RULES OF AGREEMENT FOR PAST PARTICIPLE

The past participle is a form of the verb which does not vary according to tense or person, but which is more like an adjective, in that it may agree in gender and number with the word to which it refers.

PAST PARTICIPLE AGREEMENT DEPENDING ON USAGE

without auxiliary (adjectival use)

- agreement with the word it refers to une affaire bien partie (agrees with affaire, feminine singular)

with être

- agreement with the subject of être
  les hirondelles sont revenues (agrees with hirondelles, feminine plural)

with avoir

- agreement with the direct object, provided the direct object precedes the past participle
  je les ai crus (agrees with les, masculine plural)
  la lettre qu'il a écrite (agrees with que, referring back to lettre, feminine singular)
- no agreement, then, in the following cases:
  nous avons couru
  (no direct object)
  elles ont pris la clé (direct object follows past participle)

with s'être

as with être
as with avoir

- if the verb is reflexive, the past participle agrees with the subject
  ils se sont enrhumés (agrees with ils, masculine plural)
- if the reflexive pronoun is the indirect object, any agreement is with the preceding direct object
  la bosse qu'il s'est faite (agrees with que, referring back to bosse, feminine singular) no agreement, then, if the direct object follows the past participle ils se sont lavé les mains
  (the object being les mains)

LE VERBE ANGLAIS

THE ENGLISH VERB

L'anglais comprend de nombreux verbes forts ou irréguliers (dont nous donnons la liste ci-dessous, § 7) ainsi que de nombreuses variantes orthographiques (voir au § 8), mais à chacun des temps la conjugaison reste la même pour toutes les personnes sauf pour la troisième personne du singulier au présent de l'indicatif.

Les notes qui suivent se proposent de résumer la structure et les formes du verbe anglais.

1 LE MODE INDICATIF

PRÉSENT

FORMATION

Le présent de l'indicatif a la même forme que l'infinitif présent à toutes les personnes sauf à la troisième personne du singulier, à laquelle vient s'ajouter un s, ex. : he sells.

verbes se terminant par une sifflante ou une chuintante

Dans les cas où l'infinitif se termine par une sifflante ou une chuintante on intercale un e, ex. : kisses, buzzes, rushes, touches.

verbes se terminant par consonne + y

Les verbes qui se terminent en consonne + y changent cet y en ies à la troisième personne du singulier, ex. : tries, pities, satisfies.
REMARQUE. Là où le y est précédé d'une voyelle, on applique la règle générale, ex. : pray — he prays, annoy — she annoys.

formes irrégulières

- Le verbe to be a des formes irrégulières pour toutes les personnes :
I am, you are, he is, we are, you are, they are.
- Trois autres verbes ont une forme irrégulière à la troisième personne du singulier :

do	he does have	he has
go	he goes

IMPARFAIT, PASSÉ SIMPLE, PARTICIPE PASSÉ

FORMATION

L'imparfait, le passé simple et le participe passé ont, en anglais, la même forme. On les construit en ajoutant ed au radical de l'infinitif, ex. : paint — I painted — painted.

verbes se terminant par un e muet

On ajoute d à l'infinitif des verbes qui se terminent par un e muet, ex. : bare — I bared — bared, move — I moved — moved, revise — I revised — revised.

verbes irréguliers

Pour les verbes irréguliers, voir la liste ci-dessous, § 7.

TEMPS COMPOSÉS ou PASSÉS

FORMATION

Les temps composés du passé se forment à l'aide de l'auxiliaire to have suivi du participe passé.

PASSÉ COMPOSÉ

Présent de to have + participe passé.
ex. : I have painted.

PLUS-QUE-PARFAIT

Passé de to have + participe passé,
ex. : I had painted.

FUTUR

FUTUR SIMPLE

Le futur se forme à l'aide de will suivi de l'infinitif,
ex. : I will do it.
Dans la langue soignée, on utilise shall à la première personne du singulier et du pluriel,
ex. : we shall see to it.

FUTUR ANTÉRIEUR

L'auxiliaire to have accompagné de will (ou de shall dans la langue soignée) et du participe passé du verbe conjugué s'emploie pour le futur antérieur,
ex. : I will have finished.

FORME PROGRESSIVE

Il existe également en anglais, au mode indicatif, une forme progressive qui se forme avec l'auxiliaire to be, conjugué au temps approprié et suivi du participe présent,
ex. : I am waiting, we were hoping, they will be leaving, they would still have been waiting, I had been painting all day.
Ce système diffère dans une certaine mesure du système français, qui a parfois comme équivalent la formule « être en train de » suivie de l'infinitif.

2 LE CONDITIONNEL

PRÉSENT	Le conditionnel se forme à l'aide de would suivi de l'infinitif, ex. : I would go. Dans la langue soignée, on utilise should à la première personne du singulier et du pluriel, ex. : we should see it.
PASSÉ	L'auxiliaire to have accompagné de would (ou de should dans la langue soignée) et du participe passé du verbe conjugué s'emploie pour le conditionnel passé, ex. : I would have paid.

3 LE MODE SUBJONCTIF

PRÉSENT	Au présent et à toutes les personnes, le subjonctif a la même forme que l'infinitif, ex. : (that) I go, (that) she go etc.
IMPARFAIT	À l'imparfait, to be est l'unique verbe qui ait une forme irrégulière. Cette forme est were pour toutes les personnes : ex. : (that) I were, (that) we were etc.
Emploi	Le subjonctif est peu utilisé en anglais. Il faut cependant noter que le subjonctif s'emploie obligatoirement en anglais dans : if I were you, were I to attempt it (l'emploi de was étant considéré comme incorrect dans ces expressions, ainsi que dans d'autres expressions analogues). Le subjonctif se rencontre aussi dans l'expression figée so be it et dans le langage juridique ou officiel, ex. : it is agreed that nothing be done, it was resolved that the pier be painted (quoique should be done et should be painted soient également corrects).

4 LE MODE IMPÉRATIF

FORMATION	Il n'y a qu'une forme de l'impératif, qui est en fait celle de l'infinitif, ex. : tell me, come here, don't do that.

5 LE GÉRONDIF ET LE PARTICIPE PRÉSENT

FORMATION	Le gérondif et le participe présent ont la même forme en anglais. Ils s'obtiennent en ajoutant la désinence -ing au radical de l'infinitif, ex. : washing, sending, passing. Pour les variantes orthographiques voir paragraphe 8.

6 LA VOIX PASSIVE

FORMATION	La voix passive se forme exactement comme en français avec le temps approprié du verbe to be et le participe passé : ex. : we are forced to, he was killed, they had been injured, the company will be taken over, it ought to have been rebuilt, were it to be agreed.

8 VERBES FAIBLES PRÉSENTANT DES VARIANTES ORTHOGRAPHIQUES

TERMINAISON DES VERBES À L'INFINITIF	VARIANTE ORTHOGRAPHIQUE AU PARTICIPE PASSÉ ET AU GÉRONDIF	EXEMPLE
		INFINITIF	PARTICIPE PASSÉ	GÉRONDIF
Les verbes se terminant par une seule consonne précédée d'une seule voyelle accentuée	redoublent la consonne devant la désinence ed ou ing.	sob wed lag control dim tan tap prefer pat	sobbed wedded lagged controlled dimmed tanned tapped preferred patted	sobbing wedding lagging controlling dimming tanning tapping preferring patting
		(En revanche to cook devient cooked — cooked parce qu'il comporte une voyelle longue, et fear qui comporte une diphtongue donne feared — fearing.)
Les verbes qui se terminent en c	changent le c en ck devant les désinences ed et ing.	frolic traffic	frolicked trafficked	frolicking trafficking
Les verbes terminés par la consonne l ou p précédée d'une voyelle non accentuée	redoublent la consonne au participe passé et au gérondif en anglais britannique, mais restent inchangés en anglais américain.	grovel travel worship N.B. La même différence existe entre les formes substantivées de ces verbes :	(Brit) grovelled (US) groveled (Brit) travelled (US) traveled (Brit) worshipped (US) worshiped (Brit) traveller worshipper (US) traveler worshiper	(Brit) grovelling (US) groveling (Brit) travelling (US) traveling (Brit) worshipping (US) worshiping
Lorsque le verbe se termine par un e muet,	le e muet disparaît en faveur de la désinence ed ou ing.	invite rake smile move	invited raked smiled moved	inviting raking smiling moving
		(Le e muet se conserve toutefois dans les verbes dye, singe, etc. et dans une série peu nombreuse de verbes se terminant en oe : dyeing, singeing, hoeing.)
Si le verbe se termine en y,	le y devient ied pour former le prétérit et le participe passé.	worry pity falsify try	worried — worried pitied — pitied falsified — falsified tried — tried	Le gérondif de ces verbes est parfaitement régulier, ex. : worrying, trying, etc.
Gérondif des verbes monosyllabiques die, lie, vie				dying, lying, vying.

9 VERBES ANGLAIS À PARTICULE

vi	verbe intransitif. ex. : ► blow off dans his hat blew off.
vt sep	verbe transitif séparable. ex. : ► blow off dans the wind blew off his hat ou the wind blew his hat off. Le complément d'objet du verbe peut se mettre soit après la particule, soit entre les deux éléments du verbe en les séparant. Cette dernière structure est d'ailleurs obligatoire lorsque le complément d'objet est un pronom : the wind blew it off.
vt fus	verbe transitif fusionné. ex. : ► admit to dans he admitted to the theft. Le complément d'objet ne peut jamais s'intercaler entre les deux éléments du verbe, même lorsqu'il s'agit d'un pronom : he admitted to it.

REMARQUE. Pour beaucoup de verbes qui indiquent un mouvement ou une direction, les verbes à particule correspondants n'ont pas été dissociés de l'article principal, car ils peuvent être déduits des illustrations fournies. Ainsi, à partir de crawl 2 vi a ... to ~ in/out etc entrer/sortir etc en rampant or à quatre pattes...

vous pouvez construire : to crawl across (traverser en rampant), to crawl down (descendre en rampant), etc.

NOTES ON USAGE OF THE CARDINAL NUMBERS

[a] To divide the larger numbers clearly, a space or a point is used in French where English places a comma:

English 1,000 French 1 000 or 1.000
English 2,304,770 French 2 304 770 or 2.304.770

(This does not apply to dates: see below.)

[b] 1 000 000: In French, the word million is a noun, so the numeral takes de when there is a following noun:

un million de fiches
trois millions de maisons détruites

[c] One, and the other numbers ending in one, agree in French with the noun (stated or implied):

une maison, un employé, il y a cent une personnes.

REMARQUES SUR LES NOMBRES CARDINAUX

[a] Alors qu'un espace ou un point est utilisé en français pour séparer les centaines des milliers, l'anglais utilise la virgule à cet effet ;

français 1 000 (ou 1.000) anglais 1,000
français 2 304 770 (ou 2.304.770) anglais 2,304,770

(Cette règle ne s'applique pas aux dates. Voir ci-dessous.)

[b] En anglais, le mot million (ainsi que mille et cent) n'est pas suivi de of lorsqu'il accompagne un nom:

a million people,
a hundred houses,
a thousand people.

NOTES ON USAGE OF THE ORDINAL NUMBERS
REMARQUES SUR LES NOMBRES ORDINAUX

[a] Abbreviations: English 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, etc. French (m) 1er, (f) 1re, 2e, 3e, 4e, 5e and so on.

[b] First, and the other numbers ending in first, agree in French with the noun (stated or implied):

La première maison, le premier employé, la cent et unième personne.

Alors que le français utilise la virgule pour séparer les entiers des décimales, le point est utilisé en anglais à cet effet :

NOTES

1. Metric system

Measures formed with the following prefixes are mostly omitted:

deca-	10 times	10 fois	déca-
hecto-	100 times	100 fois	hecto-

In the US, the same system as that which applies in Great Britain is used for the most part; the main differences are mentioned below.

3. The numerical notation of measures:

Numerical equivalents are shown in standard English notation when they are translations of French measures and in standard French notation when they are translations of English measures;
e.g. 1 millimetre (millimètre) = 0.03937 inch should be read in French as 0,03937 pouce.
e.g. 1 inch (pouce) = 2,54 centimetres should be read in English as 2.54 centimètres.

Les équivalences sont notées en anglais lorsqu'elles traduisent des mesures françaises et en français lorsqu'elles se rapportent à des mesures anglaises :
ex. 1 millimetre (millimètre) = 0.03937 inch doit se lire en français 0,03937 pouce.

6 TEMPERATURES — TEMPÉRATURES

$$59\,°F = (59-32)\times\frac{5}{9} = 15\,°C$$

A rough-and-ready way of converting centigrade to Fahrenheit and vice versa: start from the fact that

10 °C = 50 °F

thereafter for every 5 °C add 9 °F.

Thus :

15 °C = (10 + 5) = (50 + 9) = 59 °F
68 °F = (50 + 9 + 9)
= (10 + 5 + 5) = 20 °C

$$20\,°C = (20\times\frac{9}{5}) + 32 = 68\,°F$$

Une manière rapide de convertir les centigrades en Fahrenheit et vice versa : en prenant pour base

10 °C = 50 °F

5 °C équivalent à 9 °F.

Ainsi :

15 °C = (10 + 5) = (50 + 9) = 59 °F
68 °F = (50 + 9 + 9)
= (10 + 5 + 5) = 20 °C
