ] adj [person, taste, audience] that shows an ability to judge the difference between good and bad quality □ I would hardly call his taste in women discriminating.

discrimination [dɪ'skrɪmɪ'neɪʃn] n -1. [against a person] different treatment of a person or group that is unfair □ She was a victim of racial/sexual discrimination. -2. [in choosing something] the ability to judge the quality of something accurately □ He shows no discrimination in the company he keeps.

discus ['dɪskəs] (pl discuses) n a disk thrown by athletes in a competition.

discuss [dɪ'skʌs] vt [subject, plan] to exchange opinions and ideas about <sthg> in speech or writing, usually in order to make a decision □ The issue was never properly discussed. □ I'll have to discuss that with my partners first.

discussion [dɪ'skʌʃn] n -1. the act of exchanging opinions on a subject, plan etc, usually in order to make a decision □ There was much discussion about which route would be the best. ■ to be under discussion to be being discussed □ The plans are under discussion. -2. an exchange of opinions on a subject, plan etc, usually in order to make a decision □ Many discussions on this matter have been held. □ The report contained a discussion of the recent findings.

disdain [dɪs'deɪn] (formal use) ◇ n a feeling of dislike or disapproval for somebody or something that one thinks is not worth considering. ◇ vt -1. [invitation, offer, attempt] to show disdain for <sthg>. -2. to disdain to do sthg to refuse to do sthg because one thinks that it is not worth considering.

disdainful [dɪs'deɪnfʌl] adj [person, look, manner] that shows disdain for somebody or something.

disease [dɪ'zɪz] n -1. [of a person, animal] an illness in a human, animal, or plant that is usually caused by an infection rather than an accident □ Cholera is a common tropical disease. □ It is hoped that the vaccination program will help halt the spread of the disease. -2. [of society] a condition, situation etc that is considered to be harmful □ Violent crime is largely a disease of the inner city.

diseased [dɪ'zɪ:zd] adj -1. [body, organ, plant] that is suffering from a disease. -2. [mind] that is not normal or healthy.

disembark [,dɪsɪm'ba:k] vi to leave a plane or ship.

disembarkation [,dɪsɪmba:k'eɪʃn] n the act of leaving a plane or ship.

disembodied [,dɪsɪm'bɒdɪd] adj [voice, spirit, head] that exists or seems to exist separately from a real person or body.

disembowel [ˌdɪsɪmˈbaʊəl] (US pt & pp disemboweled, cont disemboweling, GB pt & pp disembowelled, cont disembowelling) vt to remove the bowels of  in a violent act.

disenchanted [US ˌdɪsɪnˈtʃæntəd, GB -tʃɑːnt-] adj [person] who is disappointed with something that they used to admire or consider worthwhile □ He's become utterly disenchanted with city life.

disenfranchise [dɪsɪnˈfræntʃaɪz] vt = disfranchise.

disengage [ˌdɪsɪnˈɡeɪdʒ] vt -1. to free or release <sthg> from something □ She politely disengaged herself from her companion and walked over to me. -2. AUTO to press <the clutch> down, usually before changing gear, in order to stop the power from the engine going to the wheels.

disengagement [ˌdɪsɪnˈɡeɪdʒmənt] n the process of becoming less involved with an activity or organization.

disentangle [ˌdɪsɪnˈtæŋɡl] vt [hair, string] to remove the tangles from <sthg>. ■ to disentangle sb/sthg from sthg to free sb/sthg from sthg so that they are no longer trapped, tangled etc □ They had to disentangle the rope from the propellor. □ She disentangled herself from his arms.

disfavor US, disfavour GB [dɪsˈfeɪvər] n -1. to look on sthg with disfavor to disapprove of sthg. -2. to fall into disfavor with sb to become disliked or disapproved of by sb.

disfigure [dɪsˈfɪɡjə] vt [person, face, view] to spoil the appearance of <sb/sthg> by causing permanent damage □ He was horribly disfigured in an accident.

disfranchise [dɪsˈfræntʃaɪz] vt to remove the right to vote from <sb>.

disgorge [dɪsˈɡɔːrʒ] vt -1. to bring up <food> from one's stomach (formal use). -2. [smoke, chemicals] to pour <sthg> out in large quantities □ The wreck is disgorging oil into the sea at an alarming rate.

disgrace [dɪsˈɡreɪs] ◇ n -1. a loss of the respect of other people □ She brought disgrace on her family. ■ to be in disgrace to be regarded with strong disapproval because one has done something wrong □ He resigned in disgrace. -2. [to one's family, profession] a person or thing that causes one to feel embarrassed or ashamed □ This new building's a disgrace. □ She's a disgrace to the university. ◇ vt [family, employer] to cause <sb> to lose the respect of other people □ He disgraced himself in front of everyone.

disgraceful [dɪsˈɡreɪsfl] adj [behavior, condition] that is very bad and causes one to feel shock or disapproval □ It's a disgraceful waste of public money.

disgruntled [dɪsˈɡrʌntld] adj [person] who is unhappy and annoyed about something □ Disgruntled readers wrote in to complain about the new style layout of the paper.

disguise [dɪsˈɡaɪz] ◇ n something that one wears to make one's appearance different from usual, usually in order to deceive people □ He attended in disguise to hide his identity from the press. ◇ vt -1. to be disguised to be dressed in a disguise □ He was disguised as a policeman. ■ to disguise oneself to put on a disguise □ They disguised themselves as journalists to gain entry. -2. [appearance, smell] to prevent <sthg> from being recognized by changing it □ She put on a funny accent to disguise her voice. -3. [fact, feeling] to prevent <sthg> from being noticed by hiding it or making it seem different □ He didn't even try to disguise his disappointment. □ You can't disguise the fact that he's just not up to the job.

disgust [dɪsˈɡʌst] ◇ n the feeling one has when one finds something shocking and unacceptable or disgusting □ I was filled with disgust at the sight. □ She resigned/left in disgust. ◇ vt to cause <sb> to feel disgust □ I am disgusted by their attitude.

disgusting [dɪsˈɡʌstɪŋ] adj [person, behavior, food] that one thinks is extremely unpleasant □ It was a disgusting sight. □ It's disgusting the way they've been treated.

dish [dɪʃ] n -1. a container for serving food in that is not as deep as a bowl and often has a lid □ Put the beans in that dish. -2. food prepared in a particular way for a meal □ He loves Mediterranean dishes.

◆ dishes npl a collective term for the plates, cups, bowls etc that have been used for a meal and need to be washed □ Can you take the dishes into the kitchen? ■ to do OR wash the dishes to clean the plates, cups, bowls etc after a meal.

◆ dish out vt sep to dish sthg out [money, advice] to give a lot of sthg to different people (informal use).

◆ dish up vt sep to dish sthg up [food] to serve sthg at the beginning of a meal.

dish antenna US, dish aerial n a device shaped like a dish that is used for receiving signals that are sent by satellite.

disharmony [ˌdɪsˈhɑːməni] n an unpleasant atmosphere that is caused by disagreement between people.

dishcloth [ˈdɪʃklɒθ] n a cloth used for washing dishes.

disheartened [dɪsˈhɑːtnd] adj to be disheartened to no longer have confidence or hope □ Don't be disheartened — I'm sure you'll pass next time.

disheartening [dɪsˈhɑːtɪnɪŋ] adj [experience, result, remark] that makes one lose confidence or hope.

disheveled US, dishevelled GB [dɪˈʃevld] adj [clothes, hair] untidy □ Ian arrived late, looking very disheveled.

dishonest [dɪsˈɒnəst] adj [person, behavior] that is not honest □ It would be dishonest of me to say I was satisfied. □ It never occurred to him he was doing anything dishonest.

dishonesty [dɪsˈɒnəstɪ] n behavior or an action that shows a lack of honesty.

dishonor US, dishonour GB [dɪs'ɒnə] ◇ n a loss of the honor or respect of other people □ He brought dishonor on his country. ◇ vt [family, country, institution] to make <sb/sthg> lose the honor and respect of other people.

dishonorable US, dishonourable GB [dɪs'ɒn-ə-rə-bl] adj [person, behavior] that is not honorable.

dishonour etc GB = dishonor etc.

dish rack n a frame on which plates, cups etc are placed to dry after being washed.

dish soap n US a soapy liquid added to hot water for cleaning dirty dishes.

dish towel n a cloth for drying dishes after they have been washed.

dishwasher ['dɪʃwɒʃə] n a machine for washing dishes.

disillusioned [ˌdɪsɪ'ljuːʒnd] adj [person] who is disappointed with somebody or something that they used to admire or respect disillusionment [ˌdɪsɪ'ljuːʒnmənt] n the state of being disillusioned with somebody or something.
□ The members have grown OR become disillusioned with the leadership.

disincentive [ˌdɪsɪn'sentɪv] n something that makes somebody less willing or likely to do something.

disinclined [ˌdɪsɪn'klaɪnd] adj to be disinclined to do sthg □ I felt disinclined to cooperate.

disinfect [ˌdɪsɪn'fekt] vt [cut, toilet, instrument] to clean <sthg> with a disinfectant.

disinfectant [ˌdɪsɪn'fektənt] n a substance used to kill germs in order to prevent disease or infection □ It contains a powerful disinfectant. □ disinfectant soap/fluid.

disinformation [ˌdɪsɪnfə'meɪʃn] n untrue information that is given especially by a government, in order to confuse an enemy or to deceive people.

disingenuous [ˌdɪsɪn'dʒenjuəs] adj [person] who is insincere because they know something they are not admitting.

disinherit [ˌdɪsɪn'herət] vt to stop <sb> from inheriting something by changing one's will □ He was disinherited by his family.

disintegrate [dɪs'ɪntəgreɪt] vi -1. [object] to break into many small pieces
□ The plane disintegrated on impact. -2. [project, marriage] to gradually fail □ Their marriage gradually disintegrated.

disintegration [dɪs'ɪntəgreɪʃn] n: see disintegrate □ We are witnessing the disintegration of the country.

disinterested [ˌdɪsɪn'trəstəd] adj -1. [observer, party] who is not influenced by the possibility of getting something for themselves from a situation □ It's difficult to remain completely disinterested. □ Let me give you some disinterested advice. -2. to be disinterested to have or show no interest in something (informal use) □ I'm completely disinterested in football.

disinvestment [ˌdɪsɪn'vestmənt] n a reduction or removal of the money that has been invested in something.

disjointed [dɪs'dʒɔɪntəd] adj [speech, style] that does not follow a clear logical order □ Her speech was confused and disjointed.

disk US, disc GB [dɪsk] n -1. an object that is flat and round. -2. MEDICINE a round flat piece of cartilage between the bones of the spine. -3. COMPUTING a square, flat, plastic object on which information is recorded for use by a computer □ How much free disk space is there left?

diskette [dɪ'sket] n COMPUTING = floppy disk.

diskette drive n US a device that transfers information between a computer's memory and the disk.

disk operating system n COMPUTING → DOS.

dislike [dɪs'lɑːk] ◇ n -1. a feeling of not liking somebody or something □ a look of dislike □ his dislike of travel/computers. ■ to take a dislike to sb to begin to dislike sb, usually after knowing them for only a short time
□ I took an instant dislike to him. -2. sb's dislikes the things that sb dislikes
□ It was hard to remember all his likes and dislikes. ◇ vt to have a feeling of dislike for <sb/sthg>.

dislocate ['dɪsləkeɪt] vt -1. MEDICINE [shoulder, hip] to move  out of its correct position in a joint □ I think I've dislocated my finger. -2. [business, service] to prevent <sthg> from operating properly.

dislodge [dɪs'lɒdʒ] vt to succeed in removing <sb/sthg> from their position □ They dislodged their rivals from the top of the division.

disloyal [ˌdɪs'lɔɪəl] adj [friend, colleague] who is not loyal □ forces disloyal to the regime dismal ['dɪzməl] adj -1. [weather, future, place] that is depressing □ February is always a dismal time of year. -2. [attempt, failure] very bad

□ The whole party was a dismal failure.

dismantle [dɪs'mæntl] vt [machine, building, system] to separate the parts of <sthg> so that it is no longer whole □ I dismantled the radio, but I can't put it back together again.

dismay [dɪs'meɪ] ◇ n a feeling of shock and loss of confidence that is caused by a disappointment □ To our dismay, the decision was no. □ She looked at him in dismay. ◇ vt to fill <sb> with dismay □ We were dismayed at the cost of the repairs.

dismember [dɪs'membə] vt to remove the limbs of .

dismiss [dɪs'mɪs] vt -1. [worker, employee] to make <sb> leave their job □ He was dismissed for incompetence. -2. [idea, plan, person] to refuse to think about <sb/sthg> because it is not serious
□ He was dismissed as a crank. -3. [class, troops] to allow <sb> to leave □ Class was dismissed early because of the weather. -4. LAW [case, appeal, charges] to refuse to consider <sthg> in a court of law □ Case dismissed.

dismissal [dɪs'mɪsl] n: see dismiss.

dismissive [dɪs'mɪsɪv] adj [letter, attitude, tone] that refuses to take somebody or something

- seriously and is slightly rude □ He was very dismissive of the whole idea.
- dismount [ˌdɪsˈmaʊnt] vi [rider, jockey] to get off a horse, bicycle etc.
- Disney [ˈdɪzni], Walt (1901–1966) a US movie maker who specialized in animated cartoons. His work, popular with children, includes Bambi, Fantasia, and Mary Poppins.
- disobedience [ˌdɪsəˈbiːdʒəns] n behavior that involves refusing to do what one is told or ordered to do □ I will not tolerate disobedience from my children.
- disobedient [ˌdɪsəˈbiːdʒənt] adj [child, dog] that is not obedient.
- disobey [ˌdɪsəˈbeɪ] ◇ vt [officer, rule, order] to refuse to obey <sb/sthg> □ She decided to disobey the command. ◇ vi: He did not dare to disobey.
- disorder [dɪsˈɔːdə] n -1. in disorder in a state of confusion and disorganization □ After a noisy quarrel, the meeting broke up in disorder. □ Everything was scattered over the floor in disorder. -2. [in the streets] riots or fighting in the streets □ outbreaks of public disorder. -3. MEDICINE a failure of part of the mind or body to work properly □ a heart/psychiatric/mental disorder.
- disordered [dɪsˈɔːdəd] adj [room] in a state of confusion and disorganization.
- disorderly [dɪsˈɔːdəli] adj -1. [room, appearance] that is untidy. -2. [behavior, person] that is uncontrolled and aggressive.
- disorderly conduct [-ˈkɒndʌkt] n the crime of behaving in an uncontrolled and aggressive way.
- disorganized, -ised [dɪsˈɔːɡənəɪzd] adj -1. [person] who is bad at organizing and planning things. -2. [system, company, event] that is badly organized □ The whole department is extremely disorganized.
- disoriented [dɪsˈɔːriəntəd] US, disorientated [dɪsˈɔːriəntətəd] GB adj -1. [person] who is unsure of where they are □ The hostages stepped out of the plane, looking tired and disoriented. -2. [person] who is confused and does not know what to think □ Old people can easily become disoriented.
- disown [dɪsˈaʊn] vt [relative, friend, work] to show that one does not want to be connected with or considered responsible for <sb/sthg> □ I could never tell my parents — they'd disown me!
- disparaging [ˌdɪsˈpærɪdʒɪŋ, ˌdɪsˈpær-] adj [comment, remark] that shows one disapproves of somebody or something or does not value them □ He's very disparaging about his brother.
- disparate [ˈdɪspərət] adj [groups, reasons] that are very different from each other (formal use) □ It's difficult to unite such disparate elements within one party.
- disparity [dɪˈspærəti] (pl disparities) n a large difference between two or more things □ the disparity between town and country □ disparities in pay and conditions.
- dispassionate [dɪˈspæʃnət] adj [judge, observer] who is able to judge somebody or something fairly because they are not influenced by emotion □ a dispassionate account of events leading up to the crime.
- dispatch [dɪˈspætʃ] ◇ n an official or military message. ◇ vt [person, letter, goods] to send <sb/sthg> somewhere □ Your order was dispatched yesterday, Mr Nolan.
- dispatch box n the dispatch box POLITICS the place where ministers stand in the British parliament to speak.
- dispatch rider n -1. a soldier who acts as a messenger and travels by motorcycle. -2. a person whose job is to deliver documents, packages etc by motorcycle.
- dispel [dɪˈspel] (vt & pp dispelled, cont dispelling) vt [doubt, fear, illusion] to remove <an idea> from somebody's mind □ The announcement did little to dispel fears of a takeover.
- dispensable [drɪˈspensəbl] adj [staff, luxury] that one can get rid of because it is not important □ Don't buy anything that's dispensable.
- dispensary [dɪˈspensəri] (pl dispensaries) n a place in a hospital, school etc where medicines are prepared and given to people.
- dispensation [ˌdɪspenˈseɪʃn] n special permission to do something that is against the normal rules □ He received a special dispensation from the Pope to get married in St Peter's.
- dispense [dɪˈspens] vt -1. [justice, advice] to make sure that people receive <sthg>. -2. [drug, medicine] to prepare and give <sthg> to people.
- ◆ dispense with vt fus -1. to dispense with sb/sthg to continue without sb/sthg because they are not necessary □ We can dispense with the formalities. -2. to dispense with the need for sthg to make sthg unnecessary □ Decent public transport would dispense with the need for a car.
- dispenser [dɪˈspensə] n a machine in a public place that one can get soap, drinks, cash etc from □ a drink dispenser □ a cash dispenser.
- dispensing chemist [dɪˈspensɪŋ-] n GB a pharmacist who prepares and gives people medicines, drugs etc that have been prescribed by a doctor.
- dispersal [dɪˈspɜːsl] n: see disperse □ The grain is collected here for dispersal to each village.
- disperse [dɪˈspɜːs] ◇ vt -1. [crowd, seeds] to make  separate and go in different directions. -2. [gas, chemical] to make <sthg> spread out over a wide area. ◇ vi -1. [crowd, seeds] The police told the demonstrators to disperse. -2. [gas, chemical] The smoke quickly dispersed.
- dispirited [dɪˈspɪrətəd] adj to be dispirited to have lost one's enthusiasm, usually because of something bad that has happened.
- dispiriting [dɪˈspɪrətɪŋ] adj [result, performance, experience] that makes one dispirited □ Last year's results were most dispiriting.
- displace [dɪsˈpleɪs] vt -1. [leader, champion] to remove <sb> from a position □ She has been displaced as financial director. -2. PHYSICS to displaced person

cause  to move by putting a solid object in it.

displaced person [ˌdɪspleɪst-] n a person who has been forced to leave their home, area, or country because of war, a natural disaster etc.

displacement [dɪsˈpleɪsmənt] n -1. the removal of people from their home, area, or country by war, natural disasters etc. -2. PHYSICS [of liquid] see displace.

display [drɪˈspleɪ] ◇ n -1. [of goods, works of art] an arrangement of objects for the public to see □ a display of weapons from the Bronze Age □ a window display □ It's on display in the window. □ a display cabinet/unit. -2. [of courage, intelligence] the act of showing an emotion, skill etc to other people □ a display of affection □ a public display of support. -3. [of acrobatics, dancing] a public demonstration or exhibition □ an aerobatics display. -4. COMPUTING a screen on which information or images can be seen.

◇ vt -1. [painting, object] to put <sthg> in a particular place so that it can be seen □ All goods displayed in the window are in the sale. -2. [emotion, skill, attitude] to show <sthg> clearly by what one says or does □ He displayed a remarkable understanding of the subject.

display advertising n printed or written advertisements that are designed to attract people's attention, e.g. by having a border or a special typeface.

displease [dɪsˈpli:z] vt to make <sb> angry or upset □ He was far from displeased by what he heard.

displeasure [dɪsˈpleʒə] n a feeling of annoyance or anger □ I was careful not to arouse his displeasure!

disposable [dɪˈspouzəbl] adj [razor, lighter, diaper] that is intended to be thrown away after it has been used once or a few times □ You can now buy disposable contact lenses.

disposable income n the money from one's salary or earnings that one has for spending after one has paid tax, housing bills etc.

disposal [dɪˈspouzl] n -1. [of garbage, waste] the removal of something that is not wanted or necessary □ a waste disposal unit. -2. to be at sb's disposal [person] to be available for sb to help them; [house, vehicle] to be available for sb so that they can use it □ I'm entirely at your disposal. □ The car was left at their disposal for the weekend.

dispose [drɪˈspouz] ◆ dispose of vt fus -1. to dispose of sthg [garbage, waste] to get rid of sthg. -2. to dispose of sthg [problem, question] to deal with and find an answer to sthg.

disposed [drɪˈspouzd] adj -1. to be disposed to do sthg to be willing to do sthg □ He was not disposed to help/linger/comment. -2. to be well disposed to OR toward sb to have a friendly attitude toward sb.

disposition [ˌdɪspəˈzɪʃn] n -1. a particular way that somebody usually behaves because of their character □ She has a very sweet disposi- tion. -2. a disposition to do sthg a willingness or tendency to do sthg.

dispossess [ˌdɪspəˈzeɪs] vt to dispossess sb of sthg to take away from sb sthg that they own, especially land or property (formal use) □ dispossessed families.

disproportion [ˌdɪsprəˈpɔːʃn] n lack of proportion.

disproportionate [ˌdɪsprəˈpɔːʃnət] adj [level, amount] that is bigger than it should be □ a disproportionate amount of time.

disprove [ˌdɪsˈpruːv] vt [theory, idea, belief] to show <sthg> to be false □ The statistics disprove your argument.

dispute [dɪˈspjuːt] ◇ n -1. [between people, countries] an argument, usually about who owns something or who has the right or responsibility to do something □ a border dispute □ a dispute over ethnic rights. -2. INDUSTRY a disagreement between workers and employers, usually about pay, working conditions etc □ a pay dispute OR dispute over pay. -3. to be open to dispute to be likely to be disagreed with □ A lot of what he said is open to dispute. ■ to be in dispute [person] to be involved in an argument, usually about money, ownership, rights etc; [case, fact, opinion] to be the subject of an argument or disagreement □ We're in dispute with the supplier over a consignment of faulty goods. □ It is not your figures that are in dispute.

◇ vt -1. [opinion, fact, figure] to say that one thinks <sthg> is not true or correct □ I don't dispute (that) she may be right. -2. [right, method, ownership] to argue about <sthg>, usually over a long period □ It's a hotly-disputed issue. -3. [territory, championship] to fight against somebody for the right to have <sthg> □ the disputed border area.

disqualification [dɪsˌkwɒlɪfɪˈkeɪʃn] n: see disqualify □ Foul play will result in disqualification from the competition.

disqualify [ˌdɪsˌkwɒlɪfaɪ] (pt & pp disqualified) vt -1. [court, judge] to take away from <sb> the right to do something, usually because that person has done something dishonest or illegal □ The judge disqualified her from driving for a year. -2. [one's age, sex, criminal record] to make it impossible for <sb> to do or obtain something □ His poor eyesight disqualified him from going into the army. -3. SPORT [referee] to take away from <an athlete, team> etc the right to take part in a sport or sports event, usually because they have done something that breaks the rules □ Two swimmers were disqualified for taking drugs.

disquiet [dɪsˈkwɪət] n fear that people feel when they do not know what is going to happen □ a vague feeling of disquiet.

Disraeli [dɪzˈreɪlɪ], Benjamin (1804–1881) a British politician and writer. He was prime minister in 1868, and from 1874 to 1880.

disregard [ˌdɪsrɪˈɡɑːd] ◇ n the act of not paying enough care and attention to something □ He shows a complete disregard for the feelings of his staff. ◇ vt [law, advice, warning] to ignore

- <sthg> □ He has completely disregarded the feelings of those around him.
- disrepair [ˌdɪsrɪˈpeər] n to fall into disrepair [building] to become gradually more broken or ruined as a result of not being repaired.
- disreputable [dɪsˈrepjətəbl] adj [person, company] that has a bad reputation and is thought to be dishonest □ He's a thoroughly disreputable character.
- disrepute [ˌdɪsrɪˈpju:t] n to bring sthg into disrepute [profession, sport] to damage the reputation of sthg by acting dishonestly. ■ to fall into disrepute [work, theory, institution] to become less admired or accepted than before.
- disrespectful [ˌdɪsrɪˈspektfɪl] adj [person, attitude] that does not show enough respect.
- disrupt [dɪsˈrʌpt] vt [meeting, procedure, traffic] to stop <sthg> from continuing as normal □ The celebrations were disrupted by political protests.
- disruption [dɪsˈrʌpʃn] n: see disrupt □ The accident caused severe disruption to rush-hour traffic.
- disruptive [dɪsˈrʌptɪv] adj [effect, child, behavior] see disrupt □ A disruptive child can upset a whole class of pupils.
- dissatisfaction [ˌdɪsætəsˈfækʃn] n a feeling of unhappiness that one gets when something is not as good as it should be □ There is widespread dissatisfaction at OR with the efficiency of the service.
- dissatisfied [ˌdɪsˈsætəsfaɪd] adj [customer, worker] who feels dissatisfaction; [comment, look] that shows dissatisfaction □ The guest claimed that he was dissatisfied with his room/at his treatment.
- dissect [dɪˈsekt] vt -1. [body, corpse, rat] to cut up  etc in order to examine what is inside for scientific or medical purposes. -2. [book, movie, proposal] to study  etc very carefully in order to understand its meaning.
- disseminate [dɪˈseməneɪt] vt [news, information] to spread <sthg> so that as many people as possible know about it □ New ideas were disseminated by word of mouth.
- dissemination [dɪˌseməˈneɪʃn] n [of news, information] see disseminate.
- dissension [dɪˈsenʃn] n disagreement and arguments □ The program is likely to cause a great deal of dissension among ethnic communities.
- dissent [dɪˈsent] (formal use) ◇ n strong disagreement with an official policy or with an opinion that a lot of people have. ◇ vi to show one's dissent.
- dissenter [dɪˈsentə] n a person who dissents.
- dissenting [dɪˈsentɪŋ] adj a dissenting voice a person who disagrees strongly with an opinion that a lot of other people have.
- dissertation [ˌdɪsəˈteɪʃn] n a long essay on a particular subject, especially one written as part of a university degree □ a dissertation on Brecht.
- disservice [ˌdɪsˈsɜːvɪs] n to do sb a disservice to do something that harms sb □ You could do yourself a great disservice by antagonizing people like that.
- dissident [ˈdɪsədənt] n a person who openly protests against a government, especially when this is not allowed □ Dissidents were thrown into jail.
- dissimilar [dɪˈsɪmɪlə] adj [person, opinion, experience] that is very different from somebody or something else □ They come from completely dissimilar backgrounds. □ Her views are not dissimilar to mine.
- dissipate [ˈdɪsəpeɪt] (formal use) ◇ vt -1. [heat, fog] to make <sthg> spread so much that it disappears. -2. [one's money, time, energy] to gradually waste <sthg> in a silly way. ◇ vi [crowd, heat, fog] The mist finally dissipated.
- dissipated [ˈdɪsəpeɪtəd] adj [person] who has spent a lot of time doing things for pleasure that are harmful, e.g. drinking □ a dissipated youth.
- dissociate [dɪˈsəʊʃɪeɪt] vt to consider or make <sthg> separate from something else □ I try to dissociate my working life from my family life. □ I cannot dissociate the two ideas in my mind. ■ to dissociate oneself from sb/sthg to end one's involvement with sb/sthg, usually in order to avoid trouble.
- dissolute [ˈdɪsəlu:t] adj [person, way of life] that is considered to be immoral.
- dissolution [ˌdɪsəˈlu:ʃn] n [of an organization, relationship] the official ending of something by breaking it up or sending its members away □ the dissolution of Parliament.
- dissolve [dɪˈzɒlv] ◇ vt -1. [sugar, aspirin, chlorine] to mix  so completely with a liquid that it becomes part of it □ Dissolve the tablets in water. -2. [partnership, link, parliament] to end <an organization, campaign> etc officially by making its members separate (formal use) □ Their marriage was finally dissolved. ◇ vi -1. [sugar, aspirin, chlorine] Hydrogen does not dissolve in water. -2. [resistance, opposition, courage] to become weaker and finally disappear.
- ◆ dissolve in(to) vt fus to dissolve in(to) laughter/tears to start laughing/crying in a way that one cannot control.
- dissuade [dɪˈswedeɪd] vt to persuade <sb> not to do something □ We were dissuaded from leaving until the next day.
- distance [ˈdɪstəns] ◇ n -1. [between places] the amount of space between one place and another □ It is quite a distance from here to the bus station. □ We walked for a distance of five miles. □ The school is within easy walking distance. □ Distances in Europe are measured in kilometers. -2. the distance a point that is far away from one □ She stared into the distance. ■ at a distance quite far away □ We remained at a safe distance from the protest march. □ The radio should be placed at a distance of at least four meters from the screen. ■ from a distance from quite far away □ Peter watched from a distance. □ The building looks even more impressive from a distance. □ It can still be seen from a distance of five miles. ■ in the distance far away, but able to be seen or heard □ I could hear thunder in the distance. □ There, in the distance, stood our home.

◇ vt to distance oneself to deliberately become less involved with or less sympathetic to people, actions, beliefs etc □ He later distanced himself from his more radical comments/colleagues.

distance learning n a method of studying, often for a degree, in which one studies at home and sends work to a teacher.

distant ['dɪstənt] adj -1. [place, country] that is far away □ We could hear the sound of distant guns. -2. in the distant past/future a long time ago/in the future □ I hope to see them again in the not-too-distant future. -3. [relative, cousin] who is not closely related to one □ I have some distant relations in Canada. -4. [person, manner] that is not very friendly □ She seemed cold and distant, unlike her usual self.

distaste [dɪ'steɪst] n a feeling of dislike, especially of something that is considered vulgar, unpleasant, or immoral □ The scandal left me with a deep distaste for the world of politics.

distasteful [dɪ'steɪstfl] adj [experience, action, scene] that makes one feel distaste □ I consider it distasteful to discuss people's private affairs.

Dist Atty abbr of district attorney.

distemper [dɪ'stempə] n [in animals] a serious infectious disease of dogs and some other animals.

distended [dɪ'stendəd] adj MEDICINE [stomach, vein] that is larger and rounder than usual, often because there is too much air inside.

distill US, distil GB [dɪ'stɪl] (pt & pp distilled, cont distilling) vt -1. [water] to purify  by heating it until it evaporates, and then cooling it until it becomes liquid again; [whiskey, brandy, vodka] to make  from a liquid in this way. -2. to produce <information, an idea> by choosing the most useful parts from several places or from one much longer source.

distiller [dɪ'stɪlə] n a person or company that produces whiskey, brandy etc.

distillery [dɪ'stɪləri] (pl distilleries) n a factory that produces whiskey, brandy etc.

distinct [dɪ'stɪŋkt] adj -1. that is different enough to be considered a separate thing or type □ The legal system in Scotland is distinct from that in England. □ Try to keep these two facts distinct in your mind. -2. [improvement, possibility, impression] that is definite and clearly noticeable □ A distinct smell of burning came from the kitchen. □ There are distinct advantages to buying now.

◆ as distinct from prep a phrase used to help explain what something is by saying what it is not □ Sales of footwear, as distinct from clothing, have actually increased.

distinction [dɪ'stɪŋkʃn] n -1. [between things] a small difference between things that are similar □ The main distinction between sales tax and other taxes is in its method of collection. ■ to draw OR make a distinction between two things to say that two similar things are different or show how they are different □ We need to draw a clear distinction between financial and personal motives in this case. -2. of distinction of high quality □ wines of distinction. -3. EDUCATION the highest possible grade in some types of examination, degree etc □ He passed with a distinction in math.

distinctive [dɪ'stɪŋktɪv] adj [flavor, sound, voice] that has its own individual, special, and recognizable character □ This pattern is quite distinctive of Irish glassware. □ I heard the distinctive sound of Jan's voice in the corridor.

distinctly [dɪ'stɪŋktli] adv -1. [see, remember, speak] clearly □ I distinctly recall the day I started school. -2. distinctly rude/colder etc rude/colder etc in a way that is noticeable □ It's grown distinctly warmer in the last two days.

distinguish [dɪ'stɪŋɡwɪʃ] ◇ vt -1. [tastes, smells, colors] to recognize <people or things> as being different from each other □ He was unable to distinguish certain colors. □ Can you honestly distinguish her from her twin sister? -2. [shape, plane, word] to be able to see  □ If you look closely you can just distinguish the line of the scar. -3. [person, one's work] to show <sb/sthg> to be different or separate from other people or things □ What distinguishes her from the other staff is her willingness to learn. ■ to distinguish oneself to work, perform etc so well that other people notice and praise one □ She distinguished herself in the field of international law.

◇ vi to distinguish between two things to be able to see or to explain the difference between two things □ These children are unable to distinguish between right and wrong.

distinguished [dɪ'stɪŋɡwɪʃt] adj [visitor, politician, career] that is highly respected and successful □ Please welcome our distinguished guest, Professor Bryant.

distinguishing [dɪ'stɪŋɡwɪʃɪŋ] adj [feature, mark, characteristic] that allows something or somebody to be recognized as different from other things or people □ the town's only distinguishing feature being a large town hall.

distort [dɪ'stɔːt] vt -1. [shape, sound] to change <sthg> so that it becomes unclear, strange, or ugly □ Turning up the volume tends to distort the sound still further. -2. [meaning, account, truth] to change <sthg> so that it is different from what was true or what was meant □ The press tend to distort the real nature of the problem.

distorted [dɪ'stɔːtəd] adj [shape, sound, view] that has been distorted □ He has somehow acquired a distorted impression of the facts.

distortion [dɪ'stɔːʃn] n: see distort □ The article is a complete distortion of the truth.

distract [dɪ'strækt] vt to prevent <sb> from concentrating on what they are doing □ I was distracted by a dog barking. □ Try to distract his attention while I finish what I'm doing.

distracted [dɪ'stræktəd] adj [person] who is unable to concentrate properly because they are scared, worried etc.

distraction [dɪ'strækʃn] n -1. something that prevents one from concentrating on what

- one is doing; something that helps one to stop thinking or worrying too much so that one can relax □ There are fewer distractions working at home. □ The party provided a welcome distraction from pressures at work. -2. to drive sb to distraction [noise] to make <sb> very annoyed.
- distraught [dɪ'strɔ:t] adj [person] who is very upset or anxious and cannot think clearly or act sensibly □ The child's parents were distraught with worry.
- distress [dɪ'stres] ◇ n -1. [of a person, animal] great mental or physical suffering □ The child was clearly in distress. -2. to be in distress [ship, plane] to be in a state of great danger or difficulty □ The ship was in distress and drifting with the tide. ◇ vt to make <sb> feel very unhappy and worried □ It distresses me to see you like this.
- distressed [dɪ'strest] adj [person, animal] that feels distress.
- distressing [dɪ'strestɪŋ] adj [news, thought, sight] that causes distress □ Some people may find these images distressing.
- distress signal n a message or signal sent from a ship or plane, usually by radio, to say that it is in serious danger.
- distribute [US dɪ'strɪbjət, GB -ju:t] vt -1. [leaflets, prizes, tests] to give or send <sthg> to several people □ The memo should be distributed to or among all members of the staff. -2. [money, food, blankets] to give <things> to people who need them □ Aid is distributed by several relief agencies working in the region. -3. BUSINESS to 'send out <goods> to stores, customers, retailers etc.
- distribution [dɪ'strɪbjʊ:ʃn] n: see distribute □ The supplies are stored in the capital for distribution later.
- distributor [dɪ'strɪbjətəʃ] n -1. BUSINESS a person or company that sends out goods to stores, customers, retailers etc □ Our main distributor in this area is in Jersey City. -2. AUTO a device in a car, motorbike etc that sends electric current to the spark plugs.
- district ['dɪstrɪkt] n -1. an area of a city that has a particular character □ They have offices in the business district of Milan. -2. an area into which a country or city is divided for a particular purpose □ the city's historical district □ a postal district.
- district attorney n in the USA, the lawyer who represents the local or state government and brings legal charges against criminals.
- district council n in the UK, a group of people elected to govern a district.
- district court n a court in the USA that deals with cases involving national laws.
- district nurse n in the UK, a nurse who visits people in their homes to give them treatment.
- District of Columbia: the District of Columbia a special district in the eastern USA that is not part of any of the states. It includes the US capital, Washington, and covers the same area as it. ABBREVIATION: D.C. SIZE: 175 sq kms. POPULATION: 606,900. CAPITAL: Washington.
- distrust [dɪ'strʌst] ◇ n the feeling that one cannot trust somebody or something □ They have a deep distrust of the police. ◇ vt [person, motive, method] to feel distrust of <sb/sthg> □ It's not that I distrust his motives, but...
- distrustful [dɪ'strʌstfl] adj to be distrustful of sb/sthg to distrust sb/sthg □ I'm still distrustful of his motives.
- disturb [dɪ'stɜ:'b] vt -1. [person, concentration] to interrupt <sb/sthg> by making a noise or causing problems; [person, baby] to wake <sb> up when they need to sleep □ I'm sorry to disturb you, but could I have a word? □ 'Do not disturb.' -2. [person] to upset and worry <sb> a lot □ It disturbs me greatly to know that he was lying. -3. [branches, sand, papers] to cause <sthg> to change its position □ There was no wind to disturb the trace of his footsteps in the sand. -4. [peace and quiet, calm] to spoil <the silence> □ Not a whisper disturbed the silence in the great round reading room.
- disturbance [dɪ'stɜ:'bæns] n -1. [in public] a fight or noisy argument in public, usually involving several people □ Local residents reported a disturbance in the park. -2. disturbance of the peace the crime of being violent in public (legal use). -3. [in a person] mental upset leading to behavior that is not normal □ severe emotional disturbance in childhood.
- disturbed [dɪ'stɜ:'bd] adj -1. [child] who suffers from a mental illness, especially one caused by something unpleasant that has happened to them; [childhood, behavior] that is typical of a person in this state □ She became emotionally disturbed. -2. [person] who feels worried and upset □ I was disturbed to hear he had not been attending school.
- disturbing [dɪ'stɜ:'bɪŋ] adj [news, thought, photograph] that is worrying and upsetting □ It's disturbing to see the number of young women who smoke.
- disunity [dɪ's'ju:nətɪ] n lack of agreement and cooperation among people.
- disuse [dɪ's'ju:s] n to fall into disuse [building, regulation, custom] to stop being used, usually over a long period, because it is no longer needed □ The factory had gradually fallen into disuse.
- disused [dɪ's'ju:zd] adj [factory, railroad, mine] that is no longer used □ The performance was staged in a disused warehouse.
- ditch [dɪtʃ] ◇ n a long channel dug into the ground beside a road or field, usually to allow water to flow away. ◇ vt (informal use) -1. [boyfriend, girlfriend, wife] to end one's relationship with  □ He just ditched his girlfriend because he was going away. -2. [plan, proposal] to stop considering <sthg> □ The council have finally ditched their plans to build a golf course there. -3. [car, garbage] to get rid of <sthg> that one no longer wants > by leaving it somewhere.
- dither ['dɪðə] vi to hesitate and waste time because one is confused or unable to decide

- what to do □ Stop dithering and make up your mind!
- ditto ['ditou] adv -1. a word used to refer to a thing that has just been mentioned, to avoid repeating it. It can be represented in writing by the symbol (") written under the word that is being repeated □ Red wine: 2 bottles; white wine: ditto. -2. a word used to express agreement (informal use) □ 'I'm in favor of leaving." — "Ditto."
- diuretic [US ,daɪjə'retɪk, GB -ju-] n a substance or drug that makes people urinate more.
- diva ['di:və] (pl divas) n a female opera star.
- divan [di'væn] n a long, low, soft seat with no back or arms.
- divan bed n a bed that has a thick base under the mattress and no frame or springs.
- dive [daɪv] (US pt dived OR dove, pp dived, GB pt & pp dived) ◇ vi -1. [into water] to jump headfirst into water with one's arms stretched out; [bird, airplane, fish] to go down headfirst; [submarine] to leave the surface and go underwater □ Sally dived from the bank into the canal. -2. [underwater] to swim underwater using special breathing apparatus to go diving. -3. [into a place] to jump or move quickly, usually in order to catch or avoid something □ She dived after the child as it ran into the road. □ We dived into a doorway to get out of the rain. -4. [into a bag] to put one's hands quickly into a bag, cupboard etc in order to find something □ Simon dived into the cupboard and brought out a large can of beans. ◇ n -1. [of a person, submarine, bird] the act of diving □ She made a sudden dive for the door. -2. a bar or club that has a bad reputation (informal and disapproving use).
- dive-bomb vt [plane] to move downward suddenly and drop bombs on <people, a city> etc.
- diver ['daɪvə] n a person who works or explores underwater using special equipment for breathing.
- diverge [daɪ'vɜ:'dʒ] vi -1. [opinions, interests, statements] to be or become different □ His account of the accident diverges from mine in significant details. □ At this point our interests diverge. -2. [roads, paths] to separate into two and go in different directions.
- divergence [daɪ'vɜ:'dʒəns] n [of opinions, interests] see diverge □ There is no divergence between his views and mine.
- divergent [daɪ'vɜ:'dʒənt] adj [opinions, attitudes] that diverge from each other.
- diverse [daɪ'vɜ:'sɪ] adj [opinions, topics, nationalities] that are very different from one another □ The guests included people as diverse as politicians and hairdressers. □ people from diverse backgrounds.
- diversification [daɪ'vɜ:'sɪfə'keɪʃn] n: see diversify.
- diversify [daɪ'vɜ:'sɪfaɪ] (pt & pp diversified) ◇ vt [company, manager] to introduce <new products, services> etc in order to increase business. ◇ vi: Many farmers are now diversifying into new areas such as tourism.
- diversion [daɪ'vɜ:'ʃɪn] n -1. [from an activity] an action or event that turns people's attention away from what they should be doing or noticing □ The incident provided an amusing diversion from the day's business. -2. GB [of traffic] a special route that is made for traffic because the usual route is closed. -3. [of funds, resources, a river] see divert.
- diversionary [US daɪ'vɜ:'rɪʒənəri, GB -'vɜ:'ʃnəri] adj [tactic, bid] that is intended to turn people's attention away from something more important □ This is just a diversionary tactic on the part of the government.
- diversity [daɪ'vɜ:'sɪtɪ] n a range of many different people or things □ The area boasts a huge diversity of plant life.
- divert [daɪ'vɜ:'t] vt -1. [traffic, river] to change the usual direction of <sthg> □ All flights are being diverted to Hartford. -2. [funds, resources] to use <money> for a purpose different from the one originally intended □ Funds will be diverted away from schools to the universities. -3. to divert sb OR sb's attention to deliberately turn sb's attention away from what they should be doing or noticing □ The festival was intended to divert people's attention from the damage caused by the fire. -4. to divert sb to amuse sb by giving them entertainment of some kind.
- divest [daɪ'vest] vt: to divest sb/sthg of sthg [of their role, importance] to take sthg away from sb/sthg (formal use). ■ to divest oneself of sthg [of a feeling, idea, responsibility] to get rid of sthg.
- divide [dɪ'veɪd] ◇ vt -1. [one's money, work, time] to break <sthg> up into parts and give some to one person or activity and some to another □ He divided his property between or among his three children. □ She divides her time between New York and Barcelona. □ Divide the money with your brother. -2. [area, house, book] to split <sthg> up into smaller parts □ Let's divide the class into two groups. -3. GEOGRAPHY to form a boundary between <two places> □ The Pyrenees divide France from Spain. -4. MATH to calculate how many times bigger one number is than another □ 15 divided by 3 equals 5. -5. [question, controversy, law] to make <people> disagree □ The party is divided on this issue. ◇ vi -1. [road, river, branch] to separate into two or more parts □ The river divides in two around an island. -2. [group, class] to form smaller groups, which sometimes disagree with each other □ The nation divides into two camps on the issue of capital punishment. ◇ n a difference or disagreement that breaks up a large group of people into smaller groups □ the North-South divide between rich and poor countries.
- ◆ divide up vt sep [one's money, work, time] = divide.
- divided [dɪ'veɪdəd] adj [people, nation, meeting] that has separated into groups that disagree with each other. ■ to have divided loyalties to be unsure who one should be loyal to □ My loyalties were divided between my company and my sense of justice. ■ opinions are divided over sthg people have different opinions about sthg.

dividend ['divɪdɪnd] n -1. an unexpected benefit □ Politicians speak of a peace dividend now that we do not need to spend so much on defense. ■ to pay dividends to produce benefits at a later time □ The long nights of studying paid dividends when it came to the exams. -2. FINANCE a payment from company profits to each of the company's shareholders.

dividers [də'vaɪdɪz] npl a tool used by draftsmen for measuring lines, angles etc, consisting of two metal pieces with points at one end and joined at the other □ a pair of dividers.

dividing line [də'vaɪdɪŋ-] n something that marks the boundary between two different ideas or principles, e.g. between right and wrong or reality and fiction □ There's a fine dividing line between being patriotic and being downright bigoted.

divine [də'vaɪn] ◇ adj -1. [being, inspiration, worship] that is connected with or has the qualities of a god □ divine retribution. -2. [meal, weather] that one thinks is very good (old-fashioned and informal use) □ Her blueberry pie is absolutely divine! ◇ vt -1. [fact, meaning, the future] to guess <sthg> (literary use) □ I divine from your comments that you don't agree. -2. [underground water, mineral] to look for or find <sthg> using a stick of wood in the shape of a "Y".

diving ['daɪvɪŋ] n -1. the sport or activity of jumping headfirst into water with one's arms stretched out. -2. the sport or activity of swimming underwater using special equipment for breathing.

diving board n a raised platform from which people can dive into a swimming pool.

diving suit n a piece of clothing made of rubber or plastic, worn by divers to keep warm or for protection.

divinity [də'vɪnəti] (pl divinities) n -1. [of a god] the state of being a god □ belief in Christ's divinity. -2. EDUCATION the study of religion, especially Christianity. -3. [of a tribe, people, religion] a god or goddess □ one of several Hindu divinities.

divisible [də'vɪzəbl] adj MATH to be divisible by a number to be able to be divided by another number into smaller whole numbers that are all the same □ 35 is divisible by 7.

division [də'vɪʒn] n -1. [of a country, object] the act of separating or breaking something up into smaller parts; [between places, objects] something that separates one thing from another □ The division of Europe into countries is the result of its complicated history. □ This wall marks the division between our land and theirs. -2. [of work, money] the way in which something, e.g. work, responsibilities, or money, is divided up and shared out □ They argued over the division of the spoils. -3. MATH the act of dividing numbers; the method used to divide numbers. -4. [between people] a strong disagreement between two or more groups of people □ The country has a history of strife and division among its ethnic groups. -5. [of a company] an important department, smaller company etc that operates on its own as part of a large company or organization □ the company's engineering division. -6. SPORT a group of teams that forms part of a larger league, especially in soccer. -7. MILITARY one of the sections that an army is divided into. -8. POLITICS a vote for or against something in the British parliament. Those who are voting in favor of a proposed law go to one division lobby, and those voting against it go to another.

division bell n the division bell POLITICS the bell that is rung to warn MPs in the British parliament that there is going to be a division.

division lobby n POLITICS one of the two places where MPs in the British parliament go in order to vote in a division.

division sign n MATH a symbol (÷) used between two numbers to indicate that the first number is to be divided by the second number.

divisive [də'vaɪsɪv] adj [policy, issue, influence] that produces disagreement among a group of people □ Holding down public-sector pay while the private sector enjoys a healthy increase is bound to be divisive.

divorce [də'vɔ:ɪs] ◇ n the official and legal ending of a marriage □ The marriage ended in divorce. □ a divorce settlement. ◇ vt -1. [husband, wife] to legally end one's marriage to <sb> □ He divorced her on the grounds of adultery. -2. [idea, activity] to consider <sthg> to be completely separate from something else □ It's difficult to divorce one's personal feelings from this case.

divorced [də'vɔ:ɪst] adj -1. [man, woman] who is no longer married □ He's been divorced since 1992. -2. to be divorced from sthg [from a subject, the truth] to be different and completely separate from sthg □ Her ideas are utterly divorced from reality.

divorcee [US də'vɔ:ɪr'seɪ, GB dɪ'vɔ:ɪ'si:] n a person who is divorced.

divot ['dɪvət] n a piece of grass and earth that is dug out of the ground when a player hits the ball in golf.

divulge [dɪ'vʌldʒ] vt [secret, information, plan] to let other people know <sthg that has been secret> □ I can now divulge (that) they were married last week.

Dixie ['dɪksɪ] a name used to refer to the Southern states of the USA.

Dixieland ['dɪksɪlənd] ◇ n a type of jazz music that originally came from New Orleans. ◇ adj: a Dixieland rhythm.

DIY (abbr of do-it-yourself) n GB the activity of improving the appearance of one's home and repairing things in it oneself, without skilled help □ a DIY store.

dizziness ['dɪzɪnəs] n the feeling one has when one is dizzy □ I have been suffering from headaches and dizziness lately.

dizzy ['dɪzi] (compar dizzier, superl dizziest) adj
 -1. [person] who feels unsteady or confused, e.g. because they are looking down from a great height or have been turning around quickly □ The blow made me feel dizzy. □ a dizzy spell. -2. [height, speed] that makes one feel dizzy.

DJ n -1. abbr of disc jockey. -2. GB abbr of dinner jacket.

DJIA n abbr of Dow Jones Industrial Average.

dl abbr of deciliter.

DLit(t) [di:'lɪt] (abbr of Doctor of Letters) n GB a postgraduate degree in literature; a person who has this degree.

DM abbr of Deutschland.

DMA (abbr of direct memory access) n a direct link between a piece of computer equipment, e.g. a printer, and a computer's main memory.

DMus [di:'mʌz] (abbr of Doctor of Music) n a postgraduate degree in music; a person who has this degree.

DMV n abbr of Department of Motor Vehicles.

DMZ n abbr of demilitarized zone.

DNA (abbr of deoxyribonucleic acid) n the chemical in the cells of living things that carries genetic information.

do¹ abbr of ditto.

do² [du:] (pt did, pp done, pl dos OR do's [du:z]) ◇ aux vb -1. used in negative sentences □ Don't leave it there. □ I didn't want to see him. -2. used in questions □ Does she know you're here? □ What did he want? □ When do you think she'll come? -3. used in question tags □ You speak Italian, don't you? □ I surprised you, didn't I? -4. used to refer back to a previous verb □ She reads more than I do. □ "I don't smoke." — "Neither do I." -5. used for emphasis □ You're wrong, I DO know him. □ Do sit down. □ Oh do shut up! □ If you do decide to come, let me know.

◇ vt -1. to perform <an activity or task> □ It took her minutes to do the crossword. □ Yesterday I did something that I'd never done before. ■ do as you're told! do what you have been told to do! -2. to perform <some regular activity> □ It's your turn to do the cooking/cleaning. -3. what do you do? what is your job? □ What does Jill want to do when she leaves college? -4. I must do something I must try to help or to solve this problem □ We're going to have to do something about our overdraft. □ Is there anything I can do to help? -5. to make <sthg> happen □ What does this switch do? □ I didn't mean to do any damage. ■ to do sb good to help sb or make them feel better □ I think a long vacation would do you good. ■ it didn't do any good it did not help the situation at all. -6. [physics, art, Spanish] to study <sthg> □ She did an MBA at Harvard. □ He's doing a management training course. -7. to travel or perform at  □ This car can do 200 kph. □ The printer does 50 sheets a minute. -8. phrase that will do me that is (good) enough for me □ "I can only let you have $10 at the moment. Will that do you?"

◇ vi -1. to do well/badly to act or perform well/badly in an exam, test etc □ He did really badly in the interview. □ "How did you do in the exam?" — "OK, but I could have done better." ■ you would do well to do sthg I advise you to do sthg □ You'd do well to forget the whole affair. -2. that will do that is (good) enough □ "Will $6 do?" — "Yes, that will do nicely."

◇ n a large party, dinner, or other formal social event (informal use) □ They're having a big do for their 25th wedding anniversary.

◆ dos npl dos and don'ts things that somebody must and must not do in a particular situation.

◆ do away with vt fus to do away with sthg [system, method] to put an end to sthg or remove it □ It's time to do away with such old-fashioned practices.

◆ do down vt sep GB to do sb down to criticize sb (informal use) □ He's always doing me down.

◆ do for vt fus to be done for to be in a hopeless situation (informal use) □ If the boss finds out, we're done for.

◆ do in vt sep to do sb in to kill sb deliberately (informal use).

◆ do out of vt sep to do sb out of sthg to cheat sb so that they lose sthg that they expected to have (informal use) □ He did me out of $500.

◆ do up vt sep -1. to do sthg up [shoelaces, buttons, coat] to fasten sthg □ Your shirt's not done up. -2. to do sthg up [house, room, car] to repair or improve the appearance of sthg □ We've done up the spare bedroom. -3. to do sthg up [package, gift] to wrap or tie up sthg in paper, string etc □ The box was all done up with pink ribbon.

◆ do with vt fus -1. I could do with a drink I need or want a drink □ We could have done with some help. -2. I had nothing to do with it I was not in any way connected with it. ■ it's nothing to do with you it does not concern you. ■ he is OR has something to do with banking his job is connected with banking.

◆ do without ◇ vt fus to do without sthg [help, car, dishwasher] to succeed in doing something or living even though one does not have sthg □ I couldn't do without a washing machine. ◇ vi: If there's no cream for the strawberries, we'll just have to do without.

DOA (abbr of dead on arrival) adj an official term used to describe somebody who has died while being taken to hospital.

doable ['du:əbl] adj [job, plan] that can be done (informal use) □ Well, it's just about doable in the time we have available.

dob, DOB abbr of date of birth.

Doberman ['dɔʊbə'mən] (pl Dobermans) n a Doberman (pinscher) a large type of dog with a square face and pointed ears, often used as a guard dog.

docile [US 'dɒsl, GB 'dɔʊsəl] adj [person, animal] that is not aggressive and is easy to control.

dock [dɒk] ◇ n -1. [in a harbor] a part of a harbor where ships are loaded, unloaded, and repaired □ The ship is in dock. -2. the dock the

- place in a court of law where the accused person sits or stands □ The prisoner stood nervously in the dock. ◇ vt to dock sb's wages to reduce the amount of money sb is paid, usually because they have done something wrong. ◇ vi [ship, passenger] to arrive at a port by sea □ The ship docked in New York.
- docker ['dɒkə] n a person who works at a harbor loading and unloading ships.
- docket ['dɒkət] n GB a label or ticket sent with a package or cargo listing its contents, use, owner etc.
- docklands ['dɒkləndz] npl GB the area around the harbor of a town or city.
- ◆ Docklands a new housing and office development in an area of east London that used to be docks.
- dockworker ['dɒkwɜ:kə] n = docker.
- dockyard ['dɒkjɑ:rd] n a place where ships are built or repaired.
- doctor ['dɒktə] ◇ n -1. MEDICINE a person who is qualified to treat sick or injured people □ I went to see my doctor yesterday about my leg. □ I think we'd better call a doctor. ■ to go to the doctor's to go to the place where a doctor works to get medical advice or treatment. -2. EDUCATION [of philosophy, divinity, music] a person who has the highest university degree in a particular subject. ◇ vt [results, text, photograph] to change <sthg> secretly and dishonestly so that it will seem more favorable.
- doctorate ['dɒktərət], doctor's degree n the highest university degree, usually given for research done over at least three years □ a doctorate in political science.
- doctrinaire [ˌdɒktrɪˈneəri] adj [person] who has views that they refuse to change in any way despite all arguments and practical difficulties (disapproving use).
- doctrine ['dɒktrɪn] n a belief or set of beliefs that is accepted as true by a religion, political party etc □ Christian/Marxist doctrine.
- docudrama [US 'dɒkjədɹəmə, GB -jʊdɹɑ:mə] (pl docudramas) n a television play that tells a true story.
- document ['dɒkjəmənt] ◇ n a paper, set of papers, book etc that contains official evidence or information □ travel documents, including passport and visa. ◇ vt [event, situation, life] to record all the facts about <sthg important> in writing, pictures, film etc □ There are only three documented cases of the disease.
- documentary [ˌdɒkjə'mentəri] (pl documentaries) ◇ adj [evidence, proof] that depends on or consists of recorded factual information rather than opinion, guessing etc □ We will need some documentary evidence if the case is to stand up in court. ◇ n a TV program, radio program, or movie that gives factual information.
- documentation [ˌdɒkjəmənt'eɪʃn] n documents that give evidence or proof of something □ He was unable to provide any documentation to support his claim.
- DOD (abbr of Department of Defense) n the US government department responsible for the armed forces.
- doddering ['dɒdərɪŋ], dodderly ['dɒdərɪ] adj [old person] who is weak and unsteady on their feet (informal and disapproving use).
- dodge [dɒdʒ] ◇ n a clever trick to avoid having to do something (informal use) □ a tax dodge. ◇ vt -1. [car, stone, person] to move suddenly to one side or downward to avoid being hit or caught by <sb/sthg> □ I've had enough of dodging bullets in various guerrilla wars. -2. [taxes, responsibility, question] to avoid <sthg> in a dishonest or dishonorable way □ Mr Rossi accused Senator Moore of dodging the issue. ◇ vi to move suddenly to one side or downward to avoid being hit, caught, or seen □ Barry had to dodge to avoid the car.
- DodgemTM ['dɒdʒəm] n the Dodgems GB a fairground ride consisting of small electric cars that can bump into each other without causing damage.
- doe [dou] n -1. a female deer. -2. a female rabbit.
- DOE n -1. (abbr of Department of Energy) the DOE the US government department responsible for energy. -2. (abbr of Department of the Environment) the DOE the British government department responsible for local government, housing, city planning, protection of the countryside, and anti-pollution laws.
- doer ['du:ə] n a person who gets things done quickly without wasting time (informal use) □ I want a doer, not a complainer!
- does [stressed dʌz, unstressed dəz] vb → do.
- doesn't [ˈdʌznt] = does not.
- dog [dɒg] (vt & pp dogged [dɒgd], cont dogging) ◇ n -1. a very common animal that is kept as a pet or used to guard places, keep sheep together, or for hunting □ my pet dog. ■ it's a dog's life a phrase used to say that life is very difficult or unpleasant (informal use). ■ to go to the dogs to develop into something bad or worse (informal use) □ The company is going to the dogs. -2. US a hot dog. ◇ vt -1. [person] to follow <sb> closely and without giving up □ He dogged Mary's footsteps all the way to the entrance of her apartment. -2. [problems, misfortune] to affect  etc in a continuous way □ The whole enterprise was dogged by bad luck from the start.
- dog biscuit n a biscuit for dogs.
- dog collar n -1. [on a dog] a collar placed around the neck of a dog which a leash can be attached to. -2. [on a priest] a white collar worn by Christian priests (informal use).
- dog-eared [-ɪə'd] adj [book, page] that is in bad condition because the corners have been bent over a lot.
- dog-end n GB the part of a cigarette that is left after it has been smoked (informal use).
- dogfight ['dɒgfɑ:t] n -1. [between planes] a fight between fighter planes in the sky. -2. [between dogs] a fight between two dogs, especially an illegal fight organized as a sport on which bets are placed.

dogfish ['dɒɡfɪʃ] (pl dogfish) n a small European shark with spots on its skin.

dog food n food for dogs, especially meat sold in cans.

dogged ['dɒɡɪd] adj [resistance, refusal] that shows determination to continue although the situation is very difficult □ He shared a dogged determination to win.

doggone ['dɒɡɒn], doggoned ['dɒɡɒnd] adj US a word used to show that one is annoyed or surprised (informal use) □ a doggone waste of time.

doggy ['dɒɡɪ] (pl doggies) n a dog (used by children).

doggy bag n a bag, box etc that one is given in a restaurant for food that one has not finished, so that one can eat it later at home.

dogma ['dɒɡmə] n a belief or rule that people are not allowed to question □ religious dogma.

dogmatic [dɒɡ'mætɪk] adj [person] who is convinced they are right and does not listen to other ideas □ She believed in her policies, to the point of being dogmatic. □ a dogmatic belief/idea.

do-gooder [-'ɡʊdə:] n a person who tries to help people with problems but who one thinks is interfering or naive.

dog paddle, doggy paddle n a way of swimming, often used by people learning to swim, in which the whole head stays above the water and the arms and legs move quickly up and down close to the body.

dogsbody ['dɒɡzbɒdɪ] (pl dogsbodyes) n GB a person who does unskilled and boring jobs for somebody (informal use).

dog tag n a small disk worn by a soldier so that people will know who he is if he is killed or injured.

DOH (abbr of Department of Health) n the DOH the British government department responsible for health care for the public and the National Health Service.

doing ['du:ɪŋ] n is this your doing? did you do this?

◆ doings npl activities that one does at a particular time □ She was constantly telling us stories of Mary's marvelous doings.

do-it-yourself n → DIY.

doldrums ['dɒldrəmz] npl to be in the doldrums [person] to feel depressed and without energy; [business, economy, market] to be unsuccessful because there is little activity.

dole [dɒl] (informal use) n in Britain and Australia, the money paid to unemployed people by the state. ■ to be on the dole to get dole money in regular payments □ Thousands more will be forced to join the dole queue.

◆ dole out vt sep to dole sthg out [food, money] to give sthg in fixed amounts to all the people in a group.

doleful ['dɒlfʊl] adj [look, voice] unhappy.

doll [dɒl] n a small model of a person, especially of a female, used as a toy by children.

dollar ['dɒlə] n -1. the standard unit of money in the USA, Australia, and some other countries □ It cost fifty dollars. □ How many dollars to the pound? -2. a bill or coin with the value of one dollar □ He handed me two dollars. □ a dollar bill.

dolled up [ˌdɒld-] adj to be dolled up [woman] to be wearing make-up and attractive clothes, usually for a special occasion (informal use) □ Where are you going all dolled up like that?

dollhouse ['dɒlhaʊs] US, doll's house GB n a toy house that contains small dolls and toy furniture.

dollop ['dɒləp] n a large spoonful of soft food, e.g. ice cream or mashed potato.

doll's house n GB = dollhouse.

dolly ['dɒli] (pl dollies) n -1. a doll (used by children). -2. CINEMA & TV a small platform with wheels that is used to move a TV or movie camera.

dolphin ['dɒlfɪn] n a sea mammal with a long nose and mouth that swims in groups and often seems friendly to people.

domain [dəʊ'meɪn] n -1. [of study] the area of interest or responsibility of somebody or something □ This problem lies outside the domain of ordinary science. -2. [of a ruler] the land ruled or controlled by a person or government.

dome [dəʊm] n the rounded roof of a building or room.

Domesday Book ['du:mzdeɪ-] n the Domesday Book a survey of all the land in England, giving details of ownership, size, value etc. It was carried out in 1086.

domestic [də'mestɪk] ◇ adj -1. [policy, flight, production] that is connected with a particular country and does not involve other countries; that is not international □ There is good news on the domestic front. □ domestic sales. -2. [chore, water supply, violence] that is connected with a family and their home □ 'For domestic use only.' -3. [person] who enjoys home life □ He's very domestic — he does all the cooking and cleaning. -4. [animal] that is tame and is kept as a pet in a home or on a farm □ the domestic cat. ◇ n a servant in a house.

domestic appliance n an electrical device designed to be used in a house, e.g. a vacuum cleaner or refrigerator.

domesticated [də'mestɪkətɪd] adj -1. [animal] that is no longer wild and is kept as a pet or on a farm. -2. [person] who is used to home life (humorous use).

domesticity [ˌdɒme'stɪsətɪ] n the state of living at home with one's family; a love of this kind of life.

domestic science n the school subject that deals with the work that needs to be done in a house, e.g. cooking and sewing.

domicile ['dɒməsaɪl] n the place where a person lives (formal use).

dominance ['dɒmənəns] n -1. [of a person, country] power and influence that a person, nation etc has over another □ Russia's domi- nance in Eastern Europe. -2. [of a system, idea] influence that a system, idea etc has over all others in a particular field.

dominant ['dɒmənənt] adj -1. [idea, group] that is the most important or powerful □ The dominant literary influence at that time was Jean-Paul Sartre. -2. [color, feature] that is the most noticeable □ The dominant mood is one of gloom. -3. [personality, person] that tries to control or influence other people □ a very dominant woman.

dominate ['dɒmənɪt] vt -1. [event, situation] to have the most important place or role in <sthg> □ The news is dominated this week by events in the Far East. -2. [country] to have control over  □ For years they were dominated by their more powerful neighbors. -3. [building] to be taller than <sthg>; [town, area] to be the tallest thing in  □ The square is dominated by the enormous Renaissance palace in its center.

dominating ['dɒmənɪtɪŋ] adj [person, personality] that tries to control or influence other people.

domination [ˌdɒmɪˈneɪʃn] n: see dominate □ Japan's domination of OR over world markets.

domineering [ˌdɒmɪˈneərɪŋ] adj [person] who tries to control other people by telling them what to think, do etc □ He has a very domineering personality.

Dominica [dɒˈmɪnɪkə] a country in the eastern Caribbean. SIZE: 751 sq kms. POPULATION: 100,000 (Dominicans). CAPITAL: Roseau. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: East Caribbean dollar.

Dominican Republic [dɒˈmɪnɪkən-]: the Dominican Republic a country in the Caribbean, situated in the eastern part of the island of Hispaniola. SIZE: 48,400 sq kms. POPULATION: 7,300,000 (Dominicans). CAPITAL: Santo Domingo. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: Dominican peso.

dominion [dɒˈmɪnjən] n -1. the authority and power of a ruler or government □ Your government has no dominion over the islands. -2. the land under the control of a ruler or government □ one of the Empire's many dominions.

domino ['dɒmɪnoʊ] (pl dominoes) n a small rectangular block of wood or plastic divided into two halves, each marked with a number of spots.

♦ dominoes npl a game in which players try to place their dominoes next to other dominoes that have the same number of spots.

domino effect n a situation in which one bad thing that happens makes several other things happen one after the other.

don [dɒn] (pt & pp donned, cont donning) ◇ n GB a teacher at a university, especially at Oxford or Cambridge. ◇ vt [hat, coat] to put on .

Donald Duck [ˌdɒnɪdˈdʌk] a cartoon character representing a duck that appears in many movies by Walt Disney.

donate [dɒˈneɪt] vt [money, clothes, blood] to give <sthg> to a charity or other organization to help other people □ He donates a tenth of his income to charity.

donation [dɒˈneɪʃn] n something, e.g. money or food, that is donated □ Would you like to make a donation?

done [dʌn] ◇ past participle of do. ◇ adj -1. to be done [work, job] to be finished; [person] to have finished something; [food, meat] to be cooked and ready to eat □ "Have you finished?" — "No, but I'm almost done." □ Aren't those potatoes done yet? -2. it's not the done thing it's not socially acceptable. ◇ excl a word used to show that one agrees on a price, deal etc with somebody else □ "I'll give you half now and the rest later." — "OK, done!"

Donegal [ˌdʌnɪˈɡoːl] a county in the northwest of the Irish Republic, on the Atlantic. SIZE: 4,830 sq kms. POPULATION: 129,428. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Lifford.

Don Juan [ˌdɒnˈwɑːn] a character who seduces many women and who appears in several poems, plays, and operas.

donkey ['dɒŋki] (pl donkeys) n an animal with long ears that looks like a small horse.

donkey jacket n GB a short thick coat, worn especially by workmen.

donkeywork ['dɒŋkiwɜːk] n GB work that one finds hard and uninteresting (informal use) □ I have to do all the donkeywork around here.

donor ['dɒnə] n -1. [of blood] a person who gives blood or a body organ for the medical treatment of another person □ a kidney/blood donor. -2. [of money] a person who gives money, clothes etc to help other people □ an anonymous donor.

donor card n a card carried by a person that says they want their organs to be used in transplants after their death.

Don Quixote [ˌdɒnˈkwɪksət] a character in the novel Don Quixote de la Mancha (1605) by Cervantes. He thinks he is a romantic hero and does many foolish things, such as attacking windmills because he thinks they are monsters.

don't [daʊnt] = do not.

doodle ['duːdl] ◇ n a picture or pattern one draws because one is bored or is thinking about something else. ◇ vi to draw doodles.

doom [duːm] n something very bad that happens to somebody and that they cannot avoid, especially death □ an overriding sense of doom □ The news was all doom and gloom.

doomed [duːmd] adj [plan, mission, person] that is certain to end in failure, death, or disaster □ The scheme was doomed to failure/doomed to fail right from the start.

doona ['duːnə] n US & AUS [on a bed] = comforter.

door [dɔːr] n -1. a flat piece of wood, metal, glass etc that is attached to an opening in a building, room, car, piece of furniture etc, that can be opened or closed so that people can get in or out, or get something in or out □ The door was open/closed. □ Don't forget to lock the door behind you! □ Suddenly there was a knock on the door. □ There must be somebody at the door. ■ to open the door to sthg [to success, prosperity] to make sthg possible □ I'll show or see you to the door. -2. = doorway □ I came in through the door.

doorbell ['dɔːr'bel] n a bell at the entrance to a building that visitors ring to tell the people inside that they are there □ There was a ring at the doorbell.

doorhandle ['dɔːr'hændl] n a handle on a door that is turned to open and close the door.

doorknob ['dɔːr'nɒb] n a round handle on a door that is pushed or pulled to open and close the door.

doorknocker ['dɔːr'nɒkə] n a metal object that is attached to a door by a hinge and is used by visitors to knock at the door.

doorman ['dɔːr'mən] (pl doormen [-mən]) n a man whose job is to help visitors when they arrive at hotels, office buildings, theaters etc.

doormat ['dɔːr'mæt] n -1. a mat placed near a door for people to wipe their shoes on when they enter. -2. a person who one thinks is weak because they allow themselves to be treated badly by other people.

doorstep ['dɔːr'steɪp] n a step outside a front door or a back door.

doorstop ['dɔːr'stɒp] n a device or object used to stop a door from closing.

door-to-door adj [selling, survey] that involves going to every house in an area and speaking to the people there □ a door-to-door salesman.

doorway ['dɔːr'weɪ] n an entrance to a room or building that can be closed by a door □ Don't stand in the doorway, come in!

dope [dɒp] ◇ n -1. cannabis (drugs slang). -2. a person who one thinks is stupid (informal use). ◇ vt to give a drug to  in order to affect their performance or behavior (informal use).

dope test n a test carried out on the urine or blood of a person or animal in a sporting competition to make sure they have not taken or been given illegal drugs.

dopey ['dɒpi] (compar dopier, superl dopiest) adj (informal use) -1. to feel dopey to feel not completely awake. -2. [person] who is stupid.

dormant ['dɔːr'mənt] adj -1. [volcano] that is not active, but may become active in the future. -2. [idea, plan, law] that still exists but is not used or applied □ The idea had lain dormant for many years.

dormer (window) ['dɔːr'mə-] n a vertical window in a sloping roof.

dormice ['dɔːr'maɪs] plural of dormouse.

dormitory [US 'dɔːr'mətɔːrɪ, GB 'dɔːr'metrɪ] (pl dormitories) n -1. [at a school] a large room, especially in a boarding school, containing several beds for sleeping. -2. US [at a college, camp] a building at a college or camp where people live and sleep.

dormitory town n GB a town outside a larger town or city from which large numbers of people travel to work every day.

DormobileTM ['dɔːr'məbi:l] n GB a kind of van that people can live and sleep in while they travel.

dormouse ['dɔːr'maʊs] (pl dormice) n a small field mouse with a furry tail that hibernates in winter.

Dors abbr of Dorset.

Dorset ['dɔːr'sæt] n a county in southwestern England, on the English Channel. SIZE: 2,654 sq kms. POPULATION: 655,700. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Dorchester.

DOS [dɒs] (abbr of disk operating system) n a program that loads itself automatically when a computer is switched on. It lets the user operate the computer, and use other software □ It runs on DOS.

dosage ['dɒsɪdʒ] n the right amount of a drug or medicine that one must take at particular times.

dose [dɒs] ◇ n -1. [of medicine, a drug] a measured amount of something taken at one time □ What's the correct dose for adults? -2. [of flu] an amount or period of something, especially something unpleasant □ I caught a dose of food poisoning. ◇ vt to give medicine to <sb> □ He dosed himself with medicine and went to bed.

Dos Passos [US dɒs'pæsɒs, GB dɒs'pæsɒs], John (1896–1970) a US writer whose best-known work is a collection of three novels called U.S.A.

doss [dɒs] ◆ doss down vi GB to sleep in a place that is uncomfortable and is not one's usual bed (informal use).

dossier ['dɒsɪeɪ] n a file containing papers or documents about a particular person or subject.

Dostoyevsky [US dɒstə'jɛfski, GB -ɔɪ'ef-], Fyodor (1821–1881) a Russian novelist whose books show a great understanding of human behavior and had a strong influence on 20th-century literature. His major works are Crime and Punishment and The Brothers Karamazov.

dot [dɒt] (pt & pp dotted, cont dotting) ◇ n -1. [on material] a small round mark □ a blue fabric with white dots. -2. [on a page] a symbol (·) used in punctuation, mathematics, and music. ◇ vt -1. to be dotted over an area to be scattered over a wide area □ We have branches dotted all over the country. -2. to be dotted with sthg [with trees, houses] to have a lot of sthg in different places all over it □ The hills were dotted with trees.

◆ on the dot adv [arrive, leave] exactly on time or at the time stated (informal use) □ We left at three o'clock on the dot.

DOT (abbr of Department of Transportation) n the DOT the US government department responsible for transportation.

dotage ['dɒtɪdʒ] n to be in one's dotage to be old, so that one is weak and one's mind is slow.

dote [dɒt] ◆ dote on vt fus to dote on sb to love sb very much, often so much that one

- is thought to be stupid or weak □ He absolutely dotes on his granddaughter.
- doting ['dɔʊtɪŋ] adj [mother, husband] who dotes on somebody.
- dot-matrix printer n a printer used with a computer in which the shape of each character is formed by a series of dots.
NOTE: Compare daisywheel printer.
- dotted line ['dɒtəd-] n a line made up of a series of dots □ Cut along dotted line. ■ to sign on the dotted line to sign a contract or official document to show that one agrees to it.
- dotty ['dɒtɪ] (compar dottier, superl dottiest) adj [person] who one thinks is slightly crazy in an amusing way (informal use) □ a wonderfully dotty idea.
- double ['dʌbl] ◇ adj -1. [episode, murder] that includes or is made up of two similar things □ Go through the double doors. -2. to have a double meaning to have a meaning that can be understood in two different ways; [purpose, danger, advantage] that has two parts □ Sending him abroad could serve a double purpose. -3. [portion, whiskey] that is twice the normal amount or size □ A double gin, please. -4. [letter, number] a word used to show that a letter or number is repeated, e.g. when spelling a word or telling somebody a phone number □ Apple is spelled with a double "p".
◇ adv & predet -1. twice as much □ He asked for double the amount. -2. to be seeing double to see two of the same thing when there is only one thing there. -3. in two equal parts □ He folded the sheet double. ■ to be bent double to have one's body bent forward and down □ He was bent double with pain.
◇ n -1. [an amount] something that is twice the amount, size etc of something else □ I earn double what I used to. -2. a double an alcoholic drink that is twice the normal size □ Make it a double. -3. sb's double a person who looks exactly like sb □ You're the double of your mother. -4. CINEMA a person whose job is to take the place of a movie actor in dangerous scenes.
◇ vt [price, number, figure] to make <sthg> twice as large in amount, size etc □ They doubled their offer.
◇ vi -1. [price, number, figure] Profits have doubled over the last five years. -2. to double as sthg to have sthg as a second job, function, or use □ The manager doubles as our PR man. □ The dining room doubles as a study.
- ◆ doubles n a game of tennis, badminton etc in which two people play together against two other people □ a doubles match.
- ◆ double up vt sep to be doubled up in OR with sthg [in pain, with laughter] to bend one's body because one is in pain or because one is laughing.
- double act n a pair of performers, especially comedians, who work together.
- double agent n a spy who pretends to work for one country, while in fact working for that country's enemy.
- double-barreled US, double-barrelled GB [US '-berəld, GB '-bær-] adj -1. [shotgun, rifle] that has two barrels. -2. GB [name, surname] that has two surnames joined by a hyphen.
- double bass [-beɪs] n the largest and the lowest in pitch of the instruments in the violin family.
- double bed n a large bed for two people.
NOTE: Compare single bed.
- double-breasted [-'breɪstəd] adj [jacket, coat] that has two flaps at the front and is closed by crossing one side over the other side.
NOTE: Compare single-breasted.
- double-check ◇ vt [detail, fact, arrangement] to check <sthg> again in order to make sure that it is correct or safe □ Don't forget to double-check the reservation. ◇ vi: I'd better double-check.
- double chin n a fold of loose skin under the chin that fat people sometimes have.
- double cream n GB thick cream.
NOTE: Compare single cream.
- double-cross vt to betray <sb> by helping their enemies or breaking an agreement.
- double-dealer n a person who betrays or tricks somebody.
- double-decker [-'dekəʃ] n a bus with two floors.
- double-density adj [disk] that can store twice the amount of information that a normal disk stores.
- double-dutch n words that one does not understand (humorous use) □ It's all double-dutch to me.
- double-edged [-'edʒd] adj -1. [sword, blade] that has two sharp cutting edges. -2. [remark, success] that can be either good or bad.
- double entendre [,du:blɒn'tɒndrə] n a word or phrase that can be understood in two ways, one of which is usually sexual.
- double fault n in tennis, two mistakes made one after the other when serving the ball that result in the loss of a point.
- double figures npl to be in double figures to be any number higher than nine and lower than a hundred □ Inflation will soon reach double figures.
- double-glazing [-'glæɪzɪŋ] n a system used in windows and doors in which there are two panes of glass to keep a room warmer and quieter.
- double-jointed [-'dʒɔɪntəd] adj [person] whose joints can bend backward and forward further than those of most other people.
- double-park vi to park a car next to another parked car that is between one's own car and the curb.
- double-quick GB (informal use) ◇ adj extremely fast; as fast as possible. ◇ adv: Let's get out of here double-quick!
- double room n a large bedroom for two people in a hotel.
NOTE: Compare single room, twin room.
- double-sided [-'saɪdəd] adj [disk] that can store information on both sides; [tape] that is sticky on both sides.
- double standard n an idea about what is right and wrong that is applied to some people but not to others, and so is unfair.

double take n to do a double take to suddenly show surprise, shock etc after hearing or seeing something.

double-talk n something that somebody says that has two meanings so that it is confusing or deceiving.

double time n to be on double time to earn twice the usual wages for working on weekends, public holidays etc.

double vision n a medical condition caused by a head injury or by drinking too much alcohol, in which a person sees two images of every object.

double whammy [-'wæmi] n two bad things that happen to somebody one after the other (informal use).

doubly ['dʌbli] adv -1. doubly sure/difficult etc more sure/difficult etc than usual or than expected. -2. doubly complicated/important etc complicated/important etc for two reasons.

doubt [daʊt] ◇ n a feeling that something is perhaps not true ◇ They think they've found the ideal location, but I have my doubts. ◇ There's some doubt about the final result. ■ there is no doubt (that)... it is absolutely certain that... ◇ There's no doubt in my mind that he stole the money. ■ to cast doubt on sthg to act or speak in a way that makes other people uncertain about sthg ◇ This new evidence casts doubt on the verdict. ■ no doubt a phrase used when one suspects that something is true ◇ No doubt you're tired after your journey. ■ without (a) doubt certainly. ■ beyond (all) doubt definitely ◇ It has been proved beyond all doubt. ■ to be in doubt [person] to feel unsure about something; [result, future] to be uncertain ◇ I am in no doubt that this would have saved his life. ◇ I don't think your job is in doubt.

◇ vt -1. [person, somebody's motives, word] to have little confidence in <sb/sthg> ◇ I don't doubt his sincerity at all. -2. I doubt it I think that it is unlikely ◇ "Do you think they'll agree?" — "I doubt it." ■ to doubt whether or if... to consider it unlikely that... ◇ I doubt if they'll come now.

doubtful ['daʊtfl] adj -1. [result, possibility] unlikely ◇ "Will he come?" — "It seems doubtful." -2. [person, truth, origin] uncertain ◇ I'm rather doubtful about or of their chances of success. -3. of doubtful value that is probably worthless. ■ of doubtful character that is probably dishonest ◇ an account of doubtful authenticity.

doubtless ['daʊtləs] adv almost certainly ◇ Doubtless it will rain tomorrow.

dough [dou] n -1. a mixture of flour and water used to make bread, pastry etc ◇ Give the dough time to rise. -2. money (informal use).

doughnut ['daʊnʌt] n a small round cake of dough cooked in fat and covered in sugar.

Douglass ['dʌgləs], Frederick (1817–1895) a former slave who fought against slavery in the American Civil War. He later became a politician.

dour [dʊə] adj [person] who shows little humor and seems unfriendly ◇ a dour expression.

douse [daʊs] vt -1. [flames, blaze] to put  out with water. -2. [cloth, one's body] to pour liquid over <sthg> ◇ They doused the floor with gasoline and then set fire to it.

dove¹ [dʌv] n a white bird like a pigeon, often used as a symbol of peace.

dove² [dʊv] US past tense of dive.

dovecot(e) ['dʌvkɒt] n a small structure, usually made of wood, for doves and pigeons to live in.

Dover ['dʊvə] n a port in Kent, England, used especially by ferries going to and from France. POPULATION: 34,000.

dovetail ['dʌvteɪl] ◇ vt to join <two pieces of wood> together using a dovetail joint. ◇ vi [arrangements, plans] to fit together neatly ◇ That dovetails nicely with my other duties that day.

dovetail joint n a wedge-shaped joint used in carpentry to make two pieces of wood fit together.

dowager ['daʊdʒə] n a widow who got a title or property from her husband when he died.

dowdy ['daʊdi] (compar dowdier, superl dowdiest) adj [piece of clothing] that is not colorful, is old-fashioned, and is not attractive; [woman] who wears dowdy clothes and is not interesting.

Dow Jones [,daʊ'dʒoʊnz] n the Dow Jones (Industrial Average) a daily list showing the average of the price of the shares of thirty companies sold on the New York Stock Exchange. It is used as a guide to how the stock market is performing.

down [daʊn] ◇ adv -1. to look down to look from a higher position toward a lower one, or toward the ground ◇ He bent down and whispered in my ear. ◇ Come down off that ladder! ◇ He was knocked down by a car. ■ down in the valley in the valley below ◇ They live two floors down from us. -2. 21 down the word in a crossword written from top to bottom and with the number 21. -3. I'm going down to the mall I'm going from here to the mall. -4. to travel down to the coast to travel south from one's home or another place to the coast ◇ We traveled down to London together. -5. prices have gone down prices have become lower ◇ I have gotten my weight down to under 120 pounds. ◇ That radio's too loud, turn it down! -6. to write sthg down to write sthg on paper ◇ Don't worry, it's down in my calendar.

◇ prep -1. to run down the hill to run from the top to the bottom of the hill ◇ She came down the stairs to meet me. ◇ Tears ran down his face. ■ to fall down a hole to fall into a hole. -2. to walk down the street to walk along the street ◇ Guess who I saw coming down the path! ■ to go down the river to go along the river in the direction of the sea.

◇ adj -1. prices are down prices are lower. -2. two points down losing by two points ◇

Faldo is four strokes down on the leaders. -3. to feel down to feel a little depressed or unhappy (informal use) □ Don't let them get you down!

-4. to be down [computer system, telephones] to be not working because of a temporary fault □ I'm sorry, all our phones are down at the moment.

◇ n -1. [on a bird] small soft feathers used to fill bed covers, pillows etc; [on a person] small soft hairs on the face, arms etc.

-2. SPORT first down the first part of a game in football.

◇ vt -1. [opponent] to knock or hit <sb> to the ground. -2. [beer, dinner] to eat or drink <sthg> quickly □ He downed his drink quickly and left.

◆ downs npl a region of low, gentle, grassy hills.

◆ down to prep -1. to be down to sb/sthg to be the responsibility of sb/sthg □ It's all down to you now. -2. correct down to the last detail correct including every detail. -3. I am down to my last dollar I have only one dollar left.

◆ down with excl a phrase used to show one is against somebody or something □ Down with the Government!

down-and-out ◇ adj [person] who is poor and has no home. ◇ n a down-and-out person.

down-at-heel adj [person] who is badly dressed and in poor condition because they have little money.

downbeat ['daʊnbɪ:t] adj -1. [person, message, ending] that feels there is little hope for the future. -2. [person] who shows little emotion and does not try to attract attention.

downcast [US 'daʊnkæst, GB -kɑ:st] adj -1. to be downcast [person] to be sad and disappointed □ Don't be too downcast about it. -2. [eyes] looking toward the ground, because one is sad, embarrassed, confused etc (formal use).

downer ['daʊnə] n -1. ▽ a drug or substance that makes one feel calm and sleepy, such as a tranquilizer (drugs slang). -2. a depressing event or person (informal use).

downfall ['daʊnfɔ:l] n sb's downfall the reason why sb loses power, money, success etc □ Gambling was his downfall.

downgrade ['daʊnɡreɪd] vt [job, status, role] to make <sthg> less important; [employee] to give <sb> a less important job.

downhearted [ˌdaʊn'hɑ:təd] adj [person] who feels sad and discouraged.

downhill [ˌdaʊn'hɪl] ◇ adj -1. [slope, stretch, path] that goes downward □ It's mostly downhill from here to town. -2. downhill skiing the sport of skiing down slopes. ■ downhill skier a skier who skies down slopes. -3. phrase it's downhill all the way the most difficult part of the job, project etc has been completed and things will now become easier. ◇ adv -1. [run, race, walk] down a slope □ We cycled downhill then walked uphill. -2. to go downhill [person, career, marriage] to become weaker or less successful; [quality, area, hotel] to get worse □ His health went downhill rapidly after that. □ The place had gone downhill since the time I lived there. ◇ n the sport of skiing down slopes.

Downing Street ['daʊnɪŋ-] n the street in London where the British Prime Minister lives.

🏠 DOWNING STREET

Number 10 Downing Street is the official home of the British Prime Minister, while the Chancellor of the Exchequer lives at number 11. The term "Downing Street" is often used to mean the Prime Minister and his officials.

download ['daʊnləʊd] vt to copy or send <data, a file, a program> etc from one computer to another □ I'll just download this file onto the hard disk.

down-market ◇ adj [product, restaurant] that is cheap and of poor quality. ◇ adv: The area has really gone down-market.

down payment n the first payment, made at the time of buying, for something that one will pay for over a period of time.

downplay [ˌdaʊn'pleɪ] vt [event, situation] to make <sthg> seem less important than it really is.

downpour ['daʊnpɔ:ɹ] n a heavy fall of rain.

downright ['daʊnraɪt] ◇ adj -1. a downright lie/insult etc a very clear and upsetting lie/insult etc □ He's a downright cheat! -2. [person] who is honest and says immediately what they think. ◇ adv downright rude/unfriendly very rude/unfriendly □ That's downright insulting!

downside ['daʊnsaɪd] n the aspect of something that is bad or less useful □ The downside of the new offices is that we'll be paying more rent.

downsize [ˌdaʊn'saɪz] vt [company, business, industry] to make  smaller in size, e.g. by firing employees or by selling part of it.

Down's syndrome n a condition that causes people to be born with a flat forehead and sloping eyes, and to be less intelligent and physically developed than normal.

downstairs [ˌdaʊn'steəz] ◇ adj [apartment, room] that is on a lower floor or on the ground floor. ◇ adv [come, go, live] to or on a lower floor □ "Does Tom live here?" — "No, try downstairs."

downstream [ˌdaʊn'stri:m] adv [drift, sail, swim] in the direction of the current and toward the mouth of the river □ The boat floated gently downstream.

downtime ['daʊntaɪm] n the time during which a machine or computer is not working or being used.

down-to-earth adj [person, approach, manner] practical and realistic □ You'll like her — she's very sensible and down-to-earth.

downtown [ˌdaʊn'taʊn] ◇ adj [shop, office] that is in the center of a town or city □ downtown Moscow. ◇ adv [go, live] to or in the center of a town or city □ It's downtown, by the bridge.

downtrodden ['daʊntrɒdn] adj [people, workers] who are treated badly by people in positions of power.

downturn ['daʊntɜːn] n a decrease in success or in the production of something □ a downturn in the economy/productivity.

down under adv [live, go] in or to Australia or New Zealand.

downward ['daʊnwərd] ◇ adj -1. [movement, glance] in the direction of the ground. -2. [trend, spiral] that is becoming lower or less □ the continuing downward spiral in employment figures. ◇ adv [move, look] into a lower position or toward the ground □ The cave extends downward to a depth of 1,000 meters.

downwards ['daʊnwərdz] adv -1. = downward. -2. everyone from the President downwards the President and everyone of lower rank, position, or status.

downwind [daʊn'waɪnd] adv [drift, blow] in the same direction that the wind is blowing.

dowry ['daʊri] (pl dowries) n in some societies, the money or property that a husband receives from his wife's family when he gets married.

doz. abbr of dozen.

doze [doʊz] ◇ n a short light sleep □ I was just having a little doze. ◇ vi to have a doze □ Grandma sat dozing in her chair.

◆ doze off vi to fall asleep without intending to □ I must have dozed off.

dozen ['dɒzn] (pl dozen) num a dozen twelve □ a dozen eggs □ They cost $4.25 a dozen.

◆ dozens pron used to refer to very many people or things (informal use) □ I've met him dozens of times. □ "How many do you need?" — "Dozens."

DP n abbr of data processing.

DPh, DPhil [ˌdiː'fɪl] n = PhD.

DPP n abbr of Director of Public Prosecutions.

Dr. -1. [in a street name] abbr of drive. -2. [in a person's title] abbr of doctor.

drab [dræb] (compar drabber, superl drabbest) adj [color, room, life] that seems dull and uninteresting.

draconian [drə'kɔʊnjən] adj [measure, punishment, law] very severe.

Dracula ['drækjələ] a character in a novel (published in 1897) by Bram Stoker. He is a count who wears a black cape and drinks human blood.

draft [dræft] US, draught [dra:ft] GB ◇ n -1. [of a speech, contract, letter] a first version of a text that may be changed or corrected □ This is just the first draft. □ a draft speech/contract/letter. -2. FINANCE a money order □ a banker's draft. -3. the draft US MILITARY the system of making men of a particular age serve in the army, navy etc, especially during a war. -4. [in a room] a current of air, usually in a room □ Can you close the window? There's a terrible draft. -5. [of water, beer] a large amount of liquid that is swallowed by somebody; [of air] a large amount of air that is breathed in by somebody □ He took a deep draft of his beer. -6. on draft [beer] that is served by pumping it from a barrel through a special tap.

◇ vt -1. [speech, contract, letter] to write a draft of  □ I've drafted a letter of acceptance — see what you think. -2. MILITARY to order <sb> to join the army, navy etc. -3. [employee, manager] to transfer <sb> to another job, department, or country □ I've been drafted to help out in the accounting department.

draft beer n beer that is pumped from a barrel.

draft dodger [-dɒdʒə] n US a person who avoids doing their military service.

draftee [US ˌdræfˈtiː, GB ˌdrɑːf-] n US a person who joins the armed forces by being drafted, rather than by volunteering.

draftsman ['dræftsmən] US, draughtsman ['dra:ftsmən] GB (pl US draftsmen [-mən], GB draughtsmen [-mən]) n a person whose job is to make technical drawings, e.g. plans of machines or buildings.

draftsmanship ['dræftsmənʃɪp] US, draughtsmanship ['dra:ftsmənʃɪp] GB n the work or skill of a draftsman.

drafty ['dræftɪ] US, draughty ['dra:ftɪ] GB (US compar draftier, superl draftiest, GB compar draughtier, superl draughtiest) adj [room, house] that has drafts blowing through it.

drag [dræg] (pt & pp dragged, cont dragging) ◇ vt -1. [chair, feet, suitcase] to pull <sthg heavy> along the ground; [prisoner, hostage] to pull  roughly □ She dragged the trunk up the stairs. □ They had to practically drag him onto the plane. -2. [person] to force or persuade <sb> to go somewhere they do not want to go □ I'm sorry to drag you out on such a cold night. -3. [river, lake] to search <an area of water> for something by pulling nets or hooks along the bottom □ The police dragged the canal for the body.

◇ vi -1. [dress, coat] to touch the ground and be pulled along. -2. [time, meeting] to seem to happen more slowly than usual because one is bored □ After the first week the vacation started to drag.

◇ n -1. a boring or annoying job, activity etc (informal use) □ What a drag! -2. to take a drag to breathe in smoke from a cigarette, pipe etc that one is smoking (informal use). -3. [of the wind] the resistance caused by the wind. -4. to be in drag to be wearing the clothes of the opposite sex, usually as entertainment □ a drag artist/queen.

◆ drag down vt sep to drag sb down to bring sb down to a lower position in society or standard of behavior □ Marrying that man has really dragged her down.

◆ drag in vt sep to drag sb/sthg in [name, issue, question] to involve sb/sthg in something they have no connection with; to involve sb in something they do not want to be involved in □ There's no need to drag my mother into it. □ Don't drag me into your argument!

◆ drag on vi [meeting, time, day] to seem to go very slowly □ The meeting/Their speeches just dragged on and on all afternoon.

♦ drag out vt sep -1. to drag sthg out [talks, negotiations, meeting] to make sthg last longer than necessary. -2. to drag sthg out of sb [fact, truth, information] to force sb to tell one sthg that they do not want to tell □ I finally dragged it out of her.

dragnet ['dræɡnet] n -1. [for objects] a net that is dragged along the bottom of a river or lake in order to try to find something. -2. [for criminals] a system or plan for catching criminals.

dragon ['dræɡən] n -1. in children's stories, an animal that has wings and skin like a snake's and can breathe fire. -2. a woman who one thinks is fierce and unpleasant (informal use).

dragonfly ['dræɡənflaɪ] (pl dragonflies) n a large brightly-colored insect with a long thin body and two pairs of wings. It lives near rivers and lakes.

dragoon [drə'ɡu:n] ◇ n in the past, a soldier who fought on a horse. ◇ vt to dragoon sb into doing sthg to force sb to do sthg that they do not want to do.

drag racing n a type of racing in which special cars are timed over a fixed distance.

dragster ['dræɡstəʃ] n a car that has been built or adapted for drag racing, usually with a large engine and back wheels, and small front wheels.

drain [dreɪn] ◇ n -1. [for water] a pipe for carrying away water or sewage. ■ to go down the drain [money, work] to be wasted □ Well, that's $500 down the drain! -2. to be a drain on sthg [on resources, funds, time] to use up sthg that is needed for other people or things □ The creative department is an unnecessary drain on our resources.

◇ vt -1. [carrots, tank, marsh] to remove the liquid from <food, a container, place> etc □ Drain the vegetables and serve with rice. -2. [energy, funds, resources] to use <sthg> up □ This last project drained almost all of our funds. -3. to be drained to be very tired and have no energy □ I feel drained. -4. [glass, bottle] to drink all the liquid in  □ He drained his glass in one gulp.

◇ vi -1. [dishes, vegetables] to become dry because one lets the water or liquid drip off. -2. [blood, water] to flow away □ The color drained from her face.

drainage ['dreɪnɪdʒ] n -1. a system for draining something □ a drainage ditch. -2. the process of draining something.

drainboard ['dreɪnbɔ:rd] US, draining board ['dreɪnɪŋ-] GB n a sloping surface, usually next to a sink, where dishes can drain.

drainpipe ['dreɪnpaɪp] n a pipe that carries away water or sewage, usually fixed to the side of a building.

♦ drainpipes npl = drainpipe trousers.

drainpipe trousers npl GB trousers with narrow straight legs.

drake [dreɪk] n a male duck.

Drake [dreɪk], Sir Francis (1540–1596) the first British sea captain to sail around the world.

dram [dræm] n a small glass of an alcoholic drink, usually Scotch whisky □ a dram of whisky.

drama ['drɑ:mə] n -1. TV & RADIO a serious play □ a TV/radio drama. -2. THEATER the art of writing or performing plays □ Greek/modern drama □ a drama school/student/critic. -3. a serious and exciting situation □ a real-life courtroom drama.

dramatic [drə'mætɪk] adj -1. [work, production] connected with the theater □ the dramatic arts. -2. [event, gesture, escape] that is exciting and makes people notice □ one of the most dramatic discoveries since DNA. -3. [change, recovery, improvement] that is sudden and noticeable □ Don't worry, nothing dramatic has happened — just a few changes, that's all.

dramatically [drə'mætɪkli] adv -1. [change, recover, improve] see dramatic. -2. [say, announce, enter] in a way that is intended to be exciting or to make people notice.

dramatist ['dræmətɪst] n a person who writes plays.

dramatization [,dræmətaɪ'zeɪʃn] n [of a book, story] see dramatize.

dramatize, -ise ['dræmətaɪz] vt -1. THEATER [book, story] to adapt  so that it can be performed as a play or movie. -2. [situation, event] to make <sthg that has happened> seem more exciting than it really is (disapproving use) □ There's no need to dramatize the situation.

drank [dræŋk] past tense of drink.

drape [dreɪp] vt to hang <cloth, material> etc in folds, so that it covers something in an attractive way. ■ to be draped with OR in sthg [with silk, in a cloak] to be covered with sthg.

♦ drapes npl US pieces of material that can be pulled in front of a window to keep out light or stop people from seeing in □ Open/Close the drapes, will you?

draper ['dreɪpə] n GB a person who sells cloth.

drastic ['dræstɪk] adj -1. [measure, cut] that is extreme and needed urgently because the situation is serious □ Drastic steps must be taken. □ She's threatening to do something drastic. -2. [change, improvement] that seems very big and noticeable □ I didn't notice any drastic differences.

drastically ['dræstɪkli] adv [change, improve] see drastic □ Our funding has been cut drastically.

draught etc GB = draft etc.

draughtboard [US 'dræftbɔ:rd, GB 'dra:ftbɔ:d] n GB = checkerboard.

draught excluder [-ekskludəʃ] n GB a strip of foam or other material fixed to the edge of a door or window to stop drafts in a house.

draughts [US dræfts, GB draifts] n GB a game for two people, played on a board with 64 black and white squares, in which each player has twelve round pieces that move diagonally.

draw [drɔ:] (pt drew, pp drawn) ◇ vt -1. [object, shape, scene] to represent <sthg> by making marks on a surface, especially with a pencil on a piece of paper; [portrait, sketch] to make , usually with a pencil or pen □ He drew a tree/map on the back of the envelope.

-2. [cart, person, object] to pull <sb/sthg> in a particular direction □ He drew her gently toward him. ■ to draw the curtains to open or close the curtains by pulling them. -3. to draw breath to breathe in. -4. to draw a gun/knife to pull a gun/knife out of its holder and be ready to use it □ He drew a gun from his pocket. -5. to draw a conclusion to reach a conclusion about something □ You must draw your own conclusions. -6. to draw a distinction/comparison etc to make a distinction/comparison etc □ I don't want to draw any comparisons between Mary and her sister. -7. [criticism, praise] to attract <sb/sthg> □ The event drew crowds of people. ■ to be drawn to sb/sthg to feel attracted to sb/sthg. ■ to draw sb's attention to sthg to make sb notice sthg □ May I draw your attention to page six of the contract?

◇ vi -1. [person] to make a picture, usually with a pencil or pen □ I can't draw very well. -2. to draw away/near etc [person, animal] to move away/near etc gradually or slowly □ He drew away from/nearer to the fire. □ The date for the contest drew closer. ■ to draw to an end OR a close to finish gradually □ The game was drawing to its conclusion. -3. GB SPORT to end a game or sporting event with the same number of points as one's opponent □ Italy and Nigeria drew. □ Italy drew with Nigeria.

◇ n -1. SPORT the result of a game or sporting event in which two teams or opponents draw □ The match ended in a draw. -2. GAMBLING a lottery; the act of choosing the winner of a lottery □ a prize draw □ That's the luck of the draw. -3. to be a (big) draw to be something which attracts a lot of people □ The show proved to be a big draw.

◆ draw in vi [nights] to become dark earlier as winter approaches □ It's October and the nights are already drawing in.

◆ draw into vt sep to draw sb into sthg [into a dispute, discussion] to involve sb in sthg □ I refused to be drawn into the argument.

◆ draw on vi fus -1. = draw upon. -2. to draw on sthg [on a cigarette, pipe] to breathe in smoke from sthg.

◆ draw out vt sep -1. to draw sb out [newcomer, shy person] to make sb feel less nervous or shy □ Go and talk to her and try to draw her out a little. -2. to draw sthg out [meeting, speech] to make sthg last longer than necessary □ Professor Newman drew his speech out endlessly. -3. to draw money out FINANCE to take money out of a bank account □ I drew out $100 only last week.

◆ draw up ◇ vt sep to draw sthg up [plan, list, contract] to prepare and write sthg □ Draw up a list of the people you want to contact, then I'll type it out for you. ◇ vi [vehicle] to stop □ A large Mercedes drew up outside.

◆ draw upon vt fus to draw upon sthg [information, reserves, knowledge] to use sthg in order to do something better □ I was able to draw upon my previous experience.

drawback ['drɔːbæk] n a disadvantage, especially one of several □ The main drawback to the plan is its cost.

drawbridge ['drɔːbrɪdʒ] n a bridge that can be pulled up to stop people from crossing it, or to allow ships to pass beneath it.

drawer [drɔːɹ] n a part of a desk or chest that slides out so that clothes, papers etc can be put in or taken out.

drawing ['drɔːɪŋ] n -1. [of a person, object] a picture that has been drawn □ I did a quick drawing of the house. -2. the art or skill of making pictures with a pen or pencil □ I'm terrible at drawing. □ drawing materials.

drawing board n a large board, usually fixed on a frame, where architects or draftsmen put their paper when drawing or designing something. ■ back to the drawing board! a phrase used when an idea or project has failed and one has to start again (informal use).

drawing pin n GB a short pin with a round flat head, used for attaching papers to bulletin boards or walls.

drawing room n a living room (old-fashioned use).

drawl [drɔːl] ◇ vi to speak slowly using long vowel sounds. ◇ vt: "Hi there," she drawled. ◇ n the way somebody speaks when they drawl □ "I sure do," he said in a Southern drawl.

drawn [drɔːn] ◇ past participle of draw. ◇ adj -1. to be drawn [curtain, blind] to be closed □ The curtains were drawn. -2. to look drawn [person] to look thin because one is tired, ill, or worried □ Shona returned, looking tired and drawn.

drawn-out adj [meeting, speech] that lasts longer than necessary □ The party was a long-drawn-out affair.

drawstring ['drɔːstrɪŋ] n a string that goes around the opening of something such as a bag, and closes it when pulled.

dread [dred] ◇ n a feeling of fear and deep worry about something bad that might happen □ He lived in dread of the Mafia/losing his business. ◇ vt [meeting, exam] to feel afraid and worried about <sthg> because it is likely to be unpleasant □ She's dreading the trip/going into the hospital. ■ I dread to think a phrase used to show that one is worried about something, or imagines that something will be unpleasant □ I dread to think what our losses will be. □ "I wonder what Nick will be wearing." — "I dread to think!"

dreaded ['dredəd] adj [disease, person] that causes a feeling of dread □ You didn't have to talk to the dreaded Mike Pearsons, did you!

dreadful ['dredfl] adj -1. [accident, pain, illness] that is very serious □ The passengers on board suffered dreadful injuries. ■ to feel dreadful [person] to feel ill □ This headache is making me feel dreadful. -2. to feel dreadful about sthg to feel embarrassed and guilty about sthg □ I feel dreadful about it now! -3. [waste, behavior, noise] that one thinks is very bad □ Do you have to keep making that dreadful noise!

dreadfully ['dredflɪ] adv -1. [hurt, behave, perform] very badly. -2. dreadfully sorry/boring etc very sorry/boring etc (informal use) □ Tessa will be dreadfully upset when she hears you can't make it.

dreadlocks ['dredlɒks] npl long hair that is twisted into small braids, often worn by Rastafarians.

dream [dri:m] (pt & pp dreamed OR dreamt) ◇ n -1. a series of images that one experiences during sleep □ I had a bad dream last night. -2. something that one wants very much □ His dream is to become the next CEO. □ the woman/job of his dreams. ■ to be beyond one's wildest dreams to be better than one ever imagined □ wealth beyond one's wildest dreams!

◇ adj a dream trip/job etc a trip/job etc that one thinks would be very enjoyable and that one wants very much.

◇ vt to experience <imaginary events> during sleep □ I dreamt (that) I was in a strange house. ■ I never dreamed this would happen I did not think that this would happen.

◇ vi -1. to have a dream □ I dreamed of OR about my grandparents. ■ I wouldn't dream of it! I wouldn't do it because I think it would be wrong or inappropriate □ "Don't tell anybody." — "I wouldn't dream of it." □ She wouldn't dream of complaining. -2. to dream of sthg to wish very much for sthg □ He'd always dreamed of having his own business.

◆ dream up vt sep to dream sthg up [excuse, story, idea] to invent sthg, especially sthg that other people do not take seriously □ What excuse has he dreamed up this time?

dreamer ['dri:mə] n a person whose ideas are not realistic or practical □ James? He's always been a dreamer, hasn't he.

dreamily ['dri:mɪli] adv [look, walk] slowly and without concentrating □ Michela stared dreamily out at the falling snow.

dreamt [dremt] past tense & past participle of dream.

Dreamtime ['dri:mtaɪm] n in Australian Aboriginal mythology, the period when the world was formed.

DREAMTIME

All the ancient stories of the Australian Aborigines are about Dreamtime, the time when the Earth, and living things, were formed. Each people has its own story that describes how the particular landscape around them was created, and each generation is taught how to "read" the story in the features of the landscape, such as trees, animals, and rocks. Most traditional Aboriginal art is based on stories about Dreamtime.

dream world n an imaginary world □ He must be living in a dream world.

dreamy ['dri:mɪ] (compar dreamier, superl dreamiest) adj -1. [smile, expression] that shows one is thinking about something pleasant, and not concentrating □ He had that dreamy look that he always has when he's in love. -2. [music, feeling] peaceful and like a dream □ The movie had an odd, dreamy kind of atmosphere.

dreary ['driəri] (compar drearier, superl dreariest) adj -1. [weather, day] that is dark and makes one feel sad □ Another dreary Sunday afternoon. -2. [person, life, work] that one thinks is boring □ the same old dreary routine.

dredge [dredʒ] vt to remove the mud from the bottom of  etc to make it deeper or to look for something.

◆ dredge up vt sep -1. to dredge sthg up [mud, body, treasure] to bring sthg up from the bottom of a river or harbor. -2. to dredge sthg up [memory, crime, relationship] to remember or remind somebody of sthg from the past □ They've been dredging up all kinds of odd facts about Pablo's past.

dredger ['dredʒə] n a ship or machine for dredging rivers or harbors.

dregs [dregz] npl -1. [of tea, coffee, wine] the solid particles and the last few drops of liquid at the bottom of a glass or cup □ "Is there any coffee left?" — "Just the dregs." -2. the dregs of society the people in a society who are considered to be the most unpleasant and useless.

drench [drentʃ] vi to make <sb/sthg> completely wet □ He was drenched in OR with sweat.

dress [dres] ◇ n -1. [for a woman] a woman's piece of clothing that consists of a skirt and top in one piece □ a wedding/summer dress. -2. [for an occasion, of a people] a particular type of clothing □ They were wearing evening/national/traditional dress.

◇ vt -1. [child, invalid] to put clothes on <sb>. ■ to be dressed to have clothes on; to be wearing the clothes that one intends to wear for the day □ Aren't you dressed yet? ■ to be dressed in black/blue etc to be wearing black/blue etc clothes. ■ to get dressed to put all one's clothes on. -2. MEDICINE to clean  and cover it with a bandage. -3. COOKING to cover  with dressing.

◇ vi -1. to put all one's clothes on □ I quickly washed, dressed, and cleaned my teeth. -2. to wear a particular style of clothes □ She always dresses very fashionably.

◆ dress up ◇ vt sep to dress sthg up [facts, statements] to make sthg seem more interesting or attractive than it really is □ They accused the management of dressing up old ideas in a new format. ◇ vi -1. [as somebody] to put on different or unusual clothes in order to disguise oneself or for amusement □ She dressed up as a clown. □ He dressed up in his father's old clothes. -2. [for an occasion] to put on elegant or formal clothes for a special occasion □ There's no need to dress up — it should be fairly informal.

dressage [US drə'su:ʒ, GB 'dresu:ʒ] n a competition in which a rider has to make a horse perform particular movements.

dress circle n the first balcony upstairs in a theater.

dress code n a set of rules or instructions that say what one should wear in a particular situation, e.g. at work or at a social event.

dresser ['dresə] n -1. US [for clothes] a piece of furniture with a mirror on top that has drawers for storing clothes. -2. a smart/casual etc dresser a person who dresses in a smart/casual etc way □ He's a flashy/sloppy dresser. -3. GB [for dishes] a piece of furniture that has open shelves in the top part and cupboards in the bottom for storing dishes.

dressing ['dresɪŋ] n -1. MEDICINE something that covers a wound, e.g. a bandage or anti-septic cream □ This will need a clean dressing. -2. [for salad] a kind of sauce, e.g. of oil and vinegar, that one puts on a salad □ Do you want some dressing on your salad? -3. US [for turkey] a mixture of small pieces of food that is put inside a turkey before cooking.

dressing gown n a loose piece of clothing like a coat, usually worn immediately after getting out of bed.

dressing room n -1. SPORT a room in a sports stadium where athletes or players can change clothes. -2. THEATER a room in a theater, film studio etc where actors or performers can change their clothes.

dressing table n a piece of furniture that has a drawer, a flat top, and small mirror, and is usually used in a bedroom.

dressmaker ['dresmeɪkə] n a person whose job is to make women's or children's clothes.

dressmaking ['dresmeɪkɪŋ] n the skill or activity of making women's or children's clothes.

dress rehearsal n the last rehearsal of a play, opera etc in which the performers wear their costumes, and the stage is lit and decorated as if for a public performance.

dress shirt n a shirt, usually white with a decorated front, worn by men on formal occasions.

dressy ['dresi] (compar dressier, superl dressiest) adj [piece of clothing, person, occasion] that looks elegant and fashionable.

drew [dru:] past tense of draw.

dribble ['drɪbl] ◇ n -1. [of saliva] saliva that is coming from somebody's mouth. -2. a small amount of liquid that is moving, e.g. blood or water. ◇ vt -1. to spill small amounts of <liquid> □ Careful, you're dribbling soup all down your front. -2. SPORT in soccer, basketball etc, to move <the ball> as one moves forward, by giving it frequent short kicks or bounces. ◇ vi [baby] to let small amounts of saliva come out of one's mouth.

dribs [dribz] npl in dribs and drabs in small irregular amounts, rather than all together □ People kept arriving in dribs and drabs.

dried [draɪd] ◇ past tense & past participle of dry. ◇ adj [food, flower] that has been preserved by drying □ dried apricots/pears.

dried fruit n fruit, especially grapes, figs, dates etc, that has been preserved by drying.

dried-up adj [well, river] that has no water.

drier ['draɪə] n = dryer.

drift [drɪft] ◇ n -1. [of people, animals, a current] a general movement in a particular direction □ a drift back to home ownership □ a population drift. -2. [of snow, sand, leaves] a large mass of something that has been formed into a pile by the wind □ The snow lay in drifts. -3. [of a conversation, remark] the general meaning of something □ I don't think I catch your drift. ◇ vi -1. [boat] to be carried along by the current or the wind □ We drifted downstream/toward the shore. -2. [snow] to be blown into piles by the wind. -3. [person] to gradually go somewhere, do something, or get into a situation, often without planning or intending to □ He drifted from one job to another. □ He drifted into a life of crime.

◆ drift apart vi [couple, friends] to gradually see each other less often and become less close □ We just drifted apart over the years.

◆ drift off vi [person] to fall asleep gradually □ I must have drifted off.

drifter ['drɪftə] n a person who drifts between places, jobs etc (disapproving use).

driftwood ['drɪftwʊd] n wood that drifts in a river or the ocean, or that has drifted to the shore □ a piece of driftwood.

drill [drɪl] ◇ n -1. [for making holes] a tool or machine with a sharp end that spins around and is used for making holes, e.g. in a wall, in the road, or in an oilfield □ a dentist's/an electric drill. -2. [for soldiers, students] a training exercise □ a fire/battle drill.

◇ vt -1. [tooth, rock] to make a hole in <sth> using a drill. -2. [oil well, tunnel] to make  using a drill. -3. [students, soldiers] to teach <sb> by making them repeat the same exercise many times. ■ to drill sthg into sb to make sb learn sthg by repeating it to them many times □ We had it drilled into us that we shouldn't talk at the table.

◇ vi -1. to make a hole in something using a drill. ■ to drill into sthg [into wood, a tooth, the ground] to drill a hole in sthg. -2. to make a deep hole in the ground or in the ocean bed using a drill. ■ to drill for sthg [for oil, water] to drill a deep hole in the hope of finding sthg.

drilling platform ['drɪlɪŋ-] n a structure built above the surface of the ocean to house the people and support the equipment needed to drill below the ocean bed.

drily ['draɪli] adv = dryly.

drink [drɪŋk] (pt drank, pp drunk) ◇ vt [water, coffee, wine] to fill one's mouth with <liquid> and swallow it □ What would you like to drink? □ Would you like something to drink? ◇ vi -1. to drink a liquid □ I prefer to drink from the bottle. -2. to drink alcoholic drinks □ She doesn't drink. ◇ n -1. [of water, lemonade] an amount of a liquid that is drunk □ I had a drink of water/milk. -2. [of alcohol] an alcoholic drink, e.g. beer, wine, or whiskey □ Let's go for/have a drink after work. -3. alcoholic drinks □ I'm off drink for the time being.

◆ drink to vt fus to drink to sb/sthg [to a person, plan, idea] to hold up one's glass before drinking and express one's good wishes to or approval of <sb/sthg> □ We drank to their success. □ I'll drink to that!

drinkable ['drɪŋkəbl] adj -1. [water] that is safe to drink □ Is the water here drinkable? -2. [wine] that is good enough to drink □ "What's the wine like?" — "Well, it's just about drinkable."

drink-driving n GB = drunk-driving.

drinker ['drɪŋkə] n -1. a person who drinks alcohol, especially a lot of alcohol □ a heavy drinker. -2. a tea/coffee etc drinker a person who drinks tea/coffee etc □ I'm not a big coffee drinker.

drinking ['drɪŋkɪŋ] n the act or habit of drinking alcohol □ His drinking is becoming a problem. □ a drinking companion/session.

drinking fountain n a device that provides drinking water, usually in public places.

drinking-up time n GB the time that customers in pubs are given to finish their drinks after the landlord has stopped serving.

drinking water n water that is safe to drink.

drink machine US, drinks machine GB n a machine that automatically produces drinks such as coffee, lemonade etc.

drip [drɪp] (pt & pp dripped, cont dripping) ◇ n -1. [of water, a faucet] the flow of drops of liquid falling one after the other □ the steady drip of water on the roof. -2. MEDICINE a piece of medical equipment that gradually lets small amounts of liquid into a patient's bloodstream through a tube. -3. [person] somebody who one thinks is weak and dull (informal use) □ He's such a drip, that boy. ◇ vt to drop small amounts of <water, blood, paint> etc. ◇ vi -1. [water, rain, blood] to fall in small drops, one after the other □ Don't let the paint drip on the carpet. -2. [faucet] to let water drip. -3. [nose] to let mucus drip. -4. to be dripping with sthg [with sweat, blood] to have a lot of sthg liquid on one's clothes or body.

drip-dry adj [clothing] that dries without creases if it is hung up wet after being washed, and does not need to be ironed.

dripping ['drɪpɪŋ] ◇ adj [faucet] that loses water in drips. ◇ adv dripping wet very wet. ◇ n the fat that comes from meat when it is cooked.

drive [draɪv] (pt drove, pp driven) ◇ n -1. [in a car, bus] a trip in a vehicle, sometimes only for pleasure; the distance traveled during this trip □ We went for a drive in the country. □ How was the drive? □ The house is a 100-mile drive from here. -2. [of a person] a particular strong desire or need that all people have □ sex drive. -3. [of a company] a determined effort to do something, usually by a group of people □ a drive to clean up the neighborhood. -4. to have drive to have the energy and determination to do things □ She's got real drive. -5. = driveway. -6. SPORT the act of hitting a ball, e.g. in golf, so that it travels fast or a long distance. -7. US [in an automatic car] the position of the controls in an automatic car that allows it to move forward.

◇ vt -1. [car, bus, truck] to make  move by sitting inside it and controlling the engine, steering wheel etc □ I drove the car over to Matt's and left it there. -2. [passenger] to take <sb> somewhere in a vehicle, especially a car □ She drove me to the airport. □ He always drives the children to school. -3. [generator, engine] to provide power for  □ It's driven by solar power. -4. [army, cattle] to force  to move in a particular direction □ The attackers were driven back. □ The farmer drove his sheep back to their pen. -5. [ambitious person, politician, scientist] to give <sb> a great desire to do something □ What is it that drives her? □ He was driven by greed and ambition. -6. to drive sb to sthg [to murder, drink] to force sb to do sthg after a long time; [to despair, desperation] to force sb to feel sthg after a long time □ Those kids are driving me to distraction. ■ to drive sb crazy or mad to make sb insane; to irritate sb very much □ His wife's jealousy drove him crazy. □ That noise is driving me crazy. -7. [nail, stake] to push or hit <sthg> in a particular direction using a lot of strength □ He drove the pole into the ground. -8. SPORT to hit  very hard so that it travels very fast in a particular direction.

◇ vi -1. to drive a vehicle □ He drove off in his car. -2. to travel somewhere in a vehicle □ We're driving down to Miami.

◆ drive at vt fus what are you driving at? what are you trying to say? □ What I'm driving at is that all these incidents must somehow be related.

◆ drive out vt sep to drive sb/sthg out [person, thought, evil spirit] to force sb/sthg to go away □ You've got to drive these thoughts right out of your mind.

drive-in ◇ adj a drive-in restaurant/movie theater etc a restaurant/movie theater etc that provides a service for people while they stay in their cars. ◇ n -1. [for food] a restaurant that serves food to customers while they stay in their cars. -2. [for movies] an outdoor movie theater where people watch the movie from their cars.

drivel ['drɪvl] n words that make no sense; a very bad piece of writing (informal use) □ Don't talk such drivel!

driven ['drɪvn] past participle of drive.

driver ['draɪvə] n -1. [of a car, bus] a person who drives a car, bus etc; a person whose job is to drive a bus, car etc □ The driver was not hurt in the accident. -2. COMPUTING a computer program used to control a connected device.

driver's license US, driving licence GB n an official document that shows that one is legally allowed to drive.

drive shaft n the shaft that carries power from the gearbox to the wheels of a vehicle.

driveway ['draɪvweɪ] n a private road that goes from a public road to a house or garage.

driving ['draɪvɪŋ] ◇ adj driving wind/ambition very strong wind/ambition □ The climbers struggled against the driving wind and rain. ◇ n the activity of driving a vehicle.

driving force n the most important person or thing that influences something □ She was the driving force behind the movement.

driving instructor n a person whose job is to teach other people how to drive.

driving lesson n a lesson in which somebody is taught how to drive.

driving licence n GB = driver's license.

driving school n a company that teaches people how to drive.

driving test n a test that a person must pass before they are legally allowed to drive alone.

drizzle ['drɪzl] ◇ n very fine rain. ◇ v impers to rain very gently □ It's been drizzling all day.

droll [droul] adj [humor, remark] that is funny in an unusual way.

dromedary [US 'drɒmədəri, GB -ədəri] (pl dromedaries) n a camel with one hump.

drone [droun] ◇ n -1. [of an insect, airplane, voice] a low humming sound that stays the same □ The drone of the engine made her sleepy. -2. ZOOLOGY a male honeybee. ◇ vi [insect, engine, airplane] to make a sound like a drone.

◆ drone on vi to speak for a long time in a boring way □ She droned on for an hour about insurance claims.

drool [dru:l] vi -1. [person] to let saliva fall from the mouth. -2. to drool over sb/sthg to admire sb/sthg in a way that makes one look ridiculous □ Everyone was drooling over the new baby.

droop [dru:p] vi -1. [head, eyelids, flower] to hang downward, especially because of tiredness, weakness etc □ His eyelids began to droop. -2. [spirits, person] to become less lively □ She began to droop noticeably toward the end of the evening.

drop [drɒp] (pt & pp dropped, cont dropping) ◇ n -1. [of liquid] a very small amount of a liquid that has formed a round shape and falls somewhere □ a drop of blood. -2. [of whiskey, milk] a small amount of a drink □ Would you like a drop of wine? -3. [for sucking] a small round candy that is made to be sucked □ a cough/fruit drop. -4. [in value, level] a decrease in the value or amount of something □ There's been a sharp drop in temperature today. □ a price drop. -5. [from a high place] the distance from the top to the bottom of something that a person or object can fall □ It was a sheer drop to the bottom. □ a 20-foot drop.

◇ vt -1. [glass, plate, wallet] to let <sb/sthg> that one is holding or carrying> fall, especially accidentally □ Be careful not to drop it! □ They dropped two bombs over the harbor. -2. [level, price, amount] to make the amount or value of <sthg> lower □ He dropped his speed. □ You're going to have to drop your prices. -3. to drop one's voice to talk more quietly □ She dropped her voice to a confidential whisper. -4. [idea, plan] to stop considering or talking about <sthg>; [math, history] to stop studying <sthg>; [friend] to stop being friendly to <sb>; [player] to leave <sb> out of a team □ Look, let's just drop the subject, okay? □ If I were you, I'd drop the whole idea. □ When he heard the news, he dropped everything and rushed home. □ I dropped French and studied German instead. -5. [passenger] to leave <sb> at a place after driving them there □ She dropped me at the airport. -6. [remark, hint] to mention <sthg> without saying it directly or making it seem important □ He kept dropping hints about Christmas and gifts and things. -7. SPORT to lose  etc. -8. to drop sb a note OR line to send sb a short letter □ Drop me a line when you know more about it.

◇ vi -1. [cup, stone] to fall straight down to the ground; [person] to fall down or feel as if one is going to fall down because one is tired or ill; [ground] to go down to a lower level □ Her keys dropped out of her bag. □ We walked until we dropped. □ The cliffs drop down to the ocean. -2. [temperature, price, wind] to become less big, high, strong etc □ Attendance has been dropping all season. -3. [voice] to become quieter □ Her voice dropped to a whisper.

◆ drops npl liquid medicine that is taken or used in small amounts with a dropper □ eye/ear drops.

◆ drop by vi to make an informal visit, usually without arranging it first □ Why don't you drop by if you're in town again next Wednesday?

◆ drop in vi = drop by □ He dropped in on me quite unexpectedly.

◆ drop off ◇ vt sep to drop sb off to leave sb at a place after driving them there □ Can you drop me off at the corner, please? ◇ vi -1. [person] to fall asleep, sometimes without intending to □ The baby gradually dropped off to sleep. -2. [number, level] to become less high; [interest, support] to become less strong □ Sales are/Business is beginning to drop off.

◆ drop out vi to stop going to something or taking part in it, with no plans to go back □ He dropped out of school at 16.

dropcloth ['drɒpkloθ] n US a large cloth used to cover furniture to protect it from dust.

drop-in centre n GB a place run by the social services or a charity where people can go for company, advice etc.

droplet ['drɒplət] n a very small drop.

dropout ['drɒpaut] n -1. [from college] a person who has dropped out of school or college before finishing their studies. -2. [from society] a person who has chosen to live and behave in a way that is different from the way most people live and behave, e.g. by refusing to do a full-time job.

dropper ['drɒpə] n a short glass tube with a rubber cap at one end, used for measuring out small amounts of liquid.

droppings ['drɒpɪŋz] npl the excrement of birds and animals.

drop shot n a shot in tennis, badminton etc in which the ball is hit gently so that it falls to the ground just after it crosses the net.

dross [dros] n -1. something that has been

- very badly made, written etc (disapproving use) □ Most of the book is complete dross. -2. INDUSTRY the waste material that appears on the surface of a metal when it melts.
- drought [draʊt] n a long period of time in which little or no rain falls and there is not enough water □ The effects of the drought are starting to be felt.
- drove [draʊv] ◇ past tense of drive. ◇ n in droves in large numbers □ The crowds were arriving in droves.
- drown [draun] ◇ vt -1. to kill  by keeping them underwater so that they cannot breathe □ They drowned the kittens when they were born. -2. [speech, sound] to prevent <sb/sthg> from being heard □ His voice was drowned out by cries of protest. ◇ vi [person, animal] to die because one is underwater and unable to breathe □ Two men are missing, believed drowned.
- drowsy ['draʊzi] (compar drowsier, superl drowsiest) adj [person, animal] that is sleepy and unable to think clearly □ The pills make you feel drowsy, so don't drive when you take them.
- drudge [drʌdʒ] n a person who does a lot of hard boring work.
- drudgery ['drʌdʒəri] n work that is hard and boring but that must be done.
- drug [drʌg] (pt & pp drugged, cont drugging) ◇ n -1. MEDICINE a substance used to treat a person who is ill. -2. a substance, usually illegal, that people smoke, sniff, swallow, or inject for pleasure or excitement or because they are addicted to it □ It was clear that he was on drugs. □ She started taking drugs at fifteen. □ a drug problem. ◇ vt -1. [prisoner, patient] to make  sleepy or unconscious by giving them a drug. -2. [meal, coffee] to add a drug to <food or drink> to make somebody unconscious or sleepy.
- drug abuse n the use of drugs, especially illegal drugs, for pleasure or excitement.
- drug addict n a person who cannot stop taking drugs.
- drug addiction n the state of being addicted to a particular drug.
- druggist ['drʌgɪst] n US a person who prepares and sells medicines.
- drug pusher n a person who sells illegal drugs.
- drugstore ['drʌgstɔː] n US a shop that sells medicines and drugs, and items such as beauty products, office supplies, and snacks.
- druid ['drʉ:ɪd] n a priest of a religion that existed in Britain, Ireland, and France before Christianity; a modern follower of this religion.
- drum [drʌm] (pt & pp drummed, cont drumming) ◇ n -1. MUSIC a musical instrument consisting of a skin stretched over a hollow round frame that is played by hitting the skin with a stick or with one's hand. -2. [for a liquid] a large cylindrical container made of metal or plastic, used for storing liquids □ an oil drum. ◇ vt to drum one's fingers to hit a surface with one's fingers one after another, usually as a sign that one is impatient. ◇ vi -1. [person] to play a drum. -2. [rain, fingers, hoofs] to make a continuous sound like a drum □ the sound of the rain drumming on the roof.
- ◆ drums npl the drums a set of drums played by one person in popular music.
- ◆ drum into vt sep to drum sthg into sb to make sb remember sthg by saying it to them many times □ These principles were drummed into us in early childhood.
- ◆ drum up vt sep to drum sthg up [support, trade] to get sthg by attracting a lot of people □ We really need to drum up some more business.
- drumbeat ['drʌmbɪ:t] n the sound made by hitting a drum.
- drum brake n a type of brake attached to the wheels of a vehicle that works by pressing against the wheel when it is used.
- drummer ['drʌmə] n a person who plays a drum or the drums.
- drum roll n a series of drumbeats that follow each other very quickly and sound like one long sound.
- drumstick ['drʌmstɪk] n -1. [for a drum] a stick used for playing a drum or the drums. -2. [of a chicken] the bottom part of the leg of a bird, especially a chicken, that is cooked and eaten.
- drunk [drʌŋk] ◇ past participle of drink. ◇ adj -1. [person] who has drunk too much alcohol and can no longer speak or think clearly □ We got drunk on home-made wine. ■ drunk and disorderly LAW drunk and acting in a noisy or violent way. -2. to be drunk with sthg [with success, power] to feel very excited because of sthg one has. ◇ n a person who is drunk or who often gets drunk □ A drunk stopped me in the street and asked me for money.
- drunkard ['drʌŋkə'd] n a person who often gets drunk.
- drunk-driving n the offense of driving a car, truck etc while one is drunk □ He was caught for drunk-driving and lost his license.
- drunken ['drʌŋkən] adj [person] who is drunk and behaves in a way that shows it; [party, laughter] that is caused by or that involves somebody who has drunk a lot of alcohol □ I could hear a lot of loud drunken laughter from the room below. □ He fell into a drunken stupor.
- drunken driving n = drunk-driving.
- dry [draɪ] (compar drier, superl driest, pt & pp dried) ◇ adj -1. [wood, paint, towel] that contains no water or liquid; [hands, glass, plate] not wet □ The clothes should be dry now. □ The ink isn't dry yet. -2. [weather, day, area] that is without rain □ It's the longest dry spell since records began. -3. [river, well, soil] that has no water. -4. [person] who feels thirsty; [mouth, throat] that needs water □ My mouth felt parched and dry. -5. [humor, comment] that is amusing in a way that is not too obvious □ his dry sense of humor. -6. [book, subject] that

- one finds boring □ dry medical textbooks.
 -7. [sherry, wine] that does not taste sweet □ a dry white wine.
 ◇ vt [face, hair, dishes] to make <sthg> dry □
He dried his hands on the towel.
 ◇ vi [clothes, hair] The ink hasn't dried yet. □ quick-drying paint.
- ◆ dry out ◇ vt sep to dry sthg out [clothes, wood] to make sthg completely dry. ◇ vi [clothes, wood, person] to become completely dry □ The paint takes days to dry out.
- ◆ dry up ◇ vt sep to dry sthg up [cup, dish] to dry sthg by wiping it with a cloth. ◇ vi -1. [lake, river, well] to become dry. -2. [supply] to finish or stop □ The money dried up pretty quickly after Sandra left. -3. [speaker] to stop speaking because one cannot think what to say □ In the middle of his speech, Grant just dried up. -4. [person] to dry the dishes.
- dry-clean vt to clean  with chemicals instead of water.
- dry cleaner n a dry cleaner's a store where clothes are dry-cleaned.
- dry-cleaning n the process or work of dry-cleaning clothes; clothes that have been cleaned in this way.
- dry dock n a dock where the water can be removed so that ships can be repaired or kept safe.
- dryer ['draɪə] n a machine that dries clothes.
- dry ginger n a fizzy drink that tastes of ginger, often served with whiskey.
- dry goods npl -1. US goods such as cloth, clothes, and household goods. -2. GB goods such as tea, coffee, and flour.
- dry ice n solid carbon dioxide, used on stage, in a movie etc to look like mist.
- dry land n land, when it is contrasted with the sea □ It was good to be back on dry land.
- dryly ['draɪli] adv [comment, remark] see dry.
- dry rot n a disease caused by fungus that turns wood into powder.
- dry run n a complete rehearsal or practice of something that is done without an audience.
- dry ski slope n a slope with an artificial surface instead of snow, where people can practice skiing.
- dry-stone wall n a wall made of stones fitted together without mortar.
- DSc (abbr of Doctor of Science) n a postgraduate science degree; a person who has this degree.
- DSS (abbr of Department of Social Security) n the DSS the British government department responsible for the running of social security agencies.
- DST (abbr of daylight saving time) n the system of time used in the USA in the summer, which is usually one hour ahead of the local standard time.
- DT abbr of data transmission.
- DTI (abbr of Department of Trade and Industry) n the DTI the British government department responsible for trade and industry.
- DTP n abbr of desktop publishing.
- DT's [di:'ti:z] (abbr of delirium tremens) npl the DT's a medical condition, caused by alcoholism, in which somebody shakes all over and sees things that are not there.
- dual ['dju:əl] adj a dual function/purpose etc a function/purpose etc that has two aspects or parts □ dual citizenship.
- dual carriageway n GB a road on which vehicles traveling in opposite directions are separated by a barrier or a narrow strip of grass.
- dual control n [of a machine, organization] the state of being under the control of two people or groups of people at the same time.
- dual nationality n the state of being a citizen of two countries and having the right to live in both.
- dub [dʌb] vt -1. CINEMA [movie, soundtrack] to replace <the original voices in a movie> by the voices of other actors speaking a different language. -2. [person, place] to give <sb> a particular nickname □ It is dubbed "the Venice of the North".
- Dubai [du:'baɪ] a state in southeastern Arabia, on the Persian Gulf, consisting mainly of the port of Dubai. It is one of the United Arab Emirates. POPULATION: 300,000. CAPITAL: Dubai.
- dubious ['dju:bjəs] adj -1. [character, activity, deal] that does not seem completely honest; [distinction, honor] that has no value □ I have had the dubious distinction of working for them! -2. to be dubious about sthg to be uncertain about sthg because it is perhaps not a good idea □ I'm a little dubious about going there, myself.
- Dublin ['dʌblɪn] the capital of the Irish Republic and its largest city, on the Irish Sea. POPULATION: 477,675.
- Dublin Bay prawn n a large prawn, usually eaten fried as scampi.
- Dubliner ['dʌblɪnə] n a person who comes from Dublin, or who lives in Dublin.
- duchess ['dʌtʃəs] n the title of a woman who is equal in rank to a duke; a woman who is married to a duke.
- duchy ['dʌtʃɪ] (pl duchies) n the land ruled by a duke.
- duck [dʌk] ◇ n a common water bird with short legs and a flat beak that is sometimes kept for its eggs, meat, or feathers; the meat of this bird, eaten as food □ duck à l'orange. ■ to take to sthg like a duck to water to adapt to or learn sthg easily and naturally. ◇ vt -1. to lower <one's head> quickly, usually to hide or to avoid being hit. -2. [duty, responsibility, question] to avoid <sthg>. -3. [person] to push <sb> underwater. ◇ vi -1. to lower one's head quickly, usually to hide or to avoid being hit □ Quick! Duck! -2. to move somewhere quickly, usually to avoid danger □ They ducked behind the rocks.
- ◆ duck out vi to duck out of sthg to avoid doing sthg □ Don't try to duck out of it.
- duckling ['dʌklɪŋ] n a young duck; the meat of this duck, eaten as food.
- duct [dʌkt] n -1. CONSTRUCTION a pipe or tube

- for liquids, gases etc to pass through □ a heating/water duct. -2. ANATOMY a tube in the body that air or a liquid passes through □ a tear duct.
- dud [dʌd] ◇ adj -1. a dud coin/check etc a coin/check etc that is false and has no value □ They gave me a dud dollar bill. -2. a dud machine/bullet etc a machine/bullet etc that does not work □ That's a dud engine. ◇ n -1. a person who is not good at doing something. -2. a dud coin, bill etc; a dud shell, bullet etc □ Fortunately, the bomb was a dud.
- dude [dju:d] n US a man (informal use).
- dude ranch n US a ranch where tourists can stay, ride horses etc.
- due [dju:] ◇ adj -1. to be due [event, plane, person] to be expected to take place, appear, or arrive at a particular time; [baby] to be expected to be born □ I'm due at a meeting in ten minutes. □ She's due back at four o'clock. □ The book is due out in May. □ I'm due to give a talk there tonight. □ When is the baby due? -2. due care/consideration etc the amount of care/consideration etc that is suitable or necessary □ He was charged with driving without due care and attention. ■ in due course after the proper amount of time □ Your new card will be sent to you in due course. -3. to be due [payment, sum] to have to be paid □ This bill is due for payment now. ■ to be due to sb [money, respect] to be owed to sb. ■ to be due sthg to be owed sthg □ We're due a pay increase. -4. to be due to sthg to be caused by sthg □ The delay was due to mechanical problems. ◇ n to give him his due a phrase used to mention a good point about somebody who one generally disapproves of □ I don't like her, but to give her her due, she's very generous. ◇ adv due north/south etc exactly north/south etc.
- ◆ dues npl money or fees that one pays to belong to a club, organization etc □ I've paid my dues to the union.
- ◆ due to prep because of <sthg> □ 'Canceled due to illness.'
- due date n the latest date that something can be paid, delivered etc.
- duel ['dju:əl] n a fight between two people with swords or guns, often to decide a quarrel.
- duet [dju:'et] n a piece of music that is written for two players or singers.
- duffel bag ['dʌfl-] n a canvas bag, worn over one's shoulder, that is round at the bottom and closed at the top with string.
- duffel coat n a heavy coat that has long wooden buttons and usually a hood.
- duffle bag ['dʌfl-] n = duffel bag.
- duffel coat n = duffel coat.
- dug [dʌg] past tense & past participle of dig.
- dugout ['dʌgaut] n -1. a dugout (canoe) a boat made from a log that has been hollowed out. -2. SPORT a covered section of seating beside a playing field where managers, trainers etc sit during a game.
- DUI (abbr of driving under the influence) n US the crime of driving after drinking too much alcohol □ It's his second DUI.
- duke [dju:k] n the title of a nobleman of the highest rank □ the Duke of York.
- dull [dʌl] ◇ adj -1. [person, conversation, evening] that is not interesting or exciting □ We're so busy there's never a dull moment. -2. [gray, light, glow] that is not bright □ A dull, blue light shone through the curtains. -3. [weather, day] that is cloudy □ It was a dull, cloudy day. -4. [sound, thud, boom] that is not loud or clear □ There was a dull explosion somewhere far away. -5. [ache, pain] that is felt all the time but never becomes suddenly painful □ All I could feel was a constant dull pain in my jaw. ◇ vt -1. [pain, feeling] to make <sthg> weaker □ I took some aspirin to dull the pain. -2. [color, metal] to make <sthg> less bright □ a dull grayish color.
- duly ['dju:lɪ] adv -1. in the proper or correct way □ Your proposal has been duly noted. -2. as expected □ We duly received her letter of acknowledgment.
- dumb [dʌm] adj -1. [person] who cannot speak □ She was born deaf and dumb. -2. [person] who one thinks is stupid (informal use) □ Don't be so dumb, of course he's coming!
- dumbbell ['dʌmbəl] n a metal bar with weights at both ends that is lifted in one hand to exercise one's muscles.
- dumbfound [dʌm'faʊnd] vt to be dumbfounded to be so surprised that one does not know what to say □ He just stared at me, utterly dumbfounded.
- dumbstruck ['dʌmstrʌk] adj to be dumbstruck to be so surprised and shocked that one cannot speak.
- dumb waiter n an elevator for carrying food, plates, garbage etc between the floors of a building.
- dumdum (bullet) ['dʌmdʌm-] n a bullet that expands when it hits a person's body.
- dummy ['dʌmɪ] (pl dummies) ◇ adj a dummy gun/drawer etc a gun/drawer etc that looks real but cannot be used. ◇ n -1. [in a store window] a model of a person, usually used for displaying clothes □ a tailor's dummy □ a ventriloquist's dummy. -2. [of a gun, door] something that looks real but is in fact a toy or model. -3. GB [for babies] a specially shaped piece of rubber that is given to a baby to suck. -4. SPORT a trick in which a player pretends to move or pass the ball in order to make an opponent move in the wrong direction. ◇ vt SPORT to make <sb> move in the wrong direction by using a dummy.
- dummy run n a rehearsal or trial of something new to find out if it works.
- dump [dʌmp] ◇ n -1. [for garbage] a place, usually an area of open ground, where garbage and waste materials can be left □ a garbage dump. -2. [for weapons] a place where weapons, military supplies etc are stored □ an ammunition dump. -3. a place that one thinks is dirty and unpleasant (informal use) □ This hotel's a real dump. ◇ vt -1. [bag, laundry, suitcase] to put <sthg> down in a careless and untidy way; [load, sand] to unload <sthg> □ She dumped her books on my desk. □ The truck dumped its load of coal. -2. [garbage, car] to throw <sthg> away, especially in a careless or dangerous way □ Radioactive waste is being dumped off our shores. -3. BUSINESS [meat, butter, cars] to sell <goods> abroad in large quantities and at low prices. -4. COMPUTING to transfer <data> from the memory of a computer to a disk or printer. -5. [girlfriend, boyfriend] to finish a relationship with <sb> (informal use).

◆ .dumps npl to be (down) in the dumps to feel sad and depressed.

dumper (truck) n GB = dump truck.

dumping ['dʌmpɪŋ] n the act of throwing away something that is no longer wanted or useful □ nuclear dumping. ■ 'No dumping' a phrase used on signs to show that dumping of waste materials is not allowed there.

dumping ground n a place where garbage or unwanted objects are left.

dumping ['dʌmpɪŋ] n a ball of dough cooked and served with meat or soup or as a dessert.

DumpsterTM ['dʌmpstə] n US a large container that is used for putting garbage in, e.g. during building work.

dump truck US, dumper (truck) ['dʌmpə-] GB n a truck with a container for carrying its load that can be tilted so that the load slides out.

dummy ['dʌmpɪ] (compar dumpier, superl dumpiest) adj [person] who looks short and fat (informal use).

dunce [dʌns] n a person who one thinks is slightly stupid and unable to learn things very quickly.

dune [dju:n] n a hill of sand in the desert or near the ocean, made by the wind.

dung [dʌŋ] n excrement from animals such as cows and horses.

dungarees [,dʌŋgə'ri:z] npl -1. US heavy jeans. -2. GB trousers made of strong material that have a piece of material covering the chest and are held up by shoulder straps.

dungeon ['dʌndʒən] n an underground prison, often in a castle.

dunk [dʌŋk] vt [cookie, cake] to dip <sthg> into a cup of tea, coffee etc before eating it.

Dunkirk [dʌn'kɜ:k] a port in northern France, on the English Channel. Many Allied soldiers were rescued from Dunkirk in a military operation in World War II. POPULATION: 71,071.

duo ['dju:u] n -1. [of performers] two actors, singers, musicians etc who perform together. -2. [of people] two people, when they are talked about together.

duodenal ulcer [,dju:ouði:nl-] n an ulcer in the part of the small intestine that is just below the stomach.

dupe [dju:p] ◇ vt to trick <sb> into doing something □ He duped me into believing him. ◇ n a person who is duped.

duplex ['dju:pleks] n US -1. an apartment that has rooms on two floors. -2. a house that shares a wall with a neighboring house.

duplicate [adj & n 'dju:plɪkət, vb 'dju:plɪkət]

◇ adj a duplicate copy/key etc a copy/key etc that is an exact copy of something and looks just like it. ◇ n a duplicate copy of something. ■ in duplicate with a duplicate copy □ Applications should be submitted in duplicate. ◇ vt -1. [key, document] to make an exact copy of <sthg>. -2. [work] to do <sthg> that has already been done>, so that it is done twice.

duplication [,dju:plɪ'keɪʃn] n [of work, a key, document] see duplicate □ an unnecessary duplication of effort.

duplicity [dju'plɪsəti] n deceitful behavior (formal use).

Dur abbr of Durham.

durability [,djuərə'bɪləti] n [of a car, material, relationship] the ability of something to last for a long time.

durable ['djuərəbl] adj [product, material] that is strong and can last for a long time.

duration [dju'reɪʃn] n [of a war, the winter, an illness] the period of time that something lasts □ He kept silent for the duration of the meeting.

duress [dju'res] n to do sthg under duress to do sthg because one has been forced to do it.

DurexTM ['djuəreks] n -1. GB a condom. -2. AUS clear sticky tape used for sticking paper onto something.

Durham [US 'dɜ:rəm, GB 'dʌrəm] -1. a county in northeastern England. SIZE: 2,436 sq kms. POPULATION: 598,700. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Durham. -2. a city in the county of Durham, England, famous for its cathedral and university. POPULATION: 26,000.

during ['djuəriŋ] prep -1. I worked there during the summer I worked there all through the summer. -2. she died during the night she died at some point in the night.

dusk [dʌsk] n the last period of daylight, just before it becomes completely dark.

dusky ['dʌskɪ] (compar duskier, superl duskiest) adj [skin, complexion] that is dark rather than light or bright (literary use).

dust [dʌst] ◇ n -1. [in the road] very small pieces of earth or sand □ The cars disappeared in a cloud of dust. -2. [on furniture] fine powder made up of particles of dirt □ There was dust everywhere. ■ to gather dust [ornaments, books] to become dusty; [idea, plan] to remain unused for a long period. -3. [from a substance] fine powder made up of tiny pieces of substances such as gold, coal etc □ chalk/coal/gold dust. ◇ vt -1. [furniture, ornament] to clean <sthg> by wiping it with a cloth or brush to remove the dust. -2. to dust sthg with sthg [with powder, sugar] to cover sthg with a thin layer of sthg.

◆ dust off vt sep -1. to dust sb/sthg off to clean the dust or dirt from sb/sthg □ I got up off the floor and dusted myself off. -2. to dust sthg off [suit, speech, plan] to try to make sthg appear new by cleaning it or by making a few changes.

dustbin ['dʌstbɪn] n GB a large container that is kept outside a house and is used for putting household garbage into.

Dust Bowl: the Dust Bowl the states in the central USA, including Oklahoma and Kansas, that suffered from dust storms and drought in the 1930s.

☞ THE DUST BOWL

The Dust Bowl was an ecological disaster that affected the US states of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and North and South Dakota. It was caused mainly by poor farming methods: farmers had removed millions of acres of grass to plant wheat, which does not hold the soil together well. When a drought came in the 1930s, the winds picked up the loose soil, causing dust storms that forced 60% of the population to leave the region. Most of these people, called "Okies," went to the West Coast of America to settle.

dustcart ['dʌstkɑːt] n GB a truck that is used to collect the garbage from people's garbage cans.

dust cover n = dust jacket.

duster ['dʌstə] n -1. [for dusting] a cloth for dusting. -2. US [for keeping clean] an item of clothing that is worn over ordinary clothes to keep them clean while one is working.

dust jacket n a paper cover that is wrapped around the hard covers of a book and often gives information about the book and its author.

dustman ['dʌstmən] (pl dustmen [-mən]) n GB a person whose job is to empty garbage from people's garbage cans.

dust mite n a very small insect that lives in carpets, beds etc and can cause attacks of asthma or allergies.

dustpan ['dʌstpæn] n a small flat container with a handle that is used with a small brush to sweep up dirt and garbage □ a dustpan and brush.

dustsheet ['dʌstʃi:t] n GB a large cloth used to cover furniture to protect it from dust.

dust storm n a violent weather condition where strong winds blow clouds of dust around.

dusty ['dʌstɪ] (compar dustier, superl dustiest) adj [room, furniture, surface] that is covered with dust because it has not been used or cleaned for a long time □ It's probably dusty, so be careful with your coat!

Dutch [dʌtʃ] ◇ npl the Dutch people who come from the Netherlands. ◇ n the language of the Dutch. ◇ adj: Dutch bulbs/cheese. ◇ adv to go Dutch to share the cost of tickets, a meal etc when one goes out with somebody.

Dutch barn n GB a structure consisting of a metal frame with no walls and a curved roof that is used for storing crops on a farm.

Dutch courage n false courage that one gets by drinking alcohol (informal use).

Dutch elm disease n a disease that kills elms.

Dutchman ['dʌtʃmən] (pl Dutchmen [-mən]) n a man who comes from the Netherlands.

Dutchwoman [ˈdʌtʃwʊmən] (pl Dutchwomen) n a woman who comes from the Netherlands.

dutiful [ˈdjuːtɪfl] adj [son, daughter] who is obedient and respectful, especially toward their family □ She gave a dutiful smile.

duty [ˈdjuːti] (pl duties) n -1. [of a person] a moral or legal responsibility □ As a citizen it's your duty to report the crime. □ Have you no sense of duty to your parents? ■ to do one's duty to do what one feels it is one's responsibility to do □ I was only doing my duty, please don't take it personally. -2. [of a job] the work that somebody has to do as part of their job □ The policeman/soldier/nurse reported for duty. ■ to be on/off duty [policeman, nurse] to be working/not working □ She goes off duty at 11 o'clock. -3. [on goods] a tax paid on goods or services □ customs/stamp/death duty.

◆ duties npl the particular tasks or responsibilities that are part of somebody's job □ Your duties will include dealing with customers.

duty bound adj to be duty bound to do sthg to have to do sthg because one feels it is one's responsibility □ Susan felt duty bound to tell me exactly what happened.

duty-free adj [alcohol, tobacco, perfume] that is sold without tax, usually in airports or on ships.

duty officer n GB [in the police, army] the officer on duty or in charge.

duvet [US dʊˈveɪ, GB ˈduːveɪ] n GB a large bed cover that is filled with feathers or man-made fiber □ a duvet cover.

DVLA (abbr of Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency) n the DVLA the British government department responsible for collecting road tax and keeping records of drivers' licenses and vehicles.

DVM (abbr of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine) n a postgraduate degree in veterinary medicine; a person who has this degree.

dwarf [dwoːf] (pl dwarfs OR dwarves [dwoːvz]) ◇ adj a dwarf plant/animal a plant/animal that never grows to be as large as other members of the same species. ◇ n -1. ▽ a person who does not grow to normal height (offensive use). -2. in folk legends, a small man with a beard and a pointed hat who often has magical powers. ◇ vt to be much bigger in size than <sthg>, and so make it look very small □ The house is dwarfed by the new office buildings.

dwell [dwel] (pt & pp dwelt OR dwelled) vi to live in a particular place (literary use).

◆ dwell on vi to dwell on sthg [on the past, a problem] to think or talk for too long about sthg □ Try not to dwell on it.

-dweller [-ˈdwelə] suffix a city/cave-dweller a person who lives in a city/cave.

dwelling [ˈdweɪlɪŋ] n a place where somebody lives (literary use).

dwelt [dweɪt] past tense & past participle of dwell.

DWI n US abbr of driving while intoxicated.

dwindle [ˈdwaɪndl] vi [supply, money, number of people] to gradually become smaller in amount or number □ Movie audiences started to dwindle with the introduction of video.

dwindling ['dwaɪndlɪŋ] adj [supply, money, number] that is gradually becoming smaller in amount or number □ our ever-dwindling group of unmarried friends.

dye [daɪ] ◇ n a substance for changing the color of hair, clothes etc. ◇ vt to change the color of <clothes, hair> etc using dye □ She dyed her hair red.

dyed [daɪd] adj [cloth, wool, hair] that has been dyed □ Her hair was obviously dyed.

dying ['daɪɪŋ] ◇ cont → die. ◇ adj -1. [person, animal, plant] that is going to die soon □ He visited his dying father in the hospital. -2. [language, tradition, industry] that is becoming less important and does not seem likely to continue in the future. ◇ npl the dying people who are dying.

dyke [daɪk] n = dike.

dynamic [daɪ'næmɪk] adj [person] who has a lot of energy and ideas.

◆ dynamics npl the study of movement, forces, and energy.

dynamism [ˈdaɪnəmɪzəm] n: see dynamic.

dynamite [ˈdaɪnəmaɪt] ◇ n -1. an explosive, often in the form of a stick, that is used e.g. in mining □ a stick of dynamite. -2. to be dynamite [person, story, piece of news] to be very exciting or impressive □ You were dynamite! ◇ vt [building, bridge, mountain] to make <sthg> explode using dynamite.

dynamo [ˈdaɪnəmaʊ] (pl dynamos) n a device that converts the movement of a machine or vehicle into electricity.

dynasty [US ˈdaɪnəsti, GB ˈdaɪn-] (pl dynasties) n a series of rulers of a country who are all from the same family.

dysentery [US ˈdɪsnɪəri, GB -ntri] n a disease of the intestines that causes severe diarrhea.

dyslexia [dɪsˈleksiə] n a disorder that makes it hard for people to see the difference between letters, and so makes reading difficult.

dyslexic [dɪsˈleksɪk] adj [person] who suffers from dyslexia.

dyspepsia [dɪsˈpepsɪə] n indigestion (formal or technical use).

E

e [i:] (pl e's OR es), E [i:] (pl E's OR Es) n the fifth letter of the English alphabet.

◆ E ◇ n MUSIC one of the notes in Western music. ◇ abbr of east.

E111 [ˌi:waɪnɪˈleɪvɪn] n a form that an EU citizen fills out to get the right to health care while they are visiting other EU countries.

ea. abbr of each.

each [i:tʃ] ◇ det each child all the children in a group considered separately (used of a group of two or more people or things) □ Each contestant has to answer three questions. □ Each time I see that movie I cry. ◇ pron: Each of them has his/her/their own ideas. ◇ adv: We were each given a present. □ We can't share it; we need one each. □ The books cost £10 each.

◆ each other pron Tom and Carol love each other Tom loves Carol and Carol loves Tom (used of two or more people in a group) □ Mike and I have known each other for years. □ We were getting on each other's nerves.

eager [ˈi:ɡə] adj [person, expression, behavior] that shows enthusiasm about something □ He is eager for success/eager to meet you.

eagerly [ˈi:ɡəli] adv [talk, plan] see eager □ We waited eagerly for the results.

eagle [ˈi:ɡl] n a large bird of prey with broad wings and a hooked beak.

eagle-eyed [-ˈaɪd] adj [person] who has very good eyesight or is good at noticing small details.

Eagle Scout n in the USA, the highest rank for a boy scout.

eaglet [ˈi:ɡlət] n a young eagle.

Ealing comedy [ˈi:ɪŋ-] n one of several movies made at Ealing Studios, London, in the 1940s and 1950s, that are known for their gentle humor.

E and OE (abbr of errors and omissions excepted) a phrase written on an invoice to show that the company is not responsible for any mistakes in it.

ear [ɪə] n -1. [of a person, animal] one of the two parts of the body on each side of the head that are used for hearing. ■ to play by ear MUSIC to play a piece of music on an instrument without any written music. ■ to play it by ear to go into a situation without a fixed plan and to decide what to do according to what happens □ Let's play it by ear and see what happens when we get there. ■ to go in one ear and out the other [advice, information] to be forgotten immediately (informal use) □ You can talk to him all you like, but it just goes in one ear and out the other. ■ to have OR keep one's ear to the ground to pay attention in order to find out information about something □ I don't know of anything right now, but I'll keep my ear to the ground for you. ■ to have sb's ear to be able to influence sb important. ■ to have an ear for sthg [for music, languages] to be good at appreciating, learning, or reproducing sthg that is connected with sound □ Jenny has a very good ear for music. -2. [of wheat] the top part of a stem of wheat or corn that contains the grains used for food.

earache [ˈiəreɪk] n a pain inside the ear.

eardrum [ˈiədrʌm] n a piece of tightly-stretched skin inside the ear that helps one to hear sounds.

Earhart [ˈɛəˈhɑ:t], Amelia (1898–1937) a US

- pilot who was the first woman to fly across the Atlantic Ocean alone.
- earl [ɜ:ɹl] n a British nobleman who ranks below a marquess and above a viscount.
- earlier [ˈɜ:ɹliə] adj -1. a word used to refer to a period or point in time before the present one, or before one in the past □ as I said on an earlier occasion. -2. [version, model, interview] that existed, happened etc before something similar that has already been mentioned □ according to earlier reports. ◇ adv at a point in time before the present one, or before one in the past □ as I mentioned earlier □ earlier that day. ■ earlier on at an earlier time □ He was here earlier on.
- earliest [ˈɜ:ɹliəst] adj -1. first □ I'll speak to her at the earliest opportunity. ■ at your earliest convenience as soon as you can. -2. that happens, exists etc before everybody or everything else of the same type □ The earliest train doesn't leave until 8 a.m. ◇ adv at the earliest not before the time stated □ I won't be there until Monday at the earliest.
- earlobe [ˈɪəʊləʊb] n the soft rounded piece of flesh at the bottom of the ear.
- early [ˈɜ:ɹli] (compar earlier, superl earliest) adj -1. to be early to arrive before the expected or usual time □ John was early for his appointment. □ She was ten minutes early. -2. [hour, breakfast, train] that exists, happens etc at the beginning of the day □ I've got an early start tomorrow. -3. [memory, invention, movie] that is from the beginning of a particular period of time, e.g. somebody's life or career □ I prefer her early poems. □ the early morning mist □ The vase is early Victorian. ◇ adv -1. [leave, arrive] before the time that is expected or usual □ Mail early for Christmas. □ The meeting ended early. -2. [set off, rise] at the beginning of the morning □ I got up early. -3. at or near the beginning of a period □ She's flying over in early November. □ She's arriving early this evening. □ We should hear early next week. ■ as early as at a time that is sooner than is usual or expected □ The job could be finished as early as Friday. ■ early on at or near the beginning □ It was something she wrote early on in her career.
- early closing day n in Britain, the one day each week on which most of the shops in a town close earlier than normal.
- early retirement n to take early retirement to retire before the official retirement age.
- early warning system n a military radar system that is designed to notice signs of an enemy attack as soon as possible.
- earmark [ˈɪəʊmɑ:k] vt to be earmarked for sth [money, land] to be reserved for a particular purpose in the future.
- earn [ɜ:ɹn] vt -1. [wage, salary] to receive  as a payment for working □ She earns £30,000 a year. -2. BUSINESS to produce <interest, a profit, or a sum of money> for a person, company etc □ His investments earned him a lot of money. -3. [respect, praise, reputation] to get <sthg that one deserves> as a result of one's actions □ She earned her place in the people's affections.
- earned income [ˌɜ:ɹnd-] n money that one receives for work one does.
- earner [ˈɜ:ɹnə] n -1. a person who earns money by working. -2. GB a nice little earner something that produces profits easily, e.g. a business (informal use).
- earnest [ˈɜ:ɹnəst] adj [person, expression, attempt] that is serious and sincere □ It is my earnest wish to make up for the damage I have done.
- ◆ in earnest adj to be in earnest to be serious and not intended as a joke or to deceive somebody □ Do you think he is in earnest? ◇ adv [speak, begin] seriously; [rain, snow] heavily.
- earnings [ˈɜ:ɹnɪŋz] npl the money that a person, company, or country earns □ Do you have earnings from any other sources?
- earnings-related adj [payment, benefit] that is calculated in relation to one's earnings while one is in work.
- Earp [ɜ:ɹp], Wyatt (1849–1929) a US lawman from the Wild West. He won a famous gun battle at the O.K. Corral in Tombstone, Arizona.
- earphones [ˈɪəʊfəʊnz] npl a piece of equipment that fits directly over one's ears and is used for listening to recorded music or speech in private.
- earplugs [ˈɪəʊplʌgz] npl small pieces of wax or foam that fit inside one's ears to protect them from loud noise or water □ I wear earplugs in bed. □ a pair of earplugs.
- earring [ˈɪəʊrɪŋ] n a piece of jewelry that people wear attached to their earlobe.
- earshot [ˈɪəʊʃɒt] n within/out of earshot close enough/too far away to hear something that is being said □ They moved out of earshot of the others.
- earsplitting [ˈɪəʊsplɪtɪŋ] adj [scream, noise] that is very loud and unpleasant to hear.
- earth [ɜ:ɹθ] ◇ n -1. ASTRONOMY the planet that we live on □ The Earth revolves around the Sun. □ the planet earth. ■ who/what/where etc on earth a phrase used when asking a question to emphasize that one does not know or understand something, or that one is annoyed or surprised □ Where on earth did I put those keys? □ What on earth is he talking about? □ How on earth did you do that? ■ to cost/charge the earth GB to cost/charge a very large amount of money. -2. [in an area] the surface of an area of land □ The explosion made the earth shake. -3. [on the ground] the substance that covers the surface of land in which plants grow □ The carrots still had earth on them. -4. ELECTRICITY the wire that connects an electrical appliance or plug to the ground. ◇ vt GB to connect <an appliance, plug> etc to the ground with an electrical wire □ All appliances must be earthed.
- earthenware [ˈɜ:θnweə] ◇ adj [vase, casserole, plate] made of baked clay. ◇ n objects made of baked clay, e.g. vases or plates.

earthling ['ɜ:θlɪŋ] n in science fiction, a human being who lives on the Earth.

earthly ['ɜ:θli] adj -1. [life, power] that is connected with material things rather than with the spirit □ leaving behind all her earthly possessions. -2. no earthly reason/purpose etc no possible or real reason/purpose etc □ There is no earthly reason why I shouldn't go. □ He doesn't have an earthly chance.

earthquake ['ɜ:θkweɪk] n a movement below the surface of the earth that causes the ground to shake.

earthshattering ['ɜ:θʃætərɪŋ] adj [news, event] that seems very important and surprising or shocking (informal use) □ It's hardly earthshattering news.

earth tremor n a small earthquake.

earthward(s) ['ɜ:θwə'd(z)] adv [fly, fall] down toward the earth.

earthworks ['ɜ:θwɜ:kz] npl in the past, masses of earth that were built for defense.

earthworm ['ɜ:θwɜ:fm] n a common type of worm that lives in soil.

earthy ['ɜ:θi] (compar earthier, superl earthiest) adj -1. [person, humor] that is open about subjects that embarrass some people □ She has a really earthy sense of humor. -2. [taste, smell] that is like earth.

earwax ['ɪə'wæks] n the natural wax in people's ears.

earwig ['ɪə'wɪg] n a small thin insect with two sharp points at the end of its tail.

ease [i:z] ◇ n -1. a lack of difficulty in doing something □ The new entrance is designed for ease of access. ■ to do sthg with ease to do sthg easily □ Her horse jumped the fence with ease. -2. a life of ease a life of comfort and relaxation. ■ to be OR feel at ease to feel confident and relaxed □ Try to make the candidates feel at ease during the interview. ■ to be OR to feel ill at ease to feel nervous and uncomfortable □ Simon felt very ill at ease surrounded by all those strange people. ◇ vt -1. [pain, tension] to make <sthg> less severe □ The codeine should help to ease the pain. -2. [patient, piano, sculpture] to move <sb/sthg> carefully and slowly into a particular position □ She eased the window open. □ She eased herself into the armchair. ◇ vi [problem, pain, rain] to become less severe □ The rain showed no sign of easing.

◆ ease off vi [problem, pain, rain] = ease □ The rain started to ease off slightly.

◆ ease up vi -1. [pressure, work, traffic] to become less intense □ Things at work should ease up in a day or two. -2. [person] to become less active; to relax □ You should really ease up or you'll give yourself an ulcer. ■ to ease up on sb to treat sb less severely (informal use) □ Try to ease up on David a little — he's only a boy.

easel ['i:zəl] n a piece of equipment that is used to support a picture while it is being painted.

easily ['i:zəli] adv -1. [cope, succeed, win] without difficulty □ That problem is easily solved.

-2. easily the best the best without doubt □ She's easily the most suitable of the three candidates. -3. [speak, behave] in a confident way without showing tension or worry.

east [i:st] ◇ n -1. the direction the sun rises in □ He looked toward the east. -2. the east the part of a country or region that is nearest to the direction the sun rises in □ The weather is worse in the east. ◇ adj [side, coast] that is in or faces the east. ■ an east wind a wind that comes from the east. ◇ adv [face, travel] toward the east. ■ east of sthg situated to the east of sthg □ We live 180 km east of the capital.

◆ East n the East the eastern part of a country or region; the continent of Asia, especially when it is contrasted with Europe and the West; the countries of Eastern Europe and the area that used to be the USSR □ East-West relations.

East Anglia [-'æŋɡliə] a region of eastern England consisting of the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, and parts of Essex and Cambridgeshire.

East Asia = Far East.

eastbound ['i:stbaʊnd] adj [road, direction] that leads toward the east; [train, traffic] that travels toward the east.

East Coast the eastern coast of the USA.

NOTE: When Americans refer to the East Coast, they usually mean the northeastern cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Washington D.C.

East End: the East End the eastern part of London, which was traditionally a working-class area.

Easter ['i:stə] n a Christian religious festival that is held to celebrate the resurrection of Christ after his death.

🐰 EASTER

Easter is one of the most important religious festivals in the USA, Britain, and Australia, and Good Friday and Easter Monday are public holidays. Both the USA and Australia have the tradition of the Easter Bunny, who comes during the night and leaves Easter baskets or chocolate Easter eggs for children to find on Easter Sunday. Parents also hide colored hard-boiled eggs or chocolate Easter eggs in the house and backyard for children to "hunt." In the USA big parades are also held in cities like New York.

Easter basket n US a basket filled with candy that is left for children on Easter morning.

Easter bunny n US & AUS an imaginary rabbit that children believe brings Easter eggs.

Easter egg n a decorated egg, usually made of chocolate, that is given as a present at Easter.

Easter Island an island in the South Pacific Ocean, belonging to Chile. It is famous for the ancient stone statues found there. SIZE: 162.5 sq kms. POPULATION: 2,770.

easterly ['i:stə'li] adj -1. [place] that is in the

- east; [direction] that is toward the east. -2. [wind] that comes from the east.
- eastern ['i:stə'n] adj that is in or from the east of a country or region.
- ◆ Eastern adj -1. [religion, philosophy, culture] that is found in or comes from Asia. -2. that relates to the countries in the east of Europe □ Eastern European languages.
- Eastern bloc: the Eastern bloc the USSR and the countries of Eastern Europe that used to have close political and economic links with each other □ Eastern bloc countries.
- Eastern Europe the eastern part of Europe, consisting of countries that used to have Communist governments, e.g. Poland, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Romania, and the Balkan states.
- Eastern Seaboard n the Eastern Seaboard the regions along the east coast of the USA or Australia.
- Easter Sunday n the day every year when Christians celebrate the resurrection of Christ.
- East Germany the eastern part of Germany that was a Communist republic from 1949 until the reunification of Germany in 1990.
- East River: the East River the river between Manhattan and Long Island, USA.
- East Timor [-'ti:mɔ:'] the eastern part of the island of Timor, in southeast Asia, that was annexed by Indonesia in 1975.
- eastward ['i:stwə'd] ◇ adj [side, slope] that faces the east; [direction, journey] that goes toward the east. ◇ adv toward the east.
- eastwards ['i:stwə'dz] adv toward the east □ You can travel eastwards for days and see no one.
- easy ['i:zi] (compar easier, superl easiest) ◇ adj -1. [task, question, victory] that is not difficult or complicated and causes no problems □ The new material is very easy to clean/use. □ She's nice, and extremely easy to get on with. -2. an easy time/life a time/life that is pleasant and relaxing, and involves no problems or effort □ I'll do anything for an easy life. -3. [person, manner, conversation] that is relaxed and shows no tension or worry. ◇ adv (informal use) to go easy on sb to treat sb less severely than usual, especially because they are having problems □ Go easy on Anthony, he's not been too well recently. ■ to go easy on sthg not to use too much of sthg □ Go easy on the chili sauce, won't you? ■ to take it OR things easy to relax □ Why don't you take it easy for a while and I'll make dinner.
- easy chair n a large comfortable armchair.
- easygoing [,i:zi'gəʊɪŋ] adj [person, attitude] that is tolerant and relaxed.
- eat [i:t] (pt ate, pp eaten) ◇ vt to take in <food> through one's mouth □ He was eating a sandwich. ◇ vi to eat food; to have a meal □ She was too sick to eat. □ Where should we eat tonight?
- ◆ eat away vt sep -1. to eat sthg away [metal, paint, plastic] to remove the surface of sthg slowly. -2. to eat sthg away [savings, capital] to use all of sthg slowly.
- ◆ eat into vt fus to eat into sthg to eat sthg away.
- ◆ eat out vi to eat a meal, especially an evening meal, at a restaurant □ Let's eat out this evening.
- ◆ eat up vt sep -1. to eat sthg up [meal, vegetables] to eat all of sthg. -2. to eat sthg up [money, time, energy] to use a lot of sthg very quickly.
- eaten ['i:tɪn] past participle of eat.
- eater ['i:tə] n a person who eats something or who eats in a particular way □ He's a slow/messy/meat eater.
- eatery ['i:təri] (pl eateries) n a place where people pay to have a meal, e.g. a restaurant or café.
- eating apple ['i:tɪŋ-] n an apple that is sweet enough to be eaten without being cooked.
- eau de cologne [,əʊdəkə'ləʊn] n a type of light perfume that makes one feel fresh.
- eaves [i:vz] npl the bottom edges of a roof.
- eavesdrop ['i:vzdrɒp] (pt & pp eavesdropped, cont eavesdropping) vi to listen secretly to what is being said □ I caught him eavesdropping on us/our conversation.
- ebb [eb] ◇ n [of the sea] the movement of water away from the shore when the tide is going out. ■ the ebb and flow of sthg the good and bad periods of sthg that follow each other. ■ to be at a low ebb [person] to be unhappy; [business, relationship] to be less successful than before or than usual. ◇ vi -1. [sea, tide] to flow away from the shore. -2. [strength, feeling] to become weaker and disappear gradually (literary use) □ The pain ebbed away.
- ebb tide n a tide that is going out.
- ebony ['ebəni] ◇ adj [hair, skin] black (literary use). ◇ n a very hard dark wood.
- ebullient ['ɪbʊlənt] adj [person, wit, manner] that is lively, cheerful, and enthusiastic.
- EC n abbr of European Community.
- eccentric [ɪk'sentrik] ◇ adj [person, behavior, appearance] that people think is strange, especially in an amusing way. ◇ n an eccentric person □ He's a harmless eccentric.
- eccentricity [,ɪksen'trɪsətɪ] (pl eccentricities) n -1. see eccentric. -2. an eccentric habit, action, or way of thinking □ It's just one of his little eccentricities.
- ecclesiastic(al) [ɪ,kli:zi:'æstɪk(l)] adj [music, architecture] that is connected with the Christian church.
- ECG n abbr of electrocardiograph.
- ECGD (abbr of Export Credits Guarantee Department) n the British government department that protects British exporters against nonpayment by their clients.
- echelon ['eʃəlɒn] n a level in an organization or a society where people have a particular amount of power or responsibility □ a member of the upper echelons of society.
- echo ['ekəʊ] (pl echoes, pt & pp echoed, cont echoing) ◇ n -1. [of a sound] a sound that is a repetition of another sound reflected off a surface in a large area such as a cave □ Shout something to see if there's an echo. -2. [of a past event] something that reminds people of somebody or something in the past □ The situation had unfortunate echoes of my previous marriage. ◇ vt [comment, phrase] to repeat <sb's words or opinion>, usually to show agreement □ I'd like to echo what's just been said. ◇ vi -1. [sound] to be repeated as an echo, often a number of times □ His voice echoed around the building. -2. [place] to be filled with echoes □ The corridor echoed with footsteps.

éclair [eɪ'kleə] n a long thin cake made of light pastry, filled with cream, and often with chocolate on the top □ a chocolate éclair.

eclectic [ɪ'klektɪk] adj [style, method, taste] that includes what seems best from many different systems or traditions □ He has very eclectic tastes in music.

eclipse [ɪ'klɪps] ◇ n -1. ASTRONOMY [of the Sun] a natural event in which the light of the Sun is blocked when the Moon passes between the Sun and the Earth □ a solar eclipse. -2. [of the Moon] a natural event in which the light of the Moon is blocked by the Earth moving between the Sun and Moon □ a lunar eclipse. ■ a total/partial eclipse an eclipse in which the Sun or Moon is completely/partially blocked from view. -3. [of a person, organization] a loss of importance or status. ◇ vt [person, organization, success] to become more important or influential than <sb/sthg> □ The announcement was completely eclipsed by the news from the war zone.

ecological [ˌi:kə'lɒdʒɪkəl] adj -1. [balance, damage, study] that is connected with ecology. -2. [group, movement] that aims to preserve the environment.

ecologically [ˌi:kə'lɒdʒɪkəli] adv ecologically friendly [product] that does not damage the environment.

ecologist [ɪ'kɒlədʒɪst] n -1. SCIENCE a person who studies ecology. -2. a person who believes that the environment should be preserved.

ecology [ɪ'kɒlədʒɪ] n -1. [of an area] the balance of relationships between plants, animals, people, and their environment □ the ecology of the region. -2. SCIENCE the scientific study of the balance of the environment.

economic [ˌi:kə'nɒmɪk] adj -1. [policy, forecast, crisis] that is connected with the financial state of a country or region □ The government is leading us into economic ruin. -2. [service, rate] that makes enough money to be worthwhile □ It isn't economic to sell at that price.

economical [ˌi:kə'nɒmɪkəl] adj -1. [car, method, product] that saves money because it is cheap to use □ an economical use of resources □ It is more economical to buy in bulk. -2. [person] who is careful not to waste money □ I try to be as economical as possible with my grant.

economics [ˌi:kə'nɒmɪks] ◇ n the study of how wealth is created and used in a society. ◇ npl [of a plan, business] the economic facts that need to be considered □ You have to get the economics right.

economist [ɪ'kɒnəmɪst] n a person who studies or writes about economics.

economize, -ise [ɪ'kɒnəmaɪz] vi to save money or resources by only buying or using things that are necessary. ■ to economize on sthg to use less of sthg than before; to spend less money on sthg than before □ We're going to have to economize on fuel.

economy [ɪ'kɒnəmi] (pl economies) n -1. the financial state or system of a country or region □ the Far Eastern economies. -2. a careful use of money, time, or effort in order to avoid waste □ We'll have to introduce some economy measures to stay within the budget. □ Buying small packages is a false economy. □ We need to make some economies. ■ economies of scale savings that are made by producing something in large quantities.

economy class n the cheapest class of travel by plane.

economy drive n an effort, especially by a company, to save money □ We're on an economy drive at the moment.

economy-size(d) adj [pack, jar] that is bigger than the usual size and contains goods that cost less than they do in a smaller container.

ecosystem [ˌi:kəʊsɪstəm] n all the people, animals, and plants in an area, and their relationships with each other and with their environment.

ecstasy ['ekstəsi] (pl ecstasies) n -1. a feeling of very great happiness and enjoyment. ■ to go into ecstasies about sthg to be full of enthusiasm and praise for sthg □ Laura was in ecstasies over the new furniture. -2. DRUGS an illegal stimulant drug in the form of pills, taken especially by young people who are dancing to loud rhythmic music.

ecstatic [ek'stætɪk] adj [person, feeling, shout] that shows great happiness and excitement about something □ The crowd was ecstatic when the band came back onstage for an encore.

ecstatically [ek'stætɪkəli] adv [shout, dance] see ecstatic.

ECT (abbr of electroconvulsive therapy) n a method of treating mental illness by passing an electric current through the brain.

ectopic pregnancy [ek'tɒpɪk-] n a pregnancy in which the fetus grows outside the womb.

ECU, ecu [US eɪ'ku:, GB 'ekju:] (abbr of European Currency Unit) n a unit of money based on the value of several currencies in the European Union. It was replaced in 1995 by the Euro.

Ecuador ['ekwədɔ:'] a country in northwestern South America, on the Pacific Ocean. SIZE: 270,670 sq kms. POPULATION: 10,800,000 (Ecuadorians). CAPITAL: Quito. MAIN CITY: Guayaquil. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: sucre.

ecumenical [ˌekjə'menɪkəl] adj [service, movement] that aims to unite different Christian churches □ ecumenical dialog between churches.

eczema [US ɪg'zi:mə, GB 'eksɪmə] n a skin disease that produces rough, red, itchy patches.

ed. -1. abbr of edited. -2. abbr of edition. -3. abbr of editor.

eddy ['edi] (pl eddies, pt & pp edded) \diamond n a circular movement in water or in the air. \diamond vi [water, wind] to move in eddies.

Eddy ['edi], Mary Baker (1821–1910) a US religious leader who started the Christian Science Church.

Eden ['i:dn]: (the Garden of) Eden in the Bible, the garden where Adam and Eve lived happily until God told them to leave because they had disobeyed him.

edge [edʒ] \diamond n -1. [of a place, surface] the place where something, e.g. a cliff, table, or garden, stops or finishes \square They built the factory at the edge of the town/at the water's edge. ■ to be on the edge of sthg [of war, disaster] to be at a point where sthg bad is likely to happen unless somebody does something to stop it \square The country is on the edge of financial ruin. -2. [of a blade] the sharp side of a blade that is used for cutting \square This knife has a very sharp edge. -3. to have an edge over sb/sthg, to have the edge on sb/sthg to have an advantage over sb/sthg; to be slightly better than sb/sthg \square His experience abroad gives him an edge over the other applicants. -4. [in somebody's voice] a tone of voice that shows impatience or anger \square There was an unfamiliar edge to her voice.

\diamond vi to move very slowly and carefully in a particular direction \square She edged along the crowded platform.

\diamond vt to edge one's way = to edge.

\blacklozenge on edge adj to be on edge to be tense and nervous and likely to become angry or upset \square I was feeling slightly on edge.

edged [edʒd] adj to be edged with sthg [with lace, blue] to have edges consisting of sthg \square The lake was edged with reeds.

edgeways ['edʒweɪz], edgewise ['edʒwaɪz] adv sideways \square Try getting it through the door edgewise.

edging ['edʒɪŋ] n [of paper, a blouse, tablecloth] something decorative that is along the edges of something else.

edgy ['edʒɪ] (compar edgier, superl edgiest) adj [person, manner, voice] that is nervous and anxious \square I could see Paul was becoming a little edgy.

edible ['edəbl] adj [food, plant] that is safe to eat \square "Are these mushrooms edible?" — "I think so."

edict ['i:dikt] n an order or instruction that is given by somebody in authority (formal use).

edifice ['edɪfəs] n a large and impressive building (formal use).

edifying ['edəfaɪɪŋ] adj [talk, experience, book] that one learns from and finds helpful.

Edinburgh [US 'edɪnbɜ:ɾə, GB -bərə] the capital of Scotland, in the southeast of the country. It is a financial center, and is famous for its annual arts festival. POPULATION: 420,000.

Edinburgh, Duke of the title given to Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

Edinburgh Festival n the Edinburgh Festival an important arts festival that takes place every year in Edinburgh. It includes concerts, operas, plays, and alternative exhibitions and performances in informal venues.

Edison ['edɪsən], Thomas Alva (1847–1931) a US scientist and inventor whose most important inventions are the light bulb and the gramophone.

edit ['edit] vt -1. [book, article, text] to make corrections and improvements to . -2. [collection, anthology, series] to select material for . -3. TV, RADIO, & CINEMA to make  etc by choosing pieces of recorded material and putting them together in a particular order. -4. JOURNALISM to be in charge of  etc.

\blacklozenge edit out vt sep to edit sthg out [word, section] to remove sthg from a film, recording, or piece of writing.

edition [ɪ'dɪʃn] n -1. [of a book, newspaper] a version of a book or newspaper that is printed at a particular time or place \square Monday's edition of the "Herald Tribune" \square I've got the first edition in hardback. -2. TV & RADIO one of a series of TV or radio shows that is broadcast at a particular time \square tonight's edition of "Front Page".

editor ['editə] n -1. [of a newspaper] the person in charge of a newspaper or magazine. -2. [of a newspaper section] the journalist who is responsible for a particular section of a newspaper or magazine \square the business/travel editor. -3. [of a book] a person whose job is to edit text, e.g. books or articles. -4. [of an anthology] a person whose job is to select material for a book or series of books. -5. TV, RADIO, & CINEMA a person whose job is to edit movies, or TV or radio programs.

editorial [ɪ'dɪtɔ:riəl] \diamond adj -1. [department, staff, budget] that is concerned with the production of written material, e.g. for a newspaper or series of books. -2. [outlook, change, policy] that concerns the content of a publication or broadcast. \diamond n a newspaper article that gives the opinion of the editor or owner on one of the stories in the newspaper.

EDP n abbr of electronic data processing.

EDT (abbr of Eastern Daylight Time) n the local daylight saving time in the eastern USA, Quebec, and Ontario.

educate ['edʒəkeɪt] vt -1. [pupil, student] to teach <sb> several subjects over a long period, usually at a school or college \square He was educated privately. -2. [people, the public] to tell <sb> about something, so that they will change the way they think or behave \square a campaign to educate people about AIDS.

educated ['edʒəkeɪtɪd] adj [person] who has had a good education, is intelligent, and knows a lot \square a highly educated young woman.

education [ɪ'dʒə'keɪʃn] n the process or result of being educated; the activity or profession of educating people \square She had a good/an ex- pensive education. □ primary/secondary/higher education □ health education □ education cuts.

educational [ˌedʒəˈkeɪʃənəl] adj -1. [toy, talk, experience] that teaches somebody something, especially because it is meant to do this. -2. [establishment, policy] see education □ I first came here on an educational visit.

educationalist [ˌedʒəˈkeɪʃnəlɪst] n a person who studies and writes about theories and methods of education.

educator [ˈedʒəkɛɪtə] n a teacher (formal use).

edutainment [ˌedʒəˈteɪnmənt] n television programs, computer games etc that are designed to educate people in an entertaining way.

Edward VIII [ˌedwəˈdɔːrˈeɪtθ] (1894–1972) King of Great Britain and Northern Ireland from January to December 1936, when he abdicated in order to marry a US divorcée, Mrs Wallis Simpson.

Edwardian [edˈwɔːrɪˈdɪən] ◇ adj [building, style] that existed or was fashionable in Britain in the reign of Edward VII (1901–1910). ◇ n a person who lived in the Edwardian period.

EEC (abbr of European Economic Community) n the EEC the term that was used to refer to the EC when it consisted of six countries.

EEG n abbr of electroencephalograph.

eel [iːl] n a long thin fish that looks like a snake and lives in both fresh and salt water.

EENT (abbr of eye, ear, nose, and throat) n a department in a hospital that deals with diseases of the eyes, ears, nose, and throat □ an EENT specialist.

EEOC (abbr of Equal Employment Opportunity Commission) n the EEOC a US government body responsible for making sure that people of different sexes, races, colors etc are treated equally and fairly by employers.

eerie [ˈiəri] adj [place, music, atmosphere] that seems strange and slightly frightening □ The resemblance was eerie.

EET (abbr of Eastern European Time) n the standard local time in Eastern Europe.

efface [ɪˈfeɪs] vt -1. [graffiti, footprint, word] to remove or cover up  so that it can no longer be seen. -2. [memory, thought] to get rid of <sthg> completely so that one no longer thinks about it.

effect [ɪˈfekt] ◇ n -1. [on a person, place] a result of an action, attitude, policy etc that changes somebody or something □ The effects on the local population were disastrous. □ This could have the effect of improving performance. ■ to have an effect on sb/sthg to influence or produce some change in sb/sthg □ His words had no effect on them at all. □ The campaign had an immediate effect on sales. ■ to take effect [law, rule] to become officially valid □ The new regulations take effect as of next April. ■ to put sthg into effect [policy, law, rule] to make sthg start working □ The embargo was put into effect with limited success. -2. [of lighting, a gesture, color] an impression that is given by the way somebody or something looks, sounds etc □ The lights created an eerie effect. ■ for effect in order to create a particular impression or atmosphere, or get somebody's attention □ She just did it for effect. -3. to the effect that... with the meaning that... □ a statement to the effect that no action would be taken. ■ to that effect with that general meaning □ She called me an incompetent old fool, or words to that effect.

◇ vt [change, improvement] to succeed in making <sthg> happen (formal use).

effective [ɪˈfektɪv] adj -1. [method, system, policy] that works well and has the result that was wanted □ There's supposed to be a ban on the drugs, but it's not very effective. -2. [head, command, control] that exists or has a particular job, although this is not official □ He has effective control over the entire ship. -3. to be effective [law, ceasefire, policy] to be officially valid □ The changes become effective January 1.

effectively [ɪˈfektɪvli] adv -1. [manage, work] well. -2. a word used to explain what the effect of something is □ Management refused to negotiate, effectively prolonging the strike. □ John is now effectively head of our department.

effectiveness [ɪˈfektɪvnəs] n [of a method, system, policy] see effective □ This demonstrates the effectiveness of our methods.

effeminate [ɪˈfemɪnət] adj [man, boy] who behaves or sounds like a woman or girl (disapproving use).

effervesce [ˌefəˈrves] vi [drink, liquid] to produce bubbles.

effervescent [ˌefəˈrvesnt] adj [drink, liquid] that has bubbles in it.

effete [ɪˈfi:t] adj [person] weak and powerless (disapproving use).

efficacious [ɪfɪˈkeɪʃəs] adj [medicine, method, solution] that achieves the result that is wanted (formal use).

efficacy [ˈefɪkəsi] n: see efficacious.

efficiency [ɪˈfɪnsi] n: see efficient □ Calls for greater efficiency are likely to be ignored.

efficient [ɪˈfɪʃnt] adj [person, machine, method] that works well and does not make mistakes or waste time, money etc □ Their organization is highly efficient. □ an efficient use of time/resources.

efficiently [ɪˈfɪʃntli] adv [work, function] see efficient □ Tuning the engine makes it run more efficiently.

effigy [ˈefɪdʒi] (pl effigies) n -1. a figure or model made to look like a person one hates. -2. a statue or carving of somebody.

effluent [ˈefluənt] n liquid waste from a factory, sewage plant etc.

effort [ˈefɔːt] n -1. energy or time spent by somebody in trying to do something □ We put a lot of effort into making the conference a success. ■ to be worth the effort to be worth doing □ We could write to complain, but it isn't worth the effort. ■ to make the effort to do sthg to try more than usual to do sthg. □ I decided to make the effort and go there myself. ■ with effort with difficulty □ He won their backing without too much effort. -2. an attempt to do something □ Despite all their efforts, they lost the contract. □ Your essay was a pretty good/poor effort. ■ to make an/no effort to do sthg to try/not try to do sthg □ We're making a big effort to improve our performance. □ Some/No effort was made to improve output.

effortless ['efə'tləs] adj [win, movement, success] that is done easily and without much effort, especially because one has a lot of skill □ She danced with effortless grace.

effortlessly ['efə'tləsli] adv [win, move, succeed] see effortless □ He ran effortlessly past the winning post.

effrontery [ɪ'frʌntəri] n behavior that one finds rude or disrespectful (formal use).

effusive [ɪ'fju:siv] adj [person, welcome, praise] that shows enthusiasm □ We were given a most effusive welcome.

EFL (abbr of English as a foreign language) n English taught to people who do not speak it as their first language □ an EFL teacher.

EFTA ['eftə] (abbr of European Free Trade Association) n an association of European countries that includes Austria, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland, and that has no restrictions on imports among members.

EFTPOS ['eftpɒs] (abbr of electronic funds transfer at point of sale) n a system that moves money from somebody's bank account by computer when they pay for goods using a credit card or debit card.

e.g. (abbr of exempli gratia) adv for example.

EGA (abbr of enhanced graphics adapter) n a system for displaying color graphics that is used in many personal computers.

egalitarian [i,ɡæli'teəriən] adj [system, society] in which everybody has equal rights and opportunities; [person] who believes in equal rights and opportunities for everybody.

egg [eg] n -1. [of a bird, insect] a smooth rounded object produced by female birds, reptiles, fish, and insects, with an outer shell to protect the young creature that grows inside.

-2. COOKING an egg, usually from a hen, when it is used as food □ boiled/fried/poached eggs □ Beat the eggs and sugar together.

-3. BIOLOGY the reproductive cell in female mammals □ an egg cell.

◆ egg on vt sep to egg sb on to encourage sb to do something stupid or dangerous □ He climbed onto the track, egged on by the others.

eggcup ['egkʌp] n a small cup with no handle that is used for holding a boiled egg.

eggplant [US 'egplənt, GB -plənt] n US a vegetable with shiny purple skin and soft white flesh.

eggshell ['egʃel] n the hard outer layer of an egg.

egg timer n a device for measuring the amount of time it should take for an egg to boil, often in the form of a glass cylinder that is half-filled with sand and has a narrow middle section.

egg whisk n a kitchen utensil that is used for beating eggs, cream etc.

egg white n the part of an egg that is clear and becomes white when cooked.

egg yolk n the yellow part of an egg.

EGM (abbr of extraordinary general meeting) n a meeting of a company's shareholders that is specially called to discuss an urgent matter such as a takeover bid.

ego ['i:ɡou] (pl egos) n one's opinion of oneself □ He has a big ego.

egocentric [i:ɡou'sentri:k] adj [person, behavior] selfish.

egoism ['i:ɡouizɪm] n = egotism.

egoist ['i:ɡouɪst] n = egotist.

egoistic [i:ɡou'ɪstɪk] adj [person, attitude, behavior] = egotistic(al).

egotism ['i:ɡətɪzɪm] n the belief that one is better, more important, or more interesting than other people; behavior that shows this (disapproving use).

egotist ['i:ɡətɪst] n a person who shows egotism □ Tim? He's a terrible egotist, but he's OK.

egotistic(al) [i:ɡə'tɪstɪk(l)] adj [person, attitude, behavior] see egotist.

ego trip n something one does only to make other people admire one more (informal and disapproving use) □ The whole thing was just a big ego trip for her.

Egypt ['ɪdʒɪpt] a country in North Africa, on the Mediterranean and the Red Sea, consisting mainly of desert. SIZE: 1,000,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 58,300,000 (Egyptians). CAPITAL: Cairo. LANGUAGE: Arabic. CURRENCY: Egyptian pound.

Egyptian [ɪ'dʒɪpɪn] n & adj: see Egypt.

eh [eɪ] excl GB (informal use) -1. a word used to ask somebody to reply to or agree with what one has just said □ Pretty impressive, eh? -2. a word used to ask somebody to repeat something □ "Your tea's ready, Grandad!" — "Eh?"

eiderdown ['aɪdə'daʊn] n a quilted bedcover, usually filled with feathers and placed on top of blankets and sheets.

eight [eɪt] num the number 8; see also five.

eighteen [eɪ'ti:n] num the number 18; see also fifteen.

eighteenth [eɪ'ti:nθ] num 18th, number 18 in a series; see also fifteenth.

eighth [eɪθ] num 8th, number 8 in a series; see also fifth.

eighth note n US a musical note that lasts for an eighth of the time of a whole note.

eightieth ['eɪti:θ] num 80th, number 80 in a series; see also fiftieth.

eighty ['eɪti] (pl eighties) num the number 80; see also fifty.

Einstein ['aɪnstain], Albert (1879–1955) a German physicist who became a Swiss citizen in 1901, and a US citizen in 1940. He is famous for his theories of relativity, and is considered one of the greatest scientists of the 20th century.

Eire ['eərə] the Irish Gaelic name for Ireland. It is often used to mean the Irish Republic.

Eisenhower ['aɪzənhaʊə], Dwight D. (1890–1969) US President from 1953 to 1961, and an important general in World War II.

either [US 'i:ðr, GB 'aɪðə] ◇ det -1. take either book take one of the two books, it does not matter which one □ Either solution is perfectly feasible. ■ either way whichever of two possible things happens □ We can go out or stay in, I don't mind either way. -2. on either side on both of the two sides □ There was a door at either end of the corridor. □ I don't support either team.

◇ pron: "Which would you like?" — "Either will do." □ I've met both her sisters and I don't like either of them. □ Do/Does either of you want to come?

◇ adv a word used at the end of negative statements that add information to other negative statements □ Kim doesn't smoke and I don't either.

◆ either...or... conj a phrase used to say what the only two possibilities are □ Either we go today or we don't go at all. □ He's arriving either tomorrow or Monday. ■ I don't like either him or his wife I don't like him and I also don't like his wife □ I don't want either Chris or Mike to find out.

ejaculate [ɪ'dʒækjəleɪt] ◇ vt to say or shout <sthg> suddenly (literary use). ◇ vi [man] to release semen through the penis during orgasm.

eject [ɪ'dʒekt] vt -1. [cassette, video, pilot] to send or push <sb/sthg> out from somewhere. -2. [intruder, troublemaker] to force <sb> to leave a building, club, or position of authority.

ejection seat [ɪ'dʒekʃn-] US, ejector seat [ɪ'dʒektəʃ-] GB n a special seat in some aircraft that can eject the pilot in an emergency.

eke [i:k] ◆ eke out ◇ vt sep to eke sthg out [food, money, fuel] to make one's supply of sthg last longer by using it carefully. ◇ vt fus to eke out a living OR an existence to live with very little money or supplies.

EKG n US = ECG.

el [ɛl] (abbr of elevated railroad) n US the el a railway in Chicago, USA, that is built on supports above the streets (informal use).

elaborate [adj ɪ'læbərət, vb ɪ'læbəreɪt] ◇ adj [carving, ceremony, plan] that seems very complicated and detailed □ Her designs were too elaborate. ◇ vi to give more details about something to explain it more clearly □ Would you care to you elaborate on that statement?

elapse [ɪ'læps] vi [time, minute, day] to pass □ How much time elapses between the dropping of the bomb and the explosion?

elastic [ɪ'læstɪk] ◇ adj -1. [material] that stretches easily and then returns to its previous shape and size □ the elastic properties of skin. -2. [idea, plan, timetable] that can change easily so that there are no problems if something else changes □ My views on the whole issue are fairly elastic. ◇ n an elastic material, usually made partly of rubber, used in particular parts of clothes, e.g. around the waist or wrist □ a piece of elastic.

elasticated [ɪ'læstɪkeɪtəd] adj [sock, waistband] that has elastic in it so that it can stretch.

elastic band n GB a small thin band of rubber used to hold things together tightly.

elasticity [ɪ:læ'stɪsətɪ] n [of a material] see elastic □ The skin begins to lose its elasticity.

elated [ɪ'leɪtəd] adj who is very happy and excited □ I felt elated on hearing the news.

elation [ɪ'leɪʃn] n a feeling of great happiness and excitement □ a sense of elation.

elbow ['elbəʊ] ◇ n -1. [of one's arm] the part where a joint lets one's arm bend. ■ to rub elbows with sb US to meet sb, especially a famous person, and socialize with them as an equal. -2. [of one's sleeve] the part of a sleeve that covers one's elbow. ◇ vt to elbow sb aside to push sb out of the way with one's elbow.

elbow grease n the effort needed to do hard physical work, especially when it involves rubbing (informal use).

elbowroom ['elbəʊrʊm] n the space needed to move or work in easily, without being uncomfortable (informal use) □ Everyone sat very close together, with very little elbowroom.

elder ['eldəʃ] ◇ adj sb's elder brother/sister sb's brother/sister who is older than them □ I have an elder sister. ◇ n -1. an older person □ You should show more respect for your elders. -2. [in a tribe] an older person in a tribe who has a position of influence or authority □ a tribal/village elder. -3. RELIGION an official in some Protestant Churches □ a Church elder. -4. [tree] a small tree with white flowers and black berries.

elderberry ['eldə'bɛrɪ] (pl elderberries) n the black berry of the elder tree, often used to make wine.

elderly ['eldə'li] ◇ adj [person] old (polite use). ◇ npl the elderly old people □ accommodation for the elderly.

elder statesman n an old, respected, and influential person who is a member or was once a member of a government or organization.

eldest ['eldəst] adj [brother, sister] oldest.

El Dorado, Eldorado [ɛldə'rɑ:dəʊ] a place that is thought to offer great wealth and opportunities.

elect [ɪ'lekt] ◇ vt -1. [president, leader, candidate] to choose <sb> by voting □ She was elected (as) chairperson. □ Mr Pyke was elected to the board/Senate two years before. -2. to elect to do sthg to choose to do sthg (formal use). ◇ adj the president/governor etc elect the person who has been elected president/governor etc but has not yet officially taken up the position.

elected [ɪ'lektəd] adj an elected body/representative etc a body/representative etc that has been elected.

election [ɪ'lekʃn] n -1. the process of electing a president, leader etc □ We will have OR hold an election next month. □ the European/local elections. -2. [of a president, leader] see elect □ a week after his election as President.

ELECTIONS

US presidential elections take place every four years, and there is a law which states that a president cannot be in power for more than two four-year periods. British general elections take place every five years, but the prime minister can call an election at any time within this period. Australian general elections are held every three years, but an early election can be called, as in Britain. Australians must vote by law in general and local elections, but US and British citizens do not have to vote if they do not want to.

election campaign n a campaign organized by a political party or candidate before an election to tell people their views and persuade people to vote for them.

electioneering [ɪˌlekʃəˈnɪərɪŋ] n activities intended to persuade people to vote for a particular party in an election.

elective [ɪˈlektɪv] n a course at a school or college that students can choose to take.

elector [ɪˈlektə] n a person who has the right to vote in an election.

electoral [ɪˈlektərəl] adj an electoral campaign/system etc a campaign/system etc that is connected with an election.

electoral college n a group of electors, especially in the USA, chosen by the voters to elect the president.

electoral register, electoral roll n the electoral register the official list of voters in a particular area.

electorate [ɪˈlektərət] n the electorate all the people in a country who have the right to vote in elections.

electric [ɪˈlektɪk] adj -1. [appliance] that works by using electricity □ an electric heater/fan. -2. [cable, wire] that is designed to carry electricity; [current, charge] that is produced by electricity □ an electric plug/socket □ an electric power line. -3. [situation, atmosphere] exciting.

◆ electrics npl the electrics GB the electric wiring and equipment in a car or machine (informal use).

electrical [ɪˈlektɪkəl] adj [equipment, appliance, device] that uses electricity; [fault, energy] that is connected with electricity □ the electrical goods department of a store.

electrical engineer n a person whose job is to make or look after electrical equipment, wiring etc.

electrical engineering n the profession of an electrical engineer.

electrically [ɪˈlektɪkli] adv electrically heated/powering etc heated/powering etc using electricity.

electrical shock US, electric shock GB n a painful feeling caused when one touches a source of electricity.

electric blanket n a blanket heated by electric wires inside it.

electric chair n the electric chair a special chair that is used in some US states for executing people, using a strong electric current.

electric current n GB the flow of electricity through a wire or circuit.

electric fire n GB a device that heats a room by using electricity.

electric guitar n a guitar that can only be heard when it is connected to an amplifier.

electrician [ɪˌlekˈtrɪʃn] n a person whose job is to install or repair electrical wiring, appliances etc.

electricity [ɪˌlekˈtrɪsətɪ] n -1. a form of energy that can be produced by a battery or generator and is used for heating, lighting, and for making machines work □ the electricity supply. -2. an exciting atmosphere □ There was real electricity between them when they met.

electric light n a light that works by using electricity.

electric shock n GB = electrical shock.

electric shock therapy n a method of treating mental illness by giving electric shocks to the brain.

electric storm n a storm with thunder and lightning, sometimes without rain, that is caused by static electricity in the air.

electrify [ɪˈlektɪfaɪ] (pt & pp electrified) vt -1. [railroad line, fence] to adapt <sthg> so that it can use electric power. -2. [person, audience] to make <sb> very excited.

electrifying [ɪˈlektɪfaɪɪŋ] adj [atmosphere, speech, performance] very exciting.

electro- [ɪˈlektroʊ] prefix added to words to show that something uses or involves electricity.

electrocardiograph [US ɪˌlektroʊˈkɑːrdiəgræf, GB -grɑːf] n an instrument that records the electrical activity of the heart.

electrocute [ɪˈlektroʊkjuːt] vt to electrocute oneself, to be electrocuted to be injured or killed by touching a source of electricity.

electrode [ɪˈlektroʊd] n a point through which electric current leaves or enters a source of power, piece of equipment etc.

electroencephalograph [US ɪˌlektroʊnɪˈsefələgræf, GB -grɑːf] n an instrument that records the electrical activity of the brain.

electrolysis [ɪˌlekˈtrɒlɪsɪs] n -1. PHYSICS the process of passing an electric current through a substance to make chemical changes in it. -2. a method of removing hair by destroying the roots with electric current.

electromagnet [ɪˌlektroʊˈmægnət] n a magnet that is made more powerful by having an electric current passed through a coil of wire around it.

electromagnetic [ɪˌlektroʊmæɡˈnetɪk] adj [force, field] see electromagnet.

electron [ɪˈlektroʊn] n a very small piece of matter that is one of the parts of an atom and has a negative charge.

electronic [ɪˌlekˈtrɒnɪk] adj -1. [device, equipment, system] that uses transistors, chips, or valves to control an electric current. -2.

[surveillance, music] that uses electronic devices.

♦ electronics ◊ n the science concerned with electronic devices and systems. ◊ npl electronic equipment.

electronic data processing n data processing carried out by electronic equipment such as computers.

electronic mail n → email.

electron microscope n a microscope that uses a beam of electrons to magnify very small things.

electroplated [ɪ'lektroʊpleɪtəd] adj [knife, spoon] that has been covered with a layer of metal by electrolysis.

elegance [ˈelɪɡəns] n: see elegant ◻ an age in which elegance and manners were all-important.

elegant [ˈelɪɡənt] adj -1. [person, dress] that is attractive and has a lot of style ◻ You're looking very elegant tonight. -2. [theory, plan] that works or is clear, even though it is simple.

elegantly [ˈelɪɡəntli] adv elegantly dressed/planned etc dressed/planned etc in an elegant way.

elegy [ˈelədʒɪ] (pl elegies) n a sad poem or song, usually for somebody who has died.

element [ˈelɪmənt] n -1. [of a whole] a part of something ◻ One of the key elements in their success was their willingness to invest in new technology. -2. [in society] a small group of people in a society or organization who are disapproved of by other members ◻ antisocial elements in society ◻ They're a disruptive element. -3. an element of luck/danger etc a small amount of luck/danger etc ◻ There is an element of truth/jealousy in what he says. -4. CHEMISTRY one of 105 substances that cannot be reduced to simpler substances because they contain only one type of atom, e.g. hydrogen, oxygen, or gold. -5. [in a heater] the piece of metal that heats up in an electric heater or kettle. -6. to be in one's element to be in a situation that one enjoys; to be doing something that one does well ◻ Oh, Rod will be in his element, surrounded by adoring fans!

♦ elements npl -1. the most basic or important aspects of something ◻ the elements of computing. -2. the elements the weather, especially wind, rain etc ◻ battling against the elements.

elementary [ˌelɪ'mentəri] adj -1. [precautions, answer, question] simple ◻ "What do I do?" — "It's elementary, you just say you don't want to carry on." -2. elementary math/education etc basic math/education etc.

elementary school n in the USA, a school where children go for the first six or seven years of their education.

elephant [ˈeləfənt] (pl elephant OR elephants) n a very large African or Indian animal with wide flat ears, two tusks, and a long nose.

elevate [ˈeləveɪt] vt -1. to elevate sb/sthg to sthg to raise the status of sb/sthg to sthg that is higher and more important ◻ He was elevated to the rank of Colonel. -2. [road, garden, structure] to raise <sthg> up so that it is higher than the things around it ◻ The street level was elevated to prevent flooding.

elevated [ˈeləveɪtəd] adj -1. [job, role] that is important and has a high status (formal use). -2. [sentiment, language, idea] that belongs to a level that is morally or intellectually higher than the level used in ordinary life (formal use). -3. [platform, section, land] that is higher than the things around it ◻ an accident on the elevated section of the motorway.

elevated railroad n a railroad that is built above street level in a town or city.

elevation [ˌelə'veɪʃn] n -1. the act of raising somebody or something to a higher level (formal use) ◻ her elevation to the peerage. -2. the height of land, a hill etc above sea level ◻ Elevation is shown in meters.

elevator [ˈeləveɪtə] n a device like a large box that carries people or goods from one floor to another in a building ◻ Shall we take the elevator, or walk up?

eleven [ɪ'levn] num the number 11; see also five.

elevenses [ɪ'levnzɪz] n GB a cup of coffee or tea and something to eat that people sometimes have between breakfast and lunch, at around 11 o'clock (informal use).

eleventh [ɪ'levnθ] num 11th, number 11 in a series; see also fifth.

eleventh hour n at the eleventh hour at the last possible moment ◻ An eleventh hour compromise has been reached.

elf [elf] (pl elves) n an imaginary creature in folk tales that looks like a small human with pointed ears and plays tricks on people.

Elgin Marbles [ˌelɪŋ-] npl the Elgin Marbles a collection of ancient Greek marble sculptures that were brought to Britain in 1803.

El Greco [el'grekəʊ] (1541–1614) a Spanish artist, born in Crete, famous for his portraits and religious paintings.

elicit [ɪ'lɪsət] vt [response, comment, fact] to get  from somebody because of something one says or does (formal use).

eligibility [ˌelɪdʒə'bɪlətɪ] n [of an applicant, candidate] see eligible ◻ We must check the eligibility of all candidates.

eligible [ˈelɪdʒəbl] adj -1. [applicant, candidate] who is suitable and qualified for something. ■ to be eligible for sthg/to do sthg to have the right qualifications or be the right age for sthg/to do sthg ◻ You're not eligible to vote yet. -2. [bachelor, man, woman] who is suitable as a marriage partner, especially because they are very rich or attractive ◻ Paul was considered the most eligible young man in town.

eliminate [ɪ'lɪmɪneɪt] vt -1. [mistake, need] to remove <sthg that is not wanted or needed> ◻ We have eliminated all other possibilities. ◻ The program will eliminate spelling errors, from the text. -2. SPORT to be eliminated from sthg [from a competition, election] to be defeated in sthg so that one can no longer take part in it.

Eliot [ˈelɪət], George (1819–1880) a British

- novelist, well known for her realistic novels of provincial English life, including The Mill on the Floss and Middlemarch.
- Eliot, T. S. (1888–1965) a US poet and playwright, who became a British citizen in 1927. His best-known works include The Waste Land and Murder in the Cathedral.
- elite [ˈli:t] ◇ adj [school, group, army] that is the best of its kind with higher standards than other people or things □ He attended an elite business school in the USA. ◇ n a small group of people who are more talented, rich, or powerful than the rest of their community □ the country's business elite.
- elitism [ˈli:tɪzəm] n an attitude or way of behaving that is elitist (disapproving use) □ This whole thing smacks of elitism.
- elitist [ˈli:tɪst] (disapproving use) ◇ adj [society, policy] that favors an elite and does not give the same advantages or attention to those who do not belong to it □ The college is accused of having an elitist admissions policy. ◇ n a person who is elitist.
- elixir [ˈɪlɪksər] n a drink that is thought to have magical powers, e.g. keeping people young forever or curing all illnesses.
- Elizabeth I [ˌɪlɪzəbəθdʒəˈfɜːst] (1533–1603) Queen of England from 1558 to 1603. She was called “The Virgin Queen.”
- Elizabeth II [ˌɪlɪzəbəθdʒəˈsekənd] (1926–) Queen of Great Britain and Northern Ireland from 1952.
- Elizabethan [ˌɪlɪzəˈbiːθən] ◇ adj [drama, architecture] that existed or was fashionable in Britain in the reign of Elizabeth I (1558–1603). ◇ n a person who lived during the Elizabethan period.
- elk [ɛlk] (pl elk OR elks) n a type of large deer that has very big flat antlers and is found in Northern Europe, North America, and Asia.
- ellipse [ˈɪlɪps] n a shape that is like a circle that has been flattened into an oval.
- elliptical [ˈɪlɪptɪkəl] adj -1. [path, object] that is like an ellipse. -2. [phrase, remark] that is difficult to understand because it does not include all the words that make it complete.
- Ellis Island [ˌɛlɪs-] an island near New York City where, from the 1890s, foreign immigrants had to go to find out if they would be allowed to live in the USA.
- elm [ɛlm] n a tall tree found north of the equator that has broad leaves and seeds that spin as they fall to the ground; the hard heavy wood of this tree □ an elm tree.
- elocution [ˌɛləˈkjuːʃn] n the art of speaking in public with a clear voice and correct pronunciation □ She took elocution lessons before becoming a newsreader.
- elongated [US ˈlɒŋgeɪtəd, GB ˈiːlɒŋ-] adj [face, shape, finger] that is thin and long in a way that looks as if it has been stretched □ a fruit shaped like an elongated melon.
- elope [ˈɪləʊp] vi [couple] to leave a place secretly to get married, especially when other people do not approve of the marriage □ She eloped with the gardener.
- eloquence [ˈɛləkwəns] n: see eloquent □ She was taken in by his charm and eloquence.
- eloquent [ˈɛləkwənt] adj -1. [speech, gesture, style] that expresses something fluently and well, especially in a way that persuades people of something □ We were impressed by his eloquent defense of their position. -2. [person] who can speak or write in an eloquent way □ It's a pleasure to hear such an eloquent speaker.
- eloquently [ˈɛləkwəntli] adv [speak, write, describe] see eloquent □ The report eloquently reminds us of the need for tolerance.
- El Salvador [ˌɛlˈsælvədɔːr] a country in Central America, on the Pacific Ocean. SIZE: 21,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 5,400,000 (Salvadoreans). CAPITAL: San Salvador. LANGUAGE: Spanish. CURRENCY: colón.
- else [ɛls] adv somewhere/something else somewhere/something different from the place/thing that has just been mentioned □ Let's go somewhere else. □ Do you need anything else? □ I've just thought of someone else we forgot to invite. ■ who else knows? who knows in addition to the people just mentioned? (used after question words) □ What else did he say? ■ everyone/everything else all the other people/things apart from the one that has just been mentioned □ I didn't enjoy myself, but everyone else seemed to have a good time. □ We had to stay in a motel, because everywhere else was full.
- ◆ or else conj -1. hurry up or else we'll be late if you do not hurry up we'll be late (used to show what might go wrong if something is not done) □ You'd better stop now or else you'll be too tired. -2. a phrase used to threaten somebody □ Get out of this house, or else I'll call the police! □ You'd better pay up, or else! □ “Shut up!” — “Or else what?” -3. a phrase used to show the second of two things that might happen or be true □ We could go there by train, or else fly.
- elsewhere [US ˈɛlswɛr, GB ˈɛlsˈweə] adv [look, go, buy] in or to a different place □ The snow is just as heavy elsewhere in the country.
- ELT (abbr of English language teaching) n the teaching of English to people who do not speak it as their mother tongue.
- elucidate [ˈɪluːsɪdeɪt] (formal use) ◇ vt to make  etc clearer by giving more information □ Could you elucidate one or two things? ◇ vi: Allow me to elucidate.
- elude [ˈɪluːd] vt -1. [police, authorities] to avoid being caught or found by <sb>, especially over a long period of time □ How has he managed to elude capture for so long? -2. the answer eludes me I cannot remember the answer; I cannot think of the answer □ The name eludes me for the moment.
- elusive [ˈɪluːsɪv] adj -1. [person, animal] that is difficult to find □ I finally found my elusive colleague. -2. [quality] that is difficult to define or describe; [solution] that is difficult to work out □ the elusive smile of the Mona Lisa □ The answer remained elusive.

elves [elvz] plural of elf.

'em [əm] = them (informal use).

emaciated [i'meɪʃɪeɪtəd] adj [person, arm, leg] that is very thin, especially because of illness or hunger □ The dog looked emaciated.

email, e-mail ['i:meɪl] (abbr of electronic mail) ◇ n a system that links computers together so that users can send messages to each other's computers; information that is sent in this way □ an email message □ Can I contact you by email?
 ◇ vt to send <sb> a message by email.

emanate ['eməneɪt] ◇ vt to have a large amount of  etc in such a way that other people are aware of it □ She/The building emanates power. ◇ vi to emanate from sb/sthg [smell, idea, noise] to come from sb/sthg □ There was a pleasant smell of garlic emanating from the kitchen.

emancipate [i'mænsɪpeɪt] vt to give <sb> more political rights and freedom.

emancipated [i'mænsɪpeɪtɪd] adj [woman] who does not follow traditional ideas about how women should behave.

emancipation [i,mænsɪ'peɪʃn] n: see emancipate □ She campaigned for the emancipation of women.

Emancipation Proclamation n the Emancipation Proclamation a speech made by President Abraham Lincoln on January 1, 1863 in which he said that all slaves in the United States were to be free.

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

In a speech on January 1, 1863, in the middle of the American Civil War, President Abraham Lincoln stated that all slaves in the Confederation (i.e. the Southern states that were rebelling against the government) would now be free. The proclamation did not become law until the war ended in 1865, when it became the Thirteenth Amendment to the US Constitution.

emasculate [i'mæskjʊleɪt] vt [bill, organization] to remove the power of <sb/sthg> so that it is no longer effective (formal use).

embalm [ɪm'ba:lm] vt to treat  with oils or chemicals to prevent it from decaying.

embankment [ɪm'bæŋkmənt] n -1. [for a road, railroad] a long section of raised earth or stone that is built to carry a road or railroad over low ground. -2. [along a river, sea, lake] a long section of raised earth or stone that is built to stop water from spreading over the land beside it.

embargo [ɪm'ba:rgəʊ] (pl embargoes, pt & pp embargoed, cont embargoing) ◇ n -1. BUSINESS & POLITICS an order made by a government or group of governments that forbids trade with another country, often used as a way of punishing that country □ The UN has placed/imposed an embargo on oil shipments. □ an arms/oil embargo. -2. an order made by one person to another person that tells them not to do something □ a news embargo. ◇ vt BUSINESS & POLITICS to place an embargo on .

embark [ɪm'ba:rk] vi -1. to get on a ship □ A signal told us it was time to embark. -2. to embark on OR upon sthg [on a trip, project, explanation] to begin sthg that is important or likely to take a long time □ Think carefully before you embark on such an ambitious plan.

embarkation [ˌembɑ:ˈkeɪʃn] n the act of getting onto a ship □ Passports must be shown before embarkation.

embarkation card n GB a ticket given to a passenger when they get on a ship.

embarrass [US ɪm'berəs, GB -'bær-] vt to make <sb> feel ashamed, or nervous and uncomfortable □ I don't want to embarrass her.

embarrassed [US ɪm'berəst, GB -'bær-] adj [person, silence, smile] that shows embarrassment □ She was too embarrassed to speak.

embarrassing [US ɪm'berəsɪŋ, GB -'bær-] adj [moment, remark] that causes embarrassment □ It was so embarrassing having to leave like that! □ There was an embarrassing silence.

embarrassment [US ɪm'berəsəmənt, GB -'bær-] n -1. a feeling of being nervous and uncomfortable because of something that has been said or done □ It has been a great source of embarrassment for us. -2. a person or thing that causes embarrassment □ Honestly, you're such an embarrassment!

embassy ['embəsi] (pl embassies) n a group of government officials who work in a foreign country as representatives of their country, with an ambassador as their head; the building where this group is based □ the American Embassy in Paris □ embassy staff.

embattled [ɪm'bætɪld] adj [government, economy, regime] that has many opponents or enemies and continually has problems □ New scandals have hit the embattled party.

embedded [ɪm'bedəd] adj -1. to be embedded in sthg [in rock, wood, mud] to be firmly fixed in sthg □ The car's wheels were embedded in the mud. -2. [feeling, guilt] that is deeply and strongly fixed in a person, culture, society etc □ a deeply-embedded prejudice.

embellish [ɪm'belɪʃ] vt -1. to embellish sthg with sthg to make sthg more attractive by adding sthg decorative □ a facade embellished with statues. -2. [story, the truth] to make <sthg> more interesting by adding details to it that are often false □ He always tends to embellish what really happened.

embers ['embəz] npl the small pieces of very hot coal or wood that remain after a fire has almost stopped burning.

embezzle [ɪm'bezl] vt [funds, profits] to take <money> and use it illegally for one's own profit by using one's position in a company or organization.

embezzlement [ɪm'bezləmənt] n the crime of embezzling money □ They were arrested for embezzlement.

embittered [ɪm'bitəd] adj [person] who has become bitter because of bad experiences that they have had □ She had become embittered by failure.

emblazoned [ɪm'bleɪznd] adj to be emblazoned on sthg [symbol, design, emblem] to be drawn, painted, or fixed on sthg so that it is very noticeable □ The jacket had the emblem of the school emblazoned on the pocket. ■ to be emblazoned with sthg [tie, jacket, flag] to be decorated with sthg, especially in a way that is very clear or noticeable □ His necktie was emblazoned with the club crest.

emblem ['embləm] n an object or design that is used as a symbol to represent a particular country or organization □ The bald eagle is the national emblem of the United States.

embodiment [ɪm'bɒdɪmənt] n a person or thing that represents a particular quality or idea in a very strong or typical way □ He was the embodiment of evil.

embody [ɪm'bɒdi] (vt & pp embodied) vt -1. to express or represent  in a physical or noticeable way □ To us, he embodied all the ideals to which we aspired. -2. to be embodied in sthg to be included as a basic and necessary part of sthg □ The right to vote is embodied in our Constitution.

embolism ['embəlɪzəm] n something, e.g. a clot of blood or a bubble of air, that blocks a vein or artery.

embossed [ɪm'bɒst] adj -1. [paper, leather] that has a raised pattern on its surface that one can feel with one's fingers. -2. to be embossed on sthg [title, design, symbol] to be printed so that it forms a raised pattern on sthg □ She had her initials embossed on her suitcase.

embrace [ɪm'breɪs] ◇ vt -1. [child, friend] to put one's arms around <sb> as a sign of love or affection, especially when meeting or saying goodbye □ Kathy embraced her daughter warmly. -2. [religion, belief, idea] to start believing in <sthg> in a way that shows one accepts it completely (formal use). -3. [features, types] to include <sthg> (formal use) □ The conference will embrace all aspects of biotechnology. ◇ vi [two people] The lovers embraced, then parted. ◇ n the act of embracing somebody or something □ He held her in a lingering embrace.

embrocation [ˌembɹə'keɪʃn] n a cream that is rubbed into the skin to reduce muscle pain (formal use).

embroider [ɪm'brɔɪdər] ◇ vt -1. SEWING [tablecloth, blouse] to decorate <sthg> by sewing a design, picture etc onto it; [design, picture] to sew <sthg> onto a piece of material. -2. [story, account] to make <sthg> more interesting by adding some details that are not completely true (disapproving use) □ Alex always tends to embroider his stories a little. ◇ vi SEWING I'm learning to embroider.

embroidered [ɪm'brɔɪdəd] adj [tablecloth, design, blouse] that has been decorated with embroidery □ a handkerchief with an embroidered edge.

embroidery [ɪm'brɔɪdəri] n -1. the skill or activity of embroidering □ I've taken up embroidery. -2. designs or pictures that have been embroidered onto something □ She does beautiful embroidery.

embroil [ɪm'brɔɪl] vt to get/be embroiled in sthg [in an argument, scandal] to get/be involved in sthg that is difficult to stop being involved in □ You don't want to get embroiled in their marital problems.

embryo ['embriəʊ] (pl embryos) n BIOLOGY an unborn human being or animal in the very earliest stages of development inside the mother's body.

embryonic [ˌembri'ɒnɪk] adj [movement, idea] that is at an early stage in its development □ Then, television was still in its embryonic form.

emcee [ˌem'si:] n abbr of master of ceremonies.

emend [ɪ'mend] vt [text, translation] to remove the mistakes from <sthg written> □ an emended version of the speech.

emerald ['emərəld] ◇ adj bright green □ an emerald green hat. ◇ n a precious stone that is a bright green color.

emerge [ɪ'mɜːdʒ] vi -1. [person, animal, vehicle] to come out from a hidden place, or from inside a room, house, car etc □ She finally emerged from the meeting at 2pm. -2. [from an experience, situation] to come out of an experience, situation etc in a particular way □ Buendia emerged as the most important new opposition figure after the death of Munada. □ She emerged from the scandal with her reputation intact. -3. [truth, fact, information] to become known, usually gradually □ A picture of the killer is emerging from eye-witness accounts. -4. [writer, movement, organization] to become increasingly important or well-known □ New talent is constantly emerging. -5. it emerges that... it is now known or clear that... □ It soon emerged that the President had given the order himself.

emergence [ɪ'mɜːdʒəns] n: see emerge □ the emergence of China as a world industrial power.

emergency [ɪ'mɜːdʒənsɪ] (pl emergencies) ◇ n a difficult or dangerous situation, e.g. an accident, that happens suddenly and unexpectedly and that needs to be dealt with very quickly □ 'In case of emergency, pull handle.' ◇ adj [meeting, action, equipment] that is intended or needed to deal with an emergency □ We must take emergency steps to deal with the crisis.

emergency brake n US a device in a vehicle that stops it from moving and is used when the main brake does not work or when the vehicle is parked.

emergency exit n an exit in a building, store etc that is used only when there is an emergency, such as a fire.

emergency landing n a landing that an aircraft has to make when something has gone wrong □ The pilot had to make an emergency landing a mile short of the airport.

emergency number n a telephone number that people ring to call one of the emergency services.

emergency room n US the part of a hospital where people are treated if they have an accident or suddenly become ill.

emergency services npl the public services, e.g. the fire brigade or ambulance service, that deal with emergencies.

emergency stop n a sudden stop that one makes in a car, usually to avoid having an accident.

emergent [i'mɜːdʒənt] adj [nation, power, political group] that is only just beginning to have power or to be noticed.

Emerson ['emə'sən], Ralph Waldo (1803–1882) a US poet whose writing had a strong influence on the philosophy and religion of his time.

emery board ['eməriː] n a flat stick of wood or cardboard with a rough surface like sandpaper on it, used for filing one's nails.

emetic [i'metɪk] n something that one drinks or eats in order to make oneself vomit, especially as a medicine.

emigrant ['emɪgrənt] n a person who has emigrated or is emigrating.

emigrate ['emɪgreɪt] vi [person] to leave one's own country to live permanently in another □ They emigrated from America after the war.

emigration [ˌemi'greɪʃn] n: see emigrate □ He received help with his emigration papers.

émigré ['emɪgreɪ] n a person who has left their country for political reasons.

eminence ['emɪnəns] n: see eminent □ a professor of such eminence.

eminent ['emɪnənt] adj [scientist, doctor] who is important, respected, and well-known □ She holds an eminent position in the organization.

eminently ['emɪnəntli] adv eminently sensible/fair/practical very sensible/fair/practical (formal use).

emir [e'mɪə] n a Muslim leader, especially in parts of Africa and Southwest Asia.

emissary [US 'eməsəri, GB -ɪsəri] (pl emissaries) n a person who has been sent to a foreign country on a specific mission, usually as the representative of a government or country.

emission [i'mɪʃn] n -1. [of heat, sound, smoke] see emit. -2. a substance that is emitted □ toxic emissions.

emit [i'mɪt] (pt & pp emitted, cont emitting) vt [heat, sound, smoke] to produce <sthg> and send it out into the surrounding area (formal use) □ The radar emits a signal.

Emmy ['emi] n an award given to outstanding television actors and programs in the USA.

emollient [i'mɒliənt] n a liquid that one puts on one's skin to soften it (formal use).

emolument [i'mɒljəmənt] n money or some other payment that a person receives for work they have done (formal use).

emotion [i'mouʃn] n -1. strong feelings that are often difficult to control □ She showed no emotion when she heard the news. -2. one's emotions strong feelings that one has, e.g. love, fear, or anger □ He was unable to contain his emotions.

emotional [i'mouʃnəl] adj -1. [person] who has strong feelings that are shown often or easily □ He got very emotional and started to cry. -2. [scene, reunion, farewell] that is filled with emotion □ It was an emotional moment for us. -3. [speech, music, plea] that appeals to one's emotions □ The princess made an emotional plea on behalf of the orphans. -4. [need, problem] that concerns the emotions □ The job will make emotional demands on you.

emotionally [i'mouʃnəli] adv [react, answer] see emotional □ The child is emotionally disturbed. □ Avoid becoming too involved emotionally.

emotive [i'məʊtɪv] adj [remark, issue, language] that makes people feel strongly about something □ These are extremely emotive terms that you are using.

empathy ['empəθi] n the ability to understand and share other people's feelings □ I felt enormous empathy with their situation.

emperor ['empərə] n a man who rules an empire □ a Roman emperor.

emphasis ['emfəsɪs] (pl emphases [-sɪz]) n a particular force or importance that is given to something that one says or does □ The emphasis is on training in a practical context. ■ to lay OR place emphasis on sthg to give special importance to sthg □ Here at Langhill we put special emphasis on acquiring management skills.

emphasize, -ise ['emfəsaɪz] vt [point, feature, word] to give emphasis to <sthg> □ I want to emphasize that we do not allow smoking here.

emphatic [ɪm'fætɪk] adj [statement, tone, refusal] that is clear and forceful □ She was emphatic that they should not leave.

emphatically [ɪm'fætɪkli] adv -1. [say, declare, state] see emphatic □ I emphatically deny the allegations against me. -2. definitely □ This is emphatically not the right thing to do.

emphysema [ˌemfə'si:mə] n a medical condition in which the lungs become filled with too much air, causing difficulty in breathing.

empire ['empaɪə] n -1. POLITICS & HISTORY a group of separate countries that are all ruled by one person or country □ the Roman Empire. -2. BUSINESS a powerful group of companies that are all controlled by one person □ He controls a huge publishing empire.

empire-building n the attempt to increase one's power by adding more and more companies, staff etc to one's business or department.

empirical [ɪm'pɪrɪkəl] adj [proof, knowledge] that is based on real facts or practical experience rather than on theory □ the empirical study of language.

empiricism [ɪm'pɪrɪsɪzəm] n the belief that knowledge should be based on practical experience rather than on theory.

employ [ɪm'plɔɪ] vt -1. [worker, staff] to give paid work to <sb> regularly □ The company employs 500 people at its plant. □ The company employs me to handle sales. ■ to be employed as sthg to have a job as sthg □ He had been employed as an accountant. -2. [machine, device, tool] to use <sthg> (formal use).

employable [ɪm'plɔɪəbəl] adj [person] who is

- suitable to be employed □ Mark? I would have thought he was eminently employable.
- employee [im'plɔ:ɪ:] n a person who is employed by a particular person, company etc □ a government/company employee □ I'm an employee of Globax Inc.
- employer [im'plɔ:ɪə] n a person or company that employs other people □ The dispute between employers and the workforce continues.
- employment [im'plɔ:ɪmənt] n -1. the state of being employed □ His future employment is threatened. -2. paid work that somebody does □ I'm looking for employment.
- employment agency n an agency that finds jobs for people and finds employees to fill vacancies for companies, businesses etc.
- employment office n GB a government office that provides information about jobs that are available and helps people to find work.
- emporium [em'pɔ:ɪəm] n a large store that sells a lot of different things (old-fashioned and formal use).
- empower [im'paʊə] vt to be empowered to be given the legal authority to do something □ The police have been empowered to arrest suspects on sight.
- empress ['emprəs] n -1. the wife of an emperor. -2. a woman who rules an empire.
- emptiness ['emptɪnəs] n -1. [of a desert, ocean] the state of being empty □ the awful emptiness of space. -2. [of a person] a feeling of having nothing interesting or valuable in one's life.
- empty ['emptɪ] (compar emptier, superl emptiest, pt & pp emptied, pl empties) ◇ adj -1. [bottle, glass, pocket] that has nothing inside it; [room, street] where there are no people □ My stomach's completely empty. □ It was a holiday and the city was empty. -2. [threat, speech, promise] that seems to have meaning but does not □ These are just empty words. -3. [existence, life] that seems to have no meaning or importance □ Things seemed somehow empty now Jamie had gone. -4. [person] who feels very tired and has little energy, especially after a strong emotional experience □ Sarah sat back in her chair, tired and empty after a demanding day. ◇ vt -1. [bag, pocket, can] to remove the contents of <sthg> □ He emptied the bottle in one gulp. -2. [trash, water, food] to remove <the contents> from a container □ He emptied the trash into/out of the can. ◇ vi [room, theater, street] to become empty □ The auditorium gradually emptied. ◇ n an empty bottle (informal use) □ Did you take the empties back?
- empty-handed [-'hændəd] adv [return, arrive, come] with nothing □ They were sent away empty-handed.
- empty-headed [-'hedəd] adj [person] who seems silly and does not think about things seriously.
- EMS n abbr of European Monetary System.
- EMT (abbr of emergency medical technician) n a person whose job is to give medical help to people at the scene of an accident or in an ambulance.
- emu ['i:mju:] (pl emu OR emus) n a large Australian bird with long legs that cannot fly.
- EMU ['i:mju:, ,i:em'ju:] n abbr of Economic and Monetary Union.
- emulate ['emjəleɪt] vt to try to copy <sb> because one admires them and wants to be like them (formal use).
- emulsion [i'mʌljən] ◇ n -1. PHOTOGRAPHY the substance on the surface of photographic film that makes the film sensitive to light. -2. emulsion (paint) GB a water-based paint that is not shiny and is used for painting walls, ceilings etc inside a building. ◇ vt GB to paint  etc with emulsion.
- enable [i'neɪbl] vt to enable sb to do sthg to give sb the ability or opportunity to do sthg □ The pass will enable you to enter without paying.
- enabling [i'neɪblɪŋ] adj enabling legislation a law that makes it possible for something to happen.
- enact [i'nækt] vt -1. LAW to pass  etc so that it becomes legal □ The bill will be enacted before the end of this session. -2. [role, scene, situation] to perform <sthg> by acting.
- enactment [i'næktmənt] n: see enact.
- enamel [i'næml] n -1. a substance similar to glass that is used in decorating pots, glass etc, or to protect the surface of saucepans. -2. [on teeth] the hard white outer covering of one's teeth. -3. = enamel paint.
- enameled US, enamelled GB [i'næmld] adj [pot, handle, box] that is covered or decorated with enamel.
- enamel paint n a kind of shiny paint used especially on wood surfaces.
- enamored US, enamoured GB [i'næmərd] adj to be enamored of sb/sthg to like sb/sthg very much (literary use).
- en bloc [ɒn'blɒk] adv GB [resign, leave, arrive] as a group □ The delegates walked out en bloc.
- enc BUSINESS -1. abbr of enclosure. -2. abbr of enclosed.
- encamp [ɪn'kæmp] vi [army, soldiers] to set up a camp.
- encampment [ɪn'kæmpmənt] n a place where there is a camp, especially a military camp.
- encapsulate [ɪn'kæpsjəleɪt] vt [idea, theory] to express <sthg> in a short clear form □ I think this article pretty well encapsulates what I want to say.
- encase [ɪn'keɪs] vt to be encased in sthg [in armor, plaster] to be completely covered by sthg hard.
- encash [ɪn'kæʃ] vt GB to cash  (formal use).
- enchanted [US ɪn'tʃæntəd, GB -'tʃɑ:nt-] adj -1. to be enchanted by sb/sthg [person] to be delighted and fascinated by sb/sthg □ He sat listening, enchanted by her voice. -2. [forest, princess, apple] that is under the influence of a magic spell.
- enchancing [US ɪn'tʃæntɪŋ, GB -'tʃɑ:nt-] adj [person, child] that one thinks is charming and delightful □ He had the most enchanting smile.

encircle [ɪn'sɜːkl] vt [city, camp, area] to surround  completely □ The building was encircled by troops/trees.

enclave ['enklev] n a part of a country or area where people belong to a nationality, race, culture etc that is different from that of the people around it □ a small Serb enclave.

enclose [ɪn'kloʊz] vt -1. [garden, city, space] to surround <sthg> with a wall, fence, or other solid object so that it is separate from everything else □ The field was enclosed by OR with hedges. □ enclosed spaces. -2. [check, document] to put <sthg> in an envelope with something else □ Please find enclosed a copy of the report.

enclosure [ɪn'kloʊzə] n -1. FARMING an area that has been enclosed □ The cattle were kept in an enclosure. -2. BUSINESS something that has been enclosed with a letter.

encompass [ɪn'kæmpəs] vt to include  etc □ The course encompasses all aspects of computer programming.

encore ['ɒŋkɔːr] ◇ n a short extra performance that is given by a musician, singer etc at the end of a performance after the audience has applauded a lot □ The pianist gave two encores. ◇ excl the word that is used to call for more music, singing etc by the same performers at the end of a musical performance □ "Encore!" they shouted.

encounter [ɪn'kaʊntə] ◇ n -1. [with a person] a meeting that is unexpected □ a chance encounter with an old friend. -2. [with an idea, group] an experience of a particular thing □ It was her first encounter with danger. ◇ vt -1. to meet <sb> when one is not expecting to □ She encountered Paul, quite by chance, in the street. -2. [resistance, hostility] to experience  when trying to do something □ She encountered a lot of opposition.

encourage [US ɪn'kɜːrɪdʒ, GB -'kʌr-] vt -1. [child, student, sportsperson] to give <sb> one's support, especially in something they are trying to do □ My mother always encouraged me in what I did. ■ to encourage sb to do sthg to try to make sb do sthg by giving them support or by being very positive about it □ I always tried to encourage my children to study hard. □ She encouraged me to apply for the job. □ Success encouraged us to expand. -2. [good relations, independence] to give positive support to <an activity or idea> □ The company does not encourage political activities among its employees.

encouragement [US ɪn'kɜːrɪdʒmənt, GB -'kʌr-] n the act of encouraging somebody □ You'll get no encouragement from me.

encouraging [US ɪn'kɜːrɪdʒɪŋ, GB -'kʌr-] adj [news, progress, sign] that gives one a feeling of encouragement □ She was very encouraging about my work. □ Well, I think that's a very encouraging sign if he liked your script.

encroach [ɪn'krəʊtʃ] vi to encroach on OR upon sthg [on somebody's property, land] to gradually take possession of sthg that belongs to somebody else; [on somebody's time, privacy] to take up more of sthg than is acceptable □ Forest clearances have gradually encroached on the birds' habitat. □ My work is beginning to encroach on the time I spend with my family.

encrusted [ɪn'krʌstəd] adj to be encrusted with sthg [with jewels, mud, dirt] to be covered with a hard layer of sthg.

encumber [ɪn'kʌmbə] vt to be encumbered with sthg [with luggage] to be carrying sthg heavy so that it is difficult to move □ He was encumbered with large bags and boxes.

encyclop(a)edia [ɪn,saɪklə'piːdʒə] n a book or set of books giving information in alphabetical order on all aspects of knowledge or on all aspects of a particular subject □ an art encyclop(a)edia □ Look it up in the encyclop(a)edia.

encyclop(a)edic [ɪn,saɪklə'piːdɪk] adj [knowledge, memory] that contains very full and complete information on a subject or subjects.

end [end] ◇ n -1. [of a story, period, relationship] the last part of a story, event, period of time etc □ I have until the end of July/the year to find a new job. □ We watched the video right through to the end. ■ to be at an end [period of time, event, situation] to be finished (formal use) □ His days as a carefree student were now at an end. ■ to come to an end [period of time, event, situation] to stop □ I didn't want the evening to come to an end. □ Funding for the project will come to an end in July. ■ to put an end to sthg [to a situation, activity] to make sthg stop, especially sthg that should not be happening □ It is time to put an end to the violence. ■ at the end of the day a phrase used to sum up what is important after all the facts have been considered □ At the end of the day, only you can decide if you want the job. -2. [of a stick, table, road] the part or point of something that is furthest away from one, or from the center □ We were sitting at opposite ends of the room. □ Stand the box on its end. ■ the other end the place a person is telephoning or traveling to □ Will someone be there to meet you at the other end? ■ end to end [lay, place, arrange] with the points or narrowest edges touching □ The path was marked out with bricks laid end to end. ■ to make ends meet to have just enough money for food, clothes, somewhere to live etc □ I have scarcely enough money to make ends meet at the moment, let alone lend you any. -3. [of a cigarette, loaf, lip-stick] a small piece that has been left after something has been used. -4. to or for an end for a particular reason (formal use) □ We are all working to that end. ■ to be an end in itself to be a good enough reason for doing something even though nothing useful may be achieved as a result. -5. phrase to meet one's end to die (literary use).

◇ vi to cause <an event, situation, or state> to finish □ Both sides are eager to end the dispute. □ They ended the meeting early. □ We ended the meal with coffee and liqueurs.

◇ vi [event, story, situation] The novel ends hap- pily. □ I remember the day the war ended. □ The party didn't end until 4 a.m. ■ to end with sthg to finish with sthg □ The concert ended with the national anthem. ■ to end in failure/disaster/tears to have failure/disaster/tears as a result □ I warn you, it'll end in tears!

◆ in the end adv after a long series of events □ Everything turned out all right in the end. □ In the end we decided to fly.

◆ no end adv [amuse, please] very much (informal use) □ Oh yes, it amused my children no end.

◆ no end of prep [bother, worry, trouble] a lot of <sthg> (informal use) □ Your visitor seems to be causing you no end of complications.

◆ on end adv -1. to stand on end [hair] to stick up vertically □ It's the kind of story that makes your hair stand on end. -2. for hours/days on end continuously for hours/days without stopping □ He works for days on end without a break.

◆ end up vi to be in a particular situation or state, especially one which has not been planned, after many things have happened □ I knew they'd end up getting married. □ If you don't drive more carefully, you'll end up in the hospital!

endanger [ɪn'deɪndʒə] vt to act in a way that causes danger to <sb's life, health> etc □ This could endanger our position as a company.

endangered species [ɪn,d'eɪndʒə'd-s] n a type of animal or plant that is in danger of being destroyed completely □ The panda is an endangered species.

endear [ɪn'diə] vt to endear sb/oneself to sb to cause sb/oneself to be liked by sb □ You're hardly going to endear yourself to him by criticizing his work, are you?

endearing [ɪn'diəriŋ] adj [smile, habit] that causes somebody to be liked by another person □ I think his efforts to please you are rather endearing, don't you?

endearment [ɪn'diə'mənt] n a word or phrase that shows affection for somebody (formal use) □ a term of endearment.

endeavor US, endeavour GB [ɪn'devə] (formal use) ◇ n an attempt to do something, especially something new or difficult □ Despite all my endeavors, my proposals were rejected. ◇ vt to endeavor to do sthg to try to do sthg □ We endeavor to provide a consistently high standard of service.

endemic [en'demɪk] adj -1. MEDICINE [disease] that is very common in a particular area or country and spreads quickly and easily. -2. [problem] that is very common in a particular area or country □ Poverty is endemic in the Indian subcontinent.

ending ['endɪŋ] n the way that a story, movie, play etc finishes □ a happy ending.

endive ['endɑv] n -1. a plant with crisp, curly, green leaves that is often eaten raw in salads. -2. US a plant with long, crisp, pale green leaves that is often eaten raw in salads and has a slightly bitter taste.

endless ['endləs] adj -1. [journey, complaining, patience] that continues for a long time and never seems likely to end □ The possibilities are endless. -2. [desert, supplies] very large in size or amount □ We do not have endless supplies of alcohol, you know.

endlessly ['endləslɪ] adv continuously for a long time and in a way that seems likely never to end □ The rain fell endlessly. □ She's been endlessly patient.

endorse [ɪn'dɔ:'s] vt -1. [plan, proposal, candidacy] to give official or public support to <sb/sthg>, especially by voting in favor of them □ My ideas were endorsed by the boss. -2. FINANCE to endorse a check to put one's signature on the back of a check. -3. to endorse sb's licence GB to record a conviction for a driving offense on sb's driver's license.

endorsement [ɪn'dɔ:'smənt] n GB see endorse □ He got an endorsement for speeding.

endow [ɪn'dəu] vt -1. to be endowed with sthg [with beauty, talent, intelligence] to have sthg that is considered to give one an advantage □ Nature had endowed her with brains as well as beauty. -2. [school, charity, hospital] to give a large amount of money to <an institution or organization>.

endowment [ɪn'dəʊmənt] n -1. [of a person] a natural ability or quality that somebody has □ one of his many endowments. -2. [for a school, hospital] a gift of money made to an institution or organization □ He made an endowment to his old college.

endowment insurance n a type of insurance policy that guarantees the payment of a certain sum of money to the insured person on a fixed date.

endowment mortgage n a mortgage in which the borrower pays interest on the loan, and also makes payments into a life insurance policy designed to provide enough money at the end of the mortgage to repay the sum borrowed.

end product n the result or final product of a process or activity □ Yes, but it's the end product that's important, not the process.

end result n the final result produced by a process or activity □ The end result was a dispute that lasted several months.

endurance [ɪn'dʒʊərəns] n the ability to tolerate pain, suffering, difficulty etc for a long time □ Their suffering was beyond endurance.

endurance test n a test to find out how strong and resistant a machine or person is.

endure [ɪn'dʒʊə] ◇ vt [pain, hardship] to suffer <sthg> with patience, especially for a long time □ I cannot imagine the suffering those people have had to endure. ◇ vi [fame, memory] to last for a long time (formal use).

enduring [ɪn'dʒʊəriŋ] adj [peace, fame, love] that lasts for a long time (formal use).

end user n the person, organization etc that will eventually use a product.

endwise ['endwaɪz] US, endways ['endweɪz] GB adv -1. with the end upward or forward □ She placed the carton endwise on the table. -2. with the end of one thing touching the end of another □ They were stacked endwise on the floor.

end zone n US in football, the area at the end of the field where players take the ball to score points.

enema ['enəmə] n a liquid that is put into somebody's rectum in order to make them empty their bowels.

enemy ['enəmi] (pl enemies) n -1. a person who strongly dislikes another person and speaks or acts against them □ They are bitter enemies. -2. MILITARY the enemy the army or country that one is fighting against in a war □ enemy troops/forces/aircraft.

energetic [,enə'dʒetɪk] adj -1. [person] who is full of energy and very active □ Since she was feeling energetic, she started immediately. -2. [sport, game] that involves a lot of physical activity □ You should take up an energetic activity such as swimming. -3. [campaigner, supporter] who is enthusiastic and works hard for a particular purpose □ an energetic campaigner for human rights.

energy ['enədʒi] (pl energies) n -1. the physical and mental strength to be active, to work hard, to play a sport etc without getting tired very quickly □ He's got lots of energy. □ I haven't got the energy to go out tonight. -2. the power produced by electricity, coal etc that makes machines work and provides heat □ nuclear/solar energy □ Save energy by turning off the lights. ■ the Department of Energy → DOE.

◆ energies npl the effort and will of a person or group to do something □ I've been putting all my energies into doing up the house.

energy-saving adj [device, policy] that is designed to save energy □ energy-saving devices, such as time-controlled light switches.

enervating ['enə'veɪtɪŋ] adj [atmosphere, weather] that causes one to feel weak and lose one's enthusiasm (formal use).

enfold [ɪn'fəʊld] vt to surround <sb/sthg> with something (literary use) □ She enfolded him in her arms.

enforce [ɪn'fɔːs] vt [law, discipline] to make <sthg> be obeyed, often by using the threat of punishment □ The referee has to enforce the rules.

enforceable [ɪn'fɔːsəbl] adj [law, rule] that can be enforced □ This law is only enforceable if the person is over 18.

enforced [ɪn'fɔːst] adj [inactivity, discipline, solitude] that is forced to happen, exist etc by somebody or something else □ After a period of enforced rest, Kate was eager to play again.

enforcement [ɪn'fɔːsmənt] n: see enforce □ law enforcement officers.

enfranchise [ɪn'fræntʃaɪz] vt -1. [citizen] to give <sb> the right to vote in elections □ the newly enfranchised electorate of the East. -2. [slave] to free <sb> from slavery.

engage [ɪn'geɪdʒ] ◇ vt -1. to engage sb's interest/attention to attract and keep the interest/attention of sb □ My attempts to engage the attention of my young audience were fruitless. ■ to engage sb in conversation to start and continue a conversation with sb □ He engaged Paul in conversation about gardening for over an hour. -2. TECHNOLOGY [wheel, gear, clutch] to cause  to operate. -3. [staff] to employ <sb> (formal use) □ If the economy picks up, we'll engage more workers. ◇ vi to engage in sthg to take part in sthg □ He was suspected of engaging in criminal activity.

engaged [ɪn'geɪdʒd] adj -1. [fiancé] who has formally agreed to marry somebody □ She's engaged to Henry. □ They're engaged. □ They got engaged over the summer. -2. to be engaged to be involved in a particular activity □ The unions and management are still engaged in lengthy negotiations. -3. GB [telephone, number, toilet] that is already being used □ I tried calling, but it was engaged.

engaged tone n GB the sound that one hears on a telephone when the number one has dialed is busy.

engagement [ɪn'geɪdʒmənt] n -1. [to one's fiancé] a formal agreement between two people to get married; the period of time during which a couple are engaged □ They announced their engagement at Christmas. -2. [with a person] an arrangement to do something or to see somebody at a particular time □ a business/social engagement.

engagement ring n a ring given by a man to a woman to show that they are engaged.

engaging [ɪn'geɪdʒɪŋ] adj [smile, manner, personality] that seems attractive and interesting □ The poems were simple and engaging.

engender [ɪn'dʒendəʃ] vt [hope, conflict] to make <sthg> happen or exist (formal use).

engine ['endʒɪn] n -1. [of a car, truck, bus] the part of a vehicle that produces power from gasoline, electricity etc to make it move □ a car engine. -2. RAIL the vehicle that pulls a train. -3. COMPUTING in a piece of software, the part of a program that operates a set of instructions.

engine driver n GB a person who drives a train.

engineer [ˌendʒɪ'nɪəʃ] ◇ n -1. a person who is trained to design, build, and repair roads, electrical equipment, machines etc □ a road engineer. -2. [on a ship] a person who is trained to make sure the engines on a ship continue working properly. -3. US RAIL a person who drives a train. ◇ vt -1. [bridge, building] to design and build <sthg>. -2. [event, meeting] to make <sthg> happen by planning it secretly or in a clever way.

engineering [ˌendʒɪ'nɪərɪŋ] n the work or science of designing and building roads, buildings, machines etc; a product that is the result of this □ He works in engineering. □ an engineering degree □ a fine piece of engineering.

England ['ɪŋɡlənd] a country in the United Kingdom, consisting of the southern part of Great Britain. SIZE: 130,400 sq kms. POPULATION: 46,170,300 (English). CAPITAL: London. LANGUAGE: English. CURRENCY: pound sterling.

English ['ɪŋɡlɪʃ] ◇ npl the English the people who live in England. ◇ n a language spoken in Britain, the USA, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and many other countries. ◇ adj: see England.

English breakfast n a breakfast which includes hot food, especially bacon, sausage, eggs, and toast, with tea or coffee □ a full English breakfast.

ENGLISH BREAKFAST

The traditional English breakfast, consisting of cereal or porridge, a hot dish such as bacon and eggs, and toast and marmalade, is served in most hotels, bed and breakfasts, and cafés in the UK. At home, most people eat a much lighter breakfast, typically cereal or muesli and toast, although many have a full English breakfast on weekends.

English Channel: the English Channel the sea between England and France, connecting the North Sea and the Atlantic Ocean.

English Civil War n the English Civil War a war (1642–1651) between the supporters of the English parliament, led by Oliver Cromwell, and the army of King Charles I, who refused Parliament's demands for reform. Cromwell's army won the war, and the King was executed.

English Heritage n a British organization that looks after important historical buildings.

Englishman ['ɪŋɡlɪʃmən] (pl Englishmen [-mən]) n a man who comes from or lives in England.

English muffin n US a type of round bread roll that is sliced in half and toasted before eating, and served with butter, jam etc.

Englishwoman ['ɪŋɡlɪʃwʊmən] (pl Englishwomen) n a woman who comes from or lives in England.

engrave [ɪn'ɡreɪv] vt -1. [metal, glass, cup] to cut writing, a design etc into the surface of <sthg>; [design, inscription] to cut <sthg> into the surface of glass, metal etc □ an engraved bracelet □ His name was engraved on the cup. -2. to be engraved on sb's mind/heart etc [day, event] to have a quality that affects one's mind/heart etc for a long time □ The incident was engraved on her memory.

engraver [ɪn'ɡreɪvə] n a person whose job is to engrave designs on objects made of glass, metal etc.

engraving [ɪn'ɡreɪvɪŋ] n -1. a design engraved on an object or surface; a picture that has been printed from an engraved surface. -2. the skill or activity of an engraver.

engrossed [ɪn'ɡroust] adj to be engrossed in sthg [person] to be paying so much attention to sthg that one does not notice anything else □ She was engrossed in a book.

engulf [ɪn'ɡʌlf] vt [fire, sea, waves] to completely surround and cover , often very suddenly or quickly □ The building was engulfed in flames.

enhance [US ɪn'hæns, GB 'hɑ:ns] vt [reputation, beauty, chances] to improve <sthg> by adding something or developing it in some way □ A little wine will enhance the flavor of the fish.

enigma [ɪ'nɪgmə] n a person or thing whose characteristics, qualities etc make them unusual and difficult to understand, often in a way that makes them interesting □ After 15 years, her disappearance is still an enigma.

enigmatic [ɪnɪ'ɡmætɪk] adj [person, smile, silence] mysterious and difficult to understand □ His only answer was an enigmatic smile.

enjoy [ɪn'dʒɔɪ] ◇ vt -1. [trip, life, meal] to get pleasure from <sthg> □ He enjoyed watching TV. □ I don't really enjoy energetic sports. ■ to enjoy oneself to get pleasure and feel happy when one is doing something □ I'm enjoying myself here in Florida. □ You should get out and enjoy yourself more. -2. [privileges, good health, respect] to be lucky enough to have or receive <sthg> (formal use) □ Members can enjoy the many advantages of the club. ◇ vi enjoy! US a word used to say that one hopes that somebody will enjoy something such as a meal, vacation, or gift (informal use).

enjoyable [ɪn'dʒɔɪəbl] adj [day, trip, work] that gives one pleasure □ I had a very enjoyable time there.

enjoyment [ɪn'dʒɔɪmənt] n -1. [from an activity] a feeling of pleasure that one gets from a particular activity, event etc □ I get a lot of enjoyment from my radio. -2. [an enjoyable activity] something that gives somebody pleasure or satisfaction □ His greatest enjoyment is golf. -3. [of privileges, advantages] the use or possession of something that is good.

enlarge [ɪn'la:rdʒ] vt [business, building, photograph] to make <sthg> larger □ The supermarket has a new enlarged parking lot.

◆ enlarge (up)on vt fus to enlarge (up)on sthg [on a comment, story] to speak or write about sthg in greater detail □ Could you enlarge on your previous statement?

enlargement [ɪn'la:rdʒmənt] n -1. [of a building, photograph] see enlarge. -2. PHOTOGRAPHY a photograph that has been made larger.

enlighten [ɪn'laɪtn] vt [reader, audience] to give <sb> more knowledge and a greater understanding of something (formal use) □ Would you care to enlighten us as to your intentions?

enlightened [ɪn'laɪtnd] adj [person, approach, policy] that is very practical and shows a good understanding of people's needs and problems □ Their approach to motherhood is hardly what I'd call enlightened.

enlightening [ɪn'laɪtnɪŋ] adj [person, book] that gives one more knowledge and a greater understanding of something □ "I found his speech most enlightening," said the professor.

enlightenment [ɪn'laɪtnmənt] n: see enlighten.

◆ Enlightenment n the Enlightenment in 18th-century Europe, a philosophical movement which emphasized the importance of reason and put the role of Christianity into doubt.

enlist [ɪn'lst] ◇ vt to enlist sb's help/support to get sb's help/support □ Can I enlist your help for tomorrow's visit? ◇ vi MILITARY to join one of the armed forces □ He enlisted in the army/navy/air force.

enlisted man [ɪn,lɪstəd-] n US a man in the army or navy who is not an officer.

enliven [ɪn'laɪvn] vt [meeting, event] to make <sthg> more interesting and lively □ The lecture was enlivened by some controversial remarks.

en masse [ɒn'mæs] adv all together or in a group □ The workers left en masse.

enmeshed [ɪn'meʃt] adj to be enmeshed in sthg [in a dispute, difficult situation] to be involved in sthg and unable to escape.

enmity ['ɛnməti] (pl enmities) n a strong feeling of dislike that somebody has for another person □ I feel no enmity toward him.

ennoble [ɪ'nəʊbl] vt -1. to make <sb> a member of the nobility. -2. to make <sb/sthg> seem more honorable and dignified.

enormity [ɪ'nɔ:fməti] n the great size or seriousness of a problem, crime, danger etc □ She did not seem to understand the enormity of what she had done.

enormous [ɪ'nɔ:fməs] adj -1. [object, building, animal] extremely large in size, number, or amount □ an enormous cat/crowd/investment program. -2. [luck, patience, number] a word used to indicate the large degree of something □ The launch was an enormous success.

enormously [ɪ'nɔ:fməsli] adv -1. enormously successful/rich/popular very successful/rich/popular □ She's enormously pleased with the results. -2. [improve, change, admire] a lot □ Prices have risen enormously.

enough [ɪ'naʃ] det -1. to have/be enough money to have/be as much money as is wanted or needed □ There isn't enough time for us to finish the job. -2. I have enough problems I have a lot of problems and do not want any more □ I have enough difficulty understanding what he says without you trying to interrupt all the time! □ There are enough bad drivers on the roads as it is.

◇ pron -1. to have enough to have as much or as many as one wants or needs □ That's enough for me, thanks. □ Have you all had enough to eat? -2. five children is (quite) enough five children is a lot and I do not want any more. ■ more than enough too much □ I have more than enough to worry about already. ■ to have had enough of sthg to be angry, annoyed, or bored because sthg has continued too long □ I've had (about) enough of listening to your complaints. ■ that's enough (of that)! stop behaving in this stupid, rude, or unpleasant way!

◇ adv -1. to be warm/big/fast enough to be as warm/big/fast as is needed for a particular purpose □ You're not old enough to vote. -2. I've suffered enough already I have suffered too much already and do not want to suffer any more □ I think I've already done quite enough to help them. -3. strangely/interestingly etc enough used to show that the speaker finds something strange/interesting etc □ Funnily enough, all my family are left-handed.

enquire [ɪn'kwɪəɪ] vt & vi = inquire.

enquiry [ɪn'kwɪəri] (pl enquiries) n -1. the act of asking a question in order to get some information □ I'll make some enquiries about the available options. ■ 'Enquiries' GB a desk or department where one can go for information □ I'll put you through to Customer Enquiries. -2. an official investigation to find out why an event, accident etc happened □ An enquiry has been set up into the bank's foreign dealings.

enraged [ɪn'reɪdʒd] adj [person, animal] very angry □ Enraged animal rights activists protested outside the company's offices.

enrich [ɪn'rɪtʃ] vt -1. [person, nation] to make <sb/sthg> rich. -2. [life, mind, soil] to improve the quality of <sthg> by adding something to it □ vitamin-enriched cereals □ baby food enriched with calcium.

enroll US, enrol GB [ɪn'roul] (vt & pp enrolled, cont enrolling) ◇ vt to accept  on a course or at a university, college etc by adding their name to an official list. ◇ vi [student] to join a course, university, college etc by adding one's name to an official list □ I've enrolled on a publishing course.

enrollment US, enrolment GB [ɪn'roulmənt] n -1. [of a student] see enroll. -2. [at a college] the total number of people enrolled at a university, college etc or on a course □ Enrollment is up this year.

en route [ɒn'ru:t] adv on the way to or from a place □ They stopped en route for something to eat. □ We were en route to/from the airport.

ensconced [ɪn'skɒnst] adj to be ensconced to be settled comfortably somewhere (humorous use) □ There I was, safely ensconced in my corner, when Ralph came up and disturbed me.

enshrine [ɪn'ʃraɪn] vt to be enshrined [privilege, idea] to be permanent and unchangeable in law □ The right to bear arms is enshrined in the Constitution.

ensign ['ɛnsaɪn] n -1. a flag that is flown on a ship to show its nationality. -2. US a junior officer in the US navy.

enslave [ɪn'sleɪv] vt -1. to make <sb> a slave. -2. [society, consumers, workers] to put <sb> into a situation they do not like but cannot escape from □ enslaved by social pressures.

ensue [ɪn'sju:] vi [peace, legal battle] to happen or start existing after something, especially as a result of it (formal use) □ The problems which then ensued have still not been resolved.

ensuing [ɪn'sju:ɪŋ] adj [conflict, controversy] that ensues (formal use) □ The ensuing clashes were violent and bloody.

en suite [ɒn'swi:t] adj an en suite bathroom GB a bathroom that is joined onto a bedroom.

ensure [ɪn'ʃʊə] vt [safety, success] to make <sthg> certain □ Get there early to ensure (that) you get a good seat.

ENT (abbr of ear, nose, & throat) n a hospital department that deals with diseases of the ears, nose, and throat □ an ENT specialist.

entail [ɪn'teɪl] vt [risk, expense, difficulty] to involve <sthg> as a necessary part □ Merging the two departments would entail a lot of job losses. □ What exactly does the work entail?

entangled [ɪn'tæŋɡld] adj -1. to be entangled in sthg [in bushes, a net] to be caught or twisted in sthg so that it is difficult to move or escape; [in a conflict, dispute, difficulty] to be involved in sthg that is difficult to escape from □ He got entangled in the ropes. □ We don't want to become entangled in a legal battle. -2. to be entangled with sb to be involved in a relationship with sb that is difficult or bad □ How did you get entangled with those criminals?

entanglement [ɪn'tæŋɡlmənt] n a relationship with somebody, usually sexual, that is harmful or complicated □ romantic entanglements.

enter [ˈentə] ◇ vt -1. [room, house, country] to come or go into  etc □ On entering the boardroom I felt strangely confident. □ Harry entered the room with a smile on his face. -2. [university, Congress, army] to become a member of  □ She entered politics soon after she got out of college. -3. [competition] to say officially that one will take part in  □ She's entered the student fiction competition. -4. to enter sb/sthg for sthg to say officially that sb/sthg will take part in sthg □ He entered his horse in the race. □ She entered her poem in the competition. -5. [figure, name] to type or write <sthg> on a form, list, register etc □ Please enter your name in block capitals. -6. [situation, mind] to appear suddenly in <sthg> □ A note of panic entered her voice. -7. [era, stage, talks] to begin  □ The war entered a deadly new phase. -8. COMPUTING to type <data> into a computer.

◇ vi -1. to come or go into a room or place □ 'Please knock and enter.' -2. to say officially that one will take part in a race, competition etc □ I don't think I'll enter for it this year.

◆ enter into vt fus -1. to enter into sthg [negotiations, a debate] to become involved in sthg, especially in a serious or official way □ The government has refused to enter into discussions with the terrorists. -2. to enter into sthg to influence or be an important part of sthg □ Money doesn't enter into it.

enteritis [ˌentəˈraɪtəs] n a medical condition in which one's intestine becomes inflamed.

enter key n the button on a computer keyboard that is pressed in order to confirm an instruction or to start a new line.

enterprise [ˈentəpraɪz] n -1. a company or firm □ a small-scale enterprise. -2. [of a company, partnership] a project or plan that is original, bold, and often difficult □ Have you heard about their latest enterprise? -3. [of a person] a willingness and determination to do original and bold things □ He's full of enterprise. -4. business activity □ capitalist enterprise.

enterprise culture n a type of society that encourages and values business and enterprise, especially when it involves private companies.

enterprise zone n in Britain, a special region that the government tries to attract new business to by giving firms financial rewards and privileges if they go there.

enterprising [ˈentəpraɪzɪŋ] adj [person, plan, company] that shows a willingness to try new ideas and methods □ We are looking for an enterprising young college graduate.

entertain [ˌentəˈteɪn] ◇ vt -1. [audience, reader] to interest and amuse <sb> □ The audience was thoroughly entertained. -2. [guests, clients] to provide food and drink for <sb> □ I'm entertaining my boss at home tonight. -3. [idea, proposal] to be willing to consider <sthg> (formal use) □ I would never even entertain the possibility of something like that happening. -4. [hope, ambition, suspicion] to have <sthg> in one's mind, usually over a long period (formal use). ◇ vi to invite people to one's home for a meal □ We like entertaining.

entertainer [ˌentəˈteɪnə] n a person whose job is to entertain audiences by singing, dancing, telling jokes etc □ a TV entertainer.

entertaining [ˌentəˈteɪnɪŋ] ◇ adj [person, story, movie] that one finds interesting and amusing □ His account of the wedding was highly entertaining. ◇ n the activity of entertaining guests □ She does a lot of entertaining.

entertainment [ˌentəˈteɪnmənt] n -1. the act of giving or getting amusement or pleasure □ the entertainment world/business. -2. THEATER, CINEMA, & TV a show, movie etc that people watch for pleasure □ an entertainments guide.

entertainment allowance n the money that a company allows employees to spend to entertain clients.

enthrall US, enthral GB [ɪnˈθrɔ:l] (pt & pp enthralled, cont enthraling) vt to completely hold the attention of <sb> by being interesting or exciting □ We listened enthralled as she recounted stories from her childhood.

enthraling [ɪnˈθrɔ:lɪŋ] adj [story, movie] that enthralles somebody □ She gave an enthralling performance.

enthrone [ɪnˈθroʊn] vt to mark the beginning of the authority or rule of  with a ceremony in which they are placed on a throne (formal use).

enthus [ɪnˈθju:z] vi to express great excitement and satisfaction about something □ He was enthusing about his new car.

enthusiasm [ɪnˈθju:zɪæzəm] n -1. a strong feeling of excitement and eagerness about something □ His enthusiasm for athletics was infectious. -2. an activity or subject that one is very interested in (formal use).

enthusiast [ɪnˈθju:zɪæst] n a person who very much enjoys a particular subject or hobby □ an opera enthusiast.

enthusiastic [ɪnˈθju:zɪæstɪk] adj [crowd, supporter, response] that shows great enthusiasm for something □ You don't sound very enthusiastic about my news.

enthusiastically [ɪnˈθju:zɪæstɪklɪ] adv [talk, applaud] see enthusiastic □ Everybody clapped enthusiastically.

entice [ɪnˈtaɪs] vt to persuade <sb> to leave one person, company etc and go to another by offering them something better □ They tried to entice him away from his company.

enticing [ɪn'taɪsɪŋ] adj [offer, invitation, smile] very attractive or tempting □ The thought of a vacation was very enticing.

entire [ɪn'taɪə] adj [country, area, career] whole; [support, agreement] complete □ We've reduced the prices of our entire range. □ We're in entire agreement.

entirely [ɪn'taɪə'li] adv completely □ That's entirely different. □ I agree entirely.

entirety [ɪn'taɪrə'ti] n in its entirety with nothing missing or left out (formal use) □ They bought the hotel chain in its entirety.

entitle [ɪn'taɪtl] vt to entitle sb to sthg to give sb the right to have or do sthg □ This ticket entitles you to free admission.

entitled [ɪn'taɪtlɪd] adj -1. to be entitled to sthg/to do sthg to have the right to sthg/to do sthg □ I think I'm entitled to an explanation. -2. to be entitled sthg [book, report] to have sthg as a title □ a new musical entitled "Miracle".

entitlement [ɪn'taɪtlmənt] n the right of a person to have or do something □ You have no entitlement to maternity benefit.

entity ['entəti] (pl entities) n something that exists on its own and is separate from other things □ The publishing side of the business is a completely separate entity.

entomology [ɪn'tɒmə'lɒdʒi] n the scientific study of insects.

entourage [ɒntu'ra:ʒ] n the group of people who work for and travel with a politician, performer etc □ The Princess arrived, surrounded by her usual entourage.

entrails ['entreɪlz] npl the intestines of a person or animal.

entrance [n 'entrəns, vt US ɪn'træns, GB -'trɑ:ns] ◇ n -1. [to a building] the opening or way that one goes through to get into a place, e.g. a door or gate □ The entrance is over there, on the right. □ the entrance to the White House. -2. [of a person] the arrival of a person in a room or building, especially when it makes other people notice them; the appearance of an actor on stage during a play □ Her entrance caused a sensation. -3. to gain entrance to sthg [to a building] to be allowed to enter sthg (formal use); [to a society, university] to be accepted as a member of sthg.

◇ vi to be entranced by sb/sthg [by somebody's beauty, a performer, performance] to feel delight and wonder because of sb/sthg □ We sat silently, entranced by the music.

entrance examination n an examination that a person takes to become a member of a profession, school etc.

entrance fee n a sum of money that one pays to be allowed to enter a museum, zoo etc.

entrance ramp n US a road for joining a highway.

entrancing [US ɪn'trænsɪŋ, GB -'trɑ:ns-] adj [music, singer, performance] that causes feelings of delight and wonder.

entrant ['entrənt] n -1. [to a competition] a person who officially enters a competition, examination etc □ All entrants will be required to present a portfolio of their recent work. -2. [to a university] a person who is joining or has recently joined a university, profession etc.

entreat [ɪn'tri:t] vt to ask <sb> seriously and sincerely to do something □ He entreated me to help him.

entreaty [ɪn'tri:tɪ] (pl entreaties) n an urgent request (formal use).

entrenched [ɪn'trentʃt] adj [idea, attitude, custom] that is firmly established and hard to change □ He has become more and more entrenched in his views.

entrepreneur [ˌɒnrəprə'nɜ:z] n a person who runs their own business and is prepared to try new ideas and take risks in order to make a profit.

entrepreneurial [ˌɒnrəprə'nɜ:zɪəl] adj [skills, spirit] see entrepreneur.

entrust [ɪn'trʌst] vt to entrust sthg to sb, to entrust sb with sthg to give sb the responsibility for sthg □ I was entrusted with the job of taking care of her plants while she was away. □ He entrusted the file to one of his assistants.

entry ['entri] (pl entries) n -1. the act of entering a building, room etc □ Entry to the office is by the back door. ■ to gain entry to succeed in entering a building or part of a building, usually by using force □ The police/intruders gained entry through a door at the back of the house. -2. [of a person] the arrival of a person in a room, building etc □ Nobody noticed his entry into the building. □ I'll make my entry unannounced. -3. the right to enter a building, country etc □ Entry to the reception is by invitation only. □ He was refused entry into the country. □ 'No entry.' -4. the act of joining a group, organization, event etc □ At 24, he made his entry into politics. □ Spain's entry into the EU. -5. [for a competition] a person or thing that is entered for a competition □ There were hundreds of entries for this month's competition. -6. [in a diary, dictionary] a piece of information that appears in a list, e.g. in a set of accounts, a diary, or a dictionary □ See the entry under "foot". -7. COMPUTING the process of putting information into a computer. -8. US a door, gate, passage etc that one goes through to enter a room, building etc.

entry fee n = entrance fee.

entry form n a form that one writes information on to enter a competition.

entry phone n a doorbell connected to a kind of telephone that allows the people inside a building to talk to visitors before letting them come in.

entryway ['entriweɪ] n US a passage that one goes through to enter a place.

entwine [ɪn'twain] vt to be entwined [arms, stems] to be twisted around each other tightly.

E number n a number with the prefix "E" that is used as a symbol for a particular food additive.

enumerate [ɪ'nju:məreɪt] vt to list  one after the other.

- enunciate [ɪˈnʌnsiːt] ◇ vt -1. [word, consonant] to say <sthg> clearly so that each sound can be heard. -2. [opinion, idea] to explain <sthg> clearly and logically (formal use). ◇ vi [person] to say words, consonants etc clearly.
- envelop [ɪnˈveləp] vt to envelop sb/sthg in sthg to completely cover or surround sb/sthg in sthg □ The top of the hill was enveloped in mist. □ He enveloped her in his arms.
- envelope [ˈenvəloʊp] n a paper cover in which letters are mailed.
- enviable [ˈenviəbl] adj [success, skill, reputation] that other people would like to have for themselves □ She's in the enviable position of having two job offers to choose from.
- envious [ˈenviəs] adj [person, look] full of envy □ She became envious of her sister's good looks.
- enviously [ˈenviəsli] adv [look, speak] see envious □ Karl watched enviously as I climbed onto the gleaming bike.
- environment [ɪnˈvaɪrənmənt] n -1. [of a person] a particular situation that somebody spends a lot of time in and which affects their behavior, attitude, development etc □ I grew up in a happy home environment. □ Rose is used to working in an electronic environment. -2. the environment the natural world around us, including the air, seas, forests etc □ The protection of the environment must be a priority. ■ the Department of the Environment → DOE. -3. COMPUTING a system, program, or group of programs that provides everything that is necessary for a particular task □ a word processing environment.
- environmental [ɪnˈvaɪrənməntl] adj [pollution, awareness] connected with the natural world □ the growing number of environmental hazards.
- environmentalist [ɪnˈvaɪrənməntlɪst] n a person whose job is to help protect the environment.
- environmentally [ɪnˈvaɪrənməntli] adv to be environmentally aware to be concerned about the environment. ■ environmentally friendly [policy, product] that does not have a harmful effect on the environment □ All our detergents are environmentally friendly.
- Environmental Protection Agency n → EPA.
- environs [ɪnˈvaɪrənz] npl the area that is near to and around a particular place □ the city and its environs.
- envisage [ɪnˈvɪzɪdʒ] vt to imagine that <sthg> is likely to happen in the future □ Do you envisage any problems? □ I don't envisage (that) there will be any difficulty.
- envision [ɪnˈvɪʒn] vt US = envisage.
- envoy [ˈenvɔɪ] n a messenger who is sent overseas, especially by a government, to discuss something with a foreign government.
- envy [ˈenvɪ] (pt & pp envied) ◇ n the feeling one has toward somebody else when they have something that one would like to have very much □ He was motivated by envy of or toward his more successful colleagues. ■ to be the envy of sb to be envied by sb □ She was the envy of all her friends. ■ to be green with envy to be full of envy. ◇ vt to feel envy toward <sb> □ I can't say I envy him. □ I envied her for her patience. ■ to envy sb sthg to feel envy toward sb because of sthg they have □ I don't envy you that job!
- enzyme [ˈenzaim] n a liquid produced in living things that is active in certain chemical processes, e.g. in digesting food in human beings; a chemical substance in some detergents that helps to remove stains.
- EOC (abbr of Equal Opportunities Commission) n the EOC a British government body responsible for making sure that people of a different sex, race, color etc are treated equally and fairly by employers.
- eon [ˈiːən] n a very long period of time.
- EPA (abbr of Environmental Protection Agency) n the EPA a US government department responsible for protecting the environment from pollution.
- epaulet(te) [ˌepəˈlet] n a decoration on the part of a uniform that covers the shoulder.
- ephemeral [ɪˈfemrəl] adj [success, fashion, happiness] that lasts only for a very short time.
- epic [ˈepɪk] ◇ adj [journey, story, contest] that is long and impressive, and often involves courage or adventure. ◇ n a long book, movie, poem etc that is impressive, and often contains scenes of courage or adventure.
- epicenter US, epicentre GB [ˈepɪsɛntə] n the point where an earthquake starts.
- epidemic [ˌepɪˈdemɪk] n a situation in which a very large number of people are affected by an infectious disease that is spreading in a particular area □ a flu epidemic.
- epidural [ˌepɪˈdjuərəl] n an injection that is given in the spine to reduce pain in the lower part of the body, especially during childbirth.
- epigram [ˈepɪgræm] n a saying or poem that is short, amusing, and clever.
- epilepsy [ˈepɪlepsi] n a disease of the central nervous system that causes sudden violent and uncontrolled movements of the body and loss of consciousness.
- epileptic [ˌepɪˈleptɪk] ◇ adj [fit, attack, person] see epilepsy. ◇ n a person who suffers from epilepsy.
- epilogue [ˈepɪlɒɡ] n a short section at the end of a book, play, movie etc that is used as a conclusion.
- NOTE: Compare prologue.
- Epiphany [ɪˈpɪfəni] n (the) Epiphany a Christian festival held on January 6th that commemorates, in the Western Church, the visit of the Magi to Christ and, in the Eastern Church, the baptism of Christ.
- episcopal [ˌɪpɪˈskəpəl] adj [palace, authority, duties] connected with a bishop.
- episode [ˈepɪsɔd] n -1. an event or period of time that forms part of a longer story or series of events □ I'd rather forget the whole episode. □ an unfortunate episode. -2. a part of a longer story that appears at regular intervals on the radio or TV, or in a magazine □ I missed last week's episode.

episodic [ˌepɪˈsɒdɪk] adj [story, book, movie] that is presented in the form of a number of episodes.

epistle [ˈɪpɪsl̩] n a letter (literary use).

epitaph [US ˈepɪtəf, GB -tɑːf] n the words written about somebody who is dead, usually on their tombstone.

epithet [ˈepɪθet] n a word or short phrase that describes a person and is used as part of or instead of their name.

epitome [ˈɪpɪtəmi] n to be the epitome of sthg to be a perfect example of sthg □ His approach/He is the epitome of laziness.

epitomize, -ise [ˈɪpɪtəmaɪz] vt to be the most typical example of  etc □ She epitomizes all the good qualities of this company.

epoch [US ˈepək, GB ˈɪpək] n a period in history that is remembered for its important changes.

epoch-making adj [event, discovery, invention] that is important and influences a particular period of history.

eponymous [ˈɪpɒnɪməs] adj the eponymous hero the hero in a book, play etc whose name appears in the title.

EPOS [ˈiːpɒs] (abbr of electronic point of sale) n a system that uses a computer terminal to record each sale that is made, so that stock can be controlled and money can be transferred electronically.

equable [ˈekwəbl̩] adj [person] who is not easily annoyed or upset □ Tom's a very equable sort of guy.

equal [ˈiːkwəl] (US pt & pp equaled, cont equaling, GB pt & pp equalled, cont equalling) ◇ adj -1. [amount, share] that is the same size, value etc as something else □ Mix equal parts of cement and sand. □ The two men are equal in ability. □ One inch is equal to 2.54 cm. -2. [right, access, pay] that is the same for everybody □ Both teams have an equal chance of winning. ■ on equal terms, on an equal basis [talk, compete] without one side being in a stronger position than the other □ When we next meet, it must be on equal terms. -3. to be equal to sthg to be able to deal successfully with sthg □ He was more than equal to the task.

◇ n a person who has the same abilities, rights, or opportunities as another □ He's hardly my intellectual equal!

◇ vt -1. MATH to be the same as <an amount or number> □ 2 times 4 equals 8. -2. [person, record, score] to reach the same level or standard as <sb/sthg> □ His bad manners are only equaled by his ignorance. □ Her generosity equals her father's.

equality [ˈiːkwələti] n the same rights or status as other people □ racial equality.

equalize, -ise [ˈiːkwələɪz] ◇ vt [rights, pay] to make <sthg> more equal and fair for everybody. ◇ vi GB SPORT to reach the same score as one's opponent by scoring a goal or point.

equalizer [ˈiːkwələɪzə] n GB SPORT a goal, shot etc which makes the score equal.

equally [ˈiːkwəli] adv -1. equally acceptable/difficult acceptable/difficult to the same degree □ Equally important is the new emphasis on safety features. □ Both were held equally responsible. -2. [divide, share, distribute] in equal parts □ Blame was allocated equally between the police and security staff. -3. equally,... a word used to introduce a piece of information, an argument etc that is opposed to what has just been mentioned but is of the same importance □ The area is economically deprived, but equally there is hope for improvement.

equal opportunities npl a policy that guarantees equal rights to higher education, employment etc to people of all ethnic origins, both genders etc □ an equal opportunities employer.

Equal Opportunities Commission n → EOC.

Equal Rights Amendment n → ERA.

equal(s) sign n a symbol (=) used to show that two figures are equal.

equanimity [ˌekwəˈnɪməti] n a calm attitude □ He viewed the decision with his usual equanimity.

equate [ˈiːkwet] vt to equate sb/sthg with sb/sthg to connect sb/sthg with sb/sthg in one's mind, because one thinks they are similar □ You don't normally equate politicians with humility.

equation [ˈiːkweɪʒn] n MATH a statement in which two amounts are given as being the same.

equator [ˈiːkwetətə] n the equator an imaginary line around the world, halfway between the North and South Poles.

equatorial [US ˌiːkwəˈtɔːriəl, GB ˌekwə-] adj [region, climate] near or at the equator.

equestrian [ˈiːkwɛstriən] adj [sport, event, statue] that is connected with horses or horseriding.

equidistant [ˌiːkwɪˈdɪstənt] adj to be equidistant [points, places] to be the same distance from a particular place □ The capital is equidistant from the east and west coasts.

equilateral triangle [ˌiːkwɪlətrəl-] n a triangle whose sides are all the same length.

equilibrium [ˌiːkwɪˈlɪbrɪəm] n a situation in which there is a balance between different influences, forces, or emotions with the result that there are no sudden and unexpected changes □ These spending cuts will help keep the economy in equilibrium.

equine [US ˈiːkwɪn, GB ˈek-] adj [disease, family] that is connected with horses; [features, face] similar to that of a horse.

equinox [ˈiːkwɪnɒks] n one of the two times of year when day and night are the same length in every part of the world.

equip [ˈiːkwɪp] (pt & pp equipped, cont equipping) vt -1. to provide <sb/sthg> with what is useful or necessary for a particular situation or purpose □ The hospital is not equipped to deal with emergency cases. □ This car comes equipped with its own hi-fi system. □ a fully-equipped kitchen. -2. to give <sb> experience, knowledge etc that helps to prepare them for something □ In what way do you feel your previous experience equips you for this post?

equipment [i'kwɪpmənt] n the objects that one must use to do a particular job, hobby etc □ office/kitchen equipment □ a piece of equipment.

equitable ['ekwɪtəbl] adj [system, arrangement, share] that is fair to everybody.

equity ['ekwəɪtɪ] n FINANCE the market value of a property after the debts of its owner have been subtracted from it. ■ negative equity a situation in which the value of a property has fallen so that it is worth less than the amount of money that was borrowed to buy it.

◆ equities npl shares whose rate of interest is not fixed.

Equity n in Britain, the labor union for actors and actresses.

equivalent [i'kwɪvələnt] ◇ adj that has the same size, value, or function as something else □ Their wage was equivalent to $2 per day in today's money. □ There's no equivalent organization in the UK. ◇ n a person or thing that is equivalent to somebody or something else □ The Queen is Britain's nearest equivalent of OR to a president.

equivocal [i'kwɪvəkl] adj [statement, reply, person] that is deliberately vague in order to avoid stating the truth □ He was very equivocal about his travel arrangements.

equivocate [i'kwɪvəkeɪt] vi [person] to speak in a vague way in order to avoid stating the truth (formal use).

er [ɜ:'] excl -1. a word used to express hesitation before one speaks or continues speaking □ Er, let's see. -2. a word used to attract somebody's attention □ Er, excuse me.

ER (abbr of Elizabeth Regina) Queen Elizabeth.

era [i'ɪərə] (pl eras) n a period in history that is remembered for a particular fashion, event, invention, ruler etc □ His death marked the end of an era. □ This is the era of the computer.

ERA n -1. (abbr of Equal Rights Amendment) the ERA a proposed change to US law that was intended to give equal rights to men and women. It was rejected in 1982. -2. (abbr of earned run average) in baseball, the average number of times a pitcher has allowed batters to hit the ball and make a run.

eradicate [i'rædɪkeɪt] vt [crime, disease] to completely remove <sthg harmful or unpleasant> from a place so that it no longer exists □ This party is committed to eradicating poverty.

eradication [i,rædɪ'keɪʃn] n: see eradicate □ The eradication of this practice is long overdue.

erase [i'reɪz] vt -1. [writing, drawing, graffiti] to remove <sthg> from paper, a surface etc, especially using an eraser. -2. to remove  from a tape; to remove  from a computer memory. -3. [feeling, thought, problem] to remove <sthg> so that it no longer affects somebody or something □ He tried hard to erase the whole incident from his mind/memory.

eraser [i'reɪzə] n a piece of rubber for removing pencil marks.

erect [i'rekt] ◇ adj -1. [person] who sits or stands in a straight upright position. -2. [penis, nipple] that is stiff and stands up or out, rather than in its normal position. ◇ vt -1. [building, statue, barrier] to build or make <sthg> □ A monument is to be erected in his memory. -2. [tent, chair] to put the different parts of <sthg> together so that it is upright and can be used.

erection [i'rekʃn] n -1. [of a building, statue, barrier] see erect. -2. to have an erection to have an erect penis.

ergonomics [ɜ:'gɒ'nɒmɪks] n the study of how machines, equipment, working areas etc can be improved so that people can work with them more efficiently.

Erie [i'ɪəri]: Lake Erie one of the Great Lakes between Canada and the USA.

ERM (abbr of Exchange Rate Mechanism) n the ERM an agreement between EU countries to keep their exchange rates within certain limits.

ermine [ɜ:'mɪn] n the white fur of the stoat in winter, which has black spots and is used to decorate royal robes and crowns.

erode [i'roud] ◇ vt -1. to be eroded [rock, soil, coastline] to be removed gradually by the action of wind, water, rain etc. -2. [confidence, rights, support] to reduce or destroy <sthg> gradually □ Voters' trust has been eroded by a series of political scandals. ◇ vi [rock, soil, confidence] to be eroded □ Much of the cliff had eroded away. □ His power base among local blacks had eroded over the years.

erogenous zone [i'rɒdʒənəs-] n an area of the body that can cause one to feel sexual excitement when it is touched.

erosion [i'rouʒn] n: see erode □ the effects of erosion on the coastline □ We are witnessing the erosion of people's right to privacy.

erotic [i'rɒtɪk] adj [art, movie, dream] that presents or involves sexual desire.

eroticism [i'rɒtɪsɪzəm] n the erotic quality of a work of art, movie, scene etc.

err [ɜ:'] vi to make a mistake (formal use). ■ to err on the side of caution to be more cautious than is necessary in order to avoid making a mistake.

errand ['erənd] n a short trip to do a small job such as buying something from a store or delivering a message, often for somebody else □ I have a few errands to do before lunch. ■ to go on OR run an errand to do an errand □ Do you mind running an errand for me?

errand boy n a boy whose job is to run errands.

erratic [i'rætɪk] adj [behavior, service, performance] that often changes in an irregular and unpredictable way and does not stay the way that one would prefer □ He's a very erratic player.

erroneous [i'rɒnjəs] adj [belief, statement, conclusion] that is not correct, because of a lack of understanding or knowledge (formal use).

error ['erə] n -1. a mistake that is made during a process or activity □ a typing error. ■ an error of judgment a decision in which one makes a mistake because of the way one considers a situation □ I admit I made an error of judgment. -2. the act of making mistakes □ There's no room for error when you're driving that fast. ■ in error by mistake □ The letter was delivered to me in error.

error message n a message on a computer screen that shows there has been an error during an operation.

erstwhile ['ɜːstwaɪl] adj sb's erstwhile colleague/opponent etc a person who used to be sb's colleague/opponent etc (literary or humorous use).

erudite [US 'erjədəɪt, GB 'eru-] adj [person, book] that has or shows knowledge that comes from studying and reading a lot □ She gave a very erudite speech on the origins of language.

erupt [ɪ'rʌpt] vi -1. [violence, war, fighting] to start suddenly in an uncontrolled way □ Violence has erupted in parts of the city. -2. [volcano] to explode and start sending ash, lava etc out into the air.

eruption [ɪ'rʌpʃn] n: see erupt □ The eruption of violence onto the streets has alarmed community leaders.

ESA (abbr of European Space Agency) n the ESA the organization responsible for Europe's space program.

escalate ['eskəleɪt] vi [conflict, violence, cost] to increase quickly and in a way that is serious and worrying □ Prices have escalated to unprecedented levels.

escalation [ˌeskə'leɪʃn] n: see escalate □ We want to avoid an escalation of hostilities.

escalator ['eskəleɪtə] n a moving staircase in a large building, public area etc.

escalator clause n a clause in a contract that allows for price increases if costs increase.

escapade ['eskəpeɪd] n an act that involves bravery, excitement, or breaking rules.

escape [ɪ'skeɪp] ◇ vt -1. [death, injury, punishment] to avoid <sthg unpleasant> □ She narrowly escaped injury/being killed. -2. [details, facts] to be difficult for <sb> to remember □ His name escapes me for the moment. ■ to escape sb's notice [mistake, error] not to be noticed by sb □ It hasn't escaped my notice that a number of employees have been arriving late.

◇ vi -1. [person] to succeed in getting away from a person, place, or situation that one thinks is unpleasant or dangerous □ He escaped from prison/his captors. □ We escaped to Italy. -2. [person] to live through a dangerous experience without being killed or badly hurt □ Luckily, we escaped unharmed. □ The pilot escaped with minor injuries. -3. [gas, water] to pass from a closed space into the area around or near it.

◇ n -1. [from prison, boredom] the act of escaping from a person, place, or situation □ The men made their escape in a red van. □ For many, these books are a means of escape from their boring routine. -2. [from injury, death] the act of living through an experience without being killed or badly hurt □ We had a lucky escape. -3. [of gas, water] an amount of gas, water etc that escapes from somewhere. -4. = escape key.

escape clause n a clause in a contract that allows one of the people or groups involved to stop following the terms of the contract under certain conditions.

escape key n a key on a computer keyboard that is used to cancel the previous command.

escape route n -1. [in a building] the safest and quickest way for people to leave a building if there is a fire. -2. [of a prisoner, robber] the direction that a prisoner, robber etc takes after escaping from prison or committing a crime.

escapism [ɪ'skeɪpɪzəm] n an activity, way of thinking etc that helps one forget the boring or unpleasant things in one's real life □ This movie is pure escapism.

escapist [ɪ'skeɪpɪst] adj [story, movie, fantasy] that involves or encourages escapism □ romantic escapist fiction.

escapologist [ˌeskə'pɒlədʒəst] n a performer who entertains people by escaping from chains and locked containers.

escarpment [ɪ'skɑːpmənt] n a wide steep slope on the side of a hill or mountain.

eschew [ɪ'stʃuː] vt [idea, policy, violence] to avoid or reject <sthg> because one disagrees with it strongly (formal use).

escort [n 'eskɔːt, vb ɪ'skɔːt] ◇ n -1. one or more people or vehicles that travel with somebody or something to guard them □ Mr Cooke arrived under police escort. -2. a person who accompanies somebody of the opposite sex at a social occasion. ◇ vt to accompany <sb> to a place to be sure that they leave or that they arrive safely □ Make sure he escorts you home.

escort agency ['eskɔːt-] n an agency that provides escorts for social occasions.

Eskimo ['eskɪməʊ] (pl Eskimos) n & adj = Inuit.

EskyTM ['eski] n AUS a plastic box designed to keep food and drink cool.

ESL (abbr of English as a Second Language) n = ESOL.

ESOL [ˈiːsɒl] (abbr of English for Speakers of Other Languages) n the subject of English taught to people who live in an English-speaking country and who do not speak English as their mother tongue.

esophagus US, oesophagus GB [ɪ'sɒfəgəs] n the tube that carries food from the mouth to the stomach.

esoteric [ˌesə'terɪk] adj [fact, knowledge] that is known or understood by very few people, especially because information about it is hard to find □ an interest in esoteric religions.

esp. abbr of especially.

ESP n -1. abbr of extrasensory perception. -2. (abbr of English for special purposes) English that is taught to people who need it for a particular purpose, e.g. business, finance, or information technology.

- espadrille ['espədrɪl] n a cotton or canvas shoe with a sole made of rope.
- especial ['spɛʃəl] adj especial care/interest etc more care/interest etc than normal or usual (formal use) □ Please take especial notice of this announcement.
- especially ['spɛʃəlɪ] adv -1. a word used to emphasize that something which has already been mentioned is most true in the case of a particular person or thing □ The town attracts many tourists, especially in summer. □ This was especially true of the others. -2. especially cold/difficult etc colder/more difficult etc than is usual □ It has been an especially satisfying year. □ She was especially nice to me. -3. [choose, buy] for a particular person or thing □ I got it especially for you.
- espionage ['ɛspɪəŋə:dʒ] n the activities of a spy □ industrial espionage.
- esplanade [US 'ɛspləneɪd, GB ɛsplə'neɪd] n a straight wide path or road, usually on a sea-front, that people walk along for pleasure.
- espouse ['spəʊz] vt [cause, principle] to openly discuss and support <sthg> (formal use).
- espresso ['ɛspresəʊ] (pl espressos) n a strong coffee made with steam on a special machine and served without milk in a small cup; a cup of this coffee □ an espresso machine □ Could I have an espresso please?
- Esq. n abbr of Esquire.
- Esquire ['ɪskwaɪə] n GB a formal title used after the name of a man if he has no other title, and instead of "Mr", especially above the address on an envelope; US this title used after the name of a man or woman who is a lawyer.
- essay ['eseɪ] n -1. EDUCATION a short piece of writing on a particular subject by a student. -2. [for a publication] a short piece of writing that somebody does on a particular subject and which is published.
- essayist ['eseɪəst] n a person who writes essays which are published.
- essence ['ɛsnz] n -1. the essence of sthg [of an argument, problem] the main idea in sthg that is important in relation to the rest of it □ That was the essence of her speech. -2. a concentrated liquid used to flavor food □ vanilla essence.
- ◆ in essence adv a phrase used to emphasize the most important and basic aspect of something □ The agreement was, in essence, a compromise.
- essential ['ɪsɛnʃl] adj -1. [item, reading, requirement] that is absolutely necessary □ It's essential that it gets there on time. □ The project's success is essential to or for our reputation. -2. [difference, feature] that is most important and basic □ I jotted down the essential points of her argument.
- ◆ essentials npl -1. [for life, survival] the most basic items needed for a particular situation □ We can only afford to buy the essentials. -2. [of a language, subject] the basic elements of something □ It wouldn't take you long to learn the essentials of the system.
- essentially ['ɪsɛnʃlɪ] adv a word used to show that one is making a basic general statement about something □ Essentially, I agree with you.
- Essex ['ɛsɪks] a county in southeastern England. SIZE: 3,672 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,521,800. ADMINISTRATIVE CENTER: Chelmsford.
- est. -1. abbr of established. -2. abbr of estimated.
- EST (abbr of Eastern Standard Time) n the local time in the eastern parts of the USA, Canada, and Australia.
- establish [ɪ'stæblɪʃ] vt -1. [organization, business, procedure] to create <sthg> that one expects to exist or continue for a long time □ 'Established in 1847.' -2. to establish contact with sb to make contact with sb □ They managed to establish radio contact with the ship. -3. [facts, cause, truth] to find out <sthg> for certain by asking questions, doing research etc □ Police are trying to establish when/why the accident happened. -4. [person, reputation, authority] to cause <sb/sthg> to be accepted or respected by other people □ She soon established herself as an expert in the field.
- established [ɪ'stæblɪʃt] adj -1. [custom, practice, system] that has become accepted and fixed over a period of time □ Female circumcision is still an established practice in some societies. -2. [person, firm, reputation] that is well-known and respected □ Once you're established, the work will come pouring in.
- establishment [ɪ'stæblɪʃmənt] n -1. a shop, business, institution etc that is based in a particular building □ a research establishment. -2. [of an organization, business, procedure] see establish.
- ◆ Establishment n the Establishment a term used to describe the various people in powerful jobs who control a particular country or profession □ the medical Establishment □ He's a well-known Establishment figure.
- estate [ɪ'steɪt] n -1. [in the countryside] a large area of land in the countryside that is owned by one person. -2. GB an area of land with buildings of one kind only, especially for housing or industry. -3. LAW the money and property left by a dead person.
- estate agency n GB a company that sells or rents houses and apartments for the owners.
- estate agent n GB a person who works in an estate agency. ■ an estate agent's an estate agency.
- estate car n GB a car that has a long body, a door at the back end, and a large space behind the back seats instead of a separate trunk.
- estd., est'd. abbr of established.
- esteem [ɪ'sti:m] (formal use) ◇ n a good opinion of somebody that is based on respect □ She rapidly won the esteem of her fellow workers in the field. ■ to hold sb/sthg in high esteem to have a good opinion of sb/sthg that one respects. ◇ vt [person, work, talents] to respect

<sb/sthg> very much □ She's highly esteemed by her colleagues.

esthetic [US es'θetik, GB i:s-] etc US = aesthetic etc.

estimate [n 'estimat, vb 'estimeit] ◇ n -1. [of an amount, the time] an approximate idea, calculation, or judgment of something □ Do you think you could give me a rough estimate? -2. BUSINESS a statement given by somebody for the charge they are likely to make for doing a particular job □ We got three separate companies to do an estimate for repairs.

◇ vt [cost, time, damage] to calculate <sthg> approximately □ She estimated that it would take her three more days. □ The damage was estimated at OR to be around £3 million. □ It's hard to estimate how long a full recovery could take.

◇ vi BUSINESS to estimate for sthg to provide somebody with an estimate for sthg □ I'll get them to estimate for the repairs before we decide anything.

estimated ['estimeitəd] adj [cost, value, number] that is approximate and thought to be likely □ Our estimated time of arrival is 14:00 hours.

estimation [esti'meiʃn] n -1. in my/his/her etc estimation in my/his/her etc opinion □ In my estimation, more could have been done. ■ to go up/down in sb's estimation to become more/less respected by sb □ When I heard what he had done, he went up/down in my estimation. -2. [of cost, time, damage] see estimate.

Estonia [e'stounjə] a country in northeastern Europe, on the Baltic Sea. SIZE: 45,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 1,600,000 (Estonians). CAPITAL: Tallinn. LANGUAGE: Estonian. CURRENCY: kroon.

estranged [i'streindʒd] adj [person] who is no longer in contact with somebody because of a disagreement □ He became increasingly estranged from his family/friends. ■ sb's estranged husband/wife a husband/wife who is no longer living with sb.

estrogen ['estɾədʒən] US, oestrogen ['i:s-ɾədʒən] GB n a hormone in females which causes changes in the sexual and reproductive parts of the body.

estuary [US 'estʃuəri, GB -tʃʊri] (pl estuaries) n the very wide part of a river where it meets a sea or ocean.

ETA n abbr of estimated time of arrival.

et al. ['etæl] (abbr of et alii) a phrase used after a name, or list of names, to show that other people are included but not mentioned.

etc. (abbr of et cetera) a word used after a list to show that other similar things or people are included but not mentioned.

et cetera [it'setərə] → etc.

etch [etʃ] vt -1. [scene, picture] to draw <sthg> by cutting lines into the surface of a piece of metal, glass, or stone. -2. to be etched on sb's memory [experience, event] to be impossible for sb to forget because it is important to them or because of the effect it has had on them.

etching ['etʃɪŋ] n a picture printed from an image etched on a metal plate.

ETD n abbr of estimated time of departure.

eternal [i'tɜ:nl] adj -1. [life, youth] that lasts forever □ Some believe that the human spirit is eternal. -2. [complaints, discussion] that seems never to stop, in a way that one finds annoying □ I'm fed up with these eternal arguments about what we're going to do next. -3. [truth, value] that never changes and is appropriate in all situations □ These are eternal principles which every man can live by.

eternally [i'tɜ:nlɪ] adv [live, complain] see eternal. ■ to be eternally grateful to be very grateful for a long time □ I am eternally grateful to you.

eternity [i'tɜ:nəti] n -1. a period of time that never ends. -2. [after death] the never-ending state that some people believe one exists in after death □ Their love would last, they said, for eternity. □ damned to hell for eternity. -3. an eternity a period of time that seems very long, especially because one is bored or worried □ We waited for what seemed or felt like an eternity.

eternity ring n GB a ring given by somebody to their husband or wife when they have been married a long time as a symbol of their love.

ether ['i:θə] n a colorless liquid that was used in hospitals in the past as an anesthetic.

ethereal [i:'θiəriəl] adj [beauty, music] that is so delicate that it does not seem to belong to this world.

ethic ['eθik] n a moral principle that affects the way people think and act □ the work/Christian ethic.

◆ ethics ◇ n the study of the moral principles and rules that affect people's behavior. ◇ npl a set of moral principles and rules that a person or group believes in □ medical ethics.

ethical ['eθɪkəl] adj -1. [problem, dilemma] that is connected with the question of what is morally right or wrong □ She refused to give the information on ethical grounds. -2. [approach, practice] that is morally right or good □ To invest in this way is simply not ethical.

Ethiopia [i:'θi:ʊpiə] a mountainous country in northeastern Africa, between Sudan, Kenya, and Somalia. SIZE: 1,100,000 sq kms. POPULATION: 53,700,000 (Ethiopians). CAPITAL: Addis Ababa. LANGUAGE: Amharic. CURRENCY: birr.

ethnic ['eθnik] adj -1. [unrest, violence] that exists or happens between people of different races or cultures who live in the same place □ ethnic tension in our cities. -2. [group, origin] that is connected with a particular racial and cultural tradition □ Please indicate the ethnic group to which you belong. -3. [clothing, food] that is typical of a traditional culture and that people think is exotic because it is so different to their own culture □ I like these ethnic earrings.

ethnic cleansing [-'klenzɪŋ] n the act of forcing people of a different race, religion etc to leave an area of land, often using violence, in order to have complete control over it.

- ethnic minority n a group of people whose race, religion, or culture is different from the race, religion, or culture of the majority of people in a community or country.
- ethnology [eθ'nɒlədʒɪ] n the study and comparison of different racial and cultural groups.
- ethos ['i:θɒs] n the particular beliefs, attitudes, and values of a certain group of people.
- etiquette [e'tɪkət] n the rules of proper and acceptable behavior in society or in a particular profession □ professional/courtroom etiquette.
- etymology [e'tɪ'mɒlədʒɪ] (pl etymologies) n -1. the study of the origins and development of words. -2. the origins and history of a particular word or phrase.
- EU n abbr of European Union □ Austrians have today given the EU a vote of confidence.
- eucalyptus [ju:kə'liptəs] (pl eucalyptuses) n a tall evergreen tree with round, gray-green leaves that produces an oil with a strong smell that is often used in cough medicines □ eucalyptus oil.
- Euclid ['ju:klɪd] (3rd century BC) a Greek mathematician who invented a system of geometry known as Euclidean geometry.
- eulogize, -ise [ju:lədʒaɪz] vt to praise <sb/sthg> very much.
- eulogy ['ju:lədʒɪ] (pl eulogies) n a speech or piece of writing that eulogizes somebody or something.
- eunuch ['ju:nək] n a man whose testicles have been removed.
- euphemism ['ju:fə'mɪzəm] n a polite word or expression used to describe something that some people might find offensive or embarrassing □ "Advanced in years" is just a euphemism for "old".
- euphemistic [ju:fə'mɪstɪk] adj [language, word] see euphemism.
- euphoria [ju:'fɔ:riə] n a feeling of great excitement and happiness.
- euphoric [ju:'fɔ:ri:k] adj [person, feeling, occasion] see euphoria.
- Eurasia [jʊə'reɪzɪə] Europe and Asia considered together.
- Eurasian [jʊə'reɪzən] n a person who has both European and Asian ancestors.
- eureka [ju:'ri:kə] excl a word that somebody says when they suddenly discover something or find the answer to a difficult problem.
- Euro ['jʊərəʊ] n the unit of currency for countries in the European Union.
- Euro- prefix added to words to show that they relate to Europe or the European Union.
- EurochequeTM ['jʊərəʊtʃek] n a check that can be used in most European countries.
- Eurocrat ['jʊərəkræt] n an important official in the European Union (disapproving use).
- Eurocurrency ['jʊərəʊkʌrənsɪ] (pl Eurocurrencies) n a currency that is held in banks in Western Europe outside its country of origin and is used especially to finance international trade.
- Eurodollar ['jʊərəʊdɒlə] n a US dollar held in European banks.
- Euro-elections npl the elections to membership of the European Parliament.
- Euro MP n a member of the European Parliament in Strasbourg.
- Europe ['jʊərəp] -1. the continent between the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, and the Ural Mountains, including the British Isles and Iceland. -2. GB the mainland of Europe, excluding the British Isles. -3. GB POLITICS the European Union.
- European [jʊərə'pi:ən] ◇ n a person who comes from or lives in Europe. ◇ adj: see Europe □ European ministers meet today to discuss fishing quotas.
- European Commission n the European Commission the administrative body of the EU. It is responsible for proposing new policies and making sure that existing policies are carried out.
- European Community n the European Community an organization of European states designed to encourage closer links between its members.
- European Court of Human Rights n the European Court of Human Rights the court of the Council of Europe.
- European Court of Justice n the European Court of Justice the court of the European Union.
- European Currency Unit n → ECU.
- European Monetary System n the European Monetary System a system set up by the European Union to control the exchange rates among the currencies of the member countries.
- European Parliament n the European Parliament the parliament of the European Union, based in Strasbourg.
- European Union n the European Union the union of European countries that was formed in 1993 when the member states of the European Community signed the Maastricht Treaty and agreed to closer political and economic cooperation.
- Eurydice [ju'ri:dɪsɪ] → Orpheus.
- euthanasia [ju:θə'neɪzɪə] n the practice of killing very ill or old people without causing them pain so that they do not continue to suffer.
